Vietnam War Claims First Littlefield Man

AROLD (DOC) BOWMAN, left, receives congratulations from his closest challenger in the Leader-News football contest, Floyce Pierce. Bowman picked 152 games correctly during the season, almost 80 per cent, and Pierce's final score of 151 for the two tickets to the Cotton Bowl of $25 expense money. Incidentally, Bowman was picking Texas over Kansas in yesterday's national championship game.

Jimmy Burk Dies In Combat Mission

The Vietnam War is over for Sp/4 Jimmy Burk who wanted to do his part so the people he loved wouldn't have to see war.

Jimmy Burk, 22, son of Dr. and Mrs. Glenn Burk, paid the supreme sacrifice. Sunday enemy fire shot down the helicopter he was flying in while on a combat mission from Bien Hoa in South Vietnam where he was stationed as a scout dog trainer.

"Even with so many people against this war," he wrote his family and friends on Nov. 11, "If I can do my part to insure that the people I love will never have to see war, then I have accomplished something and our being here has some meaning after all."

He worried about his country being torn apart by war. "I wish more people in the United States would realize just how good we have it," he said. "I've seen the look on these peoples' faces over here. It is a look of hunger, of poverty, of fear. If more people in the U. S. would ask themselves, 'How would I like to be in their place?' I feel assured there would be less anti-Vietnam demonstrations and more support for the men here."

He told how the small minority of demonstrators made the servicemen sometimes feel that they were in Vietnam for nothing and that the people back home didn't really care. "Personally, I can't complain," he wrote, "because I have received nothing but letters of encouragement and faith."

He thanked everyone for their letters and made an appeal to everyone who had a son, a relative, a friend, or just an occasional acquaintance in Vietnam to write and "let him know you care that he is here. I guarantee that he will appreciate your consideration more than you can possibly imagine. It is knowing that someone cares that keeps guys going here in Vietnam."

"When you go to bed tonight say a little prayer for the men over here," he said, "Let us work together to show that the men who have died over here already have not died for nothing. Let us put our faith and hope in God that this war will not be long in coming to an end," he concluded.

Jimmy Burk was born in Littlefield, graduated from LHS and is the first Littlefield resident to be killed in action in Vietnam.

He played football three years and lettered in basketball and track two years each.

He attended North Texas State University at Denton and South Plains College before entering the Army in July, 1968.

He was scheduled for a rest and recuperation leave in February, and had asked for an early leave to return to college. He could have been shipped out of Vietnam in May.

Survivors include his parents, two brothers, Don and Roy, and a sister Kay; and his grandparents, Mrs. Ruth Burk of Littlefield and Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Rea of Anton.

Final funeral arrangements have not yet been made. Services will be conducted at 385 Highway Church of Christ and interment will be in the Littlefield Memorial Park.

"OUR BEING HERE HAS SOME MEANING"

THE FLAG at Littlefield Post Office flew at half mast Saturday in memory of Sp-4 Jimmy Burk, who died last Sunday in a helicopter crash in Vietnam.

HEW Edict Changes Migrant Health Rules

By JOELLA LOVVORN
News Editor, Leader-News

The federal government Thursday night told the City of Littlefield it must replace one employe and dismiss another in the federally funded Littlefield-Lamb County Migrant Health Project.

An angered city council discussed pros and cons of the governmental proclamation and the project in general, before finally voting to continue sponsorship of the program for 1970.

Representatives from the Dallas and Lubbock Health, Education and Welfare office (HEW) said one registered nurse would have to be replaced Jan. 1 by a nurse's aid of Mexican-American descent and that the project's sanitation inspector would have to be dismissed a year later.

The new rules were given the council by Robert Winston, assistant migrant health representative from Dallas; Dr. Tom Newman of Dallas, HEW medical consultant; and Jerry Delashaw of Lubbock, HEW district sanitarian.

Discussion of the Migrant Health Project took up most of the council's time at a meeting in which the group also voted to assist the Lamb County Community Center with operating funds.

Before voting to continue the Migrant Health Program, the council debated the issue at length in trying to decide whether to accept the four new rules and go ahead, or discontinue the project altogether.

