

County Balloting Expected To Be Heavy Tuesday

Friday evening when absentee voting ended, approximately 300 absentee ballots in the general election with about 60 ballots still out to be received in time to be counted.

Approximately 150 persons registered in the local option election and about 50 mail-out ballots still out.

Numerous mail out absentee ballots still out will be counted as long as they are postmarked by midnight, Nov. 7, received by noon on election day, Nov. 7.

2,240 registered Lamb County voters on the qualified lists, Lamb County Clerk Mary Beth Willey and election officials are predicting a heavy turnout Tuesday.

After receiving the data processing voters showing 7,240, it was predicted that many names were left out. Mrs. Willey said Friday that as many as 1,000 names may have been inadvertently omitted.

Prediction is made considering persons in precincts 10 and 14 registered the last month before

WARREN SEZ: "If you must tell all, be sure you know all you tell."

WHILE NO ONE WHO WINS (is there doubt?) we can be assured that it is the most expensive Presidential election ever. At this writing, $4.5 billion had been spent to elect a president and that is not including what has been spent today, Monday and Tuesday. Nor does it include what was spent on the primaries.

WE WENT TO THE POLLS for the first time since the May primary. Several other towns have been to the polls several times since. Snyder local option election a couple of years ago and now is in the process of being held. Andrews, which has some outstanding school facilities, is apparently satisfied that their educational facilities are doing the job in aiding in the school process as they should be. On November 1st, the folks down in Snyder will go to the polls in a $2 bond issue that will include plans for a junior high school and repairs on existing buildings.

THE CATS came up with a tie on the scoreboard but led in penetrations 2-0. So if this game has a winner, it'll be the cats. The cats win due to the penetrations (2-0) promises to be higher than a 1-0 week so it behooves us all to get right that will be needed by our school and community. The school has been displayed so far this year that shouldn't be hard to do. The teachers, Shelly, Mari Louise, Debbie, Shebra and Jill have an outstanding job this year in the spirit high.

WE THOMAS wore sweat clothes and practiced like all the others," said Diego Chargers as he worked out for two hours Friday.

VENING at 7:00 p.m. in the Hall of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church. A film by Art Linkletter on drug abuse will be shown. The public is invited. A nasty little word that is hard to talk about until it's too late has a special meaning to us. It should have a special meaning to us all for drugs touch our lives in one form or another. We probably like to admit.

Rehearsals Set For 'Messiah'

Rehearsals for the annual community presentation of "The Messiah" will begin at 2 p.m. Sunday afternoon, Nov. 12, at the First United Methodist Church.

The community chorus, formed of all singers in the area, will make their Christmas performance Sunday afternoon, Dec. 17.

Mark Rogers and Buddy Wells, regardless of religious persuasion, are invited to attend the rehearsal Nov. 12.

the registration cutoff date for voting in the Nov. 7th election.

Another data processing list of names was ordered, but all voters are urged to bring their voter registration slips with them to the polls.

There will be separate polling places for the general election and the local option election.

Voting on the local option will be done in the city hall only, and only qualified voters who live inside the Littlefield city limits in voter precincts 10 and 14 are eligible. These two voting precincts take in the votes cast at the Courthouse and the Junior High School building.

Every person who votes signs an affidavit to the effect that he is a qualified voter for the election he is voting in, and the penalty of misrepresentation is on the voter, not the election officials.

Everyone who votes must be registered, including those over 65 years of age.

Election officials point out that voters shouldn't hesitate to ask the election judges to instruct or explain anything they do not understand.

It was noticed in absentee voting that many of the 18, 19 and 20-year olds voting for the first time needed an explanation on certain matters but hesitated to ask for help.

So many election clerks, judges and interested spectators attended the election school in the courthouse Thursday night that the meeting had to be moved upstairs to the district courtroom to accommodate the 82 present for the meeting.

There were 6,393 votes cast county wide in the last general election. In Dec. 1967, there were 1,851 votes cast in the local option election.

Application for petition for another local option election can be called in 30 days if the proposition fails to carry Tuesday.

Only the wording need be different to petition for another election 30 days later.

Persons may petition for another election for off premises consumption only, or for beer and wine only, or the election can be called for a justice, commissioner's precinct or incorporated city to bring the matter to a vote 30 days later.

Or the same wording which will be on the Nov. 7 ballot can be brought to another vote one year later.

City To Enforce Speed Limits

Littlefield city councilmen discussed a brief agenda Thursday night during their regular meeting, and made decisions to stop fast traffic on Littlefield streets, set the dates for city employe holidays, and discussed requests from Southwestern Public Service Company.

Several complaints have been received by the city concerning fast traffic down streets in Littlefield. Councilmen agreed the problem needs solving and requested that speed limits be enforced.

In order to catch offenders, councilmen authorized the purchase of a used radar unit from Lamb County, and the equipment will be installed in a city patrol vehicle.

Of particular concern to the councilmen were reports of fast traffic down residential streets where several children reside, including 26th, 23rd, 17th and 10th Streets. Other streets involved in complaints from citizens on speeding violations include Crescent Drive, Sunset Avenue, Westside Avenue and Phelps Avenue.

3 Salary Raises Refused

Lamb County commissioners refused to approve a recommendation from the recent meeting of the salary grievance committee for a $100 per month raise each for three elected officials when they met in regular end of the month session Tuesday.

Action on the recommendation came about as the result of a 7-2 decision of the Lamb County Salary Grievance Committee following salary complaints from Ray Lynn Britt, district clerk; Lucy Moreland, county treasurer, and Herbert Dunn, tax assessor-collector.

The committee is comprised of the above elected officials, plus Curtis Wilkinson, county attorney; Mary Beth Willey, county clerk; E. D. McNeese, sheriff; County Judge G. T. Sides who acts as chairman of the committee, and three persons whose names were drawn from the last list of grand jurors, James

In other business, councilmen considered requests from Southwestern Public Service Company related to: (1) Municipal rate simplification and adjustment, and (2) modification to fuel cost adjustment clause.

