Breaks All Records For Parmer County

This is our annual "take-a-deep-breath" edition—you know, the one before Christmas. If all goes well this week we will stuff the news in as quickly as possible and get out the paper a little early in order to back up for a running start on Christmas week.

Christmas is usually a very busy time around The Tribune office, but if at all possible, we are going to try to make it a little easier on our over-worked staff this year.

It would surprise you to find out how many of your "friends," (and perhaps you yourself fit into this category), jump at the chance to grab a windfall at the expense of their neighbors.

The man who said that if he tried to give $5 bills away on Main Street, he would be accosted by someone who thought he was being swindled, was just about right.

Nowhere is this more evident than when a road project is announced in the county (or anywhere else), and instructions are given to the commissioners to obtain for the state the necessary right-of-way for new construction.

The price of unimproved farm land suddenly soars out of sight, and all at once landowners band together to martyr the cause of the individual who is being encroached upon in the name of progress.

Condemnation suits are never pleasant experiences, especially for the local officials who discover that they become necessary. Yet, as one county commissioner remarked recently, they are the only ways that the interest of the general public can be protected.

Fortunately, those who cause static are few, and some of those who do resist action against their property have just cause to do so. No body of officers is ever correct at all times, and it is possible that injustices have arisen in the past.

Everyone sympathizes with the landowner who can truthfully say that his belongings are being damaged by unexpected improvements which are thrust upon him, and he should be liberally compensated in such instances.

However, we have no soft spot for the soreheads who for some reason seem to love causing trouble. They seldom consider the fact that a paved road will benefit not only their neighbors, but will substantially increase the valuation of their own land. And that can be proved.

A card from J. G. Ward, superintendent of Lazbuddie Schools, shows that of the 16 teachers in the system, five are from Arkansas and seven from Oklahoma. The four "stragglers" come from Texas.

Maybe they ought to call it Arkieoklansaw Lane.

Our attention this past week was caught by the remarks of Rev. Carrol M. Jones, pastor of the Progress Methodist Church, who called at our office in behalf of CROP.

Rev. Jones seems to be tremendously interested in this program, so much so in fact, that he has volunteered to act as district director for CROP this year.

It's a job that takes a lot of time, and one for which there will be little or no thanks. The sincerity with which he takes his work is evidence of his belief in the program, and we are more than glad to help him and his work with a little publicity.

His main arguing point is aimed at where all of us Americans seem to be the most vulnerable—the pocketbook. It would appear that anything built around the lines of CROP would appeal to the heart (and it should), but the pocketbook still makes a very good target for his arguments.

Rev. Jones says that here is a golden opportunity to do something about a problem which plagues us all—nation-wide surpluses of farm commodities.

Read what he has to say: By Rev. Carrol M. Jones, District CROP Director

The Christian Rural Overseas Program, an agent of Church World Service, now offers twenty dollars of relief to the destitute people of other lands for each dollar that you contribute. Twenty bales of cotton will go to war-weary Korea for every bale of cotton you may give. A ton of grain will go to starving people for every 100 pounds of grain that you give.

This tremendous increase comes out of government surplus commodities and helps to reduce these surpluses. The government has already set aside the commodities. Your gift (1 in 20 parts) moves the surplus into the hands of those who are unable to buy them.

Has there ever been a time when so little would provide so much? Can anyone refuse to help under such favorable conditions? Now is the time! Let a land of plenty that has been spared the ravages of war and starvation come to the aid of those who through no fault of their own (Continued on last page).

If a voluminous 30-page report ground out this week by County Home Demonstration Agent Corinne Stinson and County Agent Joe Jones is any indication, rural Parmer County made big strides on many fronts during the past year. Of foremost importance is the notation by Agent Jones that the county income climbed to an estimated $25,000,000 in 1954. This represents a 20-percent increase over the $20,000,000 income in 1953, in spite of reduced acreage on two basic crops grown under the government control system.

Also of topmost interest, especially to women on the farm, is the re-activation of home demonstration and 4-H work, after a lapse of 11 years in the county.

Miss Corinne Stinson has been very busy organizing her programs since she first came here several months ago. Fourteen home demonstration clubs have been formed since May, in addition to ten 4-H clubs. It is encouraging to note that farmers of the county have managed to better themselves in the face of adverse circumstances. In a period of generally declining farm income and continued extremely dry weather, they have managed to raise the rural standard of living by increasing the county income. Many new farm homes have been built as a result of the tremendous development of irrigation in the area.

Irrigated land alone accounted for over $22,000,000 of the estimated income. The Agent breaks this figure down like this: $11,500,000 for grain sorghums (190,000 acres at 3,000 pounds per acre); $8,500,000 for cotton (50,000 bales at a bale per acre); $1,500,000 for wheat (750,000 bushels at $2 per bushel); and $500,000 for sudan (5,000 acres at 1000 pounds per acre).

Not considered was minor production of silage, alfalfa hay, cane seed, irrigated pasture, barley, potatoes, and a host of other minor items.

"Generally speaking, farmers are well off financially under the present price support system," says Jones, but added, "Farmers are a bit pessimistic about the outlook for 1955 with a still more drastic reduction in cotton acreage facing them and with lower prices on grain sorghums."

The facts don't show too much pessimism, however, as the agent estimates that the county will have from 1800 to 1900 wells in operation by May 1 of next year. "This," he says, "will put about 75 to 80 percent of the farm land in the county under irrigation."

Here is the way the two workers break down their year of activity: H-D Work

Miss Stinson has 242 women enrolled in the fourteen HD clubs which she supervises in the communities of Lakeview, Rhea, Hi-Point, Parmerton, Hub, Bovina, Lazbuddie, Northside, Farwell, Black, Greenacres, Midway, Friona, and Oklahoma Lane.

"The women have accepted the leadership for the work of the clubs readily and as a whole the interest and enthusiasm has been high," she says.

The supervisory organization of the clubs is the HD council, which was started in August. Committees overseeing projects such as the yearbook and finances are drawn from this council. Demonstrators have been or are being selected for the two major demonstrations to be started in 1955: living room improvement and clothing.

4-H Work
There are 248 girls enrolled in the ten 4-H Clubs, with 15 adult workers assisting Miss Stinson. Cited as achievements during the year were a rally day in July in which 80 girls participated; a dress revue in which 82 girls participated; and 32 girls exhibited cooking in the county 4-H better baking contest at the County Fair.

The County agent, who oversees work for 4-H boys, reports that enrollment in the four county clubs has been on the increase within the past few years, pointing for an all-time high in 1955. "The purpose of 4-H work is to make better farmers and better citizens of the boys taking part," says Agent Jones.

In order to participate in the yearly encampment, it is necessary for 4-H boys to organize and complete a project.

Crops—Cotton
Of the 56,000 acres planted to cotton in 1955, about 10 percent was destroyed by the weather, says Agent Jones. During the year the agent organized 10 community meetings and two county-wide meetings to discuss problems relating to producing the crop.

Similar meetings are planned next year even though the cotton acreage will be reduced further. Grain Sorghums
Farmers planted more of their irrigated and dry land to this crop than any other during the past three years, says the county agent. "Cotton and other irrigated crops would about equal or exceed the acreage of grain sorghums on irrigated land were it not for controls," he says.

Problems facing the grain sorghum farmer:

1. Lowering production on land irrigated several years.
2. Lack of an assured price support program high enough to guarantee a reasonable income.
3. The fact that grain sorghum required so much water during hot summer months.

