Littlefield Opens Hunt For New Football Coach

Birchfield Takes Teaching Position

Littlefield schools Monday will begin a search for a new head football coach to succeed Raymond Birchfield, Wildcat mentor the past two years.

Birchfield has accepted a teaching position at the junior high school level, Supt. Paul I. Jones told the Leader-News late this week.

"We are assigning Mr. Birchfield a full-time teaching position at the junior high school in his major areas of preparation, social studies and health instruction," Jones said.

Birchfield, who has been in coaching the past 15 years, said he plans to complete college work toward an administrative certificate. He added he lacks only a small amount of work toward that goal, and should be able to do this while teaching here next year.

THE SUPERINTENDENT said the Birchfield change is effective July 14. Birchfield's new assignment left the Littlefield coaching staff with only one member from last year's group—Jerry Trees of the junior high staff.

Staff members resigning this spring included: James Duncan, head basketball coach who went to Granger; Wilson Elliott, first assistant in football, who became first assistant at Garfield; and Jim Bartlett, football assistant who went to Lampasas.

In addition, junior high coach Jack Christman went into administration, accepting a post as principal of Elementary II.

One new coach, Jim Jefferies of Crosbyton, already has been named head basketball mentor. He also will assist in football.

THAT LEAVES Littlefield in need of a head football coach and three assistants, two of whom will work with the varsity and another who will work in junior high. Supt. Jones said he would open the head coaching position to "any and all" applicants beginning Monday.

"I imagine the list of applicants will be screened down to approximately three or four prime candidates who will be interviewed by the school board," Jones said.

"Once a head coach is employed," the superintendent added, "he will be allowed to recommend to me the people he wants as assistants, so that I may work out academic assignments for them."

Jones added that "the new coach will need to make these recommendations so that he can make assignments as needed on the coaching staff."

ASKED ABOUT the possibility of the new head football coach also being named athletic director, Supt. Jones said he would be "highly in favor of this, after one year as head coach in which he could demonstrate the necessary ability in all phases of this work."

The superintendent is now serving as athletic director for the school system.

Birchfield leaves the head coaching position after two years as Wildcat mentor, in which his teams won six games and lost 14 in tough District 3-AAA, which produced the eventual state champion last fall, Estacado of Lubbock.

Prior to coming to Littlefield, Birchfield guided Rowdale High School football fortunes for seven years, in which he racked up a record of 53 wins, 22 losses and one tie.

In the Rockdale record were two outright league titles and another tie for a district championship. His teams there never finished lower than second in district play, and one team made it to the Class AA state finals.

Birchfield, 41, was an assistant coach at Navasota High School before going to Rockdale.

A graduate of Southern State College in Magnolia, Ark., in 1952, Birchfield received his master of education degree from East Texas State in 1955.

IT WAS A HAPPY TIME for Rotary when David Keithley hit a homer, even though teammates, from left, Joe Montgomery, Warren Dayton, Carlton Harry and Frank Anzeline, thought he needed some help to get from third to home. Rotary's "oldtimers" failed to manage a victory, however, in Littlefield's July 4th civic club ball games. For other photos, turn to page 7.

Texas Water Plan Hinges On Election

What is the biggest problem facing the Texas Water Plan?

"Too little public support by the citizens of Texas is what threatens the success of a water importation plan more than anything else," says John D. Smith, president of the Lamb Co. Water Association.

The ultimate fate of the plan, in fact, does depend upon public support at the polls Aug. 5 for amendment No. 2.

This is the date of an upcoming statewide constitutional amendment election which is the first step in the process of implementing the Texas Water Plan.

One of the amendments to be voted on concerns raising the authorized amount of Texas Water Development

Bonds to $3.5 billion and eliminating the interest limitations on those bonds.

"It is VITALLY IMPORTANT that this amendment pass," Smith said. "Or we can forget about the water."

The fate of the water importation plan hinges on the passage of the amendment for a very simple reason. The revenues from the $3.5 billion dollar bond issue will make up the state's share of financing the project, to be done jointly with the federal government. No money from the state means no money from the federal government.

Opponents to the amendment seem generally to be against it because of financial considerations, namely a rumored increase in tax rates resulting from such a large bond issuance.

Smith points out, however, that the bonds to be issued are general obligation bonds and that such bonds are retired through the proceeds of the sale of water, not through added tax devices.

One fact that could have a significant effect on the sale of the $3.5 billion in Texas Water Development Bonds is a proposal under consideration by the U. S. Congress which would limit the exempt status for income tax purposes of interest paid on bonds issued by state and local governments.

An extensive campaign is now being waged in Texas through a committee of city, county and state officials and civic leaders to oppose such a move by the federal government.

Smith said none of these development bonds can be issued without being passed by 2/3 vote of both Houses.

Representative Bill Clayton will present a film on the water project in the Lamb County REA building at 8 p.m. Friday, July 11.

Every interested person is invited to attend, Smith said, watch the film and present questions to the representative.

"GAL FARMER" Mrs. Eddie Duffey does the farming and serves as both mother and father to her four children since an accident totally disabled her husband four years ago.

Decisions Big Chore For Female Farmer

By NILAH RODGERS
Leader-News Staff Writer

Mrs. Wayne (Eddie) Duffey is a farmer by chance, not choice.

A way of life ended and another took its place when Wayne Duffey was critically injured in an automobile accident in March 1965 that left him totally disabled and with irreparable brain damage that prevents him from ever taking up his role of farmer, father and provider again.

Since that fateful day, Eddie Duffey has been both mother and dad to her four children, and is known as the "gal farmer" to all her neighbors.

"Yes, I thought about selling out and moving to town," Eddie Duffey said. "Many times. But what could I do? I couldn't make a living for four children working as a waitress or in a department store. It takes too much money to live on."

When the accident occurred, the two older children were teenagers and the twins were just three years old. There were many things to consider, but after some pondering she decided farming was the best way to feed her family.

"We get poorer every year." She laughed an easy laugh. "But as long as I feed them, I'm doing all right."

Gary, who was 13 when his father was hurt in the wreck, is 17-years-old now and is his mother's farm hand. Fayedell, who is married and has a tiny baby girl of her own now, was baby sitter and housekeeper for her mother.

During the school term Gary is a weekend and after-school-hours farmer. Gary is a junior student at LHS.

