"In my new picture 'Swing High, Swing Low' I sing a song for the first time since I have been on the screen. To do this, I spent months taking singing lessons. Modest Man A Nuisance, Says Shaw, So He Admits Swanking A Little

LONDON, Mar. 4 (AP)—Dramatist George Bernard Shaw conceded today he might be guilty of "swanking a little" because "a modest man is such a nuisance."

"Americans adore me," he smiled in complacent answer to Professor Archibald Henderson of the University of North Carolina, "though I have insulted them for their own good as long as I have been writing."

Dr. Henderson, author of such books as "Bernard Shaw a Dramatist" and "Bernard Shaw Playboy and Prophet," declared recently Shaw's "boorishness and egotism" resulted from "a split personality and an inferiority complex."

The playwright nonchalantly admitted he had about 20 personalities on tap, but he was frankly puzzled by the inferiority complex. There was one thing Henderson said about him, however, that Shaw agreed with completely—a description as "the most distinguished dramatist in English literature since Shakespeare."

"That," Shaw beamed, "is really quite scound."

Can Powell, At 90, Changes Date Of His Birthday Celebration To The Actual Date; Amendment The Cause

Now that inauguration day has been changed from March 4 to January, Can Powell, Howard county's sole surviving civil war veteran—because of the "lame duck" amendment, will go back to March 6 as his birthday. For the change he will use no less important occasion than his 90th birthday.

From his bed at the home of his son, Frank Powell, 408 Johnson street, he looks back on nine colorful decades that have taken him through service in two wars and exciting frontier days in at least three states.

Although confined to bed for two months now, the aged veteran recounts his many interesting experiences and smilingly says that "it's a grand old world."

Easy To Remember
Mr. Powell was born in Corcanton, Pa., in 1847. He says that he always celebrated March 4 as his birthday because it fell on inauguration day and was easy to remember. Besides, the installation of a president was always an occasion for gaiety. March 6, he says, is really his birthday.

At the age of 14 years he joined the union army and helped cart supplies and herd beef cattle over the mountains. It was a tedious process because the turnpike was hard on the oxen's feet. They had to be shod and when one got lame, it was killed according to law and the hungry natives allowed to consume the carcass.

A "Yankee" And A Republican
To this day, he admits, he is a "yankee" and pulls himself up in bed to give very positive assurance that he still votes the republican ticket. "I'm not a free trade man, myself. I believe in protection." On one occasion after he came to Texas and to Sweetwater in 1882 his firm republican convictions came near causing trouble. Even at that late date, there existed some animosity on the part of a few died in the wool "rebels" toward a union man. So much so was this that John Cox (Mr. Powell says he was an "old rebel" but a gentleman in spite of it) came to Powell, who was engaged in blacksmith trade and said: "Powell, tomorrow is election day, and some of them around here have threatened to get you if you vote."

Mr. Powell says he put on his pistol and replied: "Well, I'm going to vote, and vote the way I always do. They may shoot me down, but not before I drop one or two of them." He voted without trouble the next day.

To Big Spring In 1892
In 1892 Mr. and Mrs. Powell moved their family to Big Spring. By hard work Powell acquired enough property to care for his wife and himself in their old age. But it was not decreed that she should live to enjoy the fruits of their labors as long as he. She died here 63 years after their marriage.

When the United States entered the World War Powell was not content to watch his sons and grandsons take up the fight for the country. He enlisted in 1918 in the quartermaster corps at Fort Worth and was due to embark for foreign service at the time of the armistice. It is reputed that he was the oldest enlisted man in the U. S. army in the World War.

His son, Frank, was also in the war, serving in the second division from January, 1918, to August, 1919, in France and Germany.

The local V.P.W. post honored him on April 13, 1935, when they obligated him to become an honorary member of the organization, thus giving singular recognition for his record of service in the army for his country.

Mr. Powell enjoys recalling his army experiences. He also thrills to the ups and downs in his life, the times of prosperity and the times of adversity. Out of it he has hatched a formula for living which he calls "my motto."

It is: "Do what you agree to do, no matter what. Lay back for a rainy day, for rainy days are bound to come."

Ruling Is Issued On Security Tax

WASHINGTON, Mar. 4 (AP)—The internal revenue bureau ruled today that under stipulated circumstances "country correspondents" for newspapers are not subject to the social security act.

These workers would be exempt, the bureau said, when the newspaper exercised no control over working hours, the subject of news items furnished by the correspondents or the manner in which their work was performed.

In another ruling, the bureau said building and loan associations, savings banks and other member institutions of the federal home loan bank system are exempt from the security measure because they are government instrumentalities.

The bureau also ruled national banks could not voluntarily come under the act. These institutions, and the bureau said there was no authority under which they could waive this exception and voluntarily pay security taxes.

