

Arrested In Burglaries At Spade, Hart Camp Firms

County law enforcement officials arrested five men on felony charges against five burglaries each on three Lubbock and felony theft charges against one couple.

Diane McMillan, 24, Billy Mike and Robert Wayne Palmer, 20, all of Spade, were all charged with burglarizing the Farmers Fertilizer and Chemical Company at Spade and Hart Camp Grain Company Sunday night. The men were each set at $2,500 for each count or a total of $15,000 on each of the three who were apprehended at the site of the second burglary.

Bill Angel advised the deputies that he received a call that a burglary was in progress at Hart Camp Grain Co. The county officials and patrolman apprehended the two men inside the Hart Camp business and the woman who was waiting in the car. In the suspects' possession were several items taken in the Spade burglary and a waste basket filled with things about to be carried out of the Hart Camp building. Officers said they learned Tuesday that the trio had taken items from Anton Butane, also.

Monday, a Negro couple from Muleshoe accompanied by five children bought a car at Garland Motor Company and paid for it with a government check in the amount of more than $2,200. Garland Motor gave the couple a check on the motor firm for their change.

The couple drove from Littlefield to Lubbock, where they attempted to cash the check at Jack's Automotive. The Lubbock firm called Garland's to confirm the check and by that time Garland had learned that the government check had been stolen from a post office box in Muleshoe.

Lubbock officers arrested the two, and the couple and the five children were brought back to Littlefield, where felony theft charges were filed against James Price, 26, and Helen Jean Price, 25. The children were picked up by her relatives about 7:30 Monday night.

At press time Wednesday the two remained in the county jail with bonds set at $3,000 for the man and $2,000 for the woman.

United States postal authorities were investigating the case Tuesday, and further charges were pending.

James Lee of Amherst was arrested by Sheriff's Deputies Homer McLauri and Gary Lightfoot Tuesday and charged with liquor law violation. Lee was released the same day on a $1,000 bond.

Officials are probing two separate reports of Treflan thefts.

Norman Hinchliffe of the Earth Ag and Supply at Earth reported the theft of 18 five-gallon cans of Treflan taken in a burglary sometime last Tuesday night. Entry was gained by removing the screen and window on the south side of the building.

Yesterday morning, Anton Fertilizer reported the theft of 12 five-gallon cans of Treflan taken after closing hours Tuesday.

DR. JERRY GLEASON inspects one of the pigs just delivered by Caesarian section through this hover or bubble. He and an attendant work through openings in the sides of the hover that are sealed off from the outside environment with air tight sleeves with surgical gloves attached. After the pigs are breathing well, they are passed into a second germ-free enclosure where they are dried, ears notched, and cords tied.

Girl Scout Fund Drive Continues

As of Tuesday night, the Girl Scout Door to Door Mothers' March had placed approximately $430 into the 1971 Girl Scout operation fund.

"It takes about $10 per Girl Scout to support her in a year's time," according to Carolyn West, publicity chairman for the drive.

The advance drive is still not complete and there are a few areas over town that have not been completed by the mothers.

The dads and other volunteers are contacting businesses and individuals in the advance drive.

Persons wishing to make contributions to the Girl Scout fund are asked to contact Janice Sebring at Garland Motor Company, or Joan Harrell.

H Judges in Honors Contest

County's junior 4-H livestock team won first, and the Lamb County senior livestock judging team won the livestock judging contest held Saturday.

In addition, the Lamb County junior team placed third high overall, above all other 4-H teams.

Judging was sponsored by the Young Farmers Association, and 20-25 teams participated in the FFA and 4-H divisions. Team members receiving individual honors included Bruce Bridges, Dean Walden, Cory Logsdon and Michele, all of Littlefield.

Amplifier Arrested, Thefts Are Probed

24-year-old Latin American woman arrested by city police here Monday morning after she had been caught stealing at Gibson's.

She pleaded guilty and was fined $100. Police are investigating two incidents of theft at the high school parking lot.

Whiteaker reported Tuesday that 10 stereo tapes and a western were taken from his 1968 Dodge pickup while it was parked at LHS.

Trammell reported Friday that stereo tapes had been taken from his pickup while it was parked on the school parking lot.

