

Two Charged In Thefts At Area Grain Elevators

LAMB COUNTY JUDGE G. T. Sides signed a proclamation here Thursday designating "3.76 in '76 Week" for Lamb County. County Agricultural Agent Buddy Logsdon, left, and W. T. Hall Jr. of Olton, chairman of the County Program Building Committee, look on.

Large Ring Suspected, More Arrests Probable

Two Littlefield men were arrested by Hereford sheriff's officers Monday and charged with grain theft that the Deaf Smith officers said they believed is linked with a group of victimized grain elevator operators in this area and adjoining states that have lost more than a million dollars in grain in the past eight years.

The suspects are Roy (Chip) Stewart, 30, and Wayne Richard Vaughn, 21, both Littlefield residents. They were specifically charged with the recent theft of an estimated $5,300 of grain from the Farmers' Corner Elevator, located between Hereford and Vega on U. S. 385. Officers added that these two are being studied for the possibility that clues into a large-scale interstate operation that may come forth, also.

Stewart and Vaughn were the drivers of two trucks that were stopped by Deaf Smith sheriff's officers within the last month. Deputy Harold Wheeler said the two semi truck tractors involved are owned by Gene Mixon Trucking of Littlefield and Bob Hughes of Lubbock and Englewood, Colo.

"There is no telling how much they have gotten over the past eight years," said Deputy Wheeler, who led the Hereford investigation. "I would say that $100,000 a year wouldn't even touch it."

The Deaf Smith sheriff's office requested help from the Texas Rangers. McPherson said the Texas Rangers have been working on a number of grain theft cases over the past few years that, including this one, are all believed to be connected with a large theft operation.

Wheeler said reports of grain stolen from Dumas, Mineral Wells, Sterling City, Colo., and other surrounding towns are believed to be connected with the same theft operation.

Wheeler said one elevator reported the loss of about two million pounds of grain and that authorities "think this is where it went."

After warrants were issued Monday, Lamb County Sheriff E. D. McNeese served papers on Vaughn late Monday night and Vaughn was taken back to Hereford by Deaf Smith Sheriff Travis McPherson. McNeese said Stewart came in Tuesday morning and appeared before Justice of Peace Stanley Doss. Bond was first set at $10,000 on each of the men, but was reduced to $2,000 each.

The arrests of the Littlefield men came about three weeks after Hereford sheriff's office authorities became involved in the case. McPherson said a traveler was passing the Farmers' Corner Elevator on the night of Dec. 30 and saw a large truck stopped at the elevator. Suspecting that someone was stealing grain, the passerby notified the Hereford police department. Officers stopped the truck, questioned the driver and let the truck continue.

The truck had Colorado license plates that were later reported stolen off a pickup in that state.

On Tuesday, Jan. 12, some persons apparently attempted to steal another truck load of grain from the elevator. McPherson said, but when they pulled their truck under the hopper, the air conditioner on top of the cab wedged and the truck was stuck under the bin.

McPherson said they apparently went after another truck and returned and pulled the stuck truck away from the bin. The first truck was moved about 100 yards down the road and abandoned, because in the attempt to get it out, the drive shaft of the truck was twisted so that it left the truck inoperable.

After discovering the attempted theft, Hereford officers put a surveillance on the abandoned truck. A check to determine the owner showed that Stewart and Vaughn had leased the vehicle from the Littlefield trucking firm, Wheeler said.

When no one attempted to get the truck after five days, officers impounded the truck-tractor semi and prepared warrants for the arrests of Vaughn and Stewart.

Wheeler said the two men are believed to have taken as much as 240,000 pounds of grain from the one bin at Farmers' Corner. The exact amount of grain taken will not be known until the bin is emptied about Wednesday of this week, but the estimated value of the stolen grain was about $5,300.

Wheeler said Deaf Smith sheriff's officers and Texas Rangers will consult with the district attorney before any more arrests are made, but added that several more arrests will probably be made this week.

Rep. Bill Clayton Is House Chairman

House Speaker Gus F. Mutscher has announced the appointment of State Representative Bill Clayton of Springlake as Chairman of the House Committee on Counties.

The Springlake representative is one of only five House Members who will serve as both a Chairman and a Vice Chairman of House Standing Committees. The Committee on Banks and Banking will have Clayton as its Vice Chairman.