"And then Wayne's father, Fred Duffey, helps out when he can," Eddie said.

Fred had been retired for several years before 1965, but he runs a sand fighter and helps out in a pinch, Eddie said.

Bad luck often follows bad luck, and he Duffey's crops haven't all come up ones. About every other year they come up ragweed or hail. They were hailed out in late July in 1967 and the Friday the 13th storm this year cleaned them out again.

They planted back in cotton and maize. "You know, they say a good farmer has cotton blooms by July 4th," Mrs. Duffey said. "I don't believe we'll make it. We may not have a bloom by the fourth of August," she laughed, pointing to the planter boxes still on one of the tractors.

"Doing a little sandfighting" was about the only experience in farming Mrs. Duffey had when she took over the farming operations. "That and a little irrigating. Bookkeeping is the only thing that wasn't new to me. That was my department before Wayne was hurt."

Mrs. Duffey said "the worry" is the worst part of farming. "Keeping up with when to do what and making decisions are the hardest chores," she said.

"Now that Gary is big enough to go on his own, I've sorta slowed down."

"I'm 43-years-old and feel every year of it." She tilted back her salt-and-pepper-haired head, smiling broadly. "I've got grey hair and I'm a grandmother and proud of it."

Fayedell (Mrs. Ricky Arend) and baby daughter are living with Mrs. Duffey until Airman Arend, who has just completed basic training, gets an assignment "and can afford his wife and daughter."

When Eddie Duffey can find time from all the things there are to do around an irrigated farm, she sews.

"I sew all the time," she grinned, "I make all the 'she' clothes."

Wayne Duffey is in the Veterans Administration Center at Bonham and "will probably never be released."

But life must go on, and Eddie carries on with a sense of humor, remarkable stamina and determination.

Break-In Damages $100

City police were notified Tuesday that someone attempted to pry open a Coke box, which was sitting on the outside of the Texaco station on Highway 385 and the loop.

Approximately $100 in damages resulted in the box when the subject pried it with a tire tool or wide screwdriver.

Mrs. Judith Huffman reported to city police that her wallet was missing and her home had been entered Wednesday while she was gone. Her wallet contained approximately $21 in cash, several important identification papers and her driver's license. She reported that some canned goods had been taken.

MIGRANT HEALTH, COUNTY LIBRARY

City Hears Fund Requests

City councilmen considered a request and application for 1970 Migrant Health Project funds, totaling $44,213—an increase of $2,000 from last year, and heard a request for city financial assistance for the Lamb County Library.

Both projects are being studied by the councilmen for later action.

County Judge G. T. Sides and County Commissioner Jack Peel appeared before the council at their regular Thursday night meeting to request assistance for the library.

Councilmen heard and acknowledged a resolution from the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce's Board of Directors commending the council for adopting a program to remove dilapidated buildings, for economically establishing a sanitary landfill method of solid waste disposal, for recent completion of a street improvement program, and for limiting the number of days in which tourists and travelers may camp in the city's free trailer camp site.

In other action councilmen:

1. Approved a request of Littlefield Farmers Co-Op Gin that the city send a letter to the Texas Air Control Board stating that the city doesn't mind if the gin burns cotton burs and other waste materials near the gin east of the city.

2. Heard a report from Councilman Paul Carmickle and City Manager Jim Shearer on the meeting they attended at Lubbock concerning the proposed organization of a South Plains Association of Governments.

The council authorized City Manager Shearer to budget $1,085.40 as Littlefield's share of the Lamb County total of $3,284.40 for membership dues, should the council decide to go into the program.

They asked Shearer to send a letter to Lubbock Metropolitan Council of Governments, stating that the council supports the plan for expansion and is interested in membership.

3. Discussed delinquent real property taxes and received a list of approximately 3,000 delinquent accounts, dating back to 1925 and coming up to the present.

The total delinquency funds is in excess of $49,000 and the roll was prepared for legal action.

4. Supported the passing of State Constitutional Amendment No. 2 which is scheduled for voting Aug. 5.

JERRY NIPP.....

By The Numbers

From Now On He'll Have To Remember SS Number

The U. S. Army has Jerry Dwayne Nipp's number—the first number in fact which was converted from the Army Service Number (ASN) to the Social Security Account Number (SSAN) at the Amarillo Armed Forces Examining and Entrance Station (AFES).

Jerry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Nipp of Littlefield, was the first young man to be processed into the Army by the AFES in Amarillo without being issued an ASN.

His SSAN is 451-76-7655 and he will receive basic training at Fort Lewis, Wash.

The new numbering system went into effect at 11 a.m. July 1 and will be used as a means of identification for active, retired, and reserve component personnel.

Those not having SSANs will be given temporary identification numbers at the place where they enter the Army.

Joseph P. Mazzeo of Clovis, N. M., was the last male enlistee to receive a service serial number at the Amarillo AFES, and Gloria J. Anaya of Portales, N. M., was the last female who received the old type numbering.

The first service serial number ever issued to an enlisted man was given to Arthur B. Green Feb. 28, 1918, who holds the unique distinction of receiving ASN 1.

Officers did not receive numbers until June 1921, when General John J. Pershing, the Chief of Staff, received O-1.

The U. S. Marines and U. S. Navy will continue to use service serial numbers.

Sweep It Clean

THE REPORTER from the Columbus, Ohio, Dispatch thought he saw what he saw the other day but, just to be sure, he photographed it.

There are two mailboxes in front of the Dispatch Building, 34 S. 3rd St. One box is designated for "Out of Town" mail; the other is plainly marked for in-town mail.

SURE ENOUGH, day after day, the postman comes along and empties the contents of both boxes—INTO THE SAME BAG.

The Post Office, of all departments of government, is most susceptible to mismanagement. For generations, postmasterships have been passed out as rewards to party faithful with no consideration for administrative qualifications.

THE POSTMASTER GENERAL has, in fact, been selected from among party wheel horses further to insure political patronage. A any possibility of progress in modernizing, streamlining, improving postal service has been further inhibited by the entrenched Civil Service System, which frequently freezes the least efficient in their jobs.

Since 1838, the Post Office has operated in the black only 17 years.

CHRISTMASTIME, 1966, postal service in Chicago broke down completely, leading to investigations which revealed, among other evidences of laxity, hundreds of liquor bottles in the stairwells.

With increasing frequency, we hear of grotesque delays in delivering mail, even across town.

