

THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Schlottman Recalls Pearl Harbor Attack

Schlottman remembers where he was when he was doing 30 years ago on the morning of Feb. 7, 1944, when Pearl Harbor was bombed.

Schlottman was a private in the Army and was stationed on Dutch Harbor, Alaska, according to Japanese plans, to be bombed the same day Pearl Harbor was bombed.

Schlottman said he was in the theatre when the attack was being shown on a movie. "When I came out of the theatre, the Japanese were running around and shooting in the hills. Word had just been passed that Pearl Harbor had been bombed and we were next."

Schlottman was put on all the anti-aircraft gun positions in the mountain area because of the weather, Dutch Harbor wasn't bombed that day.

Schlottman was kept on the guns for so long without attack that the four anti-aircraft guns on Dutch Harbor weren't going to be bombed when they started putting just one man on a gun, instead of a full crew.

Schlottman was working KP the day we were bombed. Schlottman said, "I'd just set a plate down when the first bomb fell. All the pies on the bottom shelf fell out upside down on the floor. I was there yelling 'The zeros are coming!' but they didn't really say 'zeros'." he added, "but I'll say it now."

Schlottman said the Japanese had got the harbor frequency and they radioed friendly planes were approaching to shoot. No shots were fired until the bombing started from the north with rising sun emblems.

Schlottman said it was the first time he saw a bomb explode. The roof on a base just rose up in the air and fell down. They got a barracks with 20-25 men in it.

Schlottman was raided three times in the harbor. "On the fourth day, I was out across there and I saw a circle of fire," Schlottman said. "That was the first I've ever seen. Everybody was yelling and throwing their helmets in the air. Help had arrived."

Schlottman went to Dutch Harbor. Schlottman went to the harbor. Then after 30 months in anti-aircraft he was brought back to the states to be in the infantry and had to take training all over again.

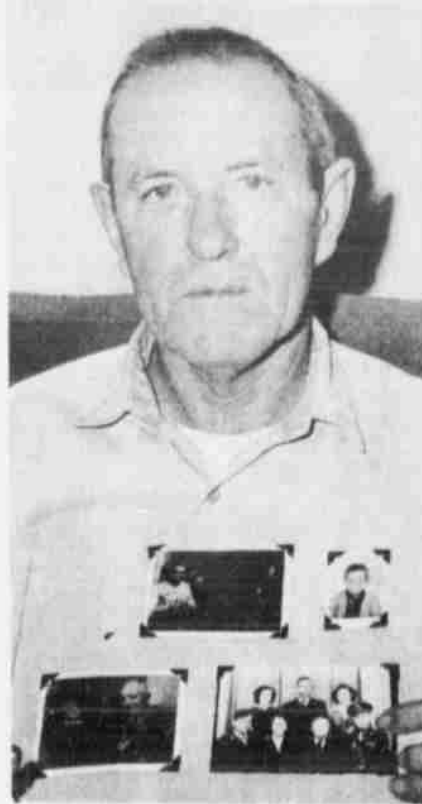

Schlottman was sent to France in the 7th Infantry division. "After just a few days, I got it," Schlottman said. He was in a foxhole in Southern France on the morning of Feb. 7, 1944, when he was shelled by a sniper in a tree. Schlottman was hit all over, but the wounds in his left leg were the worse. Schlottman and three of his buddies were in the three foxholes. One was killed. Schlottman's leg had to be amputated, and the other two soldiers were hit in their arms.

"I was lucky that night when they picked me up," he said. "Gangrene would have got me if they hadn't brought me in."

Schlottman says he still thinks about the war at times. "I don't guess you ever forget about a thing like that."

"There were some funny things that happened, too," he concluded. "I wouldn't want to go back over there, but I wouldn't take a million dollars for some of the things I did see."

Crossing Guards To Aid Schools

City councilmen discussed further details on placing school crossing guards at the primary, elementary I and elementary II buildings, near Play and Save Grocery on Delano Street, and near the high school building, during their regular meeting Thursday night.

Some difficulty has been noted in moving children across streets when they go to and from schools, and a need for the guards was expressed.

The city manager was asked to talk with school officials concerning the project. Plans were also in the making on marking larger unloading zones near the primary and elementary buildings, to facilitate moving traffic down Westside at a more organized pace.

Councilmen considered the pros and cons of codification of city ordinances as proposed by the Municipal Code Corporation at Tallahassee, Fla.

Estimated cost of the codification was $4,800, and councilmen felt that amount was too much for the city to spend. The matter was postponed until after the first of the year, when it would be considered again.

Councilmen asked City Attorney Ted Sansom to study the project to see if he could do the work himself.

City Manager Pat Bradley advised the councilmen that he would re-write the specifications for bids on a one-ton truck cab and chassis for the fire department. Due to several exceptions on the previous specifications, the first bids were not accepted, and the city manager felt some items should be listed.

Councilmen discussed appointing a "chief dispatcher" in the police department to coordinate work among the different shifts. Mrs. Florence Dunn, daytime dispatcher, was named to the position.

A citizen's request for a street light on East 21st Street was considered, and councilmen decided to place it in the center of the block, subject to getting an easement across property.

Paul McCormick, mayor pro-tem, presided for the session in absence of Mayor J. E. Chisholm.

In other matters of business, councilmen:

- Approved the minutes from the last meeting;
- Approved payment of bills; and
- Accepted the departmental reports.

City Policemen Answer 148 November Calls

Littlefield city policemen answered 148 calls in November, bringing the total for the current fiscal year (beginning in October) to 270 calls made.

They investigated seven burglaries, made 24 arrests, investigated 21 automobile accidents, issued 43 traffic violation tickets, and escorted seven funerals.

In performing their duties, patrolmen drove 7,370 miles.

The city animal warden picked up 85 animals in November. Of that number, three were released and 80 were destroyed.

One dog bite was reported in November, bringing the total of bites reported for the fiscal year to three.

Storm Halts Harvest, Area Schools Dismiss

Snow Plow Causes Wreck

The cotton ginning season stopped abruptly this week before it even got started good.

