"Build Ball Park" Theme of Big Civic Event-Box-Sox Social Saturday

To demonstrate that the "state line wall" is largely imaginary -- even though it has persisted for years -- and to provide a badly needed recreational facility for the youth of the Twin Cities, a community-wide fund raising promotion will be staged at the Steer football stadium Saturday night, with an old-fashioned box-sox supper auction the theme of the occasion.

Money derived from the project will go into the fund to further the work on the Little League ball park, which is located on the Santa Fe property near the state line in Texico. Cost of the park is estimated at $5000 and members of Twin City Council, sponsors of the event, hope to raise a large portion of the amount at the function Saturday.

Pre-auction activities begin at 7:30 (CST) and everyone is invited to participate in the festivities. Among events on schedule is the loveliest lady and ugliest man contest, presentation of a Shetland pony and saddle, folk singing and other special entertainment, as well as the auction. The pony project is sponsored by Farwell Youth Commission.

Candidates for the loveliest lady-ugliest man competition will be nominated the evening of the festivities with winner chosen by money vote by persons in attendance.

Women are asked to bring boxes filled with a complete picnic meal, and young ladies are asked to bring bobby sox filled with a snack. Teen-agers are urged to bring decorated boxes. A prize will be given for the most artistic box. Council members stress that the occasion is a family affair. Everyone is invited.

Some 15 local civic groups are participating in the Twin City Council, Bobby Joe Crume is chairman and Johnny Green, Lions Club president, is chairman of the box-sox affair.

Letters reminding citizens of the coming event will be distributed by school children in Texico-Farwell and on Friday and Saturday, booster parades will be held in the downtown area.

Texico-Farwell youngsters who participated in the Little League program last year, played games at Bovina, since no facilities were available here. The Lions Club had spearheaded the campaign to build the ball park, and had begun initial work last year.

This Shetland Pony, along with the bridle and saddle shown with one of the potential "Ugliest man contestants," Mitz Walling, will be given to some lucky person at the box-sox social scheduled for Saturday night, beginning at 7:30 p. m. at "Steer Stadium." The affair is under sponsorship of Twin-Cities Council and all proceeds will be used for the Little League Ball Park project.

Big news in Texico-Farwell Saturday night is the box-sox social at Steer Stadium to "build a ball park". A pretty box is half the fun, and Mrs. C. C. Christian and daughter, Phyllis, begin early on planning their designs. A prize will be given for the most artistic box.

Coach Bill White and Roy Donaldson are teaming up to coach a group of boys, who will be entered in several area track and field meets during the summer. The boys will try their skills for the first time in the Jaycee sponsored "Junior Champs" meet to be held in Clovis Saturday, 7:30 p.m. (CST).

The boys will enter in four divisions "pee-wee", junior, prep and senior, with boys 10-11 in the first division; boys 12-13 in the junior group; boys 14-15 in the prep division and senior boys in the age group 16-17.

NOW... GREAT NEW ENCO EXTRA!

PUT A TIGER IN YOUR TANK!

New Power-formula Enco Extra gasoline boosts power three ways... preserves the power of new engines... restores lost power to many older engines:

- 1. Cleaning Power! Dirt can clog even a new carburetor in a few months of normal operation—causing hard starting and rough idling. Your very first tankful of New Enco Extra will start to clear away these deposits to improve power and mileage.
- 2. Firing Power! Spark plug and cylinder deposits can cause misfiring, pre-ignition and hot spots. New Enco Extra neutralizes these harmful deposits to help your engine fire smoothly and efficiently.
- 3. Octane Power! Octane requirements for new cars are up again this year. New Enco Extra has the high octane that most cars now need for full performance, smooth acceleration and passing power without knocking.

You'll get something extra for your money with New Power-formula Enco Extra—it's like putting a tiger in your tank! Happy Motoring!

Installation Theme Is Trees For TWC

"Trees" was the theme used by Mrs. James Turner, Portales, past president of New Mexico Federation of Woman's Clubs, when she installed officers of the Texico Woman's Club, for 1964-65 Monday night at a dinner meeting in a local restaurant.

Mrs. Turner commended Mrs. Wesley Engram, retiring president and her slate of officers for a fine years work stressing the fact that the 1963-64 theme "Harmony" had been fulfilled through the efforts of club members.