In explaining the municipal electric rate, City Manager Pat Bradley informed the councilmen that "this is the electricity used by the City of Littlefield — not by the citizens. This includes electricity used to run water wells,

"Sandy" Sanderson, Winston Cummings and Quentin Hodge.

At the meeting of the Grievance Committee this month, the members voted 7-2 for a recommendation to give the officials a $1,200 annual raise each with two of the three grand jury members voting against the raises.

The committee was unanimous in granting the request from Herbert Dunn for an increase in traveling expenses from $996.96 to $1,500 annually. Because the vote was unanimous, this went into effect immediately without the consent of the commissioners' court.

In other action this week, the commissioners' court accepted a bid for two new motor graders and one wheel type front end loader for precinct 1 for the amount of $54,500.

pump stations, disposal plant, recreational facilities, city hall and the water towers.

"They're asking for a 15% increase—going from one cent per kilowatt hour to 1.15 cent per kilowatt hour, and that will affect our rate something like $2,735 a year, based on their estimate," Bradley continued. "It also includes a fuel cost adjustment clause which is presently in effect on their general rate, but not on the

SCRATCH THE BOTTOM LINES NOV. 7

(PAID POLITICAL AD)

1. Jack A. Peel, would like to take this opportunity to thank each of you for your courtesy and for the support that you have given me. It has been an honor and a privilege to have been able to serve the people of Lamb County. I now ask for your continued support in my bid for re-election to the office of County Commissioner of Precinct #3.

Here are some of the things that have been accomplished during my first term of office.

1. Beginning January 1, 1973, for the first time in the history of our county, the road mileage in each of the four precincts in Lamb County will be the same. Previously, Precinct #3 had some 35 more miles than the other precincts. This has meant an added disadvantage this year, due to the abundance of rainfall.

2. The county now returns to the Soil Conservation Service some $2400.00 each year to provide a service to the rural people.

3. Precinct #3 now has two snow plows which will enable us to open the roads in a quicker and more suitable fashion.

4. The precinct barn has undergone a face lifting. The vehicle parking area has been fenced off for the protection of county equipment, and the street leading to the precinct barn has been paved. This street not only services the county barn, but the Littlefield Fair Ground area and Little League Ball Parks as well.

5. The county has had a part in opening the office of Lamb County Community Action. This office is of service to the less fortunate people of our area.

6. The Green Thumb Program, which provides work and extra income for men 65 years of age and over who are drawing Social Security was put into action.

7. The hunting seasons are being put back under the jurisdiction of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission. They are the people who study and know the seasons each year.

Thank you

the councilmen. Councilmen questioned the timing on presenting the $2,735 item to the city, because the new budget went into effect the first of October. Councilmen agreed to examine the budget to see where the item could be worked in, and that they would notify Dayton.

In the last matter of business, councilmen set the holidays for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year for city employees.

Employees will receive Thursday, Thanksgiving Day; from Friday noon through all day Monday for Christmas; and all day Monday New Year's Day.

It's Time For Farmers To Use Conservation

Before Bill Jones became a member of the Lamb County Soil & Water Conservation District he was already a strong advocate of soil and water conservation practices. Jones farms both irrigated and dryland, and he applied most of the needed conservation practices. The ones that have not been applied are planned and scheduled to be done soon.

Mr. Jones stated that the rains this year have helped him make up his mind about getting them done sooner. "If I hadn't used conservation practices there would have been considerable water-erosion damage to my land this year," he said. Most of his dry land is terraced with other practices installed where they are needed.

Planning, install and follow up are the three steps that are needed.

Your VOTE FOR AMENDMENT 1

IS A VOTE

FOR Better GOVERNMENT

THE EXTRA COST IS VERY SMALL.

The proposed increase will cost each Texan less than 6¢ per year, surely a small amount to pay for what is truly not a expenditure at all but an INVESTMENT.

AMENDMENT ONE RAISES LEGISLATIVE PAY TO $8,400 ANNUALLY. HERE IS WHY YOU SHOULD VOTE FOR AMENDMENT ONE:

MORE PAY MEANS MORE INDEPENDENCE FROM SPECIAL INTEREST LOBBYING.
It follows as clearly as day follows night that the less financial pressure a legislator feels, the less likely he is to succumb to the influence of special interests. For this reason, any legislative reform program which does not include a reasonable salary program is almost certain to fail.

PRESSURES FROM OUTSIDE EMPLOYMENT WILL BE REDUCED.
Conflicts of interest are always a matter of concern. However, the less a legislator must rely on outside employment, the more independent he can be in making important legislative decisions.

LEGISLATIVE SERVICE IS A FULL TIME JOB.
A State Senator serves over 300,000 people and a House Member serves more than 14,000 and on any given day—whether the Legislature is in session or not—you can be assured there are from a dozen to several hundred persons who will call on their legislator for information or assistance or to request his participation in conferences, meetings, or official functions. Incidentally, week-end requests are the rule rather than the exception. Moreover, the increasing complexity in the problems of state government and the demands of standing and interim committees meeting between sessions leaves the legislator little time to devote to a private business or profession. The legislator who must depend on income from a business will, on any given day, be forced to neglect either his legislative responsibilities or his business—or both. And whereas his salary has been fixed for the past 11 years, the legislator finds himself considering more than twice as many bills—from around 1,500 ten years ago to something like 4,000 during recent sessions.

LOW PAY KEEPS MANY QUALIFIED PERSONS FROM BECOMING CANDIDATES
With increased pay, the number of qualified individuals who would be willing to offer themselves for legislative services would definitely increase. (Try asking a few individuals who you feel would be great legislative timber if they would take the job for $92.31 per week—before taxes—even if they didn't have the expense and agony of trying to get elected every two years.) While $8,400 would probably not be sufficient to sustain most legislators and their families, it would certainly reduce the amount of money they would have to have from other sources. To put it another way, if you had a million dollar business would you hire $400 a month clerks to make policy and management decisions? Well, the State of Texas is a $1 1/2 billion business, and we apparently expect to get top management talent for $400 per month. Does that really make sense?

