"OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF FARMER COUNTY"

FIFTY-SIXTH YEAR

Well, fellow members of our "Great Society", willing and otherwise, the summer is well upon us and many of our local young folks haven't found summer work. The Tribune, as well as most other businesses in town, have had its quota of job hopefuls looking for chores to perform. We have given part time employment to three such youngsters. We would like to hire more but our ability to provide jobs is limited by the simple economic fact that we must operate our business in such manner as to show a modicum of profit.

We readily admit to wanting to turn some of the more menial chores over to younger and more willing hands but with the present laws governing minimum wages, child labor, and other legal pitfalls, we just cannot do all our hearts would like to do for our youngsters. I am sure this same situation applies to all our local businessmen.

Also, I wonder how the farm youngsters are going to fair with the proposed curtailment of labor opportunities by the Department of Labor. Verily, the Department of Labor is running out of what good sense it may have had. No, I do not mean that we are governed by far-headed ignoramuses. I think we are governed to a large extent by very sharp, farsighted socialists.

The only logical answer to some of the absurd ukases to come from official Washington is that "somebody up there" is out to kill free enterprise and individual initiative. What better place to start than with our youth?

Am I a nut, a hardshell conservative, a wild-eyed impediment in the path of great social progress? Possibly I am, but unfortunately my upbringing under the new low-rated Christian ethic, somehow compels me to believe in the virtues of work. Work not only for mature individuals but in work and responsibility for our growing youth.

We cannot let a generation grow up with the idea that wealth is not created by work. We cannot let a generation grow up with the idea that dreams are not fulfilled, except by honest toil. I cannot help but think that we are only one generation from atheism and communism. Sadly enough we do not know which generation this might be.

We must insist that our elected representatives stamp out the monster of bureaucracy that is stultifying the spirit of America. Congress must again become the respected, responsible body it was, up until 30 years ago. The way it is now, most of us are responsible to a non-elected bureaucrat who with only a directive from some other bloated-boob can make us jump to his tune.

We could give you any number of examples, but at heart we are all afraid of some official who can call us to account for our doings. Freedom is rapidly becoming the freedom of a very large aviary. We are only free to a limited extent and are dependent on a "keeper" for our necessities.

This is a dismal column to parade before the public. I would these things were not necessary to even think about, much less to write about.

Owens To Attend Biology Institute

Jerry Dee Owen, teacher and coach in the Farwell school system, along with his wife, Pat, and son, Mark, will be in Cape Girardeau, Mo., for the next eight weeks where Owens will be attending the summer institute of modern botany and field biology.

The National Science Foundation sponsors the grant for the institute which will be attended by 40 biology teachers. Special courses are set up to aid the teachers in increasing their mastery in particular phases of biology.