The late freeze combined with wet weather is causing one of the latest harvest dates in this area. Moisture from this week's snow adds to the late start and virtually insures that cotton harvesting in this area and the entire South Plains will continue well into January of 1972.

On this date last year, more than 100,000 bales had been ginned, and only "scraping" remained.

This year, several area gins have not ginned a hundred bales yet.

Through noon Thursday, .82 of moisture from the snow had been recorded in Littlefield.

On an average 10 inches of snow will give one inch of moisture.

On this basis, Littlefield received seven to eight inches of snow this week.

SCHOOLS IN LITTLEFIELD and most area schools dismissed classes Thursday. Scout meetings, club meetings and social gatherings were canceled because of hazardous driving conditions.

The 6-county conservation meeting that was to be held in Littlefield Thursday was called off and rescheduled for sometime in January.

TEMPERATURES averaged around the freezing mark, but dipped to a low of 22 degrees and rose during the day to allow thawing and clearing of some of the streets.

MOTORISTS IN AND around Littlefield evidently drove with extreme caution over the snow covered and icy streets and roads Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, with the result that not a single rural accident was reported to highway patrolmen and only one minor accident recorded inside the city limits due to the weather.

HIGHWAY PATROLMAN Don Kuykendall of Levelland investigated a truck-train wreck at Anton Friday.

Houston Hunnicutt, a Texas Highway Department employee from Levelland, was clearing roads in the Anton area with a snow plow mounted on a 1967 Dodge dump truck. Hunnicutt was attempting to cross the railroad track that intersects with Highway 168 just south of Anton when the snow plow got hung on the railroad track.

A Santa Fe train was approaching, running south. Hunnicutt tried to get the truck off the tracks until the last minute, then he jumped out and ran. He was not injured.

The truck was a total loss and damage to the train engine was heavy.

LONG ICYCLES are fascinating to Angie Stueart, 2-year-old granddaughter of Mrs. Virginia Stueart of Littlefield. Some of the icicles were three and four feet long, after melting snow began dripping from the porch eave. Angie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Stueart of Levelland, and is also the granddaughter of Leonard Stueart and Mr. and Mrs. Choice Francis of Littlefield.

ACCREDITATION CONTINUED

Southern Association Approves High School

Littlefield High School has been continued as an accredited school by the Commission on Secondary Schools of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

The action was taken at the annual meeting of the Association held Nov. 28-Dec. 1, in Miami Beach, Fla. and was revealed by Principal Beryl Harris and Paul I. Jones, superintendent of the school.

Membership in the Association is official recognition that a school is committed to school improvement through the accreditation process.

Each member school periodically conducts a thorough self-study and is visited by teams of competent educators who help to determine the school's strengths and indicate areas needing improvement. Only those schools which voluntarily enter into these self-improvement programs and commit themselves to compliance with accepted educational standards are admitted to membership.

"The regional accreditation program has been in operation for 76 years and has demonstrated, by concrete educational achievements, that the process is of value to students, teachers, parents, and communities throughout the South," according to John Guyer, chairman, and H. E. Phillips, executive secretary, of the Texas State Committee.

The Southern Association is one of six regional accrediting associations in the nation.

It serves eleven states: Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, and Virginia.

In addition, it has the responsibility for accrediting American Schools in Latin America.

Rustlers Make Off 3 Head Of Cattle

Wednesday, Douglas Teague reported the theft of three head of cattle from his Lamb County farm located north of Anton.

The missing cattle were driven into a corral and loaded into a trailer. One was a 500-pound bull and there were two whiteface steers weighing 600-700 pounds each.

Russian Ginning Season Astounds The J.D. Smiths

By NILAH RODGERS

Cotton ginning in Russia doesn't even begin until all the cotton has been picked. Then the ginning season lasts 10 months, or until time to start harvesting cotton again.

This was just one of the surprising things Mr. and Mrs. John D. Smith found during their recent trip to Russia. But perhaps the biggest surprise was that Russia grew more cotton than the U.S. last year.

The Smiths were in a group of 48 persons from the southern cotton belt who spent six days in Russia in August while on a Progressive Farmer-sponsored tour.

The Smiths said they saw a lot of good equipment displayed, but saw very little modern equipment being used on the farms. They said the Russians still use a lot of hand labor and that Russian farming and living reminded them of that in Mexico.

Smith said as far as he could determine there were two types of farms, state farms and collective farms. They visited a collective farm of 5,000 acres with 5,000 people living on it. The population included the children and elderly as well as the 1,032 workers. "That's one worker for every four acres," Smith said. "That shows how much work is still hand labor."

The state farms are much larger, and both the collective and state farms are government-owned. The only private enterprise is on the small plots of land allotted to some of the farm workers who are allowed to take the harvest produced from this land to market.

The private plots account for only three percent of the land area, but this three percent grosses 30 per cent of the total agricultural output and over half of all the fruits and vegetables produced in Russia.

"When three per cent of the land produces 30 per cent and the other 97 per cent produces only 70 per cent, that shows what the incentive of private enterprise can do," Smith said.

The gins are government owned, too. Cotton is ricked at the gin yards until the cotton is all gathered. Ginning is on a 24-hour a day, five-day a week basis for 10 months out of the year, or until another crop is growing.

The Russian cotton grows in the desert land at the foothills of the Himalayan Mountains. The cotton is irrigated by the mountain springs through a system of dams and canals. Smith said their growing season is very similar to ours, with most of the cotton planted in April and a freeze usually in October. The cotton staple is 1 and 1/8, or comparable to the cotton grown in Arkansas, Mississippi and California. Last year was a very favorable year for cotton, weather-wise. But the Russians have been improving their yield annually for the past several years. Their average yield in 1960 was 600 pounds. In 1969 their yield had increased to 731 pounds and it was 762 in 1970.

The Smiths said they had a great deal of trouble translating the Russian metric system to terms they were used to. "When we asked them how many bales they made per acre, they'd come back with tons," Smith said. "Then we'd have to get out the metric chart and figure this up."

But the Russian ruble and the American dollar are very similar in value and they were able to compare prices of some things.

