Rotary Honors Youth Leaders

Leaders and workers with youth of the Twin Cities were honored at a special luncheon of the Texico-Farwell Rotary Club at Clara's Spur Restaurant on February 24.

Guest speaker for the event was Bob Hawkins, minister of the 16th and Pile Sts. Church of Christ in Clovis, Hawkins, a Clovis Rotarian, complimented the local club, which has a membership of some 25 men, for taking on the big task of honoring the 110 adults who had been active as youth leaders during the past year. He also complimented the adult leaders on the fine job they had done in donating their time and efforts to the undertaking of working with youth. Hawkins expressed a desire that the same type program be tried in Clovis.

Hawkins explained that Rotary was born on the night of February 23, 1905, in Chicago when Paul Harris brought together three friends, each in a different business, to see how each could help the other. The name was taken from the fact that the meetings would "rotate" from one of the men's places to the other.

Bill Boling, local club president, was in charge of the program and recognition of the honorees. Each leader present was given a certificate of appreciation from the Rotary Club.

Charles Aycock explained the function of each phase of the local youth program.

Divisions of the program in which certificates were presented included Girls Softball, Little League Baseball, Texico Boosters, Lions Club, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Senior Division Baseball, Little League Baseball, Umpires, 4-H Club and FFA and FHA Chapters.

GUEST SPEAKER -- Bob Hawkins of the 16th and Pile Streets Church of Christ in Clovis was guest speaker at a luncheon of the Texico-Farwell Rotary Club last Wednesday. Program of the day included the recognition of all Twin City adults who had assisted with the local youth program during the past year. Hawkins complimented the local Rotarians on honoring the workers and also praised the adults who had given of their time and efforts to work with the youth of the two towns.

Little League Group Will Meet March 8

Joe W. Jones, president of the 1970 Little League program, announces a meeting of all managers, directors and all interested persons for Monday, March 8, at the Community Room of Security State Bank at 7:30 p.m.

Officers and directors for the 1971 season will be elected and plans for the coming season will be made.

Everyone interested in helping make the 1971 program a success is urged to be on hand for the meeting, says Jones.

BANQUET SPEAKER -- E. J. Holub of the Kansas City Chiefs will be guest speaker at the annual Farwell High School athletic banquet which is scheduled for Saturday, March 20. Holub, who makes his home on a ranch south of Odessa, played high school football at Lubbock High and was named to the All-American team in 1959 and 1960 from Texas Tech where he also starred. Since entering the pro ranks he has played in two Super Bowl games, has been chosen All-Pro three times and has played in six All-Star games. Besides the featured speaker, also on the program will be recognition of outstanding players from all divisions of the athletic program at Farwell High. All area persons are urged to make plans to attend.

Man Finds Mortar Shell Under Home

"I wasn't really frightened until it was all over with," stated W. F. Bartley of West Camp who last Wednesday found what turned out to be a live mortar shell underneath his home.

The mortar shell, which was positively identified by Cannon Air Force Base personnel, was an M-52 of World War II vintage and had been underneath the Bartley home for the past 20 years.

Bartley said that the portion of the house under which he found the shell was erected before he moved to that particular place some 20 years ago and that until last week when he decided to change some plumbing, he had not been under that portion.

"When I first saw the object, I thought it was a toy," he said, adding, "but when I picked it up, I knew it was too heavy to be a plaything." Bartley estimated that the six-inch long shell weighed from three to four pounds.

Bartley removed the shell from under the house and on Thursday, gave it to his son-in-law, Ronnie Patton of Bovina, who took it home with him and showed it to law enforcement marshal Ronald Mitchell. Mitchell then turned the missile over to Highway Patrolman Robert Shedd who contacted Cannon Air Force Base. The Air Force sent a team to the area and detonated the explosive in a field near U. S. Highway 60 west of Bovina.

Bartley says it's really frightening now to look back and think that he and his wife reared four kids with "that thing" under the house all the while. And he was particularly shaken up when a member of the explosives crew from Cannon explained that when a mortar shell got that old, the least little jar or vibration could set off the nitrate in the explosive mechanism.

