Isn't it wonderful what a difference a few days' work with scraper and carry-all will accomplish? The old lumber yard ble in their new dress. Bill Nance's lumber yard project is a big boost to eye appeal of our community. We fervently hope it will prove to be as big a financial boon to this area. There are still several bad looking spots in town that need cleaning up. Third Street seems to have a monopoly for eyesores that could be improved upon.

Sometimes we rather ruraloriented folks lose sight of the effect that increased union political power plays in our lives. Read these remarks by George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, for a clue to the impact of union political power upon the agricultural high plains. Mr. Meany says or implies that the unions want soon, National Health Insurance; a $2 minimum wage and extension of coverage to an additional 17 million workers; the right to bargain collectively for all Federal employees; a 50 per cent increase in Social Security benefits; extension of collective bargaining rights under the National Labor Relations Acto to farm workers; repeal of the right-to-work provision of the Taft-Hartley Act; union recognition and full collective bargaining rights for state, county and municipal employees.

So you thought that the union grab for political power would not affect you -- silly boy.

The register service will be available to everyone in both towns, and although the fire department has a current list of all its members as willing donors, they feel they need to increase the number of donors as much as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. John Getz State Line Tribune Box 255 Farwell, Texas 79325 Dear Joann & John:

We enjoy very much reading your State Line Tribune. We have particularly enjoyed letters from the "old-timers" who are scattered all over the country. We notice that Mike is in Houston. Our son, Steve, is attending law school there.

Am sending you a gospel album made by our two daughters, son, and two sons-in-law. Title song of the album "Christ in You" was written by our No. 2 son-in-law, Gene Lack. Tenor on the album is sung by Steve; Gene Lack sings lead; Jim Craven, #1 son-in-law, sings bass; and Betty Craven, our oldest daughter, and Carol Lack, our third child, both sing harmony. Carol plays the piano. On the reverse side of the album is a picture of the whole family. We are enclosing a check for renewal of your paper. Hope you enjoy the record. Your sincerely,

Highlight Banquet The basement of the Texico

Baptist Church was transformed into "A Little Spanish Town" by colorful decorations for the annual Sweetheart Banquet for the youth of the church last Monday night. Theme of the Spanish-oriented program was "Night of Love."

Walls of the entertainment room were covered with brown paper on which murals, street scenes, Spanish windows, etc., were colorfully drawn. Other decor included Spanish skirts and blankets hanging on the walls and pinatas, sombreros and flowers on walls and ceiling. The tables were covered with white cloths and open fans of red, covered with black lace, served as the programs. Table decorations included red napkins, jeweled chests, Spanish figurines, maracas, and wrought iron candle holders with red tapers. On the speaker's table was a black wrought iron scale holding colorful flowers.

Bud Pearce, dressed as a Spanish-type cupid, was master of ceremonies; and guest speaker was Gilbert Oakley of the Spanish Baptist Church in Clovis.

Mrs. Aileen Pearce was in charge of the portion of the program, "Angels Unaware," in which she showed on a screen baby pictures of the young persons in attendance. As each picture was flashed on the screen, that indivudual was introduced to the group.

Providing entertainment were three members of "God's Squad," musical group from ENMU, including Harold Mc-Farland, Carla Sue Moore and Ralph Davis, who sang a medley of Love." of songs.

pressed sincere appreciation to all adults of the church who five persons attended.

POTTERY CORNER -- A pottery corner featuring all types of Spanish dishes and other items was a focal point of the Spanish setting for the Sweetheart Banquet at Texico Baptist Church Monday night. Mrs. Aileen Pearce was in charge of the banquet which was attended by 55 guests. Gilbert Oakley of the Spanish Baptist Church in Clovis was guest speaker and entertainment was furnished by members of "God's Squad," a musical group from ENMU. Spanish decor throughout the church basement made an appropriate setting for the banquet whose theme was "Night

Widows of the Oklahoma Lane Community were honored at a Valentine social at the Harold Carpenter home on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 11. Assisting Mrs. Carpenter with hostess duties were Mrs. Jack Roach and Mrs. Leon Billingsley. A Valentine motif was featured in the decorations and on the refreshment table which was highlighted with a floral arrangement of red and white carnations and a red heart-shaped cake. Heart-shaped sandwiches, red apple rings, pickles, 1-2-3-Jello-O, cake, spiced punch and coffee were served. "Laughter, being a good tonic and a healer of body and mind; a tangible sign of happiness," was the theme of the afternoon get-together. Games were played, the group sang songs, and pictures were taken throughout the afternoon, Each lady brought a gift for a Valentine gift exchange.

School Board

Renews Contracts

TexicoGirls At a regular monthly meeting of the Farwell ISD board of trustees Monday night, the contracts of several employees were renewed. These include the contracts of principals Amos Tatum, high school; James Craig, junior high school; and Jack Williams, elementary school; and Robert (Toby) Booth, athletic director, football coach and math; Vernon Scott, basketball coach, assistant football coach and social studies; Miss Gayle Nicholas, girls basketball coach; Benjy Dial, high school science and assistant coach; and Jerry Dee Owen, high school biology and junior high coach.

The board named a committee to select a ballot for the forthcoming school trustee election and also set the time and place for the election and the absentee voting.

Coach Stockton explained that the reason for having so many pre-tournament games to determine who would play in the EPAC meet was that there are so many teams from different divisions that it would be impossible for them all to be entered in the actual tournament. Therefore it is necessary to play several preliminary games before tournament time, he says.