The Smiths visited Tashkent in the cotton producing province of Uzbekistan, one of 15 Russian provinces. It is near Pakistan and Afganistan and grows 70-75 per cent of the cotton grown in the Soviet Union. The land is on a parallel with Nebraska and South Dakota.

Smith said in his opinion the government owns the whole works, and the workers get a small minimum wage and housing (primitive compared to most American homes) and that the only thing they had

Receipts Up 250 Over '70

A total of $41,648.99 was collected by the secretary and tax collector's office in November.

This amount brings the total for the year (beginning in October) to $41,648.99 compared to $75,617.97 in 1970. Present taxes collected in November added to $1,063.51, making the total for the year come to $1,534.36.

The office issued five birth certificates and five death certificates in November.

JOHN D. SMITHS display a teapot with a cotton boll design that was in the hotel rooms in Russia and Smith holds a lock of Russian cotton he brought back from a recent tour of the cotton producing portion of the Soviet Union. Smith was impressed with the cotton bagging used in baling their project he is presently working on for cotton produced here.

four to 18, and the difference in the prices of the clothing for the younger and older boys will make the average cost approximately $25. In many cases, they are the first new suits the boys have ever owned, and for others the suits replace those that have become worn or outgrown. "All during the week the boys wear their work or school clothes, and they look forward to Sunday because they get to dress up for that one day or for their Saturday town trips." Virgil Patterson, Ranch president said, "These will also be suits worn by graduating seniors next spring and those who get to return to their hometowns for Christmas will also be all dressed up. Even more important, the suits are year-round reminders to the boys that there are those who really care." Contributions to the Boys Ranch Christmas Suit Fund may be mailed to the Boys Ranch office, P. O. Box 1890, Amarillo, or taken to the office at 600 West 11th Street in Amarillo.

The Elm Tree Inn captures the chivalry of the past

Tulia's Elm Tree Inn Is A Glimpse Of Past

The plushness of yesteryear has been restored for today at the Elm Tree Inn in Tulia.

If you think the small-town hotel has gone the way of the Pullman car, a look at Tulia's historic inn will change your mind.

The Elm Tree has been restored to the plush greatness of yesteryear at the cost of $200,000, and it is successfully competing with the big super motels in the region's larger cities.

The specialty of the house is char-broiled steak, served home style. Guests are urged to "come as they are," bring their children and enjoy a guided tour of the Inn before or after their meal.

Make it an overnight stay, if you'd like. The two-story hotel can accommodate 40 guests, and the overnight rates are smaller than today's average price ranging from $6 to $14 per day.

Two main ingredients in the two-story inn's history have been preserved--furnishings and old-time hospitality. The Elm Tree has been named as a historical landmark by the Texas State Historical Society.

It was first opened in 1906 as the Tulia Hotel, where it was a meeting place for cattle buyers, cowboys, and travelers of the Panhandle region. The Inn has changed owners several times and has had both good and bad days, but residents of Tulia cannot imagine what it would be like not to have the Inn.

About 10 years ago the Butlers of Tulia completely restored and redecored the Inn. It is furnished throughout with valuable antiques, and the decor is reminiscent of the turn of the century days when the Inn was first opened. A guest takes a step into the past as he enters the crystal chandeliered, red carpeted Inn. The guest register desk was once an old saloon bar, and other decorative furnishings include Tiffany lamps, flocked floral wall paper, brass spittoons, brass beds, a pump organ, an ornately carved buffet, water closets, antique velvet chairs, and other quaint decorative touches.

The first floor dining room is decorated with a huge Tiffany lamp, stained glass divider, and fancy red tables. Meals are served at the Inn from 10 p.m. every day Wednesday.

In the success which the Elm Tree Inn has had by looking back the charm of yesteryear there may be a lesson for growth-minded towns in this area--that sometimes a public attraction doesn't have to be built, just recognized and developed.

Police Check Two Accidents

City police had investigated two wrecks in Littlefield Wednesday noon, by 10 Saturday.

Only one of the wrecks attributed to the icy Thursday night when a Chevrolet pickup, driven by Ronald Lee Young of Littlefield, was traveling around a curve on highway 84 bypass, hit a spot and slid into a sign.

Wednesday afternoon, Cristian Rangel of Littlefield was driving a 1970 westward on West 11th Street, stopped at a stop sign at intersection with Moore Avenue, then made a right turn into the right side of a 1968 driven northward on Moore by Gerry Brent White of Sudan.

Police jailed an adult American male Friday charged him with disorderly conduct. He was still in presstime Saturday.

I say THEY set it, I really don't know just who DID set this holiday on Dec. 25. I'm sure it wasn't God, because Christ was born sometime durin' the spring or summer months.

ANYWAY, JUST SO happens, I've a daughter that was born on this day. She's always confused. Don't know whether she's gettin' Christmas presents, or birthday presents.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Living High

By BOB WEAR

IT IS UNFORTUNATE that there is such widespread, faulty thinking about what actually constitutes the highest level of living. It is tragic that anyone should ever think that "low living" is living high. That which such people call "high" are nothing but a temporary high point in their "low" living. Each such experience pushes the people to lower and lower levels.

DEAR EDITOR

'Thank You'

Lamb County Leader-News

Gentlemen: May I, through your paper, express a belated "thank you" to Security State Bank?

It was really a big surprise to win the $100 first prize in their recent freeze-guessing contest, which was covered by the Leader-News.

In all the many years I lived in Littlefield, I registered and guessed in many such contests. It seems interesting to know I can finally win after moving away!

Enjoy reading your stories when in Littlefield to visit my parents. Keep up the good work.

Response 'Great'

Miss Joella Lovvorn, News Editor
The Lamb County Leader
Littlefield, Texas 79339

Dear Miss Lovvorn:

We now have 370 boys at the Ranch and once again, with your help, we are hoping it will be possible for each one to have a new suit or clothing package for Christmas.

The response to this appeal was very gratifying last year, and I am sure many people in your circulation area made it possible for a boy to have his first new suit after reading about this project in the Lamb County Leader-News.