Services Thursday For M.C. Roberts

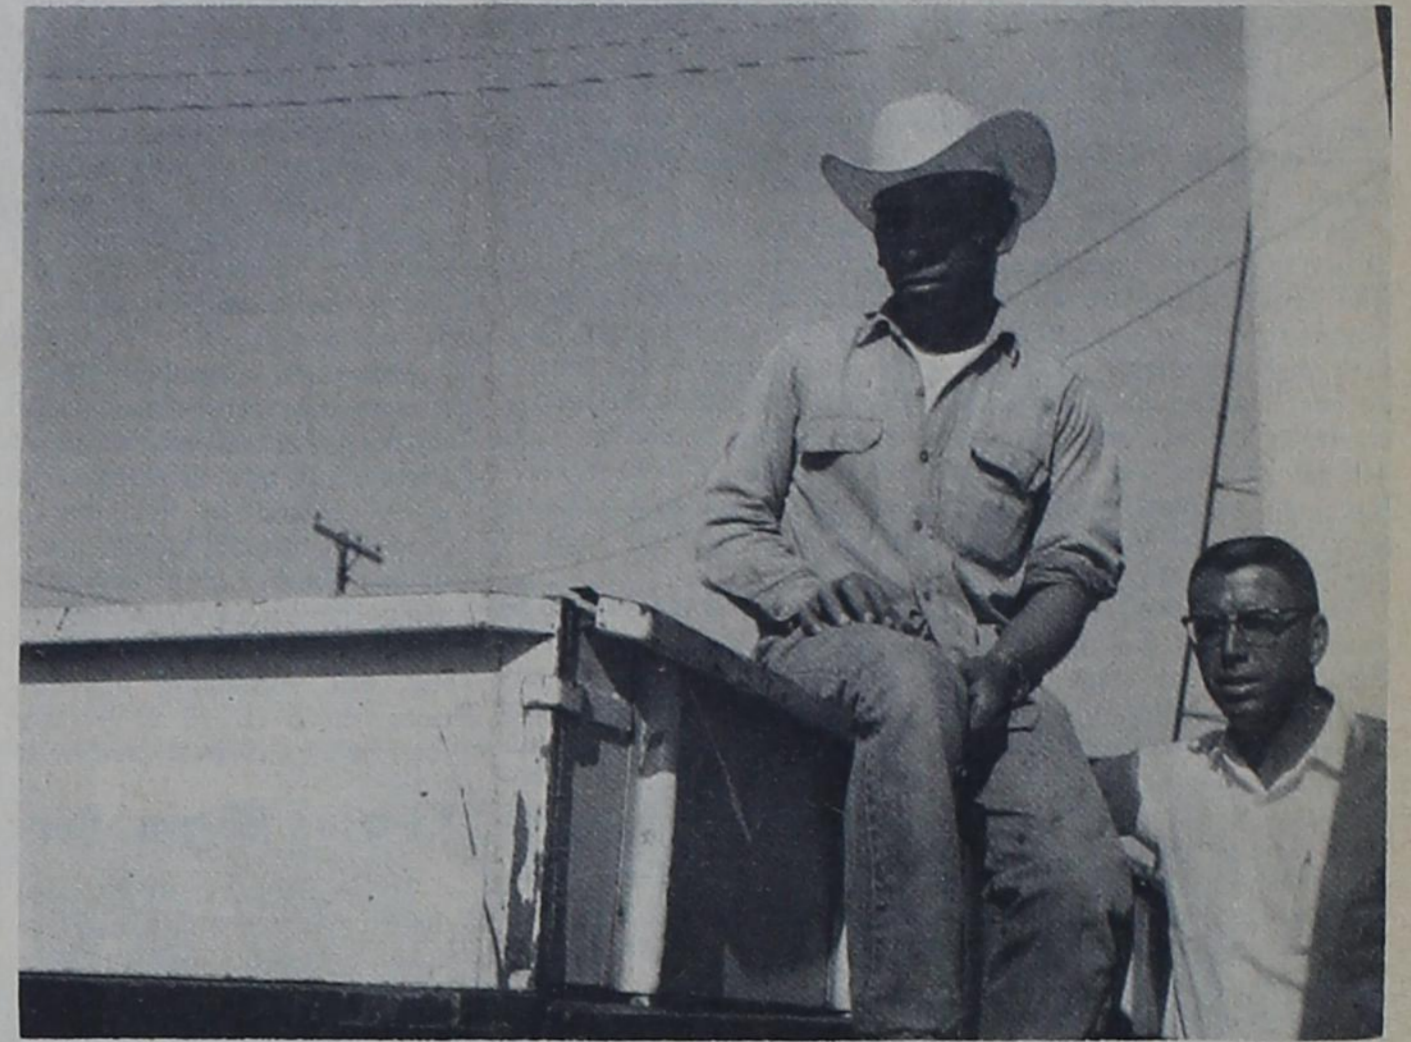

Funeral services were conducted this morning, Thursday, June 15, at 10 a.m. from Charles V. Steed Memorial Chapel for Miller Caldwell (M.C.) Roberts, 68, who died Tuesday morning, June 13, in Clovis Memorial Hospital.

Rev. Ed Hamilton of First Methodist Church, Clovis, officiated at final rites. Burial was in Llano Cemetery in Amarillo. Pallbearers were H.W. Harmon, Jack Winton, John Getz, Claude Rose, Lyle Walker and Lawrence Maberry.

Mr. Roberts was well known in this area, having come to Texico-Farwell in 1936. He was a grain dealer at the time and owned the Roberts Grain Co. and Elevator in Texico until a few years ago when it was purchased by Golden West Seed Co. He had also served as mayor of Texico.

In the past few years, Mr. Roberts had been in the real estate business in the Clovis area.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Russell Coatney of Sacramento, Calif., and one grandson, Doyle Coatney of Austin.

FIRST LOAD OF WHEAT -- First load of wheat received at State Line Grain this season was brought in from the Wilbert Kalbas farm, south of town, Thursday afternoon by Johnny Guana, Guana, seated on the truck, and Bill Dollar, manager of State Line Grain, take a look at the wheat which tested 12.8 (moisture) and weighed 62 1/2 pounds per bushel.

First 1967 Wheat Received Locally

The 1967 wheat harvest, which had been slowed somewhat by the unseasonable cold weather of the past few weeks and the turbulent weather of the past week with rain and hail in many areas of the county, is apparently underway. First load of wheat received at local elevators was brought into Worley Grain Company on Wednesday afternoon around 6 p.m., according to Bill Thigpen, who works at the elevator.

The grain was brought in by Otto Lingnau from his farm southeast of Farwell. It weighed 60 lbs. per bushel and had a moisture content of 13.70. Lingnau received a premium of $25 on the first load of grain.

On Thursday, State Line Grain received its first load of wheat from the farm of Wilbert Kalbas who also farms south of town. The wheat, brought in by Kalbas, was of the Tascosa variety. It weighed 62 1/2 pounds per bushel and had a moisture content of 12.8. Kalbas also received a premium on his load of wheat. Friday afternoon Sherley-Anderson - Pitman received an 18,000 lb. load of wheat from the Orrie Jones farm. The wheat had a moisture content of 14% and test weight of 62 1/2 per bushel.

It seems to be the consensus of opinion of most farmers and elevator men in the area that although the wheat was damaged somewhat by the unseasonable dry weather and cool days late in the spring and the heavy rains and hail of the past few days, the yield is still much better than had been expected. Greenbugs had also damaged the wheat crop heavily.

Smiles And No Wonder

Have you seen the smiles Elmer and Aileen Teel are wearing these days? Cause: "Son Joe was recently graduated from Eastern New Mexico University in Portales with a degree in business administration. However, this is not the only reason for the smiling faces, for in the same ceremony their son-in-law, Gene Ussrey, received a degree in mathematics.

But this is not the whole story for Joe is youngest of the Teels' five children, and you guessed it, they have all attended or received degrees from Eastern through the years.

Sue Ann Teel Hill, the oldest daughter, received a degree in home economics in 1957 from the university and after having taught for four and one-half years was married to Jerry Hill, who had received his degree from Princeton University. He is a Presbyterian minister and the family live in Sand Spring, Okla.