PRESIDENT NIXON picked for postmaster general a talented administrator, Winton Blount. "Red" Blount would like nothing better than to abolish his own job.

He is pleading with Congress to approve creation of a government-run corporation to handle the mail, similar to the manner in which AT&T provides telephone service.

UNDER EFFICIENT private management the cost of a coast-to-coast phone call has been reduced in recent years from $16.50 to $1. Postal rates have gone steadily up and up.

Postal workers represent a mammoth bloc of 750,000 voters, at least twice that many votes. Congressmen would be disinclined to oppose those workers and their union except that the mail service has so deteriorated in recent years that members of Congress may have more to lose from their irate constituents if they reject reorganization.

TYPICAL of the opponents of the idea, however, is Arizona Rep. Morris Udall, who will not support reorganization unless all postal workers are assured they will not lose their jobs.

It will not make a used car new to repaint it. A minor tune-up won't help. This has to be a major overhaul.

A GOVERNMENT-CORPORATION would be expected to draw upon the experience and training of most present employees of the Post Office, but must not be precommitted to perpetuate inefficient personnel or discredited practices.

Don't lock anybody out—or in.

Dear Sir:

Thanks to the Lamb County Leader which I received today, in which I received some very interesting news all about the new Electric Car.....Please ask whoever is in charge of the information dept. to keep me informed as to the progress and what to do next to have one demonstrated here in Tucson.

We enjoy receiving the hometown paper and think you are doing a good job. We haven't read the paper for all 46 years, but have since Morley Drake's day.

THE PHILOSOPHER

Dangerous Bug

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm seems agitated about a new aspect of the space program in his letter this week.)

Dear editor:

I found an item at the bottom of an inside page in a newspaper out here yesterday that needs the attention of everybody when man's entire program for exploring outer space is examined closely.

According to it, the world's only space woman, that Russian housewife named Valentina Tereshkova who orbited the earth a while back, says women should not have to do housework.

"Women," says Val—"I'll call her Val to keep from stumbling every time I try to pronounce her name—'should be relieved of dull mechanical types of work like preparing food, cleaning house, doing the laundry, etc.'"

This throws an entirely new light on the whole space program.

I have been vaguely suspicious all along about the program, not opposed to it, understand, in fact watching every new flight every time my T. V. set was working, but still wondering whether it would finally prove worthwhile, I mean, spending 10 billion dollars to get a soil sample from the moon when we're not even taking care of the soil on earth like we ought to, but if the space program is going to result in freeing women from household chores, that calls for a hard second look.

Val's notion is that cooking and doing the laundry and making up the beds and things like that should be taken care of by public service, like garbage collecting and street cleaning are.

And who, I'd like to shout, is doing the garbage collecting and the street cleaning? Men, of course.

In other words, Val sees the space program as a way of forcing men to come home to frozen t.v. dinners after standing in line two hours to pick up their shirts at the government laundry office.

As far as I'm concerned, they can call the whole thing off.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

What The Leader-News Thinks

ElectriCar Anticipation

Interest in the ElectriCar continues to come in from throughout the country.

Across the page, you'll note a couple of letters inquiring about progress on the project, and about copies of the recent "Extra" published by the Leader-News.

This note is to assure our readers that as things develop on the ElectriCar, you can bet we'll publish them right along and do our best to keep you informed.

Despite the fact that the ElectriCar may require quite a few more months of work to get it ready for production, most of us are eagerly awaiting the time when the first one is built in Littlefield. And a lot of people are taking an interest in becoming a part of plans to see the project fulfilled, on the grandest scale possible.

Right now, efforts are underway to complete the legal work necessary before test-model production can get started.

Sometime in the next few weeks, the prototype model will be brought to Littlefield and D. L. (Cotton) Whatley, EMV President, will be here to explain the next steps to be taken in the development of the vehicle.

Between now and the first of the year, a second prototype model will be built in Amarillo. After that, EMV plans to build up to 25 test models in Littlefield. These are to be spread out over the country and driven under all types of weather and road conditions.

Once this portion of the project is completed successfully, plans call for full-scale production in a Littlefield plant.

That time may be a year or two, or more, in coming. But it is a time that all of us can anticipate with excitement and enthusiasm.

Law Lets Consumer Shop Credit Terms

The new Truth in Lending law, which went into effect Tuesday, will give consumers the opportunity to shop for credit just as they would shop for the best deal on goods.

The act sets no maximum or minimum charges for credit, but it does insure that consumers are informed of all the costs, direct and indirect, of a credit arrangement, regardless of what business the seller represents.

President Lyndon B. Johnson signed the law into effect more than a year ago.

The consumer who previously shrugged off the monthly 1 1/2 percent charge on revolving credit accounts may be startled when their bills state a new requirement under the law—that by paying a charge of 1 1/2 percent monthly, they will be paying an annual charge of 18 percent.

Lenders, for the first time, will have to provide potential borrowers with complete and detailed figures on how much credit will cost, along with a realistic statement of the interest charge.

They must be more specific in advertising.

An ad must include more information than just a $15 electric iron for $1 down and $1 weekly payments. The ad will have to say how long the payments must be made and what the iron will have cost the consumer when the final payment is made.

The stated purpose of the new law is to let borrowers and customers know exactly what the cost of credit is. It does not fix maximum or minimum charges for credit.

Although nine federal agencies will share in the responsibility for enforcing the law's requirements, a major share of the burden will fall on the Federal Trade Commission.

The law covers almost all consumer credit.

Specifically, the law applies to banks, savings and loan associations, department stores, credit card issuers, credit unions, automobile dealers, residential mortgage brokers and anyone extending or arranging credit for which a finance charge is payable.

The only exceptions are transactions in which no finance charge is involved or when the credit is repayable in less than four installments.

There is some question as to whether the new law will cause the public to "Slack off" on saying "charge it to my account". Some have said it will not.

The law requires the lender for a real estate loan to present all information in a written statement before the transaction is completed.

Even after a buyer has signed a contract, he has three days to reconsider and to cancel the commitment before it becomes binding.

According to the American Bankers Association, if one item is omitted from the list of facts which must be told to the borrower, the contract could be made unenforceable and a home buyer could cancel his contract at will.

A pamphlet prepared by the ABA answers questions on "Truth in Lending: What is it? How Does It Affect Me?"