Thank you again, Miss Lovvorn, for any help you might give the boys and with best wishes to you for a happy holiday season, I am

Sincerely yours,

THE PERVERSION and abuse in which many persons engage to try to lift themselves by downgrading themselves is, without doubt, one of the biggest enigmas of all.

Such actions are not constructive, and pretending that they are is the most futile fantasy. The glitter and glamor with which these various life-styles are adorned form very thin veneer over the misery, gloom and despair of the people.

"HIGH" FOR MANY people is, in the final accounting, the lowest of the low. The ultimate life condition tells the true story.

The "artificial" and "temporary" elation from drug abuse; the use of intoxicants; gambling; immoral actions; and other such self-indulgence is a fire that turns to ashes very soon.

This is not "living high"; but is "low, low" living. The outcome tells the story.

THOSE WHO THINK the philosophy, "Eat drink and be merry" is the highest possible level mankind can reach are too limited in their view.

They have not come to grips with the time-honored and highly regarded truth that "man cannot live by bread alone", they are ignoring the primary needs of the inner man, and the growing dissatisfaction in their own feelings.

This epicurean attitude is the surest way down to the "low" levels of living.

THE INEXORABLE LAW of sowing and reaping is always working. Even the persons most inclined to ignore it know that it works. They know that ignoring it does not nullify it.

They assume the rule of "living just for today", even though they know that the reaping time is coming. All of us must remember—"Live only for today, and you ruin tomorrow."—Simmons.

ALL PERSONS WHO are truly "living high" are always aware of the consequences of their decisions and actions, and deliberately act so as to receive pleasant and rewarding consequences. "LIVING HIGH" is a way of life, not just a now-and then mountain-top experience.

It is a stable life, and a steady life that knows more joy and a greater sense of well-being all of the time than the self-indulging and the foolish know at the peak of their highest "high".

WHEN WE HONOR GOD, work hard, treat others the best we can, accept all rightful obligations, maintain moral standards for our lives, love our fellowmen, and are thrifty; we are "living high".

The real life of "living high" is far above the artificially induced "highs" which are the principal causes of "low" living.

JET-AGE SEWING

Skirt For Christmas

By FRAN

WHY NOT MAKE a maxi-skirt of luxurious material for instant holiday fashion? It will take only a few hours and very little money.

No pattern is necessary. You may already have a blouse or even a dress top that you can wear with the new skirt. If the color and style of the dress coordinate well, simple wear the skirt over it. Center front or side slits in short or long lengths may be added if you desire.

TO FIGURE YARDAGE requirements, measure the finished length of the skirt and add 3 to 4 inches for hem and top seam. Then consider the width of the cloth. If it is 36" or 45" wide buy two lengths. (Figure A). Of 54" cloth one length may make the skirt as full as you want it. (Figure B) If the cloth has a border print buy about 1 1/2 yards, or a length equal to the hem circumference. (Figure C). For the band cut a strip from the top or side of the cloth 2 to 3 inches wide and as long as the waist measure plus an inch or so for lapping and fastening.

SEW THE PIECES together to make one large section. Make a double row of gatheringstitching across the top (longest machine stitches). (Figure D) Sew a center back seam to make a tube and apply the zipper.

The seam may be the side instead of the back. The zipper may be either a centered or lapped application. If the cloth is something like a soft knit, why not make an elastic top finish and omit the zipper? Usually a sash or belt conceals the top anyway.

IN ORDER TO distribute the gathers evenly, mark the skirt top off into 4 equal divisions. Do the same to the band.

Of course, the band must be just as long as your waist measurement. You may reinforce the band with interfacing if the cloth is soft or stretchy. (Figure D).

PULL THE GATHERS up to approximately the waist size and pin it to the band, right sides together. Match the sectional markings. Adjust the gathers to make them flat before stitching. Sew with the skirt side up, stitching between the 2 rows of gathering.

NOTE: An alternate method is to place the right side of the band to the wrong side of the skirt and finish on the right side with topstitching by machine.

SEW ACROSS the ends of the band. (Figure E). Turn the seam to the inside and finish the back side by hand. Apply the fasteners.

If you prefer, the back side of the band may be finished by machine but a little handwork often gives a smoother finish. Pin the hem in and try the skirt on to test the length. Press the hem in by hand.

DO THE THREADS break to do a long line of gathering?

If so, try these hints: sew stitching with stronger thread, nylon or silk buttonhole twist. Do pull the threads out of the cloth hold the threads (both at once) cloth down on the threads—

WHEN YOU ONCE get it to move smoothly. Trim the seam to a narrow width at the skirt making the gatheringstitching. When making the gatheringstitching not allow the cloth to drag at you will make a patch of short will not slip.

When rearranging the cloth bring the needle down to hold. When you get through with any gatheringstitching shows an attractive, simply pull it out like

Immunization Records Important To Schools

Immunization records, primarily of concern only to doctors, patients and parents in the past, have taken on extreme significance under the new compulsory school immunization law, says the Texas State Department of Health.

Also of more urgency now is the keeping of records for pre-schoolers.

Pre-schoolers who attend a child care center are included under provisions of new laws which become effective Jan. 4. Immunization records will be their ticket into regular school later on.

Public health experts point to the incidence of communicable disease among younger children in stressing the need for early immunization. Since immunizations will be needed later on anyway, health experts recommend starting a program early in the life of each child. The importance of accurate, current and certified records will be brought home to you in a hurry if your youngster is ready for school or kindergarten. The health record can be of permanent value for the children's school records, insurance data and your family doctor's use.

Since many types of personal immunization records are in current use, any document listing each immunization received by year will be acceptable during the 1971-72 school year for either initiating or updating school immunization records.

Signature or rubber-stamp validation of personal records by physicians or public health clinics is recommended but not required until the summer semester of 1972, after which validation of new records is required.

Many forms on which to keep personal immunization records are available, but you can keep all vital information in a tablet or notebook if desired. This can be taken with you on each trip to a doctor or health clinic for recording of the date, type of immunization and doctor's signature.

Make a section for each family member, listing birth date and place of birth and other pertinent information such as the presence of a chronic illness, physical handicap, allergies and RH factor if it is present.