Methods of overcoming these difficulties are being exercised by farmers. Some are now planning their cropping systems to include fertilizers and legumes, says Jones.

Wheat
Wheat has for many years been one of the major crops in the county, according to the agent. "As irrigation came into reality, wheat no longer took the roll it had played under dryland," he says. (Continued on last page).

HD Agent Corinne Stinson, left, and County Agent Joe Jones, right, check over some phases of the annual report which they made public this week. It's a real job to get all this information together, they say.

Parmer County FB Will Not Protest Cotton Allotment

"As a county unit of the Texas Farm Bureau, we have gone on record as stating that we believe Parmer County cotton growers have been fairly dealt with."

So said Parmer FB President Aubra Ellison this week after a meeting of the group in which they decided against pressing for further increases in the 1955 cotton allotment.

Ellison said the Bureau recognized that over one-third of the 1955 allotment came from the "trend" factor, an optional feature of the allotment program designed to help relieve inequities arising in newly developing areas.

"Henry Marshall, the ASC state administrator, told us that Parmer County is the fastest developing cotton area in the state," said Ellison, adding, "and because of this, we got the largest percentage trend consideration."

"We have admiration for the ASC committeemen who have a difficult job to perform," said the president, "and unless we see that we are justly entitled to more acreage, we will not request it."

FFA SELLS TREES

Farwell FFA officers met in a called session Friday night and discussed the budget for the group. Dean Jones, reporter, emphasizes that the FFA has Christmas trees for sale and patrons may buy a tree by contacting any FFA boy.

Texico Takes Bid On Water Tower

The Town of Texico last week accepted the bid of the Pittsburgh-Demoinese Steel Company for construction of an all-steel welded tank as the first unit in its planned improvement program including a water system and sewer system.

The firm bid $18,940 on the structure, and agreed to have it erected within 180 days. The tank, spherical in design, will have a 50,000-gallon capacity and rise 90 feet above the ground (measured from the bottom of the tank).

It will be located on the city park area in the block south of the Baptist Church.

The city commission will advertise for bids on the remainder of the program at its meeting next Monday night. Bonds in the amount of $120,000 have been sold, and the money is on deposit in a Clovis bank, says Scott Levins, mayor.

Texico-Farwell Cagers To Battle Tuesday

Texico and Farwell basketball teams, both boys and girls, will play one another Tuesday night on the Texico court, starting at 7:30.

Because of their impressive early season record, the Steers are favored to win over the Wolverines, with the Farwell boys having a 7-1 win record to a two win and four loss record for Texico.

Records of past games for the girls were not available.

Texico-Farwell Lions Bear Down on Sales

A money-raising project involving a bicycle to be given to some person between halves of the Texico-Farwell basketball game Tuesday night, Dec. 21, was discussed at the meeting of the local Lions club last Thursday evening.

In the absence of a regular program, the members heard reports from Lion President John Getz relating to several subjects.

Members plan to bear down on ticket sales for the free bicycle between now and the date of the game.

L. E. McKillip Sale Is Scheduled Today

The farm auction sale of L. E. (Lawrence) McKillip will be this morning (Thursday) at 10 o'clock, say Doshier & Francis, who are conducting the event.

McKillip has a big listing of several categories, including machinery, cattle, feed, irrigation supplies, farm tools, poultry, household furnishings, registered hogs, and miscellaneous.

The listing is headed by two tractors. Further details are in an ad found on inside pages.

New York and San Francisco Fairs commemorated the 150th anniversary of George Washington's inauguration.

Yule Activities In Full Swing

Christmas activities in Texico-Farwell were in full swing this week, as clubs began rounds of parties, and church organizations began plans for the special religious observances.

Santa Claus was in town Saturday to talk to the youngsters and distribute bags of goodies to the boys and girls. Despite high winds and cold, the bearded gentleman was surrounded by anxious youngsters during the afternoon. About 1000 treats were given away during the day. Santa's visit to the Twin Cities was sponsored by ESA.

Colored lights over main street were installed Saturday, also, and turned on for the first time that night. Also, a nativity scene, sponsored by a group of business people has been set up across from Security State Bank, and adds color to the season.

Schools are to be dismissed for the annual Christmas vacation with Farwell students to be given a vacation from Friday afternoon, December 17, to January 3. Mrs. Shelby Jobs will be in charge of the high school program, to be held Friday afternoon, before the annual Christmas tree.

Texico Schools will be dismissed Wednesday, December 22 and students will return to school January 1, to resume studies. Special programs have not yet been announced.

Cotton Men Vote For '55 Controls

Cotton growers of Parmer County said "yes" to the question of whether they are in favor of support prices with accompanying acreage controls for the 1955 crop.

Voting in a referendum Tuesday, along with all other growers in 27 states, Parmer County cotton men voted in favor of continuing the present system 208 to 16.

The voting by boxes: Friona, 67-2; Lazbuddie, 47-2; Bovina, 33-6; Farwell 61-6.

Grandmother of Mrs. Phillips Passes Away

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Phillips were in Ft. Worth Thursday to attend services for Mrs. Phillips' grandmother, Mrs. W. A. Bigby, 82. Mrs. Bigby had been ill for a long period of time.

The local family returned home Friday. Craig, young son of the Phillips, remained in Ft. Worth with relatives.

HAS SURGERY

Mrs. Lizzie Engram, who underwent surgery recently, is now recuperating. Her daughter, Mrs. R. A. Boddy of Santa Fe, was at her bedside at the time of her operation. If her health permits, a reunion is planned in the Ed Engram home at Christmas time.

Sorghum Prop 70% for 1955

Area grain sorghum producers, who have had a "what's up, Doc" attitude over what the 1955 farm program would present, learned this week that the support price for the commodity which they produce would be 70 percent of parity next year.

Support prices for 1954 as in other recent years, were pegged at 85 percent, or $2.20 locally (minus storage). On that basis, farmers are expecting about $1.70 per hundred (also minus storage) to be a pretty good figure to guess at for next year, even though the formula for figuring parity may undergo some alterations in the meantime.

Grain sorghums constitute one of the most important of all crops in this part of the High Plains. In Parmer County, their gross income exceeded all other crops during the past year. Their response to irrigation has lent them especially well to the farming program within recent years, and the feed grain has been stealing headlines from wheat, the old dryland standby.

Grain sorghum production has been without government control, and an estimated 270,000 acres were planted to that crop in 1954, in Parmer County. With further reductions in wheat and cotton allotments, and the steadily increasing amount of land being put under irrigation, the acreage in this area, at least, is expected to increase even more in 1955.

"Cross compliance," the regulation which would have deprived a farmer of supports on all commodities grown in the event he overplanted one crop, has gone out the window, and may open up avenues for new crops which would be grown on acres taken out of production through controls.

The word is out, however, that farmers will be required to stay within all acreage allotments in order to make themselves eligible for ACP payments designed to encourage conservation practices.

ACP chairman Joe Camp, when contacted Tuesday, said he had received no official confirmation of this matter, but added that he felt that "it probably would be that way, all right."

Christmas Concert By Bovina Band

Gay tunes familiar with the Christmas season will fill the air of downtown Bovina Monday night when the high school band, under the direction of Mrs. Patricia Collins, will present a special concert.

The band will march through town with a short parade at about 7 o'clock, she says, and Bovina businesses will remain open to help generate interest for the event.

IMPORTANT: The story appearing in the Bovina news section which says that Santa Claus will be in town Friday, Dec. 24, is incorrect.