HOW TEXAS COMPARES WITH OTHER STATES

STATE	POPULATION	SALARY
California	19,952,134	$19,200
New York	18,793,740	15,000
Pennsylvania	11,793,909	15,600
Texas	11,196,730	4,800
Illinois	11,112,976	17,500
Michigan	8,875,083	17,000
New Jersey	7,168,164	10,000
Florida	6,789,443	12,000
Massachusetts	5,689,170	11,000
Wisconsin	4,417,933	8,900
Maryland	3,922,399	11,000
Oklahoma	2,569,253	9,000
Hawaii	789,913	12,000
Alaska	302,173	9,000

Note: All states of comparable population pay much larger salaries than Texas as do many smaller states.

A DEMOCRAT FOR U.S. SENATE

John Tower has dodged the issues of absenteeism and ethics long enough in the campaign of U. S. Senate. Tower owes the people an explanation of where he was and what he was doing when he missed almost half the votes on the Senate floor in 1967 and again in 1970. Tower's below-average attendance record compares unfavorably to Barefoot Sanders while he was in the Legislature. Sanders had an attendance record of 94% in three terms and more than 5,500 votes.

Tower also has failed to explain his acceptance of fees from organizations which have business before the committee on which he serves. His only explanation is that he saw nothing wrong with it.

Is there nothing wrong with accepting over $10,000.00 from financial associations, such as the California Banking Association, and turning around and voting to exempt some of their member banks from over $348 in state and local property taxes?

TOWER'S RECORD RAISES SERIOUS ETHICAL QUESTIONS, AND HE HAS FAILED TO ANSWER THEM.

TURN OF ROW COMMENTS
 EMIL MACHA

WHERE HAS JUSTICE gone? I read the other day of a person who was sent to the penitentiary at Huntsville for three years for stabbing a domestic animal (a hog) and in another incident a person got five years probated for murder of a person. I have raised a few hogs that I was fond of but this to me is ridiculous.

MEMBERS OF THE Fraternal Life Insurance group at the Emmanuel Lutheran Church are presenting a film on drug abuse. It features Art Linkletter as moderator. Linkletter has spent a good deal of money and time in research to aid in the battle against drugs. This was spurred on by the death of his daughter who was a user of drugs. The public, both young and old, is invited to view this film today at 7 p.m. in the Parish Hall.

MANY OF OUR citizens are really getting concerned about Bill Angel's resignation from the Department of Public Safety. Maybe in our letter writing we should direct some of our correspondence to Preston Smith. He still swings a big stick in Austin. See the letters to the editor in this issue of the paper.

FROM AN ECONOMIC standpoint, the combines are beginning to roll as the fields are drying out. A lot of the grain harvested is testing about 17 per cent moisture. The farmers believe that taking a reduction in price is better than taking a chance on the weather and leaving it out in the field. Also noticed that the cotton strippers are being mounted and serviced. It won't be long before the cotton harvest will be in full swing.

THERE IS STILL some discussion in reference to a killing freeze. Many believe that it has not arrived. Noticed green leaves on some elm trees and bushes around town. Even some of the so called "Iron Weeds" are still green.

AFTER TUESDAY NIGHT it will be all over. The election for president, congressmen, governors and local officials will be decided, as well as the local option.

A poll on the local option shows 52 per cent for and 48 against as of Friday night.
 IN REFERENCE to the local option, I've been doing a little research for my own satisfaction. According to an estimated report that was compiled by alcoholic beverage merchants and the liquor control board, they reported that a minimum of $30,000 is spent on alcoholic beverages by Lamb County citizens. That's over $360,000 a year. I guess one of the richest industries in the area.

 From this report, I now understand why the liquor merchants in Dimmitt, Lubbock and Clovis have a lot of concern on this issue.
 It is also reported that at least 90 per cent of the adult population in Lamb County drank or drinks alcoholic beverages in some fashion, some are heavy drinkers, others moderately, and some drink socially.

It is not known how many of our youth drink. In talking with some of the youth recently, they stated that they have no problem of buying beer here. They know just the places to get it.
 Just the thought of the word bootlegger gets me hopping mad. Several years ago I served as deputy sheriff under Dick Dyer and I can recall raids on various bootleggers. In searching their houses, I noted various amounts of cheese and other commodities given to them by us taxpayers in our welfare program. No, this is not really bad because there are children involved. BUT WHAT IS BAD, much of these commodities were stored in the closets and pantries and were destroyed by rats and mice and were not even put to use for what it was intended. And outside you would see a new car and the bootlegger usually had a wallet full of money. No record of sale was made and no tax was paid as income.

Of course the county did get revenue off of convictions that netted a few thousand dollars a year. Our labor was not justified by these fines. While spending time in controlling the bootlegging situation we were neglecting our taxpaying citizens who also needed a certain amount of pro- If you will look back city and the county's a few years ago you will find that 122 arrests were made for various liquor offenses one weekend in Lamb County. These offenses were forced on these people bootleggers, but the contribute to the cause.

I could ramble on what experiences that had while working in county, but it won't solve today's problem. We solve today's problem your vote. To some it may be the solution, but it is the decision of the majority. Thus, I encourage citizens of Littlefield area to go out on Tuesday and vote the your conscience guide.

Late Tally Earns Wildcats 7-7 Tie

By ANDY ROGERS

The Littlefield Wildcats traveled to Morton with the chance of all but clinching the district title. After the 7-7 tie, they are in the same position, needing a win over Otton this week to take the crown.