When asked about the possibility of finding another such item under the house, Bartley says, "We've been working under there a couple of days this week, and believe me, every time we go under we really look around." He sums up the experience by saying, "I never want to handle one of those things again in my life."

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Peugh, now of Farwell, lived in the home before the Bartleys bought the farm and they, too, were at a loss to explain how the shell could have gotten under the house. The Peughs built that portion of the present Bartley home and it is possible that the explosive could have been there during the time the Peughs lived in the house. Mrs. Peugh even contacted her brother, James Love of Graham, and he was also "buffaloed" as to how the shell could have gotten under the home. And so "how it got there" remains a mystery to all parties involved.

Betty Potts was named Miss Regional OEA and the parliamentary procedure team also won first place. Wes Clark came in second in the Mr. OEA contest and also in the clerical math division.

Composing the first place parliamentary procedure team were Wes Clark, Betty Potts, Kathy Lockhart, Terry Duncan, Billy Bladridge, Doug Harrison, Regina Leverton and Bill Wilson.

Regina Leverton placed fourth in job application and Betty Potts placed second in the same event. Kathy Lockhart was fifth place winner in typing I while Daisy Nabours placed fourth in two contests -- 10-key adding machine and business records management.

Bill Wilson was named second place winner in public speaking and Danny Pearce won fourth place in this event.

All first, second and third place winners will enter state OEA competition on April 1 and 2 at Portales; so Texico will have a good representation on hand at the state meeting. National OEA contests are in Indianapolis, Md., on May 8. Mrs. Mary Peyton, sponsor of the local group, says she was well pleased with the showing by the Texico chapter in this first year of regional competition. Some 300 students from 10 schools were competing in the regional meet and Texico brought home 18 awards.

Department Still Needs Blood Donors

Texico Volunteer Fire Department announces this week that it is still in need of qualified and available blood donors and that the department is still in the process of composing a register of all local and area persons who will be willing to donate blood.

A spokesman for the group says that the department has an immediate need for several pints of blood and that any person interested in helping out should come by the Town Hall to list his name, address, telephone number and blood type with the register list being made. Anyone wishing to donate blood at this time should contact the department.

The register will be made available to anyone in Texico and Farwell who has need of this service, and all eligible donors are urged to sign up.

Lions Host Zone Meet

Texico-Farwell Lions Club hosted a zone meeting Monday night at Clara's Spur Restaurant for club members from Portales, Clovis and Texico-Farwell.

Bob Hesselton of Portales, zone chairman, was in charge of the meeting which was attended by some 22 persons. Each club in the zone was represented and discussion of the work of the five clubs during the past year was held. It was noted that all of the five clubs ranked in the top nine of the 31 clubs in the district with the Portales aggregation ranking number one.

This was the final zone meeting of the year, except for a social get-together which is scheduled for the latter part of April in Clovis. Plans to wind up this year's activities were also on the agenda for the evening.

The local club will soon start selling tickets for the annual pancake breakfast which has been set for Saturday, April 24. Further details of this project are to be announced later.

Next Monday night, March 8, the club will have its ladies night program.

Allsup's 7-11 Open This Week

Farwell's newest business, Allsup's 7-11 convenience grocery, opened its doors to the public for business this week at its location at the corner of 7th St. and Avenue A.

Managing the new grocery is Dean Heard of Sudan who has been in the grocery business for some 20 years, having operated stores in Muleshoe and Sudan.

Heard is presently living in Sudan, but plans to move to Farwell to make his home as soon as the current school year ends. Heard and his wife, Nina, have a son, David, who is a 16-year-old sophomore. They are members of the Baptist Church.

The new business will feature a complete line of grocery items along with fresh donuts made daily and also homemade barbecue. Also to be featured are "Icees," a favorite with the younger set. The store will be open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. each day throughout the year.

A grand opening agenda for the weekend of March 12 and 13 with various specials to be presented at that time. More details of the formal opening will be announced later, says Heard.

STORE MANAGER -- Dean Heard is the manager of the new Allsup's 7-11 grocery which opened in Farwell this week. Heard, who is from Sudan, has operated food stores for some 20 years, having lived in Muleshoe and Sudan. He says that the local store is planning a grand opening on the weekend of March 12-13, but that it is open for business at this time. He invites everyone to come by and get acquainted.

