CAPTAINS for the "good guys" and "bad guys" are already making confrontations on the efforts being planned for the Chamber of Commerce membership drive coming up next week. Ken Day, left, captain of "good guys" team and Kip Cutshall, right, captain of the "bad guys" team, over which team will have to eat the beans and watch the other eat when the drive is complete. Over-all chairman of the drive, Dr. Craig Hopping, is anxious to see how the contest turns out.

All organizations, business concerns, churches, schools and clubs are invited to enter. Entry fees will be charged and three prizes will be awarded to the first, second and third place teams. Citations will be given to participating bands, and trophies and prizes will be given to the top placing bands. Representatives of the police and fire departments will be cited during the parade ceremony.

Registration Set For Students

Kindergarten and kindergarten students beginning school this fall may register during the week of April 17-21 in the Littlefield Primary Principal Forrest

Students must be six years of age or before Sept. 1, and a birth certificate showing proof of age must be presented at the time of registration. Immunizations should also be presented if possible.

Preparatory classes will be available for children who will be five years old on or before Sept. 1, and if they meet either of the following requirements: The child who is from a Spanish speaking home.

The child who is from a family whose income is $3,000 or less. Kindergarten students are also required to present birth certificate and health records.

Children who are attending the kindergarten this year are also required to register for next year, and it is necessary to register them for the first time.

Doug Walden New President

Littlefield school trustees reorganized with two new members and Doug Walden as new president at their regular monthly meeting Monday night.

The session was the first for the board since the election earlier in the month which returned incumbent Werner Birkelbach for his third three-year term and named Mickey Ratliff Jr. and David Hampton for the other vacancies.

After the returns were canvassed and approved, the board named Walden as president to succeed Bob Roden, who did not seek re-election. The other outgoing member was Wayne Streety, who moved out of the district in January.

Dick Hopping was named vice-president in the re-organization and Sid Hopping, the tax assessor-collector, was returned as secretary.

Other board members are Pat Downs, who along with Walden has one more year left on his current term, and Glenn Batson, who along with Hopping has two years remaining in this term.

WITH NEW MEMBERS attending their first session, much of the night's discussion had to do with financial and maintenance operations.

And before the meeting closed after some four hours of talks, Ratliff said: "I knew the school district's finances were close, but I had no idea that everything is so nip-and-tuck."

Hampton added: "I know time tonight, but I probably have questions."

The two new members and Birkelbach's questioning about maintenance but their inquiries led eventually to same point: "where's the money coming from?"

That question was never completely answered, but it was certain to come up again next month, when the board asked Supt. Paul I. Jones to have his principals report on the needs of each building in the system.

IN EARLIER ACTION, the board approved a $24,285 athletic budget for 1972-73 presented by head coach Jerry Blakely, voted no on adding baseball to the athletic program, approved the band parents' plan to expand their concession stand at the football field, and gave a conditional go-ahead for adult night classes to be held at the schools.

The athletic budget for next year was basically the same as this year's, with some of the major items football equipment, $4,000; basketball and track equipment, $800 each; junior high equipment, $1,500; insurance, $1,900; officials, $1,900; medical supplies, $1,000; films and bulbs, $1,000; awards and dues, $1,645; and payment of contracts, $3,000.

Blakely explained that the payment of contracts category is "our payment to visiting teams, and we naturally hope that figure will be higher, since our revenue would be increased also."

The board briefly discussed the need for repairs to the football stadium and fieldhouse, and board member Downs made the offer, which was accepted, to donate glass brick which formerly lined the front of his business building for use in window repairs at the field house.

TAKING UP a proposal from the Dimmitt school board to consider starting a baseball program in District 3-AA, the trustees voted "no".

Trustees said they did not believe the sport is practical in a school Littlefield's size, since the trend is away from baseball, even at the next higher level, Class AAA.

The board approved the request from Band Parents to expand their concession stand at the football field. This will be done at no expense to the school. About one-third additional space is planned.

The go-ahead for adult classes to be held at night at the schools was given on the condition that those using the facilities reimburse the school at the "going rate," at least, enough to cover expenses incurred by the school system.

Requests for classroom space had come from students interested in extension courses from South Plains College and from the Community Action group, which has volunteer instructors teaching adults to qualify to take the General Educational Development (GED) test. The GED is held to be equivalent to a high school diploma by some firms and industries offering jobs.