Mutscher said that the 8-year veteran member will return to two committees on which he served last session: State Affairs and Conservation and Reclamation. He has also been asked to serve on the Rules Committee.

The 21-member Counties Committee has jurisdiction over all matters relating to Counties, their creation, organization, boundaries, government and finances, and the compensation and duties of their officers.

MOTHERS' MARCH chairman for the March of Dimes Drive, Mrs. James Walker, and her three-year-old daughter Kynda, discuss a pamphlet on birth defects prevention. Funds are being sought to support the research on prevention of birth defects, during a drive here Monday night.

Mothers Slate Dimes March

Approximately 100 Littlefield Mothers will march throughout the streets of Littlefield Monday, Jan. 25, beginning in the afternoon, to make their annual appeal for funds for the March of Dimes.

The annual January fund-raising appeal for prevention and treatment of birth defects will be headed in Lamb County by Mrs. Addie L. Abernathy, chairman of the county chapter of the National Foundation of the March of Dimes.

The mothers will be wearing their March of Dimes identification tags, according to Mrs. Vada Walker, Mothers' March chairman.

Funds solicited by the mothers go to aid in research, education, patient care and community services.

Birth defects are the main concern of the Foundation at present--as the polio problem has nearly been solved.

Facts concerned with the birth defects problem include prenatal care, genetic counseling, Rh blood disease serum, Rubella vaccine, taking of unapproved drugs, and sensible eating.

City Buys Striping Machine, To Update Telephone System

Littlefield city councilmen accepted the $785 bid from Associated Supply of Lubbock for a paint striping machine for the city street department, and decided to update the telephone system at the city hall, during their regular business session here Thursday night.

Only one bid for the paint striping machine was submitted, and councilmen felt the bid was acceptable.

City Manager Pat Bradley compared the present telephone system and its shortcomings with an updated system, whereby more lines could be utilized at very little additional cost. He informed the councilmen that the present system was costing General Telephone Company a considerable amount in upkeep.

Bradley also mentioned possibilities of installing a power failure detector at the sewage plant, in connection with the telephone system. The detector would turn on a light or set off a buzzer at city hall, informing of any power failure at the plant, and warning of possible sludge build-up.

In other matters of business, councilmen: 1. Heard A.D. Ward present a proposal to relocate City Wrecking Yard. They advised him that a public hearing would be held at city hall Feb. 18, concerning the matter.

2. Heard Jarrell Giles present a proposal to relocate his auto wrecking yard where City Wrecking Yard was located. Councilmen also advised him that a public hearing would be held Feb. 18.

3. Heard Neil Wood and Bob Roden discuss a problem with their 1970 ad valorem taxes. They advised them to contact the tax equalization board.

4. Heard Dutch Wildinson discuss a proposal of M&M Air Service to lease space at the airport for operation of their agricultural spray service. Councilmen decided to check into the matter and get further information before making a decision.

5. Considered changing the consumption period for water irrigation rates during the summer, but decided to leave the period set at April 1 to the last of September.

6. Decided to delete certain personal property from the 1970 tax roll.

7. Decided to take bids for disposing of junk property; and

8. Discussed the tax assessor-collector and city secretary vacancy.

Use Right Drop On All Mailings

The Littlefield Post Office has expanded their services to include a later mail pickup and dispatch of mail to benefit customers.

In turn, George Thompson, acting postmaster, is urging everyone to use complete addresses. This includes the post office box number or street address, the name of town, and zip codes on all mail, even that mailed in Littlefield to Littlefield addresses.

The word "City" should not be used, but rather Littlefield for in-town mail.

"In some instances customers mail local mail in the out-of-town box," Thompson said, "and many times this mail will have a street address, but be addressed only as 'City'. This mail goes to the sectional center in Lubbock and in turn they must try to identify the city for which this mail was intended."

The two drop boxes on the south of the Post office are for the convenience of customers. But to insure the delivery of mail, postal employees ask co-operation on the use of complete addresses and the placing of out-of-town mail and local mail in their respective boxes.

1976 Farm Income Estimated At $44,734,000

Income to farmers and ranchers in Lamb County should be more than $44,734,000 by the end of 1976, according to C. Logsdon, county agricultural agent.

There will be an increase of more than $1,000,000 from 1968-69 figures with cotton and livestock contributing a large part of the gain.