Jo Dawn Horton, Bovina correspondent, emphasizes that the date should read Friday, Dec. 17.

Both Texico '42' Teams Are Defeated

Both Texico "42" teams suffered defeat in competition Monday evening. The Gilean team bowed to Grady 39½-32½, and the Spears team lost to the Field group to the tune of 33-39.

Both teams will go to Center on Monday night for games.

STEEL ARRIVES

Steel for the new gymnasium on the Farwell School campus, has arrived, and most of the heavy steel is already in place. Work is progressing on the new building, after several weeks delay because of lack of steel.

Farwell Teams To Be Busy this Week

Farwell basketball teams have a tournament and will meet teams from two other schools in the coming week, according to the basketball schedule.

This weekend will find the boys and girls entered in the Lazbuddie tournament, and Monday evening, the boys and girls will go to Morton, with play beginning at 7:30 in the evening. Tuesday will be the annual games between Texico and Farwell on the Texico court.

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

New-Car Madness Rampant in the Land

If there's one thing Americans positively refuse to do, it is walk—anywhere they don't absolutely have to. In fact, the thing has developed to such an extent that they demand to be "in style" with one of the latest automobiles fresh from Detroit even if it means putting the family on a bread-and-water diet for 18 months.

A very good illustration of this fact is the obvious mania with which the new models from auto manufacturers are being received across the nation.

Instead of the coffee table questions sounding like "Wonder who'll win the Cotton Bowl this year?" is it now "Have you seen the new Thunderbird," or "How do you like that new Chevrolet V-8," or "Plymouth has really shot the works this year, don't you think?"

All of which is very typically American. Our consumption for the luxuries of life is a fabulous factor in the eyes of the world. Why we will go slap-happy over a couple of tons of machinery (which in most cases we can't immediately afford) is more than others can imagine.

The automobile industry is basic for America.

If You Don't Dig This Hint You'll Be Out of this World

"When the glow goes, whether you're strictly by hoof or on wheels, dig yourself the most, man, and cut that chassis juice or you'll be real gone!"

This cryptic bit of advice in teen-talk was given today by Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association, and Services Advisor for the Gulf Oil Corporation.

Roughly translated, it means, "When you walk or drive after sundown be cautious, take it easy, if you want to stay alive."

While Col. Tilley used the current vernacular of young people, his comment is intended for people of all ages, he said.

"Nighttime is dangerous in traffic," he said. "The National Safety Council estimates that the mileage death rate in an average year is two to three times as great at night as in daylight."

"This is the reason," he said, "for the special emphasis given to the theme 'Night Traffic Hazards' in the October traffic safety program being conducted locally by the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety, and the National Safety Council.

"The month-long program has been planned," he said, "to help people become more aware of the hazards encountered in driving and walking near traffic after sundown, and to teach them safe practices when they must travel at night."

"Actually," he said, "more people are killed in traffic accidents during the hours of twilight, darkness and dawn than are killed in such accidents during daylight."

"And this fact seems even more significant when it is considered that less driving is done during the hours of darkness."

The high traffic death rate at nights prevail in both city and country, according to Col. Tilley.

"In 1953," he said, "more than half of all urban and rural traffic deaths occurred at night."

"And the most dangerous time of all is the hours of 5 to 8 p. m.," said Col. Tilley. Of all fatal traffic accidents last year, one out of five occurred during these three hours.

"Neither drivers nor pedestrians can see as well after sundown," he said, "and they must compensate for their reduced vision with increased caution if they are to avoid accident."

"The best advice in any nighttime traffic situation," he said "is contained in the October slogan: 'Cut Your Speed after Dark.'"

We had just "sugar" in the recipe, but Mrs. Langford says if brown sugar is used, the cake will be more moist. Hope we didn't mess up someone's good try at a recipe.

We were getting a story from W. M. Roberts on the senior class party last week. Mr. Roberts is a sponsor of the class and was more than glad to help us.

But he was a little vague on some of the details. He didn't seem to know much about the games played or other facts of the party. Finally he confided that the wrestling on television was very good that evening, and he and A. T. Watts became pretty engrossed in that.

He was at the party all right, but we still don't know much about the party proper. Want to know who won the fight?

Uncle Tom Randol was in the shop the first of the week, and said for the first time in the past years, he will not be sending any Christmas cards. "I'm in the drought-stricken area," he told us jokingly "and I gotta go slow."

Southern Union Man Says Appliances Will Rise As Gifts

This holiday season will see more major appliances given for Christmas gifts than ever before, according to Tom Wagner, town plant manager of Southern Union Gas Company in Farwell.

The rise, Wagner said, is due to the fact that more families are thinking in terms of "family living" and convenience.

One of the most popular gifts for Christmas is the automatic gas range for mother. Style, durability and convenience have been combined to market the gas range a part of the "living-kitchen." Gas ranges are available in copper finish, stainless steel, and white, black and colored porcelain to add new beauty to the ultramodern, new freedom gas kitchen, says Wagner.

For added convenience the new gas ranges have automatic clock-control, which starts and stops the oven automatically, and a pot-watcher that turns the top burners on and off, automatically. Other conveniences on the modern gas ranges include big, double ovens and a built-in griddle. The broiler offers closed-door smokeless broiling... a feature that is available only on gas ranges. With the center simmer type top burners, the gas ranges offer the homemaker complete flexibility of heat, positive adjustment and even heat distribution.

For convenience the year-around, the automatic gas "ice-maker" refrigerator is an ideal gift for Christmas morning, says Wagner. It is really three great appliances in one—a refrigerator, freezer and "ice-maker." Everything about the "ice-maker" is automatic. It starts itself, refills itself, and stops itself.

The spacious full-size refrigerator has roomy twin fresheners to keep those fresh vegetables and fruits crisp. Quick-chilled desserts and molded salads are easily stored in the quick-cold shelf. With the convenience of the large interior, the homemaker can store food on the roomy shelves, in the double crispers and the in-a-door shelves. "Lock-in" notches permit moving shelves up or down to suit the storage needs. The removable half-shelf provides space for bulky items such as the holiday fowl.

With the roomy freezer compartment in the automatic "ice-maker," the homemaker has plenty of space for keeping a large supply of frozen foods on hand for day-to-day use. It is like having a separate home freezer.

For holiday entertaining, the man of the house will never need to worry about having enough ice cubes. The "ice-maker" replaces them—automatically—as soon as they are removed. The basket holds a plentiful supply for everyday needs and for large parties. The ice circles can be stored in the freezer compartment.

Safety does not cost anything until you've neglected it.

Take care, not chances; chance takers are accident makers.

Excluding the Presidents who were assassinated, three U. S. Presidents have died in office.

Christmas Programs Highlight Activities As Many Groups Prepare Presentations

Christmas programs of various types are being prepared by various church, school and civic groups this week, as the Yuletide season rapidly approaches its climax.

The season's special attractions were started last Thursday evening at the high school auditorium, when a large crowd gathered to enjoy the yearly concert presentation of the high school band, directed by J. D. Frye.

Tonight (Thursday), the school will again be the scene of activities, when members of the elementary school will take part in a Christmas program. Miss Elsie Lou Ritter has charge of the affair, and all patrons of the school are urged to attend.

Baptist Program Sunday
Special worship services are being planned at the First Baptist Church for Sunday evening, December 19, when an hour-long pageant, "The Story of Christmas," is to be given with a cast embracing all departments in the church school.