The health record should include a check list of diseases which each family member has had and the dates. Have a section for immunization records of such diseases as measles, mumps, whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, polio and rubella. Allow room for boosters.

Also write down any serious illnesses, accidents, surgical procedures and instances of hospitalization, including dates.

Finally, list the family's health and accident insurance information for quick and easy reference.

EXCESSIVE NOISE

Excessive noise levels are not confined to on-the-job situations, but also can be found in recreational activities.

SUDDEN CHANGES

The Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation stresses that a sudden, noticeable change in a person's hearing ability should be brought to the immediate attention of a medical ear specialist.

THE SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER

Detergent Problem

(Editor's Note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm tackles the detergent problem this week in his own peculiar way.)

Dear editor:

After following the news recently about detergents, I have come to the conclusion that the way of the ecologist is hard. As you know, housewives, after being convinced that regular detergents coming out of their washing machines were putting too much phosphate into the streams and lakes of the nation, decided, on the advice of the authorities, to switch to non-phosphate brands which quickly appeared on the market. Now the Surgeon General has reversed the advice and says the new-style detergents have too much caustic in them and are therefore unsafe, particularly for children. In fact, he says the housewives should go back to the phosphate detergents for the time being until something better is found. I don't know what this does to ecology but it sure saves two-thirds of daytime television.

However, I got to thinking. Was everybody's clothes dingy before automatic washing machines were invented? Was everybody ashamed to hang his clothes out to dry where neighbors could sneer at them? You mean every President before the last four was inaugurated with a dirty collar?

Of course not. While the Surgeon General wrings his hands over having to choose between phosphate detergents and caustic detergents, why doesn't somebody tell him how clothes used to be washed? The answer to the problem is homemade soap, made from hog fat.

If the professional ecologists are on the ball they'll come out with a campaign for a hog in everybody's back yard and four wash pots in every block. This will solve the soap problem. Of course, it'll give rise to some other problems, particularly in the summer with a strong breeze wafting over the hog pen, but that's not my problem.

Nowadays, all people want is a solution to the immediate problem. The fact that the solution creates more problems than the problem is beside the point and offers a challenge for more solutions. The men who invented the atom bomb all won prizes, but there are even bigger prizes waiting for those who can think up something to do about it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

It Looks Easy! In no time at all, the solid log is cut clean through. Of course, those who handle this type of saw know the reason for its effectiveness. Behind it is sufficient power and guidance to make it work well. When the power supply is great, and the connection secure, it is easy to get any job done well.

Have you ever stopped to consider the amount of inexhaustible power that could be loosed in your life? If properly channeled, it could transform you. All we need do is tap the power source: God. All we need do is ask Him. He is anxious to rejoin hands with us and turn us into powerful, directed tools for His service.

With Him on our side, the impossible becomes possible. And as long as we rely on Him and earnestly seek to do His will, He will give us the strength and compassion we need to accomplish the job before us. The task is great but the power is ample. Like that saw, all we have to do is be connected to the supply.

Drinking Drivers Can Reach The Point Of No Return

Thanksgiving, Christmas, and New Year's are traditionally the season to be jolly, but for an estimated 70 Texans it may turn out to be a time to be drunk and dead as a result of a traffic crash.

The Texas Safety Association issued its estimate of the toll drunk drivers will take during the holiday periods in a news release from its Austin headquarters.

TSA stated that recent studies released by the Department of Transportation and other agencies points to the fact that during festive periods more than half of all drivers drink alcoholic beverages.

"This does not mean," said J. U. Parker of Houston, president of the statewide safety group, "that a majority of drivers on Texas streets and highways will consume enough alcohol to be dangerous on the highways. But it does call for extra attention by motorists to be alert to the dangers of drinking and driving."

"In one major city in Texas where roadside spot checks were conducted recently," Parker pointed out, "preliminary studies show 16 per cent of the drivers checked had blood alcohol levels of 0.10 per cent or more."

"The motorists of Texas, for their sake and the sake of their passengers, need to recognize the potential dangers during the upcoming holiday season. They need to be alert, ready to take evasive action," said Parker.

"It also means," he continued, "that the sober motorist should do everything he can to encourage law enforcement agencies and the courts to get the chronic drunk driver off the road and keep him off the road until he is capable of returning to sober driving."

Parker said that his organization knows that it is really best not to drink at all if you are going to drive; but because of the various studies that have been made, it knows many Texans do drink and drive.

"The Texas Safety Association," Parker commented, "believes that it is in the best interest of these people to make available charts to show how much alcohol the average, healthy adult can consume before reaching a blood alcohol concentration of 0.05 per cent. While Texas law sets 0.10 per cent as evidence of intoxication, experts have found that many drivers lose their ability to safely handle a vehicle in traffic when they have a 0.05 per cent blood alcohol level."