Morton has won but one game this year, against Muleshoe. The Mules beat the Cats 42-7, but that's past history. Morton proved to be as tough as any team the Wildcats have played this year, and succeeded where no other team has. They locked up the Wildcat running attack for most of the game, and played a ball control offense that ate up valuable time on the clock while accomplishing little. Morton took the opening kickoff and ran it back to the 24. On third and six, Randy Wesley broke in and stopped a screen pass with a lunging tackle. The Indians punted—the first of 6 total punts that night.

After a Wildcat punt was run back to the Cat 47, Morton made just a few inches short of the first down, and on third tried a quarterback sneak. Ted Thomas squirted past the line of scrimmage and found lots of running room—straight to the goal line. That 37 yard run was followed by conversion kick, and Morton had a quick 7-0 lead with 6:38 left in the quarter.

Two plays gained five yards, so on third down quarterback Terry Bryson threw to Chris Pope on a quick pass, and the tight end ran to the 47. The Wildcats picked up another first down before Pope punted to the 29. Morton dutifully punted back after three unsuccessful plays, but their punt nearly proved to be a fatal one.

Thomas dropped back to punt from the 36, and the ball left his foot spinning end over end. The ball bounced over the heads of Pat Henderson and Leon Hodge, and tumbled all the way down to the six before stopping. For a moment, it appeared the ball might have grazed Henderson on the leg with an Indian recovering. But the officials ruled it the Wildcat's ball on the six.

The half ended with the Cats driving upfield, and Morton went into the locker room determined to nurse the slim lead into a victory. At halftime, total yardage for both teams was tied 81-all.

The third quarter was highlighted by what seemed to be a fumbling contest. Both teams gave up the ball twice, with Larry Hobrathschk and Randy Cook claiming loose footballs for the Cats.

The Littlefield team waited until the last quarter to tie the game. Starting on the 47, the Cats were called for off-sides on first down. Bryson was dropped back on the 35 on the next play, and Henderson picked up nothing on second down. So on third and 22, General Lewis took off on a long pattern and Bryson hit him perfectly. Lewis ran all the way to the Morton 29. On first down, Bryson kept the ball and gained almost a yard. But a late hitter on the Morton club cost them 15 yards, and the Wildcats were knocking on the door.

Bryson rolled left on third down, scrambling to the three before being knocked out of bounds. Two plays later, Pat Henderson carried it on in for the touchdown with 3:19 left in the duel. Hobrathschk kicked the extra, insuring the Cats of the tie.

Morton again did nothing, and the Wildcats ran out the clock with Bryson falling on the ball.

TWO OF Littlefield's cheerleaders, Jill Owens and Mari Louise Bennett, are shown viewing the action late in the third quarter of Friday night's game.

JV Blitzes Dimmitt To 21-0 Victory

Littlefield's junior varsity blasted the Dimmitt JV 21-0 there Thursday evening.

The score was 0-0 at the end of the first half, then Bennie Williams scored on a 10-yard run and Mike Cotter kicked the extra point. The second score came in the fourth quarter when Williams scored again on a 75 yard gallop and Buddy Jungman ran the extra points.

Williams scored again on a 65-yard run later in the fourth period.

Defensive standouts were Cory Logsdon, Richard

Barton, Jerry Feagley, Ben Farmer, Stanley Patterson, Edward Yoakum and Ricky Hodge.

Defensive standouts were Cory Logsdon, Richard Barton, Jerry Feagley, Ben Farmer, Stanley Patterson, Edward Yoakum and Ricky Hodge.

Offensive standouts were Danny Moore, Connie Bowman, David Blevins, Meredith Boyd, Jimmy Sanford, Bennie Williams and Buddy Jungman.

The next JV game will be here Thursday against Otton.

Basketball

BLED SOE 95, PEP 36

Bledsoe dumped Pep, 95-36, in district 6-B basketball at Pep, Friday. The Buffaloes could not contain Terry Young as he bucketed 24 points to lead the Bledsoe charge.

Gary Abus led the Buffaloes with eight points.

In the girls' action, Miki Demel scored 19 points to pace the Buffalo Gals to a 66-25 win over the Bledsoe Jems. Gail Dusterhaus swished the nets for 15 for the winners.

Mary Perez scored eight for the losers.

LEON HODGE (83) carries the ball against the Morton Indians as Pat Henderson (20) attempts to block.

Bula 47, Fluvannah 0

It was more like keep away instead of football as Bula romped over Fluvannah 47-0, before a homecoming crowd at Bula, Friday.

The Bulldogs racked up 344 more yards to add to their already 1,983 total offense yards and kept their record unblemished in six-man football.

Kenneth Turney scored the Bulldogs' opening touchdown when he recovered a fumble. Jerry Sowder booted the two-point conversion.

Joel Sinclair broke loose after intercepting a Fluvannah pass and scampered over the goal to give Bula the 14-0 lead. Sowder booted the conversion.

Jimmy Risinger ran 36 yards in the final minutes of the first quarter for the third Bulldog score of the game. Sowder booted the ball through the uprights for his third conversion of the night.

In the second quarter the Bulldogs began to play around as they would deliberately fall to keep from scoring and delayed the game, so the 45-point lead rule would not take effect until after the crowning of the homecoming queen. Even in this delayed type action, Sowder booted a 28-yard field goal. Steve Newton scored from one yard out. Sowder came back before half with a 23-yard field goal. At the half, the score was 0.

During the halftime, Lisa Risinger was crowned homecoming queen. Gail Pollard and Susan Layton were runners-up. Miki Demel escorted Steve Newton. Jim Rasmussen escorted Gwen Pollard. Kenneth Turney escorted Susan Layton.

It was D-day in the third quarter as coach Pat Risinger instructed a touchdown on opening kick-off. Fluvannah spoiled the plan as Risinger was stopped short of the goal after a 60-yard return. Turney caught a pass on the next play for his second score of the evening, and 36th point of the season.