New rules put before the council in order to keep getting federal funds for the project included:

1. Dismiss one registered nurse and replace her with a nurse's aid of Mexican-American descent. (The HEW representatives said this was necessary because a majority of people served are of Mexican-American descent and this would eliminate language barriers.)
2. Establish a community advisory committee made up primarily of migrants in the area.
3. Dismiss the sanitation inspector after 1970 because funds will not be provided by the U. S. Public Health Department after that time.
4. Serve more migrants than in the past. (HEW representatives felt the nurses should knock on doors and find the sick migrant who needs help.)

In Lamb County last year, more than 300 migrants were treated in more than 600 visits, so councilmen felt some good has come from having the project in the county.

When the final decision had to be made, most of the councilmen commented they "had mixed emotions about it," and decided they'd "take it and do the best we can in spite of the limitations and hardships the rules may bring to the program."

City Manager Jim Shearer said a meeting was called with the staff Friday morning, to inform them of action taken.

"We just couldn't go in and pick one of those well qualified nurses and fire

Interested singers will meet the next two Tuesday nights at First Methodist Church for rehearsal at 7:30.

Littlefield Ministerial Alliance is sponsoring the event and is hoping a 25 or 30-voice choir can be formed.

Al Jordan, minister of music and education for First Baptist Church, will be directing the chorus, Charlotte Hinds will be accompanying at the piano and Earl Miller, noted organist and music teacher from Wayland Baptist College in Plainview, will play the organ.

IT'S BEGINNING to look a lot like Christmas all around the town. Shirley Pickrell adds icicles to the tree in the lobby of the Lamb County Courthouse. This is her fourth year to decorate the "official" county tree and add a festive touch to the house of records.

Ballard-Carl Vows Pledged

The altar of the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Odessa was decorated with three seven-branched arched candelabra entwined with emerald foliage and contained ivory wedding tapers for the formal marriage of Miss Sharon Sue Ballard and John Dick Carl. Rev. Frank L. Seaman officiated the double ring ceremony at 3 p.m. Nov. 22. Behind the wooden cross of the communion table was an arrangement of polished greens. Family pews were marked with white bridal satin ribbons. Mrs. D. D. Andrews at the organ provided organ accompaniment for Miss Harriett Snider in wedding selections of "The Lord's Prayer" and "A Wedding Prayer." Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ballard of Gatesville. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Carl of Littlefield. Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore an original gown designed by Mrs. Robert Graham of white crepe in Juliet fashion. The romantic creation featured high, stand-up collar, fitted bodice, long full sleeves gathered to deep cuffs fastening with tiny self-covered buttons, and empire waist accented with bias band. The skirt corded with self fabric, formed a full-sweep chapel train in back. Her head was adorned with an original profile headpiece created by Mrs. Gene Hurt of pearl-edged leaves from the fabric of her gown, accented with pearl sprays, crystal trim and fresh stephanotis. Lengths of delicate pearls and stephanotis fell from either side framing her face. From the headdress fell her fingertip, three-tiered veil of illusion edged in wide lace. Her only piece of jewelry was a cameo locket. She carried a bouquet in natural curving cascade of gardenias and stephanotis, interspersed with pearls and Bally ivy. Mrs. Bearden, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Sue Ann Clardy of Odessa and Lynda Rieves of Lubbock. The attendants were attired in brown and ivory crepe dresses of carpet length. The ivory crepe gowns were softly gathered to brown yokes accented with jeweled necklines, and featured short sleeves and back belts held by two buttons. Their headpieces were formed of ivory crepe flower petals and pearl spirals covered with ivory tulle. They carried fall sheafs of wheat, Peruvian lilies, bronze mums and variegated croton leaves. Burr Heathman of Dallas served as best man. Groomsmen were Tommy White and David Tullos, both of Lubbock. Ushers were Paul Bearden, brother-in-law of the bride; Keith Kisner and Gary Strickland, both of Lubbock. Fathers of the couple and the bridegroom's attendants wore boutonnieres of Peruvian lilies. The mother of the bride wore an ivory crepe dress and crocheted coat costume suit with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother selected a beige crepe dress, fashioned with long tunic in embroidered design of matching material, with matching accessories. Both dresses were fashioned with Juliet sleeves, fastening with tiny self-covered buttons.