'Pig Pen' At Earth Spotless, Busy

By NILAH RODGERS
Leader-News Staff Writer

The Earth Swine Breeders Incorporated has quite an operation - especially the farrowing of their pigs.

Every pig is taken by Caesarian section under the most sanitary of conditions.

This Lamb County SPF hog farm is only the second such operation in the nation, with the Earth set-up patterned after a similar plant in Manila, Iowa.

By operating on the sow, rather than letting nature take its course, the baby pigs are absolutely germ free. There are other hog farms in the U. S. where the pigs are taken by surgery, but other than the Earth Swine Breeders and the Iowa firm, a hysterectomy is performed, and the sow is destroyed.

By delivering the pigs by Caesarian sections, the sow is saved and can have four, five or more litters. "As a matter of fact," said Shelby Bozeman, manager of the Earth SPF enterprise, "last week we operated on a sow that had been through this procedure 147 days prior."

Attendants watch the sows closely, and when they begin to show milk, they get ready to schedule the operation. Pigs are usually taken on the night of the 113th day, or as close to the natural farrowing date as possible.

Dr. Jerry Gleason of Muleshoe is on 24-hour call when a sow is scheduled, but the Caesarian is always done after his regular office hours whenever feasible.

The operating room is in the old Earth locker building on the corner of Highway 1065 and 70, or Main. The lights in the building and the activity on the nights pigs are taken attracts the town people to the building, and an audience often gathers to see the procedure. Area ag teachers have used a scheduled operation for class field trips, too.

The sow is walked into the operating room and run into a chute where she is securely chained to the side, which, when tilted converts into an operating table. The entire operation, from the time the veterinarian walks into the room until he leaves, usually takes about two hours.

After the incision area is shaved and disinfected, an adhesive patch with a slit is applied and a big plastic bubble sterilized with potassium phormanganate and formaldehyde is placed over the sow's abdomen. Two pairs of rubber surgical gloves are attached at the ends of sleeves that extend inside the bubble, and the veterinarian and his attendant work, with the vet pack and equipment sealed inside the bubble, through these air-tight openings.

After the pigs are breathing and the umbilical cord is clamped, the pigs are passed into the warming unit where two other attendants further dry them off and tie the cord by working through gloved sleeves in the second enclosure.

From here, the pig nursemaid Edwin O'Hair takes the newborn pigs to the nursery located one mile west and one-half mile north of Earth. The pigs are kept in individual boxes and are fed a sterilized, prepared formula three times a day for the first seven days, then twice a day for 21 more days. The survival rates are excellent if the pigs accept their first ration.

Eighty to 90 per cent of the pigs are raised under these strict sanitary conditions, a figure as good as that of barnyard farmers.

Each time the nursery attendant enters the nursery he must remove his clothes, take a shower, shampoo his hair and put on a clean change of clothing. Before entering the room he must wear a face mask, put on rubber gloves that have been disinfected, and his first step into the nursery is into a foot bath of disinfectant.

"Time was when you took a bath, went to town, then came home to feed the hogs," O'Hair said, "but now you go to town, come back, then take a bath and feed the pigs."

The Earth Swine Breeders Association has approximately 20 sows they bring through the primary lab, and in addition to their own sow, Dr. Gleason will operate on customers' sows. A charge of $130 per sow is made for the delivery. After this, the owner can either take the pigs home and put them on an SPF nurse sow, or they can be raised to 28 days in the association's nursery at a cost of $55 per pig raised to four weeks of age.

A grower knows for certain he is getting clean stock when he buys a primary SPF hog, and most of the pigs delivered by section in the primary lab are sold as breeding stock.

Shelby Bozeman is manager of the Earth enterprise, and O'Hair is in charge of the nursery and helps Bozeman with outside work.

Bozeman is a 1962 graduate of Springlake-Earth High School and got his first degree in animal science from Abilene Christian College in 1967. He taught school for two and one-half years before beginning work on his master's, which he completed in swine management at Texas A&M University in August, 1970, just as the Earth Swinebreeders Association started its operation.

O'Hair farmed about 12 years and then operated the Earth Cleaners for about six years in training for the clean atmosphere in which he must maintain the pig nursery.

