

BY HOP JR.

Few sounds are more interesting than the warbling of a mockingbird. In the good ole' summertime, when daybreak on the Plains is around 5 o'clock, it is a real treat to awaken to the notes pouring in through an open window.

Mr. Mockingbird is an early riser, and wouldn't think of letting those peasant sparrows with their nosesome chirps and cheeps cover up the best part of his performance. So, he usually starts off before sunrise actually arrives.

In recent weeks there has been a real virtuoso at the Graham's house, and he sings his heart out every morning. I'm not much of a bird-watcher, but can't help but admire and appreciate a strong and talented fellow such as we have for a neighbor.

He's sort of a grandstander and never settles for anything less than the most prominent perch around to do his singing. This is usually the top rung on the TV antenna, the top of the gable, or the very uppermost twig on the tallest branch of the biggest tree in the back yard. No second chairs for this bird. He wants to be seen AND heard.

The mockingbird's song is one of nature's wonders, and it's hard to believe all those calls can come from one little throat, but they do, I laid in the sack for an extra five minutes the other morning and tried mentally to count how many calls our feathered friend had in his repertoire.

He was shooting them at me so fast I could hardly count, but as best I could figure out it was something like 20 or 25 that he was using that morning. It was hard to tell when he got to the end of the list and started over. The problem was that your memory wasn't long enough to remember which ones he was repeating.

I haven't given much time to watching or listening to mockingbirds in recent years, and I imagine I'm like most adults in that respect. We think we've more important things to attend to.

However, if you were a boy on the Plains, say about 10 years old, you'd give quite a bit of study to mockingbirds. I know I did.

I admired the mockingbird first of all because he was the only winged creature I had ever seen who wasn't afraid of cats. We had a big yellow tom cat at our house who was the mortal enemy of every sparrow in the block. But when a mockingbird showed up, this cat turned tail and ran.

I have watched our big yellow tom go all around the edge of the yard, staying in the hedge rows, to keep from being pestered by the mockingbird when he was around. If the cat got out in the open the mockingbird would "dive bomb" him dropping like a rock on the cat's head. This terrified our big fat and coddled house cat, who would take a helpless swipe or two in thin air and then run for the back porch to get in.

All of this amused us boys who would watch while the bird gave the cat fits and we came to have a great deal of respect for the courage of the mockers as we called them. We never trained a BB gun on the feisty little songster.

Another thing we liked about mockingbirds was their strong and steady flight. It was graceful, rhythmic and swift—not at all like the bobbing spurts of wing fluttering of the sparrows (which we hated), or the dodging flight of the dove which, it seemed to us, had no sense of direction.

The mockingbird's flights are straight, true, and purposeful. It's as if he knows where he's going and he gets there in the shortest time possible.

Also, we wondered if the designer of the British Spitfire fighter planes, which in that day were saving the Isles from destruction by German bombers, had not been inspired by the wings of the mockingbird in his design of that most famous of all World War II aircraft.

If you were a boy in the 1940's you couldn't have escaped noticing that the configuration of the Spitfire wing was exactly like a mockingbird's. We thought that was amazing.

However, the mockingbird was not without his detractors in those days. One of them was my father Hop. Sometimes

Texico FBLA Tops In Nation; Farmer Is Mr. FBLA

Enthusiasm and hard work has paid off for the 26 members of Texico chapter of Future Business Leaders of America, with the local chapter receiving the top award, the Gold Seal award, and Gary Farmer, Texico member, named Mr. FBLA, top individual honor in the nation. The local chapter also won the distance award and the parliamentary procedure team placed seventh.

Youngsters and their sponsors are to arrive home from Washington, D. C. and the 13th annual national convention today (Friday) at 11:54 a.m. at the Santa Fe depot in Texico, Sixteen Texico chapter members and Mr. and Mrs. James Pierce and daughter attended the convention.

A welcome home pep rally is planned for the returning young people, by members of the Texico student body, with Pamela Roberts and Sharon Peyton contacting members of the student council, band, pep club and parents. Mrs. N. W. Peyton, FBLA sponsor, invites all local persons who are interested in the achievements of the FBLA, to join the students at the depot at 11:54 Friday morning to welcome the returning students.

Awards for all national winners were presented Tuesday night at the awards banquet. Texico delegates called home afterwards to report to parents and to Mrs. Peyton, their sponsor. Mrs. Peyton had planned to make the trip with the students, and the day before departure, was ordered to bed by her doctor. The Pierces then quickly made plans to accompany the delegation. Darrell Bulls, who is a professor at Eastern New Mexico University and is state chairman of FBLA, called to congratulate Mrs. Peyton on the outstanding work of the group.

The Gold Seal award which is only given to the top one-half of one per cent of the chapters enrolled, is given for the work done by the entire chapter. Eligible chapters are considered on the recommendation of the state chairman, Mrs. Peyton enthusiastically lauded the work done by the 26 members of the FBLA, as she commented "They worked well, they had lots of enthusiasm and it seemed that everything they tried, clicked."