MRS. JOHN DICK CARL

Their corsages were bronzed green cymbidium orchids. The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was laid with a white satin cloth with pleated skirt. Her tiered and columned cake of chocolate, iced in white, was crowned with Peruvian lilies, bronze mums and wisps of smilax. The bottom tier was three interlocking rings. The second tier held a smaller cluster of fresh flowers. The base tiers held two bisque cherubs entwined with smilax and completed with a large cluster bouquet of flowers. An elegant nine-branched silver candelabrum held crystal votive cups. The diamond cut punch bowl was encircled with smilax and appointments of silver and crystal completed the table. A wedding punch and nuts were served. Miss Linda Beadles registered guests. Miss Charlotte Sassman and Mrs. Jerral Galva served cake and Miss Gals Perry ladeled punch. Members of the houseparty wore corsages of ivory chrysanthemums. The registration table held the bride's book, a fall arrangement of candles, and baskets filled with rice bags. Bags were created of ivory tulle, brown ribbons and small, ivory straw flowers, distributed by Misses Kimberly and Leslie Sheets. For a wedding trip to Red River, N. M., the bride wore a gold wool belted tunic suit with ornate buckle, dark ranch mink trim, fur hat and brown accessories. She wore the gardenia corsage lifted her bridal bouquet. The bride is a graduate of Gatesville High School received her B. S. degree from Texas Tech University Lubbock. Juice oranges, grapefruit, sweet potatoes, cabbage, carrots, tomatoes and locally grown mustard, collard and turnip greens are in best supply at the most economical prices this week.

These fruits and vegetables add the vitamins A and C half of all Americans lack in their diets, says Mrs. Lady Clare Phillips, County Home Demonstration Agent.

Other economical items include apples, bananas, Tokay grapes, russet potatoes, celery, dry yellow onions and cranberries.

Cauliflower, eggplant, green beans, broccoli and yellow squash are moderately priced.

At meat counters, Mrs. Phillips suggests homemakers look for best beef values on round steaks and roasts, ground beef, short ribs and chuck roasts and steaks.

Pork values include picnics, shoulder roasts and steaks, end-cut loin roasts and chops and pork liver.

Fryers remain a good buy in most meat departments and grade A large size eggs offer the best quality and economy in eggs.

THE FARMER'S WIFE Sex Detector?

By LIBBY MUDGETT

"OKAY, MEN. You are now ALMOST ready for combat."
"Whaddya mean, almost, Sarge? They told us when we finished combat training at Camp Last Stop that we were READY."
"That was BEFORE, dear boy, BEFORE."
"Before what, Sarge?"

"BEFORE THE NEW method of combat fighting in Vietnam. Uh, that policy came into effect while you boys were on the way over here."

"You mean that now we can try to win?"
"Uh, no, not exactly. It's not THAT much different. It's just that we gotta be more careful."

"Shucks, Sarge, we learned all about that at Last Stop. It was called Survival, the purpose of which was to remain among the living."

"I DON'T MEAN more careful THAT way, men. I mean we gotta be more careful the other way around."

"Sarge, just what are you tryin' to tell us?"

"We gotta be careful about who we shoot, fellas. Now I know that at Last Stop you were taught that anytime you had reason to suspect someone was endangering your life that you were to fire away, but that's been changed. It's bad for public relations."

"WHAT PUBLIC?"

"You know, just the public. This new method involves a lot more equipment and that's what I'm here to demonstrate. Now the first thing you will be issued in addition to your regular gear is this little gadget. It's called a sex detector."

"Sarge, you ARE kiddin'?"

"Man, I was never more serious in my life. Now then, when you aim this little gadget at any moving object, seen or heard, half seen or half heard, and it registers female, under no circumstances shoot."

"LISSEN, SARGE, my old schoolmate was killed from drinking a Coke with groundup glass in it given to him by a 'friendly' woman."