"Let us think together on the wisdom of nature," she said, "Each thing and activity in nature has a story to tell and has wisdom to give - if we look for it." "Picture in your mind a beautifully formed tree and its image remains with us forever; its loveliness increases; it can never pass into nothingness. The tree which is perfectly formed is worth a lingering look, but so is the scrub oak seemingly growing out of the rocks. It isn't perfectly shaped but it has a story to tell - we cannot all be perfect, but we can do our best. Human growth and the growth of organizations are comparable. Though this is a madmade tree that I am using, the real life is in the people who represent and make up the growth of the tree."

"Let us keep in mind that the tree is symbolic of the Texico Woman's Club," she continued. As she presented each officer with a branch to place on the tree, Mrs. Turner stressed the importance of doing the best job possible in the office to which each had been elected.

In conclusion Mrs. Turner said, "As officers of the club, your roots must be broad and solid for the responsibilities are great. The duties and opportunities which await you will challenge your devoted efforts."

She reminded club members that, "Any tree must have rain and sunshine for growth, you are this substance; you elected these officers to serve you, they need your encouragement and support. You must pledge therefore to be willing to help if asked, and give the officers your loyalty if the tree is to grow and flourish."

She concluded her program by reading the poem "Trees" by Joyce Kilmer.

Officers installed were president, Mrs. E. L. Farmer; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Elmer Teel; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Melvin Burns; secretary, Mrs. James Pierce and treasurer, Mrs. Truman Kittrell.

Outer Space Is Theme For Study Club Officer Installation

"Ever since the launching of Russia's Sputnik, and our own Explorer Satellites, the world's thoughts have turned more and more to outer space," Mrs. C. L. Gunn told members of Farwell Study Club while installing the new officers for 1964-65 at a salad luncheon in a local cafe Tuesday night.

"Even old standby colors have been re-christened. They've named the familiar royal blue "Solar Blue," the deep rich red that was once called maroon is now "Cosmic Red," and even black hasn't escaped the spatial influence--it's now "Pluto Black."

Following this brief introduction Mrs. Gunn brought the meeting back to earth by presenting Mrs. Clytie Dial, retiring president, as her model for the evening. "Mrs. Dial" she said, "represents the foundation -- lovely but unadorned as though dependent upon the changing years, and the demands and needs of time for added accessories."

As each of the officers was installed she chose an accessory which was presented to Mrs. Dial. When each had been installed Mrs. Dial was presented as the best dressed woman (a clubwoman) of the year. Emphasis was placed by Mrs. Gunn on fulfilling the duties of the respective offices to which officers had been elected.

"The best dressed clubwoman will be wearing a little of each of the following -- humility, tolerance, peace, patience, long-suffering, sense of appreciation and goodness," said Mrs. Gunn in conclusion.

Mrs. Hattie Boling was presented as clubwoman of the year 1963-64 for her outstanding work with the Bookmobile and the Twin Cities council. She was presented with a crystal and sterling silver salad set.

A gift of appreciation was presented to Mrs. Dial as retiring president, for her untiring and outstanding work on behalf of the club during the past year.

Mrs. Reynolds, new president, appointed standing committees for the new club year and gave a report on her recent trip to the state convention. Most impressive to Mrs. Reynolds was a lecture illustrated with slides given by Mr. Mayfield of Dallas on the intensive education given Russian youth on "Communism."

Survey Cards To Be Distributed By Rural Carriers

Postmaster J. R. Smart of the Farwell post office reminds rural patrons to be on the lookout for the June Livestock survey cards. Next week, rural carriers will distribute cards along the route. Not everyone on the route will receive a card, says Postmaster Smart; therefore it is important for all who receive cards to return them to the carrier.

"USDA bases its livestock and poultry estimates on the replies to this survey," said Postmaster Smart. If each person who receives a card will fill it out and return it immediately the USDA will get a representative sample of the area's livestock and poultry holdings.

Lee R. Meeks, carrier on route 1, is assisting with this survey. Survey cards will be forwarded to Gary D. Palmer, State Agricultural Statistician in Austin. After adding and analyzing these cards, USDA statisticians are able to estimate the state's milk production, calf and pig crops, lamb and wool crops and the number of hens and pullets.

"Information from this survey will guide livestock and poultry producers in making important business decisions," concludes Postmaster Smart.