She described the "Mr. FBLA" honor, which went to Gary Farmer, son of Mayor and Mrs. Ed Farmer, as the highest honor that can go to any young man in FBLA work. The award is made on general knowledge and personality. Farmer had to write a business letter as though applying for a job and include a personal data sheet properly done, with a transcript of his school work, and letters of reference from employees.

After his arrival in Washington, he was scheduled for tests on basic business principals, current events, vocabulary and general knowledge. Personal interviews with judges were also scheduled.

Mrs. Peyton says 33 states were represented at contests with over 1500 delegates.

Also adding to the laurels of the local FBLA was the seventh place award in parliamentary procedure. Team members are Lloyd Harrison, Terry Neve, Gary Farmer, Callaya Roberts and Clarence Ethridge, with Wayne Hudnall as alternate. The top team in this division was from Michigan and had 150 members.

The Texico team received first in the travel award, with members attending and distance traveled totaling 80,000 miles.

Students raised money for the trip by selling spots on KZOL, local radio station. Mrs. Peyton expressed appreciation to Jimmy Self and the station for their help and to businessmen of the area who aided the project. After the money-making project, the members wrote over 200 letters of appreciation.

The convention was held at the Sheraton-Park Hotel in Washington and theme was "Career Competency". Business leaders were scheduled to appear on the program and the group toured the city with stops at the White House and Smithsonian Institution. Texico High School members attending other than those named above include: Emmitt

Autrey, Marquitta Wall, Jackie Hughes, Peggy Hughes, Lynelle Engram, Karen Land, Linda Hudson, Kay Bush, Millie

Autrey, Gilda Cathey. Mrs. Willie Wall and Gwinette Lovett made the trip by car with Marquitta Wall and were in attendance at the convention as guests.

First Wheat Hits Elevators

Held off about a week by the spell of wet weather, the Texico-Farwell area wheat started coming in the first of this week. Several loads arrived in town about the same time.

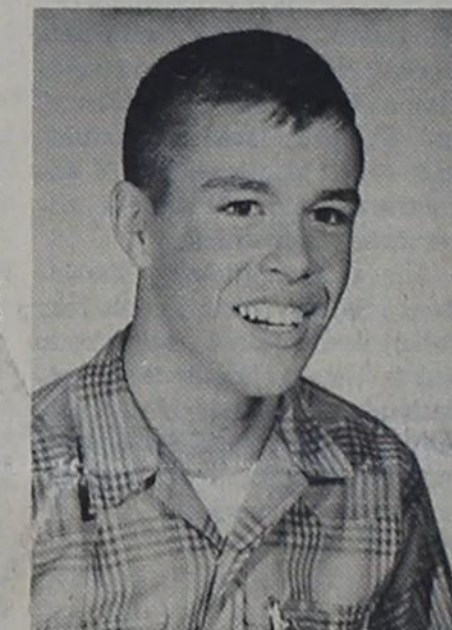

Wilbert Kalbas of Lariat brought a load to State Line Grain about 3 p. m. Tuesday. It tested 14% moisture, had a 62-pound test weight, and was making about 50 bushels per acre, according to Bill Dollar, manager of the elevator.

Joe Magness, four miles south of Farwell, rolled into Sherley-Anderson-Pitman Elevator about 5 o'clock Tuesday with his first load, 15,000 pounds of wheat. It tested 60 pounds and 15.70% moisture, reports Johnie Williams, manager.

First wheat at Sherley-Anderson in Lazbuddie was brought in by Jack Smith. Moisture was 14% weight 60. It was Super Triumph, and was cut last Wednesday.

At Lariat, says Asa Smith, Sherley-Anderson received their first load from Charlie Nix. Moisture was 13.65, test weight 61 pounds. Variety was Concho.

What Boy's State Means To Me

Editor's Note:
Following is an account of the Texas Boy's State activities and impressions as written by Warren Gossett, Farwell Delegate to the sessions.

Boy's State to me, before I left, didn't have a definite meaning. All I knew was that it was a program concerning government. Now, I can truly say it was more than a phrase.

The program at Boy's State has taught me more patriotism toward our American form of government than I thought I could possibly learn. It made me feel very honored, yet very small, because of the 718 boys there, 99 per cent of them were the really outstanding citizens and leaders of high schools and communities.

Boy's State taught me how our government operates. We all learned by doing. Counselor's were there only to help get us started, offer suggestions and keep us in line. We actually ran our own government. I was elected to the House of Representatives and we actually passed bills and resolutions. These bills could be passed only if they upheld the Boy's State Constitution. Words such as caucus and other political terms took on a real meaning. All the government that I had studied in school finally began to mean something. Things not quite clear became sharply focused. The Boy's State program made me interested in politics and government, really interested, for the first time.

Boy's State meant meeting and making hundreds of friends from all over the state of Texas, nearly all of which were really fine, outstanding boys. It meant getting up at 5:15 a.m. (4:15 a.m. when the bugler goes up) and not getting to bed until 1:00 a.m. You have a very full and strenuous schedule between those hours too, without a chance for rest. But believe me, it is well worth it.