Here are some of the questions which have been raised, and the answers as provided in the pamphlet:

Q: What does the new "truth in lending" law mean to me as a bank customer?

A: The aim of this new law is to make it easier for you to compare the cost of credit from various sources by requiring a uniform method of stating credit charges. On July 1, banks and other lenders will begin stating their finance charges in terms of either the annual percentage rate or its dollar equivalent. In the past, banks often quoted charges in terms of dollars per $100 per year, either "add-on" or "discount." Starting July 1, $6 per $100 per year add-on will be stated as an annual percentage rate of 11% or $11 per year per $1000 of unpaid balance.

Q: Does this mean I'll be paying more for credit?

A: Definitely not. While the numbers involved are larger, the ACTUAL COST TO YOU WILL BE THE SAME. The principal difference is in the method of quotation. Also, some items not usually covered in the old dollar rate-service charges, for example—must now be included when figuring the annual percentage rate.

Q: Can you explain why the percentage rate sounds so much higher than the old dollar rate?

A: The dollar rate is applied to the total amount borrowed, but you don't have the use of this amount for the whole year. After six months, you've already repaid half the loan. The average amount outstanding is approximately half the amount you originally borrowed. The annual percentage rate is determined by dividing the finance charge by this average amount outstanding.

Q: What's the meaning of those other terms, "add-on" and "discount?"

A: These are simply two different ways of writing installment loan contracts. Using the add-on method, the finance charge is added to the principal to arrive at the amount which must be repaid. Under the discount method, the finance charge is deducted from the principal at the time the loan is made.

Q: Can you give me examples of the old and new ways of stating rates?

A: The following rates for one-year loans can serve as examples.

Add-on Rate	Annual % or $Equivalent
$5.00 per $100 per year	9.10
$6.00 per $100 per year	10.90
$7.00 per $100 per year	12.67
$8.00 per $100 per year	14.46

Discount Rate	Annual % or $Equivalent
$5.00 per $100 per year	9.57
$6.00 per $100 per year	11.58
$7.00 per $100 per year	13.61
$8.00 per $100 per year	15.68

These figures simply translate add-on and discount rates into annual percentage rates. The addition of other items which formerly may have been stated separately—fees for credit reports, for instance—may make the new rate look even bigger.

Q: How does the new law apply to bank credit card and revolving credit accounts?

A: Finance charges on these accounts are usually expressed as a percentage of the unpaid balance per month, as of the billing date. This is a simple monthly rate. Beginning July 1, it will be stated as an annual percentage rate determined by multiplying the monthly rate by 12. Thus, a monthly rate of 1 1/2% becomes an annual percentage rate of 18%.

Q: Why is the rate on credit card accounts higher than the rate I pay for a simple installment loan?

A: The main reasons are that the amounts are smaller and the monthly processing expenses are so much higher. Generally, the monthly processing on a regular installment loan involves only one operation, recording your monthly payment. With a credit card account, the bank must make a record of the charge every time you use your card, total the charges at the end of the billing period, compute the interest on any unpaid balance, make up your bill, mail it, and record your payment.

Q: Does the new law change the method of quoting mortgage rates?

A: In most cases, no. Mortgage rates have been described in terms of simple annual rates. However, if points, a finder fee, or certain other charges are required, under the new law these must be included in the finance charge. This would make the annual rate appear slightly larger than before.

Q: Why are mortgage rates lower than rates on installment loans?

A: The average cost to the bank per dollar loaned is lower for a mortgage loan. Such loans are substantially larger than typical installment loans, and they are repaid over a longer period of time. This helps to offset the monthly processing expenses. The bank passes the saving on to the customer in lower cost per dollar borrowed.

Q: Does the "truth in lending" law also apply to credit purchases from retailers?

A: The new law applies to virtually ALL consumer credit transactions, whether you are borrowing cash directly, charging a purchase, or financing a car.

Q: How does the law affect charge accounts?

A: Suppose you are about to open a revolving charge account with a department store. The law specifies the conditions of the credit agreement which must be disclosed to you before you open the account. The law also lists the information which must be included in your monthly statement—date and amount of each purchase, returns, adjustments, and many more items. The law even covers the way credit may be advertised.

Q: Then the law's primary purpose is to inform the customer rather than to regulate rates or terms?

A: Exactly. Its intent is to foster the informed use of credit by consumers. The law makes it mandatory that the lender or merchant provide complete information to you. Once you have this information, it is up to you to make a responsible decision. Informed shoppers will find it much easier to make comparisons between different credit sources.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Not By Default

By BOB WEAR

THE VERY NATURE of our living experience is constantly calling us to duty and service and work; even sacrifice.

We have a contract or an agreement with both the past and the future.

We may not accept these obligations, but they are real just the same.

WE ARE OBLIGATED to those who have lived before us, because of the heritage they left us; and to those who will live after us, to pass this heritage on to them. We must not default.

If we honestly and sincerely do our best, and fail; the final outcome will be regrettable. If, however, we default we will have proven ourselves unworthy, faithless and unkind; because we did not try.

MORE AND MORE people seem to be giving up. They don't even want to enter the game. Many times they do not even appear for the contest.

In an athletic event, failure to engage in or failure to finish a contest is a default. There is too much of this spirit in the living experience.

IT IS UNTHINKABLE that we might be afraid to contest the contrary forces which threaten us. Nevertheless, for some reason, many of us are not even in the contest.

It seems that many have decided to default. This is surely not our calling.

It just must not be. We do not know what we can do until we try.

LET IT NOT BE by default.

If we are going to lose the greatness, and helpfulness and proven worth of the American social structure, let it be after we have given our last, full measure of devotion.

IF WE DEFAULT, we will have destroyed the seed from which the "good life" must grow.

If we lose the contest, but have lone our best and seeds of human freedom and dignity will have been reserved; however, there is no reason for such loss.

THE CONTEST in which we are involved is the most important and most critical ever waged. There is so much that is so good for so many people that it must be saved.

We don't know what we can do to help until we begin to try; to really do our best. All of us can help.

WE HAVE GOOD intentions and good wishes, but we must move beyond this point. We must learn how to act with effectiveness.

We can, you know. Swedeborg said, "To will and not to do when there is opportunity, is in reality not to will; and to love what is good and not to do it, when it is possible, is in reality not to love."