Risinger's total for the season is now 136 points. Sowder has 30 points, most which were scored with a toe. Sinclair hit the 38 mark points scored this season. Steve Newton is just six points shy of the century mark. The Bulldogs have played five games this year. Steve Cox has six for the season.

Muscular Dystrophy March Wednesday

Approximately 40 to 60 Littlefield residents have agreed to work Wednesday, Nov. 8 for the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America in a Mother's March against the disease, according to Billie Harris, Mother's March chairman.

An effort will be made to visit each home in the city to collect contributions for MDA. The workers have been assigned identification badges and they will turn their collections in to The First National Bank. Envelopes will be left for residents who are not at home and those wishing to mail a contribution to the bank may do so.

MDAA has five district offices in Texas located in Abilene, Dallas, Lubbock, Houston and San Antonio. Mrs. Joyce White of Lubbock is the District Director for West Texas.

The association supports more than 130 research projects in leading medical institutions throughout the world, as well as MDA's Institute for Muscle Disease in New York City. Also a nationwide network of more than 100 free clinics offering a comprehensive program of medical, therapeutic and counseling services to patients and their families.

The chairman met with members of MDA staff in Lubbock Friday, Oct. 27, for information and instructions for the local campaign. More workers are needed and anyone wishing to help in the march may contact Mrs. Harris at 385-3265 after 5 p.m.

Mrs. Harris stated, "I consider it a privilege to be working in behalf of the Muscular Dystrophy fund raising drive."

"The mothers I've been in contact with since assuming the duties of the job as local chairman for the Mother's March here on Nov. 8 have indicated a willingness to perform the task of attempting to raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. The cooperation and courtesies they have shown is very heart warming, as has been the response of local business people where canisters and posters have been placed. With the kind of congenial attitude they have shown I believe the Mother's March will be a big success locally."

Mrs. Harris continued, "Not only am I grateful for my three children's health, but as a child myself who spent six weeks in a children's hospital when I was 11 years old, I feel very fortunate to have recovered from a childhood crippling disease which at the time very little was known about and for which a cure had not been found."

Meet The Minister

Rev. And Mrs. Ben Day

Rev. and Mrs. Ben R. Day went to the Spade First United Methodist Church nearly three years ago and have served that community since that time.

Both Rev. Day and his wife, Evelyn, grew up in Plainview and are graduates of Plainview High School. Rev. Day was born in Plainview, but Evelyn was born in Yantis and soon went with her family to Plainview.

After Rev. Day graduated from PHS, he attended West Texas State College at Canyon, and later graduated from Texas A&M with a BS degree in Agricultural Engineering.

After they were married, he began working with the Soil Conservation Service in central Texas in Gatesville, Hamilton, Rising Star, Goldthwaite, San Saba, Big Spring and Brownfield. He worked with the SCS 31 years and retired, then went into the ministry.

He completed a four-year course of study at Perkins School of Theology during the summers while he was working with the SCS.

His first pastorate was with the Bula-Enochs Methodist churches in 1969 and served those communities for more than a year.

He went to Spade from there the first Sunday in August of 1970.

When Rev. Day has spare time, he enjoys working in his wood working shop, and likes gardening. He built a China cabinet for his son and delivered it to him this past spring.

After Mrs. Day graduated from Plainview High School, she attended Wayland Junior College and received a certificate. After that she taught school in various schools near Plainview, and was married in 1938. After that time she accompanied her husband through the years of SCS work and more recently in his ministry.

She serves as secretary to the Women's Society of Christian Service in the Spade church, and in her spare time enjoys sewing, reading and working in her garden.

Their three children are all married and reside at great distances, so they don't get to visit with them and their grandchildren too often.

Their oldest son, Larry R. Day, an electrical engineer, resides in El Paso with his wife and son.

Their daughter, Mrs. Joel (Laine) Sanders, resides with her husband and son in Syracuse, N.Y., where her husband is an electric engineer.

Their younger son, Edward R. Day, and his wife are residents of San Antonio where he works in housing and urban development.

Rev. Day jokingly remarked, "Our grandchildren should be raised right, because they have two home economics majors and two electric engineers doing the job."

Rev. Day states that when he retires from the ministry — whenever that may be — he plans to go into something else. He said that his father has never ceased to hold a job of some kind.

County Library In State Resource System

Once upon a time — maybe even as late as just one year ago — public libraries had an image as prim and proper as a mid-Victorian lady.

Anyone who went to a public library ran the risk of appearing too brainy for the rest of society, so lonely that books were company, or as a type who thrived on peace and dead-as-a-tomb quiet. It's no longer true.

Libraries are emerging from the cocoon and asking to be recognized for more than the old-fashioned stereotype of dullness.

It all began in 1970 when the Texas Legislature passed the Library Systems Act, which formed a network of libraries across the state known as the Texas Library Major Resource System.

The Lamb County Library is a part of this network which consists of 10 areas and at the head of each of these areas is a main library: The Major Resource Center.

In order to promote themselves, libraries in the Lubbock Area Library System, a 29-county portion of the state, are endeavoring to let the public know that they have services for anyone wishing more information, more knowledge, books for reading enjoyment, or specialized services such as records, art objects, paintings and micro-film.

The Lamb County Library is a member of the Lubbock Area Library System and together with other members is engaged in a full-scale public service campaign to attract more of the public to the library and its resources.

As a member of the Texas Library Major Resource System and the Lubbock Area Library System, the Lamb County Library meets requirements of the Library Systems Act and the State Library and Historical Commission, which specify the number of volumes the library must retain, the amount of money and local support needed, the type and number of staff employed and the number of hours per week the library must be open for public service.

Major resource centers and area libraries in the Lubbock Area Library System employ at least one professional librarian; a woman or man who holds a master's degree in library science.