Boy's State isn't all work and no play, it has a very fine athletic program, directed by Tex Hanna, head coach at Borger. To start out with, the first thing you do in the morning cal. and running. Then, in the

Southern Union Gas Wins Safety Award

The National Safety Council has named Southern Union Gas Company as one of the winners in the 1963 Public Interest Awards program.

The only public utility in the nation cited for its safety efforts, Southern Union was one of the 579 entries in the contest. The company was recognized for sponsorship of its annual Home Safety Campaign, which will be conducted in Farwell next September and October for the sixth consecutive year.

Southern Union's award was one of 22 received in Texas. In addition to the gas company, awards throughout the nation went to 54 daily and 16 weekly or twice-weekly newspaper, two television and five radio networks, 95 radio and 32 television stations, 13 general and 28 specialized magazines, four labor publications, 21 advertisers and 72 outdoor advertising companies.

The awards given by the National Safety Council each year honor exceptional service to safety through mass communications. Established in 1948, they recognize leadership, initiative and originality in promoting accident prevention.

afternoon, you have three hours of tennis, basketball, softball, handball, volleyball, or swimming. Some of the finest athletes in the state are down there too. Almost all the boys there were either fine athletes, or president or vice-president of one or more of the clubs, classes, or organizations in their high schools.

I think the hardest part of being selected as a delegate to Boy's State will be living up to that honor. I deeply appreciate those who helped send me and appreciate the American Legion for being interested in America's youth and future enough to sponsor such a program as Boy's State. For after all, America's future and strength lies in its youth. We as youth must be able to accept the great responsibility soon to be given us. I only hope that with God's help, I can be a better citizen of my school, community, and county, by having attended Boy's State.

Hospital Notes

Lenton Pool, who was hospitalized in Amarillo from Sunday until Wednesday is reported by Mrs. Pool to be much improved.

Steven Austin, 4-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Orle Jones, was doing as well as could be expected Wednesday after major surgery in the Lubbock hospital early Tuesday.

In 1900 Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio was the largest military establishment in the United States.

Earliest recorded use of wheeled vehicles was as hearses to bear the royal corpses to their tombs in Mesopotamia.

One of the casualties of the high winds on Thursday was this sign at Cathey's Restaurant in east Farwell. Severe damage was also reported in the area by the winds, hail and rain. Workmen are shown loading the sign to return it to the sign shop on Friday morning. A door at KZOL radio station was also a casualty of the storm.

TODAY, $1.07 BUYS YOU AS MUCH NATURAL GAS AS $1.00 BOUGHT IN 1934

The Cost of Living Index has risen 130% since 1934 according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Yet over the same period, the cost of gas has increased an average of only 7% in areas served by Southern Union.

It hasn't been easy to keep the gas rate down when everything else has gone up.

Southern Union, like other gas companies, has had to face rising costs in every phase of its business. Finding and producing gas is more expensive. The same goes for meters, trucks, wages and taxes. The cost of pipe alone has risen over 150% since 1934.

Yet Southern Union has been able to absorb many of these increases without passing them on to you. We've done it primarily by making continuing improvements in our operations.

In other words, we do our job a lot more efficiently than we did in 1934.

Several things have made this possible: advanced equipment; having better trained and more knowledgeable people at all levels; developing new methods and techniques wherever possible.

The important thing is this: natural gas is still one of the best bargains you can buy today.

Are you taking full advantage of it?

If you want the job done right... do it with gas.

JOTTIN'S By Jeanne

I read somewhere that one of the newer developments is a seedless watermelon. In the Graham household, that would truly be perfection.

The four boys think watermelon, as it is, is perfect. Without seeds, it will be perfect for Mama too. The aftermath and clean-up detail of a watermelon feast has always been the only problem.

Will Rogers said it, according to a Texas Press Association bulletin, in regard to weekly newspapers.

"Take away my ham, take away my eggs, even my chili, but leave me my newspaper."

"Even if it has such purely local news as 'Jim Jones came home last night unexpectedly and bloodshed, ensued, or Jess Bushyhead, our local M. D., is having one of his best years in his career, practically speaking -- but they just won't pay him when they get well' and 'election ain't far off, and every body is up for office that can sign an application blank!'"

"Now all that don't seem much news to you, but it is news, especially when you know the people and they are your own folks. So, no matter how punk you think your local newspaper is, let them take it away from you for a while and see how you feel. The old newspaper, I think is about our biggest blessing."

The kids have an answer for everything. When the 3-year-old went rushing by last week, I stopped him and reminded him that he was in the house and should not be running.

"I'm playing like I'm a go-cart", he quipped as he zoomed away. But go-carts don't go in the house, I reminded. "Oh, but I'm playing like I'm outside," he says.

And a favorite food at our house is "smashed" potatoes.

If you like brownies and you like pecan pie -- you will like chocolate brownie pie, which would be a good party dessert. I warn you, it is very rich.

