Supreme Court Finally Goes Off Deep End

While being a staunch advocate of the separation of church and state doctrine, up to a certain point, I nevertheless find the latest Supreme Court ruling on the subject a little disgusting, disgusting, that is, if it weren't so humorous, or would it be better to say humorous if it weren't so disgusting? Either way seems highly appropriate.

It is granted, at least from this corner, that it is not the function of the schools to attempt to impose a particular or a specific religion upon its pupils. This is a choice that the pupil must eventually make for himself. It is however within the realm of educational responsibility to instill a certain sense of moral character within our younger citizens, especially at the early levels of education since this is the point at which characters, be they good or bad, are formed. It is also difficult to conceive how a good moral character can be formed without some belief in a Supreme Being, since morality and religion are inextricably intertwined. This then leaves us with the conclusion that the cultivation of a simple non-denominational belief in God should certainly be a function of our educational system.

Now many will say that a belief in God is something which should be instilled at home. Quite so, except for the fact that many homes in America, particularly in ghettos and slum areas, are themselves lacking in this respect. How then may we expect children from these areas to be exposed to religion if not at the schools they attend?

It is generally true that almost any good principle can be carried too far, and this I charge, is what the Supreme Court is guilty of. As previously stated, the principle of the separation of church and state is an excellent guiding doctrine. But as with all things, this too has a limit and that limit has certainly been reached in this week's Supreme Court decision which upholds a lower court ban upon the saying of a "prayerlike verse" by kindergarten children in Illinois. What was this offensive verse? Simply, "Thank you for the food we eat."

Yes, that's all, just "Thank you for the food we eat," said not by Catholics, or by Methodists, or by Baptists, but simply said by kindergarten children, being taught that somewhere in a seemingly evil universe, there is a provider. This my friends, is what the Supreme Court in all its judicial majesty, has seen fit to strike down - all in the name of the separation of church and state!

In the name of all that is good, what on earth is wrong with the highest court in our land? How in the world can intelligent men anywhere find fault with kindergarten children thanking God for food? Would they prefer that children be taught no gratitude at all rather than gratitude to God? Perhaps the court would prefer that they be taught gratitude to the federal government instead.

I submit, and call me extremist if you wish, that the usefulness of the present judicial body has come to an end. Rational decisions seem to no longer be within the capabilities of the nine men who now sit upon the Supreme Court. Any group of men who could possibly conclude that the saying of grace by kindergarten children is offensive to the American way, or is a threat to the separation of church of state, must surely be out of touch with reality.

I implore any future president who is faced with an appointment to the Supreme Court, to weigh the decision carefully. Stay away from wild-eyed witch hunters who find a threat behind a simple thing like a five-year-old child saying Grace at his local kindergarten.

FHA Member Tells Why FHA Is An Asset

EDITOR'S NOTE:
The following article was written by Carolyn Langford, a senior in Farwell High School, as a part of a project in her FHA work.

FHA has truly been an asset to me. It has broadened my outlook on life. I believe that FHA will help any girl become a better citizen, homemaker and a better Christian.

- Our goals in FHA are:
- (1) To promote a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfactions of homemaking.
 - (2) To emphasize the importance of worthy home membership.
 - (3) To encourage democracy in home and community life.
 - (4) To work for good home and family life for all.

(5) To promote international goodwill.

- (6) To foster the development of creative leadership in home and community life.
 - (7) To provide wholesome individual and group recreation.
 - (8) To further interest in home economics.
- If each member of FHA would just follow a few of these goals, our world today would be a much better place in which to live. FHA helps a girl to get before others, speaker thoughts, and to do things for other people. FHA helps to improve her vision of a homemaker and to fulfill this vision by becoming a better homemaker. We are the future home-builders of this great nation, and if we try our best in everything we do as a homemaker, we will succeed in leading this nation to a more free and pleasant country to raise our families in.

Fire At Station

Farwell fire department answered a call to Roberson Shamrock Service Station Monday night where a neon light has shorted, causing a fire. According to Fire Chief George Magness only light damage resulted from the fire; however firemen were on the scene for approximately one and one-half hours bringing the blaze under control and making sure that the fire did not flare up again. This is the only alarm answered by the Farwell department in the past week.

Jill Mimms --

Lazbuddie Betty Crocker Homemaker

Because she finished first in a written knowledge and attitude examination for senior girls December 5, Jill Mimms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Mimms, has been named 1968 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for Lazbuddie High School.

Jill's achievement has made her eligible for state and national scholarship awards and also has earned her a specially designed silver charm from General Mills, sponsor of Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow program.

A state Homemaker of Tomorrow and runner-up will be selected from the winners of the schools in the state. State winner will receive a $1,500 college scholarship, and her school will be awarded a complete set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. The runner-up will earn a $500 educational grant.

The Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow from this state, together with those from all other states and District of Columbia, each accompanied by a school advisor, will join in an expense paid educational tour of Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D. C., next spring.

The national winner -- the 1968 All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow -- will be announced at a dinner in Minneapolis, Minn., home of General Mills, Inc. She will be chosen from state Homemakers of Tomorrow on the basis of her original test score plus personal observation and interviews during the tour, and her scholarship will be increased to $5,000. Second, third, and fourth ranking national winners will have their original scholarship grants increased to $4,000, $3,000, and $2,000, respectively.

This is the 14th year of the Betty Crocker Search, initiated in 1954-55 by General Mills to emphasize the importance of homemaking as a career. Approximately six million senior girls have participated in the Search program since its inception, and 1,358 winners will have earned scholarships totaling $1,481,500 at the conclusion of the current program.

Third Grade Studies Indians

The following article was written by members of the third grade class in Texico taught by Mrs. Avis Patterson.

In social science we are studying the Indians of North America. We have learned many interesting things about different tribes and chiefs of the Forest Indians, the Plains Indians, Indians of the Southwest, and Indians of the Northwest. We made an exhibit, and an Indian village with things we made and brought. We are enjoying it very much. Third Grade NAVAJOS AND THEIR HABITS have been a part of the recent study of the fourth grade taught by Mrs. Wanda Turnbough at Texico School. Children in the class have built several displays of the Navajo habits and living conditions. This display, on which Allen Autrey, Deidre Halpain, and Colleen Dickerson are working, shows something of the living and working conditions of the Navajo, who lives in the desert region of Arizona.

Hey, Turn Up The Heat

Andy Pat Hughes, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hughes, arrived on Sunday morning to find that it was just a little too cold for comfort and promptly yelled for the heat to be turned up. Temperature was 37 degrees.

The infant made his arrival in his daddy's car in front of Trull's Restaurant in Clovis when "Daddy Joe," realizing that he'd never make it to the hospital in time to meet the stork, stopped to enlist the aid of a policeman who was at that moment leaving the restaurant.

As Joe walked back around the car, he realized that the stork had met him at the restaurant instead of the hospital. He walked over (not too calmly) and spanked the infant -- and when he heard the first cry, Joe handed Andy Pat over to his mother. By this time the policeman who had been calling the ambulance arrived back on the scene, followed by the restaurant manager who had brought aprons with which to cover young Andy Pat until he could be taken to the hospital.

The policeman then took charge and guided the newborn and his parents to Clovis Memorial Hospital, where the infant weighed in at 7 lb. 5 oz.

Andy Pat has an older brother, Timmy, two and one half years of age.

Grandparents include Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Hughes of Farwell and Mrs. Goldie Roberts of Muleshoe.

Mrs. Hughes and son came home from the hospital early this week and are reported to be in fine condition. Oh yes, "Daddy Joe" is also doing fine now that the excitement is over!

Class Studies Deserts

During the past six weeks, the fourth grade class at Texico School has been studying desert regions. Two types of deserts were considered; that of the Navajo in Arizona, and the Sahara Desert of Africa.

Boys and girls have learned something about the ways each of them live, their food, clothing and shelter; as well as their customs, their joys and hardships. They worked in committees on the various aspects of building the scene.

The children learned about the plant life peculiar to each desert and the striking differences of the Navajo's reservation at the time when their big snow was making national headlines, and the shifting sand dunes of the nomadic tribes of the Sahara.

Jane Brister, Leslie Harrelson United In Home Ceremony

Penelope Jane Brister, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Sullivan of Lawton, Okla., became the bride of Leslie Dee Harrelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Harrelson of Clovis, in a ceremony attended by close friends and family members in the home of Mrs. Crystal Moss, aunt of the groom, Saturday, Jan. 20, at 6 p.m.

MR. AND MRS. LESLIE HARRELSON

The Rev. Harvey Hudnall, Baptist minister, read the double ring ceremony under a simulated arch entwined with greenery and minute pink rosebuds from which three white wedding bells were suspended on pink ribbon streamers. An antique white candelabrum holding three pink tapers and entwined with minute pink rosebuds and greenery, emphasized by streamers of pink ribbon tied in lovers-knots, was placed at one side of the arch. Flanking the arch on the other side was a floor planter of antique white holding an arrangement of pink roses and greenery.

Background music was played by Alice Coffman at the organ. She also played the traditional wedding marches and "O Promise Me".

Matron of honor was Mrs. Lester Lee Harrelson, sister-in-law of the groom, Best man was Jackie Billingsley, close friend and former classmate of the groom.

