

'LAST WARNING' BY BRITAIN; GERMANY CLAIMS VICTORIES

NO WAR, SAYS BERLIN; JUST A COUNTER BLOW

BERLIN, Sept. 1 (AP)—Germany, at the end of the first day of her undeclared war on Poland, claimed victories all along the line, but especially on having complete control of "Polish air."

Authorized sources insisted there was no war—but merely that a counterblow had been struck in retaliation for last night's alleged Polish attack on Gleiwitz and for border incidents which have been occurring for weeks.

The army high command issued a communique at 5:45 p. m. which said the German army which advanced on Poland from East Prussia is "deep in Polish territory" and that the airforce is "controlling Polish air."

Italy Planning No Military Operations

ROME, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Italian cabinet announced today Italy would refrain from starting any military operations.

The ministers had met with Premier Mussolini to decide Italy's course of action as an ally of Germany.

They met knowing of French mobilization and that Hitler had declared Italy's aid would not be solicited in the German hostilities with Poland for the time being.

Before the cabinet met British Ambassador Sir Percy Loraine had sought an interview with Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano to learn Italy's intentions.

The cabinet session lasted less than an hour. It was announced officially the cabinet approved the precautionary military measures already taken together with "the necessary economic and social measures, which accompanied them."

However, it was asserted Italy would "not take any initiative of military operations" as a result of the war between Germany and Poland.

There were indications Italy was overwhelmed by the latest events and was not quite sure of her course.

The fascist press, fully accepting Germany's version of her efforts to settle the dispute with Poland over Danzig and the corridor, called at Great Britain for not joining in the move.

But reaffirmation of the Rome-Berlin axis and its military alliance as "a pact of steel" which a few weeks ago filled the newspapers, was missing today.

The general tenor of newspaper articles was pro-German, but commentators were circumspect, making no definite commitments. Regarding Italy's determination, to fight for her own rights if necessary, they were enthusiastic and adamant.

Courthouse Awards Made

Contracts on painting and materials for a general renovation program for the Howard county courthouse were let by the commissioners court Friday morning.

Hubert Johnson was awarded the painting contract on a bid of $1,365.75 and the L. & L. Housing and Lumber company was given the lumber contract on a $311.75 bid. Thus, the total cost of the program will be $1,677.50.

County commissioners said that the project would consist of cleaning and repainting all woodwork in the courthouse not previously affected by a remodeling program during the past 12 months.

There will be no appreciable amount of remodeling and the chief need for materials will be in repairing various places in the building.

The contract is included under the budgeted appropriations for the year and does not affect the $150,000 appropriated for remodeling and repairs for the next fiscal year starting January 1.

FD ASKED TO CALL A SPECIAL SESSION

BOSTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars, an organization of approximately 200,000 overseas veterans, voted today to ask President Roosevelt to call a special session of congress immediately "to protect American interests" in view of the war threat abroad.

FD Hopeful We Can Stay Out Of War

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—President Roosevelt told reporters today he believed the United States could stay out of the European conflict and the administration would make every effort to keep this country out.

Meanwhile, White House sources said there would be no immediate action looking to invocation of the neutrality act or the calling of a special session of congress.

There were indications it might be a matter of days before any definite steps along those lines were taken and reporters were advised not "to get out on a limb" with stories there would be immediate developments.

The president appealed to the European powers to soften the horrors of modern warfare from the skies.

To great Britain, France, Germany, Italy and Poland, he addressed before daybreak identical messages asking each for a public pledge that it would not bombard civilian populations and unfortified cities during "the tragic conflict."

LOCAL FIELDS GET EXEMPTION FROM 2-DAY SHUTDOWN

AUSTIN, Sept. 1 (AP)—An order re-exempting the Howard-Glasscock, Itan-East Howard and Snyder fields from the Saturday and Sunday oil shutdown was issued today by the railroad commission. The commission said the exemption was due to local refinery needs.

The conservation agency adopted an emergency well spacing rule for the Loving pool, Stephens county, and called a hearing here September 12 on permanent regulations. The emergency rule called for 40-acre spacing and per-acre proration units.

Grain Prices Soar; Britain Votes Additional Fund For War Purposes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board announced officially today steps to maintain an orderly market for government bonds.

The board issued a formal statement telling all banks, whether members of the Federal Reserve system or not, that the twelve Federal Reserve banks stand ready to make them loans on any government obligations they own in order to obtain any conceivable necessity for liquidating government bonds at the critical time.

A Federal Reserve spokesman said virtually all banks have unusually large cash reserves and probably would not need such loans, but the announcement was intended to reassure government bondholders of an orderly market.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1 (AP)—Swamped with orders to buy grain, the reichtag members not only unannouncedly pledged allegiance to their fuhrer, who now is also their war lord, but formally annexed Danzig to the reich.

Hitler further declared Germany would fight against Poland alone, at least without the help of Italy, her partner in the Rome-Berlin axis.

Hitler's warm endorsement, however, of Germany's non-aggression pact with Soviet Russia, and official admission a Soviet military mission is expected soon in Berlin, probably today, left the interpretation open that Soviet Russia may yet join Germany in a "counter-bloc" against Poland.

Germany was speedily getting down to a war basis. Throughout the day the radio instructed the populace what to do under completely altered conditions.

One of the first of many far-reaching orders was a complete blackout of the capital. The orders, effective at dusk, stand for an indefinite period.

The day was crowded with fast-moving events. Orders of the day to the army, navy and airforce, admonished the nation's fighters to do all for the Fatherland. An appeal by the reich's women's leader, Gertrude Schola Klank, vied with similar appeals for support by leaders of civil servants and other organizations.

The official statement war was on came shortly after Fuhrer Hitler left the reichstag speech for his declaration he would enforce a Polish settlement or die fighting in the army gray uniform he wore.

In his passionate 36-minute reichstag speech the fuhrer declared significantly Germany does not count on Italian help. On the other hand he pictured Soviet Russia as Germany's eternal friend.

Hitler spoke as if war already was under way, but he did not go through the old-fashioned procedure of formally declaring war.

He inferred that the Rome-Berlin axis had been smashed. Germany

BRITISH BAYONETS ARE FIXED

The attitude of these British soldiers on guard at a London railway station with bayonets fixed, was typical of most of Europe as warfare flared today between Germany and Poland. It appeared that England and France, unless hand aggression is halted, soon would be helping the Poles, in accordance with their treaty. (Associated Press Radiophoto).