CHOCOLATE BROWNIE PIE
 2 squares unsweetened chocolate
 2 tablespoons margarine
 3 large eggs
 1/2 cup sugar

3/4 cup dark corn syrup
 3/4 cup pecan halves
 1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell

Melt the unsweetened chocolate and margarine together over hot water. Beat together thoroughly with rotary beater, the eggs, sugar, chocolate mixture, corn syrup and mix in pecan halves. Pour into pastry lined pan and bake 40 or 50 minutes in moderately fast oven, 375 F or until just set. Serve slightly warm or cold -- can be garnished with ice cream or whipped cream.

(Note: To use cocoa, omit chocolate and sift 1/2 cup cocoa with sugar. Then add 1/4 cup melted margarine to the egg and sugar mixture.)

 Red: "He didn't have the right expression on his face for a rug."

Maid of honor was Pat Tucker, Muleshoe and bridesmaid was Shirley Otte, Belton. They wore identical dresses of soft blue cotton, styled with scoop necklines and cummerbunds accented by a large bow at center back. Each attendant carried a cascade bouquet similar to that of the bride.

altar and presented in marriage by her father, R. C. Locke, chose a street length dress of white satin overlaid with lace. The dress was accented by long lace sleeves, a mid-cut at center back of the bodice, and a bell skirt. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids surrounded by stephanotis. Her short veil of white silk illusion was attached to a minute crown.

tered by the bride's sister in law, Mrs. Claude Locke.

Mrs. Walker, mother of the groom, chose a striped dress of blue and white accented with a blue jacket. Her accessories were white and her corsage was a white orchid.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall immediately following the wedding.

The young couple will make their home in Abilene where the groom is employed by the Abilene News Reporter. For traveling Mrs. Walker chose a two piece beige suit with darker beige accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

PARMER COUNTY AREA REELS UNDER WINDS — RAIN

RUNNING WATER headed for Running Water Draw surges under Highway 60 near Bovina Thursday afternoon, following a hard rain. Silt-laden runoff such as this carries much valuable farm topsoil out of fields.