The first recorded State Fair of Texas was held in Dallas in 1859 and drew an attendance of 2,000.

PARMER COUNTY CROPS OFF TO GOOD START

In spite of one of the driest springs on record, and in spite of a 65-day spell of hard-blowing winds, the 1964 crop season for Parmer County is off to a good start.

On the High Plains, where an altitude of 4,000 feet can mean late freezes in the spring and early freezes in the fall, the word "early" is practically synonymous with "good" so far as row crops are concerned.

The fact that the big majority of the county's 1,200 farmers have their cotton and grain sorghum planted, and quite a few are fortunate enough to be nursing satisfactory stands, brings joy to the hearts of the men of the soil.

The feeling of most is that planting, which is the first lap in a race against the clock in the county's 208-day growing season, is just about in the bag and farmers can begin breathing a little easier.

THE HIGH PLAINS FARM AND HOME

Now as always, a lot depends on what the weather does insofar as determining yield potential for all crops through the growing season.

WHEAT
With over 80,000 acres of irrigated wheat waving in the southwestern winds and parching under a sun shining down from cloudless skies, the critical moment of grain making is at hand.

After a winter of practically no moisture from either snow or rain, the wheat crop has been having a hard time living up to expectations. Most farmers agree that their wheat is in good shape, considering conditions.

Some farmers with limited irrigation water have been hard-pressed to keep up with the requirements of their wheat blocks, and the crop has suffered as a result.

Cultural practices are still being refined by area farmers, and in most cases farmers have provided the best farming methods, including soil nutrients and water, that advanced technology can devise.

Even so, when the plants begin to set their grain, a little cooperation from Mother Nature is nearly essential.

Joe Jones of Security State Bank says "What we need now is a spell of cool, damp, rainy weather." He adds that "This is just the kind of weather that makes cotton sick, and that is the problem we always have at this time of year."

Gary Brown, agriculturalist at Friona State Bank, believes wheat will be "average" this year in spite of the very dry weather, although farmers have been hard pressed to keep up with water requirements.

"The next 30 to 45 days will be very important for our wheat this year," says Brown, emphasizing the immediacy of the problem.

GRAIN SORGHUM AND COTTON

Brown is enthusiastic about the early start on row crops, and says, "We're way ahead in our cotton and grain sorghum. Most all of the grain sorghum is sowed and the majority of the cotton is up."

Jones says that farmers in this area usually consider themselves in good shape if they have a good stand of cotton by June 1. For most farmers, it seems that this goal will be reached, and for some it already has—which is just that much better.

Rain and hail and a cold spell held the cotton back last spring, but so far conditions are almost exactly the reverse for the 1964 crop.

Jones believes that there was more early grain sorghum planted this year than ever before. One of the reasons farmers have been moving their planting dates up for this crop is the increasing seriousness of midge in late-season development—just prior to harvest. Early planting does not eliminate the problem but reduces the hazard.

WHEAT SIGNUP EXTENDED

The deadline for signing up in the new wheat program has been extended one week, and will end Friday, May 22, according to the Farwell ASCS office.

Jo Schell reported that by last Friday only 992 of the 1221 eligible wheat growers in the county had signed up, and because of confusion between signing for this program and signing cards to have wheat measured, some farmers who had intended to participate had not done so.

There were only 11 days allowed for signing to participate in the newly-enacted program which applies to the 1964 crop, and it has been a rush-up project from the start.

Many of the wheat farmers with smaller acreages have not understood the program, says Mrs. Schell.

Friday is also the last day to appeal cotton yields.

This monstrous tractor is a new generation row-crop machine being introduced by the J. I. Case Company this week. Premier showing and plowing demonstration will be at Oklahoma Lane Farm Supply Monday, starting at 9 in the morning. Power is supplied to all four wheels, and all four are steerable to boot. Driving is Jesse Fulcher. Beside him is Wendol Christian, and standing are Troy and Clarence Christian, all from the Parmer County dealership.

8-Plow Tractor Feature Of Show

An eight-plow rated tractor with four-wheel driving and four-wheel steering will be shown at Oklahoma Lane Farm Supply Monday, starting at 9 a.m. Coffee and donuts will be served at the showing.

Case's new entry in the row-crop tractor field will be an eye-opener to High Plains farmers, who have been seeing size and horsepower of their tractors go up and up since World War II.