French Ultimatum! Other Late Flashes

PARIS, Sept. 1 (AP)—The French government tonight announced an ultimatum demanding Germany "immediately stop all aggressive actions and withdraw troops from Poland" would be handed the German government at once.

The ultimatum, the government added, states that in case of an unfavorable response, France will fulfill her obligations and go to Poland's aid.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Adolf Hitler told President Roosevelt today he had "left nothing untried for the purpose of settling the dispute between Germany and Poland in a friendly manner."

WARSAW, Sept. 1 (AP)—A communique at 5:30 p. m. today asserted the Poles had brought down four German airplanes near Gydnia, Polish port on the Baltic sea, and three others near Krakow.

Death Claims Mrs. Davis

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma Loretta Davis, 69, mother of James A. Davis, vice president and general manager of the Empire Southern Service company, will be held at 5 p. m. today at the First Methodist church.

Mrs. Davis, a long time resident of Big Spring and the widow of John A. Davis, dropped dead at her home at 809 1-2 Runnels street at 4 p. m. Thursday from heart attack. Apparently she was in good health and had been very active until her death.

Dr. J. O. Haynes, pastor of the First Methodist church, will officiate at the services and the music will be in charge of the Methodist choir.

Mrs. Davis was an active worker in the church and had participated in many of its organizations. She also was a member of the Order of Eastern Star. Mrs. Davis was a native of Illinois.

WILL RECALL ENVOY IF REPLY 'UNFAVORABLE'

LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP Via Radio)—Great Britain and France have sent their last warning to Germany, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the British parliament tonight.

"If the reply to this last warning is unfavorable, and I do not suggest that it is likely to be otherwise," Chamberlain said, "his majesty's ambassador is instructed to ask for his passport."

Both governments, Chamberlain said, had informed Adolf Hitler they regarded Germany's actions as menacing to Poland and that this called for the 'implementation' of the British-French agreement to come to the assistance of Poland.

Unless Germany was prepared immediately to withdraw its troops from Poland, Great Britain would be ready to go at once to the smaller country's support.

Hitler, he said, "has not hesitated to plunge the world into misery in order to serve his own senseless ambitions."

The prime minister said a bill would be introduced making the ages for military service between 18 and 41 years. "Mussolini has been doing his best," Chamberlain declared.

The prime minister said he did not suggest that the German reply "is likely to be otherwise," than unfavorable.

News of the German air raid on Warsaw came as he spoke.

Chamberlain declared: "We shall stand at the bar of history knowing that the responsibility for this terrible catastrophe rests on the shoulders of one man—the German chancellor!"

Appeal From Poland
The prime minister's statement came a few hours after Poland had called on Great Britain for help against Germany and after King George had signed an order for complete mobilization of the British army, navy and air force.

Chamberlain reviewed the crisis and the notes exchanged by Great Britain and Germany and asserted: "One passage from the recent communications, dated August 30, showed clearly that the final clash might have been avoided had there been at least a desire on the part of the German government to arrive at a peaceful settlement."

Chamberlain continued: "The communication said, 'The British government most strongly urge that b-h parties should undertake during the negotiations that no aggressive military movement should take place.' x x x The Polish government replied instantly, on Aug. 31, saying they would prepare on a reciprocal basis to give the formal guaranty. x x x"

"We never had any reply from the German government to that suggestion, one which, if it had been followed, might have saved the catastrophe which took place this morning."

Earlier in his speech Chamberlain asserted: "The time has come when action rather than speech is required. 'Eighteen months ago I prayed that the responsibility might not fall on me to accept the awful arbitrament of war. I fear that I am not able to avoid that responsibility.'"

As Chamberlain spoke in the house of commons, Lord Halifax, foreign secretary, spoke in the house of lords, where many of the peers already were wearing their service uniforms.

Chamberlain, dealing with Germany's contention Poland had reneged on its guarantee, said: "The French government, in a communication broadcast to the world, said: 'We are mobilizing.'"

Over A Million Children Are Sent Out Of London For Safety From War

LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP)—(Passed Through British Censorship)—London sent away its children and turned its face to the prospect of war today as more than a million youngsters, beginning at dawn, left the metropolis for safety in the English countryside.

Within the next few days more than 3,000,000 persons will have been sent from the various key cities. Today's withdrawal jammed surface traffic throughout London's business section and touched the busy "city" streets with sadness.

At the Liverpool Street and London Bridge railroad stations, in the heart of London's poorer sections, children were in line, with their mothers near by, from early morning.

There were 3,000 children in one line at London Bridge, which gave its name to a children's game.

Each had a gas mask slung over his shoulder and even the smallest

Mobilization Ordered By French Govt.

PARIS, Sept. 1 (AP)—France today ordered general mobilization, decreed a stage of siege and summoned parliament to meet tomorrow in quick reaction to Germany's invasion of Poland.

The mobilization means that every able-bodied Frenchman is called for military service and experts estimated it would put a total of 8,000,000 men under arms. Mobilization date is tomorrow.

The state of siege was proclaimed throughout France and Algeria by an emergency cabinet meeting.

French official reaction was immediate to reports that Hitler's troops were on the march in Poland and that his warplanes were bombing Polish cities.

Premier Daladier, after the cabinet meeting at Elysee Palace, went into conference with Generalissimo Maurice Gustave Gamelin at the war ministry.

Naval Minister Cesar Campinchi was called in, as was Admiral Jean Darlan, commander-in-chief of the French navy.

Hitler's swift move in the face of repeated British and French statements they would go to the aid of Poland in the event she finds it necessary to fight left the next fateful move up to those two countries.

The French government, in a communication broadcast to the world, said: "We are mobilizing."

German Bombs Are Dropped On Warsaw

WARSAW, Sept. 1 (AP)—German warplanes swooped over Warsaw this afternoon in an air attack of advance of three German armies invading this country.

I am telephoning this dispatch to Budapest with the phone in one hand and a gas mask in the other.

"From where I am, I can hear the wall of power-diving fighting ships and can see 14 German bombers slowly, steadily following the course of the Vistula river, Poland's outlet to the sea."