Information through the library is more easily obtained today through the use of a system called Telex. Each major resource center in the state is linked by Telex. Smaller libraries can ask for information or a particular book from a major resource center and get it — either from their area major resource center or another one in the state. The major resource center for the Lubbock Area Library System is the Lubbock City-County Library.

Many libraries in the system have bookmobiles, too, so that patrons living in remote rural or suburban areas also have easy access to information, periodicals and books.

Another service relatively new to most libraries is the lending of art objects such as sculpture and paintings. Many libraries do not yet have this service, and it is hoped that the interest of patrons will help to get service started in other libraries.

Of course, other unusual services, such as the lending of records and listening centers for music and languages enjoyment inside the library, are doing well and experiencing popularity with regular library patrons.

Micro-film, a mysterious sounding feature, due to movie and television thrillers, is another popular service — although not glamorous as it seems. Micro-film is used mainly to make ordinary research materials easily available to the public. By putting information on micro-film, much valuable library space is conserved.

Almost all libraries in the Lubbock Area Library System have a newspaper, magazine corner, too. Lamb County Library is an exception.

Libraries within the system are urging their patrons support good library service by: visiting the library regularly; informing lawmakers of the need for good library service; voting for its support; and giving directly to the library through a group such as Friends of the Library.

Wreck Injures Four

A two-car collision one south of the Springlake school Sunday evening injured four persons to the hospital.

The accident occurred at 6:50 p.m. on FR 302 when a car driven by Ruth Garcia, Route 1 Springlake pulled across a county road intersection backed out across the highway to turn.

According to Highway Patrolman Weidon Parsons, Garcia car stalled and was hit by a station wagon driven by Norma Barden of Springlake. The front end of the station wagon hit the left rear wheel and fender of the Garcia car. Mrs. Garcia and her passengers, Abraham, David and Jessie Garcia were treated at the Mules hospital and released.

Feedlot Wastes Can Be Used On Land

Animal wastes are handled so both agricultural and the environment benefit? Sweeten and rather obnoxious points toward improvement. Sweeten, a chemical engineer and waste management consultant with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said that wastes are the most plentiful source of the nitrogen required for plant growth. Nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, with such micronutrients as iron and zinc are essential for plant growth. Sweeten said that when applied to soils, they act as a nutrient. In addition, the physical characteristics of manure, such as porosity, water infiltration and moisture retention are improved by adding the farmer's stand-

High Plains, for example, benefit little from the phosphorus and potassium in manure. Thus, the nitrogen value may be only a fraction of the full potential. Sweeten further says that only about half of manure's nitrogen is available during the first cropping season. Thus the first year's fertilization value may be reduced to a level which would not offset handling rates. "However, the remaining residual effects and benefits as a soil conditioner can easily outweigh manure's fertilization value, thus making it attractive for many cropping systems. "The true value of manure can be measured as the value of increased yields resulting from its use minus application expenses," says the specialist. For instance, in studies in the Texas Panhandle, per acre net returns from corn silage receiving 10 tons of manure were boosted nearly $100 ($10 per ton) the first year compared with fields receiving only nitrogen fertilizer. By the third year, profits from 10 and 20-ton applications per acre (without additional fertilizer) were still $8 and $4.75 per ton, respectively, when compared with unfertilized fields. Sweeten also cites other High Plains research in which feedlot manure was applied annually to fields at 10, 30 and 60 tons per acre. After the third year grain sorghum yields still returned a net increase of $6.20, $2 and 90 cents per ton, respectively, the highest returns clearly offsetting handling costs. Application rates depend on the area's annual rainfall, irrigation practices, soil types and the crop to be grown. Sweeten suggests that farmers apply an annual rate not to exceed 10 to 15 tons per acre, although somewhat larger amounts can be used successfully at intervals of two years or more. Salt accumulation may be the factor which limits application rates, notes the specialist. Such accumulations can be controlled by regulating the rates and frequencies of manure and irrigation applications. "Moderate applications of manure low in salts should not create soil salinity problems," he contends. "In fact, soil tests on fields receiving feedlot manure at 10 to 20 tons per acre a year have verified that salt build-up was not occurring." Time of manure application is important. The greatest crop harm can occur when manure is applied days rather than months before pre-irrigation and planting. Manure should be plowed under as soon as possible after application to retain nitrogen and eliminate the possibility of surface water pollution, adds Sweeten.

Arthur Duggan Gives Water Plan Report

Research is progressing on the long-range effects and benefits of manure on cropland. "What has been an unwanted by-product of the beef industry has proved to be an asset for crop production," believes the specialist. Arthur P. Duggan Jr., chairman of the Water Committee for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce board of directors said several resolutions and recommendations on the Texas Water Plan were passed by the board's executive committee recently.

citizens. Armed with this information, the direction and content of an educational program can be set out more intelligently. The second proposal is to conduct a contest to obtain a central theme or slogan for the educational program. The intention will be to stimulate broad public interest (including school children) in water and to cause citizens to think about water. It was suggested that three or four good prizes be awarded. Perhaps one prize would be a lot or tract of land in a West Texas resort or retirement community. The third suggestion is to distribute fact sheets from time to time to news media of West Texas containing helpful information about water.

Geological Survey Studies Underground Water Storage

The U.S. Geological Survey office in Lubbock, located in the Geoscience Building on the Texas Tech Campus, is conducting a test near the east end of the Lubbock Airport to obtain more information on methods of storing water supplies underground in the Ogallala Formation. This "artificial recharge" or replenishment of water into the Ogallala Formation is being accomplished at low cost and puts the water where it is safe from contaminants and where none of it will be lost by evaporation. Since the experiment began on April 12 of this year, more than 130 million gallons of water have been recharged. The water is made available to the Geological Survey by the City of Lubbock in cooperation with the Canadian River Authority.

recharge that is being conducted by the Geological Survey's Lubbock staff under a special Federal program. Gas Dividends Are Declared The board of directors of Pioneer Natural Gas Company, at their regular meeting held Monday, declared a quarterly dividend of 21 cents per share on the outstanding common stock, according to Burton P. Smith, president and chief executive officer. The dividend will be payable Dec. 1 to stockholders of record on November 15. Consolidated net income of Pioneer Natural Gas Company and subsidiaries for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1972, amounted to $1,591,903. This compares with $1,665,135 for the third quarter of 1971. Marketing Specialist Gives Market Report

Bacon prices took a plunge from levels of a few weeks ago and signal a general decline on pork tags for the first weeks of November. Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, explained the shift. "Retail pork prices keep going down gradually as supply increases seasonally. "Best pork values are found on hams, picnics, bacon, shoulder roasts and steaks, and pork liver."

