On very few things should I ever claim to be an authority, but I believe that I am ready to assume some sort of station in the world of catchup.

If you don't think catchup has a world all of its own, you don't have four boys.

Surely catchup must be a world-wide commodity, else how could the millions of boys now growing up in other countries survive without it? I've watched several little tykes come up the ladder to boyhood in the Graham household, and what the experts write about how Mother Nature instinctively provides a desire for milk may be so, but how do they explain this craving for catchup? It must be the distilled essence of boyhood itself.

The way to introduce a young'un to catchup is to take a fresh French fried potato (not too hard), and dip it in a puddle of red delight. Stick it in his mouth and then watch the eyebrows. After that it's strictly all downhill.

This is fun for a while, but pretty soon the little guys figure out that if catchup helps fried potatoes, it's bound to improve other items on the plate. Pretty soon they are squirting catchup at hamburger, beans, okra, hominy, and several other entrees, not to mention the mid-afternoon catchup sandwich--always a family favorite.

The dangerous age comes when a boy first begins to shake his own bottle. As you can imagine, this furnishes some interesting developments. If a crimson stream isn't produced in a few shakes, a few solid licks on the bottom of the bottle are brought into play.

This usually produces results all right. With guttural ka-squirts, the red blobs splatter across the table and, like as not, on the front of Mama's blouse. Naturally, that slows the orgy down a little.

Eating out produces the real moments of testing. Most restaurants have gone to the plastic squeeze bottle, which are practical from some standpoints, but giving a boy a bottle of catchup that he can squirt 15 feet if he is of a mind to is like handing him a loaded pistol.

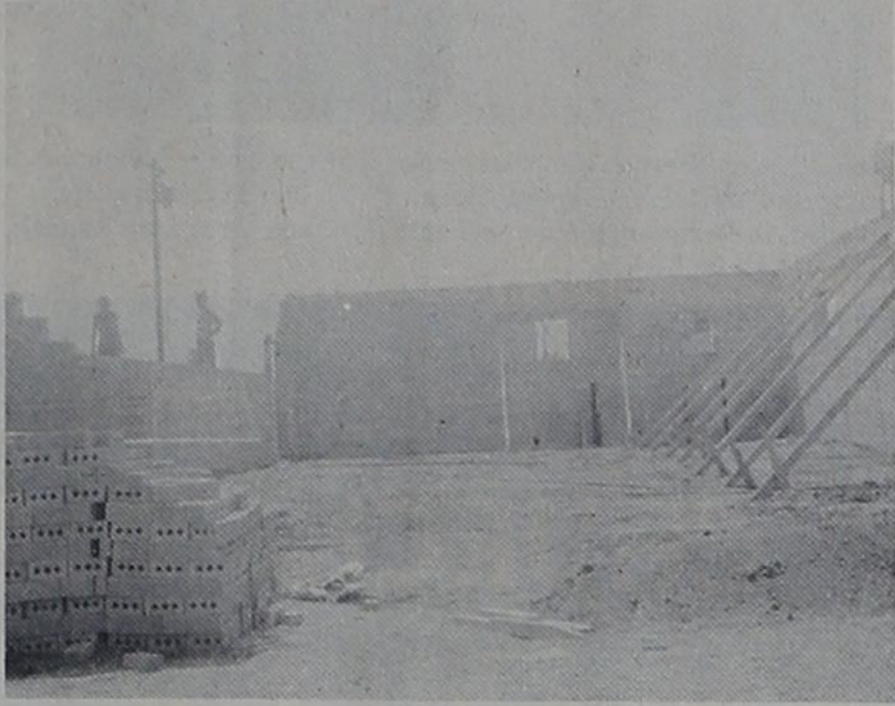

By the way, you may be curious about my spelling of catchup. I have it on the best authority (Webster's) that this is not only acceptable, but actually the first and preferred spelling.

Down in the grades, I guess it was, I was brought up spelling catchup catsup, which I thought was novel, because the pronunciation remained catchup.

Some manufacturers are breaking with tradition and spelling it ketchup or katchup on their bottle labels, so I guess you can pretty well take your pick and come out okay. They told me there are over 500 ways to spell Shakespeare and still have it recognizable.

So far as catchup is concerned, as a great fan of the cartoonist Al Capp I can't help but think of his oft-spoken phrase "red-blooded American boy."

I believe I've figured out what makes 'em that way.

Work continues at a fast clip on the new home for the Texico Post Office, Paul Real Estate in Clovis are contractors for the building which will be an air conditioned structure of tile. Five Vacancies On Farwell Faculty

With the beginning of school in Farwell little more than three weeks away five vacancies still exist in the high school faculty. Vacancies in the elementary faculty have been filled.

The other vacancy in the Texico faculty is in the science department where a physics teacher is needed. Supt. A. D. McDonald stresses, that plenty of science teachers are available, however science teachers with sufficient hours in physics are at a premium. Applications are being accepted for this position by McDonald at this time. He said "science teachers without sufficient training in the physics field need not apply."

No Place Like Home

We've traveled more in Europe than we have traveled in the states, relates Mrs. Lloyd Schreefer of San Antonio, who is visiting with friends and relatives in the area for the first time in five years, other than one short winter visit.
Mrs. Schreefer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Randol of 311 Kathie Dr. in Clovis, who are former residents of Farwell. She grew up in Farwell and was graduated from Farwell Schools.

The Schreefers returned to the states in July of last year, after a four year stay in Germany, where he was stationed with the Air Force. Since that time, they have resided in San Antonio, where he is assigned to Randolph Air Force Base.
After their marriage, the Schreefers were first in residence in Ft. Worth, he was then assigned to Germany in 1959 and the family went too. Although Mrs. Schreefer (or Hettye Nan, as her friends remember her) enjoyed the experience of traveling and seeing other parts of the world, she admits that "Four years is a long time, especially when it is the first time to be very far away from home."

Plans for travel were on the agenda for Lloyd and Hettye, but the arrival of their third child kept them close to the home base in Wiesbaden, Germany for a time. Actually, we did most of our sightseeing the last year we were there, Hettye recalls. They visited France, and particularly enjoyed a trip to Spain, their favorite spot. "We still have good friends in Madrid", she recalls.

They were in Holland for the tulip festival and Hettye Nan, along with four other young women, made a three-day visit to Berlin -- where they visited both East and West Berlin. She took a tour into the Russian sector and recalls "It is much like stepping from daylight into dark, the difference between the two sectors is so great."

She describes West Berlin as all new and modern with an air of progressiveness. In contrast, the neighboring sector is shabby and has a slim appearance. Tour members weren't allowed to leave the bus while in the Russian zone except at one spot, the Russian Memorial cemetery.

She noted platforms built near the Berlin wall, where people could stand to look over and see relatives or loved ones on the other side. The wall was a chilling sight for the former West Texan.

The area where the Schreefers resided was very much like the United States. The first year in Germany, however, the American family lived with a German family. They rented two rooms and shared the kitchen and bath. Hettye missed the convenience of the laundramat while she soaked and washed many diapers in the bathtub.
She remembers the dampness and cold as so uncomfortable the first year, "the cold just goes through you," she laughs.

Later, the family moved to a hotel, where they had three rooms and a bath with a laundry in the basement. "We were living in tall cotton", she comments. New apartment buildings are now being built by the score, she adds, relieving the housing situation.

Lloyd is ready to go back, Hettye says, but she is a little more hesitant, not because she wouldn't enjoy another assignment overseas, but she does hate to be so far away from the folks at home.

She does feel that now would be an ideal time for travel because of the educational possibilities for the children, and learning of other peoples and languages. Mike, the older son, is almost eight, Kay is 6, and Brian, who is getting acquainted with all his relatives for the first time, is two.

Asked if the children learned to speak German, Hettye explains they cannot speak the language, but when they were smaller, they played with the German children, and "somehow, they communicated."