The projections are based on studies of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and are part of the "3.76 in '76" program, a state-wide project to increase Texas agricultural cash receipts by more than one billion dollars.

Total receipts from all agricultural enterprises in Lamb County are presently about $34,020,000, says Logsdon.

The most important ones are cotton, grain sorghum, corn and livestock. They are expected to account for about 90 percent of the projected 1976 totals.

The county will be aided in its production efforts by the South Plains Development Program (SPD).

The projections are based on estimates from the County Program Building Committee; after separate predictions were made by Extension economists. The figures were published for each county, Extension district and economic area in Texas.

"Lamb County producers will have access to production information and techniques that can help spell success for the Texas goal of $3.76 billion in 1976," says Logsdon.

Lamb County Families Keep On The Move

Many Lamb County residents were among the 40 million Americans who changed their home addresses in the past year.

Often do local people move, compared with those in other areas?

According to statistics compiled by the Department of Commerce and others, 20 percent of the families in the United States move in any one year. That has remained fairly constant over the past 20 years.

For residents of Lamb County, past statistics indicate that they do more moving than those in most parts of the country.

The latest available figures relating to local population show the changes that took place in a period of five years. Some 10,291 residents were found to have moved at least once during that time.

Of this number, 6,172 remained in the area, switching to different addresses within the county. The other 4,119 were people who arrived from other sections to take up local residence.

No data is given, however, on the number who moved to other parts of the country. The latest census figures on mobility, not yet available, are expected to show this.

The pattern of change reveals, for Lamb County, approximately 54 out of every 100 residents living at different locations after five years.

As to how this compares with the amount of moving done by people in other areas, the average number of changes throughout the United States as a whole was 47 out of every 100.

In the West South Central States the ratio was 51 per 100 and, in the State of Texas, 52.

What impels people to move from one place to another? For the most part, the surveys indicate, the reasons are social and economic.

Sometimes it is because the family has grown in number and needs more space. Or the children have married and left home, leading the parents to seek smaller quarters.

Frequently a family's income rises to the point that it is able to afford a better home in a fancier section, so a move is in order.

Among the most mobile people are the young adults, especially those without jobs and those recently married, it is found.

DAVID HAMBLIN has his tickets ready for the Chamber of Commerce Banquet here Friday night, and will be serving as master of ceremonies. Extra tickets are still available at the C-C office. Meeting place for the 7:30 event has been changed from the High School cafeteria to the Junior High School cafeteria.

Giles' Sentence Light, Probated

Arrel M. Giles, 44, of Littlefield appeared before Judge Edwin Boedecker Tuesday afternoon in County Court at Law in Lubbock and entered a guilty plea to negligent homicide charges.

Judge Boedecker sentenced Giles to 30 days in jail, probated for 18 months.

Giles was charged in the death of Finis Jordan in an auto-pedestrian accident near Roundup when the two men were returning from Lubbock in two cars. Giles struck Jordan with his car when he went back to help Jordan after his car had a minor trouble.

Art Exhibition Scheduled Here

Exhibition of fine art is no exclusively the of the large com- evidenced by the sday morning, Jan. exhibition at the ate Bank in Lit- 903, arranged by ollector Gallery of roach and all the traditional regalia. He was richly endowed with unquestionable honor which was handed down from his ancestors and which the white man's civilization could not strip from him.

Appreciation for his heritage has inspired Jim to immortalize his people and his era in the medium of bronze sculpture. The art he is devoting his life to and sharing with you is that of the warm, human, family situations—a bashful cowboy's courtship, a father's pride in his firstborn, the honor is a man's handshake, horses and cattle drowsing in the friendly sun.

Jim's teachers still remain the smell of a sweaty horse, bluestem grass waving in the wind, the warm clasp of a calloused hand, the lusty bellow of a calf at branding time, the aroma of hot apple pie,—and all the great and little things which shape a man's destiny.

The exhibition and lecture will be a one-day affair, and visitors are urged to view this exhibition of "Western Heritage" at Security State Bank in Littlefield.

Marijuana

WALL STREET scuttler says some cigarette manufacturers are already geared up that they are awaiting only a legislative green light to make and market in your corner store marijuana cigarettes.

Will marijuana cigarettes soon become as readily available as Luckies and Camels and Winstons are now? The trend is in that direction.