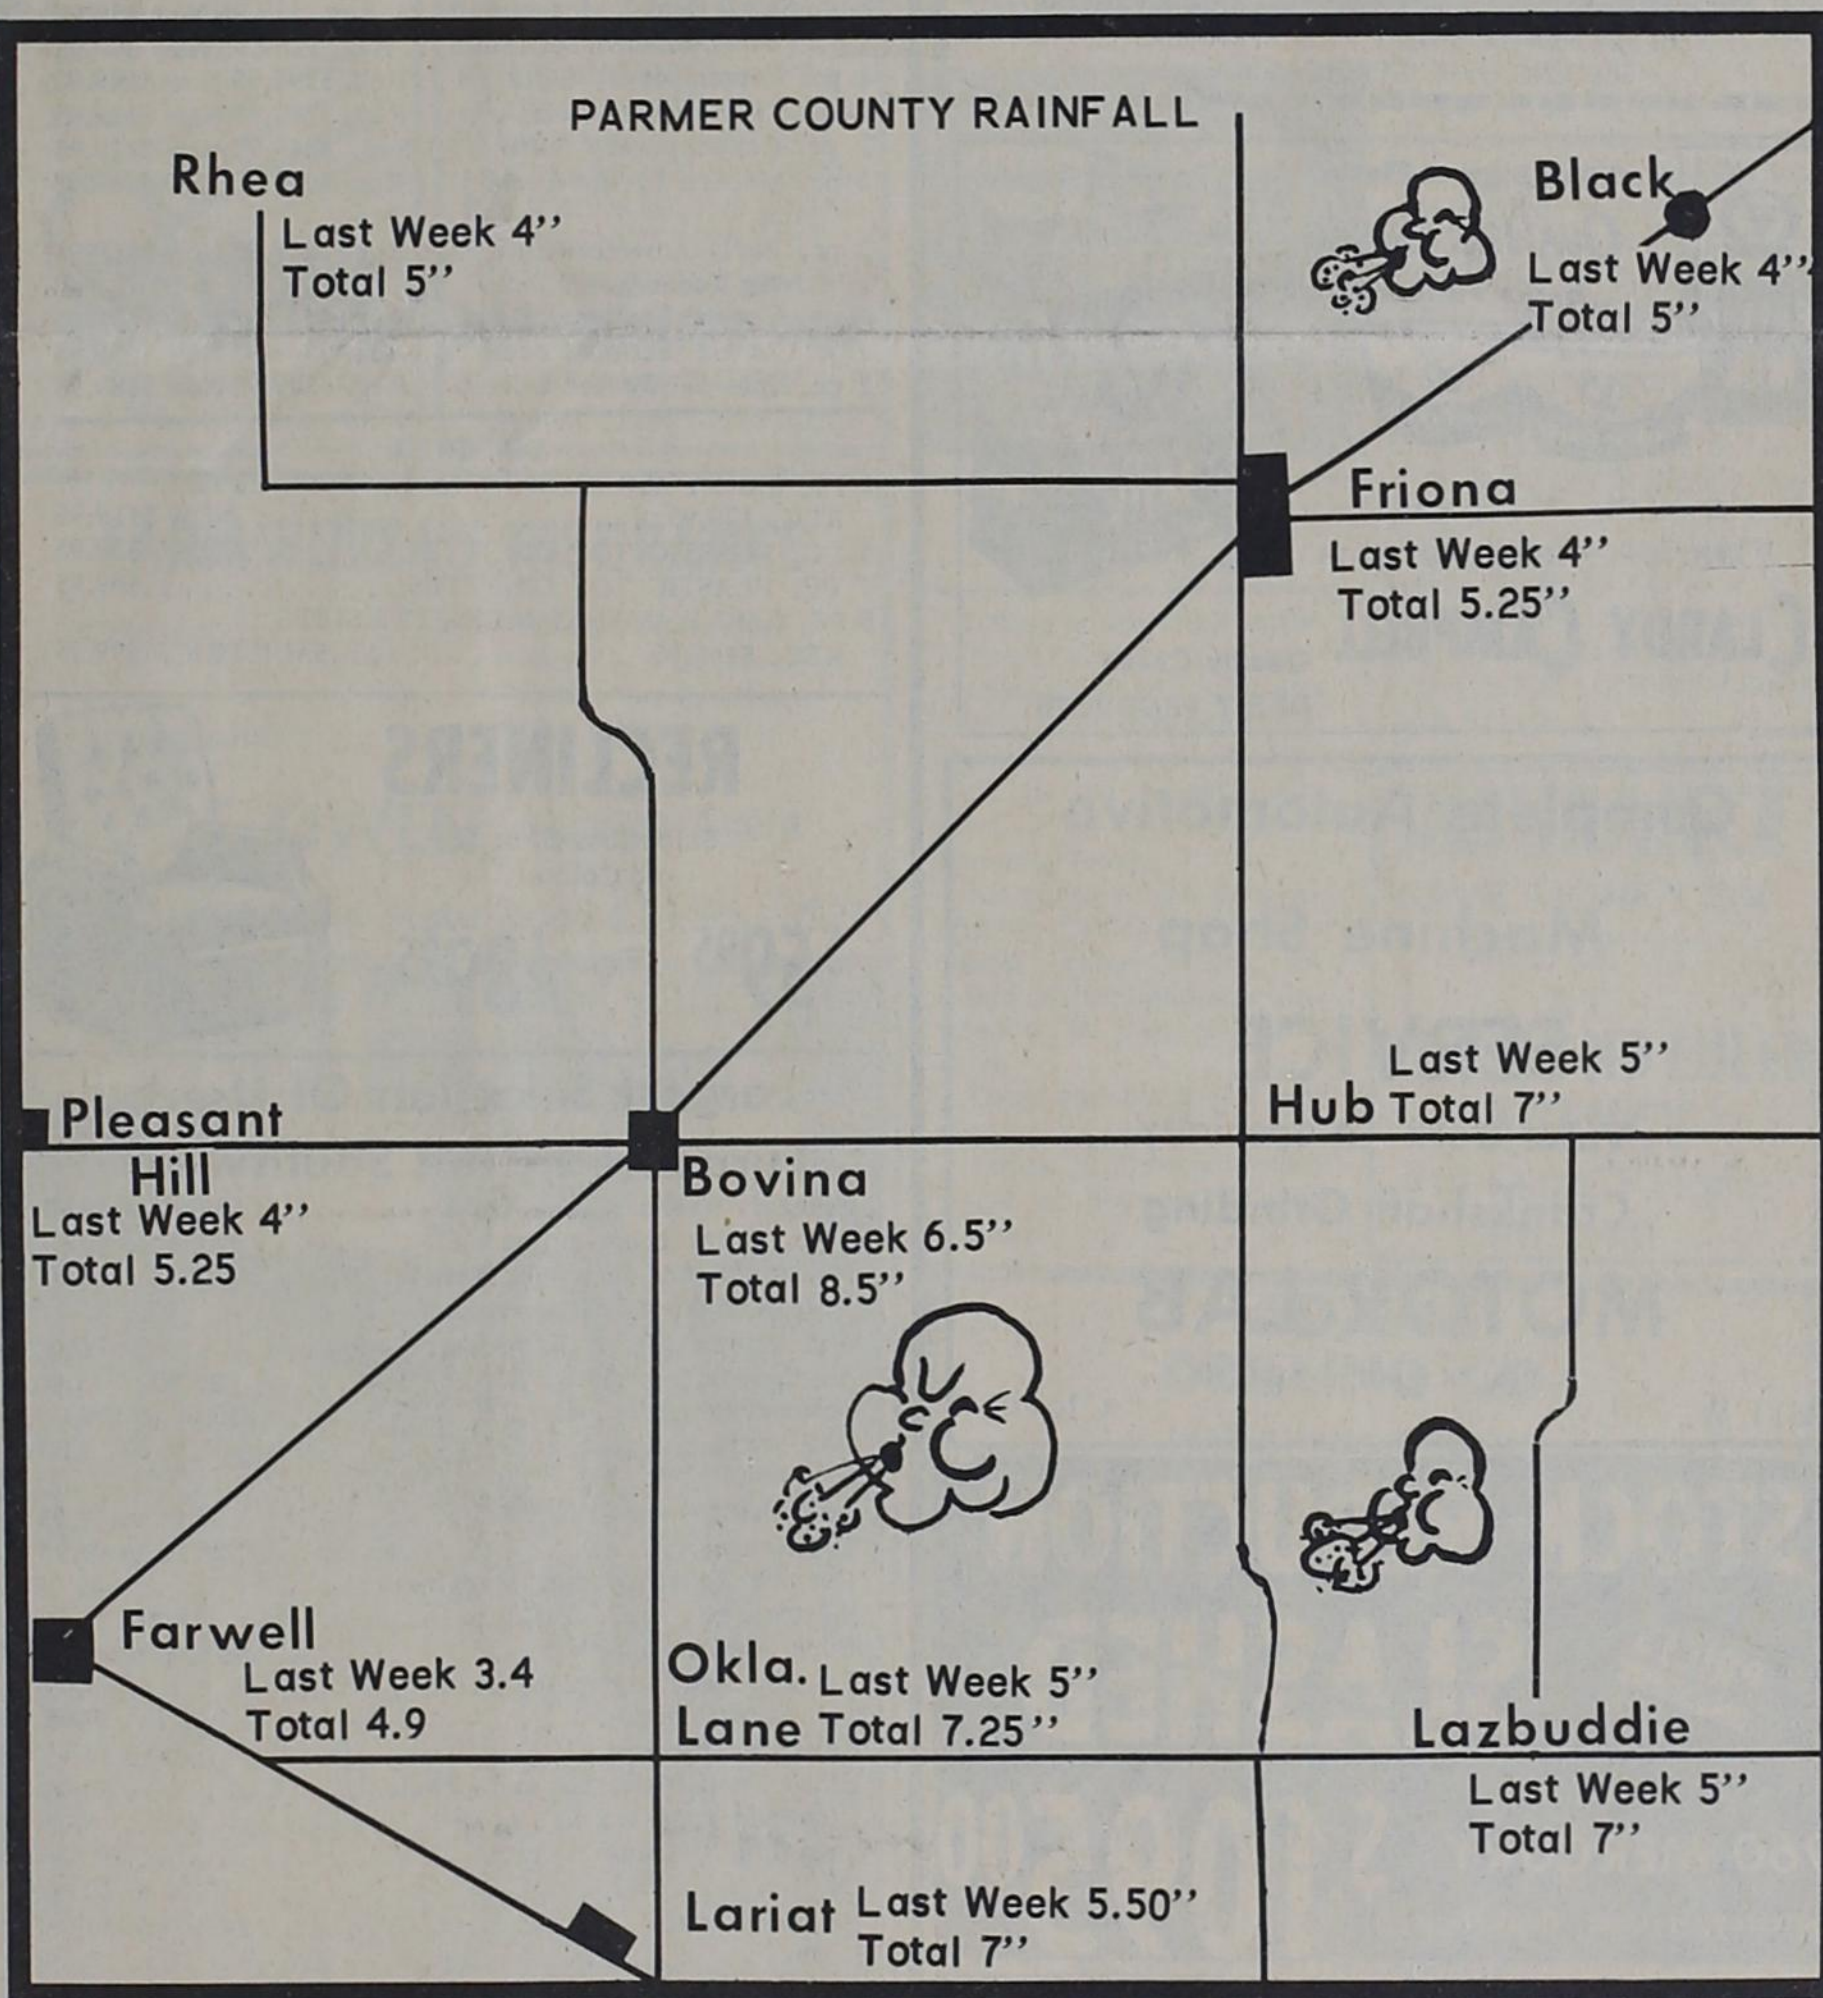

THE BOVINA AREA was hard-hit by wind, rain, and some hail Thursday afternoon. Fields emptied their rows into bar ditches and the result was flooded rural roads, as above.

Mechanical Topping Gets Encouragement

Research results from mechanical topping of semi-open boll varieties of cotton indicate that the practice can be profitable to cotton producers in the High Plains of Texas, according to James Valiant, water engineer at the High Plains Research Foundation. Increases in net returns have approached 50 dollars per acre when compared to standard grown stormproof varieties of cotton.

The staple length was increased by topping, which may help expand the cotton market of the High Plains. Fertilizer response was increased when the cotton was topped. Other benefits obtained from mechanical topping are the elimination of the top foliage and small immature bolls which furnished food and shelter for insects. There is also uniform crop height for harvest.

Research tests indicate that topping of stormproof cotton is not considered profitable, Valiant said. Details of the cotton topping results on Gregg, Lockert 88-A, and Paymaster 88-90

To get maximum yields from high producing forage crops like Midland Bermuda and hybrid sorghum-Sudan, topdressing after each harvest is a necessity.

Nitrogen is the main element required when topdressing grasses. Topdressing is needed by crops that are grazed as well as for those cut for hay. The amount of nitrogen to use for each topdressing varies from 30 to 100 pounds per acre.