Apparently they are attempting to destroy all bridges.

The raid began at about 4:30 p. m. (2:30 a. m. CST) and is still continuing more than an hour later.

The German air raiders now are 5:35 p. m. (10:35 a. m. CST) are coming back after making a wide circle.

They apparently are heading to ward government buildings in the center of downtown Warsaw.

I can see puffs of anti-aircraft fire.

Although the raid is still on, there is no panic.

Across the street from me, hundreds of inhabitants are watching fascinated on roof tops.

Tremendous explosions are shaking the city and rattling windows.

Anti-aircraft shells are bursting around the bombers which are coming over at an altitude of about 6,000 feet.

Warsaw had little warning.

U. S. Warned As A Neutral

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The United States received, as a neutral, today its first warning from the German government not to violate neutrality in the air over Danzig and Poland.

The warning, forwarded to the state department by the American charge d'affaires at Berlin, Alexander C. Kirk, referred to neutral aircraft which are "warned in their own interest against flying over the territories mentioned."

"The foreign office has the honor to inform the embassy of the United States of America as follows with the request for immediate forwarding to the government of the United States of America: 'Declaration of territory of aviation warning.'

GOLF FIELD GROWS AS TROPICAL MATCHES HOLD SPOTLIGHT

The Sports Parade

By HANK HART

The first game of the Labor Day double header here between the Big Spring and Midland WT-NM league clubs will be played in the afternoon, the other at night, according to present plans of the management, it was officially announced by the management.

Though Monday is a holiday directors have decided to dedicate the afternoon game to the ladies, all women to be admitted free. Only in the evening game will all be charged.

Since the Barons have not clinched their place in the Shaughnessy playoff, the front office has not yet ordered construction of temporary bleachers to replace the grand stand recently destroyed by fire but it is practically assured that new seats will be built if the Barons beat off the threat of the Borger Gassers.

The present seating arrangement will not accommodate more than 1250 fans at the most and the directors look forward to capacity houses in event the Barons' campaign is successful.

Bong Jones, 1938 champion and established favorite, tees off for a try at medalist honors for the Sept. 2-4 Big Spring Invitational tournament Saturday morning at the country club along with Obie Bristow, Beh Farmer and John D. Ogden, Ardmore, Okla. Judge Ogden is a guest of Bristow's.

Jones and Bristow sounded out their games in a practice round Wednesday and Jones came home with a five-under-par 66.

In a scotch foursome match with Bristow they were able to negotiate the course in 64 strokes.

With Eddie Morgan ailing, it's a good bet that the 1939 title will remain in Big Spring for another year. Jones, who has been fixed in tournament play throughout the year, is hitting them straight and true and appears to be playing his best golf of the season.

Jacked Morgan, who recently made up the Big Spring Muni Invitational, may or may not get to play. Business may keep him away.

Bristow is to be reckoned with. He's been playing plenty of golf this summer. Shirley Robbins may figure, too.

Of the invaders, Morgan Neil of Odessa, Bill Shaffer of Crane and Bill Roden of Glen Rose are afforded the best chances to win.

Incidentally, Bristow and Jones may enter a tournament at Ft. Smith, Ark., later in September before calling it quits for the year.

Ramsdell Paces Barons To Win

By HANK HART

LAMESA, Sept. 1.—The Chanute tornado, Willard Ramsdell, pitched and batted the Big Spring Barons to a 7-1 victory over the Lamesa Lobos in Lamesa Thursday evening propelling the Regomen back into third place in WT-NM league standings and moving them five games in front of Borger's Gassers, who in losing to Amarillo saw their chances for a first division berth all but eliminated.

Ramsdell handcrafted the Lobos with seven scattered blows, and rattled the offerings of Jack Williams and Eddie Miller for a triple, double and single to pace a 13-hit assault the Big Springers used to win.

The Lamesans counted their only run in the eighth round when Happy Spangler and Emmett Follenwider put together base blows. Pat Stacey cracked out his 24th circuit smash of the year in the seventh round for the Barons.

Billy Capps, still bidding for the league batting championship, touched off a big Baron explosion in the second round with a triple. After Al Berndt had scored him with a single and Van Marshall had walked, Ramsdell appeared to triple for two more runs.

With that margin to work on, the Kansan had an easy time. The Big Springers added another tally in the third when Pat Stacey doubled and scored on Don Wolin's single and again in the sixth when the flinger singled to count Marshall from second base.

The two teams close out their short series with a single encounter at Lobo field tonight. Manager Rego takes his Barons to Midland Saturday where they open a five game stand with the Cowboys.

Three of the five games are to be played in Midland after which the battle scene will switch to Big Spring.

Work Resumed On Athletic Plant

After resuming activities Wednesday following a seven-day shut down, the school athletic plant WPA project swung back into full stride Thursday.

Henderson's Oilers, long-time leaders in the East Texas League race, cast more than a side glance in the direction of the Kilgore Boomers today.

The Boomers have moved within 3-1-2 games of the Oilers and during the past few weeks their losses have been far between.

Henderson at the present time is getting a lot of trouble from the seventh-place Longview White Sox who have taken two out of three last night the Sox won another one-run victory by beating the Oilers 5-4.

Meanwhile Kilgore was taking out Tyler 6-4, Texas kana was trimming Jacksonville 9-8 and Palestine beat Marshall 13-6.

Saturday Last Day To Start At Medal

Local Team Favored To Regain Cup; 90 Pay Fees

Although but few of the early qualifiers have yet approached par, it was becoming more and more apparent around the club house today that a 73 or better would be needed to rate in the championship flight in the ninth annual Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament which gets underway officially Saturday at the country club.

While Hall and Bennett trophy matches held the spotlight at the course today, prospects were bright that the starting field would exceed 100 by dusk tonight. By Thursday evening an even 90 had either paid their entrance fees or posted their qualifying scores. Officials were still predicting that last year's record, when 134 competed, would be exceeded.

Jim Brigham and W. W. Barker, local Sand Belt players, came in with 79's to best any of the marks reported Thursday.

Sammy Sain finished up with a 75 while D. P. Watt was posting a 78.