EXTENSIVELY REMODELED QUEEN THEATRE WILL OPEN FRIDAY

Seats Added, Renovations Are Complete

Interior And Exterior Of R&R Playhouse Present New Appearance

The Queen, second R&R theatre in Big Spring, reopens Friday, enlarged, improved and renovated throughout.

From the front to the rear a 40-foot extension, the show has been redesigned and remodeled so that now it ranks with the Ritz and Lyric as a modern showhouse.

Seating capacity has been increased to 456, of which number 352 are cushioned chairs. The remaining seats are down in front, a section seldom used by adults.

For the further comfort of customers, an additional blower has been installed to lessen the force but at the same time improve the circulation of washed air in the summer and heated air in the winter.

Interior Redesigned

The interior walls have been completely done over, and now present a modernistic touch, set off distinctively by a series of six indirect lights on either side of the theatre. The work is done in attractive designs, and bright colors lend a touch of freshness.

Lobby of the Queen has been enlarged. New, heavy green and gold drapes cover the doors and partition the space from the show proper. A drinking fountain, done in black and white tile, is at the foot of one of the two new stairways.

The stairways lead to lounge rooms for men and women and to the projection room. Formerly, employees reached the projection room via an outside staircase.

Equipment Revised

The projection room has been enlarged, and the projection and sound equipment revised. Instead of one small horn at the top of the new screen, there are two, a large one at the center, and small one above it. Detail in films will be brought out better by addition of larger mirrors in the projectors. Amplifiers have been reworked and afford perfect sound control from the working room.

Reception of sound effects by the audience is improved further by the installation of sound absorbent materials on walls, thus eliminating the annoying echo.

Heavy plus carpets in the lobby and aisles reduce foreign noises to a minimum. New flooring aids in holding this noise at a low pitch.

Front of the theatre is done in black and white tile. The ticket booth is built out almost even with the walk. Display space has been reduced but given more prominence. Feature attractions are billed in bold black letters surrounded by a red Neon border light.

The Queen is the oldest theatre in the city from the point of continuous service. Since it was first opened Nov. 29, 1924, it has been showing continuously except for interruptions for remodeling in 1935 and now. The Lyric exceeds it in number of years, having served more than 20 years.

Ritz, Lyric and Queen shows will be placed on similar schedules now, J. Y. Robb, manager, said. The Ritz and Queen will have Saturday mid-night matinee. Features at all shows will play Sunday and Monday, with another on Tuesday and Wednesday, a single on Thursday and the fourth feature of the week on Friday and Saturday.

No Interruption In Changing Reels

One of the tricks of the trade in the projection room of the Queen theatre is going from one reel to another without interruption.

This is, of course, why two projection machines are required. While one reel is showing, the next machine is loaded and held ready.

The operator watches for his first cue and then starts the second machine, getting it in synchronization with the first. When the second cue comes up, he pulls a string which automatically closes the shutter in front of the first machine and opens it on the second.

'Borderland' And 'I Promise To Pay' At The Queen

The remodeled Queen theatre features on its opening program Friday and Saturday another of the screen adventures of the popular "Hopalong Cassidy," a western melodrama titled "Borderland."

William Boyd, who has appeared as Hopalong in previous pictures, plays that role again.

The picture is the ninth adapted from the western stories of Clarence E. Mulford.

Jimmy Ellison plays Johnny Nelson, Hopalong's pal, again, and Stephen Morris is cast in the "heavy" role.

"Borderland" deals with the efforts of the Texas rangers and the Mexican secret police to apprehend a desperado whose depredations on both sides of the Rio Grande have made life dangerous in the sparsely settled country. Hoppy, as a secret agent for the rangers, tracks down the outlaw.

The Queen is inaugurating a Saturday midnight preview of its Sunday-Monday feature, and this week-end will present another week-end will present "I Promise To Pay," with Chester Norris.

Oil Workers Await Reply

Union Group Ready To Strike, If Demands Are Not Met

TULSA, Okla., Mar. 4 (AP)—Union employees of the Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation awaited indication tomorrow of the company's position on their demands for union recognition and prepared to back up their demands with a strike.

The union workers, members of the International Association of Oil Field, Gas Well & Refinery Workers of America, in three separate meetings last night voted to empower their negotiations committee to call them out on strike if necessary.

The company employs about 1,300.

The union is an affiliate of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, which recently announced plans to unionize the 1,000,000 workers in the oil industry. A short time before the votes were taken at Tulsa, Wewoka and Drumright, Jack Hays, president of the Tulsa local, announced he understood that the company would make no reply before Friday.

Advances which the Frisco will assume in exchange for certain of the Rio Grande's terminal properties.