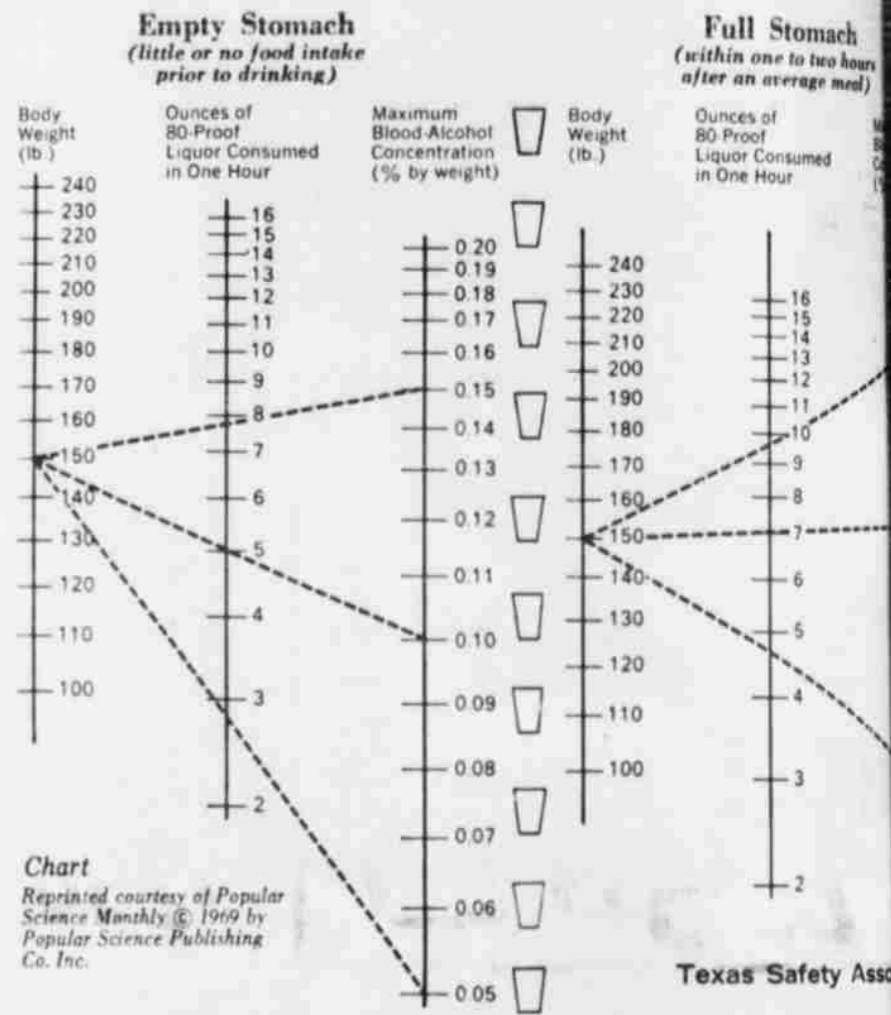

The safety association president cautioned that in using these charts Texans should realize that inexperienced drinkers, young drinkers, those using other drugs, and those who are ill may not be able to consume as much alcohol as indicated on the charts and still be able to drive safely.

"The Texas Safety Association hated to issue a release of this type because Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's are, and should be, times of joy, friendship, and family love. But we know, just as certainly as Christmas comes on December 25, and New Year's Eve on December 31, that driving drunk Texans of the joy, and love that is right Parker concluded.

How to tell what your approximate blood alcohol level is after drinking

If you have been eating, use the righthand chart. If you drink on an empty stomach chart on the left.

Draw a straight line from your weight through the number of ounces of liquor you consumed. Continue this straight line to the righthand column. Where the line touches the hand column, you will see the approximate level of your blood alcohol.

At .05% the driving capability of many persons is adversely affected. This may be larly true of young persons, inexperienced drinkers, people taking medication, and ill health. In Texas, at .10% you are presumed to be intoxicated.

Sandhill Population Is Reported Down

Preliminary counts of sandhill cranes in West Texas indicate a drop in population. But Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists say these early counts sometimes do not give an accurate picture of things to come.

In fact, after biologists counted approximately 112,800 birds, reports came in from game management officers and the public that a great many more sandhills were invading West Texas.

Last year biologists reported a lower-than-usual population. The birds stayed in New Mexico because of the drought in Texas which made food scarce.

Two zones are set aside for hunting sandhill cranes. Zone A, open Oct. 30 through Jan. 30, lies west of a line from the International Toll Bridge at Del Rio following U.S. 277 to its junction with U.S. 87 at San Angelo; then following U.S. 87 to its junction with U.S. 287 at Dumas; then following U.S. 287 to the point where it crosses the state boundary in Dallam County.

Zone B, open Dec. 4 through Jan. 30, lies west of a line from San Angelo following U.S. 277 to Abilene; then following State 351 to Albany; then following U.S. 283 to Vernon; then following U.S. 183 to the point where it crosses the state boundary in Wilbarger County.

Heroin User Marries 'Til Death Us Part'

(Editor's note: Jerry Collins, a Lamb County sheriff's deputy, was given the following poem on drug addiction, and he passes the poem on to the young people of this area.)

MISS HEROIN

So now little man you've grown tired of grass,
L.S.D., Acid, cocaine, and hash.
And someone pretending to be a true friend
Said "I'll introduce you to Miss Heroin."

Well honey, before you start following with me
Just let me inform you of how it will be.
For I will seduce you and make you my slave.
I've sent much stronger than you to their graves.

You think you could never become a disgrace
And end up addicted to poppy seed waste.
So you'll start inhaling me one afternoon
You'll take me into your arms very soon.

And once I have entered deep down in your veins,
The craving will nearly drive you insane.
You'll need lots of money, as you have been told,
For darling, I'm much more expensive than gold.