Many things are not really planned. Like Topsy, they just seem to grow. Often this method works reasonably well for whatever was to have been accomplished.

However, relying on this method to make a city grow will not get the job done. Tragically, many things around Farwell are in the "just grew" category. Specifically one thing that just seems to have grown is our so-called water system. It is out of date, inadequate in many spots, and costs all people in town money in the long run. A large part of the water distribution system in Farwell should be taken up and relaid. At the present time most households in town are paying the hidden tax of an antiquated pipe line system. This tax takes the form of short-life water heaters, malfunctioning appliances and prematurely leaky faucets. A more direct "tax" is the additional expense of fire insurance on the homes in town.

We understand that if the Farwell water system were equal to the system in Bovina, the homeowners in Farwell could save as much as $35 per year per $10,000 of home insurance. This in itself will amount to a tidy sum over the years ahead.

In looking to the future growth of this community a very vital factor in the overall picture will be water, its availability, its quality, and its cost, along with the prevailing fire insurance rate. Now is not too soon to lay plans for a comprehensive revamping of the worry system serving this community.

We realize that this drastic overhauling will be expensive when it is done, but a realistic approach to water rates could solve this problem. Other communities have done so and prospered handsomely. We can and must do the same.

We recall some 15 or 16 years ago a prominent man getting up and stating in a public meeting that Friona, which had just had to rebuild its school, would not grow because of the high tax rate. The same thing was said of Bovina when they lost their school. Locally, the sentiment seemed to be that if we kept our tax rate low, we would automatically be the recipients of additional homes and businesses. We kept our tax rate low and crawled into our shells and waited for the boom that never came. We did have the lowest tax rate, but we also had less of everything else that a city needed and so lost the race.

It's odd how people resist paying local taxes, the basic taxes that can renew, repair and revitalize a community, yet a little research on the voting records of the area show that the representatives sent to Austin and Washington, in the main, have taxed us out of our britches. If one-tenth of the state and federal taxes paid each year were channeled into local projects and improvements, what a Mecca for business and new residents this would become. Farwell is at the crossroads. In the next decade we must progress mightily or fall by the wayside as a viable town. Already the federals are forecasting a 30 per cent reduction in small towns by 1980. By that year we can be a thriving, growing city or a dusty historical spot southwest of Bovina and northwest of Muleshoe.

A good spot to begin our revival from is at the water plant.

The Farwell Chamber of Commerce is going to revive the "Citizen of the Year" award. This had been the custom in past years, but lately seemed to have died for lack of interest. You could almost say that Bill Nance, from Clovis, has done more for the town in the past several months than anyone else.

Say, we were reading the weekly bulletin of the First Baptist Church of Texico and came across this item. The Senior High Acteens were invited to the Annual House Party of the Sandia Baptist Church in Albuquerque. It says that word was passed by the home church that no pantsuits or dresses be worn. How's that again? Well, we realize that anybody who puts anything in print will eventually boo-boo. Occasionally even the local gazette.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

We hear and read about crime being one of our nation's greatest problems, and we moan in dismay when some judge, jury or court lets a criminal go unpunished. Yet the same thing occurs right under our noses and we hardly bat an eye.

A common occurrence at our local school is a student taking things which belong to another student without the latter's permission. The proper name for this is stealing -- an unlawful act, but rarely the occasion for a student is "caught," and rarer still is he punished. Parents continue to replenish their child's supply of needed articles -- crayons, scissors, pencils, notebooks, gym clothes or whatever, and again some of it may be taken.

We are not doing this child-thief a favor by pretending we don't know he took the items, rather we are doing him an injustice. If he "gets by" with taking the crayons and pencils in grade school, he is encouraged to take something bigger later on. And pretty soon his habit mushrooms and he is taking more and more --- today a box of map colors, tomorrow a pair of gym shoes, the next week money from someone's locker, and on and on.

So in a sense, you and I have failed this child -- we did not yell loud enough when he took the first box of crayons -- else he might have learned early that crime doesn't pay.

I, for one, am turning self-fish. I have decided that I will no longer furnish the things the "taker" needs in school, and if I find that he has taken something that belongs to my child, I will do all within my power to have him punished so that he will know there must be a stopping point.