Under the purchase contract, Santa Fe becomes the owner of 29,283 capital shares of the Ft. Worth & Rio Grande, along with $4,467,000 of first mortgage bonds. Advances totaling about $7,500,000 made by the Frisco will now be due to the Santa Fe by the acquired company.

Terms of the deal were in accordance with an order of the interstate commerce commission issued last September.

SANTA FE ANNOUNCES RAILROAD PURCHASE

NEW YORK, Mar. 4 (AP)—Acquisition of Fort Worth & Rio Grande Railway by the Atchafalaya, Topoka & Santa Fe system has been effected, it was announced today, with payment of approximately $1,500,000 cash to St. Louis & San Francisco Railway Co. which formerly controlled the Fort Worth.

The Santa Fe also assumed liabilities of the acquired road with the exception of about $543,000 in

12 Years In The Box-Office With Little Time Off; Mrs. Cowan Is Ready To Return To Job At Queen

For the first time in 12 years Mrs. J. N. Cowan has missed more than a week from her booth in the box office of the Queen theatre—she had to take a vacation while the place was being remodeled.

Mrs. Cowan joined the employ of the R&R Theatres here on Nov. 15, 1924, when the Queen was opened and has been at her duty 40 hours every week with the exception of two or three, when she took vacations. The time she has been absent amounts to about a month all together. She doesn't like to "waste time," much preferring to keep at the job she calls fascinating.

She is very fond of the work and the people with whom she is associated and says it is a pleasure to go back each afternoon. She likes to watch the people and has become quite a psychologist during her time here. She can tell those people who come to the show because they intended to and just as quickly can she distinguish those whose mind is far away and just happen fans stirred up what breeze there was and 329 wooden seats were not altogether comfortable. A doorman served also as usher.

MRS. J. N. COWAN

The Western Stars

At that time the favorites of the fans were Tom Mix, Jack Hoxie, Hoot Gibson, Bill Hart, Fred Thompson and Buck Jones, the latter of whom was just arriving at a popular height in moviedom. Today she picks Buck Jones as drawing the largest number to the theatre even though now he is one of the old timers. Gene Autry has gained a tremendous following but John Wayne, Tim McCoy and Big Boy Williams all run him a close race. Mrs. Cowan is quite a fan for western pictures and gives Tim McCoy the highest personal rating. She likes the cowboy opuses because, to her, they are not exaggerated like those drawing room dramas. She doesn't have much to say about actresses because she is better "acquainted" with the male western stars as she sees their pictures more often.

She doesn't know whether it's because people have "more sense" or because there's a doorman and a couple of ushers to get by, but she doesn't have as much trouble with people, young and old, trying to slip by without buying an admission ticket.

During these two months of just being at home—while the Queen was renovated—she hasn't been doing much of anything, just getting those things done that she neglects while she's working; and then, she has been to the picture show and names her favorites, "Born To Dance" and "The Plainsman." Now she's getting to feel a little lost because breaking a 12-year routine is pretty hard to get used to and she will be completely happy when she again faces the public through the window of her ticket booth when the show opens again Friday.

Mystery Of Talkies: From Light To Sound

The mystery of "talkies" is explained in the projection room mechanisms of the Queen theatre, opening Friday after extensive remodeling.

Along the side of each film is what is known as a film track, a continuous wave of apparently meaningless lines. An exciter light plays on the track as it runs through the machine. On the other side these light fluctuations are picked up by a photo electric cell and converted into electrical impulses. From the cell, the impulses go to an amplifier, and thence to the speakers back of the screen where they are delivered to the audience in clear tones, synchronized perfectly with the actions displayed on the screen.

CHARGES FILED

Charges were filed in county court today against B. F. Montgomery for possession of distilled spirits by a holder of a wine and beer permit, and a second charge against J. E. Terry for swindling by bogus check.

Left-Overs From Sunday Won't Be Recognized On Monday If The Cook Is Skillful In Disguising

POTATO SALAD POINTERS
Individual portions of potato salad—made of leftovers and placed on a large serving plate—are garnished with a slice of hard-boiled egg, topped by a strip of green pepper and sprinkled with paprika. The mound of salad dressing in the center may be supplemented by an additional bowl of dressing placed nearby.

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE (AP Feature Service Writer)

The resourceful housewife will plan her Sunday dinner so she can count on tasty left-overs to serve on Monday. If she is very skillful she may even plot to disguise those left-overs so that not even the most finicky member of her family can recognize them.

Left-over potatoes, especially may be used in a number of enticing ways.

Diced boiled potatoes, mixed with celery, hard-boiled eggs, seasonings and salad dressing become a substantial salad that will be welcomed at either luncheon or dinner. Or such potatoes may be sliced and browned in fat, hash-browned with onions or added to a cream sauce. (Mixed with a cream sauce, topped by buttered crumbs and baked they become potatoes "au gratin.")