Mrs. Ralph Smith, chairman of the group in charge of the program, reported on Monday that the complete story of Christmas is to be related in readings and songs, featuring the junior and adult choirs. Principals in the cast will be Jerrod Sheek as Joseph, Johnnie Tomlin as Mary; Raymond Euler, Charles Allen and Tim Magness as the three wise men; Jo Nell Wood as the "littlest" angel, and Evelyn Rea as an angel.

Some twenty individuals will have parts in the pageant, with all to be in costume. Youngsters of the church will make up the heralds and trumpeters, Mrs. Smith added. The program is to begin at 8 o'clock and the public is invited.

"The Small One," 22nd Basing their actions on the story, "The Small One," by Charles Tolwell, young people of the town will give their interpretation in songs, dances and short talks. This program is to be given in the high school auditorium on Wednesday evening, December 22.

The charming story principally concerns the little donkey which is quite often almost unnoticed in the Christmas story, and is laid in Mexico, as a tale being recounted to youngsters. Approximately 30 young people will take parts, with Mrs. Cason Dunn serving as choreographer for some original dances, and several Spanish songs will be included.

Proceeds from the presentation will go toward a swimming pool, and admission has been set at $1 for adults and 50c for students. Advance sale of tickets will be made at Ethridge-Spring agency, downtown, or at the high school.

Methodist Program Slated
Concluding the series of special events, the Methodist Church will hold its program Thursday evening, December 23, beginning at 7:30. "Putting Christ in Christmas" might well be the theme of the original script being worked out for the program, which will feature an average family preparing for Christmas.

As the story unfolds, Dad stresses to the youngsters that Christmas is not all "getting," bringing out the thought that Christmas is celebrated because of the birth of Christ, who came to "give" to the world. Various tableaux will be formed as the family talks about its plans.

Santa's Visit Will Come on Dec. 21

Plans for the seasonal visit from Old Saint Nick have been announced for Tuesday, December 21, with the bewhiskered gentleman to put in his appearance in downtown Friona at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Members of the local Legion Post, serving as assistants in arranging for the visit, are getting treats ready for Santa to hand out to the young fry of the community. School children will hit town at 3:15 to visit with their friend.

In downtown Friona, a beautiful Nativity scene has been arranged in the city park, through the cooperation of several local civic groups. Near life-size figures are used, with the old Scout hut serving as the background for the tableau.

Decorating in earnest began the early part of the week, with strings of greenery and colored lights being put up over the business section, and the majority of business houses were already in the spirit of things with decorated windows and inside displays.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Collier and family and Mrs. G. A. Collier returned their sister and daughter, Mrs. Tedford, to her home in Arkansas last week. She had been in Friona about two weeks.

Chiefs Lose Two Games This Week

Friona Chiefs suffered two defeats last week, at the hands of the Muleshoe Mules and the Farwell Steers.

The Chiefs were hosts to Muleshoe Tuesday of last week and began the game on even keel with their opponents, the score standing 9-9 at the end of the first quarter.

By halftime, the visitors had a margin of 23-12 and the final score was 53-40 in favor of Muleshoe. Playing on the Farwell court this week, the boys lost their rabbit's foot at the beginning of the game, and permitted Farwell to outscore them 67-36.

In the B game with Farwell, Friona again was on the low end of the tally, losing the tilt 41-29. Friona led by one point at halftime, but Farwell surged ahead in the third to take the game.

Naming of Slogan Winner Postponed

Due to a lengthy program and illness of one of the committeemen, naming of a winner in the slogan contest sponsored by the local Lions Club has been postponed to the first January meeting of the club, officials reported today.

At the regular meeting last Thursday night, Bob Blatz, district manager of General Telephone Co., of Littlefield, was the guest speaker, giving some of the background of the development of the telephone company in this area, and then concluding with a question and answer period in which members participated.

In contrasting "then" and "now," Blatz pointed out that back around 1940, there were only 79 telephones in Friona proper, while the local set-up now handles a total of 483 subscribers—all using dial phones.

Friona Fire Department recently ordered a radio to be installed on the city's fire truck, according to Roy Wilson, one of the fire fighters.

Wilson explained that although the department did not have a base locally for sending and receiving radio messages, such equipment on the truck would enable the department to send out emergency calls which could be picked up by Hereford, Dimmitt or Farwell, as the case might be, and relayed via telephone into Friona.

Delivery of the equipment is expected within four to six weeks, it was reported.

with the gang

The epitome of luxury for expectant gilts has been reached on the "ag" farm near Friona, it was revealed today, with recent construction of a maternity home for Mama Pig and her babies. And to keep up with this improvement, one of the FFA chapter's preggy piggies cooperated beautifully in freezing temperature on Sunday night by delivering her ten babies in warm, sterile surroundings.

J. T. Gee, Friona ag director, is as proud of that new "central farrowing house" as most people would be a brand-new building, and points out with pride that now Mama Pig can be comfortable and warm (there's a heater, if you please), and at the same time, safeguards have been planned to keep her from calmly wallowing on her newborn and crushing them to death.

Nice Christmas thought: Instead of exchanging gifts this year, Friona high school students are bringing cash contributions upward to $1 which they will put into the hospital fund for the city.

Eva Marie Parker was having a slightly frantic time at one of the local cafes, Monday morning, trying to keep up with the coffee trade. Filling in for the usual waitress, out because of illness, Eva Marie got fouled up with her coffee making and was having to rush back and forth to the kitchen with a three-quart container carrying heated coffee. "If it ain't good, I'll give you another cup, free," she gasped to waiting customers.

Addie Moyer was downtown Monday morning, and couldn't help gloating to us about her new granddaughter. Started to show pictures of the six-month-old and discovered that grandpa Joe had rifled her purse for the same. Anyway, Addie says, the young lady is quite a deal. She's the daughter of the Lindsay Johnsons, who live in San Francisco. The Moyers, incidentally, only recently returned from a month-long visit in California.

Scoutmaster Steve Bavousett reports that the Christmas trees being offered locally by the Boy Scouts are "moving slow," and urged that all local residents buy their trees from the youngsters, who have invested a pretty good sum in their project.

Roy V. Miller is here for a visit with the folks, Eva and Roy Sr., and on Monday looked like anything but a Lt. (j. g.). As usual, Roy V. didn't come in empty-handed. Last time he was home he brought the younger Millers a goat (which Eva is still living with), and this time he dragged in a 65-pound Doberman pincer. Just who is going to pay the grocery bill for this latest addition hadn't been settled this week.

Wesley Foster was almost down to nothing as far as eyelashes were concerned this week, the result of sticking his face into the lower part of a stubborn gas water heater at the Foster home. According to Wesley, the pesky thing kept going out and he kept lighting it, till came the time when he didn't give the accumulation of gas sufficient time to clear out before he soused another match in. Result: some slight burns on his arms and singed hair on hands, eyebrows and lashes.

TOO MUCH BAGGAGE?

Farm fuel is the "baggage" of agriculture. For without it, the mighty production of America's farms would soon come to a stand-still. Farm fuel is like baggage because it comes in many sizes and shapes, and is suited to specific needs. The aim of any farm fuel should be maximum capacity combined with maximum flexibility.

That's where Butane really steps in for a bow, because here, truly, is a fuel without "excess baggage." Little or no investment is required on the part of the farmer to make use of this wonderful product, and it serves him in hundreds of ways.