Mrs. Schreefer is the sister of Mrs. Aileen Cantrell and Mrs. Raymond Robertson of Clovis. Mrs. Grayson Roberts of Texico and Mrs. J. R. Fain of Littlefield, and the granddaughter of Uncle Tom Randol of Farwell.

Building Permit Issued

A building permit in the amount of $17,800 was approved for Paul Real Estate to erect the new post office building, at the last meeting of Texico town officials.

Other business which came before the board was renewing the Garbage Disposal Contract of Frank and Silas Jones for a one year period and approving the police magistrate report in the amount of $30 for the previous month.

A lengthy discussion of bringing new businesses and housing projects to Texico was held with no action taken. The resolution on the zoning ordinance was delayed due to the map not having been marked previous to the meeting.

Mayor Ed Farmer appointed Bob Lebow councilman to act as mayor protem in his absence and commissioners agreed to allow $25 per month for expenses on the use of a pickup to Russell Johnson, water superintendent.

All other business was routine with next meeting set for August 7, 7:30 p.m.

Red Tops Finish In Second Place

Red Tops of the local baseball Little League completed regular season play in second place standing. They followed close behind Oklahoma Lane. Lions were in third place standing when play was completed.
Coach of the Red Tops team was Billy Meeks. Lions were coached by Eddie West.

Six teams from Farwell, Oklahoma Lane and Bovina are in the league. All of the early season games were played in Bovina due to the local ball park not having lights. However, later in the season several games were played locally, giving many ball fans a chance to see the youngsters in action.

All stars from the six teams participated in the Portales tournament over the past weekend. Two teams of all stars will participate in the Elida tournament this weekend.

All stars are being coached by Billy Meeks and Harold Carpenter, coach of the Oklahoma Lane team, respectively.

Mrs. Lloyd (Hettye Nan) Schreefer and young son, Brian, admire the massive German clock, which the Schreefers purchased in Germany for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Randol of 311 Kathie, Clovis.

Predictors Of Doom Don't Know Denny Lunsford

The paper must go through "Come rain or Shine," says Denny Lunsford, young son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Lunsford, who delivers a daily paper to many satisfied customers in Farwell. He is never too busy to stop and give assistance to shutins or elderly persons on his route.

All those who are predicting doom for the younger generation have evidently not met young Denny Lunsford, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Lunsford who delivers a daily paper to Farwell residents.

Customers along his route are quick to offer words of praise for this young businessman who has delivered the paper on three different occasions during the past few years. All customers look forward each day to his friendly smile and cheerful greeting as he delivers the paper to their door. He is assisted in making deliveries by his younger brother, Mickey, also a courteous, friendly boy.

Qualities which have endeared this young man to his customers and towns people alike are never being late for deliveries or collections (many say they can almost set their time clocks by his arrival), going out of his way to assist elderly people or shutins on his route and never-never complaining about the weather.

He always places the papers of elderly people and shutins in the door and at most homes places the paper on the porch, even though it requires extra effort on part of the delivery boy.

If the weather is especially bad (rain, snow or high winds) customers know their paper will be in readable condition because young Denny will wade the deepest water puddle or highest snow drift or brave the strongest wind to place the paper in a place safe from the elements.

One customer tells the story of looking out her window during an especially severe rain storm to see Denny struggling up the walk to place her paper on the porch where it would not be ruined. "I could hardly believe my eyes," she said.

Questioned about his habit of always placing the paper in a safe place for his customers young Denny simply said, "Oh, I thought that was the way to deliver papers," evidently not realizing that many delivery boys do not offer this same service.

Bookmobile Will Visit Farwell August 8

Area residents are reminded that the Texas Library Bookmobile will be in Farwell on August 8, 8:45 a.m. until 11:45 a.m. It will be stopped at the Holiday parking lot and those interested in obtaining reading material are asked to visit the traveling library between those hours.

Persons having overdue

Money earned is put to good use with much of it spent for school clothes and other necessary school supplies. He always manages to place a part of his earnings in the bank for future use. The bond which all delivery boys earn periodically is always placed in the bank, says Denny.

Grandmother of this young businessman is Mrs. Cora Lunsford who also lives in Farwell.

Other members of the family who offered the same outstanding service to paper customers through the years are Rickey, 15, and Buddy, 12, who is delivering papers on another route in Farwell at this time.

books are also reminded that they should return them at this time. Next visit of the bookmobile will be on August 29.

Visits are made to each stop in the three county area twice each month. The bookmobile was brought to the area through the efforts of civic organizations and the Parmer County Commissioners Court.

Highlights and Sidelights From Your State Capital

AUSTIN, -- State Board of Control is willing to go only halfway in the drive to take energetic tourists to the top of the capitol dome.

State purchasing and house-keeping agency asked for $16,950 to open the dome to the fifth floor. Sightseers now must stop at the fourth floor landing. Board of Control looks with disfavor on tourists going 41 feet higher, to the tip-top.

"Structurally," said the Board, "the capitol dome is thoroughly safe for its intended and original purpose -- which was not as a tourist attraction."

Cost of opening the dome to the public -- complete with guide service, security, repainting and janitorial service -- was estimated at an additional $52,000.

Even opening the fifth floor landing is complicated enough, said the Board.

Included in its recommendations were $4,000 for a grill to catch objects dropped from the lofty landing; $3,000 for a ventilation system in the stairwell areas "to keep people from dropping out from exhaustion while climbing"; $2,000 to run a water line and install a fountain; $2,500 for annual repainting to hide the work of slogan-writers; and $350 for a first aid kit.

COURTS SPEAK--Texas Supreme Court has declined to reconsider an earlier decision holding off pipe shipping rates set by the Railroad Commission in 1962 while they are in contest. High court refused the Commission's request for rehearing. Oil field truckers called for suspension of the new rates, claiming they give railroads an unfair advantage.

In another case heard by the Supreme Court, a Railroad Commission production formula for Fairway Field in East Texas, largest U. S. oil discovery in the last eight years, is under attack. W. L. Pickens brought the action to void the formulas for the field in Anderson and Henderson Counties. Pickens claims the formulas would allow neighboring leases to drain oil from under his property. Under the Commission order, allowable would be based 50 per cent on tract size and 50 per cent on acre feet of oil-bearing sand beneath. District court here has upheld the order.

Finance companies won a major battle with the State when the Third Court of Civil Appeals in Austin refused Regulatory Loan Commissioner Frank Miskell's motion for rehearing on the State's case against Termpian, Texas Public Finance, Beneficial Finance and Consolidated Credit.

Court affirmed the opinion of the 53rd District Court in Austin that the 1963 Texas Loan Act section which says a loan company cannot be licensed unless 51 per cent of its stock is owned by Texans is unconstitutional.

EDUCATION-JOB OPPORTUNITY--Texas Department of Public Safety is offering educational opportunities along with jobs for young men who can qualify.

Fifty will be selected between August and October for the DPS Law Enforcement Academy here. Graduates of the four-month school, covering 800 hours of instruction in 95 subjects, will fill vacancies in the highway patrol, license and weight, motor vehicle inspection or driver licensing divisions.

Young men 21 to 35 who can meet physical and mental requirements will be given qualifying examinations on August 8, September 12 and October 10. School will begin on November 19. Students earn $375 a month while in training and $438 to $453 a month on graduation.

REDISTRICTING--Fourth in a series of public hearings held by the Legislative Council Study Committee on Congressional Redistricting will be held in San Antonio. Legislators seek public opinion on the way to draft redistricting to conform with the U. S. Supreme Court edict. It's a matter which must be settled during the 1965 session.

Speaker of the House Byron Tunnell says he believes redistricting -- both congressional and legislative -- should be handled at the end of the session, after higher education proposals and tax matters are out of the way.