Second of the Teel children to attend the university was Patsy, (Mrs. Bill Glenn). She attended the university for two years before going to Hendrick School of Nursing in Abilene where she received an R.N. degree. She is married to Bill Glenn, a graduate of Texas Tech and a registered engineer. The Glenn family makes its home in McCamey, Tex.

Allan, oldest of the Teel sons, received a business administration degree from Eastern New Mexico University in 1963 and is presently manager of General Electric Credit Co-op in Roswell, N.M. He served ten years as a member of the National Guard and has recently completed his tour of duty with the rank of first lieutenant. His wife, the former Betty True, also attended Eastern New Mexico University and lacks one year on her degree.

Peggy (Mrs. Gene Ussrey), youngest of the Teel daughters, was graduated from the university with a double major in home economics and journalism in 1965. She is presently teaching at Floyd. Her husband, Gene, a 1967 graduate of the university is serving as a graduate assistant in the mathematics department while working on his master's degree. They live in Portales.

Joe is presently visiting with his parents but is scheduled to leave for a tour of duty with the Armed Forces late this week.

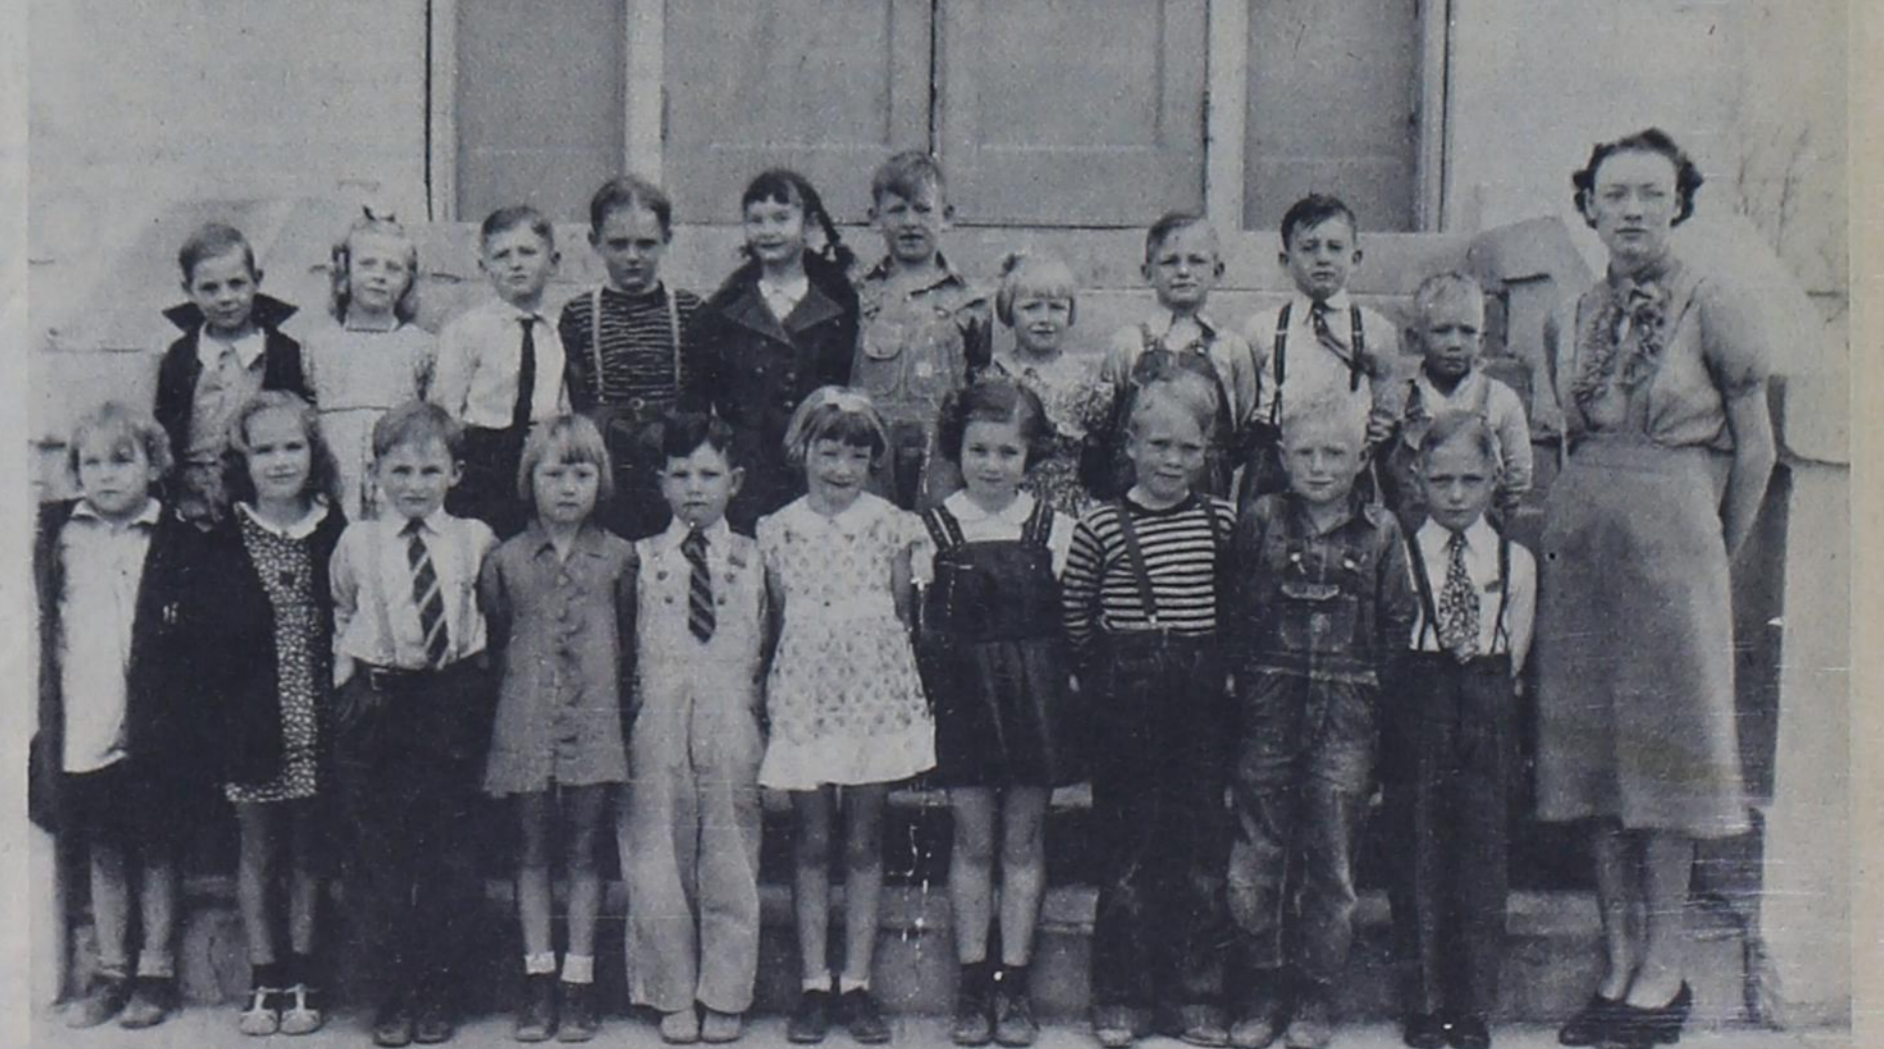

Roping At Local Arena June 18

A treat is in store for those who attend the matched roping on Sunday, June 18, 2 p.m. at the Farwell arena, for at that time Derek Garner, 12, and Dexter Garner, 11, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Garner, will meet Mark 11, and Rusty 10, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Waide of Earth, in a two-calf average.

On the same day (Father's Day) a team roping with father and son or daughter competing against father and son or daughter will also be staged. There will be three events in this age group, with 14 and under in one event; 15-18 in the second group and 19 and over in the third group. Twenty-five teams are expected to enter this event.

Boys 12 and under will compete in a break-away roping and those in the 13-15 and 16-18 age groups will compete in tie-down roping events. Each contestant will rope two calves for a two-calf average.

The event is being sponsored by the local Roping Arena Association.

Time Changes Everything

Mrs. Clyde C. Cole of Tulsa, Okla., unearthed a picture of her 1938 first grade class of Farwell recently, and after studying the faces, found that she could not identify all of the youngsters she had known so many years ago. So she decided the best way to solve the mystery would be to ask the help of other local residents. The picture appears in this issue of The Tribune.