Spellers Enter Contest

Gaylene Rogers of Sudan and Jarrol Layton of Bula will be among 24 spellers from that many counties who will participate in the 20th annual Avalancha Journal Regional Spelling Bee, scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Smylie Wilson Junior High School Auditorium in Lubbock.

Miss Rogers, 14, is an eighth grade student at Sudan Elementary School and will be representing Lamb County in the bee. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Two Burglaries Are Investigated

City police are investigating the breaking and entering of Galilee Baptist Church. The building was entered after a window was broken, and 10 cases of cokes were taken. An attempt was made to get into the coke box, and sugar and flour were poured onto the floor.

A front plate glass window was broken from McAnally Jewelry sometime late Saturday or early Sunday, and several gold pieces of jewelry were taken.

Included were a display of gold mothers' rings, mothers' pins, a tie tack set and tie bar set, and one mothers' necklace with stone.

Police arrested and jailed four adult men Saturday night. Two were charged with drunk in public and two with disturbance.

Two others were jailed Sunday and charged with drunk in public.

All have been tried, fined and released.

THE HUGE Sweepstakes trophy, won by the Littlefield Junior High School Band Tuesday afternoon in Lubbock during the Region 16 UIL Band Contest, is admired by the director, Mike Threadgill and the band president, Sheldon Zahn.

AN LJHS 'FIRST'

Band Wins Sweepstakes

Littlefield Junior High School's band won sweepstakes awards Tuesday afternoon in University Interscholastic League Region 16 competition for Class C and CC junior highs at Estacado High School in Lubbock — the first time in the history of LJHS that the honor has been awarded.

They were among three schools in the Region who marched away with the honors. Plainview's Estacado Junior High and Seminole's Junior High School bands were the other two bands which received superior ratings in concert and sight-reading.

All three bands had received superior ratings during marching competition in Jones Stadium in November.

The Littlefield band received the coveted rating of "1" from each of the four judges.

Bill Bradley of Big Spring High School, one of the concert judges, commented, "This is a very good band and I am sure that your community and school is very proud of you and your director. Congratulations to you."

Another concert judge, Joe Mack Hill of Dumas Junior High School, commented, "Good teaching and good learning. A few minor problems, but overall, very nice performing. I enjoyed listening!"

WANT LOTS are sometimes catch-alls for unsightly things, such as old bodies and other assorted junk. Weeds grow taller than the cars in the picture, while a lot has been cleaned around old cars and weeds are shoulder-high near the alley in the center photo. The city has torn down a dilapidated building, and lacks cleaning up old foundation and other items left after the initial clean-up. All citizens are urged to join a current clean-up effort in the city.

Let's Spruce Up Littlefield

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is an excerpt of a speech made by Bettye Smith to members of the Rotary Club when they met March 30. She is manager of Sears, Roebuck and is a member of the Community Improvement Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.)

I am honored and flattered to be asked to speak here today. While I am NOT a public speaker, I do have a reputation of talking a lot and talking very loud. I am NOT a member of the Woman's Lib Movement, however, I AM a little hard-headed when I set my mind to something, or if I really believe in what I am talking about, and I do not mind working hard toward that end.

These are my qualifications for being here today. I get an odd feeling when referred to as a career woman, as I think of myself as a working house-wife, just helping out the family finances, and I love my home and community the same as any unemployed woman.

We are in the process of undertaking a very large project for the City of Littlefield and the encompassing area. In my opinion, it is one of the largest and most worthwhile things that has been proposed in this town.

I think it can help our community more than any ONE thing we have ever tried.

I am speaking of the Community Improvement Committee.

I know you have had others to bring this subject to you, more qualified than myself, but I would like to give you a housewife's AND businesswoman's point of view on this subject.

We have had our 50th Anniversary Celebration a few years ago. We have our Annual Festivities Days, we have had a complete beautification of our downtown area, and we have had various clean-up days for vacant lots, alleys and so forth. They have all helped and promoted our community, and certainly helped publicize our town. However, after the event was over and the smoke has cleared, it is just that—ALL OVER and soon forgotten for another year, until the next one comes along.

We are talking now about a continuing program...not just a one-shot thing, whereby we will have more or less a perpetual program to keep our city clean, pretty and inviting... every year, ALL YEAR LONG.