Potato Croquettes
Potatoes also may be used in croquettes of various kinds. Combined with fish, chopped or diced meats or fowl they may be deep-fried and served with or without a cream sauce.

It is often possible to serve left-over roasts or fowl which have been re-heated—providing the meatless bones are removed and any dried-out portions are carved out. But it is generally better to serve them cold and sliced, diced and used in hash, stew or pot-pie, or mixed into salad or sandwich fillings—not to mention the delicious meat loaves which may be prepared from them.

Left-Over Vegetables
A cream or cheese sauce makes an effective and delicious disguise for many left-over vegetables. Such vegetables may also be added to mushrooms, hard-boiled eggs or rice or spaghetti in many instances. Mixed with meats, fish or fowl they can be shaped into appetizing turn-overs or pies which may form the main part of the meal. Peas, beans, celery, okra, cauliflower, carrots, spinach and onions are also suitable for use in soups.

Fruits Make Appetizer
One of the best ways in which to use slightly dried-out cake is to serve it covered with a fruit sauce made of either fresh or stewed fruits. Left-over fruits themselves may be put into a gelatin mixture and served as an appetizer or a salad.

Here's a recipe that makes use of a wide variety of left-overs. It is very flexible, since any number of vegetables may be substituted

SIT-DOWN STRIKE IN A MONASTERY

CAIRO, Egypt, Mar. 4 (AP)—The Egyptian government today ordered police to attack a desert monastery where embattled monks have been on a "sit-in" strike for months, refusing to admit either church or civil authorities.

The monks, of the Coptic faith, refuse to leave the monastery of Deri-El-Moharrak, near Assiut, unless the present abbot is dismissed.

The local governor was directed to send a large force of police to the monastery, which is built like a fortress, surrounded by a 15-foot wall and buttressed by massive steel doors. The police were ordered to avoid bloodshed if possible but to retaliate if attacked and to take the monastery "at all costs."

The monks are armed and have a large supply of food.

Campaign Bill 24 Millions

Expenditures Of All Parties Runs Total To Record High

WASHINGTON, Mar. 4 (AP)—The senate campaign expenditures committee disclosed today political parties, their major candidates, and a host of independent organizations spent $23,973,329 in the 1936 presidential campaign.

It was by far the most costly in American history.

The committee's final report, recommending drastic tightening of election laws, said the total cost of the election might approach $48,000,000 in the "tremendous volume" of money spent by individuals and local organizations could be counted.

The republican national committee and allied organizations spent $14,198,202, while similar groups supporting President Roosevelt paid out $9,228,406.

The total campaign expenditure averaged 52 cents for every ballot cast.

The investigators urged new legislation to halt coercion of voters, clarify reporting of expenditures, and forbid political contributions by labor unions.

The report said labor organizations contributed the "unprecedented" total of $770,824 to the democratic cause.

Other highlights of the report were:

The Du Pont families of Wilmington, Del., spent more than any other, 12 members donating $510,370 to the republican party and kindred organizations.

Alf M. Landon, republican presidential candidate, spent not a single penny in his own behalf, all his expenses being borne by the party. President Roosevelt's personal

Confesses To Girl's Death

Dentist Says He Administered Chloroform That Killed Student

RICHMOND, Va., Mar. 4 (AP)—Dr. R. C. Miller, a middle aged dentist, was quoted by Deputy Sheriff J. Mason Smith today as confessing he administered the chloroform that killed pretty Cleo Sprouse, whose body was found Tuesday beside a cemetery wall.

Smith said the dentist expressed a wish for a "quick trial."

The sheriff said Miller, arrested at Charlottesville on a charge of murder, signed a statement soon after officers brought him to jail.

Previously the sheriff said, Miller confessed verbally while en route from Charlottesville where the body of the 18-year-old high school girl was found Tuesday beside a cemetery adjoining the University of Virginia campus.

The dentist was quoted as saying he placed the body there after nightfall Monday after the girl died from chloroform he administered as he prepared to perform an illegal operation in a car outside the city.

Miller insisted he was not responsible for the girl's condition, Sheriff Smith said.

Smith said Miller related she had removed an undergarment and he dropped it in the leaves beside the wall.

A chloroform can, balanced open in down over the girl's mouth and nostrils, which were paced with saturated medical cotton, provided the clue, Smith said, that led to Miller's arrest.

COMMITTEE WOULD FREE TOM MOONEY

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 4 (AP)—A legislative committee's approval of a proposed full pardon for Thomas J. Mooney today opened a possible new path to freedom for the 1916 San Francisco bombing convict.

The action by the California assembly's rules committee, recommending passage of a pardon resolution, shifted immediate interest from Mooney's court fight for exoneration.