I realize that school officials cannot be everywhere at once, but it seems that part of the problem might be with unauthorized persons being at the wrong place at the wrong time. I noticed at some of our local basketball games that school kids of all sizes and ages wandered at will in and out of the dressing rooms. During a recent weekend I watched as a group of 10 or more young boys entered a building on the school ground --- the building was being cleaned that day and was open because the janitor was there. But the children had no business wandering in and out of the building nor did they have any business entering the dressing rooms during the ball games.

It's a shame that a child must take all his possessions

Sign-Up Period Now Underway

Sign-up under the 1971 farm program got underway at the local ASCS office Monday morning, March 1, and employees at the office were encouraging farmers to come in and sign up early rather than waiting until the last week before the deadline. Final date for the sign-up period is Friday, April 9.

The ASCS office reports that set-aside or diverted acres requirements are basically the same as last year. This acreage must be at least average-type land for the farm, and should a farmer set aside below-average type land, the payment will be reduced accordingly.

Price's Rep In County

Congressman Bob Price announces that his district representative, Charles Lanehart, will be in Farmer County tomorrow (Thursday) to assist local residents with problems they might have with the federal government.

Lanehart will be at the Security State Bank (Community Room) in Farwell from 9 a.m. until noon and at the City Hall in Friona from 1 until 5 p.m. "I find that with each passing year my legislative work load becomes heavier in Washington and it is becoming more and more difficult for me to be in each of the 28 counties in our District on a regular basis. For this reason, I have made arrangements for Mr. Lanehart to be in each county in the 18th District as frequently as possible, hopefully once a month," Price said.

Lanehart will be available to discuss problems of individuals and groups in the county, to and from school each day to insure that he will have the proper equipment with which to work the next day.

Sincerely,

LOCATING VEGETABLE GARDEN IS CRITICAL CHOICE

Raising a vegetable garden can save on grocery money as well as supply an abundance of fresh, crisp and nutritious food. But before planting these vegetable crops this spring, carefully consider the location of your plot.

Too often vegetable gardens are located next to a field of cotton or grain sorghum. And problems arise when that crop is sprayed for insects during late spring and summer. In many cases the garden may be directly sprayed when the cotton and grain sorghum is treated.

Also, insecticides can easily drift onto the vegetables and contaminate them. These vegetables can be consumed safely if the particular insecticide that was used is also labeled for use on the vegetables involved. However, often the consumer may not know when the vegetables were contaminated or what material was used. Certain insecticides labeled for use on cotton or grain sorghum are not labeled for use on vegetables.

wind from the crop being sprayed.

If you are unable to relocate your garden, keep a close check on it when spraying surrounding fields and keep an accurate record of the date and the insecticide used. If the applicator knows the location of a garden in relation to the field crop being treated, excessive drift onto the garden can usually be prevented.

A gas range cleans itself as it cooks.

Ovens you don't have to clean aren't new. But this oven you don't have to clean is new. Because this one cleans itself as you cook, not afterwards.

So it cleans at regular temperatures of 400-450 or so degrees. Instead of an extra, special cycle of intense 800 degree heat that can turn your kitchen into an oven.

This new way is what many of the new gas ranges have.

Gas not only cleans itself better, it cooks better. Accurate, instant-response burners that the electric people can only wish they had. Yet, incredibly, gas costs half as much to use. Hardly makes any sense to use anything else, does it?

Texico-Farwell Cub Scouts Hold Blue And Gold Banquet

Texico-Farwell Cub Scout Pack 213 gathered with parents, relatives and friends February 25 for its annual Blue and Gold Banquet at Farwell School cafeteria. Each den had met earlier to decorate their respective tables with special centerpieces and colors of red, white, and blue.

An invocation by Rev. Bob Roberts of the Oklahoma Lane Baptist Church, preceded the banquet meal which was served buffet style. Special visitors recognized included Joe Jones, representing the Farwell Youth Commission. Pack committee-man Claude Rose, Jr. expressed thanks to the commission for its financial help in the Twin Cities Cub Scout program. Den 3, led by Mrs. Rose, directed the audience in singing "America" and "I've Been Working on the Railroad."

