Cities Receive $8,188.40 In Monthly Sales Refunds

Area cities shared a small portion of $16.1 million in checks that were issued to Texas cities Tuesday by Comptroller Bob Bullock. The issue was the first monthly payment ever of city sales tax revenue returns.

Area cities received a grand total of $8,188.40. Net payment to Anton was $991.96; Earth's net payment was $577.64; while Littlefield received $5,874.85; and Olton got $743.95.

The new monthly payments replace the old quarterly rebates which Bullock said "were only a step ahead of the Pony Express."

The quarterly system, with a lag of 60 to 90 days between the state getting the tax and when it went to the cities, had been in use since the first city sales tax went into effect in 1968.

Tuesday's payments went to more than 500 towns and cities for taxes collected between Feb. 18, the cutoff date of the last quarterly payment, and Apr. 4.

In a letter to city officials Bullock said the "quicker payments should be an asset to every city's financial operations" and that "because this money belongs to your citizens we have a responsibility to get it to you as quickly as possible."

Bullock said cities can expect future monthly payments about mid-month. He said the first two months payments can be expected to be less than the payment of the third month of each cycle when quarterly tax payments by merchants come in.

Under the new monthly system payments of less than $500 won't be made, Bullock said. Monthly allocations of less than $500 will be added to the next month and paid either when they top $500 or at the end of each third month regardless of amount.

There were 273 towns with allocations of less than $500 for the first month on the new system.

At the same time the junior high band will be competing in the annual Amarillo Southwest Music Festival. This year the festival will last three days, April 24, 25,

"Following many weeks of hard preparation and fund raising projects, the Wildcat Band will board two charter buses enroute for San Antonio, "Texas," stated their director, Tom SoRelle. Friday, the band will watch the first of two parades. Following this they will give a concert on the San Antonio River. Some of the selections they will be playing include "San Antonio Rose",

The parade route, which winds around downtown San Antonio, covers approximately five miles. While marching the band will play two special arrangements, "This is My Country", and "How the West Was Won."

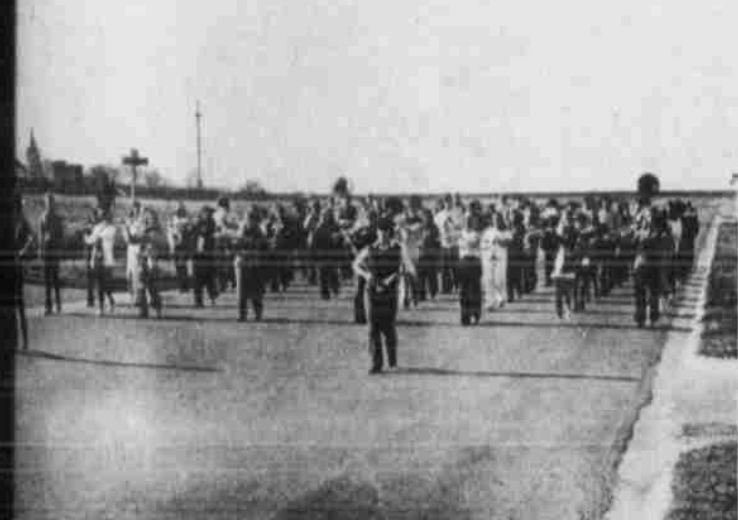

The junior high school band will make a one-day trip to Amarillo to compete in the fifth annual Greater Southwest Music Festival. In competition the band will be playing "Sodermanland Norwegian Folk March" by James D. Ployhar, and "Fantasy for Band" by Frank Erickson. Marijuana Charges Filed On 2 Youth

Two young Littlefield men were charged with possession of marijuana at the county sheriff's office this weekend.

The charges were the second time for such charges to be filed against both of them.

One was on a 10-day in jail probation for serving his jail time. The other entered a not guilty plea to the charges and entered a guilty plea to possession before Judge Bill Angel and received $300 plus court cost.

The officers made three other arrests over the weekend. An Earth man was charged with drunkenness, a Littlefield juvenile was charged with delinquency, and an Amherst resident was charged with disorderly conduct.

An attempted burglary at Fieldton Butane was discovered when an employee entered the front office Sunday evening and scared off someone in the process of piling up hand tools, cutting torches, etc. at the back. The merchandise was ready to load out the back of the building, and the would-be burglar was scared off. Nothing was missing.

Retail Businesses Face Tax Deadline

Comptroller Bob Bullock reminds 225,000 retail businesses that April 30 is the deadline for sending in quarterly sales tax reports.

"It's just around the corner," Bullock said. "Tardy returns mean nothing but trouble to both us and the taxpayer."