His habeas corpus petition, contending he was convicted through perjury, is before the state supreme court on findings of referees A. E. Shaw that it be denied.

Everyone Likes Eggs Some Way Or Another---Try These New Recipes

By MARTHA LOGAN
A mild winter is, no doubt, an "ill wind" for the kiddies who love snow but it has brought a grand supply of fresh eggs into our kitchens. The luxury of having all the eggs one wants! As mother used to say, "Any one can be a good cook if she has plenty of butter and eggs!"

Aside from the fact that the egg is a veritable store house of essential food elements, we who cook know that eggs are "the good mixers"—combining in equally happy combinations with meats, fish, vegetables, fruits and cereals.

Many a classic oration has been given on the technique of frying an egg. It would be strange indeed if I did not have my pet method. So, lest you think I'm "quaser," here's my claim to fame as a fried egg cook.

Use a heavy frying pan gently buttered. Heat slowly. Break the eggs, one at a time, on a saucer and slip into the pan being careful to keep the yolks whole. Cook slowly. When the edge of the whites begin to show brown, add a teaspoonful of hot water. Cover and cook two minutes or until a thin milky film has barely formed over the yolks and the whites are opaque jelly but not tough. Season. Remove to a hot platter and serve with crisp bacon, browned sausages, or broiled ham.

The flavor of eggs is especially delightful with peas, asparagus, celery, and broccoli. Omelet with creamed peas, scrambled eggs with broccoli and Hollandaise sauce, poached eggs with celery, shirred eggs with asparagus and cheese sauce are some of the "come handy" combinations every woman should know.

Without going into the discussion of custards, cakes, puddings, and pies, where eggs play such an important role, we are giving today some delightful egg dishes that when served on one of these lenten days will call forth praise from your family.

Casserole of Tuna, Eggs, and Cheese
6 eggs.
1 cup Old Cheddar cheese.
1-2 cup milk.
1-2 teaspoon mustard.
1-8 teaspoon nutmeg.
1-2 pound can tuna.
6 slices toast.
Boil the eggs. Remove the shell. Melt cheese in scalded milk. Add mustard and nutmeg. Add tuna fish to buttered casserole, add layer sliced eggs. Season. Pour on cheese sauce. Bake in moderate oven 20 minutes. Serve on toast or hot cooked rice. Yield: 6 servings.
Note: In place of tuna, one may use cooked crab or asparagus, celery, or peas.

Creamed Celery and Eggs on Toast
1 1-2 cups milk.
3 tablespoons butter.
4 tablespoons flour.
1-2 teaspoon salt.
3-4 cup diced celery.
6 eggs.
6 slices toast.
Melt butter, add flour, then milk, stirring constantly. Cook until thick. Season and add celery. Hard cook the eggs, shell, and quarter. Place on toast points, and pour celery mixture over. Garnish with parsley, 6 servings.

Royal Egg Platter
6 eggs.
6 slices yellow cheese.
1-2 teaspoon salt.
6 slices toast.
On each slice of toast place a slice of cheese, trimming to make sizes match. Beat egg whites stiff adding salt. Arrange in mounds on top of cheese. Make a small well in each mound, place unbroken yolk carefully into it and bake in moderate oven (325-350 degrees F.) until eggs are set and cheese is melted, 15-20 minutes. Garnish with parsley, 6 servings.

Eggs Epicurean
6 eggs.
2 tablespoons butter.
2 tablespoons flour.
1 cup milk.
1-2 cup dry bread crumbs.
1-4 cup butter.
1-4 teaspoon salt.
1-8 teaspoon mace.
1 clove garlic.
Hard cook the eggs. Shell. Make a white sauce of the 2 tablespoons butter, flour, and milk. Place the hot eggs on a buttered baking platter. Pour over these the white sauce. Roll the crumbs to a fine consistency. Melt the 1-4 cup butter, add the salt, mace, garlic, and crumbs. Stir while browning. Remove the garlic. Pour crumbs over the cream sauce. Brown in the oven. Serve with broiled tomato slices and spiced apple sauce.

BRITISHERS HOPE FOR DRY WEATHER FOR CORONATION

LONDON, Mar. 4 (AP)—The threat of rain, with its attendant possibility of financial loss, plagued Great Britain today as it cast a collective eye at the weather for coronation day—even though it is more than two months away.

Everyone from King George VI down to his lowliest subject who will fight for a glimpse of the procession was hoping against hope that May 12 would be dry.

But, just drying out after the wettest winter in years, they didn't really have much hope, and an average Englishman, after a glance at the weather on May 12 for the past 25 years, passed along this tip to America:

"If you are coming to the coronation, don't forget your raincoat, overcoat and umbrella."