Others who reported qualifying scores were:

Red Womack, Big Spring, 93.
Chubby Heaton, Stanton, 80.
B. E. Freeman, Big Spring, 94.
Paying entrance fees were Obie Bristow, Fred Stephens, Ira Threlkorn, B. T. Cardwell, Neil Barnabe, Cornell Smith, Alton Thomas, G. R. Phillips, Franklin Nugent, Joe Glickman.
Roy Lusby and Claude Wilkins, all of Big Spring, and Bill Shaffer, Crane.

The bulk of out-of-town players are due to report Saturday.

Match play was to get underway Sunday morning with first and second round matches slated that day and semi-finals and finals due Monday. All matches are scheduled for 18 holes.

The Scotch foursome matches in the cup duels were completed this morning while the singles matches were to get underway early this afternoon.

The local team, captained by Sammy Sain, was a favorite to regain the trophy lost last year to an aggregation led by Joe Dick Slaughter, Lubbock.

Savage Stars As McGehee Wins First Game, 2 To 1

Limits Menard Team To Three Base Blows

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 1.—Sparked by Bobby Savage who limited the opposition to three scattered singles, the McGehee Super Service softball team of Big Spring nosed out Menard, 2-1, Thursday night in a first round game of the West Texas softball tournament being conducted here.

The Howard county team collected five assorted blows off Red Allen, Menard flinger, including two by Dago Herr.

Other first round victors were McCamey, which slammed Big Lake, 8-0; San Angelo's Sons of Legion, who downed Ozona, 6-4; and Eden, which outscored Eola, 13-3.

The Stationmen will swing back into action tonight against the Knights of Zocasa, San Angelo team, in a 7:30 battle.

Shakespearean Units Formed For Children

Two Of Four Groups In City Have Held Meetings

The National Junior Shakespeare Club, a new study club here for teaching children to understand the Shakespearean plays in a simple manner, has met in two groups in the last week. They have been under the direction of Miss Roberta Gay who is in charge of the club and the first group met on the north side in the high school and the second group met on the south side in the ward school. There are four groups.

The members of the club range from the third to ninth grade, and are issued simple form books containing stories of the plays with illustrations. They meet once a week and discuss one play in detail and, after extensive study, they plan to give one of the plays in the early spring.

Mrs. J. H. Parrott and Mrs. Porter Motley are sponsors of the South Side and College Heights units but their groups will not begin activity until school starts.

Country Club Night For Younger Set

It's the Country Club tonight! Well, here it is Friday again and time to shake a leg or mosh a toe at the weekly dance sponsored by the Ladies Golf association. It still costs twenty-five cents, couple or sing, to truck on down to the tune of a nickel-less nickelodeon and the kids that have tried it report the floor is as smooth as glass. The dance begins at nine and lasts until Cinderella time, 12 o'clock p. m.

CITY'S ENTRANT IN STYLE REVUE

Miss Roberta Lee Hanson (above), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hanson, will be Big Spring's representative in a "queen contest" to be staged tonight in connection with the hair style revue at the Settles hotel. Beauty "queens" from other cities also will compete for a district queen award. The public is invited to attend the revue, scheduled to start at 7:45.

Hair Style Revue Scheduled At The Settles This Evening

Inaugurating "beauty week," Sept. 1-8, in Big Spring, the Lone Star Beauticians this evening will sponsor a hair style revue at the Settles hotel ballroom at 7:45 o'clock.

While the revue will have approximately 100 models to show the latest in coiffures, the outstanding feature of the gathering will be the presentation of "beauty queens" representing Big Spring, Midland, Seagraves, Lamesa, Lubbock, Stanton, Colorado City and Sweetwater.

From this list of contestants will be chosen a district queen. Big Spring's representative is Roberta Lee Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hanson.

The public is urged to attend the revue to see models display dramatic, wearable and practical hair styles in vogue for the autumnal season. With so large a number of models, women will be able to pick out coiffures most adaptable to their own needs.

Immediately following the revue, there will be a dance at the Settles lasting until 1 a. m. Saturday. The Lubbock-Swingsters will furnish the music. It is a script affair.

All arrangements are in charge of the Lone Star Beauticians, recently organized unit composed of Mrs. Stewart-McDowell, Bonnie Lee Beauty Shop, Brownfield Beauty Shop, The Beauty Box, Youth Beauty Shop, Nobia's Beauty Salon, Starr Beauty Shop and Crawford Beauty Shop.

Mrs. Eva O'Neal Pickett, president of the organization, is supervising the function, one of the largest of its kind ever held in West Texas.

Dolls, Stickhorses Displayed As Recreational Periods Concluded

One phase of the city-wide recreational program—that of regular play periods at the city park—was concluded Thursday afternoon. It was a grand finale, with a doll festival and a stick horse show to attract more than the usual crowd. Some little girls brought dolls as big as themselves, dolls that were carefully dressed to participate in a contest for the "most beautiful." The boys contested, too, for the distinction of being the most graceful stick-horse rider. Recreational Supervisor H. F. Malone was in charge of the program.

The show opened with a parade, the girls coming first and carrying dolls that ranged from a mammy's child to a bathing beauty; the boys following and riding calmly and with dignity. Blue ribbons were awarded to the winners after careful deliberation.

Next came the stick horse races, which lasted only a short time but stirred up a lot of dust. The winner of the race was also the winner of the riding contest. The stick horse staid riding followed and, amid the wild cheers of the crowd, the horses bucked and bounced, until a winner was announced.

Finally, the Doll Amateur Show took place on a small stage in the center of the playground. The dolls were placed upon the stage and their owner stood behind and recited or sang songs. The first prize was given to the huge doll, Dopey, that moved his mouth energetically but didn't say a word.

After the show the children played games and were served candy and cookies.

This form of entertainment for the children has been taking place all summer and each week something different was planned but none of the shows was ever rehearsed or planned in detail. The children are planning a play to be given soon.

Roads More Dangerous

The public is relaxing its vigilance, and so the national deathrate from traffic accidents is beginning to climb again.

Until last June traffic deaths had steadily declined for 14 months in Texas, following a national trend downward.

Altogether 858 Texans died in traffic accidents during the seven months ending with July.

It is frightening to see the trend change from downward to upward again, after two or three years of steady campaigning in behalf of public safety.

There has been more travel this summer than usual, owing to the two world fairs at opposite sides of the country.