What Bozeman and O'Hair refer to as a high degree of security is maintained on the primary SPF breeding stock. The primary pigs are fed first thing every morning by these attendants in fresh clothing, before secondary stock is checked. Precautions are necessary for the primary stock. Because they have not been exposed to certain diseases, they have not built antibodies and are more susceptible to ailments that wouldn't be too serious to run-of-the-mill hogs.

In addition to Bozeman and O'Hair, the only paid employees, there is additional overhead in maintaining the necessary security. Of approximately $20,000 tied up for the SPF laboratory in sows, boars and the conventional herd, better than half of this is in lab fixtures and equipment. The nursery itself is an $11,000 building, and it is only 24'x60'.

The original swine raising business was thought up in January of last year, and the SPF lab was added as a second thought.

4 Cars Involved In Local Mishap

Four cars were involved in a traffic mishap here Friday, when a 1968 Ford owned by Pioneer Natural Gas Co. and driven by Carl Hugh Enloe of Littlefield, was traveling west on East Ninth and struck a 1970 Dodge, driven by Lewis Ray Pate of Littlefield.

The Pate vehicle was going south on Phelps Avenue, and the pickup struck it in the left rear panel with the entire front end, and knocked the Dodge into the right rear panel of a parked 1968 Buick, owned by Armon D. Perrin.

The Buick was parked beside a 1965 Cadillac owned by J. Edward Jennings, and was knocked into the Cadillac. The Buick and Cadillac received damages to rear panels.

BOY SCOUTS and their adult leaders throughout the nation will be observing their 60th Anniversary all during the month of February, and Littlefield boys are no exception. A new long-range plan, called BOYPOWER '73, calls for the involvement of a representative one-third of all boys in the country in the Scouting program by the end of 1976. Scouts from

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Take Time

By BOB WEAR

"I DIDN'T HAVE TIME for this" said the man lying on the hospital bed.

He smiled, and said, "Well, I guess I did, too." He was a man with many activities to supervise; he was indeed a busy man.

He had much work to do; but he never did any more of the work. It was all left for others to do, because he died.

IN THIS CONVERSATION, he said, "I have been wanting to travel with my family. We have talked many times about some of the places we would like to see, but I just didn't have time."

"Now," he said, "I wish that I had taken time to do some of the things we had planned." He continued, "I just thought that I didn't have time." He waited too long.

MANY THINGS, important and delightful things, are never done unless we take time to do them.

It is very easy for us to become so completely absorbed with the good in life that we never have time for the best. There is only one satisfactory way to handle this. We must "take time", take time for the best.

STOLEN TIME is another problem. Unless we are constantly alert to the great value of time, we will lose much of it through waste and poor management, and by the demands of trivialities.

There are so many thieves of time. We can protect ourselves against this loss of time by being fully conscious of its great value to us.

TIME IS IMPORTANT in its own right, but its value is greatly enriched when we consider it in relationship to what it can be used to accomplish when it is used wisely.

Our established value system is really the controlling factor in the way we view time, and how we use it.

THE PASSING OF TIME cannot be stopped. In fact, we cannot even slow it down.

Its movement on toward its destiny with eternity is a relentless movement. The best we can do is to be careful how we use it.

"A MAN'S TIME, when well husbanded, is like a cultivated field, of which a few acres produces more of what is useful to life, than extensive provinces, even of the richest soil, when overrun with seeds and brambles."—Hume.

We will never have time to do some of the most important and rewarding and necessary things.

In order to do these things, we must "take time". This means saying "no" to the many activities demanding our time, and saying "yes" to the truly important things.

WE MUST "TAKE TIME" for home and family; time for God and his family, the church; time for friends; time to be neighborly; time to improve our lives; time to serve our community; in short, we must "take time" to live.

Everybody has the same amount of time each day, but not everybody has the same system of priorities.

This accounts for the disparities in the use of time.

LIVING WELL is not accidental; it doesn't just happen.

We must "take time" to do the things which make life worth the living.

"Take the wheel, Henry. here comes a lamp post!"

THE PHILOSOPHER

Save Farmers

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm launches a new drive to save the farmer this week.)