In other sections of the market this week, the specialist reported the following: Fryer chickens remain one of the most economical values in most meat departments.

Researchers Seeking Weevil's Weak Link

Researchers are developing more effective boll weevil control methods, will probably depend upon a better understanding of weak links in the cycle of the pest. Such a link may exist in the overwintering stage of the boll weevil, says Dr. Don Rummel, an entomologist with the Agricultural Extension Station. Collected over the past several years, Rummel's key to winter survival of boll weevil in West Texas is the amount and quality of overwintering habitat near cotton. In West Texas, heavy mesquite and oak cover appear to be the most favorable for overwintering. Rummel says that a study is underway on boll weevil overwintering sites in the Rolling Plains cotton growing area. Researchers will classify all types of overwintering sites to determine the factors that make them suitable for survival of the insect. Overwintering stage is a period for the boll weevil in which the insect must survive for a period of up to 18 months before cotton is available. A better understanding of the factors involved in the overwintering stage of the boll weevil may offer a new insight into possible control techniques Rummel said. One possibility for control would be modification of favorable overwintering habitats by burning or other forms of brush control. However, this approach would be feasible only if the habitats were not very large. A promising approach at this time would be directing the weevils into less favorable habitat where they could not survive the winter Rummel states. Preliminary work indicates that the boll weevil pheromone may be used to attract boll weevils from cotton fields in the fall into restricted overwintering areas. If this technique can be perfected we might be able to attract overwintering boll weevils into areas where conditions would be unfavorable for survival Rummel said.

LITTLEFIELD, TEXAS

State Representative Discusses Amendments

November election is around the corner and Clayton of Springlake is the Fourteen Constitutional Amendments which were voted on.

Proponents of the amendments argue that they will be on the ballot.

AMENDMENT NO. 1—This amendment increases the annual salary of members of the Legislature from $4800 to $5000. No changes are made in mileage or per diem allowances.

Proponents of the amendment argue that the $4800 is not sufficient to compensate a legislator for the time he must spend in the regular and special sessions that are called by the state government.

Opponents of the amendment argue that this would be a substantial reduction in revenue to local government and school districts and again violates the principal of equality and uniformity in taxation.

AMENDMENT NO. 2—This amendment is local in nature and gives the Lamar County District Court and the County Court of that county the power to provide for the care or disposition of the district. Hospital beds to be created by this amendment and so created can be used only in the same district.

AMENDMENT NO. 3—This amendment would require all judges of the peace to be elected on an annual basis rather than on a biennial basis. The Constitution requires all justices of the peace to be elected in counties of 20,000 or more to be elected on a salary basis. This proposal would put all judges of the peace on the same footing.

Proponents of the amendment argue that doing away with a fee basis will encourage diligent justices of the peace and will make them dependent upon the county court which pays their salary.

AMENDMENT NO. 4—This amendment would authorize the Legislature to establish a constitutional revision commission. The only subject as to subject matter would be that the Bill of Rights must be amended in full. If the Legislature could agree on a new constitution it would be put before the voters for approval or rejection.

Proponents of the amendment argue that there is a real need for a more workable law which would require periodic revision and the Legislature has been entrusted with the function of proposing constitutional changes. The legislative body is the logical one to have responsibility in the revision of a new or amended constitution.

Proponents of the amendment argue that constitutional amendments should not be through a referendum but through the existing process and the convention has a totally new situation as a possible alternative.

AMENDMENT NO. 5—Tax levies of any sort must of necessity be by constitutional amendment because Article 2 of the existing constitution requires that they be equal and uniform. This amendment would provide for additional exemptions for the amendment.

Proponents of the amendment argue that persons disabled in military service should be exempted for their service to this country. Opponents of the amendment argue that compensation of veterans is a federal matter and that there are adequate and other programs available to disabled veterans.

AMENDMENT NO. 6—This amendment would extend the constitutional exemption from ad valorem taxes stands at $3000 to $4000. This amendment would extend the homestead exemption by allowing a county, city, town, school district or other political subdivision of the state to make a like exemption.

Proponents of the amendment argue that the ad valorem tax is the basic form of taxation supporting local governmental units and the present homestead exemption gives no relief, as neither the state nor county taxes compare to any degree with the burden of local taxation.

Opponents of the amendment argue that this would be a substantial reduction in revenue to local government and school districts and again violates the principal of equality and uniformity in taxation.

AMENDMENT NO. 7—The equal protection clause of the fourteenth amendment to the United States Constitution prohibits a state from legislating different treatment to persons because of sex. This is known as the women's equal rights amendment.

Proponents say that there is still substantial discrimination and that only a constitutional change prohibiting such discrimination can effectively change the status quo.

Opponents argue that the proposed amendment is not necessary because all discriminatory legislation is now prohibited by the federal constitution and additional constitutional comment on the subject can only cause confusion as to the meaning of discrimination.

AMENDMENT NO. 8—This amendment would provide four-year terms for the offices of Governor, Lt. Governor, Attorney General, Comptroller of Public Accounts, Treasurer, Commissioner of the General Land Office, Secretary of State and certain statutory state offices. These offices now have two year terms.