His idea conflicts with those of Governor Connally and Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr who have said redistricting should be the first item on the Legislature's agenda.

PASSENGER TRAIN HEARING SET--Railroad Commission issued notice that it will hold hearing on the Texas and Pacific Railway's request to discontinue operation of two passenger trains now operating between Fort Worth and El Paso.

Fort Worth hearing will be held on September 15, and the El Paso hearing on September 17. Railroad claims it has suffered a net loss of $200,000 on these trains over the past

FOOD STAMP PLAN--William M. Herndon, who administers the commodities distribution program for the State Department of Public Welfare, says the Federal Food Stamp Program, just passed by Congress, will take at least five years to filter down into all counties which otherwise would participate in the surplus commodities distribution program.

Under the proposed program, low-income and no-income families may trade federally-supplied stamps for food at any grocery store, instead of limiting their supplies to those items declared surplus commodities and distributed on a county-agent basis. Luxury and imported items will be exempt from the plan. Barred from the stamp "shopping" list are bananas, coffee, cocoa and tea.

But the switch must be gradual because current surpluses must be used up and it has not been determined yet how much Congress will appropriate for the program.

YARBOROUGH ASKS SCREW-WORM FUNDS--Sen. Ralph Yarborough's Austin office announced he has urged the Senate Subcommittee on Agriculture Appropriations to earmark $5,500,000 to continue the screw-worm eradication program in the Southwest.

Unless a barrier zone is established along the Mexican border, Yarborough said, reinfestation of "free" areas will occur and a $12,000,000 investment in the program will be lost.

PARKS OVERCROWDED--All state parks in Texas are overcrowded, says Director W. M. Gosdin.

Gosdin pointed out that 47,944 persons visited Corpus Christi State Park on Easter weekend and the level has held up through mid-summer. Other major parks such as Garner, Inks, Goose Island, Brownwood and Fort Parker are handling capacity crowds.

A $160,000 expenditure at Huntsville State Park provided only a third of the facilities that could be utilized, reports the parks chief.

New expansion projects at Falcon, Lake Whitney and Dam B will help take care of next year's visitors but probably won't come close to meeting demand for park facilities, Gosdin said.

APPOINTEE--Tom E. Beard, County Attorney for Hill County, has been appointed by Governor Connally as District Attorney for the 66th Judicial District.

Beard, a Baylor University law graduate who is also the Democratic nominee for the position he was appointed to, succeeds the late Jerry E. Clarke.

RETAIL SALES ON RISE--UT Bureau of Business Research's seasonally-adjusted index of retail sales in Texas shows a two per cent rise in June. Bureau reports that in the first six months of 1964 retail stores recorded a rise of five per cent over the first half of 1963.

Biggest increases over the 1963 period were made by automotive dealers and stores dealing in women's ready-to-wear. But every retail category showed a rise, except meat-less grocery stores.

By Vern Sanford

Nearly every Texas stockman will agree that his Number 1 Animal Enemy today is the coyote.

Unfortunately for Texas stockmen there has been a coyote population explosion—a steady increase in the number of coyotes—the past few years.

Simultaneously another problem has arisen—an increase in the use of the Western range by humans. This was unfortunate in that it prevented the scattering of cyanide poisons to control the coyote population. Such a control method is unique in areas where hunters, fishermen, campers, hikers, photographers, rockhounds, or just plain visitors with new-found leisure hours abound.

Cyanide cannot be safely used where children play. Nor can poisons selective to the canine family be employed where the tourists' pet dog will roam.

The coyote doesn't mind the increase in people, for Don Coyote is very adaptable. But increased public use of the great outdoors has hampered the activities of the predator control men.

With curtailed predator control, the sheepmen suffered great losses. The mohair goat raiser found it almost impossible to operate at a profit. Poultrymen suffered too. In Texas and Oklahoma, coyotes caused heavy losses among newborn calves.

Something had to be done to stop the population explosion of coyotes without endangering the vacation seekers who invaded the scenic wonderlands of the West. So new tactics are being employed.

Wildlife researchers in the U. S. Department of Interior (Fish and Wildlife Service) have come up with a plan of birth control—for coyotes.

Planned parenthood for predators is fast becoming a reality. Don Balsler, a research scientist with the Bureau of control methods section, operates out of the Wildlife Research Center in Denver, Colorado. There he is testing the results of feeding stilbestrol to coyotes during the breeding season. Initial results have been good.

The coyote that eats a bait treated with this reproduction inhibiting chemical simply does not become pregnant.

If embryo implantation has taken place when the stilbestrol is ingested, the embryos are resorbed by the female, and she does not give birth. The coyote doesn't know that any change has taken place, but when the annual crop of pups is prevented from being born, the population of coyotes in the treated area drops sharply.

It seems that research has come up with a tool in coyote control which comes near to pleasing everyone. Groups of people who objected to other control methods in the belief that they were cruel or caused suffering to the animal can find no objection to the reproduction inhibitor which causes no pain, no suffering—no change at all—except no pups are born that spring.

Those who feared coyote control programs because of alleged harmful effects on other species can now rest easier. The breeding season of coyotes coincides with the breeding season of very few other mammals. Hence, only the coyote is affected.

Dog lovers who objected to poisons, traps, and cyanide getters because they feared for Old Rover's safety, can relax when the method of control is the reproduction inhibitor. If a dog takes one of the stilbestrol baits, the only result is that it cannot be bred that particular season.

As coyotes come into season only once a year—and dogs more often—there can be no loss to the dog lover.

Sheepmen who feared the coyote because it killed hapless newborn lambs in the spring of the year, when it had a den full of pups to feed, can breathe easier. Relieved of the necessity of foraging for a litter of hungry pups, the adult coyote does not need to kill as often and is more apt to content itself with natural foods—sparing the sheep.

In 1963, a team of men operating under Mr. Balsler's direction, placed the reproduction inhibiting baits on a 720-square mile area in south-eastern New Mexico. Government trappers kept track of the number of denning females taken. They performed autopsies on all females taken in normal control operations. Results were very encouraging. So this year the testing area is being enlarged.

At the present time, reproduction inhibiting baits are being exposed on the Mt. Home desert in Idaho, and on 150 townships in southern New Mexico. These areas were selected either because they had a high coyote population or because they were areas that have been traditional trouble spots, with heavy losses to marauding coyotes.

After the drug has had time to take effect, Mr. Balsler's men will take every coyote they can to examine reproductive tracts and to determine whether or not the Planned Parenthood Program has succeeded or failed.

Research Scientist Balsler is careful to point out that this program still is in its research stage, but livestock interests all over the West are watching eagerly for the results of the larger tests of this spring. If initial results of 1963 are confirmed by the more extensive tests of 1964, then we can say that research has solved still another knotty problem of wildlife management.

Maybe soon we can adjust the numbers of coyotes to suit the needs of the land—and the landowners—without endangering any other species of wildlife or domestic animals.