FREED OF THREAT OF PRISON TERM

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 4 (AP)—A full pardon and $10 from Governor Martin L. Davey sent Terrence J. Cannon back to Pittsburgh today, free of the shadow of prison walls for the first time in 19 years.

Pittsburgh became his home during his wanderings as a fugitive from the Leiden, O., prison farm from which he escaped 16 years ago. He married a year ago and police intervention in a family quarrel led to his identification last week.

WOODUL, STEVENSON ON LUBBOCK PROGRAM

Lieut. Gov. Walter F. Woodul and Rep. Coke R. Stevenson will be featured speakers at a program to be held in Lubbock Friday afternoon, when the West Texas museum there is officially presented to the West Texas Museum association and Texas Technological college.

The ceremonies will be in connection with the eighth annual meeting of the association, and items of business will be transacted. There will be a dinner following the program, scheduled to start at 4 o'clock.

PIRATES BOLD USED GALVESTON ISLE AS PLACE TO BURY GOLD

Next stop for radio listeners who each week go "Exploring America with Conoco and Carveth Wells" will be Galveston,—Pleasure Island of the South—the story of which will be told by the famous world explorer in the Continental Oil company broadcast at 8:30 Saturday evening over station WFAA, Dallas.

"Known as Treasure Island in the days when pirates roamed the Gulf of Mexico and buried their loot in the vicinity of what is now Galveston, this small island can best be described now as Pleasure Island," says Wells. "Galveston boasts a delightful subtropical climate with an average temperature of 70 degrees, and mildy tempered winds of winter make numerous summer sports enjoyable the year around."

Also included in Wells' broadcast will be an unusual description of how Galveston was "lifted out of the sea" following the disastrous hurricane which wrecked the city in 1900.

PENSION INQUIRIES NEAR COMPLETION

AUSTIN, Mar. 4 (AP)—W. A. "Jack" Little, acting director of the old age assistance commission, foresaw today early completion of all original investigations numbering approximately 214,000.

He said only the Houston and Texarkana districts remained to be investigated.

"The purely mechanical process of certifying the investigators' reports will be completed soon, and by April 1 all applicants who have not yet heard from their applications will have been notified whether or not they are eligible to receive assistance," Little said.

The Moore Parent-Teacher association held its regular business session last Monday night in one of the schoolrooms. Some important problems were discussed at this meeting in which the members agreed to sponsor a movement to purchase saws and other schoolground equipment, and also to set aside a fund for the purpose of hiring someone to take care of the schoolgrounds while the teachers are away at school this summer. Due to the fact that the farmers' meeting was under way at the same time, the main program was postponed until next Monday night at 7:30 when the members will conduct a rally in the gymnasium. There will be a program presented by the students. The public is invited to be present.

Misses Rosa Lee Shaffer and Wynell Todd of Big Spring spent Sunday with Miss Pauline Petty. Teachers have been supervising the cleaning of the school grounds and the cultivation of the grass plots for the past few days, and the appearance of the campus has been much improved. HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE
Caused by Tired Kidneys
Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved in the right way.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking some acid and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.
If the 10 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. This waste may start itching backaches, rheumatisms, uric acid, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait until you're in agony for "Don't Pills," used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the kidneys do their job. Buy Don't Pills at your drug store. Get Don't Pills.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thomas' baby, who has been under the care of a physician for some time, remains in a serious condition. The child may be taken to a specialist in San Antonio.

NEW YORK, Mar. 4 (AP)—Murder by rape was the conclusion written by police today on the sordid death of four-year-old Joan Marvan, but by odd coincidence New York authorities were confronted with the unsolved and violent death of another child, a boy 15 months old.
Within a period of three days the two children died, the Morvan girl from injuries inflicted, the state charged, by Howard Magnusson, 26, candy maker.
But of the death of Gordon Keith, Jr., the infant, Bronx officialdom knew little. Dr. Louis Lefkowitz, a medical examiner, reported the boy, son of Mrs. Catherine Keith, a waitress, had succumbed yesterday to a fractured skull, a brain injury and severe contusions of the arms, legs and abdomen.

TWO LOSE LIVES IN TENEMENT BLAZE
NEW YORK, Mar. 4 (AP)—Flames raging through five-story tenements on the lower East Side claimed at least two lives today, caused injuries to four tenants and eleven firemen, and drove 200 residents to the street in their nightclothes.
Two bodies were found charred beyond recognition. Firemen expressed belief that many more bodies might still remain in the smoldering ruins.

Larger Birthrate For War Purposes Is Aim Of Il Duce's New Campaign

ROME, Mar. 4 (UP)—Fascist Italy launched a seven-point drive today to increase the national birthrate for "military power" and "a secure future for the fatherland."

The fascist grand council, with Premier Mussolini presiding, outlined the drastic provisions to halt Italy's declining birthrate and assure more children to supply fascist armies of the future.

