Emergency Loans Are Available

S. Senator John Tower has reminded farmers who recently suffered severe hail losses to growing crops that they may be eligible for emergency loans through the Farmers Home Administration.

tinuation of farming operations.

In a special called meeting of the board of trustees of the Littlefield Independent School District Monday night. the trustees voted unanimously to have the attorneys for the school district "file suit for delinquent property taxes." This action is to begin immediately on all delinquent taxes.

The total of delinquent taxes (1960-1970) is $67,086.17. This figure does not include 1971 school taxes since they are not considered delinquent until the first day of September, 1972. Of the 1971 taxes, 96.21 per cent has been collected but there remains approximately $20,000 to be collected.

According to Sid Hopping, LISD tax accessor and collector, included in the $67,086.17 are several properties that owe over $1,000 in back taxes plus many properties that are six to eight years delinquent. He also stated that "we have tried to work out payment plans for those that are delinquent but it is evident that this approach has not worked." When questioned whether or not people who were delinquent were "aware" of the fact or not, Mr. Hopping said followup notices are sent (besides the original tax statement) to those who have not paid and the entire board agreed that all delinquent tax payers nave been made "aware" by the system followed by the school tax office.

Below is a table representing the totals delinquent to the Littlefield Independent School District Delinquent as of Sept. 1st, 1971.

Newspaper boys are as busy as ever, but what Americans like specifically about their daily newspapers often is hidden behind personal preference.

Results of a limited opinion study made by the Institute of Mass Communications Research at Texas Tech University delve into those preferences. The study was made of Lubbock readers, and the results indicate they want domestic news more than anything else. the Although daily ILL TEMPER may cause more loss and more heartache than any other one thing. If not the greatest source of human loss, it is high in the list of undesirable human attitudes and manifestations.

Even though there is a general inclination to try to overlook the various expressions of ill temper, the hurtful effects occur just the same.

THERE IS NO PROPER justification for this ugliness, but there seems to be widespread efforts to justify it; or, at least, excuse it.

It may be wise to be charitable in our view of the ill temper in the behavior of others, but we are more than foolish if we permit it to have a comfortable place in our lives. Good temper is so much better, and contributes so much more to effective and joyful living. We do have a choice.

WE NEED TO FEEL GOOD within ourselves, and about ourselves. It is also important that we have good feelings toward others, and that we have the good will of others.

None of these blessings, however, are present in our living experience, if we are ill-tempered.

IN ADDITION TO the ill temper, the regrets which follow each display of it add to our miserable feelings.

We are displeased with ourselves, and concerned about the damage we have done in alienating someone.

"BAD TEMPER IS its own scourge.

Few things are more bitter than to feel bitter. A man's venom poisons himself more than his victim." — C. Buxton.

OUR AIM MUST BE, "No Ill Temper". We cannot afford it. Even if other people overlook it, and some will; it continues to have its pernicious effects upon us. There is no way to prevent this. We can change from ill temper to good temper, and this is the only satisfactory solution. It is most foolish to say to ourselves and to others, "I am just this way, and can't help it." We can help it. There is no reason to be ill-tempered.

IT IS STRANGE, but true, that many people who live on the highest moral level, and whose lives are above represented morally are ill temperad.

reproach morally, are ill-tempered. They are malevolent, spiteful, unpleasant, cranky and generally, harsh and severe. This is not a normal condition of the morally upright. For the most part, these people are pleasant, affable and congenial in their talk, actions and responses.

"NO FORM OF VICE does more to un-Christianize society than evil temper. For embittering life, for destroying the most sacred relationships, for withering up men and women, for taking the bloom of childhood —in short, for sheer, misery-producing power— this influence stands alone."— Drummond.

ILL TEMPER WILL NULLIFY every other aspect of an otherwise worthy life, therefore we cannot afford to be illtempered.

Safety Week

Fires, drownings, and machinery and tractor accidents continue to be the major sources of accidental deaths on Texas farms and ranches, according to the Texas Safety Association.

Joe L. Smetana, vice president for Farm and Ranch Activities for the statewide safety group, discussing Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week, July 25-31, said that accidental deaths took the lives of 203 persons in 1971 in rural areas of the state.

Smetana mentions the following rules for safer farm and ranch operations. *Keep all guards and shields in place when operating machinery or power tools of any kind.

*Equip your tractor with a protective frame or crush resistant cab.

*Always fasten your safety belts when driving or riding. Insist that others do the same.

*Be prepared for emergencies such as fire, flood, blizzard, windstorm, sudden illness and injury. For information on emergency preparedness contact the extension service, civil defense, or other groups. Plan and practice ways of evacuating the house if fire strikes.

*Install fire extinguishers in buildings, on motor vehicles, tractors, and self-propelled equipment.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelight. By Bill Boykin TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

PROPERTY TAX REFORM may be one of the big issues before the 1973 session of the Texas Legislature. This is the prediction of Texas

Research League in a newsletter analyzing the subject.