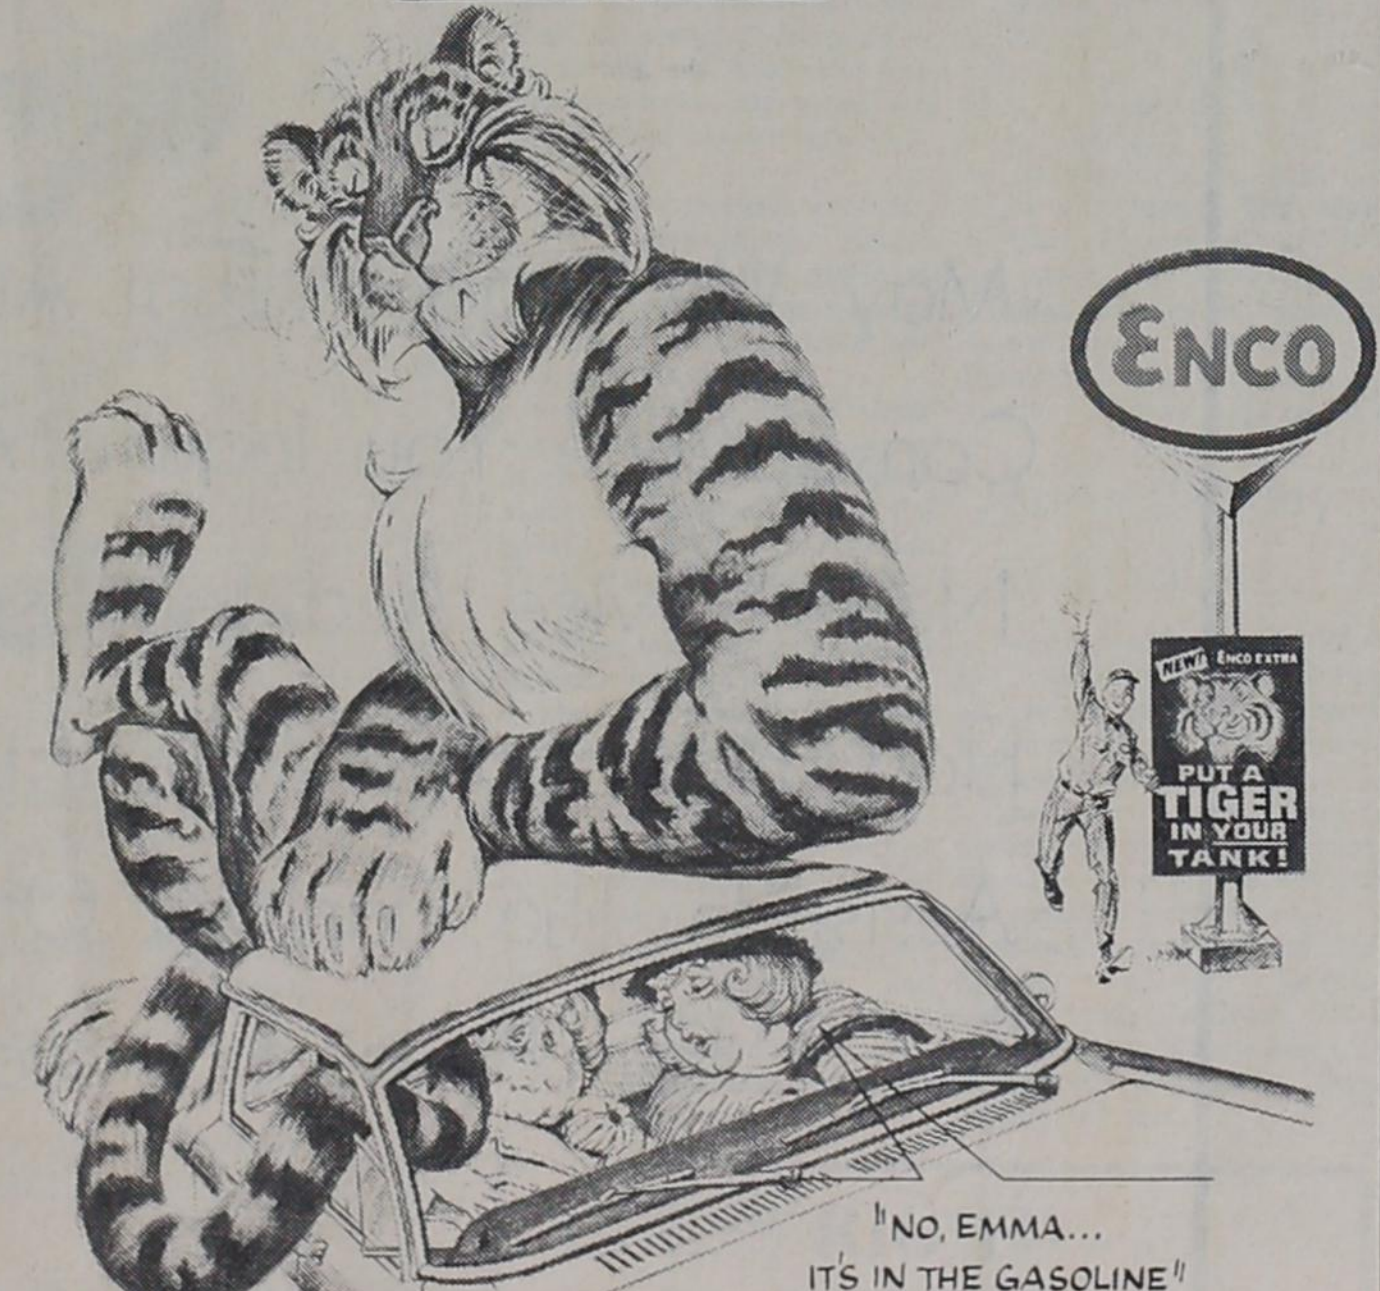

Perhaps Planned Parenthood for Coyotes is the answer.

GUMMED AGAIN—Foreign aid criticisms took a sticky turn recently when Rep. Thompson (R-Wisc.) turned up these aid expenditures: bubblegum for Turks and royal bee jelly capsules that Asiatics fancy as sex rejuvenators.

REAL ACHIEVEMENT—The Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association reports that more than 90 per cent of the key drug discoveries since 1941 came from industry research; about 9 per cent from universities and state institutions and less than one per cent from federal government research. In 1962 industry spent $238 million on drug research and the national government $71 million.

SPENDING RATE—President Johnson spent more money during his first three months in office than any President in history—$24.3 billion. Currently, according to Congressional sources, he is spending $2 million a day more than the late President Kennedy and $50 million per day more than former President Eisenhower.

CONSTRUCTION TO BEGIN

Groundbreaking Is Held For Hospital Addition

Officials ground-breaking for a 10-room addition to Parmer County Community Hospital was held here the past week, with Mrs. J. B. McFarland turning the first shovel of dirt.

The new addition will give the hospital an additional 10 patient rooms, including two for pediatrics, and eight private rooms for adults. One of the pediatric rooms will be furnished with two beds, the other with one.

Thus, when the addition is finished the hospital will have a capacity of 36 patients, rather than 25 as it has at present. Also, the private rooms could, if needed, be converted into semi-private rooms, for a possible capacity of 46 patients.

The rooms will be approximately 12 by 14 feet. The floor of the addition will be of Terraza, and the bathrooms of ceramic tile. Each room will be equipped with a telephone and television jack.

The new addition will be built by Taylor Construction Company of Friona on a bid of $104,000.

The groundbreaking ceremonies were held informally before a small gathering representing hospital and board officials, as well as contributors to the hospital.

G. B. (Pete) Buske, president of the hospital's board of directors, told this reporter: "Meeting here this afternoon to break ground for the new addition recalls to my mind the hospital's beginning some 19 years ago, when we did not have a single doctor in Parmer County."

Buske reviewed the history of the hospital, pointing out how a small group of citizens met and decided to try to see if they could start some kind of building program. A temporary board of directors was selected to look into the prospects, and Buske was one of the five selected.

"I have served continuously since that time, and I think I can speak for all of the board members, past and present, in saying that there is nothing we have enjoyed better than having served with each other for the hospital. The wonderful cooperation we have had from the community, including all civic organizations, and especially the doctors and hospital staff, has been marvelous," Buske said.

He paid special tribute to Mrs. McFarland, who with her husband, the late J. B. McFarland, has been a contributor to the hospital from its earliest stages.

The hospital is completely non-profit in its organization. All proceeds of the pharmacy, hospital lab and the hospital go back into the operation, to pay for building payments and equipment costs.

Approximately $50,000 is still needed to take care of the present addition, and the hospital will gladly accept any further contributions, large or small, to help finance the addition. Otherwise, it must borrow the remainder needed.