Dear editor:

According to a lot of articles I've read lately a lot of people are arguing that the farm program is costing the country too much money, that not only should it be abolished but the Agriculture Department itself ought to be abolished or merged with some other department.

This is a serious matter. Now I know that the farm population is dwindling, is down to 8 percent of the total population and may go lower than that if we have a dry year and the price of hogs stays down, and I can see how city people could resent helping farmers out when cities are head over heels in problems of their own, so much so in fact that lots of city people would move out now if their furniture weren't mortgaged.

Before this gets out of hand, however, the farmers have got to fight back and I have figured out an idea that will save the day.

We've got to stop calling it a farm program. It's an environmental problem.

If we can get the environmentalists interested in preserving the disappearing farmer, we've got it made.

Explain it to them. Farmers may not be worth much in themselves but you'll upset the balance of nature if they disappear. They're bound to feel a farmer is worth as much to the environment as a whooping crane.

Merge the farmer-preservation drive with the drive to save the Florida alligator or the African leopard. What would this world be like with no farmers and no polar bears? What ecology-conscious woman wants a coat made out of leopard skins or a farmer's hide?

It's the only way. With only 8 percent of the total population, farmers aren't going to get very far with their voting power, but how many votes have the whooping cranes got? Alligators never elected anybody, I don't think, it's sometimes hard to tell, but they stopped a $50,000,000 canal in Florida.

I call on every farmer in the country to get on board the environmental bandwagon. It's the only way to keep the species alive.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

Number Two

HOW ABOUT RUSSIA'S projected growth rate for this young year—6.7 per cent? That's double the most optimistic guesstimates of what the United States will do.

Russia has not yet caught up with us but...

Russia, number two, trying harder, aims to...

HISTORY SAYS the fat nations are always outrun and frequently overcome by the lean, hungry ones.

Maybe we'd better take a quick, sobering glance over our own shoulders. Russia, running second, is gaining on us.

Maybe Russia has some good ideas. If she has, let's steal 'em. That's what Russia does with our good ideas.

RUSSIA has swiped and adopted our incentive system and vastly increased factory output.

Russia, allowing autonomy to plant managers, has modified economic communism to incorporate our system of competition and thus has produced more than half a million made-in-Russia new cars for the first time ever.

IF THAT TOTAL is unimpressive alongside ours, their 1970 increase—compared to our decrease—should be sobering.

And in 1971, Russia anticipates production of motor vehicles surpassing a million.

In many ways, Russia is where we were 30 years ago, a hard-working, producing, self-centered nation directing its energies and its resources to its own improvement.

UNCLE SAM is trying to put a lot of adopted nephews through college.

Uncle Sam, playing fireman for the world, is spending $70 billion a year on the military. Russia will spend less than $20 billion next year on her military.

Granted, Russia does not include military "R & D" in that budget but neither do we include nonmilitary foreign aid in ours.

SO RUSSIA'S military outlay is as modest as ours is top-heavy.

The Soviet finance minister, presenting this budget to the Supreme Soviet, said that "the state budget of the U.S.S.R. is a budget of peaceful and cultural development."

He says industrial production will increase 6.9 per cent, national income will increase by 6.7 per cent; Russia expects all increased income to result from increased production. As we used to.

IT'S NO WORKERS' paradise in Soviet Russia where the average wage is $133 a month. You don't get fat on that.

But then, when they get fat it'll be somebody else's turn.

Unless, somehow, we could learn from history and not have to repeat it—over and over again.

DEAR EDITOR

Service Appreciated

Dear Editor, I've always been taught to appreciate someone and their good deeds they have done. And, too, if you have something to say good about somebody, tell him about it.

I'll like to take this opportunity to publicly thank Larry Sanderson for the lovely church program he brought to the Littlefield Hospitality House on Sunday, Jan. 31.

Instead of staying home in a comfortable chair to watch the astronauts blast off, he brought us a lovely service with the greatest group of young people I've heard lately.

Thanks for people in Littlefield like Larry Sanderson.

HONNY GRYS

By CORNBALL BLEVIN

SOMETIMES we have trouble keeping things in perspective. Take, for instance, the case of the launching of Apollo 14.