Reports due April 30 cover the January-March quarter. Forms for the reports were sent to all sales tax permit holders by Bullock's office in March.

Bullock said that most delinquencies "are strictly oversight—but the consequences are the same."

Voters Approve Amendment One

Voters in Lamb County approved the first constitutional amendment 601 to 531 to upgrade retired school teachers' and state employees' retirement programs, but voted 603 to 507 to keep their legislators' pay where it currently is.

A total of 1,136 Lamb County residents voted in the state-wide election, which Okayed both amendments.

PENNY WALTER will be competing in the District 272 Lions Club Queen Contest in Brownfield Friday and Saturday. Miss Walter is the Littlefield Early Riser Lions Club queen. Sharla Grant is the club queen for the Littlefield Noon Lions Club, but she will not be competing in the district contest because she will be participating in the band marching festival in San Antonio on the same dates.

Truitt Sides Named Officer Of Olton Bank

Former County Judge G. T. "Truitt" Sides has been named trust officer of the newly created trust department of the Olton State Bank. The position is effective May 1.

While the bank is undergoing an expansion program, Sides will be housed in temporary quarters in the bank until building is completed.

Man's Club Gets Historical Tour

Woman's Club meeting Sunday, April 16, Mrs. Tanner, guest speaker, took her for a stroll through a part of her talk, she displayed of pressed glass plates, platters, etc.—all of which were happening in history, and to which she referred from time to time.

Tanner explained that glass is neither cut glass or pressed glass. It is melted and then pressed into already-prepared molds. It is first pressed into a bread plate mold in the form of a shallow dish. The original was sold in 1820. Tanner then began a list of historical facts dating back before there was a nation—days of being colonies, more or less ruled by the hated King, who was interested in money. His rule, in the eyes of the colonist, was that of a tyrant—unjust and cruel. They vigorously fought against their liberties but to no elect and accepted the post without pay.

After the war was over, he presented a bill for $64,000. This congress wanted an instrument in writing that the colonies were no longer English, but American. The year—1775.

To commemorate this meeting, a Signer's Platter was made of pressed glass bearing the names of all the signers from each colony and the Liberty Bell was placed in the center.

The struggle of Washington's disorganized army for eight and one half years against England; winning the war; choosing Washington as the country's first president; and writing a constitution are all familiar to Americans.

In 1812, America found itself again in a war with England, and again it was victorious. It was during that war that the well-known figure of a tall lean man with chin whiskers, wearing a plug hat, blue swallow-tailed coat, and red and white striped pants came to be Uncle Sam.

So the story goes: It seems that there was a man whose name was Elbert Anderson sent all through the country to collect supplies and take them to New York for government inspection. The inspector's name was Sam Wilson, but he was called Uncle Sam. On each box of supplies there would always be the initials E.A. at the top and U.S. at the bottom. At this time, there was some confusion among the people about the meaning of U.S. They had not become accustomed to its meaning United States. One puzzled man inquired the meaning of the initials on the box. Another informed him that E. A. stood for Elbert Anderson and U.S. stood for Uncle Sam. So Uncle Sam became the personification of United States.

Mrs. Tanner said, "In the 1830's there is another interesting historical note, probably not too well known. It pertains to the use of salt. Because it was so heavily taxed, therefore expensive, it was always kept in the kitchen—never placed on the table. Later, when the tax was removed, small dish containers were used, and the salt was placed on the table." She had some of those containers in her pressed glass display. It was in the 1880's before salt was refined enough to come out of a shaker.

"About this same time," Mrs. Tanner said, "a fad sprang up on the proper way to take coffee. That was to use small cup plates placed beside the coffee cup and saucer in which to put the cup after a small amount of coffee had been poured into the saucer to cool, perhaps by blowing lightly on it and then to drink." That was "sauced coffee" and the "in group" were careful to abide by this table etiquette.

In the 1850s, America was a vast wasteland in so far as culture was concerned. Children who received education were sent to European schools. All of the arts were neglected, but the famous P. T. Barnum did something about that. He managed to bring Jenny Lind, the foremost concert artist in Europe, to America, to the amazement of the Europeans because they looked upon the Americans as people who were unable to appreciate any form of art. Miss Lind, the "Swedish Nightingale" was warmly received and sang to huge audiences.

There was a great need for communication between England and the United States so an attempt was made to lay a cable on the ocean floor between the two countries. It was successful.

The next highlight in American history was the Civil War from 1861 to 1865. In many respects it was the biggest war the world had ever known. The war ended; the union was preserved, and after recovering from its great losses, the nation was on its way to becoming a great power. It had been no Eden. It had been tried and found true because it was founded by strong men—men who believed in the rights of human beings—men who believed in God. The United States proclaims this to all the world: In God We Trust.