OF COURSE, there is something you can do. Start where you are, learn all you can about the contest, take inventory of what you can do; and you will know what to do to help bring about the desired outcome.

We have too much that is good for mankind to let it go by default.

WE CANNOT AFFORD to let fear; or carelessness; or neglect; or pre-occupation with play, or selfish work, or personal problems to cause us to fail.

If we fail, let it be after we have given all we have to give in the most intelligent and effective manner we know. We, however, must not fail.

THE GOOD LIFE MUST NEVER BE LOST BY DEFAULT

Thirteen-Year-Olds See Action Tuesday

Three victories would mean a district tournament championship for the Littlefield Babe Ruth 13-Year-Old All Stars, entering their first tournament Tuesday. The local squad is bracketed to play Post at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday in the second round of the four-day event. Three games will be played tomorrow: Game One, Frontier League vs. Brownfield; Game Two, Tri-City vs. Lubbock; and Game Three, Slaton vs. Tahoka. Game Four will be played Tuesday at 3. The Littlefield-Post game is Game Five. Winners of Games One and Two will play Game Six after the Littlefield game. The Littlefield-Post winner will face the victor of Game

Six at 8 p.m. Wednesday, following a playoff of the winners of Games Three and Four. Should Littlefield win the first two games, the local All-Stars would play in the finals at 8 p.m. Thursday against the winner of Game 7. Games Monday and Tuesday will be six-inning contests. But the final games on Wednesday and Thursday will be regulation seven-inning games.

This is Littlefield's first year in Babe Ruth League, having abandoned Pony and Colt League in favor of the new league. Making up the 13-year-old All-Stars team are Terry Bryson, Pat Henderson, Richey Stamps, David Williams, Randy Parker, Mark Hanna, Richard Tamplin, Donnie Noles, Charles Jefferson, Randy Millegan, Jerry Sowder, Kenny Owens, Kelly Pratt, Craig Ratliff, and Clodis Twitty. Security State Minors Champ

With only one more game yet to play, Security State is the Minor League champion for 1969.

The Bankers can afford to lose the final game of the schedule, Saturday night, and still be way ahead in the standings.

The battle now turns to second place, where defending champion Leader-News is a game ahead of fast-climbing Coca Cola.

Coca Cola must face the Bankers Saturday, while the Newsmen have somewhat easier a schedule....PCA Monday and VFW Thursday.

COCA COLA-14
PCA-3

In spite of a homerun by PCA's John Joe Baiza, Coca Cola still won by a score of 14-3.

Title Hinges On Game

Last night's game between league-leading Rotary and never-say-die Lions was the big news of the week. But a report on the game will have to wait until Thursday's edition, because of deadline requirements.

Standings remain the same, with Butane standing in third, Batson and Optimist tied for fourth, and W.O. W. last.

Rotary is shooting for its third consecutive title.

This week ends the regular season play, ending Saturday night with Butane and Rotary.

TODAY'S DEVOTIONAL

Task Of The Church

DR. W. A. TERRY
Irvin Street First Baptist

Text: Matthew 28:19-20—"Go ye therefore and teach all Nations."

IN THE EARLY dawn of history, God challenged man with the words, have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the birds of the heavens, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth.

Long and dangerous has been the struggle to accept this challenge, but man has gone even beyond this original command. The air he uses as channels for his messages, and the sea and earth are yielding their long-hidden treasures for man's development and use.

MAN HAS MADE rapid progress in our world physically.

He has discovered new dimensions, both in inner space and outer space. He has topped new sources of power here to fore unknown.

He is now in position to extend life but not to live. Man has a longer life span than ever.

Martin Luther King describes the age in which we live in this fashion, "We have learned to fly like birds and swim the sea like fish, but we have not learned the simple art of walking like earth like brothers."

Man has become the monarch in the material kingdom. But he has not been so successful in taming his own spirit. The wild beasts of forests have been more easily tamed than the wild passions of his soul.

IT HAS BEEN easier to discover and harness the forces of nature for man's protection and enjoyment than it has been to develop and direct man's moral and spiritual possibilities toward the making of a more wholesome world in which to live.

The task of the Church is to help us walk the earth like brothers.

The Lord spoke unto His disciples, "Go ye therefore into all the world and preach the Gospel, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you."

HAVE YOU EVER wondered what would have happened if during our 175 years of history as a nation, we had provided effective Christian teaching for every child born in our nation? It is very likely that the war between states and World War I and II, with all their deaths and destruction, would have been avoided and the spirit of Christian democracy might have prevailed all over the world.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION at its best helps man to know God as his personal Saviour.

In this encounter man decides for or against God. Man's personal experience as a Christian begins with his acceptance of Jesus as his personal Saviour.

We believe that the only hope of salvation for man is Christ. There is no other name whereby man can be saved.

Christian education is necessary because it helps men and women, girls and boys make wise choices. Not only is the individual affected by the choices he makes, he is profoundly affected by the choices made by the society of which he is a member.

The historian Tonbee, believes that the fall of Rome was due to unrighteous decision.

THE NEW LIFE in Christ has to be nurtured. This is the task of the Church—this is always been the task of the Church.

This is one of the leadership functions of the pastor. He is responsible for teaching those who are to share with him in this ministry.

He must see that the Church of Christ's program, otherwise the Church as a body, errs, and he becomes the fault.

Methods and techniques are important.

SOME YEARS AGO I saw a sign in front of a tool manufacturing plant in Pittsburgh, Pa., which read, "You can not do today's job with the tools you used yesterday and expect to get ahead tomorrow."

The Church should make full use of the new implements and skills science has placed at our disposal. The Church must keep pace with our times—old truths must be presented in new categories.

The Preacher must see to it that his sermons are relevant to our times—the teaching of the Bible must be relevant to our ages.

The Bible is still alive. The problems with which it deals are the problems that comfort man today.

THE BIBLE has the answer to all our problems. We will never outgrow the Bible. The Bible is still effective.

It can do for man what no other book can do.

We should not be ashamed to teach it. The atheist and modernist has caused shame and fear to envelope America.

We took the Bible out of our schools and crime increased—we took the reading of the Bible out of schools and sin became bold in our communities and our cities.

WHEN WE TOOK the reading of the Bible from our schools we disarmed ourselves of Divine authority.

It is not what we think about social problems, but what God says about them.