Mrs. Cole, the former Marcia Ann Johnson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. V. Scott Johnson of Clovis, admits that she was a bit surprised at the number of faces she could positively identify. "However, I find I am unable to recognize some of the intellectual group and would dearly love to be able to supply names for the entire bunch for my own satisfaction so that in case one of them turns up president of something I can say I went to school with him," she says.

The Coles now reside in Tulsa, Okla., where Clyde is executive vice-president of Tulsa Chamber of Commerce. Three children complete the family -- Clyde III, 11; Deborah Diane, 10; and Douglas Scott, 2. Those in the picture Marcia Ann has identified are: back row, left to right; 2, Modell Hammonds; 3, Ernest Lokey; 4, Bedford Forest; 5, Margie Bobst; 6, Donald Ford; 7, Hazel Petree; and 10, A.C. Hennehan. She didn't know 1, 8 or 9.

In the front row, she named 1, Alvina Blake; 2, Rosamond Booth; 3, Calvin Meissner; 4, Joan Allison; 5, Wayne Magness; 6, Ella Bradshaw; 7, Marcia Ann Johnson; 8, Bobby Fowler; 9 Earl; and 10, Leon London.

The teacher is Dorothy Harmon Donaldson.

the picture to The Tribune hoping some former classmate might fill in the names. Anyone who can identify the group, should send the list to The Tribune, Box 255, Farwell, Texas.

A Lesson From Israel - -

In just three days time, tiny Israel has not only defeated, but virtually routed the combined forces of the Arab nations of the Middle East, Gamal Abdel Nasser, Egypt's little Hitler who was possessed of much big talk before the outbreak of the war, has had to make a meal of his own words, shovled back into the area from which they came by the fast striking Israeli army and air force.

So disastrous was the Arab defeat, Syria and Egypt were compelled to fall back upon the old crutch of blaming the United States and Great Britain for any defeat suffered by nations engaged in aggression. Even so, nobody really believes the charge that English and American warplanes gave air support to the Israeli forces. The fact of the matter is that Israel didn't need the help of anybody. She was bent upon teaching the Arabs a lesson once and for all and this she accomplished in magnificent fashion. Having been completely humiliated before all the world, it is a safe bet that Nasser will think twice before he arouses the anger of the Israelis again.