It was well and good that we shot a few million bucks out into space—as well as three men—but to interrupt the Hockey game, between the Boston Bruins and the St. Louis Blues was not to be tolerated!

AT LEAST that was the conclusion of my youngest fry, Hector-Louise, they could have, at least, postponed the blast-off 'til the game was over!—Whereupon, he went off in a huff, laid down on the couch and promptly went to sleep.

His mother tried to rouse him to come and watch the actual blast-off, but he wouldn't budge.

ME?—I sat and watched, agog, as that oversized bullet lifted from the pad and roared off into space.—Course, with that much fire at its backside, there wasn't much else it could do; I'd have left out, too!

Anyway, aside of being concerned for the safety and well being of the three men aboard, I sat and tried to compute the dollars the project was costing us as the vehicle got under way.—It was too much for my pea-sized brain!

COURSE, NOW, Hockey just ain't my dish. I don't know anything about the rules of the game. You give a bunch of guys a club apiece, turn them out into the snow and give them a little black and white over. Then, all manner of things happen!—And on ice skates, they put people in jail for the Littlefield!

Anyho-o-o, Apollo 14 is on its way. I know what they intend to do. Seems they already know the isn't fit for farming.—Don't lose a of a health resort.

SINCE THERE'S no winter fishing would be any good, a shortage of grass, you could get goats! Somehow, from the seen of the place, it reminds me of an Indian reservation out in Arizona.

Now, I didn't have any money for Boston-St. Louis game. (She's pulling for Boston, although I just why).—But, I betcha, I'd have a good stake in that moon shot!

SINCE I HAVE that feeling like I told my sis, just before she left, "I DO hope everything's alright!"

At least, while we and the race for pre-eminence on ain't spending money AND shooting war!

Then, if we do decide we can turn the tv on and watch those hockey games!

SOWS THAT ARE delivered by Caesarian section at the Earth Breeders Incorporated are first driven into a pen and tied with straps across rear and fore flanks, then front and hind legs and secured with small chains. The side of the pen is tilted and becomes operating table, with the left side of the sow up. Jerry Gleason is shaving the area where the incision is made. Watching the operation are Jerry Jones, Edwin O'Hair (nursery attendant for the SPF pigs), Shelby Bozeman (manager of Earth Swine Breeders) and Gene Gaston, one of the owners and directors.

SPF HOG FARM

when SPF boars of high quality were not to be found in any quantity.

"If we never operate on any outside person's sow," Bozeman said, "all this will be worthwhile just knowing that we will always have a place where we can get quality SPF boars to go into our 120-sow herd."

Earth Swinebreeders intend to increase its herd and its breeding stock and phase out a certain amount of its cross breeding females. The operation has already proven itself with several high quality boars that were taken through the Earth lab. They plan to start using these sometime in March of April of this year.

Hog growers who find it profitable to have a quality SPF boar can figure on spending around $1,000. Bozeman said an SPF boar could be bought for less money, but these weren't of the quality the Earth group felt they wanted.

"The swine industry today has to have some quality to it," Bozeman said, "We have to strive to maintain a quality product, and in order to do this, we felt that our primary lab would certainly increase our chances of raising higher quality products."

"Not all of our boars sell for $1,000," Bozeman said, "certainly not. But for a man in the swine business today, whether he has 30 or 40 sows or 300-500, we feel that we have a place where he can come to get quality stock to go back into his head at a price that fits his pocketbook."

Eighteen litters were taken the first four months of the operation, and 14 of these litters were from the association's stock. Of the other four, two of the sows were from a grower at Plains, one from Pampa and one from Earth.

One of these sows was lost on the operating table. This sow was quite famous in the Hampshire breed. She was Sunburst, a sow purchased in partnership with Jerry Jones of Earth, and the dam of A. Rueben Edward's herd sire, Bouncer. She was six years old and extremely heavy. One other sow died after she had been operated on and taken home, and the cause of death wasn't discovered.

Most of the boars are kept until they are of breeding age or about 200-250 gilts and 215-275 for boars.

On primary SPF stock, Bozeman said, a bad practice to rush these pigs. "They are just a different breed and, have to be treated from secondary or conventional. Pushing can result in gut rot."