UNDERSTAND, I am not recommending legalizing marijuana. I am opposed to the passage of any drug, whether heroin or aspirin. I do not smoke anything.

But sitting and waiting accumulating evidence is leading me to the conclusion that a more general acceptance and use of marijuana is inevitable.

THERE IS NO CONSENSUS on this subject. There is no conclusive evidence adequate either to indict or exonerate marijuana. But the most recent research—most of it relating to marijuana—concludes that marijuana does not produce physical dependency in users.

Long-range effects there is no way yet to anticipate.

BUT THE POT-SMOKERS who have insisted it's no worse than alcohol may be right.

The vulnerability of that defense, however, is that alcohol kills a mighty lot of people every year.

In 1967, 21 per cent of Stanford's students had tried marijuana; now 68 per cent of them have.

A SURVEY in the campuses of four separate medical schools shows one-fourth of tomorrow's doctors has tried it.

one-in-10 is a regular user. Even our Army's conservative gossamerite is that more than half of our troops in Vietnam have tried it; one-in-six is now a regular user.

POP MUSICIANS are credited with popularizing pot among school-agers, but sons and daughters of prominent persons have been arrested for possession or use. Sen. McGovern's daughter and Jess (Burr) Clark's son, Sen. Cranston's son and actor Robert Taylor's stepdaughter, Jackie Robinson's son and Art Linkletter's daughter, Frank Gifford's son and Tennessee Ernie Ford's son and Henry Ford's son and Lana Turner's daughter. And any of those—such as Art Linkletter and Jackie Robinson—who have used the smoking of grass lead to use of harder stuff are dead-set against legalizing it.

A RESEARCH PAPER prepared for the American Psychiatric Assn. concludes that almost inevitable a heavy marijuana smoker will "graduate" to the use of some harder drug.

Part of the problem in researching the effects of marijuana derives from the nature of the weed itself. It varies in potency from plant to plant, from country to country.

OUR ENLIGHTENED young are well aware of the contradictions and uncertainties relating to this subject and are resentful of and alienated by dogmatic declarations which they know presently to be unproved.

Their intelligence may be their salvation. While experimentation with marijuana admittedly is increasing, two-thirds of the college-agers who have tried it used it no more than a dozen times.

Citizenship

CIVIC DUTY ALWAYS requires some individual effort.

A good citizen does not deadbeat in a democratic society; he shoulders the responsibilities of freedom.

Today, however, unless a citizen has an extraordinary abundance of civic pride and loyalty, he may occasionally feel inclined to throw up his hands in disgust where some civic obligations are concerned. For instance, a witness or victim involved in court proceedings in some jurisdictions may be subjected to such callous, indifferent, or berating treatment that he comes away bewildered and thoroughly disgusted with our judicial machinery, his sense of fair play and justice shattered.

THE PUBLIC IS ALWAYS urged to fulfill its obligations of citizenship, but sometimes this is difficult. For example, a woman, the victim of an alleged robbery and assault, dutifully answers a subpoena, officially reports to court at the appointed time, waits uneasily for a half day in the same crowded witness room with the accused, only to learn that the case is dismissed because "she didn't show up to testify."

A person whose car has been smashed by another vehicle driven by a teenager, reportedly too young for an operator's permit, repeatedly takes leave from his job to answer summonses to juvenile hearings only to find on each occasion the accused has ignored his summons and court officials apparently have made no serious effort to have him present. Only after the complainant's strong protest to the juvenile judge was the defendant finally brought into court and the matter resolved.

At times, when people come forward as witnesses to testify in court, some jurists permit defense counsels to browbeat and intimidate them—including law enforcement officers—until it questionable as to who is on trial.

MOST CITIZENS are ready to do their civic duty, but they do not expect to be mistreated or exoriated while doing so. Those so abused may be reluctant to volunteer their services in the future.

I say it is time for our courts to reevaluate the vital role of witnesses and victims in our judicial processes. True, the lack of administrative personnel, inadequate funds, case overloads, voluminous paper work, and a myriad of other problems disrupt the smooth operations of the courts.

Most court administrators are aware of these conditions and are striving to apply corrective measures. However, I do not feel these conditions can be offered as an excuse for the indignities suffered by some victims and witnesses. I believe much of the trouble stems from the overabundance of concern for the accused. Certainly, all rights of the accused should be observed, but his rights only extend to where the individual rights of others begin—even in court.