Out of all this, it would seem that there is a lesson to be learned by one and all. In the short space of three days, Israel has defeated at least four nations, each of which is probably militarily superior to communist North Vietnam. The leaders of Israel did not choose to fight a defensive war which might have dragged on for years at the cost of many Israeli lives. Twice before she has let the Arabs off the hook, only to fight them again. This time she decided that the only way to put a stop to the endless harassment by the Arabs was to impose a crushing military defeat upon them. Having accomplished this, she has in effect insured that there will be peace in the Middle East for quite some time to come.

On the other hand, the United States has been engaged for three years in an endless, winless war in Vietnam. We have repeatedly refused to apply our overwhelming military superiority in order to put a quick halt to the war and stop the drain on American lives. We have apparently resigned ourselves to a contest of endurance, testing whose supply of young men will last the longest.

It is argued by some that we cannot afford to win the war in Vietnam, that to do so will surely bring Red China down upon us, and may even possibly result in World War III.

Granted, anytime armed conflict exists in an emotionally charged world such as ours, there is always the possibility of massive escalation, even to the point of nuclear war. On the other hand however, we must ask ourselves -- Just how much do we owe these brave young men who are dying in Vietnam? The answer is crystal clear. We owe them everything. We owe them the knowledge that this country is willing to risk all our war for the same cause that they are risking their lives for. Above all, we owe them the opportunity of coming home again as soon as possible.

Since Vietnam has been adjudged sufficiently important to warrant the loss of American lives, it must also be adjudged important enough to risk nuclear war for. To do otherwise would be the peak of hypocrisy.

Also notice that there is a vast difference between reckless action and educated risks. Even though Russia lost tremendous face in the Arab defeat, she did not offer military support, much less start World War III. As for what Red China would do if we crushed North Vietnam, the answer is nothing. She would do nothing if she was made to understand that intervention on her part would result in swift and complete destruction from the air, and not a land war where she would have a tremendous advantage.

It is indeed a time for courage, courage to put a stop to the fighting in Vietnam before anymore lives are lost. We must learn the same lesson the Israel has learned:

To appease an aggressor is but to postpone the inevitable, and to appease him at the cost of your countrymen's lives is inexcusable.

On The Farm In Parmer County

By RONNY MCNUTT
County Agent

A few cotton farmers in the county face an important decision -- whether to replant hulled-out cotton or plant some other crop. Soybeans is one crop that several farmers are considering.

If the decision is to plant soybeans, growers must receive prior approval from the County ASCS office.

Growers can expect a decline in lint yields as planting dates become later in the season. Average lint yields obtained at the South Plains Research and Extension Center over a five-year period have been 800 pounds per acre for June 1 plantings compared to 662 pounds per acre for plantings on June 8-10.

There are a number of factors to consider before planting soybeans on cotton acreage. First of all, adequate irrigation water should be available to produce sufficient yields. Maximum yields from soybeans normally require a summer irrigation prior to bloom initiation with succeeding applications made on 10 to 20 day intervals until pods are well filled. The most efficient use of water has been obtained from a preplant irrigation plus 2 summer irrigations (bloom stage and 20 days later).

Also, tests have shown that yields are increased if cotton follows soybeans in a rotation. Thus higher yields should be obtained on next year's acreage if soybeans are planted this season.

The rental agreement between the landlord and tenant must be considered.

The expected income above operating costs is another all important factor in deciding between late planted cotton and soybeans. According to area agronomist, on a per acre basis, to produce a lint yield of 800 pounds a grower may spend $80 and thereby leave a net operating return of $40.

In comparison, irrigated soybeans planted by June 6 normally yield about 30 bushels or more per acre. With production costs of $35 per acre, a producer could expect reasonably more net operating return from soybeans than from cotton.

Scouts Begin Directory Sales

Troop 179 began its zip code directory sales with a door-to-door campaign Monday night in Texico-Farwell. Up to noon Tuesday 204 directories had been sold at one dollar each. Profits will be used to continue troop activities and to purchase needed equipment.

Scouts will now turn to individual sales to friends, relatives, and others who may have been missed by the door-to-door effort. Each scout is working for prize money to be given for the top four salesmen. First prize is $10, second $5, third, $3, and fourth $2.

Help Solve The Mystery

Residents of Parmer County were asked this week to help solve the mystery of the origins of several geographical names found on county maps.

The information is needed for a dictionary of Texas place names, including Parmer and the other 253 counties, to be published soon by the East Texas State University press. Before Dr. Fred Tarpley, professor of English at the university submits his final manuscript, he is appealing to county residents for assistance in contributing information about several names with unexplained origins.

With the following exceptions the reasons for the choice of approximately 200 names found on detailed maps of the county have already been determined; Bengier Airfield, Braley, Catfish Draw, Hinskston, Langer, Matthew, Oklahoma City, Rhea Community, Running Water Draw, Sounder.

(Editor's Note: The name Oklahoma City is probably in reference to the community of Oklahoma Lane).

Dr. Tarpley, who started his research on Texas geographical names five years ago, has exhausted material available to him in history books, newspaper files, student research, and interviews with county leaders. He is hoping that the story behind the naming of the communities, creeks, and other geographical sites listed above can be explained before his book goes to press.

Printed by Adtech Industries of Pennsylvania, the directories list Zip Codes for every town and city in the United States and possessions, making a total of nearly 35,000 listings. A similar book, with the same listings, costs $2.75 if purchased from the government.

Anyone wishing to purchase a directory may now contact any Texico or Farwell Boy Scout.

Directories are also available at KZOL or Citizens Bank in Texico.