Let down again, and the long, hard campaign to build up public consciousness of the need for caution must be done all over again.

There has been a letdown in this respect, Texas, for instance, is today dismissing scores of highway patrolmen whose jobs were abolished when Governor C. Daniel vetoed certain appropriation bills.

Better be more careful hereafter. The roads are more dangerous than they were three months ago.

Too, they are more dangerous at holiday periods, when travelers and pleasure-seekers make traffic lanes congested.

Keep it a real holiday by driving safely and sanely.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

"Nurse Edith Cavell." Screenplay by Michael Hogan. Directed by Herbert Wilcox.

HOLLYWOOD—Here is a beautiful and moving recital of the tragic story of the English nurse in Belgium whose death before a German firing squad during the war aroused the civilized world.

The picture is the first American-made by the British star-producer team, Neagle and Wilcox, and it retains the essential flavor of the pair's British productions—unhurried, quiet, convincing; it is an important story.

Miss Neagle's Cavell is a performance brilliant for its lack of flashiness, for its quiet sincerity, its scorn for acting pyrotechnics.

Suspense is admirably maintained throughout, especially in the scenes of Cavell's assistance to Allied prisoners escaping Brussels—the "crime" for which she paid with her life.

In the supporting cast the meatiest role is Miss Oliver's, and it is played with somewhat less ramping than is her wont.

"Golden Boy." Screenplay by Lewis Meltzer, Daniel Taradash, Sarah Y. Mason, Victor Heerman from Clifford Odets' play.

The search for a hero for this film can now be pronounced a success.

The picture is brilliantly dialogued, fast-moving, searching and highly dramatic.

Memoires, probably too concerned over his head, Holden, let Callie's gangster go overboard to send burlesque—the picture's one glaring fault.

Meet Mr. Lochinvar

Chapter 37: END OF THE SEASON. At noon, Laura came in alone. "Cecily," she said without preamble, "Donald is waiting for me at the inn. We've been to see Locke and I want you to go and see him yourself."

"What will I say to him?" "I can't tell you. You'll know what to say. I can't say anything else. But please believe that you can trust Donald."

"Is everything all right?" "Yes, Laura smiled broadly. "Everything is all right between me and Donald. And, Cecily..."

"Don't expect men to have faith and remember that women need it," she said cryptically. While Cecily was trying to formulate questions, she turned and was gone.

"They know!" Cecily said softly. Her knees actually knocked together as she approached Locke's cabin. Her pulse beat wildly in her throat and her back felt spineless.

"Come in!" Locke called cheerfully. She pushed open the door. He was sitting before a typewriter. Papers littered the table.

"Oh, hello!" he said. "Excuse the litter." He collected the papers hastily, sweeping them up from his only other chair. "I was...er... writing some reports."

Cecily stood backed against the door. Now that she was here she couldn't find any words in her dry throat. She felt rigid, paralyzed in her limbs.

"Would you sit down? I might even invite you to lunch if you'll have..." "Please, Locke!"

He saw that she was trembling made a step toward her. "No, please," she said. "Don't come any nearer."

"What's wrong?" he asked, his face gone somber. "You know," she accused. "Perhaps I don't," he said slowly. "Or perhaps I don't want to believe it. Why did you come here?"

She swallowed, unable to say it. Her eyes, dark and steady, did not leave his face. "Do you want to hear me say that I am a thief?" he asked, his voice controlled. And when she didn't answer:

"Or did you come to tell me that I am one?" "No," she whispered. His face relaxed then. His voice was very gentle when he said, "Did you come to warn me, Cecily?"

"Perhaps." "And for what else?" "To hear you deny it," she said so low that he could hardly hear her.

"Only Your Heart" He laughed with no mirth. "A woman's faith is a beautiful thing."

Laura had told her she must have faith. "Will you tell me who you are? What you're doing here?" He shook his head slowly. "I'll believe you, whatever you say," she pleaded. "I don't see how any pride left. I don't know

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—At last Representative Ham Fish has hit the international jackpot. He introduced into the Interparliamentary union as Oslo a resolution suggesting that a conference of little nations and some big ones form a court of mediation to help keep the big nations out of war.

Yet right on the heels of the New Yorker's resolution came a call from King Leopold of Belgium for just such a conference.

Maybe Ham Fish's resolution wasn't the cause of it all. But why quibble? He recommended the thing and the king did it. Any member of congress is entitled to make one-two-three out of such a perfect sequence.

A whopping success like that might change Fish's whole outlook on life. He is one of Harvard's contributions to government who did NOT come to Washington with eyes a-sparkle to help make the country over before next payday.

SEES FEWER "REDS" Ever since 1936, when he headed one of the most flowery congressional "Red" hunts, Representative Fish has seen a communist in every pot and two Nazis in every garage.

Representative Fish, however, has shown some signs of reduced alarm. In 1936 he deplored "the growing signs of hysteria over communism in America and the unfortunate attempts to link all liberals with communist activities."

"The United States," he added, "is freer from communistic appeal among the wage earners than any other nation in the world."

HE GUESSED WRONG Representative Fish had singularly bad luck forecasting the war. He made a bluff tour of Europe before the Oslo conference, interviewing heads of the various major governments.

He is an outright isolationist, and his isolationism has remained consistent. On a stop in Kansas City one day he was besieged by successive groups of reporters. To each he insisted that the United States should keep its soldiers out of China and not "pick the chestnuts out of the fire for the British empire."

"Aw, Dad," said his young son, weary of such consistency, "you already told that to three other reporters."

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Home is where you hang your hat if you write for a newspaper in New York, and home tonight is an oak-paneled cellar two flights beneath a great New York hotel.

I came down here because in New York it is very hot, and down here the temperature hangs at an even 68 every day in the year, and because an atmosphere like this is conducive to good fellowship.

And so tonight I'm learning about bottles and labels, and contents. This is an underground cavern crammed with more than $60,000 worth of spirits.

We are not on the Gold standard, but here is hoarded gold that doesn't have to be declared to the government. It is in fine, minute flakes...

On two tiers of shelves are 17 varieties of rum... Rum from the sugar can, plantations of the West Indies... Rum from India—actually, rum from India.

My host's name is George, same as mine. But there the similarity ends, because he owns a hotel and a cellar, and I own the shirt on my back.