I DO NOT WANT to minimize, in any manner, the progress and advancement occurring in many legal jurisdictions today.

Vigorous new leadership in our high courts, broad procedural changes, and extensive administrative reorganization should move the cause of justice forward with new purpose.

THOSE ENTRUSTED with serving the law in our courtrooms should be certain the umbrella of justice covers all.

Prosecutors must maintain a high standard of preparedness; they must insure that the right of victims and witnesses are respected.

The courts must make certain that citizens who serve as witnesses or complainants, usually at considerable personal sacrifice, do not lose respect for our system of justice. A definite commitment to equal justice for the dutiful citizen must be reestablished.

After all, simple courtesy and respect are not too much to ask for those who try to do their civic duty.

THE PHILOSOPHER

Keep Eating!

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm must be kidding this week, but it's sometimes hard to tell who!

Dear editor:

For a long time now I've been noticing in all the newspapers that turn up out here on this Johnson grass farm one article after another reporting that this brand of breakfast food or that brand of fish or such-and-such a soft drink has been analyzed by government chemists and ought to be discontinued.

Either they don't have enough nutrition, or they have too much mercury or they're hard on rats, the chemists report, which unfortunately are all sound reasons.

Moreover, just yesterday I read that the head of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration reported that his chemists, after a two-year study and analysis, have found that only about one out of five drugs totally lived up to their advertised effectiveness to relieve symptoms or cure diseases.

Also, as you know, there's a move on to ban scores of pesticides used by farmers, as chemists have found traces of the stuff in fish caught a hundred miles away. In fact, if the chemists keep on with their banning things, before long we won't be anything left to eat.

Clearly, the only solution to this is to ban chemists.

Such a solution reminds me of a fellow I know whose wife, swept up by the decided to have their water well drilled. "Whatta you want to test it for?" he complained. "Nothing wrong with it. We've been drinking out of it for years, raised our kid and half the town's kids on it, and everybody's got good health."

"Makes no difference," she said, "I want it tested."

He took a sample and sent it to the department laboratory and a few days later the report came back: "Unfit for human consumption."

"That sure taught me a lesson," as he turned on a faucet and took a drink of water, "I'll never have it tested again."

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Handle With Care

By BOB WEAR

"I DON'T CARE" is not an uncommon reply when efforts are made to encourage someone to do better with his life.

This is a terrible attitude to have toward life. If we are indifferent and unconcerned, we are reckless and wasteful with life. Those "don't care" people are negligent and slovenly.

They are often lazy and slipshod. Many of them are untidy in dress and person.

SOME PEOPLE CARE about some parts of life and handle these parts with care. Some care about the body, but not about the soul.

Some care about the length of life, but not about the quality of life. Some care about what they have, but not about what they are. Some care about how they look, but not about how they act.

ANY CARELESSNESS is too much carelessness, because life is too important to be careless about any part of it.

The loss is too great. All of life must be considered, and always handled with care. When we refuse to do so, we devalue life and disregard the accompanying responsibilities.

CONTEMPT FOR LIFE finds easy expression through negligence and recklessness. "I am one whom the vile blows and buffets of the world have so assailed that I am reckless what I do to spite the world."—Shakespeare.

This is the wrong response to the adverse experiences of living. There is never any justification for misusing and abusing life.

DESPERATION ENFOLDs the life view of too many people, and dissipates the spirit of caring.

These people become some of the worst abusers of life.

In their surrender to misery and despair, they turn from carefulness and wise concern to rashness and abandonment.

"BEWARE OF desperate steps; the darkest day, lived till tomorrow, will have passed away."—Cowper.

Our Creator expects us to handle life with care. Life is just not life unless it is handled with wise concern, and used with the greatest possible degree of diligence. This is what makes life worthwhile. It makes life worth the living. This is as it should be, because life is valuable; much too valuable to misuse, abuse and neglect.

"THE EARNESTNESS of life is the only passport to the satisfaction of life."—Parker.

Being serious about life is thought, by many, to be one of the most undesirable feelings we can have. This faulty view equates seriousness with gloom, and sadness, and pessimism.

The truth is that a wholesomely serious view of life is the only source of good cheer and happiness, and hope. This is the view, and the only view which enables us to handle life with care.

THE LAW OF SOWING and reaping is more than sufficient reason for handling life with care. If we are careless with life, there are very unpleasant consequences which seem to have a way of piling up.