We Want More Education

After a week spent on an outing, the Farwell 1967 seniors have returned home and are busily making plans for the future. Upon visiting with the group, this reporter has learned that most of them are planning to attend college come September.

Among the more popular colleges mentioned by the seniors as places they would like to attend are West Texas State University, Lubbock Christian College, Eastern New Mexico University, and South Plains.

Those who are not making plans to attend college at this time are Bill Johnson, who plans to be a farmer; Thomas Diaz, who plans to enter the Army and study electronics; Larry Suttle, who also plans to join the Army and study electrical engineering; and Edwin Lingnau, who plans to farm.

Joe Castillo plans to enter the National Guard and then enroll in a game warden school in Colorado. Judy Megill plans to go to South Plains College and major in business. Jeanne Meeks wants to join the WACS and study art. Anne Robertson plans to enroll in beauty school in either Clovis or Lubbock.

Vicki Goldsmith wants to enter secretarial work with the Civil Service. Lupe Garza will work for a while and then plans to attend either Texas A&M or San Antonio College. Gary Doshier would like to attend South Plains College and major in agriculture.

ryn Gober will also attend Texas Tech but is undecided as to her major.

James Callaway will attend South Plains College and major in agricultural business. He later hopes to become a minister. Sharon Winegeart has not decided where she wants to attend college, but has decided to major in business. Sheri Roberts will attend Lubbock Christian College but has not chosen a major field of study. Alicia Bourlon will attend Eastern New Mexico University and major in business education.

Johnny Schell, class salutatorian, will also attend Eastern New Mexico University. He will major in a pre-pharmacy course.

Joyce Bass will attend Baylor University and study nursing. Rocky Sharum will go to the Electronics Institute and major in electronics.

Joe Tom Carley will attend Tarleton State and major in biological research. Bob Park plans to attend South Texas College and major in business administration.

Our best to this ambitious class and may all their plans materialize as they step out into the future which holds many surprises and much hard work before their goals are finally reached.

A 4-H sewing group in Lazbuddie met with their leader, Mrs. Roy Farley, recently. They reviewed what they had learned about using the sewing machine and measured for pattern sizes. This is the second year for some of these girls and they are learning a skill that can be a joy for them the rest of their lives, because it can be a creative activity. Not only that but the economics of sewing can be a major factor in providing appropriate clothing for a girl these days.

The style show for the sewing group that just completed a basic course in Farwell was held Saturday. Awards and certificates were given for completion of course. A total of 12 women completed their garments and for nine of the women it was the first garment that they had ever made. They looked very nice and were proud of their accomplishments.

A request for help on foods preservation and information on foods has been made by some of the Spanish women. Plans are underway now to work out a series of lessons along this line. Those that are interested should contact me in my office on the second floor of the Parmer County courthouse in Farwell or they may call the office, telephone 481-3619, and leave their name or names of those that may be interested in attending.

CONSUMERS - may expect somewhat higher prices in home furnishings this year. Prices will rise at the manufacturer's level and wholesale levels will be passed on to consumers. Here are some consumer ideas to save on furnishings and clothing too.

Use an elegant upholstery cotton to make a bedspread and matching window shades. The heavy upholstery fabric is ideal for shades. All you need to do is cut it to size, hem the edges, and tack it to a window shade roller. If you like, you can line shades on the reverse side with an iron-on cotton interfacing.

Look for cleaning ease when you buy cooking utensils. There should be no seams or crevices to hide food or bacteria, say home management specialists.

Bright cotton prints will go to your head this spring. New looks in hat fashions include vivid art patterns, used for close-fitting helmet styles. These close fitting styles can be a real joy to wear on some of these windy days - when we want to appear poised and well-groomed. Another hat design keeps pace with the jungle look in cotton sports wear. It's a derby, or "Safari" hat, with a snood attached. Other new printed cotton hats come with matching tote bags.

Leaders and 4-H members are busy as can be these days getting into clothing project work. These girls learn much more about clothing other than sewing up a garment. Knowing about new materials, fibers, care of clothing, personal development, color, lines and designs best suited to the individual figure and many other things that contribute to their personal appearance. The joy and satisfaction of achievement can be a very important factor in the development of youth.

NEW FABRICS
The name "Polyester", has come to mean easy care fabric to most people when buying material or clothing. Polyester is the family name but there are different brand names such as Avlen, Dacron, Encron, Fortrel, Kodol, and Vycron - these all need the same washday care.

Polyester has excellent wet and dry wrinkle resistant, shape retention, durability and easy washing care. Also they are resistant to sunlight and weather, not affected by moths, mildew or bacteria. Also the Polyesters do not sag or shrink. Oily stains are best removed before washing by rubbing a paste of detergent into fabric before washing.

FIBER GLASS FABRIC CURTAINS

Take precautions when washing fiberglass curtains in the washer. Articles washed next in the machine will pick up the glass particles left behind from the fiberglass fabric. The particles are so tiny they can't be removed. When the articles come in contact with the skin, the small glass fragments will work into the skin and are impossible to be located even by a doctor.

Aduddell-Barnes Vows Read At Lazbuddie

Marsha Ann Aduddell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Aduddell of Lazbuddie, became the bride of Sammy Ronald Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam P. Barnes, Lazbuddie, in a ceremony at the Lazbuddie Baptist Church, June 10, at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Calvin Beach officiated at the double ring service.

Vows were exchanged before candelabras that formed a pointed arch which was interspersed with greenery and white carnations accented with gold. The candelabras were flanked on either side with large baskets of gladioli and a focal point was the memory candle flanked by two gold candles.