"We certainly don't want to raise animals, Bozeman said, but a pig is usually a sick pig as far as SPF stock is concerned."

This means a longer time to stock to reach sexual maturity. Conventional boar would be mature at six to eight months. A SPF boar doesn't reach this stage until he is 10 or 11 months old.

The general public isn't interested in building a similar operation, Bozeman said, "We're not trying to keep it secret." Bozeman said, "We have quite an investment tied up for 120 sows. We have an expected $175,000 to $180,000 before we can check."

Bozeman said if a buyer is interested in building a similar operation, he'd give him a tour, provided they abide by the SPF rules. "We don't want to get cold shouldered," he added, "just one of the things that we maintain SPF."

The Earth association was formed seven Earth-Springlake, Texas, and Gene Gaston, Donnie Clayton, Norman Doug Parish, DeWayne Jones, Cleavenger and Lynn West owners and board members. After the association was formed, the board members and their Dr. Merik's home town in Texas through his operation. They were with Dr. Tittsworth at Cameron, SPF lab where he has been in for eight to 10 years taking hysterectomy.

"Generally the section does sows any more than natural. Bozeman concluded. A general is used to begin with, then a keep them under. After the walk out the way they walk, we tilt that table back up." Bozeman said, "they walk right off. They wobble, but they make it to the

God's Psychiatry

A DEVOTIONAL
By WAYLAND HUTTO

"If you can't be happy where you are, you're not going to find what you want even if you travel 10,000 miles. So it doesn't matter where you go, because you've never really left."

One of the most evident trends of modern man is that trend to "get away from it all."

It seems that we are rapidly assuming an attitude of complete independence.

In other words, we want to be our own boss—not just in our vocations but in establishing our own morals, values, and religions. The problem is that when 3 1/2 billion people (at least, those that are able) suddenly declare independence and "do their thing", the result is a very disorderly, confused world.

The primary reason for the bedlam in which we live, is that man has forgotten that his body and his soul are not synonymous. We feed, clothe, and maintain our physical bodies; on the other hand, we neglect the spiritual body, the soul, by corrupting it with selfishness.

Jesus said, "I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last." Revelation 22:13. He is not only the first and the last but all that is in-between-life.

"I am the way, the truth, and the life"; John 14:6.

He is the way to escape from a meaningful life and an eternal death.

He is the truth, and He promises to reveal the truth to all who believe in Him. No man will ever find what he is looking for until he takes a look at the cross upon which Jesus was crucified.

Jesus is truly life.

Time Out For Sports

ALBERT SANCHEZ

Matt Gile's 27 points led the Wildcats to a victory last Friday night. Littlefield dropped Lockney 75-71 in the Longhorn gym.

The victory was the first in 3-AA action and the first victory of the year following 19 straight losses.

Giles was not the only Wildcat hitting in double figures. J. E. Johnson shot for 13 points and Ralph Funk dumped in 12 points. Kim Hill, Dennis Hartley, Albert Sanchez and Larry Hobratchsk had 9, 7, 5, and 2 points respectively for the Wildcats.

Trailing 41-35 at halftime, the Wildcats ripped the nets on 29 of 51 shots for a great 57 per cent.

Littlefield also hit 17 of 34 shots from the charity line for a 50 per cent accuracy.

The Wildcats' last opponent was Abernathy, a team that knocked off Littlefield by 4 points the last time the two teams met.

The game was played in the Wildcat Gym, Tuesday, Feb. 2.

Friday the Cats will travel to Dimmitt to do battle with the Bobcats.

LHS Speaks Out

By PAM BRANNON and PATTI FOLEY

The question of the week this time was: "What is air?" We got some different answers, but most everyone said it was something you breathe. Some said it was the stuff we were polluting, and one person decided we need it to blow up balloons. And another said we must have it to fly kites.

Here are some of the answers we got from the students:

Johnny Robertson, (Jr.)—"Air is half nitrogen and half oxygen. And you breathe it and people need it to blow their stacks with."

Darla Sanderson, (Soph.)—"Beautiful nothing that keeps everything alive."

Mike Morris, (Soph.)—"Air is that good stuff up in the air that people in Los Angeles, and San Francisco don't have, because of the pollution that is making air rare."

