Rain Again! Wind Damages To Local Business

Bailey County Commissioners will meet in regular session at 10 a.m. on Monday, July 11.

Items on the agenda after approval of minutes and payment of routine county bills include a consideration of a budget amendment to FY1988 budget; staffing of the ambulance service; review of the county treasurer report and departmental reports; and miscellaneous items.

Muleshoe Young Homemakers will sponsor a blood drive Thursday, July 21, from 11 a.m.-8 p.m. in the Muleshoe Church of Christ.

According to United Blood Services in Lubbock, more blood is used at this time of year, and less is being donated. It takes 100 units of blood daily to meet the demands of the area hospitals.

"Don't Be A Chicken," is theme of this blood drive and you are encouraged to go on out to the Muleshoe Church of Christ and donate blood.

You never know when the life you save might be your own or that of a family member!

The Muleshoe Athletic Booster Club will meet at the Old Corral on Thursday, July 14, at 8 p.m. to make plans for the coming school year.

All members are encouraged to attend. Booster Club Reporter said "We are looking forward to a great year in all sports, and we need your support."

Mrs. Cheryl Gable Hodge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gable, and student at Vernon Regional Junior College, has been selected as one of the country's most outstanding campus leaders by the Who's Who Among Students In American Junior Colleges editorial staff.

A ROLLED UP ROOF ON THURSDAY--Thursday evening, black clouds moved from north over Muleshoe depositing nearly three-fourths of an inch of rain. However, just at the beginning of the rainstorm, heavy winds drew the cloud into town. One victim of the storm was the roof of Bratcher Motor Company, which rolled up due to the intense windstorm. No other measurable damage was reported due to the storm. Intermittent rain fell all day on Friday, and as evening approached, black clouds were again rolling in from the north. (Journal Photo)

Despite torrential rains in recent weeks, along with very high humidity, this is not the tropics. But, that could be hard to disprove recently.

At presstime, many roads in the area are still closed from the rains that 'dumped' something like six inches of rain within an hour Thursday night in the Shallowater-Leveland areas, and halting traffic for hours on major highways such as Highway 84, northwest out of Lubbock; I-27 north of Plainview; and other major thoroughfares.

Late Thursday afternoon, a fast-moving mass of black clouds came in from the north over Muleshoe, accompanied by very high winds.

As the storm moved over Muleshoe, the wind promptly rolled up the roof on Bratcher Motor Supply on Avenue B, and did other minor damage as the storm trekked to the south.

During the storm, .70 inch of rain fell on saturated ground from earlier rains.

During the day on Friday, an additional .16 inch of rain was received adding to farmers' woes. They need clear skies, and very hot sunshine to help young cotton which is beginning to feel the effects of the continuing rains.

Flash flood watches have been common all during the week, in the entire area. However, Muleshoe and Bailey County have not received the very heavy amounts of rain which have been recorded 50-60 miles to the east and southeast.

In the Plainview area, major highways, along with numerous FM highways and country dirt roads have been closed due to high water.

Thursday night, around Shallowater, Highway 84 was closed for up to three hours waiting for the sudden six-inch downpour to run off, alleviating deep water on that highway.

By late Friday, Flash Flood watches had been extended to the counties of Mitchell and Scurry, south and southeast of Lubbock, as the slow-moving storms were expected to inundate already soaked lands.

In some areas, hail wiped out cotton, corn and soybeans, especially in Hale County.

No one in Bailey County reported any hail damage in the latest round of storms.

National Weather Service personnel have predicted a continuation of the thunderstorms and heavy rain through the weekend, accompanied by temperatures in the low to mid-80s.

The high humidity, combined with daytime heating, and abundant moisture flowing into this area from Mexico, is expected to stay around for awhile, according to NWS personnel from Lubbock.

Saturday morning, a heavy blanket of fog was covering Bailey County, but was expected to burn off late in the morning.

Control Officer Enjoys Work With Animals

(Editor's Note: One of the more unique 'jobs' in Muleshoe is that of the Animal Control Officer/Code Enforcement Officer. This position has been held by Della Snell for the past seven years. She's a very busy lady, in her unique career.)

Since August 10, 1981, local residents have gotten accustomed to a light colored pickup driving around town, seen prowling the alleys and residential areas, and usually with a strong wire cage in the back.

You are seeing Della Snell, who is Animal Control Officer and Code Enforcement Officer for the City of Muleshoe.

In her eyes, she runs into both the very, very good as well as the very, very bad.

When asked why she wanted to be the Animal Control Officer (the Code Enforcement Officer designation was added later), she replied, "I like working with animals; I like working outside and especially like visiting with people," she commented. "I like dealing with problems and trying to help people work them out."