Organist Marcella Mayfield played nuptial selections, the wedding marches, and accompanied Jack Aduddell of Littlefield as he sang "To Each His Own" and "Bless This House." Matron of honor was Marilyn Carrell of Clovis, N.M., sister of the bride. Bridesmaids included Lana Aduddell, Lubbock, niece of the bride; Elaine Tiller, Bula, niece of the bride; and Marilyn Barnes, Lazbuddie, sister of the groom.

The bridal attendants were attired in identical empire styled floor-length dresses of gold satin accented with a band of gold sequins around the empire waistline. They wore matching gold shoes and short veils mounted on single flowers of the same shade. Each carried cascading colonial bouquets of white carnations with gold and white streamers.

Ringbearers were Janice Tiller, Bula, niece of the bride; and Kevin Aduddell, Littlefield, nephew of the bride. Janice was attired in the same fashion as the bridesmaids and she carried a white satin pillow edged with lace. The little boy carried a gold satin pillow.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a formal floor length gown of roschelle lace accented by long petal point sleeves and a scalloped neckline. The dress featured a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. A flowing chapel train hung from the shoulders. The shoulder length veil featured a lace headpiece accented with tiny pearls. For something old the bride wore her mother's gold wedding band. She wore the traditional blue garter and a strand of pearls borrowed from her sister. In her shoe she carried a 1949 penny.

She carried a bouquet of daisies mounted on a white Bible. It was centered with an orchid and was accented with gold ribbon, Lily of the Valley, and love knots.

Best man was Monte Barnes, Lazbuddie, brother of the groom. Groomsman were Randy Aduddell of Littlefield, nephew of the bride; Mac Hall of Olton, and Gary Evans of Amarillo. Ushers were Monte Barnes,

They were also present for the annual Vincent family reunion there. Enroute home they visited in Childress with two of Mrs. Vincent's sisters, Mrs. Lee Rothwell and Mrs. Hall Havens.

MRS. SAMMY RONALD BARNES

brother of the groom, and Royce Barnes, cousin of the groom.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall immediately following the wedding. The bridal table was laid with lace over gold taffeta. Myra Morris, Marquita Seaton, and Carolyn Morris served the guests.

For traveling the bride wore a two-piece bone colored suit with a black sequin blouse and black patent accessories. Complementing her ensemble was an orchid corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a 1965 graduate of Lazbuddie High School and plans to enter West Texas State University this fall. Texico Boys Return From Boys State

Two Texico boys, Lynn Hughes and Roddy Pearce, returned Saturday from New Mexico Boys State, which convened on the campus of New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell.

Lynn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Hughes and Roddy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Pearce. Both families live north of Texico.

The boys spent a week at the convention attending meetings which depicted activities of government on the local, county and state levels. This annual convention of outstanding young men, all juniors in high school, is sponsored by the American Legion.

The Texico students have each written his impression of Boys State and their accounts follow:

Roddy Pearce writes: "I would first of all like to express my appreciation to all who helped give me the opportunity to go to 1967 New Mexico Boys State. Special thanks go to the PTA of Texico Schools and the American Legion. It was an experience I will never forget.

"I learned much about the politics of our state by reading, attending lectures and seeing politics put into practical use. We also learned about the American way of life, and learned to appreciate the opportunity of living in this great nation. I have always taken these things for granted. We also learned about the laws of our land and how they are enforced.

Two of the most outstanding things that happened to me at Boys State were the honor of being chosen from my school to go, and the opportunity of being there with such a great bunch of boys. It was a great feeling to meet and work with these boys and I shall never forget them.

Another thing that made a great impression on me was a speech by Dr. C. L. Kay from Lubbock Christian College. I had heard him speak before, but this was the best speech I had ever heard.

His subject was "Freedom in This World," in which he compared freedom to communism, and told how communism is growing and how we must work to keep freedom alive. Although his speech was one and one-half hours long, he held everyone's attention and inspired us all through it.

I am truly grateful for this past week and I hope it will stay alive in my mind all my life."

Lynn Hughes writes: To me, attending Boys State is one of the most wonderful things that can happen to a boy. It was one of the most important and beneficial weeks of my life. Every boy should work as hard as he can so he may be privileged to attend.

At Boys State you meet many nice boys, and make lots of new friends. You learn important things about our government and how it works. You learn to speak in public and how to campaign for official jobs.

I want to thank my sponsors, the Farwell-Texico Lions and Rotary Clubs, and also everyone else who made it possible for me to attend.

We left Clovis, June 2, at 9 a.m., and arrived at NMMI in Roswell about 3 p.m. We registered and were assigned to quarters. The remainder of the day and Saturday morning we got acquainted with the other boys. Each morning at 7:15 we had the raising of the flag, a short chapel service, and calisthenics. After that we had breakfast, cleaned our quarters, and studied programs. Later in the day we had a formal opening of Boys State, and the counselors and staff were introduced to us.

Sunday morning we attended church services, and in the afternoon had law school, city campaigns, and introduced candidates.

Monday we had our final city campaigns, then the elections. The elected officers were sworn in, and county and state government was explained to us. We also had a county primary campaign, and had our state pre-primary convention on Tuesday.

After the state and primary campaigns, the county and state candidates were introduced. Next, we held our county and state elections, with the voting

Cotton Quality Improvement Through Block Ginning

One of the major problems in marketing cotton produced on the South Plains is the lack of fiber uniformity -- within the bale and from bale to bale. Fiber uniformity can be improved through block ginning; and thereby, create a greater market demand for the area's cotton, according to cotton specialists.