Wendol Christian, manager of the Parmer County dealership, believes area farmers are ready to start thinking in terms of eight row farming. "When we went from two to four row tractors a lot of people thought that was a big step, but you can't find anybody who'd farm three acres with a smaller tractor than four-row these days," he says.

The large Case machine, called the T-1200, will in many cases permit the farmer to eliminate one hand and one tractor from his resources, predicts Christian.

Christian and his brother Troy, who saw the new tractor demonstrated at Oklahoma City recently, were so impressed they purchased one for themselves. It was the first sale in the nation.

The businessman points out that emphasis on High Plains farming has gone from post-plant to pre-plant activities, which means land preparation capabilities of machinery has increased in importance. This makes larger tractors practical and desirable, he said.

"All tractors have been increasing in power over the years," he said, "but we have reached the point where tractors is limiting the usefulness of our power." He thinks four-wheel drive will overcome that problem.

Area Sugar Beets Start Off Well

Parmer and Curry County farmers -- who are sticking their necks out with a brand new cash crop this year--consider themselves off to a flying start with sugar beets.

The farmers in this area, who have pledged themselves to grow about 6,500 acres of beets for the new mill at Hereford, had their fingers crossed from the start.

The reason is that most of them have never seen a sugar beet up close--let alone invest in the growing of them--and it naturally followed there would be some apprehension with such all-new conditions.

However, the sugar beet situation across the area seems to be working out very satisfactorily, and on the whole farmers think they are in good shape.

The biggest concentration of beets is in the Friona area, which figures since that is the only part of Parmer County ever having produced beets previously. Also, the farmers in the north and eastern part of the county are "just over the hill" from the big $21,000,000 mill now under construction for the Holly Sugar Company.

Gary Brown, agriculturalist at Friona State Bank, says beets in the Friona area total about Paul Skaggs, Texico area farmer, checks root development and notes it is good in his 35-acre field of sugar beets. Like most other area beet growers, this is Skaggs' first try at the new crop.

2,600 acres (there are about 4,000 in the county) and that all of them are "in real good shape."

Typically, he says, farmers have irrigated their crops twice and are getting ready for the third watering.

The area's big splash in sugar beet production comes at a time when acreage for other cash crops is contracting, and when pressures on prices for most things farmers produce is mounting.

Large-scale production of crops other than the old staples of grain sorghum, cotton, and wheat have long been discussed and advocated, but diversification has been slow in coming.

With the announcement last year that Holly would build, the picture changed considerably. While some farmers have criticized the financing of the mill and their involvement in it as producers, most have realized that other farmers out of the area are still seeking a mill and have been unable to obtain one.

At any rate, at the present time there is general satisfaction with the way the crop is starting off, and if yields of 20 tons and upward are realized this fall with the market already anticipated, the new development will probably be regarded as an addition to the farming picture that is well worthwhile.

At Home In Parmer County

By CRICKET B. TAYLOR
County HD Agent

There seems to be renewed interest in gardening in Home Demonstration Clubs this year. A recent club survey indicated that three fourths of the women present had started vegetable gardens. Although it is a satisfying leisure activity for some people let us consider the advantages and disadvantages of buying compared to producing home grown food supply.

In some instances it may be to your advantage to buy all your food while for others it may serve your family better to produce part of the food supply. Think through both sides before making decision.

It is possible to reduce the actual cash spent for food by producing some. Studies show that families will be better fed if you produce part of your food supply.

A value should be established for family labor and other cost for producing vegetables include pesticides, fertilizer and seed.

Producing $100. worth of food does not necessarily reduce grocery market expenditure by that amount but families that produce food eat better, use greater variety and the fresh vegetable have more nutritive value when used immediately after gathering from the garden. While cost of labor in time and energy may not justify the production of food.

A leader training meeting on canning fruits and vegetables will be held Wednesday, May 27th at the Hub Community Center beginning at 9:30 a.m. It's a timely subject with garden in the making, English peas and greens from my own garden may be used for the demonstration--anyone who would like to attend this meeting is welcome, whether a Home Demonstration Club member or not.

Screwworms Still A Threat

The "Titanic" was unsinkable, but it sank. Livestock producers must continue to keep a watch for possible screwworm cases or the entire screwworm eradication program may go the way of the "Titanic," warns Weldon H. Newton, assistant entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

As many cattlemen will testify, the screwworm eradication program is proving to be one of the most worthwhile efforts ever put forth by the livestock industry, but critical days do lie ahead.