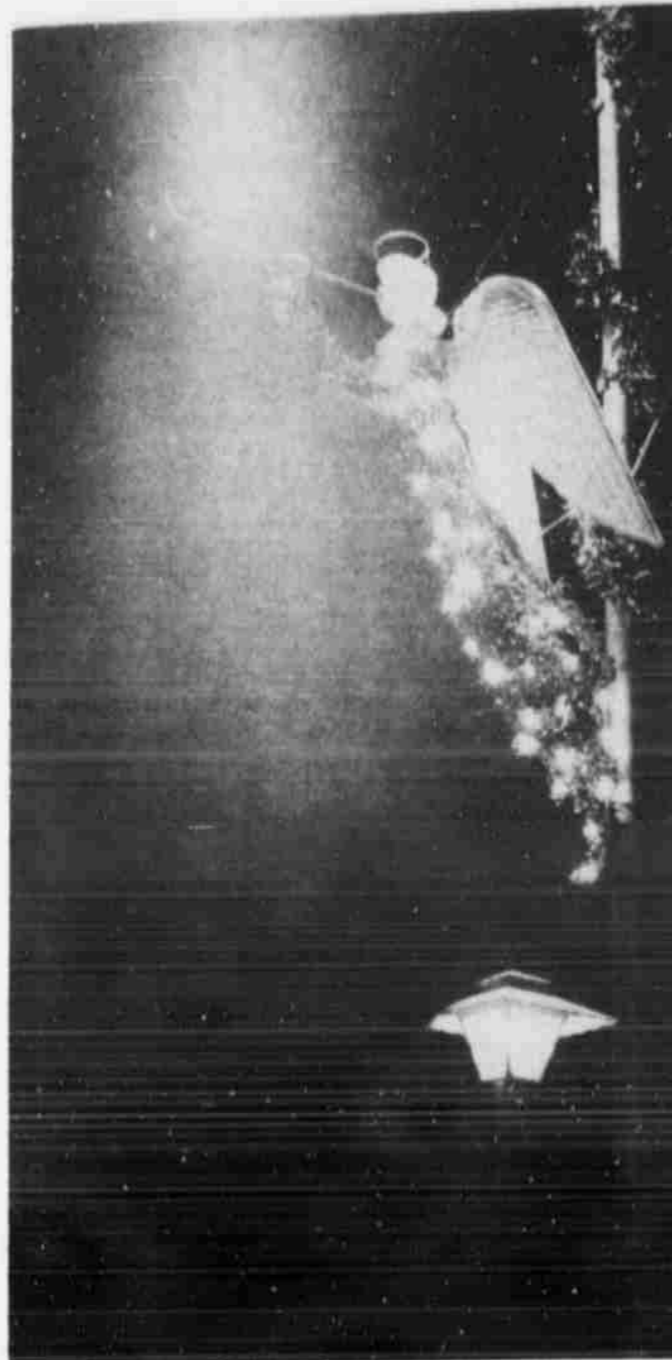

You'll swindle your mother and, just for a buck
You'll turn into something vile and corrupt.
You'll mug and you'll steal for my narcotic charms,
And feel contentment when I'm in your arms.
The day you realize the monster you've grown,
You'll solemnly promise to leave me alone.
If you think that you've got the mystical knack,
Then, sweetie, just try to get me off your back.

The vomit, the cramps, your gut tied in a knot,
The jangling nerves screaming for just one more shot.
The hot chills, the cold sweat, the withdrawal pains
Can only be saved by my little white grains.

There is no other way, and there's no need to look
For deep down inside, you'll know you are hooked.
You'll desperately run to the pusher and then,
You'll welcome me back to your arms once again.

And when you return, just as I foretold,
I know that you'll give me your body and soul.
You'll give up your morals, your conscience, your heart,
And you will be mine until death do us part.

SHOP LITTLEFIELD DOLLAR DAY

It's Prime Time For Shoplifters

The stores are crowded with last-minute shoppers. All the clerks are busy, and it is all but impossible for the store management to detail enough security people to prevent at least some shoplifting.

The professionals move in. They are aware that Christmas time is prime time for shoplifting.

They know how to do it and get away with it. These professional crooks even have a market for the goods they steal. By plying their illicit trade they add substantially to the price you will pay this season for your Christmas gifts, not to mention your purchases throughout the year.

And in addition to the professional shoplifter, there's the amateur. He comes into the store and finds it crowded. He jostles his way to the merchandise he's looking for, but it is impossible to get a clerk's attention. Seized by impulse, he stuffs the merchandise under his coat and walks out.

Or he is shy of cash and finds prices higher than he has anticipated. He decides, just this once, to shoplift.

What if he gets caught? He's an amateur, but under law he's just as guilty as the pro.

What if he doesn't get caught?

Will he keep repeating the act?

And is he any better than the professional crook to begin with?

Shoplifting is a crime. Crime is not in keeping with the spirit of Christmas.

Christmas should not be a prime time for crime. But it is. What can we do about it?

To stop crime call Crime-Stop—phone 385-4411.

Journey To The Past

BY EVALYN M. SCOTT

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Data for this story about the A. B. Shipley Jr. family was submitted by Mrs. A. B. Shipley Jr.)

Alfred Blevins Shipley, Jr. born in the Indian Territory looked the country over good before finally settling in Littlefield in 1927.

The trek from Oklahoma began in the early 1920's when the family first lived near Wellington and operated a country grocery store.

The trip there was made by immigrant car and the Shipleys brought their household goods, farm implements, two mules and a wagon. Mrs. Shipley recalls she brought the family piano, an old upright model.

Perhaps this accounts for the love of singing and music inherited by some of her grandchildren. Waylon and Tommy Jennings, well known entertainers in the field of western and country music, and of all her granddaughter, Glenda Parrott, who was named a member of the All American Choir, and who has also performed in numerous musical productions.

After arriving in Littlefield in 1927, Shipley, along with his father, A. B. Shipley, Sr. purchased land northeast of Littlefield—what was known as the Harris place which had two houses built for two family members.

After farming there two years, the place was sold and the family sojourned in Ralls a short while and in Morton for a short stay.

It was in Morton that their second daughter, Louellen was stricken with the dreaded diphtheria and the Shipleys brought her back to Littlefield to a Dr. Harris, who had his office in the back of the former Stokes Drug Store. In its advanced state, the doctor suggested what was known as the kill or cure shot and Louellen died within one hour after taking the shot.

Following her death and funeral services, the family took her body to Ralls where she was buried by carlights, having arrived there after dark.

The family returned to Littlefield the second time in 1930—this time for keeps.

Raised a farmer, Shipley farmed near Littlefield and carried his cotton to the Irvin Gin, still operating. During the depression of the 30's, Shipley supplemented the family funds by working at the oil mill, and would carry watermelons from the farm to sell to the other employees.

After leaving the farm he has been engaged in the trucking business and has resided in the same place in Littlefield for the last twenty-two years.

Mrs. Shipley remembers in the early days they traded at "The People's Store" operated by Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hall. An eagle-eyed little brother, horses, a ferry boat and skiff, the raging Red River all played a part in the wedding of Alfred Blevins Shipley Jr. and Dessie Bell West.

The bride who was still attending school planned to elope with the groom and after returning home from school she took one of her father's saddle horses to ride to a rendezvous with the intended groom. The groom's sister was to meet the couple with the bride's wedding clothes, but was spied leaving the West home with the bundle of clothes, so she never made the scene.

The two met on the banks of the Red River and were to cross over to attend an exhibition at Illinois Bend.

But, the Red River then proved contrary and overflowed its banks from an overflow; the couple not to be daunted were married there by the banks of the river, then crossed over to the Texas side with the aid of a ferry boat and a skiff.