There is now way of escape. On the other hand, when we are wholesomely careful with life, there will be the kind of reaping that enriches and enhances the experiences of living.

HANDLING LIFE with care we are cooperating with our Creator, and doing the very best for ourselves and for others.

HONNY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

PARDON ME if I am less than an enthusiastic supporter of Mr. Preston Smith. Somehow I just haven't developed the unrestrained admiration for his statesmanship that I really should.

IT'S KINDA like Mr. Flip Wilson. Believe me, I was trying to "Aig myself into trying to enjoy his "Peculiar" sense of humor.—That is, he overtook some of his vulgarities, or, trying to pretend they weren't there.

But, slack and, alas! What does he do but start trying to cram the "Honorable" Cassius Clay down my throat! Soul Brother, or not, it just didn't take!

BUT, BACK to the Governor: I was less than overwhelmed with his display of practicality in his attempted dispatch of the state welfare problem.

Maybe it was because I was busy trying to brace up for a new onslaught of taxation from the State level. It's kinda like a kid blowing on a balloon. About the time he gets it to size, the thing bursts!

ANYWAY, his solution to the problem is quite simple. "Let Uncle do it!"—I should take care of my financial problems, so easily!

Truly, this would make the state administration look great. Imagine, going through a term in office, and not having to raise taxes!

One thing I'm sure of, it'll cost more money to handle our welfare expenditures through the Federals than it will on the state level. And, besides, this puts the command post too far from the action!

OUR POLITICIANS are strong "States-Righters" until an unpleasant task comes up. Then, more than willing for dear of Link to take over.

Makes no difference which agency does the job, it'll be the same of taxpayer footing the bill! I, for one, would like to see our business taken care of as close to the house as possible.

MR. NIXON, on the other hand, could make a sizable showing toward balancing the Federal budget, if he could just get the States to take over the entire welfare program! The guy that balances THAT budget, will REALLY be a hero!

Anyho-o-o-o, Mr. Smith, I suggest you face up to your problem and quit tryin' to pass the buck!

A WOMAN'S VIEW

Nothing New

By PEARL BRANDON

ONCE A WRITER sat down to write, but no words came. She seemed all dry and stale inside with nothing to offer.

THEN SHE looked out on the bright outside world, the sun was still shining and the soft wind was blowing. Surely nothing had changed in God's universe. "Only I have changed," she thought.

WHY ARE some day like this? That writer is me. Here I sit all tight and empty inside trying to strain out a few words for someone else to read, when I have nothing to say.

I THINK if the Lord wants me to write, He should at least give me something to write about. I'd like a clean, new subject. Something that hasn't already been beaten to death by all the other writers in the country.

ISN'T THERE anything new under the sun? Ecclesiastes says there isn't. Just the same old hurts, same old aches and pains, same old weather—who wants to hear about them?

COME TO THINK of it, there are a lot of nice things too, that are still the same. Maybe I should look around for a happy subject.

AS I SAID, the sun is still shining and the wind is still blowing softly. I still live in America, this wonderful country of ours.

I AM STILL ABLE to eat more than I should, and even though I have lost most of my hair, I have a brand new wig to cover my bald head.

I guess I have more to be thankful for than I thought I had. Thank God for wigs!

THEY SAY there is a "sweet for every bitter." But sometimes we are enjoying the bitter so much we don't have time for the sweet.

Life goes on about the same for everybody, I guess, whether they are rich or poor, according to this poem I read. "The king in a carriage may ride, And the beggar may crawl at his side; But in the general race They travel about the same pace."—Fitzgerald.

I'll see you next week the Lord willing.

CUT CORNERS

The major factors which influence the cost of producing a 220 pound market hog are fixed costs, feed efficiency, cost of grain and number of pigs marketed per year per sow, says Bill Thomas, Extension swine specialist. Good records and corner-cutting on production costs will help make the hog enterprise more profitable, he notes.

HOG NUMBERS UP

Texas hogs and pigs of all ages on hand on Dec. 1, 1970 totaled 1,419,000 head, or 10 percent from a year earlier, reports Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. The June-Nov. 1970 pig crop was up 43 percent. Nationally, hog and pig numbers were up 19 percent and the Jan. Nov. 1970 pig crop was up by 18 percent.