Reports being received from across the state show that too many producers may be relaxing their vigilance. Because of the tremendous success of the program, cattlemen are letting many wounds and cuts go untreated. Many producers seem to feel the screwworm is a thing of the past, Newton says, but this is not so. There is still much work to be done. One undetected or untreated case in an area can result in a population explosion of the pest which could get out of hand and reinfest large areas of the state, causing a tremendous setback to the program.

Another fallacy which a few producers believe is that they can accurately distinguish between blowfly maggots and screwworms, and do not bother to collect and submit larvae to screwworm officials. One point to consider: even trained technicians rely on the microscope for positive identification of the maggots. Every livestock producer should do his utmost in helping protect the investment in the screwworm eradication program, says Newton. He recommends that all wounds be protected until they heal by using a preventive smear such as EQ 335 or Smear 62 or preventive sprays of 0.25 per cent Co-Ral or 0.5 per cent Korlan following any working of the livestock from which open wounds result.

AMMO NOTES

CHECK WHEAT FOR FERTILITY NEEDS

Wheat is heading out in most areas and is varying from the boot to bloom stage. Now is a good time to look at your wheat to see what kind of job you did fertilizing last fall and whether you put on enough nitrogen and phosphorus. This can then be a guide for next year's needs. I have seen several wheat fields which show tell-tale symptoms of poor application jobs. One field near Hereford showed streakedness in the wheat in the same direction as the ammonia was applied. It was evident that the ammonia chisels were stopped up. In this particular case, it was due to the use of an ammonia-phosphoric acid combination in a highly calcareous soil. Rapid reaction of phosphoric acid with calcium carbonate in the soil can apparently cause a deposition of a calcium phosphate-carbonate complex on the ammonia chisel. Urine spots, or "cow mosaic" as it is often called, are usually tell-tale symptoms of nitrogen deficiencies. We were in one field in the Friona area last week where urine spots were quite apparent. Adequate nitrogen had been applied and tissue tests revealed plenty of nitrogen in the plant but phosphorus was very low. Here was a case of plenty of nitrogen but phosphorus was so deficient that the nitrogen was not able to function properly in the plant. Nitrogen deficiency symptoms can be noted on the lower leaves of the plant by a yellowing of the leaf down the midrib. Firing or yellowing of the tip of the older leaves and on the outer edges of the leaf is often indicative of potassium deficiency. This symptom is fairly common in wheat fields this year but I doubt if it is actually due to a potassium deficiency. It is more apt to be due to a combination of factors... mostly insects, diseases, windburn, and so on. Phosphorus deficiency can usually be noted by a general unthriftness of the plant and lack of stooling. Many wheat fields are quite irregular this year. This could be due to poor spreading by bulk applicators. "Wavy" fields can often be noted where a bulk spreader was used on a swath that was too wide. The width of swath taken by bulk spreaders is often too wide for uniform distribution of fertilizer. Take note of these tell-tale growth patterns now and remember them next fall.

FOR FARMERS ONLY!

ARE YOU A FLFWTMMM?

* Farmer looking for ways to make more money.

2100% return on investment sounds phenomenal, but that is the sort of return cotton farmers in this area can receive this season.

The investment is one boll of cotton every 7 feet down the row. The kind of results to be expected is an extra boll of cotton on every stalk.

These statements come from 9 of the nations leading soil scientists who have devoted most of their lives to soil fertility in the southwest and especially in the plains.

Such authorities as Dr. Alex Pope, Dr. Bill Trogdon, and Dr. Gaylord Hanes have been instrumental in the manufacturing of a completely new product at the new Plains Division Plant located at Plainview. This new product for plains soils has been named "Am-Sul-Phos".

Am-Sul-Phos contains almost three times as much nitrogen as phosphorus. The nitrogen is in a form highly resistant to leaching and losses to the air. The phosphorus is highly water soluble. The remainder of the pellet is soluble sulfate ion which reacts with excess calcium in the soil, thus giving maximum uptake by the crop of phosphorus and nitrogen as well as minor elements such as iron, zinc, boron, and manganese.

The product was used in experiments last year. Yields were increased as much as one bale of cotton per acre over standard fertilizer practices in many field scale experiments.