What does a large company look for when they come here to see us as a future place for their business? We DO have a welcoming committee to greet them and to guide them to the places where we have made improvements, which we certainly have. BUT, quite naturally, we are going to avoid those unsightly spots and areas that we don't care for them to know about. We are going to show them just the things WE WANT THEM TO SEE!

Yes, I work for a large company, and I happen to KNOW that the dignitaries are just forerunners and will be called upon to make the final decisions. But!! I also know these companies have other people who come in, unknown to the city fathers, who drive the town out, really look things over, talk to people, and even drive up and down back alleys and areas you wouldn't believe!

I KNOW this to be true, because I was asked to do it the company I work for, prior to the opening of a store in a neighboring town.

This is to view the town from an EMPLOYEE'S STANDPOINT, because there are always more employees involved in the operation than there are VIP's, and any company can not be successful without contented employees.

Certainly, the employee isn't going to be content if, when he goes home from work, Momma and the kids aren't content in this town...there are no playgrounds at school that aren't covered with gravel and dirt only.

There are no places for Momma to visit and meet her friends for coffee. They look for signs of YOUNG people and things that would entice young men and their families to come here to stay.

Our improvement Committee has BIG plans. I would like to explain some of these ambitions to you who are not already familiar with them.

The main purpose is to get enough people interested and working to the point that our program is not just another committee.

All of you have worked on committees, and as you know, a committee is usually appointed to work on a problem that no one else wants to face. Therefore, we pass the buck to the committee, usually made up of mostly the same people who worked on the LAST committee! Because we know "good ole Joe won't say no".

IF the committee succeeds in accomplishing their purpose, well and fine, some one finally handled it by getting someone who would work. If not, then, "Oh, well, let's table it for awhile and later, we appoint another committee...and here we go into the vicious circle again!

Let me say here that the Community Improvement Committee is a program working WITH the blessings of the BCD and Chamber of Commerce, BUT, it is a BACK YARDS such as this one near a vacant house, are target for the current clean-up campaign in Littlefield. Weeds and trash have blown up around a picket fence.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

No Bargains

By BOB WEAR

THERE IS WORK TO DO, there are obligations to accept; there are opportunities to be used; there are good days, and bad days; health and illness; success and failure; joy and sadness.

These are some of the realities of life, but many persons spend much thought, time and effort trying to find some way to change some or all of this established order.

PEOPLE SEEK BARGAINS, but, in the full and honest consideration of life, there are no bargains. The prices are fixed, and, sooner or later, the fixed price must be paid.

Those who are so sure that they have picked up some bargains, will eventually realize that they have only a cheap substitute. The genuine and enduring things of life will never be found on a bargain counter.

IMITATIONS, usually with good appearance, are all we can ever find on bargain counters. These will appeal to many people, but they always bring disappointment or worse.

Oftentimes, the genuine would have cost only slightly more. The truth is that, in the long run, the bargains cost more. We always pay more or less, when we buy the imitations.

RUNNING FROM one bargain counter to another is just a waste of time and effort. This approach to life is the most maddening kind of futility, and will lead to a time of overwhelming frustration.

This rather widespread practice by people is a way of diminishing returns. Those who move along this way find living becoming more and more meaningless.

"WE GET WHAT we pay for" is a well-founded conclusion as it applies to merchandise and commodities. When we want quality items, we must pay the price.

Most of us have learned that buying "cheap" merchandise in order to save money is "no bargain".

"BUYING A CHEAP ARTICLE to save money is like stopping the clock to save time." The results of this practice are: loss of money and the accumulation of cheap goods.

This may not be tragic, but when the same thinking is applied to life, it is disastrous.

LIFE HAS NO BARGAINS, and trying to deal with it as if it did is calamitous. Live has rich rewards for those who will pay the price, but nothing except disappointment for us if we consider it as a sort of bargain basement.

"THERE IS PROBABLY but one answer to the question, 'what do we get out of life?' and that is, we get out of life exactly what we put into it, but we get that back in great abundance." — Ross.

The "bargain" hunters will never find these riches, and this life quality.

THERE ARE "NO BARGAINS" among the good things of life, and whatever may appear to be so is just cheap merchandise. The price of good things is the same to all, and never changes.

HOMINY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

COMES A TIME IN everyone's life when they come to the realization that there's some things we can do without. AND, if so be, that that certain something seems to be immoral, illegal, or fattening, the sooner we kick the habit, the better.

Such has come to be my own summation of HOMINY GRITS.