The hospital has never at any time solicited Hill-Burton or other federal funds, choosing to remain independent of government aid and dictation.

Parmer County Community Hospital had its beginning when a non-profit corporation was formed back in 1945. Shares of stock were sold throughout the county, and soon $45,900 was raised. Old buildings and some equipment were purchased from war surplus and moved onto ground that was purchased for the hospital.

In its first eight years, the hospital grew to a point where it was necessary to build more room to care for the needs of the community. A complete new building was erected and occupied in October of 1956.

The new building was constructed at a cost of $200,000, and provided 25 beds with lab, surgery and clinic space for two doctors.

In 1961, it was necessary to enlarge the clinic space and an addition costing $54,000 was completed. This addition was built to accommodate five doctors and at present the hospital has four. They are Dr. Paul Spring, Dr. Lee Spring, Dr. Lee Cranfill and Dr. J. L. Humphrey.

Parmer County Community Hospital at the present employs two full-time pharmacists, two lab technicians, about 28 on the nursing staff, five in the kitchen, two in laundry, two for house-keeping one for maintenance, and four office and administration. The payroll is the largest in Friona with the exception of the school system.

Saturday Ceremony Unites Martha Stieg, Kerry Hubbell

In a quiet but impressive ceremony performed at Trinity Methodist church in Clovis Saturday July 25, Martha Jo Stieg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Stieg and Kerry Lynn Hubbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oris (Bill) Hubbell were united in marriage.

Rev. Arthur Shaw read the single ring ceremony before an altar arrangement of white gladioli and stephanotis in a fluted pottery urn flanked by seven branched candelabras holding white tapers. Background for the setting were palms of woodwardia and emerald greenery. Focal point of the setting was a wrought iron kneeling bench on which the couple knelt to seal their wedding vows.

Marilyn Everett, organist, played appropriate nuptial music preceding the ceremony and also the traditional wedding marches as the couple approached the altar.

Only attendants for the couple were Miss Polly Stieg, sister of the bride and Harlin Obenshain, brother-in-law of the groom. Miss Stieg wore a nylon floral print shift dress in shades of pink with accessories in matching hue. Her corsage was of white carnations.

The bride given in marriage by her father chose a street length sheath dress of white linen with white accessories. Her shoulder length veil of white silk illusion was attached to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations and stephanotis atop a white lace and satin covered Bible.

Following tradition the bride carried in her shoes for something old pennies minted in the year of her birth and that of the groom, borrowed was a bracelet from a close friend, new was her dress and blue was the traditional garter.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Stieg chose a dress of blue and white floral printed acetate. Her accessories were white and she wore a shoulder corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Hubbell wore a tan shirtwaist dress with bone accessories. Her corsage was also of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall. Serving table was covered with a white hand crocheted tablecloth over pink. Centering the table was an arrangement of pink and white carnations. The tiered wedding cake, served with floating punch, was decorated with wedding bells, roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom figurine. Crystal table appointments and pink napkins embossed with the names "Martha and Kerry" completed table decor.

Mrs. Harlin Obenshain, sister of the groom and Mrs. Fred Stieg, sister-in-law of the bride presided at the serving table.

When the young couple left for a brief honeymoon trip Mrs. Hubbell wore a short jacket of blue accented by gold trim, with her wedding dress. Her corsage was the center from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a junior at Clovis High School. The groom attended Farwell Schools and graduated from Clovis High School in 1963. He is presently employed by Farmers Oil Co. in Clovis.

The young couple are making their home in Clovis.

JOTTIN'S By Jeanne

One of our editor friends reminds that there is a lot of difference between good, sound reasons and reasons that sound good.

School will be in session in four more weeks -- good news for the youngsters.

Those smiling faces on little boys Saturday afternoon belonged to the Cub Scouts, who had their summer party to Palo Duro Canyon. They didn't seem to mind the heat, bugs, or a temperamental bus -- nothing dampened their enthusiasm.

In fact, the only complaint was that the bus didn't break down, because they really wanted to push.

We had a picture of one of the newer beauty spots in town last week, with J. B. Benderman responsible for that attractive yard.

Another I've admired is the yard of the Ira S. Levins home -- which has become one of the prettiest spots in town this summer.

This tip comes from Mrs. Dale Bradley of Amarillo, daughter-in-law of my next door neighbor. Soaking oven racks in bleach makes the cleaning much easier and faster. I tried it. It works.

I've read "The Greening Branch", the newest in my list of favorite books, from cover to cover. I think I enjoyed it so much, not only because the writer is almost a Farwellite, but because she did something she has always wanted to do.

Mrs. Winifred Bradley Cobb is a former English teacher in Farwell. The first time we met, she told me of her love for writing, and indicated that one day, she had plans for a book.

I was pleased when her dream was realized. The book is a collection of poetry -- which is lively and readable, and yet, has a touch of reverence.

J. White Relatives Visit Over Weekend

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joel White over the weekend were Mrs. Loyd Taylor and children Karen and Dean and Beverly White all of Amarillo.

The group was joined on Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Henry White and children, Janis, Scott and Doris and Mrs. A. D. White also of Amarillo.

Sunday evening the group along with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. White, Buddy and James Wojinski of Farwell enjoyed a picnic supper at the Joel White home.

Mrs. A. D. White is mother of the local man and Henry White is his brother.

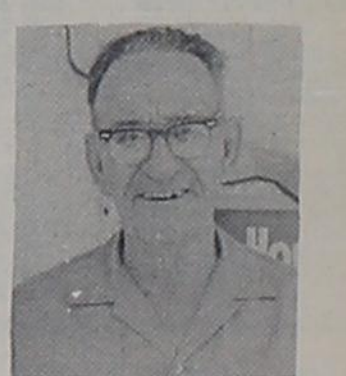

Thailand Visitors In Roberts Home

Major and Mrs. E. C. Jones and children, Jana and E. C. Jr. who have just returned from a stay of 19 months in Thailand are visiting in the home of his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Roberts and Charles.

Mrs. Roberts and Charles will accompany the visitors to Bellevue later this week for a visit in the homes of Mrs. Stella Jones and J. T. Jones. Mrs. Jones is mother of Mrs. Roberts, E. C. and J. T. Jones. Following the visit in Bellevue Major Jones will be stationed at Wichita Kansas.

Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Strickland and children are spending this week at Sacramento attending Methodist minister's camp. They expect to return home today.

TIME SAVERS

by Martha Brandt

"QUICK UPS" OUTDOORS

Making things shipshape is not only work for boat owners—it's a must for anyone with a porch, patio or backyard. Summer is the time of year when nature's paint brush makes the outdoors look wonderful—and the porch furniture and other equipment look terrible. Make short work of any outdoor painting jobs with some of the aerosol paints designed for these purposes.

This year you can even start by spraying on a pair of gloves—there's a coating made for use on hands to protect skin against paints, acids and other possible skin irritants. Once protected you can spray porch furniture, railing or gate in a fraction of the time it used to take you with a paint brush.

Consult your hardware or paint dealer about the best kind of paint to use. He'll probably agree that spray paints are particularly good time-savers when used for such areas as the railings, gate and railings of wrought iron fences, or for porch furniture. Whichever kind of spray paint you use, it will be easier to apply in the right spot if you collect some large pieces of cardboard (from shirts or dress or suit size boxes) to be used as "baffles" behind the area you're painting. Spray painting can be done with one hand, holding the cardboard with the other.

Californians Visit Local Relatives

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Caillouet, Artesia, Calif. arrived Saturday for a visit in the homes of several local relatives including Mr. and Mrs. John Adams, parents of Mrs. Caillouet, Louis Caillouet, father of Donald Caillouet and Mrs. Myrtle Houghtling, grandmother of the Californian.

They will also visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Roubinson and children in Clovis and with several local families, before returning home Saturday.