"Well, just don't drink anything a woman offers, that's my advice, because you can't shoot her, before or after. Now this next little gadget is an age detector. It will immediately tell you if that person slinking through the undergrowth towards you is underaged or overaged."

"AW, SARGE, lissen. This is crazy! My older brother was a medic and he saw 10 of his buddies mowed down by a 14-year-old girl with a machine gun before somebody finally shot her."

"Don't repeat that story, boy, or you'll get that somebody courtmartialled sure as you're in the Army. Now then, this next little gadget is called a civilian detector. Men, if this little thing right here registers that the suspect is a civilian, whatever you do, DON'T SHOOT!"

"SARGE, this is getting more ridiculous by the minute. Lots of the fellas from my old peacetime gang were killed or wounded either directly or indirectly by civilians!"

"Remember those public relations, soldier."

"Well now just what does the public suggest we do if an under or over aged woman civilian that has a hand grenade looks like she has every intention of tossing it right in the middle of us?"

"I have no idea what the public relations fellas suggest, but as your sergeant, I strongly advise you to run as fast as you can. In fact, consider that an order."

"BUT SARGE!"

"Believe me, men, it will be much safer for you to try to get away without firing a shot than to face a court martial later."

"This sure isn't what we were taught in combat training at Last Stop."

"I know, men, I know. But as I said, that was BEFORE."

"Millie just can't do enough for me . . . but she tries!"

PAUL HARVEY

Railroads Need Push

A LONGTIME RAILROAD employee recently told me, "I don't understand it; they must keep two sets of books."

Railroads complain that they lose money on passenger service, yet to ride his always filled luxury train you have to order tickets weeks in advance.

"TWO SETS OF BOOKS" is a pretty grim accusation, implying misrepresentation.

The real trouble is that there is only one set of books for both freight and passenger service.

A study of eight major rail lines shows that last year they claimed $118 million in "avoidable expenses."

THAT IS AN EXPENSE which a railroad would not have incurred if the passenger trains had not been operating.

Yet the usual accounting formula assigns to passenger service a share of such expenses as the cost of maintaining tracks and other facilities.

THOSE TRACKS and other facilities would have to be maintained even if no passenger trains run.

So there is some bookkeeping overlap which tends to make passenger train operation appear more costly than it is.

THIS CONSIDERATION notwithstanding, however, the Assn. of American Railroads estimates that the 1968 deficit on those eight railroads totaled about $485 million.

Last year the entire railroad industry had a net income of less than $600 million; a net return of less than 2.5% on its invested capital.

Railroads presently enjoy none of the government subsidies which are shared by the airlines. It is now generally conceded that railroads, to upgrade and maintain passenger service, would have to have an assist from the federal till.

IN THE INSTANCES where the federal government did assist in upgrading passenger train service—the fast new trains between New York and Boston and New York and Washington—increased passenger patronage promises to make these operations profitable, eventually.

You and I have discussed before the one factor which will require a renaissance of the railroads: the overcrowded skyways.

This alternative transportation must be available, especially for persons to whom predictability is more important than speed.

INDEED, with protracted stackups and other delays slowing down the passengers on our faster planes, trains may well provide faster point-to-point service up to 500 miles.

I am disinclined to invite federal subsidy for any private industry, but since our government is already providing such an assist for air carriers, railroads, presently discriminated against, deserve at least the return of a portion of their own taxes.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Walls Or Bridges

By BOB WEAR

IN THE MANY and various facets of human associations, we have the capacity and the opportunity of meaningful and abundant living.

Our task is to find ways to use our capacities and opportunities wisely, and these ways are within our reach.

TOO MANY OF US make the serious mistake of building walls; walls between ourselves and our fellowmen, and between ourselves and the areas of effective living.

There are too many walls.

IT WOULD BE MUCH BETTER for all of us if we would build bridges. We do have a choice about which we build; walls or bridges.

This choice is ever before us, and it is a choice about which we must be constantly alert and wisely concerned.

Obviously, much depends upon the choice we make.