WE KIND OF STARTED this thing on a dare, or maybe a challenge. 'T was the result of my needin' the publisher about his "Saggin' Editorial Page".

So? — He so much as told me that if I didn't start writing, myself! Wherewith, I started givin' him a few lessons in journalism. (Tongue in cheek, there!)

REALLY, I CAN SEE where writing can be quite habit-forming. There's a satisfaction, of a kind, in seein' yourself in print! Something that feeds the ego. Maybe that's what I've been using this privilege for?!

Anyway, I've really enjoyed using this space. Perhaps I've regarded it as something of a toy. Wherewith I offer thanks, and apologies to the publisher. — (He's been pretty permissive, with me, you know!)

Y I LOOK at it, it's been fun. it MUST be immoral. (Seeing either been fattening, or illegal! as we come to the conclusion that if been for my own satisfaction, and the ling of my own ego, then, we can do out it. (Besides, my typewriter ribbon about dried out!)

SURELY, BY THIS TIME, the publisher should be able to write a decent editorial. If not, all he has to do is review some of MY stuff! — (See?? — My ego, is better, already!)

Guess I'll suffer a few "withdrawal-pains", but starting now, I'm gonna try to break "The Habit". See you around.

STRICTLY PERSONAL

Whistling Isn't Music In Office

By PAT AND MARILYN DAVIS
Copley News Service

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

I work in an office and like my job very much. My desk is located close to that of another secretary. This woman is very nice and I would not want to hurt her feelings. However, she has a habit which is driving me up the wall and is actually affecting my work. She whistles constantly! The minute she starts this, I find I begin to make errors.

How can I approach this problem in a tactful manner? She is at least 50 and I am 21. Sue

Dear Sue:

Tell Whistler's mother that this habit may sound like music to her ears but that you find it very distracting. Any secretary, especially one 50, should know that constant whistling, talking or humming is disruptive to others and, therefore, not to be done in an office. Clue her in.

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

There is a group of young married couples in our area and we make a very compatible group. We go on picnics, bowls, swim, dance and exchange dinners. We all have children. When planning a picnic or swimming, we generally include the children; so do not misunderstand, our children are included in some of our socializing.

This may sound too good to be true and I guess it is because there is one couple who feels their children must accompany them everywhere. These children have gone to dances, restaurants and theaters. I've seen them stay up until they were exhausted and, of course, impossible to deal with.

They've ruined more dinner parties than I care to remember.

We like the parents but we are sick of the kids. We leave ours at home with a sitter. Why can't they?

Loves Kids

Dear Loves Kids:

I agree that there are times when children should be left at home with a reliable sitter so mom and dad can socialize. The next time you invite this group to your home for dinner, you might try telling this couple that the dinner is for ADULTS ONLY and you hope they can locate a baby sitter so that they will be able to attend. Make it very clear that the children are not invited.

If they don't take the hint, their answer is obvious: Invite me, invite my children. Then the choice is yours — tolerate the offspring or forget the parents.

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

My boyfriend is generally very polite and nice to me. But when he is drinking he is rude and very mean. He starts fights and says terrible things to me.

He is not an alcoholic but he does drink too much. Why would his personality change to such an extent?

Bertha

Dear Bertha:

His personality appears to change because he is no longer under control when drinking heavily.

Find a boyfriend who does not drink too much. This one is nothing but trouble.

Confidential to Don't Want To Lose Him:

You answered your own question in the first sentence of your letter. In case you do not remember, you said, "I've been going with this boy about six months but am really too young to date." Any girl who feels this way should wait before becoming involved in a dating situation.

Why the big rush? If you do so many things before you are 16, what is left when you are 20? Don't try to run the race so fast.

If you have a question, write: Pat and Marilyn Davis, Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper.

CITIZENS COMMITTEE.

And, we have two very able people serving as co-chairman, Dr. Bill Armistead and Pat Downs, and they have come up with some very great thoughts, very revolutionary to our usual run-of-the-mill thing. They have taken a lot of time and planning and haven't overlooked very many possibilities.

The plan is to get enough people interested and then DO it. We do not mean for everyone to go out and clean up a vacant lot this week and forget it until next year.

Every facet has been explored and there will be continuing work in all areas which have been broken down in specific areas...for example:

The legal aspect: What can we do legally, and within bounds? We have members who are experts and well-versed in these matters to advise us here.