Linda Horn, (Jr.)—"One of God's creations and is used to fly kites in!"

Pam Brandt, (Soph.)—"Stuff we breathe."

Len Wright, (Sr.)—"See no evil, taste no evil, hear no evil, but smell evil."

Dorothy Williams, (Soph.)—"I don't know because it's unseeable."

Kenneth Ray, (Sr.)—"Air is what we breathe and what everyone is polluting."

Ben McKinnon, (Soph.)—"Stuff that gives us something to do all the time."

Marsha Starnes, (Jr.)—"Air is what's in the air. It takes up space that isn't there."

Arturo Soria, (Soph.)—"Air is the means of life."

Rick Sanchez, (Soph.)—"Air means my life."

Deana Sterling, (Soph.)—"Something that is wierd."

Joanna Rogers, (Sr.)—"Air is what we breathe and blow balloons up with."

Boonie Smith, (Soph.)—"A bunch of nothing."

Jim Bruton, (Soph.)—"Well it's this nasty stuff we breathe.

It's the stuff that keeps all living things alive too."

Leann Parson, (Sr.)—"Air is pollution and the stuff that we breathe (smog)."

Spring Squalls Bring Danger

Winter and spring are seasons which bring a special brand of danger to the boater.

George Cook, director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Water Safety Services, said the unpredictability of the weather during this time of the year makes boating more dangerous.

Don't venture out in a boat if rough weather has been forecast. But if you're caught in a storm, here are some things to remember:

- *Put life preservers on all passengers in the boat. Don't leave preservers lying around or in a locker.
- *Head into the waves at a slight angle.
- *Reduce speed.

- *Seat passengers in the bottom of the boat as close to the center as possible.
- *Head for the nearest shore.

- *If the wind and waves are too high, or if your motor fails, trail a sea anchor from the bow to maintain a heading into the waves. A bucket or weighted clothing will serve as a sea anchor in an emergency.
- *Stay calm. Panic can kill you.

YEARS BACK the phrase "canned magic" probably meant a genie rubbed out of an old brass lamp. But today it's a common household item—found mainly in kitchens. This up-to-date sort of magic is canned condensed soup. Many homemakers who have observed its marvelous cooking accomplishments, will agree. Busy cooks have sauced, stewed, and flavored with condensed soups for years, in the interest of saving time in the kitchen. Clever homemakers of today have discovered the handy use of soup as a cooking ingredient of major importance in otherwise lengthy classic recipes.

This company dinner centers on the old world favorite—"Hungarian Goulash." A traditional goulash recipe requires 11 ingredients—a can of condensed tomato soup contains five of the ingredients necessary to make goulash. By using condensed tomato soup as the basis for the goulash sauce, the number of ingredients to be measured, chopped, blended, and cooked, has been cut in half—and so has the preparation time.

WHY NOT REACH for the canned magic on your kitchen shelf, and shortcut your way to a delicious meal.

HUNGARIAN GOULASH
2 pounds veal cubes (1-inch)
2 tablespoons shortening
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed tomato soup
1/2 cup sour cream

1/2 cup water
1 large clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon salt
Cooked noodles
In large heavy pan, brown veal in shortening; pour off fat. Stir in remaining ingredients except noodles. Cover; cook over low heat 1 1/2 hours or until meat is tender. Stir now and then.
Serve with noodles. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

HERE'S ANOTHER good recipe using condensed soup.

VEAL ROAST ITALIANO
5 lb. veal rump roast
1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed tomato soup
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon chopped anchovies
Roast meat fat-side up in roasting pan at 325 degrees F. for about 3 hours (35 to 40 minutes per pound or 170 degrees F. on meat thermometer). Remove meat from pan; pour off excess fat, saving drippings.
On top of range in roasting pan, brown mushrooms in drippings. Stir in remaining ingredients. Heat, stirring to loosen browned bits. Serve with meat. Serves 4 to 8.

NOT LOUD ENOUGH

Nearly everyone has friends or relatives who believe that "no one speaks clearly anymore," or that other people always play radios, television sets and phonographs with the volume too low to be clearly heard. These feelings can be a sign that the individual is experiencing a hearing loss.