Hostesses for the club meeting were Mmes: G. M. Nickelson, Harry Phelps, Bruce Porcher, Katherine Rumbach, D. E. Troyer, Guy Willis, and Roy Young.

LETTERS

To The EDITOR

April 15, 1975
To the publisher:

As you know, the controversy and debate over the possible creation of a state utilities commission has heated up in recent weeks. As is to be expected in any controversy, many charges and counter-charges are made and misunderstandings are inevitable.

It has come to my attention that there is some concern about the effect a state commission would have on the amount and type of advertising utility companies would be allowed to run. I want to explain why I feel that some guidelines are necessary and, yet, why I feel that there is no need for concern.

First, under my utility regulation bill (Senate Bill 23), utility companies would be able to advertise as much as they like. The state utility commission, however, would have the authority to disallow the inclusion of some advertising expenses in the expense statement submitted along with a rate increase request. The utility company would be responsible for demonstrating the consumer benefit in any advertisement included with a request for a rate increase. Since currently all advertising expenses are passed along to the consumers in their utility bills, I feel this is a reasonable approach.

This approach is quite similar to the requirements imposed by regulatory commissions in many other states, and where challenged, the courts have upheld this stipulation in the public's interest. Only three weeks ago, for example, the Oklahoma Supreme Court held unanimously that "the Commission may disallow any expenditure for promotional practices or advertising from operating expenses for ratemaking purposes unless the utility establishes such expenditure is demonstrated to be beneficial to all consumers."

In closing, I am convinced that passage of my bill would not greatly alter utility company advertising expenditures. It would help insure that the utility consumer does not have to pay for advertising which is irrelevant to him, and I feel that rather than reducing their advertising budgets, the utility companies would simply be careful to run advertisements which can be demonstrated to be of informational value to their customers.

Senate Bill 23 is not designed to cripple the utility companies or even to significantly alter their operations. It is intended to give the utility customers of Texas confidence that they are receiving the best possible service at reasonable rates applied equitably across the state, and that they are not picking up the tab for unnecessary or extravagant business practices.

Sincerely,

s/Ron Clower

CLIPS & TIPS

By JOELLA LOVVERN

THE HOME GARDENING season is now in full swing throughout Texas. Millions are back at the annual battle with crab grass and insects in the perennial effort to add a touch of natural color and beauty to our Texas scenery.

The Texas Medical Association recommends gardening as a good means of exercise and therapy for almost everyone. But doctors warn that gardening entails some hazards of safety and health, most of which can be avoided.

Yard accidents occur more frequently to amateurs and younger gardeners than to experts or adults. Gardeners who are aware of the potential dangers are less likely to get hurt.

*If you have done nothing more strenuous than sit by the fire most of the winter, by all means take it easy for the first few weekends of gardening. Give your muscles a chance to regain strength gradually, rather than trying to do too much the first day out.

*Gardening sometimes brings cuts and scratches from twigs, thorns, and sharp tools. First aid usually consists of washing the scratch with soap and water and applying adhesive bandage. Let it bleed a little to wash away impurities. Deeper cuts, of course, require medical attention.

*Learn how to recognize poisonous vines and shrubs, so you can avoid them, or root them out.

*Power tools, particularly lawn mowers, are standard equipment for the modern home gardener. Be sure to study the instructions regarding safe usage. If in doubt, check with a mechanic on potential hazards of power tools.

*Insect sprays and powders, plus poisons that kill weeds are useful in garden maintenance, but these also have inherent hazards if improperly or carelessly stored or used. Once again, read the directions, especially the warnings.

*Bees, wasps, and spiders are out for the spring season too. Occasionally one

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Better Thoughts

A BETTER LIFE for you and for me requires "better thoughts", and we should rejoice in the fact that this makes it possible for us to choose the basic quality of life we desire.

Since we have the privilege of choosing the things about which we think; and the things about which we think make our life what it is; we have the privilege to choose the kind of life we live.

WE CAN ACCEPT the unhappy news we hear, and let it become so prominent in our thoughts that we become unhappy. We can listen to the discouraging talk of the people we may meet along the way, and do this until we become discouraged, too.

We can let the skeptical and cynical views we read and hear build up in our thoughts until we become skeptical and cynical.

THE EXPRESSED views or doubt are many, and the felt hopelessness of people is revealed in many ways. Then, the noticeable fault-finding is widespread. We can hear so much of this expressed doubt that we become doubters.