Jerry Dixon, grandson of Mrs. Ruby Dixon, was a guest here the past week. He returned to his home in Santa Fe Tuesday morning. He is the son of the Jim Dixons.

Prissy Crume, daughter of the Vance Crumes of Hereford, visited her cousins, Ronny, Hal, John and Andy Graham from Friday until Tuesday.

Easy Bar Cookie

This very flavorful but not too sweet raisin bar cookie is perfect to serve with iced tea or lemonade. Its interesting new tasty flavor is achieved by baking the oats and walnuts in a hot oven before stirring them into the dough.

The California raisins are chopped lightly to let the taste surprising flavor distribute throughout the bars. Notice the simple directions for shaping and cutting the raisin toasties. If you prefer the same dough may be used for drop cookies.

FROSTED RAISIN TOASTIES

1 cup California seedless raisins
2 cups rolled oats
1 cup broken walnuts
1 cup shortening (part butter or margarine)
2 cups brown sugar (packed)

3 eggs
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup milk
Glaze

Chop raisins lightly. Spread oats and walnuts on baking sheet; toast lightly in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 8 minutes. Blend together shortening and sugar; beat in eggs one at a time. Sift together flour, soda, salt and cinnamon. Add to sugar mixture alternately with milk; stir in raisins, toasted oats and walnuts. Divide into 6 parts; chill dough. Roll each piece into long roll 1-inch in diameter and about 15 inches long. Place two strips on each lightly greased baking sheet. Press to flat 4-inch strip with rolling pin. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. While still warm brush with glaze made by combining 2 cups sifted powdered sugar with 2 tablespoons hot water. Sprinkle with raisins; turn raisins to coat with frosting. Cool. Cut each strip into 12 diagonal slices. Makes 6 dozen.

Texas Youth To Study Range Management

For the tenth consecutive year, outstanding Texas 4-H and FFA members will get advanced training in range management. The training is offered at the week-long Youth Range Camp to be held at the Texas A&M Adjunct at Junction from July 27-August 1.

According to B. J. Ragsdale, Extension range specialist, the camp, as in the past, is being sponsored by the Texas section, American Society of Range Management. The boys who will attend have been selected on the basis of their outstanding range management projects, their participation in range and plant judging activities or an active interest in range and natural resource management. Each has been awarded a camp scholarship, according to Ragsdale.

This year's camp will be conducted by Ragsdale and G. O. Hoffman, Extension range specialists; Dr. Don Huss, Department Range and Forestry, Texas A&M University; Valton Hoffman, assistant county agent, Amarillo; Durwood Ball, area range conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, Uvalde; Obert Sagebiel, vo-ag teacher, Junction; John Hunter, Department of Agronomy and Range Management, Texas Technological College, Lubbock and the Reverend Joe Fasel, Episcopal Minister, Lubbock. All are members of the Texas Section.

The campers will study such subjects as plant identification, ecology, ranch economics; grazing systems, seeding, noxious plant control, ranch and range planning, and the relationship of wildlife and range management. They will make field trips to an Edwards County ranch and the Ranch Experiment Station, Sonora, for on-the-ground studies.

A gain of four pounds per person--on a product weight basis--was indicated by whole milk and skim milk sales statistics showing a per capita gain in fluid milk consumption in 1963, the USDA reports.

This young workman has the job of hauling sacks of potatoes to the shed dock where they are loaded into trucks and later onto refrigerated freight cars for shipment to the national markets. Much hard work is eliminated by using this modern equipment which handles many sacks of potatoes at one time. All of this work formerly required many hours of grueling labor.

Employees at Friona Growers and Shippers potato shed wash, grade and cull potatoes in preparation for the vegetables to be sacked and made ready for loading onto freight cars for shipment to buyers. Most of this type of work is done by women leaving the men free for the heavier work of digging, picking up and hauling the spuds to the shed.

Potato Harvest In Full Swing

Potato harvest in the Friona area is in full swing, according to Kenneth Neill, manager at Friona Growers and Shippers, who estimates that some 40 per cent of the acreage in that area is out of the fields. Harvest operations began on July 10 and are due to be completed within the next week or 10 days. All of the early varieties of potatoes have been harvested and the late maturing varieties are being dug at this time.

Friona Growers and Shippers has 400 acres of potatoes, 300 acres carrots, 40 acres each of sweet corn, cabbage and cucumbers in addition to which they have 20 acres of sweet pepper.

Carrot harvest will not begin until fall and is due to be completed late in December. However, all other vegetables will be harvested soon (beginning around August 15).

Potato acreage is slightly less than that of former years due to the increase in sugar beet acreage, according to Neill. Price of the number 1 spuds is running at some $3.75 per 100 lb. sack in comparison to $2.50 per sack at the same time last year. This is due in part to the lower acreage, believes Neill.

Number 2 spuds are bringing approximately one dollar less per sack.

Estimates of a decrease of 10 per cent to 20 per cent in potato acreage this year has been made by area farmers.

Approximately 80 persons are employed by Friona Growers and Shippers during harvest season with some 50 persons working in the fields. The remainder work at the shed where they wash, grade and sack the potatoes to get them ready for shipment.

Majority of the workers are Spanish-American. One of the directors of the company comes to Friona to assist Neill with the harvest operation and stays approximately six months or until carrot harvest is completed. Neill's daughter assists in the office at the potato shed during the busy season as receptionist.

Agriculture Boosts Texas' Economy In Big Way

The value of Texas' farm and ranch production is exceeded by only one other raw material, oil. The state's total yearly agricultural production value exceeds the payroll for manufacturing, the total of construction awards, or the payroll for retail trades, says John G. McHaney, Extension economist, Texas A&M University.

Farm and ranch production each year has a total value of about $2.4 billion. However, explains McHaney, agriculture adds much more to our total economy than just income from the sale of products. Of the $2.4 billion received by farmers and ranchers, $1.8 billion is paid to suppliers for items used in the production of agricultural commodities. About 12 per cent of all Texans are engaged in supplying these production items.

Business firms which assemble, process, distribute, transport, wholesale, and retail the products of Texas' farms and ranches employ about 20 per cent of the labor force of the state and add about $3.9 billion to the agricultural economy. Their primary concern, says McHaney, is to get the agricultural products to the final consumer in the desired form and at the right time and place.

The sale of agricultural products plus the costs of processing and distributing them annually adds about $6.3 billion to the state's economy, notes the economist. The economic destiny of most Texas counties hinges primarily on the agricultural economy, he adds.

The future of the Texas agricultural industry will belong to those who work to keep their agricultural economy competitive with other areas of the nation and world, McHaney emphasizes. Agriculture, he adds, is no longer a way of life but rather a big competitive business.

If disaster should strike, how would you and your family fare on food you have in the house? About one-third of more than 11,000 households surveyed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture recently said existing food could be stretched about a week--or possibly less. Another third said one or two weeks, and the remainder said they could hold out more than two weeks. Most suburban families had more food stored than city dwellers, and farm families generally were in even better shape. Homes in the Pacific Northwest and western north central states had the most food on hand, while those in the Southeast and Northeast were least prepared, the survey showed.

County Girls Participate In District Dress Revue

Among the 38 girls from counties in this district modeling clothing at the district 4-H Dress Revue held in Amarillo Thursday were Kathy Coker and Judy Koelzer, both of Laz-buddle, winners of first place respectively in the junior and senior divisions, in Parmer County.

Kathy was not eligible to participate in the district competition but along with other county winners she modeled her garment for spectators at the show. Her dress was made of printed bates cotton in which green was the predominant color. The dress was fashioned in a style appropriate for either school dress wear. She wore white accessories.

Judy, senior winner in the county, was winner of a second place (red ribbon) on her suit of turquoise blue styled with a short jacket of plaid. With the suit she wore accessories of black. The dress when worn without the jacket and adorned with costume jewelry would be quite appropriate for a dressy occasion. She was county runner-up in 1962 and was county winner in 1963.