Grain Sorghum Producers Sees Price Support Upped

"The Grain Sorghum Producers Association has done it again," reported T. W. Bryson of Littlefield Farmer Co-Op Elevator, a local representative of the organization.

The legislative action of relating grain sorghum to corn on a nutritional value has given millions of dollars of farm income protection to the grain sorghum producers of the United States.

While many areas of farm income were being lowered by the provisions of the new farm bill, the total loan and price support payments were raised from $2.14 per hundred weight in 1970 to $2.25 per hundred weight for 1971.

This is an increase of 11 cents per hundred weight income protection on all grain grown. Grain sorghum is now related at 92 per cent of the nutritional value of corn, and tests are being conducted to substantiate that the nutritional value is at least 95 per cent or greater than that of corn.

This would mean an additional 8 cents per hundred weight income protection for all grain sorghum grown.

The production year of 1969 saw 16.8 per cent of all grain sorghum grown go into export markets as cash sales. This means that 16.8 per cent of the producer's income is derived directly from export markets, which removes this much grain from the local market condition.

This additional grain could have a depressing factor upon local prices. Export markets pay well to our local producers, and milo producers must see that these markets are maintained and enlarged. The Grain Sorghum Producers Association, since its organization in 1956, has been the recognized spokesman for grain producers.

It has seen national production go from 22 bushels per acre to a high of 65 bushels per acre, which demanded new markets, and these markets were found in the local feeding and export industry.

Grain sorghum sales exceed $200,000,000 in this area each year and is now the largest acreage and cash crop in the area.

Producers in each county are elected and serve on the board in making policy decisions and giving directions. Their efforts have paid big dividends for the producers of this area. Administrative decisions are being made each day that affects the income of each grain sorghum producer.

GSPA must meet with leaders on all levels to get the best possible deal for the producer. Many producers have overlooked the opportunity to support this commodity with their membership dues.

HARMONY

That means good music. And good music is the result of hours and hours of painstaking, disciplined practice--learning how to properly mix concordances with discords. It takes the proper mixture of both to produce the ensemble.

It is that way with the beautiful life, too. It requires continuous effort and application. A lot of doing is necessary ---social service, church attendance and support, a love for God and much prayer. Compare the music of the beginning musician with that of the concert performer. Then one can understand there is much work to be done in the middle of a discordant world.

The Church and You can create soul-stirring music from worldly discords. It is called harmony in the church.

Rep. Bill Clayton Returns From Conflab

State Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake has just returned from a two-day meeting with other state legislators in Washington, D. C., on programs and problems requiring effective working relationships between state officials and the federal government. Rep. Clayton served with 65 other state legislators from 37 States on the National Legislative Conference's Intergovernmental Relations Committee which met on Friday and Saturday, Jan. 8 and 9, with Congressional and Administration officials. As chairman of the Committee's Task Force on Natural Resources, Clayton spent considerable time working with federal and state officials on programs affecting conservation, resources management, air and water quality, and other aspects of environmental control of importance to the States. Give-and-take discussions were conducted between Task Force members and representatives of the Federal Council on Environmental Quality, and the Environmental Protection Agency.

The Intergovernmental Relations Committee is a vehicle by which state legislators actively contribute to federal decisions having a state impact. The Committee formulates legislators' views on significant federal-state issues, and then communicates them through testimony and informal contacts to congressional committees and federal agencies.

Upon returning, Rep. Clayton noted that "because of the complexity and nature of problems facing this Nation, all levels of government must take an active part in their solution." He called for a continued reshaping of the governmental process, specifically the added perspective and increased involvement by representative groups of state legislators such as the Intergovernmental Relations Committee.

Priority issues considered by the full Committee included urban affairs, government operations, human resources, public safety, natural resources, and commerce and transportation.

The speaker at a closed luncheon session was William D. Ruckelshaus who recently was appointed administrator of the newly-created Environmental Protection Agency. He discussed his agency's efforts to enforce air and water quality control standards and related cooperation with state officials. Policy positions developed by the Committee will be reported in August to the annual meeting of the National Legislative Conference. The National Legislative Conference is an association of all state legislators and legislative service personnel of the fifty States.

Officers from the Woodman Court and Woodman Camp have now taken on their new responsibilities. State Manager Hoyt Davis of Abilene, to the left foreground, was guest speaker for the event.