Main attraction of the banquet was the Pine Wood Derby, a special indoor-track race of model racers constructed by boys and their fathers. Each car had to be made from raw wood, and had to meet special requirements as to size and weight. A total of 29 boys entered cars in the event, which was judged by Dale Schwartz, Clovis Scout Executive.

Pack 213 has a total of six active dens in Texico-Farwell. The unit is headed by Cubmaster Harlin Obenshain and Nathan Tharp, who presented achievement awards Thursday night.

Cub Scouting is for all boys in the third grade through age ten, being followed by the Boy Scout program beginning with age 11.

DERBY WINNERS -- Proud dads, who had helped with construction, shared honors with their sons in the Pine Wood Derby race, held during Pack 213's Blue and Gold Banquet. Winners, left to right were third place, Nell Hendrix and son Steve Powell; second place, Delbert Black and son Brent; best-constructed car, Bob Roberts and son Clay; and first place, Bill Hagler and son Phillip. Official judge of the 29 cars involved in the race was Dale Schwartz, El Llano Grande District Scout Executive.

Texico Takes Third In District 6AA

Texico Wolverines came out third in the District 6AA basketball war after the district tournament action ended over the weekend.

The Green and White, seeded fourth, played their first game of the tourney last Wednesday night, upending Floyd by a 79-37 count. Terry Yell and Ricky Pace led the winners with 17 points apiece. Texico's strong defense caused lots of turnovers, costing the Bronchos many shots.

Thursday night the Wolverines were victorious over Tatum 66-38 putting to good effect the fast break. Ricky Pace again scored 17 points for the Wolves.

In the semi-finals, Texico could not keep up with the No. 1 rated Ft. Sumner Foxes and were outscored 68-41. The second and third quarters of play spelled doom for the Green and White as they were held to only 13 points during these 16 minutes. Meanwhile, Ft. Sumner was chalking up 32 points.

Coach Bucky Walters of the Wolverines commented that his boys just couldn't hit against Ft. Sumner and proved it out by stating that they missed on at least 10 lay-ups. Walters says that they played a good game on the floor, but were shut out on their inside game and just couldn't start hitting.

In the consolation match between Texico and Causey on Saturday night the Wolverines finally emerged as victors with a 77-72 count. Wes Clark was high scorer for the Wolves with 23 points.

Texico wound up their season with a 16-8 mark, a bit better record than in the past few years.

Takes Calf At Houston

Mack McFarland, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McFarland, and a sophomore at Farwell High School, was one of the winners at the annual calf scramble during the February 27 performance of the Houston Livestock Show Rodeo.

Mack was among the 28 boys trying to capture one of the 14 calves turned loose in the arena and he was the recipient of what is called the "hard luck" calf. Another contestant apparently touched a calf after young McFarland had also put his hands on the animal so the judges awarded the 15th calf to the Farwell lad.

Winners do not receive an actual calf, but are presented monetary certificates with which to purchase an animal to raise for showing next year. The winners must keep accurate records on the care and feeding of the animal and return it to Houston to be exhibited the following year.

Accompanying McFarland to Houston were his parents and a brother, Lonnie, Jerry Mathis, FFA advisor at Farwell where Mack is an active chapter member, was also on hand for the show.

The McFarlands were guests of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Redding, at Lampasas on their way to and from the Houston event. They returned to Farwell Monday.

TWO MINUTES WITH THE BIBLE
BY CORNELIUS R. STAM, PRES. BEREAN BIBLE SOCIETY CHICAGO, ILLINOIS 60635

THREE TIMES WHEN THE LORD WOULDN'T ANSWER

In the various accounts of our Lord's earthly ministry we find three occasions when He declined to answer those who appealed to Him or questioned Him.

First there is the Gentile woman of Matt. 15:21-28. Her daughter was possessed of a demon and in her trouble she appealed to the Lord to help her. "but He answered her not a word." Finally, in His grace He did help her, but not until He had taught her the lesson that as a Gentile she had no claim on Him. As Romans 1:28 tells us, the Gentiles had been "given up" because "they did not wish to retain God in their knowledge." In this connection we Gentiles should read carefully Eph. 2:11,12 and see how utterly without hope we are apart from the grace of God.