We can be made to feel hopeless by the abundance of hopeless feelings expressed by people. If we pay attention to the fault-finding we hear, we can soon begin to think that nothing is right; and we will likely join the faultfinders.

WE KNOW THAT THESE are realities, but they are not the whole of the life structure. Of course, we can let them become the whole of life; but we must not do this.

We have the right, the unfettered privilege to be active; to choose the things about which we think. There are "better thoughts" and "better thoughts" will bring us a better life for you and for me. Look for better things about which we can think.

"THE PLEASANTEST" things in the world are pleasant thoughts. The great art of life is to have as many of them as possible. -Montaigne

IT MAY BE NECESSARY, then, to deal with some of the realities of life; but it is the greatest of all mistakes to let things dominate and control our thoughts, and thus control our lives.

UNFORTUNATELY, the things that are tyrannically seeking first place in our thoughts. Therefore, we must be making sure that we successfully their inroads; because they are the very threshold of our thoughts and night.

WE DO HAVE the privilege power to choose the things we mastery over our thoughts, are many damaging things identified, which have no demand upon our thinking.

On the other hand, there are desirable, uplifting and helpful things about which we

"BETTER THOUGHTS" better lives.

IT IS WELL WITH MY SOUL

The real test of Christian faith comes when "sorrows like sea billows roll" upon us, all but smothering trust and confidence in God. It came to Horatio G. Spafford, Chicago lawyer, when the great Chicago conflagration of 1871 swept away all his material possessions and when, two years later, his four children were drowned in a shipwreck while crossing the ocean with Mrs. Spafford.

But Mr. Spafford, the author of "It is Well With My Soul," kept his faith in the face of the heart-wrenching sorrow that might easily have overwhelmed him. When, after being miraculously rescued from the sea, Mrs. Spafford cabled the tragic news, "Saved alone!" he sought comfort in his religion, and to give expression to his undiminished trust in God he wrote the hymn which has proved a balm to so many souls in deep trouble.

When peace, like a river attendeth my way,
When sorrows like sea billows roll;
Whatever my lot, Thou hast taught me to say,
It is well, it is well with my soul.

Though Satan should buffet, tho' trials should come,
Let this blest assurance control,
That Christ hath regarded my helpless estate,
And hath shed His own blood for my soul.

And, Lord, haste the day when the faith shall be sight,
The clouds be rolled back as a scroll,
The trumpet shall resound and the Lord shall descend,
Even so—it is well with my soul.

By JIM D. KUYKENDALL
Asst. County Extension Agent
Spring lawn mowing will soon be here, and with it will come numerous accidents unless certain precautions are taken.

Here are a few points to keep in mind for the safe operation of a lawn mower:

1. Always wear leather shoes and long pants while mowing the yard.
2. Remove any rocks, sticks, toys or other objects in the yard before mowing.
3. Keep children and pets out of the yard while it is being mowed.
4. Don't mow grass if it's wet as it can damage the grass and clog the mower blade and discharge chute.
5. Always mow slopes sideways. It makes mowing

'Road Scholars' Comp

For State Champions

For the first time since the Plymouth Trouble Shooting contest became a national event 13 years ago, Littlefield High School "Road Scholars" could be competing for the state championship of Texas on May 8th in Austin.

Winners of the state contest will receive all-expense-paid trips to Detroit, where champions from all 50 states will be seeking college scholarships and other valuable prizes in the National Trouble Shooting Finals June 16, 17 and 18.

The "Road Scholars" are student auto mechanics from high schools throughout the state. They were selected by their auto shop instructors to represent the schools in this unique test of mechanical skill and classroom knowledge.

In addition to being stars of the classroom, they had to score high grade in a state-wide examination on auto mechanics in competition with teams from other schools in the state to qualify for the mechanical competition. At the state contest their challenge will be to deliberately hide new cars to keep starting or operating. The time it takes each solve the mechanical quality of work combined with the scored on the examination, determine states champions. Each consists of two students are "bugged" identical

Agent Gives Techniques On Antiquing

Used and unfinished furniture often looks better antiqued or frosted, rather than just stained. Both techniques are easy enough to apply, according to Mrs. Dorothy Powell, County Extension Agent.

The antiquing and frosting processes both begin with a completely dry enameled piece of furniture.

Then prepare a mixture of three tablespoons turpentine, one tablespoon varnish and one teaspoon of oil color. Choose dark oil colors such as raw umber or black if the furniture is to be antiqued. White oil or any colored primer or enamel will give a frosted look.

Apply the turpentine-varnish-oil color mixture with a paint brush, an old hose, cheesecloth, or crumpled paper. Work from the center of the surface to the edges, finishing small sections at a time, she advised.