In reply to another question, Mrs. Snell said she does not run into problems with people over their animals, and when she does have a problem, she grins and says, "It's usually a good one." When she and an individual cannot work out the problem, they go before the judge, and work it out.

The ACO/CEO says people have complained at the police department, they have written letters to the editor and have complained at the city hall, but generally when the laws have been explained to them, they are usually cooperative.

When a stray dog is reported to the ACO, she goes to the address or location where reported and either impounds the dog, or follows it to its home. Once she determines where the dog lives, she contacts the owner and a citation is issued for "Dog At Large." Each time a citation is written for the same dog, the fine increases.

At one time, she said, persons had 10 days to go before the judge and pay their fine and reclaim their animal -- however, that has been changed and citations are now "Instant" -- in other words, if they want to reclaim their animal, it must be done immediately.

On impounded dogs, the owner must pay an impoundment fee, the fine for the citation, rabies shots, if necessary, and a city tag, if necessary.

In addition to her primary job, which is animal control, Mrs. Snell also feeds and waters the animals at the shelter located behind the city barn; she keeps the shelter cleaned, even in the dead cold of winter time; she purchases food and supplies for the shelter, and euthanizes the unclaimed animals once a week, and sometimes more often.

She said September and October are her busiest months each year, as seasonal workers leave their animals behind when they leave Muleshoe. The abandoned animals constitute a 'big' part of her job.

Mrs. Snell said July and August are usually very slow as it is too hot for the animals to be moving around very much.

One of the patches Mrs. Snell wears on her uniform sleeve shows that she is both 'certified' as an ACO, and is an instructor.

She explained, "ACOs are now certified. When I started this job, there was no such program."

"Now, there are three different classifications -- basic, advanced and administrative. I was one of the first to take the basic course held in April, 1982, in the Fort Davis Mountains.

"In November, 1986," she continued, "I attended A&M at College Station and was among the first group to be tested for advanced ACO certification.

"Since then, I have assisted with the ACO certification courses, and as a result, I have earned an instructor's patch. I now will go to be tested for the administrative certification.

"In order to keep your certification, you have to attend a certain number of hours of school and continue to work as an ACO. In order to get the basic and advanced certification, a written and hands-on practical examination had to be passed by myself as well as any ACO wishing to be certified," she added.

And -- what else does she do as a part of her work as an ACO?

She must handle the animal traps, with the cat traps being the most used. They are moved in her pickup to a location, checked at least once, and sometimes twice a day, and unloaded.

As you can see, she is very busy.

But, that's not all of her job. She is also Code Enforcement Officer, and in that capacity, issues citations for code violations, such as for junk vehicles and weeds.

In the event of junk vehicles, she writes the citation, and the owner has 10 days to remove the vehicle without charges being pressed, or going to court.

In the event of weeds, such as vacant lots, she notifies the owner, and if nothing is done, the city is notified, and city employees mow the weeds, with the

Kiwanis Club Friday

By: R. A. Bradley

Thirteen Kiwanians and one guest met Friday morning at the Old Corral Cafe. President Keith Turner called the meeting to order, Jim Lutz led the Club in the pledge to the flag, and Nick Bamert gave the invocation.

Since Lyndon Huckaby was not present, we assume he was out looking for a friend.

Don Clapp brought the program, a video film on the coyote. This film was made close to Yellowstone National Park -- a very interesting and entertaining program.

A report was given on the fireworks stand. It was a very good year and the Kiwanis Club would like to say "THANK YOU" to all who bought from us.

Your purchase will be used to help the Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Senior Citizens, Youth Baseball, Junior Livestock Show, needy families, etc.

Again, the Muleshoe Kiwanis Club would like to say a big BIG "THANK YOU."

Creative Living

by Sheryl Borden

Three interesting topics will be presented on "Creative Living" on Tuesday, July 12 at 12 noon and repeated on Saturday, July 16 at 2:00 p.m. on KENW-TV (All times are Mountain.)

One of the topics centers around creative household decorating idea. Carolyn Jabs is the spokesperson for the American Paper Institute and is the author of a book called Reuses. Carolyn will demonstrate the reuses of items in the home that aid in decorating. She's from New Mexico.

Pasta and parties will be demonstrated by Mari-Lou Callahan, who is with the Hershey Foods Corp. in Hershey, PA. She will show several party themes and each one features pasta. These are good choices because each of the recipes can be made ahead of time, frozen and then reheated in time for the party, which makes it much more fun for the hostess, too.

Talking about parties, how about planning a hawaiian luau? Sheri Mader is with a catering business in Albuquerque called Time Brokers, Inc., and she is going to discuss planning this type of party.

On Tuesday, July 12 at 9:30 p.m. and on Thursday, July 14 at 12 noon, Karen Dillon, spokesperson for Palmer/Pletsch Associates will demonstrate custom tailoring vs. the use of fusible interfacings. Karen is from Portland, OR.