Girls were judged on poise, posture, construction of the garment, and how the garment looked on the wearer as well as record books.

Leader of the junior Lazbuddle club of which Kathy is a member is Mrs. Harvey Blackstone and leader of the senior Lazbuddle club of which Judy is a member is Mrs. Pete Jesko.

Garments modeled and entered in the county and district show were made under their supervision. Mrs. Jesko was in Amarillo along with parents of the girls and Mrs. Cricket B. Taylor, Parmer County H. D. Agent for the district revue.

The girls were guests at a tea held in their honor during the afternoon.

Kathy Coker, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller and Judy Koelzer, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Koelzer, both of the Lazbuddle Club were first place winners in the recent county dress review. They are shown receiving first place ribbons from Mrs. Cricket B. Taylor, Parmer County HD Agent.

4-H ACTIVITIES...
The next events in which 4-H members may participate are coming up soon. The County 4-H Bake Show to be held August 19, at the Hub Community Center at 1:00 p.m. All 4-H members that were enrolled in a 4-H project are eligible to participate. The county winner will enter the District Bake Show at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo to compete for the award of $100 bond. This is a good opportunity for members to try out skill in baking. Products to be submitted this year are: Quick Loaf Bread and Bar Cookies. Rules for these will be furnished all 4-H members and training given, Thursday, July 30th at 10:00 a.m. at the Hub Community Center.

VEGETABLES...
With summer vegetables at peak production now, there are vegetables to suit every menu. Vegetables are important in the diet for general good health. The wider variety we learn to enjoy the more interesting are our meals. It does pay to cultivate the taste for many vegetables.

Vegetables supply Vitamin C, and A which are needed for healthy gums, body tissues, normal vision and healthy skin. The deep green and deep yellow are best sources.

Requests for squash recipes have been made from my office as the yellow, acorn and zucchini are in production now.

Here is a favorite that usually appeals to the family members when other methods of cooking fail. It is called: SQUASH NEW ORLEANS

About 1 pint cooked or frozen cooked squash (Do not cook squash completely done),
4 strips bacon diced and drained on absorbent paper
2 T. Bacon fat left in skillet
Add to bacon fat and cook to a delicate brown:

1 clove garlic minced
1/4 cup chopped onion
Combine all ingredients and Add:

1/4 cup melted butter
3/4 T. salt
Soak in water 2 slices whole wheat bread. Squeeze out excess moisture from bread and add to squash. Add and combine 2 well-beaten eggs. Place in casserole. Top with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in moderately hot oven 400 degrees F. about 40 minutes.

An excellent bulletin B-923 entitled "Vegetables", is available through our office free. Write or call and the bulletin will be sent to you or come by our office on 2nd floor of Courthouse at Farwell and pick up a copy. Some memographed copies of Squash recipes that I have compiled will also be available.

Homemakers will be honored when a new postage stamp goes on sale August 1. Postmaster General John A. Gronouski has announced. The new five-cent commemorative postage stamp will pay tribute to the American woman and also will honor the Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which came into being half a century ago, with the passage of the Smith-Lever Act. Under the USDA's Extension Service, working in cooperation with the land-grant colleges of the nation, some 4,000 home demonstration agents, assisted by nearly 700,000 women who serve as local leaders, are aiding millions of women to become better homemakers.

Records indicate that the first use of the bow and arrow as hunting tools was in North Africa.

Kathy Coker, junior winner of the Parmer County Dress Revue and Judy Koelzer senior winner model their prize winning garments while discussing plans for the district revue in which they participated Thursday. Kathy was not entered in competition in the district revue, however she along with 17 other county winners modeled their garments for spectators. Judy was winner of second place at the district revue. She was also a county winner last year.

On The Farm In Farmer County

BY JOE VAN ZANDT County Agent

Soil Tests
Now is the time to get your soil tested before wheat planting time arrives. The importance of testing your soil can be easily seen.

Recommendations from recent soil test for wheat in the county have varied from 80-0-0 to 100-50-0 for light grazing to 140-60-0 for heavy grazing. It doesn't take much fertilizer saved to pay for a $2.00 soil test. We just can't look at soil and know what nutrients it contains and what it needs to produce a good crop. We have seen the results of about 10 recommendations for wheat and they may vary around 50 pounds of nitrogen and phosphorus on the same farm.

At the present time the best reliable method we have available to determine fertilizer requirements is a soil test. It is hard for the farmer to calculate the amount of soil nutrients that remain in the soil after the previous crop.

a little time, a farmer can easily cut his fertilizer cost. Plus knowing that he is applying the right kind and amount of fertilizer necessary to produce the yields he is shooting for.

Come by the County Agents office for any soil testing information and supplies you need.

Boy's 4-H Camp
A group of 4-H boys and adult leaders accompanied by the County Agent left the Court-house Monday morning for a four day camp at Holy Ghost Canyon near Pecos, New Mexico.

Leaders making the trip were: James Mabry, Roy Miller, T. D. Vaughn, Dan Smith, and Max Steinbock. In addition John Aladridge, Joe Jones and Dee Chitwood went up last Saturday to get the kitchen set up at the camp site.

As the group left Monday, they were looking forward to getting cooled off in the mountains.

Forage Testing
The Texas A&M University Forage Testing service has been in operation since March, 1964, and about 200 hay and silage samples have been processed.

The forage portion of a beef or dairy cattle feeding program is a significant part of the ration. It is now rapidly being recognized that there are vast differences in the nutritive value and quality of forages used in feeding programs in the state. A ration cannot be properly balanced when the nutritive value of the forage is unknown. If forage is not properly utilized and supplemented according to its feeding value, profits and beef production will probably be lower.

The forage testing is available to anyone who desires to have dry forage or silage tested. In addition to the chemical forage analysis, a suggested feeding program based on the forage analyzed is offered.

The charge based on actual costs, is $6.00 for each hay sample and $7.00 for each silage sample for determination of crude, protein and crude fiber and calculation of digestible protein, total digestible nutrients and net energy. Moisture in silage is also determined.

The charge is $2.00 per sample of hay and $3.00 per sample of silage for determination of protein only.

Forage sample mailing bags, instructions and all other forms are available at the County Agent's office.

Boll Weevil Infestation
Boll weevil infestations are increasing above the Caprock. Heaviest infestations above the Caprock to date have been found in Crosby County, with other cases reported from Floyd and Dickens counties.

Many farmers have started spot-spraying where weevil infestations have appeared in their fields. Infestations above the Caprock are still light and confined to fairly small areas of the field. Spot spraying will help prevent a buildup and spread of the weevils further into the Plains. This is an important part of the overall weevil control program.

Bollworm populations are still light over most of the area. However, increased egg-laying has been noted during the past week. Producers should be making regular inspections of their fields for bollworms. Where control is necessary, insecticides should be applied as soon as possible after eggs hatch. Accurate timing of applications can be determined only by regular field inspections.

Overall flea hopper populations have been light. Late cotton should still be checked closely for flea hopper infestations. Early detection of damaging insects in cotton fields is necessary for effective control.

Spot-Checking Plants For Growth Defects Will Aid Next Program

With spring-planted crops reaching their peak development, now is an excellent time for farmers to spot-check plants for abnormalities, defects, discolorations or indications of stunted growth.

Spot-checking is a great help in preparing next season's fertilization and planting program, says Dr. Charles D. Welch, Extension soil chemist, Texas A&M University.

Often a field has areas of both good and poor or stunted growth, explains Welch. In this case, a composite soil sample should be taken from each area, labeled and sent to a soil testing laboratory.

Defects or abnormalities may be due to a lack of major food elements or perhaps trace elements may be the cause, the chemist points out.