IN MOST INSTANCES, where unhappy and generally ineffective human associations exist, the condition has been caused by someone who has been building walls which act as barriers satisfactory relationships.

Conversely, when satisfactory conditions prevail, it is because someone has been building bridges.

WE MUST DISCARD the fatal attitude that an unkind fate erected walls which stand between us and life fulfillment.

This attitude and accompanying behavior only add the height and thickness of walls we build. Walls can be brought down.

LET US NOT CONDEMN ourselves to a life that is miserably empty by erecting walls that separate us from desirable people and worthy situations.

It is better to enrich our lives by building bridges of understanding in our human relationships, and open access to constructive experiences.

LIFE HAS MUCH of good bestowed upon us when we are builders. We may not all succeed, but we can be successful by trying.

Dear Editor:

The pastor and congregation in the Pep community send their sincerest thanks to the news media—especially Radio KZZN and the Littlefield Leader-News for their generous publicity for the annual Thanksgiving celebration here in Pep. And another thanks to the many people who have supported the Pep Thanksgiving day festival, not only this 1969 year but over the previous 23 years. May the Divine Assistance remain with these people always.

THE PHILOSOPHER

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm takes a look at inflation this week, but it's hard to tell what he sees.)

Dear editor:
I had to make another trip into town the other day to pick up another 5-cent tractor bolt now costing 15 cents and since I was throwing money around recklessly anyway I hauled off and bought a newspaper.

In it I ran across an article that said the cost of a college education is up 68 per cent since 1957, and this got me to thinking about inflation.

Now you take that 15-cent bolt. It's true it costs three times as much as it did 10 or 12 years ago, but at the same time it's still just as good a bolt as the earlier one.

Now with college education, well I don't want to get into an argument, uh, I don't want to compare bolts and nuts with college kids, but are you positive the product is as good today as it was 12 years ago? Or are they just televising the wrong ones?

As I understand it, inflation hits us in two ways. In one, the quality stays the same but the price goes up, like in automobiles. Cars are as good today as they were 12 years ago, they just cost a lot more. In the other way, the price stays the same but the quality comes down, like in a nickel candy bar. You can still buy a nickel candy bar, you just don't get nearly as much candy. Mostly wrapper.

But when inflation really hurts is when you pay a lot more but don't get as much.

Take Congress for example. Congress costs over twice what it did 12 years ago, but can anybody prove.....well, I'd better not get into that.

It's an odd thing. Politicians are always saying if you raise salaries you'll get a better quality of office-holder, but what happens? We raise the salary and the same people turn up running for the same offices.

There's just one way to whip inflation, and if I knew what it was I'd say so.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

HEW EDICT

her," Shearer said. "Both are equally trained and it would have been a hard decision to make, so they drew by lottery their 'stay' or 'go' positions. Mary Sue Chandler drew the unlucky number and will be leaving the Migrant Health office Jan. 1."

Newly hired sanitation inspector for the project, Leon Kessler, will have a year to look for something else, because after 1970 the position will not be funded by federal money.

The representatives said the new rules resulted because of rising costs and salaries, more projects in the state to absorb the funds which have not increased to keep up with all the other increases.

They stated that Congress has authorized $15 million to such projects this year, but may only appropriate $10 million of that amount.

The HEW representatives complimented the council on the local project saying "it's a feather in your cap, because yours is the only city council in the state of Texas which sponsors a health project."

Appearing before the council in behalf of the Lamb County Community Center were Irlene Sison, Leroy McCormick and Kenneth Broadus.

They showed that the Community Center books have been running in the red lately because of a lack of income from rent on the building.

Councilmen voted to subsidize their income with $200 a quarter, effective Jan. 1.

In other matters, along with the routine business of approving bills for payment, reviewing monthly department reports, and reading and approving minutes of the previous meeting, councilmen:

1. Approved an ordinance to vacate and abandon portions of Kirk Avenue, Simpson Avenue and Austin Street, and to vacate and abandon certain alleys in the College Heights Addition. The tract of land involves a 32.3 acre plot.
2. Authorized the city manager to pay paying liens subject to title checks on two liens in question.
3. Voted to authorize the advertisement for gasoline bids for the year 1970.
4. Discussed but deferred action on filling one vacancy on the Planning Committee and the Housing Standards Commission.