God condemns sin. I am deeply appreciative of the public school teachers that taught me.

They were Christians and believed in the Bible. They were members of a Church and attended Church. Their influence for good was felt in the neighborhood.

Today in many instances the child who has been taught the Bible at home and in the Church is discouraged and made to feel that he has done the wrong thing at home.

We need not be alarmed at the sin in our land.

We have left the Bible and God.

I AM REMINDED of an illustration which Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick gave in one of his sermons.

A spider had worked hard and placed many webs in the corner of a house in which he was to live.

One day he decided there was no need for all those webs, he began to cut them one by one until he cut the main one, and down he fell into his death.

One by one we are discontinuing some of the sacred traditions of the Church.

We are doing away with the prayer meeting.

We are doing away with the Bible and family prayer in the home.

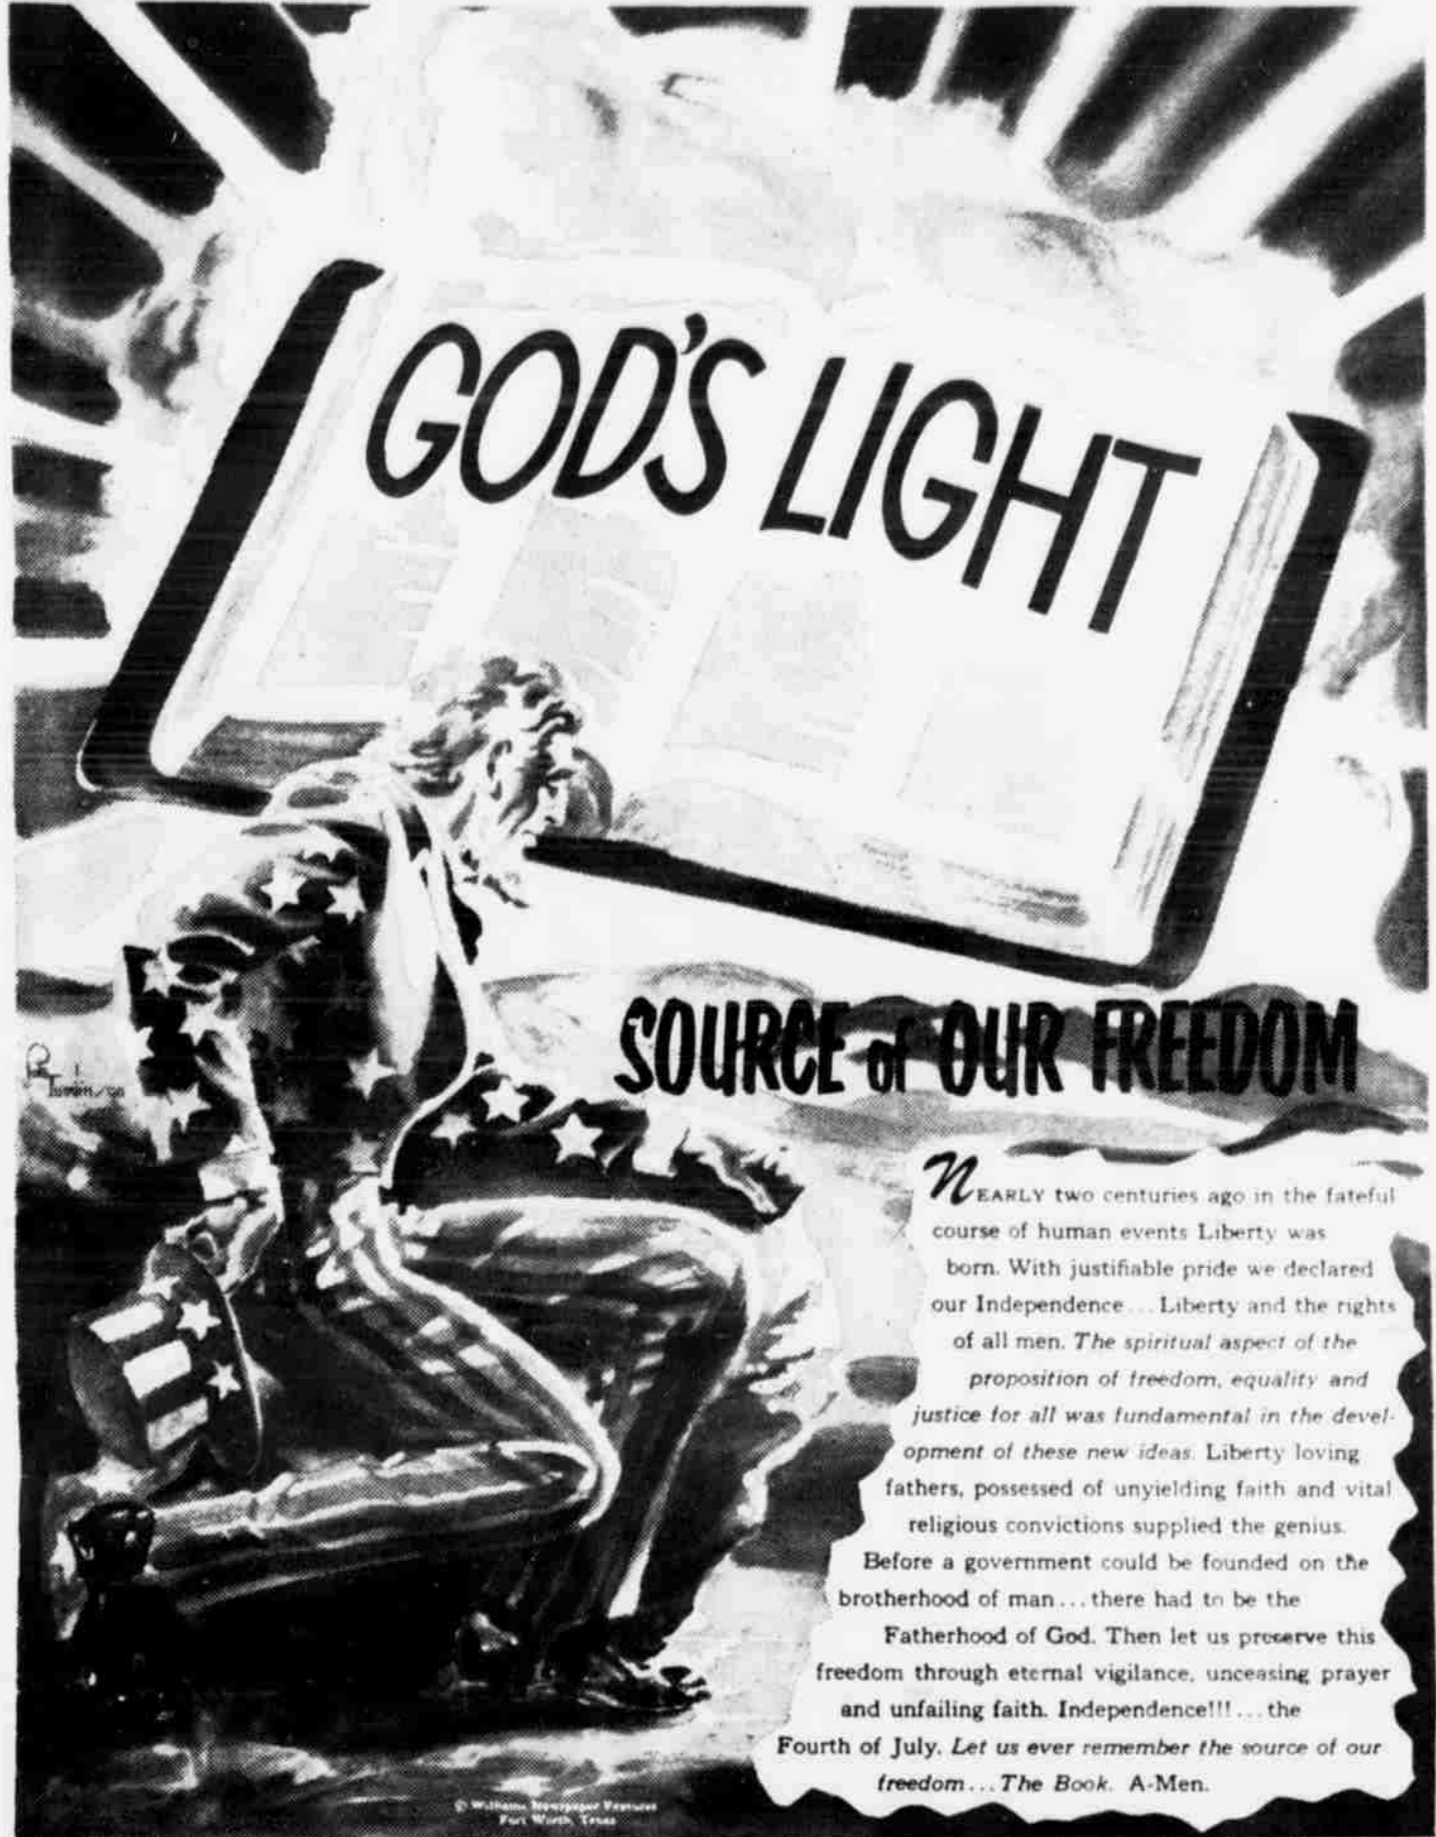

The HOPE of the world is back to God and His Word. Our task is a continuing task.

WE MUST CONTINUE until men everywhere have heard the Gospel.

Disciples cannot be won or made apart from the teaching and preaching of the Word of God.

WORSHIP IN CHURCH

and get a spiritual lift for the whole week

Nearly two centuries ago in the fateful course of human events Liberty was born. With justifiable pride we declared our Independence... Liberty and the rights of all men. The spiritual aspect of the proposition of freedom, equality and justice for all was fundamental in the development of these new ideas. Liberty loving fathers, possessed of unyielding faith and vital religious convictions supplied the genius. Before a government could be founded on the brotherhood of man... there had to be the Fatherhood of God. Then let us preserve this freedom through eternal vigilance, unceasing prayer and unflinching faith. Independence!!!... the Fourth of July. Let us ever remember the source of our freedom... The Book. A-Men.

310 PHELPS LITTLEFIELD

Former C-C Manager Is Named Director

Leon Slaughter, former Littlefield Chamber of Commerce Manager who is presently manager of the Kilgore C.C., has been named to the staff of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce as Projects Director, effective Aug. 1, according to Jack G. Springer, WTCC executive vice president.

"The new staff man will concentrate his activities on agri-business, mineral resources and water projects of the area chamber", Springer said.