After the varnish dries, rub the antiqued or frosted furniture with 0000 rated steel wool.

Co-Op Manager Supports Program

Realizing that the greatest need for rural America today is to keep its young people interested in the benefits of rural life, T. W. Bryson, manager of the Littlefield Farmers Co-op Gin, has indicated his support for an educational program to aid rural youth in choosing a career.

The educational program is called "Careers In Cooperatives." It is designed to generate interest, provide placement, and training for youth seeking a local cooperative career in the exciting field of agribusiness. Bryson said, "Our approach in the past has been to seek out and hire well-qualified employees after they finish school. Today the competition for personnel is greater, and we must interest young people in a cooperative career, before they finish high school or enter college."

"We are cooperating with our area junior colleges and universities in a career curriculum which will help solve our manpower needs. We are working with high school guidance counselors and the directors of curriculum for our junior colleges and universities, and are emphasizing to each youth that we talk to that at any point in his or her schooling, there is a place for that person in our local cooperative. At the high school level, we are encouraging students to follow a general business curriculum. If that youth does not want to continue his or her schooling past high school, he or she can begin a cooperative career,

Bryson said.

At the junior college or university level, a student may follow the cooperative careers curriculum for one or two years or more. Following the first year a student will take a field study in a local cooperative under the supervision of their school and regional cooperative.

Bryson continued, "This will give both on-the-job training for co-op development and also help the student determine whether he or she wants to continue his co-op program. The same situation occurs at the end of the second year. In addition to earning college credits, the student will be earning funds to support his or her education. At the conclusion of the two years, the student may elect to enter his co-op career or continue to a four-year college for further education."

The curriculum being stressed at the junior college level is a general agribusiness one. The first year it consists of 34 hours of credit including agribusiness math, principles of plant science, chemistry, economics, business communications, writing, personal finance, principles of animal science, accounting, and soils and fertilizer. The second year's courses include agri-business marketing, human relations, speech, business control, ag chemicals, principles of livestock nutrition, elevator and feed mill technology, cooperative grain marketing, business organizations, and agribusiness law.

"After two years of post high school study, we think we will have students who will be qualified to be branch managers, office managers, and the like. They will have shown their interest in going to work for a co-op.

"We would like to stress that youth who might be interested in pursuing a 'Careers In Cooperative' Program contact me at our co-op office first, and then call the junior college or university nearby. Further information can also be received from Producers Grain Corporation, P. O. Box 111, Amarillo, TX 79105."

SPRINGLAKE

STUDENTS INDUCTED into National Honor Society Monday evening at Springlake-Earth Parents Teachers Association meeting were Cindy Robinson and Karen Smith, juniors, and Dickie Brown, Kim Clayton, Rodney Geissler, Craig Holland, Toni Inglis, Kim Jones, Kirk O'Hair, Isabella Saucedo and Debbie Verden, all sophomores.

The induction ceremony was directed by Bill Anderson, sponsor of N.H.S. The Industrial Arts Class presented the program and displayed projects made in the class which is taught by Jesse Green.

MR. AND MRS. James Packard of Springlake recently stayed some two weeks in Honolulu, Hawaii, with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Haberer who have now established residence in Springlake after living in Honolulu several months. The Packards toured the "Arizona" monument and the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific where are interned soldiers killed during World War II, the Korean Incident and the Vietnam conflict. They found records kept of the individual graves. They saw the trained whales and other sea animals at Sea Life Park where is located the world's largest oceanac research center. The local couples went to Paradise Park which they describe as being an overgrown jungle with its bamboo trees and abundant foliage surrounding demonstration of cultures from Samoa, Maori, Fiji Islands, Tahiti, Hawaii and Tonga at Polynesian Center. Other points of interest were National Market place displaying products of the South Pacific, the Dole pineapple building, and fields of sugar cane and pineapple. The Packards were astounded to learn Hawaiian language has only twelve letters, five vowels and seven consonants.

WARNER HYBRIDS

WARNER SEED CO. introduces another fine grain hybrid-WARNER W-832. W-832 is bred upon the good strong stalk of the ever popular W-839. W-832 also has the heat and water stress tolerance of W-839 built in. The large semi-compact heads of W-832, with their light, red-dish brown berries, produce high test weight grain. W-832 has the marks of a great producer with its long wide leaves, that characterize all heavy producing grain hybrids. An abundant leaf area not only makes for higher yields, but also preserves water, and prevents weed growth by shading the ground. W-832 is another winner from WARNER SEED CO., your "full line" quality seedsmen for the Golden Sward.