The plan, placing heavy economic burdens on bachelors and childless husbands, was the second such stringent step to be taken by the council in its current series of meetings.

Monday night, the council acted to strengthen the Italian army of the present, drafting all able-bodied men into 37 years of almost continuous service between the ages of 18 and 55.

Under the program heads of large families will receive not only preference in employment, but wage increases in proportion to the number of children they contribute to the nation.

"On large families," a communique said, "in exceptional times for the fatherland will fall the heavier sacrifices and greater contributions of men."

Salaries will be fixed for families rather than individuals. Loans will be made to enable couples to marry, the state will assist in providing dowries for brides and will sponsor insurance for young workmen.

WIFE SEEKING $100 FROM HUSBAND USES SIT-DOWN TACTICS ROCHESTER, N. Y., Mar. 4 (UP)—Rata are a minor concern to Mrs. Mildred E. Agness, 35-year-old, alimony "sit-downer" who began a second-day siege of her husband's family to receive not only preference in employment, but wage increases in proportion to the number of children they contribute to the nation.

On a table despite the warning that the shop was "infested" with sewer rats at night. Mrs. Agness, mother of a four-year-old boy, started her sit-down yesterday to force her husband Howard Agness, to pay $100 she claims due her for support of herself and her son under a separation order obtained Oct. 5, 1935.

DI MAGGIO ADMITS HE HAS WEAKNESS WITH WILLOW

By RICHARD McCANN

NEW YORK, Mar. 4—It seems now that Signor Giuseppe DiMaggio satisfied everybody last year but Signor Giuseppe DiMaggio himself.

You, of course, know who Signor Giuseppe is? Perhaps you may know him better by the name of plain Joe DiMaggio, but to his he's Giuseppe because he's hardly just another guy named Joe after what he did in his first season in the big leagues.

Last year, you see, the young New York Yankee was one of the most sensational rookies the majors had seen since a 17-year-old kid named Al Spaulding pitched the Rock Islanders to a brilliant 25 to 21 victory over the Eureka A. C. a few years back when Connie Mack was a mere stripling of 65 or so.

Despite the white hot spotlight of publicity which had withered many other blossoming stars before him, the young signor batted .323, pounded out 29 home runs, collected 206 hits, and hit for .346 in the world series.

Quite a litany of achievement to be sure, and the expert players and fans (except, of course, the Knockers of Knoxville) all nodded their heads satisfiedly and said, "Some hitter, eh? What a swing."

Swing Is Jerky

But the young signor doesn't agree. The other day he untangled himself from a few thousand miles of spaghetti, mopped his mouth with one of Col. Jacob Ruppert's contracts and belched forth the confession that he thinks his batting swing is a bit jerky.

"I've got a lot of awkward spots in my batting," said Giuseppe. "But I hope to iron 'em out this year—maybe before the season opens."

And then the young signor revealed that he has been working out practically all winter. "I'm in good shape," he said. "I weigh about 200 pounds, which is about five or six pounds more than I weighed last year, but it's not fat—I'm just growing bigger and stronger. That'll help, too. The added weight'll give me more power." This, no doubt, will be good news to the pitchers.

If he gets his swing corrected, although please don't get the idea that we think his swing needs any correcting—this is Joe's idea all the way through—well, as we were saying, if he gets this swing corrected Joe says he'll hit .350 this year.

Feels More at Home

"I'm not meaning to be shooting off at the mouth or trying to be too optimistic, but I think I can do it—I really do," said Giuseppe. "After all, didn't I hit around .350 most of last year?"

"I'll feel more at home this season. I'll have more confidence at the plate, and I'll know more about the pitchers, and I'll be more used to that background of white shirts at the Yankee Stadium—it's plenty tough following the ball, you know—and, most of all, I won't be fighting that pressure I had last year. You know it's tough being a rookie."

Yes, especially a rookie like the young signor was. He came out of the west with such brilliant press notices that they couldn't have been brighter if printed in golden ink. No matter how good he proved to be he couldn't be better than the press notices had led the fans.

Wilbert Harrison and Solon Holt guards; and Sam Baugh, quarter.

Some of the other 12 Frog lettermen may receive bids later, it was indicated. The players will report for practice in Dallas August 26.

The Bears have already announced that they are out for revenge. Meyer and Bell's victory last fall marked the first time a college all-star team had defeated a pro outfit.

FDR's Plan For Lean And Fat Years

FROM GOOD YEARS... Taking a leaf from the Bible, farmers would store up wheat from bountiful years for use in the lean, under a crop insurance plan recommended by the president.

TO GRANARY... Both premiums and losses would be paid in wheat or in cash, the grain to be stored in huge elevators. Farmers would apply for insurance to a local committee.