The basics of microwave cooking will be presented by Nancy Boyle, Sharp Electronics in Paramus, NJ, and the paper bag lady, Eileen "BUTCH" Krutchik, is back with more offbeat charm of paper bag art. Butch lives in New York city.

"Creative Living" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show airs on more than 100 PBS stations in the United States, Canada, Guam and Puerto Rico and is distributed by Pacific Mountain Network, Denver, CO. Viewers can request copies of printed materials offered on the show by calling the KENW-TV's toll-free telephone lines between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. In New Mexico, the number is 1-800-412-2361, out-of-state: 1-800-515-2359 and Portales and Roosevelt County: 562-2112.

ENJOYING THE FOURTH OF JULY--Monday evening, a volleyball net was set up in the Muleshoe City Park, and rotating youth, and some not quite so young, enjoyed volleyball while waiting for the fireworks to begin. In this picture, Brian Morris has just slammed the volleyball, but, due to unforeseen circumstances, he hit it wrong, and it failed to go over the net. Not to worry--the game was for exercise and all in fun--just part of the full day of activities celebrating Independence Day. (Journal Photo) owner of the lot being billed. A new law is expected, where a lien is placed against the property if the mowing bill is left unpaid. She handles 'other complaints in general,' and if they do not concern the CEO in her capacity, she directs the complainant to the right people. Had enough yet? Well, that's not all she does. A part of her job has been a 'go-fer.' She picks up supplies, paperwork, toilet tissue and other supplies for the Muleshoe Police Department and delivers them. This may involve seeing her 'shopping' in various stores, but she is quick to point out "It's not personal shopping, but shopping for the police department or animal shelter." She is a relief dispatcher on the police radio as well, and at times, spends many hours operating the police radio during the absence of a regular dispatcher. "I really like my job," said Mrs. Snell. "I like the people I meet. As with other jobs, there's good and there's bad." One instance of 'the good' she remembers is finding a dog which was lost in Muleshoe. The dog was known to have been lost somewhere between Clovis and Post, and was owned by a man named Tom Fellers, of Fort Worth. He called the MPD to report his missing dog. He was one happy man when Mrs. Snell called him to tell him his beloved pet had been found in Muleshoe. The dog was returned to a very grateful owner. Rescues are another part of her job. Such as a kitten that was stuck on the top of a light pole in an alley off West 20th Street. That rescue also involved members of the Muleshoe Fire Department, but the kitten was rescued. Thursday, she released a cat from an air conditioner. One of her most recent 'funny' events occurred when she received a call that a snake was in the bathroom of a home in southwest Muleshoe.

On arrival, she found a hysterical woman jumping up and down on a bed, saying, "I just had surgery, I don't need this." The woman's son was armed with a gun and a golf club -- not knowing for sure what to do. The snake had curled up on a ledge in a bathroom window, determined to stay. He left! He was looped with a rope on a pole by Mrs. Snell and gently removed from the house. Mrs. Snell said the snake was long and skinny, and was not a poisonous snake. John and Della Snell visited Muleshoe in April, 1975, and moved here in July. They then moved on to California and returned to Muleshoe in December, 1977, to make their home. John has been employed at Excell at Friona for the past eight years, and the Snell's oldest son, Terry, who graduated from Muleshoe High School in May, has now gone to work at the same company as his father. Son, Virgil, 14, will be a freshman at MHS this fall. The Snells are active in the Calvary Baptist Church. The Snells reside west of Muleshoe near Bailey County Memorial Park. For exercise, Mrs. Snell often rides her bicycle to work (even in the heat of the summer) and then rides it back home in the late afternoon after leaving work. (Next time you see the ACO in a store 'shopping' it may be for the shelter, or for the police department, and is just a momentary diversion from her primary concern -- taking care of the animals in Muleshoe.)

Panamanian Officials Banned
President Reagan has issued an order barring top Panamanian government and military officials known to support Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega from entering the United States. Secretary of State George P. Shultz will designate those Panamanian nationals who will be barred from entering the United States.

EPA Makes Decision On Use Of Azodrin

Texas corn farmers are anxiously awaiting a decision by the Environmental Protection Agency on whether they may use the pesticide Azodrin to combat menacing spider mites later this summer.

Carl King, president of the Texas Corn Growers Association, said TCGA has received word that the Texas Department of Agriculture has officially submitted a request for a Section 18 temporary clearance for the chemical.

"This is the eighth straight year TCGA has sought clearance for Azodrin," said King. "We received seven EPA approvals for the Section 18 but were denied the opportunity to use the miticide last year."