The property tax, notes TRL, is the largest source of revenue for support of the government in Texas. Collections exceeded $1.4 billion in 1970 and rose $220 million between 1968 and 1970.

Recent federal and state court decisions holding public school finance systems based on locally-imposed property taxes unconstitutional focused new attention on such taxation. The decisions stimulated interest of House and Senate committees on extensive reforms.

Criticism of the revenue source and proposals for reform may center on these factors as pointed up in the TRL study:

*Administration is inequitable. Different standards apply to different types of property.

*There are too few professionallytrained assessors, and many tax offices lack even the most fundamental tools such as tax maps and appraisal cards on each parcel of property. Furthermore, there are far too many tax offices and districts. (Given an "impossible tax law" to administer, local officials do remarkable well, according to a Tax Policy Committee study.) *Personal property -tanga intangible - is particularly diff assess. Some states have gree tempting to tax all properrecognize this fact in basic law *Taxpayers are at a marked vantage in redressing grievane illegal or inequitable assessment of birth

When the month of August rolls around, thousands of Texas mothers suddenly realize that only a few more weeks remain until school beings.

Parents with youngsters beginning school for the first time this September look forward to school with a little more excitement, and many mothers whose first-born are going off to school may be a bit bewildered by it all. In addition to the millionand-one chores that must be performed in getting the youngster ready for school -new shoes, clothes, health examination - most school districts require proof of age for beginning students. A certified copy of a birth certificate is usually requested, reports the Texas State Department of Health. This fall there will be a quarter-million new first graders in the schools throughout Texas, with the total public school enrollment expected to reach 2.8 million. Continued growth of the school population is expected for the next two to three years, according to the Texas Education Agency. Anticipating the rush of

LAST WEEK the District Sales Manager for Eastern Hi-Bred Seed Company was visiting in Littlefield. His name was Seigo Nagase, a young Japanese, who graduated from the University of Tokyo's School of Agriculture.

Nagase is visiting in the United States to learn the various methods of seed production and promotion and to carry these ideas back to Japan. He was working a few days with Arlen Simpson here in the Littlefield area.

While visiting with Nagase and Simpson, the conversation varied from one topic to another.

Population of Japan was one of the topics. Nagase stated that Tokyo has ten million people living within its limits, a tenth of all of Japan's population -100 million.

It was brought up that if each person in Japan would eat one more egg a year, the United States import of grain to Japan would increase by one third. In Japan there are signs encouraging the people to eat more eggs like those you find here wanting us to eat more beef.

Here's another eye opener in reference to labor and wages in Japan. For example, Nagase is a college graduate and is a district sales manager in charge of all the countries in South East Asia. He only draws a salary of $180 per month. The way I understand

Police Officers Solve One Case Investigate Two

City police officers are making investigation of two cases of theft which have been reported earlier this week, and one case of vandalism was cleared.

Saturday morning, a newspaper stand, containing cash was taken from Pete's Jiffy Mart. Officers recovered the stand after it was located behind the Catholic church building.

Thelma's Fruit Stand reported Saturday morning that a lock on the front door was pried from the door, entry was made to the store, and cash, bread, lunch meat and bananas were taken.

Sunday, a citizen reported that three boys had entered the Boy Scout Hut, and that drawers had been pulled out and contents strewn about. Municipal Judge Ben Noble talked with the boys and the boys agreed to clean up the mess they had made

> As a result of actions by the House and Senate in Washington over recent weeks, farmers can expect labor costs to increase by at least 15 per cent later this year and by over 30 per cent beginning in the fall of 1973. according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. The House on May 11 passed bill increasing the agricultural minimum wage from the present $1.30 an hour to $1.50 this year and to $1.70 a year later.

The Senate, arduously courting the favor of organized labor, voted July 20 to raise the farm labor minimum to $1.60 this year, $1.80 next year, $2.00 in 1974 and $2.20 in 1975.

"Thus the hourly minimum wage for agriculture in the years ahead will be decided by a House-Senate Conference Committee," Johnson said, "and a 30 per cent increase by 1973, as written into the House measure, is the smallest increase that can be hoped for." Also hanging in the balance when the Conference Committee meets will be the fate of overtime exemptions traditionally given to cotton gins, oil mills and other seasonal processing industries. The House version retains these exemptions but the Senate bill wipes them out. If the Senate version holds, some sources estimate the cost of ginning cotton will be increased in the neighborhood of $5 per bale.

The House bill would increase non-agricultural labor from a $1.60 minimum to $1.80 this year and to $2.00 in 1973. The Senate would jump the minimum for non-farm workers to $1.80 this year and to $2.20 an hour in 1974.

Ostensibly the Administration was pushing on the Senate floor for new minimum wage provisions much more in line with those adopted by the House, including a $2.00 top for nonfarm labor and an increase to only $1.80 for agriculture. But Republicans as well as Democrats would like to gain support from organized labor in this election year, and numerous defections from the more modest wage approach were noted in Administration ranks.