"We are fortunate to have Slaughter join our staff. His BS degree in agricultural education and his MS in Economics, both from Texas A&M, fit him well for our needs."

"His past experience in chamber of commerce work in Littlefield, Sweetwater and Kilgore is also important to us," Springer stated.

Slaughter was a Vocational Agriculture teacher for 14 years before entering chamber of commerce work. He was also self-employed and was extension supervisor for the Exchange Clubs for five years.

Slaughter is a past officer of the Chamber of Commerce Executives Association of West Texas, the Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers Association and is active in Rotary, the Texas Industrial Development Council and the Southern Industrial Council.

While serving as manager of the Littlefield chamber, the city of Littlefield was awarded the "All America City" award. While in Sweetwater the city continued its program of industrial development under the guidance of the chamber manager and the industrial foundation. Kilgore has added two new industries during Slaughter's tenure as chamber of commerce manager.

Mrs. Slaughter is an attorney. She obtained her law degree from the University of Puerto Rico in 1943 and was admitted to the Texas Bar in 1967. She is active in the Association of American University Women and the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Slaughter and their four children are members of the Methodist Church and will move to Abilene the latter part of July.

Cheerleaders Attending Tech School

Eleven Littlefield high school and junior high school students are among the more than 420 junior and senior high school cheerleaders from 91 schools in 77 towns in three states who reported for instruction Monday at the sixth annual Cheerleaders School at Texas Tech.

They include Kay Armistead, Carol Chisholm, Jan Christian, Cyd McKinnon, Diane Maner and Dianne Perkins of Littlefield High School and Judy Cannon, Carol French, Shelly Grant, Tonya Pickrell and Debbie Sorley of Littlefield Junior High School.

Most of the youngsters and their sponsors arrived Sunday to remain through the final session at noon Thursday.

Monday morning was spent in demonstrations and practicing new routines. A picture-taking session occupied the cheerleaders from 1 to 3 p.m.

They attended a lecture session in the late afternoon, then participated in another 2 1/2 hour instructional session Monday night in the intramural gymnasium.