Mites can cause severe damage to corn crops during the prime growing stages in July and August. Azodrin, manufactured by DuPont, is the most effective chemical for controlling mites. However, EPA has ruled that the chemical is harmful to birds which sometimes migrate in or near corn fields.

King points out that numerous studies have shown that Azodrin is not harmful to wildlife. "This product has been used for a number of years without incident," he said. "For many years monitoring studies have been done as required by the EPA. And the TDA has not received one complaint from this area concerning bird kills."

Nevertheless, EPA has refused to issue a permanent clearance for the product, and could be reluctant to issue a temporary clearance this year. Several environmental groups oppose Azodrin. So does the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

King suggested that since the parks and wildlife department opposes the use of Azodrin, farmers who allow hunting on their property should post "No Hunting" signs in protest of the measure.

"We realize that many farmers count on pheasant hunting as part of their income," he said. "But it's certainly not as important as having an effective miticide for their corn. That's why we urge corn farmers to write the department and their state legislatures to protest the opposition," he said.

King said DuPont is likely "looking long and hard at the expenses involved with keeping Azodrin on the market. We don't know how long they'll keep it on the market."

For that reason TCGA is continuing to fund extensive research efforts to find the best alternative to Azodrin. Dr. Pat Morrison, extension entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Lubbock, has studied other miticides.

"There are presently eight miticides which are registered for use on corn," he said. "They include Comite, diazinon, dimethoate or Cygon, Di-Syston, Metasystox-R, sulfur, Thimet and Trithion."

"One product should be singled out at this time is Comite. It must be used early and treatments should be made before tasseling when corn is no more than 5 to 6 feet tall (the current growth stage of much corn in the area). Because our mite problems traditionally develop late in the summer after tasseling, however, the use of Comite in the early season is more of a preventative action."

Morrison said Supracic and Capture, two other chemicals, are also under consideration for Section 18s. But, again, Azodrin has proven to be the most effective of all the miticides on corn, he said.

King said he is hopeful the EPA will rule on the Azodrin request soon so that farmers can make definite plans for insect control.

"We still have a shot at getting Azodrin and won't give up until the last appeal is made," he said.

Legislation Would Cut Bond Tax

U.S. Representative Larry Combest (R-Texas) has introduced legislation urging Congress to refrain from imposing federal taxes on state and local governmental bonds used to finance most public projects.

The bill comes in the wake of a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling stating that the U.S. Constitution does not guarantee tax-free status for municipal bonds.

"These bonds are a key source of revenue to local governments in order to finance public projects such as road construction and repair, school expansion and bridge construction," Combest said.

"If we began taxing the interest on these bonds, as the Supreme Court has allowed us to in this ruling, we would severely inhibit the ability of local governments to finance these important and much needed projects," he added.

Combest pointed out that without public projects funded by government bonds, such as landmarks as the Civic Center in Lubbock and Ratliff Stadium in Odessa would not be possible. Roads that connect the 19th Congressional District could become virtually impassible because of potholes and disrepair. Schools might not be able to construct much-needed classrooms in which our children receive their education.

"Historically, Congress has respected the important role these bonds play in allowing local governments to meet the growing needs placed upon them by their residents. I have asked my colleagues in Congress to co-sponsor this bill and preserve the tax-exempt status of municipal bonds that allows these governments to best serve their public," Combest added.

July 6, 1988

Dear Editor:

As I sit here and look at the number of empty rooms we have had in the middle of the tourist season, I wonder how the thousands of dollars in occupancy taxes we have collected for the City of Muleshoe have been spent.

We have about half of the motel room in the City. Since the tax was initiated April 1, 1985 and through the end of June, 1988 we have collected for the City, approximately $49,500.00.

The occupancy tax is not a sales tax. It must be spent for the promotion of travel or tourism. Seven percent of every room we sell goes to the City. If a room is $40.00 per night, we collect $2.80 per night for the City. The more rooms we sell, the more tax the City collects.

Every person that spends the night at a Muleshoe Motel, spends money at other places such as restaurants, service stations and other places of business.

Has this money been used to promote Muleshoe as a place for tourists to spend dollars, or has it been used to boost the economies of other areas by sending Muleshoe persons to schools, conventions, etc? How many conventions have been attracted to this City through this occupancy tax? How many other meetings or bus tours have been attracted by this money? In other words, WHERE HAS THE MONEY BEEN SPENT?

I also think it is time for a plan to be published on how future collections will be spent.

Sincerely,
Evelyn Peat
Co-manager

NO LONGER Sewing

Once this home housed a family, was full of laughter, protected this home from the elements. Now it is an old abandoned home... decaying, and falling apart. No longer of any use to anyone.

A person away from God is like this old abandoned home, gradually decaying in spirit and serving no purpose in God's will. Return to a regular church worship with the Lord. Receive God's great love, and live a joyous full life.

"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