"Now here is a mighty pretty bottle," intones George, "but I wouldn't touch it if you paid me to touch it." He picked up a triangular-shaped little affair from Russia that contained a concoction brewed from mare's milk.

Now don't get me wrong. Not a cork was pulled... I wouldn't stand for it... I went down there to cool off, not to wreck my health.

Host George then grabbed off a half dozen small bottles, wrapped them up, and handed them to me... Now as I said awhile ago, don't get me wrong...

Midway School Opening Date Set Sept. 11

In a recent meeting the Midway school board decided to postpone the opening of the 1939-40 session until September 11.

Since the Midway pupils in the eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh grades will attend the high schools in Coahoma and Big Spring, both of which start on the 11th of September, it was decided to open the Midway school on the same date.

A large amount of new equipment that has been ordered for the school has been delayed and it is hoped that it will arrive before the 11th.

Plans are being drawn for the construction of a gymnasium at Midway in the near future, and it is believed that by allowing an extra week before beginning school the plans can be completed and the school will be able to realize benefit from the gym for an extra week during this school year.

MAID OF MARS—Russia, too, stages gas-alarms in her factories. Here is a soviet worker in a Glavkonserv food cannery.

MIDDLE-WEIGHTS—Two pro footballers, Lou Midler and Dan Campbell, find to their sorrow that the summer left a deposit of extra flesh and soft muscles, which accounts for the butting act being staged at the Pittsburgh Pirates' pro camp near Two Rivers, Wis. Midler, a former Minnesota star, is a tackle; Campbell played at Carnegie Tech. He's a guard tackle.

DUTCH DYNASTY—Held by her grandmother, Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, Princess Beatrix inspects her little sister, Princess Irene. The latter was born Aug. 5 to Crown Princess Juliana, bringing disappointment to the Dutch people who'd been hoping for a crown prince in the royal family. On the right is Princess Armgard Lippe-Diesterfeld, paternal grandmother.

BOOTED—Back home at Hagerstown, Md., Elwood "Boots" Poffenberger casts around for a tannery or brickyard job after being ruled out of the major leagues for failure to report to Montreal after being ordered there by the Dodgers.

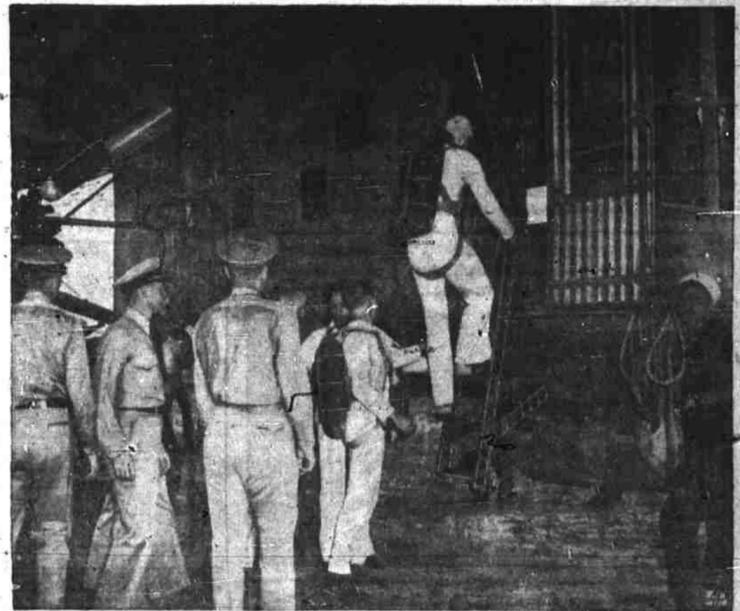

PIPES OF PEACE—Clutching two pipes, Earl Baldwin of Bewdley spoke in New York, reviewing the threat of war between political systems and saying "A democrat should be prepared to die for his ideals, as Nazis and Communists are for theirs."

HONEST, MISTER—Hand to heart, Al Lopez of the Boston Bees is shown as he assured Umpire Moran that the ump's decision in a Phils' game was wrong. (It wasn't!)

HAPPY LANDING—Recruit Paul Dunbar can be pardoned for the relief he feels, after his first parachute jump at the naval air station, Lakehurst. He's from Annapolis, Md.

SCHOOL DAYS IN A BLIMP—Heading for their first parachute jump, these recruits at the Lakehurst naval air station in Lakehurst, N. J., climb into a navy blimp. "Chute jumping is considered a necessary part of a student flyer's training, since the navy aviators must be able to "ball out" safely. Thoron's instruction in technique preceded these actual jumps.

FILM PROSPECTS—Granting of permission by London County Council that she can work in films—but for 8 hours daily and with a tutor nearby—brings movie career nearer Peggy Cummins, 14, seen at Surrey, England, with Patricia Rock.

SPRING DELIVERY—From the Nashville Vols, of which his dad is manager, Charley Gilbert (above), 20, an outfielder, will go to Dodgers. A left-hander, Charley and another Vols' outfielder, Calvin Chapman, brought a reported $40,000.

TAX TROUBLE—Bonds totaling $175,000 were posted by Publisher H. Ross L. Annenberg (above), his son, Walter, and two business associates at Chicago, pending their trial on charges of evading $5,543,324 tax, plus penalties, on the publisher's income.

HOW GLIMMERS GREW DIMMER—Workmen remove glimmers from the tunnel used during a recent London "blackout" war drill. Some 1,200 such lights marked road obstructions.

announced that, as soon as parliament assemblies Sept. 7 in emergency session, it would be asked to authorize the government to give the most effective cooperation to Great Britain in the present crisis.

LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP)—(Passed Through British Censorship)—The British Press association said today it understood parliament would reconvene at 10 a. m. (3 a. m. CST) tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Adolf Hitler sent President Roosevelt today his reply to the president's appeal for peace last week.

The German embassy forwarded it to the state department this morning, and the department was expected to make it public shortly.

A well-informed person described the reply as being "very positive."

BELGRADE, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Yugoslav government announced today that it was awaiting the development of the European situation before issuing a proclamation of neutrality, which already has been drafted.

BUCHAREST, Sept. 1 (AP)—King Carol called a crown council today to proclaim neutrality. It was expected the government would order general mobilization to protect the frontiers.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Danish parliament was called for a meeting tonight and a declaration of Danish neutrality in any European conflict was expected during the afternoon.