Those for the four-year term argue that officials would have an opportunity to grasp the operations of the job and be more efficient in it before they were forced to go back into campaigns for reelection. As this amendment would become effective with the General Election in 1974 it would perpetuate elections for state offices in non-presidential years and generate a stronger interest in state politics. Thirty-nine states have four-year terms for governor including several of our immediate sister states.

Those against the amendment point out that long terms of office lead to corruption. That too much power is inherent in long terms and they make the official less responsive to the rise and fall of public opinion.

AMENDMENT NO. 9—This amendment would permit soil and water conservation district directors to serve in other offices. Presently any public official is prohibited by the state constitution from holding more than one office in state, local or federal government.

Proponents of the amendment argue that in the less populous areas of the state there is a shortage of qualified people to hold responsible positions and the amendment would increase the available manpower by permitting public officials to fill them. The common law would provide an adequate protection against persons holding two public offices where there might be a conflict of interest between the duties.

Opponents of the amendment insist that the present prohibitions were intended to prevent the concentration of public jobs among a relative few and that multiple office holding would too greatly divide the time and attention of officials.

AMENDMENT NO. 10—This amendment would involve two basic changes. Presently, the constitution can only be amended by a resolution submitted in the regular legislative session. This amendment would also permit constitutional amendments to be considered in special sessions of the legislature. The second phase of the amendment deals with the manner of publication of proposed amendments.

Proponents argue that the amendment would permit greater flexibility in the submission of amendments and provide better information to the general electorate as to what they are voting on.

Opponents of the amendment insist that basic changes should be considered carefully and a thirty-day special session would not provide enough time for proper consideration of proposed amendments.

AMENDMENT NO. 11—This amendment would provide a $22,500 salary for the Lt. Governor and the Speaker of the House. They each presently draw an annual salary of $4800 per year.

Proponents of the amendment argue that the leadership and administrative ability demanded of presiding officers puts these offices in the same relative importance as other full-time state officials and they should have equal pay. The past few years the jobs of both presiding officers have become full-time.

Opponents of the amendment argue that the Speaker of the House should not receive the same amount of salary as the Lt. Governor as he is not elected on a state-wide basis but is selected by the members of the House of Representatives.

AMENDMENT NO. 12—The proposal broadens the exemption from the prohibition of dual office holding and compensation for non-elected employees. It is similar to Amendment No. 9.

Proponents of the amendment argue that in some cities, school districts or other governmental subdivisions state employees are a large percentage of the population and the amendment would allow these persons to serve on city councils and school boards in such communities without sacrificing their state salaries.

Opponents insist that there is sufficient number of qualified citizens in any community to fill local offices and that service in two capacities would result in heavy work loads.

AMENDMENT NO. 13—This proposal would permit constitutional bonds to be sold with maximum interest rates not to exceed a weighted annual interest rate of 6 per cent. These are veterans Land Board Bonds — Water Development and Water Quality Bonds — College Opportunity Loan Program Bonds.

Proponents of the amendment argue that its adoption would permit certain state and local agencies now under restrictions to compete for sale of their bonds in the open market on an even footing with other entities, enabling them to continue to enlarge upon many state and local programs.

Opponents argue that increasing the constitutional limit would provide higher interest rates and therefore require more revenues to pay off the bonded indebtedness.

AMENDMENT NO. 14—The proposal would allow the commissioner's court of a county to distribute a portion of the county permanent school fund to school districts in the county on a scholastic population basis for the purpose of reducing bonded indebtedness or making permanent improvements. Proponents argue that many school districts need new facilities and lack funds to finance them. Some have already issued bonds to the statutory limits and others have reluctant electorates who repeatedly refuse the issuance of new bonds. Utilization of a portion of the county permanent fund would relieve the financial strain on school districts and provide adequate educational facilities in the counties.

Opponents argue that a reduction in the funds would reduce the income to the available school fund and therefore create a need for a larger state expenditure in the support of education.

Honest Youngsters Rewarded By Woman

Mrs. J. E. Wade of Whitharral is a lucky woman, and Lynn Duffy and Bryan Gillespie are two very honest little boys.

On Friday night, Oct. 20, 11-year-old Lynn and 12-year-old Bryan found $83.01 in a glass case in the public telephone booth across the street from the Palace Theatre.

Without hesitation the two boys took the money to the Littlefield police station and turned it in. More than a week went by without anyone reporting the loss, and the boys were notified to come in Monday evening after school and the money would be turned over to them.

But on Sunday, Mrs. Wade discovered her loss and reported it to the police. And when Mrs. Wade and the two boys met Wednesday, Mrs. Wade gave the boys $20 each for their honesty.

Mrs. Wade said the day she lost the money was a hectic day. She had to make a phone call while in town and she didn't have a dime in her billfold. She took out the money she had been putting aside to have her couch recovered and got a dime out to make the call. Because of a flurry of activities, she didn't miss the money for sometime.

Mrs. Wade said over a number of years she has lost over $200 and that in every case it has been Boy Scouts

'Women On Wheels' Course Set Here

A four-week course called "Women on Wheels" begins in Littlefield Nov. 8th.

"Women on Wheels" is designed to teach women how to drive more defensively and how to handle road emergencies.

The program here will be sponsored by Garland Motor Company and will run four weeks with the meeting time from 4-6 p.m. each Wednesday starting next Wednesday.

There is no charge for the program but enrollment will be limited to the first 10 women who wish to participate. There are still a few openings.

This is the first of several planned classes, the number depending upon the interest shown.

The "Women on Wheels" program was launched on a national basis early last spring and achieved instant success. The response from individuals, women's groups, clubs and civic groups has been overwhelming with almost 9,000 women participating.

Soon the "Women on Wheels" program will receive additional exposure on national television and in syndicated newspaper columns, and this is expected to generate new interest on the part of thousands of women. Elmer Hall, the Littlefield service manager, and the district service representative from Lubbock will teach the course here in Littlefield.