YOUNG COUPLE MARRIED

Mildred Meissner Weds A-2C Pulju

Miss Mildred Meissner and A-2C Wallace E. Pulju exchanged wedding vows recently in the St. John Lutheran Church at Lariat, with Rev. Louis Pabor, Lubbock pastor, officiating for the double-ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Meissner of Farwell.

Music for the ceremony was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Steffen of Lubbock. Mrs. Steffen, organist, played pre-nuptial selections, traditional wedding marches, and was accompanied for her husband, vocalist. He sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "A Prayer."

Background for the ceremony was formed by large baskets of pink and white mums, accented by palms, and candelabra containing the pink and white tapers. The wedding party stood before the two-tiered floral arrangement.

Mr. Meissner gave his daughter in marriage. Her wedding gown was an original model of white nylon tulle over net and taffeta designed with a portrait neckline, which was framed with a cuff of upstanding lace filled in with pleated tulle.

Tiny sleeves were completed with gauntlets worn over the hands, and the tightly fitted bodice was terminated with a center point at the waistline, into which extended the billowing skirt of layers of tulle over taffeta with a bouffant hipline emphasized by hoops and crinoline.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a pillbox of net embroidered with iridescent sequins, rhinestones and pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses.

Miss Agnes Meissner, the bride's sister, was her honor attendant. She wore a pink ballerina-length gown of net over taffeta with a fitted waistline and full skirt, with the ensemble accented by a net over taffeta bolero. Her colonial bouquet of white pom pom mums was accented by matching maline and ribbon and her bandeau was of mums also.

Bridesmaids were Miss Edna Isabel of Clovis, cousin of the bride, and Miss Elyne Manthey, a friend of the bride from Lubbock. Their dresses were fashioned after the one worn by the maid-of-honor, in a soft blue. Their colonial bouquets and headbands matched their dresses. Bridesmaids also served as candelighters.

Attending the bridegroom were Calvin Meissner, brother of the bride, best man; and Loyd Kriegel of Muleshoe and Arthur Hasehoff of Farwell, cousins of the bride, ushers.

Mrs. Meissner, mother of the bride, wore an ensemble of soft blue crepe, with winter white accessories, and a white carnation.

A reception was held in the Parish Hall immediately following the ceremony. The house party included the bridesmaids who served wedding cake and punch to about 150 guests; and Janice Meissner, sister of the bride, who presided at the guest book.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a four-tiered wedding cake, which was topped with miniature figurines. Minute decorative bells and hearts, and dashes of pink and white icing were featured on the cake.

A-2c and Mrs. Pulju will reside in Lubbock, where she has been employed by an abstract company, and where he is stationed at Reese Air Force Base.

The bride is a 1949 graduate of Farwell Schools and attended Draughan's Business College in Lubbock. The bridegroom is in the service, and has one more year to serve before his discharge.

For her going-away ensemble, Mrs. Pulju chose a tan shantung suit with matching accessories. The young couple planned a trip to Graham where her brother resides, and to the bridegroom's home in Manahaga, Minn.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kriegel and family of Seminole, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Teinert of Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. William Haseloff and family of Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Haseloff and family of Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Haseloff of Levelland; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schueler and Lillian of Friona; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schueler and sons of Friona; Mr. and Mrs. L. Bon Voyage Is Theme of Shower

Pink and silver predominated in the decorative motif for a pre-nuptial bridal shower honoring Miss Jo Ann Williams, bride-elect of Lt. Don Trautman, Friday evening in the home of Mrs. L. R. Vincent.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames Glenn Phillips, Sam Rundell, John Porter, Clyde Magness, W. H. Graham Jr. and Vincent, assisted by Mrs. Don Williams. Mrs. Bert Williams, sister-in-law of the honoree, presided at the guest book.

The arrangement was outlined in white satin dotted with silver spray and pink carnations. Pink tapers in crystal holders and crystal appointments completed the table theme.

Further accenting the color scheme was a Christmas arrangement of angels and candles on the buffet, and a floral display of pink snapdragons and silver carnations on the mantel in the living room. In the bedroom where the gifts were displayed was a mirrored poem entitled "Recipe for Happiness."

Pink sugar cookies shaped as wedding bells and pink lemonade were served with pink mints and nuts to guests. Pink napkins were inscribed with the names "Jo Ann and Don" in silver letters.

Uncle Tom Serves Ham Dinner Tuesday

Uncle Tom Randol had a pre-Christmas celebration Tuesday when he decided to entertain his son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Randol, and his daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Johnson, with a dinner.

Uncle Tom, who is in his 80's, prepared the meal by himself, with a menu of baked ham, baked potatoes, bread and butter, cake, peaches and lots of coffee.

The cake turned out fine, says Uncle Tom, in fact the women remarked that it was better than they could bake.

"I bought those package rolls" Uncle Tom admitted "but I still take credit for cooking all the dinner."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(Editors Note: The following letter is from Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Butler, now of Sweetwater. He was former Methodist pastor here, and his friends will be interested in knowing what he is doing now, we feel sure).

9840 Sweetwater
Nov. 22, 1954

Mrs. Jeanne Graham,
Farwell, Texas

Dear Good Friends:

When we received the complimentary copy of The Tribune, our heart lifted up with joy, for we dearly love to hear from our friends in your fair and lovely community. Then your letter came, and we further rejoiced.

Since our retirement came, and the consequent ending of income, we have curtailed expenses considerably, but I hardly think we can much longer get along without the State Line Tribune.

The portion of our lives which we spent in your community was perhaps the happiest period of our lives. We love the very soil upon which you live "Gods Good Earth" and the people there are exceptionally dear to our hearts.

We have no earthly place that we can rightfully call our home, and yet we have three homes.

First—our great, good church has put a roof over our heads in a small cottage in Sweetwater.

Second—We are always at home with our beloved daughter, Elizabeth, here in San Antonio where we spend much of our time. She is a medical technologist and has gone a long way in serology.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Getting ready for Christmas is half the fun. Be sure to picture the preparations so your holiday snapshots will tell a complete story.

Make a Christmas Album

In many households, taking pictures for a special family Christmas album has become a tradition, taking its place alongside such time-honored customs as hanging up stockings and kisses under the mistletoe.

Christmas is a gay and sentimental time of the year... and the idea of a family picture book devoted to the season seems to fit right in with the Yuletide spirit.

You may think we're jumping the gun a little bit, to be talking about Christmas pictures today, but we want to be sure you don't wait until Christmas day—or even Christmas week—to start taking your pictures. If you do, you'll miss many of the things that make the holiday season something to which we look forward, and something to remember.

After all, Christmas isn't just a day, is it? I think most of you will agree with me that it's a series of sparkling days, each one brimming full of exciting plans, intriguing secrets, and top-notch picture opportunities.

These opportunities are as bright and numerous as the lights and ornaments on the Christmas tree which will be a focal point for many of the snapshots. All through the house, people, if not mice, are stirring... work becomes play... and a gay mood prevails, putting your favorite people in the very best frame of mind for being photographed.

As soon as the first Santas appear and the carollers are practicing "Silent Night" is the time to start the picture record. To make this record just as interesting as possible, it is a good idea to jot down some of the things you want to include in advance. This will do away with the forgetting that affects all of us from time to time. Of course, you'll do much of the shooting on the spur-of-the-moment. So, be sure to have plenty of film and flash bulbs in the house throughout the holiday season. I don't believe there is anything much more disappointing than to see a picture you want and find that the camera supply shelf is just as bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard.