FOR BAD YEARS... Then in natural hazards such as drought, grasshoppers, or hail destroyed the crop, the farmer would receive up to 75 per cent of normal yield.

count funds was committed under influence of liquor will be permitted to make purchases at the county stores. Sale to minors is forbidden.

Stores Open 12 Hours

The stores will remain open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily, but will be closed on Sundays, election days and holidays.

Liquor cannot be consumed at the stores, and no advertising of liquor for sale by the county stores will be permitted.

A purchaser from a county liquor store may carry one gallon or less into a dry county, provided it is for his own consumption and the seal is not broken when it crosses the line into dry territory.

To assure proper management for the liquor stores, the legislature provided in the act that the county liquor boards should be composed of three men who are "well-known for their good character and business success." No member may have an interest in distilleries or any other phase of the liquor business. The act also provided that salaries of county board members should be "large enough to secure the best men available for the work."

SOUTHWEST STILL UNDAUNTED DESPITE NEW DUST STORMS; WHEAT BELT IS HELD SAFE

MANHATTAN, Kas., Mar. 4 (UP)—The return of a normal weather and rainfall conditions will provide the springboard on which wheat growing sections of the Southwest will bounce back to bumper crop production, agricultural authorities here believe.

Dust storms that have ravaged fields in western Kansas and the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles indicate that improvements are needed in farming methods and not that crop production in the area is doomed, experts at Kansas State college and the U. S. state experiment station here say.

They scoff at reports in the East that the Southwestern wheat belt gradually is becoming a desert. Some farmers, discouraged by recurring dust storms, have moved from the affected area, but they are few.

Conditions Held Temporary

The experts base their predictions on the fact that only a part of the wheat belt is in the dust bowl; not all the land within the dust bowl is affected by the blowing, and on belief that the condition is only temporary.

The blowing does not affect fertility of the soil, experts say. The same thing has happened before and has been followed by the greatest wheat crops in the history of the Southwest. The only difference is due to the fact that more land is under cultivation.

"Soil blowing is not general," according to Dean H. Umberger, college extension director, "it usually affects scattered fields, begins on land that is poorly farmed, and is primarily the result of low rainfall and high winds.

Farming Methods Improved

"During wet years of the rainfall cycle it is not a problem. Proper farming methods will reduce soil blowing even in dry years. The effect of improvement in farming methods will be to make the Southwest a more reliable wheat-producing area, year in and year out, than it has been in the past.

"To say that dust storms and wind erosion have destroyed the Southwest as a wheat producing area is as absurd as to say that the recent flood has destroyed the Ohio Valley as a corn producing area."

Dust storms have been blowing in the Southwest for several million years, Umberger said, building up from deposits of the wind-blown soil some of the best land in the area. They are not of major importance in soil destruction, he said.

More Land Tilled

Lack of sufficient rainfall, prevalence of high winds blowing across the level unprotected fields and increased tilling of the land are the principal reasons for the increased amount of soil blowing; in recent years, Umberger believes. "There are some relatively small areas which must be returned to grass because they are unsuited to cultivation," Umberger said. "But in most of the Southwest, farming will not need to be abandoned. Abandonment would be uneconomical."

Fourteen southwestern Kansas counties, generally referred to as being in the dust bowl, produced nearly $14,000,000 worth of farm products in 1934, despite the great drought, Umberger said. During the past 20 years the same counties produced $811,705,000 worth, he said.

Yield Increase Shown

They produced 3,295,520 bushels of wheat in 1933 and 6,521,491 bushels in 1934. Production jumped from 10,201,830 bushels in 1925 to 62,640,108 bushels in 1931.

Reports of the state board of agriculture, which go back to 1890, show that yields dropped during years when there was a moisture deficiency but immediately climbed back to high levels when weather and moisture conditions were normal.

Experts

experts believe 1937 will be a bad year for champions. Two exceptions involve the events to be conducted on tidal waters, where Vanderbilt and Washington are the choices to repeat.

3 Name England

Only three out of 47 sports editors named England as likely to retain the Davis Cup without Fred Perry.

Budge, this country's main Davis Cup hope, ran off with the balloting on the next singles champion. The Californian collected 42 out of 45 votes.

Goodman tops Fischer, the defending champion, for the national amateur golf championship, by the close margin of 17 to 16. Walter Sanyal of Oklahoma, runner-up to Lawson Little two years ago, and Seattle's Scotty Campbell, received three votes each. On the theory that anything can happen, Harry Givan, Charley Yates, George Durlap and Gus Moreland each emerged with one backer.

Mrs. Ed Nicholson of Fort Worth who is visiting her daughters, Mrs. Claude Cole and Mrs. Sam Arstead, is planning to return to home soon.