Democrats in the Senate were especially anxious to mollify labor union leaders, most of whom were thoroughly disenchanted with procedures followed at the Democratic Convention and with the party's presidential nominee. Political expediency notwithstanding however, both Texas Senators -John Tower, a Republican, and Lloyd Bentsen Jr., a Democrat- voted for a substitute bill with minimum wage increases similar to those approved by the House.

That bill was defeated by a vote of 46 to 47 and the minimum bill from the Senate Labor Committee passed 65 to 27. Presidential nominee George McGovern flew back to the Capitol from South Dakota to vote against the substitute bill.

Ultimately the Senate measure would jump the federal minimum wage by 37.5 per cent for non-agricultural workers and by almost 70 per cent for farm labor, the largest increases in history. Noteworthy in consideration of the minimum wage provisions which eventually will be enacted is the fact that the chairman of the House Subcommittee on Labor, John Dent of Pennsylvania, fought a Washington observers do losing battle on the House side for a bill almost identical to that passed by the Senate. And Dent will no doubt head up the House conferees on the issue

Don't Make Pets From Wildlife

As more and more families go outdoors for camping and picnicking, they come into contact with wildlife. Often temptations are high to keep a young wild animal as a pet.

Charles Ramsey, wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reminds families exploring the outdoors to be kind to wildlife "orphans" and just leave them alone. "Taking the animal from its habitat is one of the most unkind things a person can do," contends the Texas A&M University specialist. "It's also illegal."

"Unfortunately, the first thought that comes to a person's mind when he finds a young wild animal is that its an 'orphan'. This is generally not so since the mother often leaves its young to feed."

So when a young animal is found alone, chances are that its mother is close-by and will tend to her offspring after the humans leave the area.

Ramsey also disproves the common belief that Wildlife parents will refuse to care for their young if "tainted" by the scent of humans. "Yet, this is no excuse to bother young animals. Refrain from and discourage children from handling or playing with young wildlife since such handling will frighten and upset the animals. For animals that do find their way into homes as pets, many problems exist in trying to raise them. "In many cases, the animals become sick and die because of improper diets," notes the specialist. An often overlooked problem is that cute little animals will grow up eventually. And as adults, many of these will become unmanageable, especially during the breeding season.

Young animals that do end up as pets are generally returned to the wild after some time in captivity. But after being fed and cared for by someone else, these animals often die because they cannot fend for themselves. Since they are not used to the conditions and dangers of the wild, they become easy victims of harsh, weather, predators and accidents, explains the specialist

Cattle Marketings Up ... Cotton Production Report Due Aug. 12... Farm Safety Week July 25-31 . . . Milk Production Declines . . .

Texas feedlot operators report intentions to market 1,208,000 cattle between now and Sept. 30. This would be 19 per cent more than marketed during the same period last year.

Cattle being fed for slaughter in the state totaled 2,119,000 as of July 1. This is 25 per cent above the 1,700,000 head on feed a year earlier.

In the state there are 283 feedlots with a capacity of 1,000 head or more. Of these, 205 reported cattle on feed July 1, while the other 78 reported their feedlots as empty. Capacity for all 283 large feedlots totaled 2,621,950 head and showed a 79 per cent occupancy.

Nationwide, the trend for higher production is also noted. Cattle feeders in a 23-state area plan to market about 7,184,000 head between now and Sept. 30. The anticipated marketings are nine per cent higher than those sold during the same period last year.

A REPORT on cotton production for 1972 is expected to be released Aug. 12. Cotton industry people as well as cotton producers and textile manufacturers will be watching that report with more than usual interest because of the present cotton supply situation. Acreage-wise in Texas the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service reports upland cotton planted in Texas this year is estimated at 5,450,000 acres. This is an increase of 220,000 acres over the amount planted in 1971.

Generally, most of the crop is reported to be making excellent progress with some having been destroyed by hail and heavy rains. Insects are also a problem in many areas.

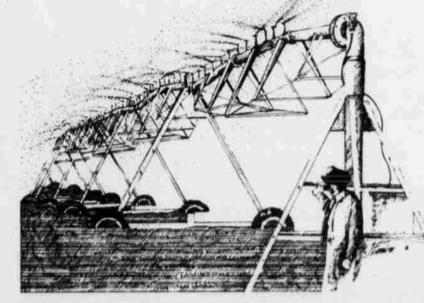

FARM SAFETY week is July 25-31. In 1971, farm and ranch accidents took the lives of 203 persons. Leading cause of deaths were fires, explosions or burns. Other factors for accidental deaths included drownings, accidental shootings, machinery accidents, tractor accidents, falls and animals.

The figures show a continuing upward trend in accidental deaths. Agriculture is one of the most dangerous of all professions.

Safety officials urge constant alertness and eliminating potential accidental death possibilities as ways to lessen the accidental death rate throughout the state.