Officials indicated five army masses, aggregating about 40,000 men, would be called to the colors.

Bombing

heard the anti-aircraft guns before we heard the screams of air-raid alarm sirens.

If the bombers have tied up traffic over the steel railroad bridge spanning the Vistula it is a serious blow for Poland's traffic from here to the coast and to the west.

The Germans apparently tried for definite military objectives. There was no sign of incendiary bombs.

Reports have started reaching here of German air attacks elsewhere in Poland.

A large number of women and children were killed, a government communique said, when German planes bombed a refugee train from Poznan at the Kutno station, 70 miles west of Warsaw.

The first air raid on Polish territory, it said, occurred at Puck near Danzig—at 5:40 a. m. (10:40 p. m. CST, last night).

It said three German planes were shot down near Krakow, four others near Gdynia—the Polish port on the same harbor as Danzig—and that Polish troops had seized a German armored train at Chojnice.

The communique charged German troops invading Pomorze (the Polish corridor) were "murdering the Polish population."

"Contrary to Hitler's announcement," the communique said, "many of the towns bombed had no military or strategic value."

France

nation, placed blame for the outbreak of hostilities on Germany.

The statement declared Germany "without provocation on behalf of the Poles" crossed the frontier early this morning, at the same time bombing Polish cities.

This attack, the statement added, was being prepared last night even while Germany was seeking by official channels to throw the blame on Poland.

The French added Germany never sent its propositions to Poland in a valid diplomatic fashion and never tried to carry on normal diplomatic relations with Poland.

Parisians maintained calm. The French capital, although partly evacuated in response to previous government requests, was still getting up with people.

Dispatches by Havas, French news agency, said Warsaw, Krakow, Gdynia and numerous other Polish cities had been bombed as the Germans pressed their offensive.

Havas said the Polish Ambassador to Berlin, Josef Lipski, had informed the reich government Poland would resist German aggression with all her forces. (A Warsaw radio announcer reported that Polish guns had brought down a German bomber 30 kilometers from Warsaw.)

(The announcer added, Havas said, that intended air raids on Warsaw had been repulsed by anti-aircraft units.)

Two German armies were reported here to be striking swift, hard blows toward the heart of Poland in an apparent effort to pinch off the corridor before the French and British war machines could be brought into action.

One German army was reported striking southwest from East Prussia and another moving northeast toward German Silesia. The apparent objective was to form a junction a few miles west of Warsaw, cutting off virtually the western third of Poland which borders on Germany.

German strategy has long been considered to depend upon a quick conquest of Poland, proclaim the situation is under control and then ask Poland's allies what there is to fight about.

United States Ambassador William C. Bullitt went far into the night and was at his office again early this morning. He has been in almost continuous conference with French officials.

Reports reaching here said the army attacking from East Prussia was fanned out in the direction of Dzialdolo, Milawa and Ciechanow, the southernmost of these objectives, is only 75 miles north of Warsaw, midway from the German frontier.

The Silesian Army was reported sweeping into the rich Polish mining area surrounding Cestochowa in southwestern Poland. At the same time reports reaching Paris said German divisions spread out along the Slovakian-Polish border were leaning heavily in order to hold an estimated 100,000 Polish troops out of the main campaign.

There was no news reaching Paris to indicate what resistance was being put up by the Poles or what success was attending German efforts.

It was announced here, however, the German plan for a lightning day to the Nazi troops was a spectacular advance before the French parliament can meet tomorrow.

Military observers in Paris do not believe Germany will make any overt acts against France or Britain for the moment, preferring to force them to attack along the Rhine-frontier. It is not believed, either, Germany would make any effort to draw Italy into the conflict until such time as France and Britain are definitely involved.

Cabinet

he said, does not count on Italian help.

He vowed eternal friendship for Soviet Russia.

The supreme Nazi leader declared to his nation and the world that Germany would fight until the Polish government yields or is supplanted by a government that will yield.

He threatened to answer "bomb with bomb and gas with gas"—depending on the sort of warfare Poland wages.

The reichstag unanimously shouted its approval of a law annexing Danzig—original bone of German-Polish contention.

The German radio announced the league of nations commissioner for Danzig, Prof. Carl Burckhardt, and his staff had left Danzig.

The German swastika immediately was raised over the red brick house which had been headquarters of league commissioners since after the World War Danzig became a free city under league protection and a unit of the Polish customs administration.

Hitler declared his intention to lead his forces at the front and named Field Marshal Goerring as his first choice for succession to the Nazi leadership if he were killed.

He called Germany's army the best-equipped in the world and confidently assured Germany "there will not be another November 1918."

A few hours earlier Hitler had ordered his mighty army to "meet force with force" and artillery fire was heard near the Polish-Silesian border.

The sound of cannonading rumbled over the Silesian fields near Gleiwitz on the Polish frontier.

The German fleet swung into action on the Baltic. It blockaded the Polish port of Gdynia, neighbor of Danzig.

German warships started clearing neutral shipping off the Baltic.

The German air defense ordered the grounding of all but military planes and threatened to shoot down other German and foreign planes.

Germany tensed herself to repel air attacks. Schools were dismissed. War conditions prevailed all along the eastern frontier.

Numerous overnight skirmishes ushered in the heavy fighting along the Polish-German border.

But Hitler withheld his order to strike in force until after dawn. Then in an order of the day to his massed forces he declared German patience had been exhausted by Polish "provocations."

Danzig meanwhile was cut off from telephone communication and it was assumed Poles had cut communication lines in Pomorze, the Polish corridor, which Hitler has demanded as Germany's own.

There were no reports of Polish resistance in Danzig and it remained uncertain whether the Poles would fight for the free city.

The proclamation by which Axel Forster, chief of state for the Nazi-ruled free city handed Danzig back to the reich took immediate effect in Danzig.

Poland was declared dangerous territory for foreigners.

Despite the tension Berlin was outwardly calm. Stores were open. Housewives stood in line before the meat shops.

Many persons remained close to radios to hear the frequent news bulletins and official statements.

But the citizenry was completely in the dark as to developments outside Germany and the zone of hostilities.

"What are France and England doing?" This was a frequent question.