The industrial sites: Where do we have a problem, what can we do and how do we accomplish it? If we can't clean it up, can we camouflage it?

The approaches to the town: What does a person SEE when they come in as a stranger, and how can we impress them with what they DO see?

The residential part to town is broken up into 14 different areas, with an overall chairman, area chairman, and then block chairmen for each block in ALL sections of town.

The downtown area, the federal, state, county, and city properties that the out-of-town people see when they come here to do business or attend court.

These are just a few of a number of categories.

Now, we come to the "SO WHAT" part. "So what does this mean to me as an individual?"

I would like each of you to do ONE thing. Look, really LOOK to either side of you as through the eyes of someone seeing the town for the first time.

Try to see the cracked sidewalk with a weed growing out of the crack...the sagging awnings, the unsightly junk scattered around, the abandoned automobile on a vacant lot that is not only an eye-sore, but a health hazard because it is a breeding place for rats and insects...so many things we see, yet don't see each day as we go to and from our homes and work.

Then ask yourselves the same question "What can we do?" Then you will say, "And how the heck can we do ANYTHING about it? This takes time, money, and sometimes gets into others people's personal property."

This has been thought of, too, and we ARE aware of these problems and are working on them.

If each individual would have enough pride to do what they could maybe our neighbors would do like-wise.

We have had, and expect to have more contributions, money wise and labor wise from civic organizations and from persons not connected with any organization.

We have the "Green-Thumb" program to work in many areas with us. We do have support from many unexpected sources, and I imagine we will have others who WANT to do when they are aware of what we are trying to do, but need someone to lead them or help them, or simply to tell them what to do. We are trying to get enough people involved to do just this.

Picture in your mind's eye a chain...a chain of steel, a watch chain, a chain of paper clips, or possibly a chain of people. Did you ever take a chain and pull it along behind you?

It follows along very nicely, doesn't it, straight behind you, around curves, corners and obstacles. Now try turning around and pushing that chain. It doesn't go very far pushing, does it?

In fact, it kind of jams up and tangles. But, with someone pulling it forward, it comes right along behind. You can lead a chain, whether it be of steel, paper clips, or people, but you can not push it the way you want it to go. You MUST guide it.

Everyone here is a busy people, and you are asked to serve on far too many things, far too often, but when you are approached to do a small part on this project, a committee chairman, committee member, or a block chairman, a few day lilies.

I hope you will not refuse to remember, it "takes a busy person that the person who isn't busy does anything, won't do anything, doesn't care if anything is done."

Our United States of America built by a few people. Why our ancestors so proud of their country heritage, their flag?

Because they ALL helped make them. They were not all George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, and Nathan. The names we remember from books couldn't have understood the Armies and frontier perils alone many, many smaller, determined, "never heard of" men behind them they couldn't have accomplished goal.

You are thinking... My grand started out to tell us about pretty town, and now she is beating and shouting patriotism. Yes, this I intend it to be patriotism for you. Because you ARE in peril, we DANGER.

The danger is of our town becoming smaller, people are moving out. We had four places of business in the first of this month alone. DOES ANY SAY SOMETHING TO YOU??

The future of this town will depend what we have to offer to the person, be it our sons and daughters move on to other communities average worker who moves here to the town was selected by his own.

Our residents don't spend all their money in our already beautiful downtown. They take rides around town, visit neighborhoods, compare their own THIER community and surroundings those they visit when away from and we would like to think they bring "out of town" visitors for drive attractive town where they live they do it with pride.

We need YOU to help us and to grow as a community without support of all our citizens. This may not be the answer, it IS a choice does no more than to unite our ideas and wake them up. Maybe more ideas will come with many of us together.

We need action and we need action. I noticed that Lamesa is already way in a similar project, but are already ahead of us in this project we going to fall by the wayside aggressive town because we set the example for SOMEONE else to do it.

My favorite saying has been "NEVER ONE THING AND NEITHER ONE PERSON CAN MAKE A STRONG IT TAKES A NUMBER OF MERGING INTO ONE PERSON WHOLE."

Will YOU help pull this chain?

Witnesses Meet In Plainview

J. P. Sutherland, district supervisor for Jehovah's Witnesses in Texas was the featured speaker Sunday at the circuit convention of the group at the high school in Plainview, as he discussed on the well-advertised topic, "Are You 'Marked' for Survival?" according to Loyd Lowery, local presiding minister.