What is block ginning? This concept is the ginning of cotton from a single variety and with similar fiber properties in large lots (40 to 50 or more bales). One variety gins or communities would be classified, of course, as block ginning. However, this program can be carried out without all farms within the community being involved or even the total acreage of the participating growers.

The cotton grouped within a block should be not only of the same variety but also produced under similar conditions -- soil type, irrigation practices, planting date, etc. Hail, insect or disease damage should be considered. It should be remembered that the main objective is to obtain bales of uniform fiber quality to better supply and meet the demands of the market.

Advantages to be gained in block ginning are listed below:

1. By approaching the market with a large supply of uniform fiber, the producer is in a better position to market cotton from a quality standpoint.

2. The fiber properties -- length, strength, etc. -- can be represented to the mill with a good degree of reliability.

3. The movement of two-sided bales into market is avoided.

4. Ginning in large lots enables the producer and ginner to meet mill demands.

5. As a group, quality problems which may arise between the producer and the mill can be solved more effectively.

6. The production of good planting seed is simplified. Varietal mixtures of seed are avoided by ginning in large lots.

7. Group action by producers can accomplish better insect and disease control in the area.

Employing the block ginning concept will usually be initiated by producer groups in a county or community. The program may involve (1) cooperative effort between producers and ginners, (2) working through cotton breeders and seed producers, (3) cooperative organizations and (4) working independently as producers. The method employed to best meet their objectives must be determined by the local producers and county Agricultural leaders.

There are 6 Factors to Consider by Producers Groups to Initiate Blocking Ginning.

1. The producers must investigate the market potential of the variety to be considered in the program. This and the environment at hand -- soil, insects, diseases, availability of irrigation water -- should be used as the basis for selecting the variety.

2. Producers under this program must agree on the major cultural practices to be conducted on their selected variety. This involves a similar planting date on similar soil type. The participating growers should agree on an irrigation schedule -- timing and the amount of water. Particularly, a starting and cut-off date for irrigating should be set.

3. Planting seed must be of high viability and varietal purity and from a reputable source.

4. Cotton subjected to damage from hail, insects, diseases, or late-planting which may lower fiber quality should not be included in the block program with undamaged cotton.

5. To be successful, the participating producers must police themselves to exclude poor quality fiber or cotton of any other variety in order to market a uniform, high quality product.

6. Each producer must be encouraged to use the best cultural and management practices.

Commissioners Purchase Nail Pickers For County

Four nail pickers were purchased at the meeting of the Farmer County commissioners Monday afternoon. Routine business was concluded and additional money was allocated to the planning of Running Water Draw Flood Control.

Nail pickers are electromagnetic machines which are attached to road vehicles and will pick up nails and other foreign, metal objects that present danger to tires.

Loyde Brewer, county judge, reported Tuesday that the pickers cost $3,950 each, fob, Lubbock. The county vehicles will be taken to Lubbock in the near future. The pickers will be mounted on a truck from each of the four precincts; Friona, Bovina, Lazbuddie and Farwell. The pickers will be on all county roads, Brewer said.

A fairly new addition to highway equipment, few counties have them at present reports

Brewer, but they have proved most successful in areas where they are now in use.

Commissioners also voted to appropriate an additional $3,000 to further planning of the Lazbuddie site of the Running Water Draw Flood Control system for the county. It had previously allotted $14,000 for the entire county. This is being used by an investigative crew from Temple, to prove the feasibility such a flood control system. The Lazbuddie investigation says Brewer, is an alternate plan in case the mid-county site should prove unusable.

Three members of the commission were present; Judge Brewer, Tom Lewellen of Friona and Raymond Treider, Jr., of Lazbuddie. Two members, Charlie Jefferson of Bovina and Guy Cox, Farwell, were unable to attend.

Next meeting of the commissioners will be June 26.

FREEZE BRANDING IS hailed successful by Pete Jesko of Lazbuddie now that his cattle have shed their winter coats and the brands are showing up so clearly.

Dry Ice Branding Successful

A recent issue of the Tribune featured a story on the newest method of branding cattle, which is the use of dry ice. At that time, Pete Jesko of Lazbuddie, branded several head of his cows with the new method.

these brands are supposed to last longer than fire brands. Jesko says that some ranchers have reported results six weeks following branding, but he thinks branding just prior to a coat change, either from winter to spring or from fall to winter, would be the most appropriate time to brand for faster results.

Jesko reports now that the cattle have shed their winter coats and have put on new hair that he is very well pleased with the results of the new branding procedure since the brands show up so well.

Freeze branding causes the hair to turn permanently white where the iron is applied and is similar to a white saddle mark on a horse. One of the chief advantages of this type branding is that there is no open wound to cause infection, and

Whoever believes in me may not remain in darkness. —(John 12:45)

Sometimes there is a tendency to become impatient with our rate of spiritual progress. We feel that we should move ahead more speedily. But soul unfoldment is not measured in terms of how fast or how slow but of how deep is our awareness, how great is our understanding. As we grow and develop in understanding, we are capable of receiving more light. Where before our eyes were closed to Truth, now we see how all of our experiences have been part of God's good plan for us.

Demand For Engineers

The present heavy demand for engineering graduates is not likely to slacken in the years according to a survey made by the Engineering Manpower Commission, representing professional societies. The survey indicated that 830,000 new engineering graduates will be needed by 1976, but that only 500,000 will be available. Factors in the shortage include a declining popularity of engineering among college freshmen.