A. B. Shipley Jr., also a native of Oklahoma, was the son of Alfred Blevins Shipley Sr., Oklahoma lawman and farmer, and wife, Delila Browns.

Mrs. Shipley, the former Dessie Bell West of Leon, Okla. was the daughter of West, who married first Faye Parmer, who died when Mrs. Shipley was two years old. He then married Nora Green who raised Mrs. Shipley.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Shipley attended schools at Leon, Okla.

Previous to his marriage to Dessie Bell West, Alfred Blevins Shipley, Jr. married Bertie Brown who died in childbirth at the birth of their first child, a son Bonny Fred Shipley. A. B. Shipley married secondly Dessie Bell West and to this union were born Lorene, who married William Albert Jennings, of Littlefield. Their children are Waylon, Tommy, James and Phillip.

Louellen died of diphtheria at age of five. Elvis Shipley married Mary Louise Coffee, and they had one daughter, Ella Lou, and a son, Rocky Lynn.

Elva Lucille married Willie Raymond (Jabo) Vaughn. Their children are Darlene and Richie Sandra.

Levina married Glenn Wood Parrott of Sudan. Their children are Glenda Rae, Sharon Rae and Pamela Kay. Freda married Curtis Dyer. They had one daughter, Eulinda Kay.

EFFICIENCY
Is your furnace filter clean? If it isn't, the American Gas Association says that it may be costing you money this winter. Your furnace may be in perfect condition, and may operate all day long—especially during very cold weather—but the system won't be operating efficiently if the filter is clogged or dirty. The filter on a furnace should be changed or cleaned several times during the winter. Filters are inexpensive and can save you money in fuel bills.

Stop Purse Snatchers

Linda, as she got into her car outside the supermarket, tried to remember how much money she had been carrying in her purse. Must have been more than $100. Her Christmas shopping money.

The purse had been in the grocery cart at her elbow when she first noticed the two young men out of the corner of her eye. She hadn't actually seen them; she was merely aware of their presence.

Then one of them approached her. "Ma'am, could you help me find the blackberry gelatin? You see, I left my glasses at home."

"Why, it's right here..." But after some seconds of looking, Linda realized that blackberry was not one of the flavors offered.

"Oh, I'll just take this kind," the young man said, and he was gone. She hardly had seen him. At the checkout counter, she opened her purse to take out her wallet. It was gone, with all her money and identification. She couldn't even cash a check.

The store manager was not too sympathetic. Finally, she had to tell him just to put the groceries in her cart back on the shelves.

Now she must decide whether to call her husband or the police.

Christmastime is prime time for purse snatchers and pickpockets. Almost every wallet contains extra cash for Christmas shopping.

You can help thwart the criminal by taking extra precautions, and by being on the alert for criminals at work. Observe and report suspicious activity. Don't be crime's silent partner. To stop crime call Crime-Stop—Phone 385-4411.

Wayland Theatre Sets Production

Added to the schedule of productions of Wayland Theatre this season is "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," which will be presented in Harral Memorial Auditorium on Dec. 11 at 7:30 p.m.

The Broadway musical comedy, directed by Robert Bowers, instructor in speech and theatre, is presented as a benefit for the speech department.

Taken from the comic strip, "Peanuts," the popular show is designed to appeal to children of all ages, from six to 80. Author of the play is John Gordan.

Employing clever lighting, action revolves around a free, stylized set and the actors are costumed in colorful children's clothing.

Coming to life on the Wayland stage as the unforgettable Charlie Brown will be Stan Hickerson, freshman from Lorenzo. His "thorn in the flesh," Lucy, will be played by Debbe Schuster, freshman from Muleshoe.

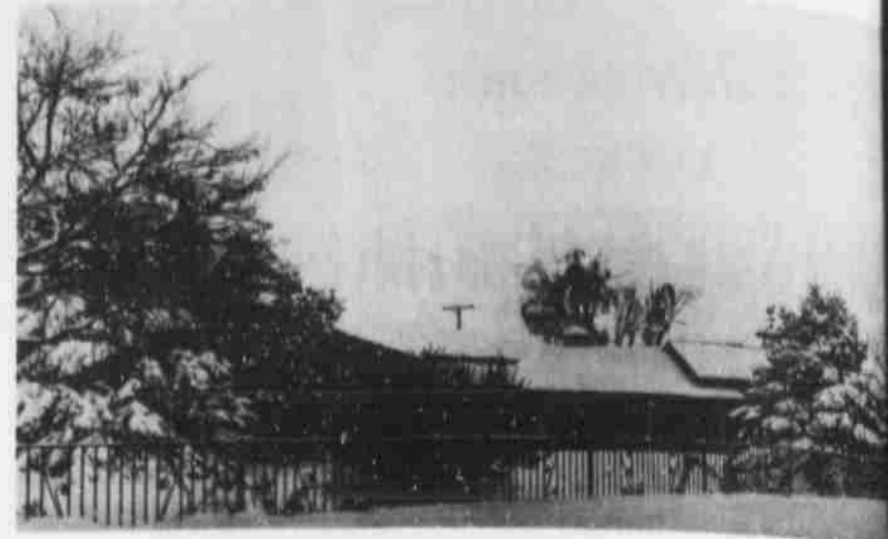

The other female lead, Patty, will be portrayed by Jonna Dale, senior from Denver, Colo., a familiar face to Wayland Theatre fans.

Charlie Brown's friends, Linus and Schroeder, will be played by Gerald Brooks, sophomore from Glen Burnie, Md., and Paul Aday, sophomore from Vine Grove, Ky., respectively. The two will play the roles complete with blanket and piano.

The inimitable Snoopy will be characterized by Leslie Meads, freshman from San Antonio.

Lighting designer for the show is David Welch, senior from Clovis, N. M., and he is being assisted by Steve Musgraves, junior from Borger. Technical director is Steve Wood, Plainview. Mary Hine, sophomore from Aurora, Colo., serves as stage manager, and Linda Rogers, freshman from Perry, Okla., serves as assistant director.

Interested persons are reminded of the earlier-than-usual show time of 7:30 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door of Harral Memorial Auditorium on the evenings of performance.