Speaking to an audience of 1550 Sutherland said, "Survival is a matter of vital concern to all. When threatened with a disaster people will put forth much effort to ensure survival and continued happiness. If we can be warned of a disaster before it occurs, there is more chance for survival. On a worldwide scale, warning signs are up now.

"Leaders of nations express fear of a disaster on many fronts. The Bible gives a warning of even greater changes. If this warning is true, and if you are informed, it may mean the saving of your life and the life of your family." Sutherland then gave Scriptural evidence of an early intervention by God into man's affairs to rid the earth of the wicked.

"Ezekiel's prophecy reveals that for survival, one must also become one of God's marked ones," Sutherland continued.

"In actuality, the symbolic mark is the evidence, as if it were displayed on a person's uncovered forehead, that he is a dedicated, baptized disciple of Christ Jesus and has a Christ-like personality that differentiates him from all hypocritical Christians."

The local Witnesses have now returned home and the schedule of meetings at the Kingdom Hall has been resumed as normally, according to Lowery.

We have not waited on government price talks to lower our meat prices! Look what has happened... March 16- Meat prices took a drop. March 20- Furr's prices were cut. For example: Round steak, then $1.09 was lowered to 98¢; Sirloin steak, then $1.09 was lowered to 98¢. Since March 20 Furr's has sold top quality beef for as low as 98¢ a pound on steak cuts, well under its local competition. It has now waited for the government to ask for lower prices. Furr's is proud to lead the way! It pledges a policy of dropping meat prices when the meat packer lowers its prices.

SECOND PLACE CONSOLATION WINNERS

Boat Trailer Law Riles Sportsmen

Skiers and fishermen who haven't towed their boats to the lake since the trailer lighting law became effective Jan. 1 of this year may be lacking required safety features.

Approximately 800 Lamb County residents have registered boat trailers this year, and some of these boat owners are riled at the $25-$40 or more price they're paying to add clearance lights, reflectors, turn signals and other requirements to bring trailers up to the set standard.

For the do-it-yourself mechanic, the lights run about $25. The out of the pocket money is more for those without the time or inclination to do their own installing.

Sealed lighting units are almost a necessity, since most boats will get two dunkings each outing.

All trailers must have:
Two tail lamps
Two stop lamps
License plate lamp
Directional signals

Where applicable, reflectors are required. For trailers over 80 inches wide clearance, side markers and three identification lamps are required.

Trailer brakes aren't required on trailers with gross weight under 3,000 pounds unless this weight exceeds 40 per cent of the towing vehicle.

The new Texas trailer law has irked some boat trailer owners because they believed it did not affect them. Examples drawn up to illustrate trailer lighting show commercial and farm vehicles.

Information put out did not show detailed requirements for placement of lights on boat or camping trailers.

But the law definitely says the lighting system will be used on ALL trailers, according to the Texas Highway Patrol, and these lights must be hooked up and in working order when the trailer is towed on a public road.

Highway Patrolman Weldon Parson said the THP department here receives questions almost daily concerning lighting and brake requirements.

Motorists towing trailers are reminded that Texas' speed law for autos towing a trailer of any size is lower. The maximum daylight speed is 60 miles per hour and the maximum night time speed is 55 miles per hour unless the posted speed limit is lower.

straight wins from Littlefield's District 9-AA volleyball champs.

Miss Johnson and Glazner and Teresa Turville scored nine points for Littlefield in the second game.

In the second game, Denver City edged out the Littlefield girls, 15-9, for the best of two out of three and the bi-district title.

Ray Joe Riley Named Chairman

Ray Joe Riley of Springlake and Dr. John E. Hutchinson, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, has been appointed co-chairmen for Texas in the Beltwide campaign to obtain "Better Yields of Quality Cotton for Profit and Market Growth."

They will be part of an intensive effort in the 14 major cotton-producing states aimed at increasing cotton yields and preserving the inherent quality of the fiber. Profitable production will be emphasized. Need for the program is pointed up by a shortage in the supply of cotton. Contributing to the shortage have been unfavorable weather in all but one season since 1965 and a steady decline in yields.

As a result, the carryover for the 1971-72 season, ending July 31, is projected at 3.25 million bales. This is less than a four-month supply.

Participating in the campaign will be the U. S. Department of Agriculture, state Extension services and experiment stations, and the cotton industry. The National Cotton Council is coordinating cotton industry activity.