A government spokesman denied reports by Warsaw radio that the German air force was bombing open Polish cities, including Krakow, Katowice and Gdronow.

"Our planes bombed military objectives near these cities," the spokesman said, "but no attack was made on defenseless towns or on the Polish population."

The propaganda ministry announced two war bulletins would be issued daily, at noon and 4:30.

Ham Has Choice Place On The Menu For Labor Day Feasts

By MARTHA LOGAN

Whether Labor Day plans include company at home or a picnic abroad, the choice of many menu planners will be some form of ham. And what an interesting choice that is with the many types of ham from which to choose. So many women are still confused over the many kinds of ham. To cook or not to cook? To parboil or not to parboil? Yet the answer is obvious if shoppers will just read the labels on the ham. The answers are given with the package.

flagrantly with which the world is now confronted."

Otherwise Mr. Roosevelt said "hundreds of thousands of innocent human beings who have no responsibility for, and who are not even remotely participating in the hostilities which have now broken out will lose their lives."

Mr. Roosevelt was expected to call congress into special session to revise the neutrality laws.

The president slept but little last night.

One of his earliest steps was to order all naval vessels and army posts notified of hostilities.

In his message about aerial bombing, Mr. Roosevelt said: "The ruthless bombing from the air of civilians in unfortified centers of population during the course of the hostilities which have raged in various quarters of the earth during the past few years which have resulted in the maiming and in the death of thousands of defenseless women and children," the president said, "has sickened the hearts of every civilized man and woman and has profoundly shocked the conscience of humanity."

"If resort is had to this form of inhuman barbarism during the period of the tragic conflagration with which the world is now confronted, hundreds of thousands of innocent human beings who have no responsibility for, and who are not even remotely participating in, the hostilities which have now broken out, will lose their lives."

"I am therefore addressing this urgent appeal to every government which may be engaged in hostilities publicly to affirm its determination that its armed forces shall in no event and under no circumstances undertake the bombardment from the air of civilian populations or of unfortified cities upon the understanding that these same rules of warfare will be scrupulously observed by all of their opponents. I request an immediate reply."

One factor creating immediate concern in the capital was the presence of many Americans in Europe who have been unable to obtain passage home.

There was speculation naval vessels in European waters might be ordered to lend a hand to merchant ships in evacuating Americans.

MARKETS
Wall Street
By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—War fever turned an early rout in today's stock market into a spectacular upward reversal for many shares that had tumbled as much as 8 points at the worst. Gains of 1 to 8 were widely distributed at the finish, although an assortment of issues failed to participate.

Selling was fast in the first hour, but dried up near mid-day with recoveries seen here and there. Numerous bids "under the market" were then withdrawn, brokers reported, and the list took another dip.

War commodities soared and demand then turned brisk for shares of sugar companies, coppers, chemicals and aircrafts. Steels reversed themselves in the last lap and most posted substantial net advances. Losses in other groups were cancelled in many instances at the close.

jected her 16 proposals for peace, asserted: "These proposals have never been communicated by Germany to Poland at all."

The momentous Polish step in invoking the British Polish mutual assistance treaty was made on the grounds of German aggression against Poland.

(A radio broadcast to the United States by J. C. Stark, Associated Press chief of bureau in London, said parliament might approve a declaration of war on Germany.)

(He said the British public felt the government already might have given Germany an ultimatum to cease hostilities against Poland or Britain would declare war.)

(On highest authority, he said, it can be said Great Britain and France are inflexibly determined to go to Poland's aid.)

The government has ordered lighting restrictions, effective tonight, which amount virtually to a general blackout of all England.

The Polish ambassador, Count Edward Raczyński, delivered his country's appeal in a call on Lord Halifax, British foreign secretary.

Afterward, Count Raczyński predicted confidently: "Great Britain will come to our aid."

His visit followed official reiteration Britain and France were determined to fulfill their obligations to Poland.

Russia Announces Complete Victory In Far-East Fight

MOSCOW, Sept. 1 (AP)—Tass, official news agency, announced today that a Japanese-Manchoukuoan force had been "liquidated" by a Soviet-Outer Mongolian land and air offensive along the common border of Manchoukuoan and Outer Mongolia.

The announcement gave no estimate of the strength of the enemy force, but said the troops were double-flanked and suffered "great losses in manpower and equipment" between Aug. 21 and 23.

"On the night of Aug. 28-29 the remnants of the Japanese-Manchoukuoan troops in the territory of the Mongolian peoples republic were liquidated and Mongol-Soviet troops firmly established themselves in positions along the state frontier of the Mongolian peoples republic," Tass said.

The announcement recited great losses by the Japanese air force—totaling 235 planes shot down Aug. 5 to 30, inclusive, as against 25 for the soviet force.

In the "liquidation," Tass said, 294 Manchoukuoan soldiers voluntarily went over to the soviet side and the soviet force captured 124 field guns of various sizes, 67 heavy machine-guns, 94 light machine-guns, 35 trench mortars, 9,000 rifles, 12,000 shells of various calibers, eight tanks, eight armored cars, 14 tractors, 68 trucks and 18 passenger cars.

Dr. Smith Must Stand Trial On Tax Charges

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 1 (AP)—Judge Wayne G. Borah in United States district court here today ruled that Dr. James M. Monroe Smith, former president of Louisiana State university, must stand trial on federal income tax charges.

After brief arguments Judge Borah overruled a demurrer to an indictment charging Smith with evasion of tax on approximately $20,000 of alleged income in 1936 and dismissed a motion asking for a bill of particulars.

The defendant thereupon was arraigned on the income tax evasion indictment, entered a not guilty plea and was returned to the federal jail.

Dr. Smith, Seymour Weiss, and three others are to go to trial Tuesday on mail fraud charges in connection with the alleged double sale of Bienville hotel furniture to L. S. U.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 1 (AP)—James M. Smith, under indictment with Dr. James M. Smith, former president of Louisiana State university, today was expelled from membership in the New Orleans Cotton Exchange.

Brown, who served as intermediate broker for Dr. Smith in his market speculations, was indicted by the East Baton Rouge parish grand jury June 30 on a charge of aiding and abetting Dr. Smith in embezzlement.

Brown recently was dropped from the Chicago board of trade. He is a New Orleans broker.