Under irrigation where high yields are a necessity, high rates of fertilizer must be applied. A person can afford to pay $2.00 for a soil test real quick by mis-guessing the amount of fertilizer to apply just a small amount.

A soil test is the only source for finding the exact amount to apply. When the testing lab knows what grass crop is being used, they give fertilizer recommendations for managing the crop for the following two years.

Extension agronomist at Texas A&M point out that one problem they are having involving fertilizer recommendations is that applicants fail to indicate the yield they are hoping to attain when they send in the soil sample.

Topdressing not only increases yield, but it also increases the protein content of the hay.

If Midland is not topdressed and is, instead managed like common Bermuda, yields can be expected to be no better than with common Bermuda.

Information and materials on sending in soil samples are available at the County Agents office in Farwell.

Homemakers continue to report their greatest problems in homemaking to be time management.

My program for Home Demonstration Clubs in May on Time Management stressed that homemakers recognize all resources - which included abilities, skills, and knowledge of family members as well as time, energy and money.

In recent Home Demonstration Club meetings, demonstrators working with me on Management, reported on results of their study to improve use of time and energy. Mrs. J. D. Terry of the Oklahoma Lane Home Demonstration Club, reported that her "family work schedule," had brought about a complete change in their home. She found that the time spent on planning and management can be far more productive than time devoted to performance of the various activities.

"Time spent in deciding what you want and need to do, setting priorities, delegating responsibilities to family members and deciding when a job will be done has certainly given me more free time, and all family members share in the work," she said. Children are given opportunity for development.

One outstanding feature of Mrs. Terry's study included ways to cut time and save energy in meal preparation, and yet feed her family good nutritious meals. Result reported by her was that she was able to cut time spent in the kitchen in meal preparation from five and a half to six hours a day to approximately 2 1/2 hours a day. On the basis of this study, if the homemakers time is worth only $1.00 an hour she saved from $3.00 to $3.50 a day on this one job alone.

There were many good reports from demonstrators at these meetings.

DON'T MISS

If you've got a head on the biggest profit possible from this year's crop be sure you're loaded for bear. The only way you can be sure you'll get the maximum yield is to be sure your young plants have all the nitrogen they need. If you missed getting a pre-plant of anhydrous ammonia into the land then let us furnish you with Nitromite, Shamrock's anhydrous ammonia, for a quick side dress application. The cost will be just a fraction of the profit from the extra yield. Call or come in soon.

Farwell 4-H club girls under direction of Mrs. M. A. Snider Jr., are working on their clothing projects for the county dress revue, to be held at the Oklahoma Lane Community Center on July 16. The girls are making, gathered skirts with a band, place mats, and hemming tea towels. Shown in the picture left to right standing, Sharon Williams, Penny Phillips, Kim Snider and Cindy Phillips. At the machine is Melody Roberts. The girls and their leader recently spent an afternoon choosing materials for the garments. They were given instruction in proper materials, color choices and price of materials -- in addition to examining the materials for flaws in workmanship.

4-H Dress Revue Set For July 16, 8 p.m.

Date for the Parmer County dress revue for 4-H club members has been set for July 16. All garments and record books of entrants must be in the office of Cricket B. Taylor, Parmer County HD Agent, no later than 9 a.m. on that day. Formal dress revue will be at the Oklahoma Lane Community Center July 16, 8 p.m. at which time entrants will model their garments for the public.

All garments entered in the revue must be made by girls enrolled in the 4-H clothing projects and the garment must have been made under the supervision of an adult trained 4-H leader.

Some 25-30 girls between the ages of 9-21 are expected to have garments entered in the show. First year girls will make and exhibit gathered skirt; second year girls will enter simple blouses or a shift dress; third year girls will enter a simple dress; fourth year girls will enter a basic dress-up dress and older girls will enter two piece suits or formal wear that will fit into their wardrobes. Cricket Taylor, HD Agent says, all girls and leaders are working hard to have their projects completed by the deadline.

FHA Offices Closed Two Days Next Week

Offices of the Farmers Home Administration for Parmer County will be closed Monday and Tuesday of next week, according to Bill Boling.

Personnel will be attending a meeting in Lubbock at that time, he says.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

"Reduction cottons" -- cotton reduced in price or loan value because of low micronaire, gin damage or excessive foreign matter -- cost High Plains farmers in the neighborhood of $3,000,000 in reduced income from the 1963-64 crop.

Obviously, some of this loss was unavoidable, but most of it could have been saved by the use of proper cultural practices and care in harvesting. The loss figure is calculated from a USDA report which sets out the number of bales of such cotton, by causes, in the Southwestern area. The report itself states: "Many causes of 'reduction cottons' cannot be controlled by mortal man, but those factors that can be controlled far outnumber those that cannot."

dates, drouth conditions, varieties -- all play a part in the production of immature cotton, but research people tell us that they play only a minor part. The real villain is the improper use of harvest-aid chemicals. Desiccants OR defoliants should never be applied before at least 60 to 70 per cent of the bolls in a field are open. Application before that time not only cuts the price of cotton sold but also reduces total production substantially.