The matron-of-honor was attired in a street length dress of pink with which she wore matching accessories. Her bouquet was a fan-shaped arrangement of pink sweetheart roses. The bride, escorted and given in marriage by her brother, Peter Lynn Brister, wore a street length wedding dress of white lace, designed with a sabbina neckline and short scalloped sleeves. The high Empire waistline was emphasized in center back with a large bow terminating in streamers which fell the full length of the dress. Her veil of white silk illusion, designed and made by an aunt, was held by a heart shaped crown of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white rosebuds and Stephanotis atop a white Bible.

Following tradition, something new was her wedding attire; blue was the traditional garter; borrowed was the Bible from a cousin; and old was a linen handkerchief which she carried in her Bible. The handkerchief belonged to her great-grandmother.

Mrs. Sullivan, grandmother of the bride wore a navy blue two-piece dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was of white roses.

Mrs. Harrelson, mother of the groom, wore a shift dress of pink and grey floral silk print designed with a full length sleeveless coat of pink. Her accessories were grey and her corsage was of white roses. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the Moss home. Serving table was laid with a handmade linen tablecloth and centered by the three-tiered wedding cake, which was adorned with pink rosebuds and topped by a bride and groom figurine. At one end of the table was a floral arrangement of pink roses in a milk glass vase flanked by pink tapers in milk glass candleholders.

After the cake had been cut by the bride and groom, it was served with pink and white mints, nuts and floating strawberry punch by Carolyn Langford and Mrs. Jerry Henson, cousins of the groom. Milk glass table appointments were used.

Hostesses for the reception were aunts of the groom, Mmes. Ogetha Langford, Joyce Coffman and Crystal Moss. All members of the houseparty wore pink rose corsages, Mrs.

Moss presided at the guest register. When the couple left for a short honeymoon, Mrs. Harrelson wore a pink two-piece suit with matching accessories. Her corsage was the center lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The bride, a graduate of Lawton High School is a student at Cameron Junior College in Lawton. The groom, a graduate of Texico High School, is also a student at Cameron Junior College where he is majoring in agriculture.

State Highway Engineer J. C. Dingwall today announced that Texas will register approximately 7 million vehicles during 1968. "This is the largest number in our history," Dingwall said.

All 1968 Texas license plates have been delivered to the 254 County Tax Assessor-Collectors for issuance during February and March of 1968.

Motor vehicle owners can avoid long lines by registering during the month of February, rather than waiting until the March rush. Owners should bring four items to the Tax Collector's office when registering vehicles: certificate of title, 1967 license receipt, current resident address, and zip code.

State law requires each owner to register his vehicle in the county in which he resides and to present his certificate of title as evidence of ownership. During the 1967 session the Texas Legislature amended the Texas Registration Law by changing passenger car license fees and establishing a minimum fee of $5.30 for all vehicles, including boat trailers.

The new rates for passenger cars are as follows: Up to 3,500 pounds, $12.30, 3,501-4,500 pounds, $22.30, 4,501-6,000 pounds, $30.30, More than 6,000 pounds, $5 per 100 pounds.

In Texico --

Two Seek Town Offices

The names of two persons have been submitted for places on the ballot in the forthcoming Texico town election. Howard Billingsley is seeking the mayor's post and Bob Dollar is seeking one of the trustees positions.

Both Billingsley and Dollar are currently serving on the town council; however, both have expiring terms. Dollar was appointed last summer to the council to serve the remainder of the unexpired term of Gale Doolittle when Doolittle moved to California.

Other persons who wish to have their names placed on the ballot for either one of the trustee positions, (four year terms), the mayor's post, (two year term), or that of police magistrate, (two year term), have until 5 p.m. Feb. 5 to register at the town hall for a place on the ballot.

Remember persons who wish to vote in the town election, and have not voted in the last two elections, must register before the Feb. 5, 5 p.m. (CST) deadline in order to be eligible to vote in this election.

W. D. Howard, Texico mayor, has not filed his intention of seeking a place on the ballot, nor has Sam Lewis, police magistrate.

NEW TROOP COMMITTEE -- Application for Troop Charter was reviewed Sunday by troop committeemen Neil Stewart, Leon London, Duane Herington, J. B. Sudderth, and Donald Watkins. Steers In Tie With S'Lake

By defeating the Sudan Hornets on Tuesday night, Farwell Steers are now tied for first place in the district with Springlake. Each of the schools has a 3-1 district record since Kress defeated Springlake on Tuesday night also.

Final score in the Steer-Sudan game was Farwell 60, Sudan 51. Kress defeated Springlake by a score of 55-

51. The Steers and Kress will meet on the local court Friday night and Coach Vernon Scott urges all sports fans to come out and back their team.

Coach was high in his praise of Robin Mahaney and Kyle Sheets, but was quick to say that it was the overall team defense which put the game on ice for the Steers. Kyle Sheets was top scorer with 17 points and Dean Stovall led with 11 rebounds in the game.

Final score in the girls game was Sudan 41, Farwell 32.