Research has found that trace elements, although needed in small amounts, are essential for healthy plant growth. Welch says those most often deficient in Texas soils are boron, iron and zinc.

Alkaline or high-limed soils tend to render some trace elements, especially zinc, unavailable to plants, says the chemist. That's why it's important to have your soil tested since the test will reveal the alkaline content of the soil, Welch adds.

He explains that deficiencies in trace elements cannot accurately be determined by soil tests as yet; thus, spot-checking is

Students On Staff At Halfway

Three senior students of Texas Tech are on the staff of the High Plains Research Foundation for the summer months. All are receiving practical training in their fields of study in various research projects at the Foundation.

Max Stapleton, Plainview, a senior student in agricultural education at Tech, has been employed for the summer to assist James Valliant, water engineer, in the field of artificial recharge. Recharge of the rain water that collects in the playa lakes is one of the ways to extend the life of the irrigation on the High Plains of Texas.

Bev Herndon, another Tech senior, grew up on a ranch near Sweetwater, and is assisting Dr. Arthur Gohlke, senior soil scientist, in his work in the Killgore laboratory doing research with Midland bermuda-grass, fertilizer uptake by sugar beets, as well as fertilizer needs of soybeans. Bev plans to major in range management and is gaining much that will be of great value to him in future activities.

From Olton, Roy L. Jones, also a senior student in agricultural education at Texas Tech, is assisting Loyd Langford, assistant agronomist, with grain sorghum midge research. The grain sorghum midge, as a menace to the economy of the area, is of great concern to both Texas Tech and the High Plains Research Foundation.

Dr. Earl H. Collister, director of the Foundation, states that the Foundation is most enthusiastic over being able to offer the facilities of the Foundation as well as the scientific staff as an educational aid for the young men of the area.

Cool Way

Need a good way to beat the heat? You'll find two August plentiful ready to help you. The high protein content of beef and turkey helps increase body resistance to sweltering summer temperatures.

Beef, along with fresh plums, is a featured item among the plentiful foods for August, according to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Beef supplies are still running far above average. So use beef to make your sandwich meals to celebrate August Sandwich Month. Also, turkey makes delicious sandwich fillings -- and is so refreshing.

Seasonally heavy marketings of turkeys are expected this month. The 10 to 20 per cent rise over last year is due in part to high hatchability rates.

The June 1 forecast of 112,000 tons of California plums is a 6,000-ton increase over last year's record high crop. Recent cool weather has delayed harvesting, so supplies are expected to be heavy in August.

In addition to these plentiful, heavy supplies from both nearby and distant commercial gardens continue to provide such summer vegetables as carrots, cabbage, lettuce, peas and tomatoes, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Marketing Service.

Edible vegetable oils remain at high levels with crude oil prices near their all-time low.

Oil and Agriculture are the number one and two raw material producing industries in Texas. The state's total annual agricultural production exceeds in value the payroll for manufacturing, the total of construction awards, or the payroll for retail trades, reports Extension Economist John McHaney. Approximately 40 per cent of the state's labor force is engaged in some phase of agriculture or agribusiness, he adds.

A depleted supply of oxygen and chemical pollution are cited by Wallace Klusmann, Extension wildlife specialist, as causes of fish die-off. Lack of oxygen in the water is caused from large amounts of decaying vegetation during hot, cloudy days when there is little or no wind to create wave action. The condition is also a result from water pollution by agricultural chemicals which may drift onto the pond or from run-off from treated areas.

Boll Weevil Control Program Plans Finalized

"This program to stop the boll weevils' spread to the cotton-rich Plains is not just a need--it's a vital necessity." This sums up the thinking of a group of the nations leading "weevil experts" who met in Lubbock Wednesday, July 22. The experts--entomologists representing USDA, Texas A&M University, Texas Tech, and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service--met to finalize plans for a far-reaching boll weevil program. (This group serves as a Technical Advisory Committee for the Boll weevil control program.)

The program provides for not only keeping the boll weevil off the Plains, but also to push the costly insect further back to the east. This would have the added benefit of reducing cost of chemicals and applications for growers in counties adjacent to the Plains on the east. Dr. J. C. Gaines, Head of the Entomology Department at Texas A&M University, said boll weevil control costs in areas of Texas where the insect is a problem runs $6. to $36. an acre or more annually. In addition, up to 20% of the potential cotton crop is lost to the boll weevil.

such an extent that it won't spread on the Plains. It was made clear by Dr. Perry Adkisson, Texas A&M University Entomologist, that each and every cotton grower in the area to be sprayed must participate. "Just one grower could provide a 'hot spot' which would allow weevils to survive and repopulate the area the coming spring," Dr. Adkisson pointed out. As for how fast a weevil can move in one season, Dr. Adkisson cited this example: "In Missouri, weevils moved 90 miles in just one year to invade another area--until then, weevil-free."

A second meeting on Thursday, July 23, was conducted for the Area-wide Boll Weevil Committee and county agricultural agents representing the 23 counties served by Plains Cotton Growers Association. The county agents and committee members developed plans for the intensive educational program that will be carried out in the 23-county area.

It was emphasized by the entomologists the weevils ability to spread over a lot of territory in a short time should be cause for concern. "This should be ample evidence to all Plains growers that this fight guard was relaxed, the weevil could soon be 'knocking on New Mexico's door' it was emphasized.

This educational program is a must for smooth, effective operation of the boll weevil control program in all participating counties, says Don Rummel, Area Extension Entomologist. Several important points were explained and others clarified in the Technical Advisory Committee meeting. One of the most significant statements concerned the spray program, which will begin this fall. This phase is the "heart" of the weevil control program. The goal is to suppress the boll weevil below the Caprock to Archie Geisher of USDA's Plant Pest Control Division, and several of his coworkers, reported the initial spray program this fall would take place in Dickens, Floyd, Crosby, Motley, Garza and Ertiscoe counties--and possible others if the weevil's spread warrants. The Texas Department of Agriculture will be in charge of getting contracts signed for each individual cotton farm. These contracts provide an agreement between the farmer and USDA, Texas Department of Agriculture, and PCG for the spray program to be carried out.

Farms in the fall spray program area will be sprayed with a chemical for overwintering (diapause) weevil control three and possible four times. Dr. Sloan Jones, of Plant Pest Control, said the spraying will be done by private planes whose pilots will be under contract to Plant Pest Control for the spraying operation.

Thinking of the entomologists was that the first spray for overwintering weevil kill should take place about September 10. Applications will follow at about 10 day intervals. Choice of a chemical--or chemicals--for the fall spraying program also came up for discussion. It was not decided which chemicals would best serve the purpose of being both economical, relatively safe for use in populated areas and effective. Plant Pest Control officials told the group a series of research tests were underway to evaluate several chemicals. Three chemicals--each known to be effective for such a program--are now being evaluated. Final selection of the chemical to be used will take place shortly.

Food Is Still A Bargain

America's agricultural producers, unmatched for their production skills, continue to give consumers a bountiful supply of good things to eat. And at continuing bargain prices, reports Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Beef, in good supply at all meat counters, though showing some increase in price still offers many choice buys. Special steak sales offer real bargains while chuch and rib roasts and ground beef also continue as good buys, says the specialist.

Pork steaks, hams and picnics are listed as among the most economical of the pork selections. Franks and luncheon meats remain at their usual economical level.

While fresh fish supplies are relatively scarce, the specialist suggests serving frozen fish fillets, steaks and portions in a number of interesting ways. For example, have you tried fish sandwiches or fishburgers? Produce counters are supplying snap beans, beets, cabbage, carrots, sweet corn, okra, cucumbers, green and dry onions, peppers, summer squash, southern peas and tomatoes at reasonable prices. Celery, lettuce and other salad items are other attractive offerings.

Heavy production of plums, especially in California, have placed this fruit on the August list of plentiful.