It is impossible to calculate precisely how much is lost on the High Plains as the direct result of immature cotton, but in the face of the overall drop of 2.5 cents per pound in the price of cotton it behooves every farmer to keep such losses to an absolute minimum. This can be done simply by planting varieties with high potential "mikeability" and by following the 70 per cent rule in the use of harvest-aid chemicals.

cotton that reduce its price are listed in the report as bark, dust, grass, hulls, motes, oil, sand, seed and stems. Of these, the High Plains produced almost 19,000 "barkies," about 2,500 "grassies" and negligible amounts of the others. Total bales reduced in priced at least one step by all these causes is reported as just below 22,000. This involves a reduction in price of one cent per pound below the grade to which the cotton is reduced by the presence of any of these extraneous materials.

Only about 8,000 of the High Plains' two million bale crop last year were reduced in price because of "preparation" or gin damage. Such damage can result from the condition in which cotton arrives at the gin or from faulty gin machinery.

Where the High Plains is really hurt each year is in cotton that is classed as "wasty," principally by reason of its low micronaire, or immaturity of the fibers. Wasty bales in 1963-64 numbered about 100,000 in this area at about a $20.00 per bale reduction -- $2,000,000 in lost income from wastes alone. And even that loss is not the whole story of "low-mike" cotton. Those bales which mike 2.6 or below are classed as wasty, while buyers quote 3.5 as the tenderable micronaire limit and look with some degree of disfavor on any cotton miking below that level. This causes additional price losses in the millions of dollars.

Beginning with the 1964-65 crop, micronaire will be one of the factors incorporated into government loan values and placed on the "green card." Wastes, as such, are being done away with and premiums and discounts for micronaire are set up on the following schedule:

2.6 & below	- 300 points
2.7 to 2.9	- 150 points
3.0 to 3.2	- 50 points
3.3 to 3.6	- Even
3.7 to 4.8	- 13 points
4.9 to 5.1	- Even
5.2 to 5.4	- 10 points
5.5 & above	- 25 points

By applying this schedule of micronaire premiums and discounts to the High Plains crop of 1963-64 it becomes readily obvious that this cotton quality measurement will take on added significance this year.

Last year, the High Plains crop, as we said above, had about 100,000 bales of cotton miking 2.6 and below at a cost to the farmer of about $2,000,000. Then there were another 308,700 bales (14.7 per cent of the crop) miking 2.7 to 2.9, which this year will carry loan reductions of $15.00 per bale -- another loss of over 4 1/2 million dollars. PCG figures show 33.6 per cent of the crop, or over 700,000 bales miking between 3.0 and 3.4. Under the schedule above possible one half of that amount would carry a 50 point ($5.00 a bale) discount.

for 1963 are available in the 1963 Foundation Research Report #112 on the "Comparison of Yield and Quality of Mechanically Topped Cotton with Untopped Cotton." Cotton topping research has been underway at the Foundation for the past three years.

"Farm Centered Research" on cotton topping is underway on a small acreage basis at the following farms, according to Valliant: Terry Green, Earth; Charles Frye, the Easter Community south of Hereford; and James Stair, Providence Community northeast of Plainview. The following farmers are testing this practice in the immediate vicinity of the Foundation farm at Halfway: James McDaniel, Don Graham, and Claude Fargason. At the Foundation, Valliant has enlarged the cotton topping research program to include seven varieties for the year 1964. Five semi-open boll varieties in the research work at the Foundation are as follows: Paymaster 88-90, Paymaster 111, Austin, DeKalb 108, and Lockett 47-89. The long staple cottons in the cotton topping experiment include: Acala 442 and Acala 1517-BR2. These two varieties are popular in New Mexico and California.

In red, white, and blue cotton terry stripes, it features the official insignia and the lettering "Tokyo 1964" and "Innsbruck 1964" at either end. It can be cut and sewn into a terry topper as shown above or used for a stylish beach towel. By Morgan-Jones.

One hour of farm work in the U. S. today produces twice as much as it did in 1950 and three times as much as in 1940. Producers have put science to work on their farms and ranches.

AMMO NOTES

By Bill Bennett, Agronomist

Every new crop season will usually bring in some new "miracle" product designed to increase crop production. Too often, such "miracle" products have little or no value and are sold by "soil fertility quacks". Have you been offered such a "miracle" product this year? Usually the salesman is a persuasive talker who makes great claims for his product. Here are some ways to spot the "fertility quack".

County Agent thinks about the product, the quack says, "Don't ask him. He probably wouldn't know the value of our product or recommend it". The quack has the same attitude toward experiment stations. With need for phosphate increasing and as more attention is given to secondary and minor elements, the quack will surely be around in larger numbers. Don't hesitate to try new products on a small scale. There have been many advances in fertilizer use and there will be more. But don't invest a lot of money in a new product until you know it will pay or until it has been proven by research either by the experiment stations or reliable, reputable manufacturing concerns.