Dollars Drip from Leaking Faucets

With the demand for water setting a new peak, the importance of water conservation by preventing unnecessary leakage is stressed by many communities.

Water conservation is particularly important during the summer months when demand for water is at the highest point.

One of the most important offenders in wasting water is the leaking faucet. The amount of water wasted by leaking faucets is illustrated above.

A leaking faucet is an annoyance and an expense, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau points out. The waste of water not only means higher water bills but also causes the waste of fuel used to heat water. If the water in the home is softened, loss from leakage will necessitate more frequent regeneration and cause inconvenience to the housewife through the unanticipated lack of soft water on laundering day. Furthermore, if the water has a high mineral content, the steady drip will cause discoloration of the plumbing fixtures. Many older faucets are beyond the repair stage. It is usually cheaper to replace old faucets than to attempt to repair them.

★ PLUGS —From Paul—

The absent-minded professor stopped in to see his doctor. The doctor felt his pulse and said "now let me see your tongue." The professor complied. "It looks all right," continued the doctor, "but why the postage stamp?" "Ah!" beamed the professor gratefully, "so that's where I left it."

A thing of beauty has a boy friend forever.

With Christmas only around the corner, you are buying presents for everybody. Everybody but that faithful old car, that is. Make this a happy Christmas for your auto by treating it to the BEST—found at Strickland's, of course.

Mustangs Defeat Big Teams To Win Happy Tournament

Bovina did well in the roll of giant-slayer last week, knocking off three "double-A" schools and winning the Happy invitational tournament while doing it.

Falling before the stout offense of the Mustangs were Hereford, Canyon and Tulia. None were beaten by fewer than two points.

Canyon, first opponent at the tournament, topped 62-58, with Calaway, Bovina forward, leading the offensive with 17 points. Nebrett of Canyon had 16.

Next to go under was Tulia, 51-49. High scorer in this game was Tucker of Tulia with 20 points, and Smith of Bovina, a guard, netted 14.

For the championship, it was Hereford against Bovina, and the Whitefaces were rapped 65-58 by the Mustangs. Calaway again led with 18, and Boyd had 28.

To prove that the defeat of the Hereford team was no fluke, Bovina defeated them in a game outside of the tournament last week 56-49, Boyd scoring 25 points and Smith 13.

Bovina PTA Has Special Program

Bovina PTA held its regular meeting Monday at the Baptist church. A large group was in attendance for one of the most interesting and entertaining programs of the year.

Mrs. June Rhodes opened the meeting by introducing the leader for the evening, Mrs. Earl Stevenson, who outlined the program of entertainment. Mrs. Harold Collins and Mrs. Frank Truitt were in charge of the program.

Mrs. Harold Hawkins directed a chorus, which she had recently formed, in Christmas songs. The group, consisting of Wanette Turner, Larue Horton, Janie Alverson, June Hanna, Sue Moody, Barbara Garrett, Sue Hoffer, Mrs. Ed Hutto, Dyalhia Bradshaw, and Evelyn Joyce Steelman, presented a very effective scene as they mounted to the choir section in the darkened auditorium, each with a lighted candle.

Mrs. Frank Truitt presented a story comparing Christmases. Mrs. Harold Collins presented two of her band students, James Stevens, who played a number on the trombone, and Kay Robertson, who sang two Christmas songs.

Rev. Virgil Goodwin, pastor of the Bovina Baptist Church, was guest speaker for the evening. His subject was "To Insure Domestic Tranquility."

He stated that most behavior problems in the classroom stem directly from home and a lack of discipline on the part of the parents.

A short business session followed the program. Mrs. Marie Venable was appointed chairman of a project committee. It was decided that, at the January meeting, each member would bring one prospective member, in an effort to increase membership.

Mexican Supper Is Birthday Social

In honor of his birthday, Julius Bradshaw had a Mexican supper with all the trimmings recently in his home. The candles on the cake were arranged to serve as a fence and inside the fence was a bull and matador made of cookies. The cake was the centerpiece on the supper table.

Following the supper, the guests and honoree attended a movie. The guests were Denny Ware, Sandy Martin, Dickie Steelman, Beverly Roberts, Terry Adams, Kay Leake, and Sandra Rhinehart.

PLAN BAKE SALE

The FHA is having a bake sale Saturday, Dec. 18, at Wilson's grocery store. The sale will feature Christmas cookies, candies and Cokes.

Santa Will Visit Bovina City Park On Christmas Eve

The civic committee of the Bovina Woman's Study Club is sponsoring the lighting and decorating of the Christmas tree in the city park this year.

At 6:00 p. m. on Friday, Christmas eve, Santa Claus will come to the park on the fire truck to pass out candies and other goodies.

The blue spruce tree in the park that will be decorated was purchased and set out by the Bovina Woman's Study Club. The Lions Club is helping with Santa and the Christmas treats.

Fashion Revue Presented Tuesday

The Future Homemakers of America of Bovina sponsored a fashion revue Tuesday night, Dec. 7, at the Legion Hall.

Fashions modeled were the garments made by the girls in home-making classes. Several girls who aren't taking home-making this year, modeled fashions from Williams' and Harman's Ready-to-Wear.

The setting for the revue was the living room of a home with a Christmas tree and packages, where Donna Jean Hobdy and Pat Burnam were making Christmas wishes for wardrobe needs for the holidays.

As Donna fell asleep, the models presented the fashion revue.

Mrs. Doris Wilson and Helen Hartzog provided appropriate background music for the revue.

Vocal numbers by Kay Hartzog, Kay Leake and the Wilsonaires Trio added much to the success of the show.

Cake and punch were served to a large audience of parents and friends.

The Homemaking III girls planned the fashion revue as their class project.

Girls participating were Pat Burnam, Wilbur Dee Pounds, Sue Hoffer, Sandra Patton, Julia Kelso, Ellen Berry, Lois Ellison, Marie Drager, Wannette Turner, Danita Gaines, Jean Cooper, Sue Moody, Jane Wassom, Helen Hartzog, Janie Alverson, Bobbie Jean Routt, Kay Leake, Pat Lloyd, Sandra Martin, Sandra Rhinehart, Lillie Ellison, Dorothy Rodgers, Marcella Verner, Irene Drager, Beverly Roberts, Glenna Berry, Nellie Cherry, Verna Lee Hall, Dyalhia Bradshaw, Willa Mae Wilcox, and Matilda Brito.

BOVINA BUTANE SERVICE PRESENTS KNOW YOUR NEIGHBORS

Our neighbors this week are Mr. and Mrs. James Roach and family of the Oklahoma Lane community. They live northeast of that community, or about due south of Bovina.

The young couple have two children, both of whom live with them in the home. They are Judy, 12, and Jerry, 6, and both are students of Bovina Schools.

James, whose parents, the J. O. Roaches, live on an adjoining farm, says that when he came here with his folks in 1930, "This country sure looked desolate." He was born in Caddo, Oklahoma, but the family moved here from Turkey.

"I never will forget the day when we came up over the hill between here and Bovina and first saw this place. I felt pretty bad about it."

The Roaches have changed their attitudes quite a bit since those days, and now both of them feel that there is no part of the country that would satisfy them better than where they now are living.

One reason that James felt so keenly (he was eight at the time) about moving to this part of the country is that it is so flat and unbroken, and so devoid of natural cover such as brush and trees to which he had long been accustomed.