Cold Water Challenges Hot Water

Technology has challenged Grandmother's method of hot laundering leading consumers to ask, "Does water remove soil effect?" To find out, economists from experiment stations in western states teamed water laundering against water.

Results? Mrs. Doris Extension home manager specialist at Texas University, reports the water temperatures (degrees F) used with a detergent was most effective removing soil.

In the test, economists applied soil to that accumulated in clothing wear to white fabrics. They then washed fabrics in hot water with duty granular detergent with liquid cold detergent and repeated procedures with cold water.

The four methods compared for appearance smoothness and softness. Fabrics washed in hot also tended to be smoother, Mrs. Myers adds.

PERMANENT BEDDING Purdue University cows, given free choice 5/8-inch rubber or 1/2 synthetic resin mat permanent bedding, showed marked preference for latter.

Cats Top Spur, 41-32, At Slaton Tournament

Littlefield's Wildcats took a 41-32 victory over Spur Friday and met Colorado City Saturday afternoon for a shot at reaching the consolation finals of the Slaton tournament.

The win over Spur evened the Cats' 1969-70 record at 2-2, and a victory over Colorado City would have put them in the finals against Stanton.

Roosevelt's 58-49 win over the Wildcats on Thursday put Littlefield in the losers' bracket.

In both games at Slaton, the Cats had trouble hitting the bucket. They were able to connect on 33 per cent of their shots against Roosevelt, but got only 26 per cent against Spur.

Gary Nace hit 11 points to pace the win over Spur while Steve Owens chipped in 7. Charles Carter picked up 6 and Charlie Holt and Max Hutchins had 5 each.

Littlefield outscored Spur 12-4 in the third period to take a 10-point lead. Coach Jim Jefferies played reserves the last half of the fourth period, and the lead dropped from a high of 14 points to the 9-point final margin.

Roosevelt took a 16-9 first period lead in the opening game, and held it all the way as Tom Martin hit for 17 points to pace the attack. The Wildcats closed the gap to 43-37 at the end of three quarters, but Roosevelt widened the margin at game's end.

Carter's 12 points paced Littlefield scoring. Nace and Hutchins had 9 each and Holt and Owens collected 6 apiece.

Littlefield's next encounter comes Tuesday night when the Cats play host to Abernathy, a team they topped in the season opener, 62-55. The JV game starts at Wildcat Gym at 6:15, with the varsity clash to follow.

Six Wildcats Given All-District Mention

Six Littlefield Wildcat footballers received honorable mention of the District 3-AAA selections announced Thursday.

Two Wildcats, Safety-Split End Steve Owens and HB-Rover Eddie Hickman, received the honor both offensively and defensively.

QB Charles Holt and FB Randy Mitchell got offensive honorable mention and End Monte Trotter and Middle Guard Larry Purdy received the honor defensively.

All of the Wildcats named are seniors except Purdy, who will be back for one more grid season.

HE GIVES LIGHT

And Zechariah (Luke 1:79) said of Jesus, "You will give light to those who sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, to guide their feet into the way of peace." This same Jesus came to this mission in the season we call Christmas. Keep Him in it for this is a time in need of light and guidance.

WORSHIP IN CHURCH

and get a spiritual lift for the whole week

INFIXED

... in the little animal is the inherent, industrious characteristics of self preservation. A delight to the eye in its graceful movements, but behind its moves, more than the childish eye can see... a desire to keep her bin full of food to guarantee her survival. We, like the squirrel, must prepare for our future and for those who depend upon us. But human needs reach beyond food, and house and clothing... beyond the physical and the material. We are persons, we are spiritual, our concern is for the mind — the soul — the spirit. We are social persons whose deeper needs may be satisfied in a church which majors in fellowship and prayer and builds us into a group of good people with common loyalties to God and things of the spirit. Come with me to church.

You In The Church
The Church Is You — form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.