A 100% increase in grain sorghum yield, with high protein grain and 400% or more profit on your fertilizer investment?

Sound far fetched? ? Not at all!

Best's staff of experienced Agronomists has developed an entirely new product which contains the correct ratio and sources of nitrogen and phosphorus which combined with the sulfate ion (SO4) will result in greater efficiency of nitrogen and phosphorus uptake and in a more balanced nutrition for grain sorghum.

What is this product? - "Am-Sul-Phos".

If you have not fertilized your sorghum this year, "Am-Sul-Phos", applied as a sidedress before the sorghum is 10 inches high can double your yield and increase the protein content of your grain.

If you have applied part of your fertilizer at or before planting, apply the rest as a "Am-Sul-Phos" sidedress.

Librarians Invited To Workshop On Children's Books

"The Right Book For The Right Child" is the general theme for three one-day workshops for librarians, trustees, Friends of the Library and library-minded persons, scheduled in Amarillo, Lubbock and Odessa, the last week of May. The classes are being sponsored by host libraries and Texas State Library's Field Services Division, Dr. Dorman H. Winfrey, director and librarian, Texas State Library, announced.

Librarians of Texas Library Association Districts I and II are especially invited, according to Mrs. Emily H. Welty, library consultant in children's and young adult's literature. Mrs. Welty will be assisted by other library consultants of State Library.

Workshops covering another phase of librarianship were held in these cities several months ago and more than 225 persons attended. It was pointed out that each workshop: May 25 at the Mary E. Bivins Memorial Library, Amarillo; May 28 at the Lubbock Public Library and May 30 at the Ector County Library, Odessa, will cover the same general theme and "your attendance is welcome at any of the host cities," the library consultant remarked.

Nationally the need for "The Right Book For The Right Child" has gained the attention of the library profession and much emphasis is being placed on book selection for children and young adults.

Specific topics to be discussed include: Books and Materials on Children's Literature, "Book Selection Tools," "Judging the Individual Book," and "The Classics and Some Recent Books for Children and Young Adults."

Sessions begin at 9 a.m. and close at 3 p.m. and there is no charge for the one-day workshops.

Water Sports Can Be Safe With Care

Water sports are popular in America. Some 80 million Americans are participants. But before the summer is over more than 6,000 will not be around to enjoy life unless they follow water safety rules, points out Wayne Keese, a Texas A&M University agricultural engineer who also does a lot of work in the farm and home safety field.

Drownings, he explains, account for more than 6,000 fatalities each year in the nation and ranks fourth among the major death causing accidents. And, he emphasizes, the number of one-year olds leads all other age groups in the number of fatalities. Small children should never be permitted to play around water unless closely supervised.

About a third of the drownings occur while people are swimming or playing in the water and the other two-thirds result from falls into the water from docks, bridges or shores or while the person is fishing, boating or is engaging in non-swimming activities, says Keese.

A few simple rules could prevent many of the fatal accidents and the first rule, according to the engineer, is to know how to swim if you plan to engage in any type of water sport or activity. Learn to float, he adds, so you can rest in the water. Know the area in which you swim. Swim with others and never alone. Learn how to give mouth-to-mouth respiration. If you are a novice at swimming, don't get in water over your head and don't go into deep water after dark.

Never engage in rough play in the water nor stay in the water during an electrical storm. Use the buddy system when swimming with groups and always wear a life preserver when boating or skiing, advises Keese.

If you have a farm pond, make it safe for swimming. Mark the swimming areas and post safety rules. Provide life saving devices such as a ring buoy, a long pole and ropes and it's a good idea to mark danger points such as stumps or sharp rocks, he says.

Some Cereal Packages To Have New Look

If you have fretted about the storage problem created by tall cereal packages, here's some welcome news.

Look for changes by the major manufacturers of ready-to-eat cereal in the coming months, says Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist. They'll be redesigned for storage convenience.

Consumers and grocers have found the tall packages difficult to shelve efficiently. In fact, they have stored the packages flat in many instances. Forty - one percent of the ready-to-eat cereal volume of one billion pounds sold annually by major processors is in packages more than 10 1/2 inches high. These packages are too tall to fit most kitchen cabinet shelves, and many consumers reported that the height discouraged them from buying the larger cereal sizes.