Mrs. Roach was born in Elk City, Oklahoma. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Foster, came to Oklahoma Lane in 1925, but now reside in Clovis.

The Roaches were married February 10, 1940, in Portales, and built their lovely farm home in 1952. They farm a quarter-section of their own, in addition to another one-half section in the vicinity.

Like most people, the Roaches have looked at other areas, but have decided that there is no place for them like the place where they now live.

More than any other one thing, they consider their neighbors as their greatest asset. "You can't beat the people who live out here," they say.

The neighbors were a great help to the family this fall when James became ill and could not work. They came in just at harvest time when the Roaches had the most to do and took care of everything just as though it was in the normal performance of their duties.

The favorite avocation of the family is one which would sound unusual for this part of the country: boating and water skiing. Nearby lakes like Buffalo, Alamogordo, and Conchas prove to be their favorites.

The Roaches put down their irrigation well in 1949, and although it is one of the older wells in the area, it has served them well through the dry years that have come since that time.

This well is operated on butane purchased from Bovina Butane Service, as are the heating units in the home.

"The folks at Bovina Butane Service are really nice people," the Roaches say. Mrs. Roach feels that this is especially true since one time she telephoned the business at night to tell them the fuel supply was almost exhausted, and the butane was delivered afterwards.

We are pleased to serve nice people like the Roaches in this manner whenever we can be of service. How about YOU—can we help with quality products and friendly, courteous service?

"Thanks to G-E push-button control, son— Starting our pump is easier than turning on a faucet!"

"It sure is easy to start our pumps with General Electric controls. Just push a button and the pump starts—that's all there is to it with G-E magnetic starters!"

"And you can forget about this control once it's installed. That's because its all-weather case is so well protected from rust, rain, and all kinds of weather. Even the push buttons are weather-resistant!"

"Now take the overload relays that protect our motor from overheating. They're in a special ventilated compartment so that the heat from the sun will not cause them to prematurely shut off the motor. This compartment is also protected with a rust-proof screen to keep out insects."

"All-weather protection for the control means continued protection for the motor because the control guards our motor against damage from overloads and short circuits. And the motor itself is built to last a generation or more! Its controlled bearing lubrication and sturdy cast-iron housing keep it ready for service whenever we turn it on."

"So, General Electric knows our irrigation pumping problems and has the right motor and control team to solve them completely!"

Be sure to ask your local pump dealer for G-E motors and control for your irrigation pumps!

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

At the last Farm Bureau Director's meeting in this county, unanimous endorsement was given CROP, Christian Rural Overseas Program. We hope that in the not too distant future, further activity will be evident with the enlistment of Lions Clubs, Chambers of Commerce and other civic organizations in the county.

Your American Farm Bureau sponsored the one billion dollar farm surplus foreign disposal legislation in the last session of congress. $300,000,000 in commodities was set aside from this program for distribution by charity organizations operating in areas of extreme destitution such as South Korea. The expense of distribution must be borne by the distribution agency. This is where CROP comes in, representing 35 different Christian denominations. Final distribution is made by missionary representatives of those church groups.

Bailey County, through Farm Bureau, Churches, C of C, Scouts, etc., has made great progress in the direction of supporting this program with one purpose, getting the commodities to those who really need them. They have set a goal of forty bales of cotton this year, and a large segment of that county hasn't raised any cotton for four years. This is enough to deliver about 800 bales of surplus cotton to these needy people.

Carroll Jones, District Director for CROP, was in town last week for a little while. Together, we called in the North Plains Gin and L & H Gin to discuss the program. Both of them contributed and offered assistance to you farmers who wish to make any size contribution from your gin. We are sure all other gins will cooperate with you in this program, too. Cash is acceptable, too. If you have grain in the elevator, you can designate your gift through the manager.

F. J. Deering, editor of Farmer-Stockman, writes: "Safety officials are still trying to reduce highway fatalities by blaming speed. That is a debatable conclusion in face of accidents involving one or more drinking drivers. The speed limit is the easy way out for public officials who don't want to put the blame on beer and whiskey, where much of it belongs. Next time there's a wreck piled up in front of your farm, see if there isn't some liquor involved. Then see what is done about it. Chances are you'll never see drunk driving mentioned when the charges are filed. Why not?"

Consider this: Apply thine heart unto instruction, and thine ears to the words of knowledge.

Nobody can prevent accidents, except drivers.

If you can't drive carefully, don't drive at all.

Lessen your speed and lengthen your life.

CONSERVATION BRIEFS

By Dick Barber, Clovis

Fred Case, Agronomist, stationed in Colorado, was with us a few weeks ago. While he was here Fred made a survey of this area and here are some of his observations:

Subsoil moisture conditions are good. Wheat is up to a good stand generally with sufficient top growth to make erosion control rather simple. Many areas not planted to wheat have a protective cover of drilled sorghum. The sorghum did not mature but is sufficiently high and dense to be effective in wind erosion control. Controlling spring blowing should be much easier than in previous years. Most farmers have a better wheat crop prospect than they have had for several years and should be more willing to apply protective measures as soon as conditions require it.

A number of farmers are securing income from grazing. They should be very cautious about grazing their fields too closely. Over-grazing of wheat fields will use up the subsoil moisture that will be needed next spring to produce grain. It will also remove the protective cover and excessive trampling will cause the surface soil to be in condition to start blowing sooner.

Farmers should be ready to apply emergency tillage immediately if blowing starts. Tillage should be done in strips and deep enough to form a cloddy surface. Shallow tillage and close together should never be done. It only aggravates the blowing and stirs up the surface which will cause more soil to be lost.

Bundle feed was harvested from a number of fields that did not make a grain crop. A good stubble height was left on much of this, but the density is poor because of thin stands. Stalk and stubble fields should be grazed very lightly or better still not grazed at all. Any tillage that is done on row crop land should be done between the rows with a chisel or shovel implement. This will combine the effectiveness of emergency tillage with that of the cover.

Much of the land to be summer fallowed next year will have a cover of drilled sorghum. This is the time to begin practicing stubble mulch farming. The sorghum stubble can be mulched the first year and wheat stubble the next. Many farmers now have what they have been waiting for—a good stubble to get them started practicing stubble mulch farming.

Albert Magerus has discovered a better way of getting new stands of alfalfa up. Last winter he had about 16 acres of land leveled. After the leveling was completed, he plowed and planted it several times. Last spring, he planted a crop of barley which was harvested this summer. The land irrigated good, so Albert decided that if he plowed the stubble up the land might not water quite so well. He left the barley stubble undisturbed and in the late summer he drilled alfalfa seed right in the undisturbed stubble. He planted in dry soil and irrigated to bring the alfalfa up. He got a perfect stand with only one watering.

The stubble prevented his irrigation water from washing the soil and much of the barley stubble is still there to protect his young alfalfa plants during the winter months. His only objection is that quite a bit of volunteer barley came up with the alfalfa.

Third—our son, Bob, expects us to spend much time in his home in Minden, Nebraska, where he is a physician and surgeon. By the way, he and his wife have a new son who was born on October 24.

Mrs. Butler and I are happy to recall that Bob and Elizabeth received much of their basic education in your fine schools and under the teachership of Mrs. Wren Vinyard in music. Music with them is now a much loved avocation in their fine business of living.

We shall leave San Antonio about November 29, spend a few days in Sweetwater, then on to Nebraska for Christmas and a look at our second grandson. Then we shall return to San Antonio for New Year's celebration with Elizabeth.