Next there was a Jewess, in trouble of a different kind. She had been caught in adultery and was brought to Him for judgment (John 8:1-11). Unlike the Gentile woman, she belonged to the chosen race and possessed God's holy law, a distinct advantage - unless you are a law-breaker. Our Lord also helped her in grace, but not until He had demonstrated that the law is the great leveler of mankind, bringing all in guilty before God (Rom. 3:19).

But finally we find how it was that our Lord could show grace - and do it justly - to both Jew and Gentile, for in the third instance we find the Lord Himself in trouble. On trial for His life before the representatives of Hebrew and Roman law, He is accused of all sorts of wicked crimes. But on this occasion too, he declines to answer.

First Caiaphas, the High Priest said to Him: "Answerest Thou nothing? What is it which these witness against Thee? But Jesus held His peace..." (Matt. 26:62,63).

Next Pilate, the Gentile judge, said: "Hearst thou not how many things they witness against Thee? And He answered him too never a word; inasmuch that the governor marvelled greatly" (Matt. 27:12-14).

Why did our Lord not answer and defend Himself? Because He had come into the world especially to die for man's sins. Had the sinners of all ages been there to accuse Him of their sins, He would still have remained speechless for He stood there as man's representative, so that we might be "justified freely by God's grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus" (Rom. 3:24).

ROBERT ARMSTRONG

"Well, sir," said the waiter as he placed the hot bowl of soup before the customer, "it certainly looks like rain, doesn't it?"

Robert looked at the bowl and sniffed slowly, "You're right," he said grimly, "but it does smell a bit like soup."

it's a woman's world

Maybe youth is going off in all directions these days, but fashion likes to think they're putting things together. For example, the latest showing of new furniture at the Southern Market aimed at compatibility.

Not look-alikes, but things that complement each other—that's what it's all about. Typical was Heritage's rich, red-brown leather chair completely tufted and rounded in line. They showed it with furniture of other periods, textures, colors, such as a four-sided canopy bed banded in dull brass with an Oriental flare.

Charlton also did a squashy piece—a sofa in heavily textured cotton that was displayed with an aluminum-topped table. Thayer Coggin designed a modern burl dining table to go with white plastic tub chairs or tall black chairs with Chinese overtones.

The "separates" you put together in your own way are not the only influence furniture borrows from apparel. Corfam, the leather-like synthetic used in shoes and handbags, is turning up as table-tops and padded foot stools. One stunning table by O. B. Solie had a padded gray lizard texture top on a rounded chrome tube frame.

And then there's beloved bamboo that brings a nostalgic touch to contemporary furniture. Among the new designs is a Victorian kneehole desk with acorn-turned feet, outlined around top and drawers with bamboo. A 19th Century pierced-back armchair had bamboo turnings, and a five-foot long server with a glass top and lower cane shelf had a cherry "bamboo" frame.

If you think furniture is not part of the "separates" theme, lots of young people do. That's why they flock to flea markets and antique shops to find the unusual and odd pieces of furniture.

Your attitude toward money is likely to influence the attitude of your small child, reminds Mrs. Doris Myers, Extension home management specialist.

Boys and girls develop their attitudes concerning making and receiving money and its use at an early age. Parental values and goals are most often the ones children will adopt.

Young people must acquire a philosophy and a pattern of spending from experience, Mrs. Myers says. They need money for necessities as well as for extras. By making choices in the way money is used, children grow in their ability to manage it.

If your child has an allowance or a job that pays some money, he will have the opportunity to learn. Even if you dole money out to your child as he requests it, he should have some freedom in the way it is spent in order to learn to make wise choices.

When a child first begins to handle money, limits should be set on the amount. If he faces situations with not enough money, he will realize when he makes a mistake in judgement.

A child will make many mistakes, Mrs. Myers says, but these are learning experiences. The lessons are necessary early in life to avoid wrong decisions later that could become disasters.

Help your child learn that here are some expenditures he must take, and that he has obligations to himself and others. If you let a child learn through experience, Mrs. Myers suggests, he will grow up to be happy about his money management skills.