The curriculum for the short course includes instruction in new stunts and skits, cheerleading techniques, how to plan pep rallies, ways to boost school spirit and pointers about crowd psychology.

Tech intramurals director Edsel Buchanan, director of the Cheerleaders School, said a full program of activities, including recreational events, is planned for the visiting teams from schools in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

The school's staff is supplied by the National Cheerleaders Association. In addition, Mrs. Buchanan, is also of the four-day

Youth Exchange Student Impressed With 50th State

June 23, 1969

Dear everyone,
To begin, I'm very sorry I haven't written sooner. We've had a very busy schedule while here and every spare minute is spent preparing for the next big event.

We arrived at the Hilo airport, on the island of Hawaii, Wednesday afternoon. Because of the time differences, this was the longest day of my life. It lasted for 29 hours.

Wednesday evening was spent in leisure and watching a hula show.

Thursday morning found us up at 6 a.m. traveling to the other side of the island to the district of Kona. On the way to Kona, we visited an orchid garden, volcanoes and the black sands beach and Kealakekua Bay. It was in this bay that Captain James Cook, founder of the islands, landed and was killed by the natives.

Friday morning we took a cruise along the Kona Coast. We boarded a glass bottomed boat and viewed the ocean bottom and coral reefs. We also went swimming in Kealakekua Bay. The bay has so much salt in it that it is impossible to sink. After lunch along the coast we boarded a Hawaiian jet and flew to the island of Maui.

Saturday we toured the island of Maui. We visited the town of Lahaina, first capital of Hawaii and famous whaling town. After a lunch in the mountains and viewing the famous "Needle" (inactive volcano crater) we boarded another plane and flew to the island of Kauai.

Sunday morning we had a short religious service then boarded a boat for a tour cruise down the Wailau River. We visited the fern grotto where the ancient Hawaiians were married. There we listened to the beautiful Hawaiian wedding song.

Later we flew to Honolulu on the island of Oahu where we had lunch at the "Fishermen's Wharf". After lunch we came to our hotel then hit Waikiki Beach. That night we dined at the "Pea Vest" and went to the International Market Place.

Monday morning was a morning of leisure in which everybody did their laundry. After lunch we traveled to the town of Loe. Here we visited the beautiful Mormon Temple and the Mormon sponsored Polynesian Cultural Center. This place is really fantastic. It gives you an insight on how the Polynesians from Hawaii, Tahiti, Samoa, Fiji and New Zealand lived in ancient times. That evening we attended the Polynesian Cultural Show. This was the most beautiful thing I have ever seen. I just can't explain its beauty and atmosphere.

Monday, today, we visited the island of Oahu. We went to the "Punchbowl" Cemetery of the world veterans. This part of the tour put me into a state of depression but it was really something to see.

I guess one of the most exciting parts of the tour was visiting Pearl Harbor and the Arizona Monument. Our guide explained to us the location of all the ships and the procedures of the attack. Tonight we went to an authentic Luau. We really had a wonderful time. All over the islands people are especially nice to you. If they find out Texas, they go on to be courteous. I really think every Texas kid should go until I get to City police answered 147 calls during the month of June. Thirty-two persons were arrested, 10 automobile accidents investigated, 10 violators checked, 9,558 miles tolled and 66 traffic citations issued.

HEATSTROKES

Cool it as much as possible in hot and humid weather, and lessen your chances of suffering heat exhaustion. Victims of heatstroke usually exhibit the following symptoms: pale and clammy skin; rapid and weak pulse rate; complaints of weakness, headache, or nausea; and cramps in stomach, legs or arms. The victim should lie down in a cool place with his head level to or lower than his body. If the person is conscious, give him a salt water solution—one teaspoon salt to one quart water—and then call a doctor.

AGED INCREASING

There will be an estimated 25 million persons 65 and older in the United States in 1985, an increase of 8.4 million over 1960.

SCRAPBOOK

Barbed Wire Starts

Isaac L. Ellwood, Baron of the Spade Ranch, invented the "thorn wire" fence which made the fencing of the Western range possible.

Ellwood was a farmer living in the vicinity of DeKalb, Ill., when he made the discovery that was to affect the entire Plains.

Smooth wire had already come into use, but cattle paid little attention to it.

They did show some respect to thorn hedges, however, and Ellwood began to ask himself, "Why not make a thorny wire?" While attending an Illinois fair about 1873 Ellwood saw some fencing made by hanging thin pieces of wood on wire, the wood containing spikes on its edges.

The projections were turned in all directions by twisting the ribbon. This flat wire was too heavy and expensive to be very satisfactory, and Ellwood went to work on the idea of fastening thorns on round smooth wire.

In time, he found that by curling the barbs around a smooth wire, they could be held in place and evenly spaced by twisting the barbed wire with another slick wire.

He patented his idea, and paved the way for settlement of the great prairies where there was no timber for rail fences.

His first manufacturing attempt was made by cutting and twisting barbs in an old coffee grinder. A boy was put up on a windmill tower to string the barbs on a round, smooth wire. A grindstone twisted it with a smooth strand to hold the barbs in place, with the man standing at the grindstone spacing the barbs as the two strands came together.

This first barbed or thorn wire sold for two cents a pound. Even at that it was cheaper than split rails.

Previously a few farmers had tried to enclose their land with thorn hedges, but "thorn wire" had this outclassed by far.

Miles of barbed wire could be put up in a few days, while it took years to grow a thorn hedge fence.

Barbed wire had another factor in its favor—it didn't sap the ground or take up valuable space like a hedge.

Soon the demand for wire exceeded the supply of Ellwood's makeshift factory. J. F. Giden, a neighboring farmer, became Ellwood's partner, and an improved factory was erected at DeKalb.

The American Fence Co. was on its way with Isaac L. Ellwood drawing royalty on every pound of wire sold.

When the company sought new markets in Texas, a big demonstration was held at San Antonio. Wild longhorns were driven into a corral composed of eight or ten wires, and permitted to do their worst.

Hides of the cattle were thick and tough, but a few runs on the heavily spiked wire were enough. The fence held the animals without seriously injuring them, and the farmers and ranchers were impressed.

Farmers on the prairies could now keep stock off their crops. Ranchers foresaw that cattle could be held on their home range without the expense of line riders, and they could improve their herds by segregating the scrubs.