When again we are settled for the winter in Sweetwater early in January, 1955, we shall subscribe for your excellent paper.

We are happy, and we absolutely refuse to allow the disappointment of a forced early retirement to take any of the joys of living away from us.

Best wishes to you and yours on this Thanksgiving occasion.

Sincerely,
R. L. and Mrs. Butler

REPORT

county has about 100,000 acres of wheat seeded for 1955, an estimated 2,000 to 20,000 acres under irrigation. High yields have been necessary to make irrigated wheat pay, and both farmers and the agent are watching closely experiments to make this possible.

Around 15,000 acres of grass are being planted in the county. With intensive drainage and the use of fertilizer, cattlemen came to the conclusion that a means of a very large income, but just the reverse in many instances," commented the agent.

The agent plans to work more next year in helping cattlemen work out a system of management.

Dairying
The role of dairying has been one of lessening importance in recent years, chiefly because of the increase in irrigation and the prices for farm products more easily produced," says Jones.

The county has about 30 grade "A" dairies, most of the milk being sold in Amarillo or Lubbock.

Commercial Fertilizers
Interest in this product is increasing continuously, says the agent, because of lowered yields following several years of high yields on irrigated land.

A group of 80 farmers was contacted by the agent in an attempt to encourage them to plant "check plots" to see for themselves the comparisons of unfertilized with fertilized fields.

Irrigation
About 280,000 acres of land are under irrigation in the county at the present time, according to the report, and interest and development of irrigation in the county is continuing.

"Many problems arise as irrigation becomes a part of our farming in the county," says Jones, naming some of these problems as "preparing land for irrigation, water application, soil fertility, time to water, rates of application, pumping costs, dependable farm labor, cost of labor, and crops that will pay off."

Several irrigation tours were held during the past year.

Soil Fertility
"Relatively new soils have given good yields when water was applied," says the report, but "as years pass and big yields are taken off, it becomes increasingly important to maintain these yields."

Hence, the widespread interest in soil fertility. Specialists on the subject have been brought in, and tours have helped educate farmers on soil fertility.

Weed Control
For the first time, a weed control committee was organized within the county to combat noxious weed problems. Chief target this year was bindweed.

Cooperation from individuals, the Highway Department, and the railroads has been obtained to make the program worthwhile.

Homestead Improvement
"A number of farms have been divided into several units and new homes have been built on them," says Miss Stinson. She says that there has been a great deal of interest shown in landscaping and improving grounds, and plans have been made to start several demonstrations in 1955.

"It is hoped homestead improvement will be considered a major demonstration in a year or so," says the HD agent.

Furnishing and Equipment
In October, 28 leaders from the HD clubs participated in a special interest training meeting on winter arrangements. Use of native material in creating arrangements to brighten homes was stressed.

Living room improvement was selected as one of the two major demonstrations to be emphasized. Work simplification principals were introduced to 4-H and HD clubs in special interest demonstrations on the use of Master Mix.

"Work simplifications will be correlated with living room improvement and clothing demonstrations to be started, and with clothing and food demonstrations on which work will begin in 1955," says Miss Stinson.

Clothing
Each 4-H group met once a week for three weeks for instruction in making drawstring aprons, gathered skirts, blouses, and simple dresses.

Eighty-two girls entered garments in the county dress revue in July and 74 modeled their garments. "As a whole, the girls did a nice job of selecting fabrics and designs and did some nice work," says Miss Stinson.

Clothing will be continued next year as one of the major demonstrations.

Foods, Nutrition
Several special interest demonstrations on foods were presented on both HD and girls 4-H meetings during 1954. In July the making and use of Master Mix was demonstrated, with variations of donuts and muffins shown.

"No demonstrations have been planned in HD programs in 1955, but foods information will be passed on to women as requested through bulletins and through the press," says Miss Stinson.

Family Life
Since there were no planned programs for the year, several special interest demonstrations were presented. Colored slides were used as the basis for discussions on family harmony.

Family life education will be correlated with living room improvement and clothing programs in HD clubs in 1955, and with 4-H clothing and foods and nutrition programs.

Recreation
Six 4-H members attended the District I camp in June near Amarillo, and about 80 girls participated in a county-wide rally day on July 16 in Friona.

Two recreation leadership schools were held early in December. Recreation will be correlated with 4-H foods and nutrition demonstrations in 1955, says the HD agent.

NEWS FROM LAZBUDDIE

By JANE BARTON

Football Banquet Given for Team
The Lazbuddie football banquet was held recently in the school cafeteria. The school colors of orange and black were predominant in the decorations, with gold footballs suspended from the ceiling as an added attraction.

Orange and black candles were used on the tables, and the speaker's table had a centerpiece of snapdragons, pansies, and mums banked around a gold football.

Favors were made from oranges to resemble a girls head, with a big bow and megaphone giving the name; and a boy's head with bowtie, and a football place card.

Denton Thompson of the Church of Christ gave the invocation, and Coach C. W. Dukes introduced the members of the team, and the three all-district players. The football sweetheart and hero were acknowledged, and J. G. Ward, superintendent, announced next year's pep squad leaders.

The athletic manager of a large Lubbock sporting goods store gave a speech, and Harold Morris of the Methodist Church, gave the benediction.

Littlefield-Smith Wedding Vows Read
Miss Betty Littlefield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Littlefield, and Gene Smith, were married in a quiet ceremony at 10:30 Saturday morning, December 4, at Lubbock. Mr. Denton Thompson, minister of the Lazbuddie Church of Christ, conducted the ceremony.

Both of the young people attended Lazbuddie High School, and Smith also attended North Texas State College at Denton.

WATCH THAT EXHAUST
Anyone who has ever owned one car for any length of time has had the experience of wearing out one or more mufflers or tail pipes. These two items make up some of the most frequently replaced parts on any automobile.

Since it is such a common thing, a lot of people don't seem to worry much about a worn-out exhaust system, but it can be really DANGEROUS. Your car engine discharges carbon monoxide—a deadly gas that you can't see, smell, or taste.

Especially in cold weather, when you're sure to have all the windows up (keeping out fresh air), a leaky muffler or tail pipe is especially dangerous. Fumes from the floor of the car can easily get to the passengers, and this sometimes happens with disastrous results.

Play safe with carbon monoxide—keep your muffler and exhaust system in tip-top shape!

BUY A CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR YOUR AUTOMOBILE

One of the nicest things you could do for a faithful old friend this Christmas is to buy a present for your CAR. It usually gets kicked around more than anybody else in the family, but seldom complains.

We suggest a nice accessory, or a new tire or two, or a complete wash and grease job. Remember, too, that the gift of good car service is one that keeps on giving—for YOU, in the way of saving money in the long run.

Christmas Services At Methodist Church

Rev. Miller H. Stroup, pastor of the Hamlin Memorial Methodist Church, announces that two Christmas services will be held on Sunday, Dec. 19.

The traditional Christmas service will be at 11 o'clock. Miss Susan Levins will play, "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," "Medley of Christmas Carols," and "Christmas Carols."

The choir, under the direction of Mrs. R. W. Anderson, will sing, "Gloria in Excelsis, Deo," Rex Pool will sing "Cantique de Noel," by Adam. The pastor will speak on the subject, "Can We Take Christmas with Us?"

The Christmas tree program will start at 7. The youth choir will bring some Christmas carols. The primary department with Mrs. W. H. Graham, superintendent, will sing some songs. A program of Christmas motion pictures will be presented.
