Top Moisture Good, But Soil Temps Cool

Temperature is down and moisture over the Littlefield and Lamb area. Extremes of weather the last two days have farmers their ups and downs. Those who had already planted are in the dumps due to the cold, weather setting crops back. Those who haven't yet planted are up over the added moisture.

with an average of two inches of rain thus far this month.

Only a small percentage of cotton and grain sorghum acreage had been planted in Lamb County and northern Hockley County before the cold, cloudy, wet weather enveloped the Plains Saturday.

Very little cotton has been planted in the immediate Littlefield area, according to B. T. Kisner at the Soil Conservation Service office. Kisner said some farmers started planting grain last week, and "now are wishing they hadn't".

SOIL TEMPERATURES last week reached 60-62 degrees but dropped to a 10-day average of 57 by the middle of this week. According to Kisner, most farmers are waiting for soil temperatures to rise to 60 plus degrees before planting sorghum.

Amherst farmers are worrying about the ground crusting over on planted grain and having to scratch the crop up, according to a spokesman at the Amherst Farmers Co-op Gin.

Planted cotton is still in good shape in the Amherst area the gin manager said, adding that he thinks the cotton will come up to a good stand.

Amherst received from 1.5 to 3.0 inches with some light, but not damaging, hail.

SUDAN RECEIVED 3.5 inches of rain recently with up to six inches dumped north of Sudan from tornadic clouds Tuesday evening. Hail was heavy in this area, too, stacking up four inches deep where the rain was heaviest.

Few crops had been planted prior to the storm. The biggest part of planted crops will have to be planted over, Sudan farmers say.

Heavy rains were reported at Bula with four or more inches recorded by most farmers for the past two weeks. Bula received 2 inches of rain Sunday afternoon.

Bula farmer, John Blackman, said he expects all crops planted in his area will have to be re-planted, "but the moisture is just something wonderful."

TORNADOES HUNG over Bula about 30 minutes Tuesday evening, with two twisters sighted west of the community and two funnels north of it.

Don Brestrup in the Padon area reported 1.4 precipitation. He estimated that 50 per cent of the grain sorghum had been planted with a small percentage of the planted acreage up to a stand.

Brestrup estimated 25 per cent of the cotton allotment planted in the Fieldton area has been planted.

Planted crops are expected to come up since they received little hard rain, with most recent rains slighting the Fieldton area.

SPADE FARMER W. E. Mitchell said some of the crops planted around Spade will have to be planted over. They report about 2.60 inches in this area.

Very little if any cotton has been planted at Spade and just a few acres of grain is up.

Farmers in the Witharrath area have more cotton up than other parts of the Littlefield trade area. Several hundred acres of cotton are up to a stand on the MOTHERS ARE GOOD for almost everything—especially for reading a bedtime story. She'll be found—even on her special day—dividing her attention among the children. Mrs. Mickey Ratliff Jr. favors her son and daughter with a "well-read" story, and hears a comment from Derek, almost 5 years old, as Laurie, 2, thinks about it.

EARTH TORNADO

Red Cross Aids Storm Victims

Workers from the Red Cross in Saint Louis, Mo., are surveying the Earth area following the twister ripped through part of the town Tuesday evening.

In taking inventory, damages are being first estimated, according to Ruth Wade, executive secretary of Lamb County Red Cross.

Damages have been estimated at 250 homes, one complete, two major, seven partial, three small businesses destroyed, and a number of garages and barns, according to Mrs. Ruth Wade.

One estimate puts damages at between $50,000 and $60,000. Others estimate the damages higher than this.

A substantial part of the damages is to farm equipment, Mrs. Wade said, "and it doesn't take long for this to run up into the thousands."

There is also more damage to house tops than first thought.

The Saint Louis office is headquarters for the western area. Mrs. Wade said any time more than five families are affected the local report goes to Saint Louis and this office sends case workers out to take a survey and make recommendations for emergency assistance.

Curtis Wilkerson, disaster chairman for the Lamb County chapter, and Mrs. Lyle Brandon, co-chairman, accompanied the survey team. H. Voight and Mrs. Bobbie Jennings from Lubbock, Ross Middleton and Rev. M. B. Baldwin, representatives from Earth, made the survey with the two from Lubbock and the Lamb County Red Cross officials.

Emergency needs for clothing were met Thursday, according to Mrs. Wade, with a recommendation made for clothing allowances.

A desk was set up in the Earth News-Sun office Friday to accept applications for further assistance.

Mrs. Wade said the Red Cross office in the basement of the Lamb County court house will accept and appreciate cash donations. Interested persons are asked to contact the Red Cross office in Littlefield or Ross Middleton or Rev. M. B. Baldwin in Earth.

Bula Tour Is Slated

A 'SWEET' SIDELINE

Candy Making Helps Church Funds Grow

By NILAH RODGERS
Leader-News Staff Writer

Rev. E. E. Houlette has sweetened things up since he came to Littlefield. Around here he is known as the peanut brittle man.

Some days he makes six dozen peanut brittle patties. His wife helps him, "but it takes a man to run that spoon" when it's time to beat the candy. "And I've got a pretty good arm," Rev. Houlette said.

All this candy making is done in the little evangelist's quarters, the little room in the back of the United Pentecostal Church—and proceeds from the candy sales go toward making improvements on the small church at 1020 E. 11th St.

The Houlettes came to Littlefield from Plainview. "The church here is small, and we needed funds," Rev. Houlette said. "So we turned to candy making to fill this need."

Houlette said he has an answer for churches that don't do anything. "If an old man 74-years-old can get things done, then why can't you?"

"I don't mind telling my age," the preacher said, "and my wife is 71."

Houlette said candy making isn't his original idea. The church he pastored in Plainview made candy. Two Pentecostal churches in other areas have accomplished a great deal this way.

"A church in Eldorado made $3,300 in five weeks," the peanut brittle man said. "And an East Texas church paid off its entire indebtedness by selling candy."

The candy man has been making his peanut brittle for two years now and has lost track of the number of patties he's made.

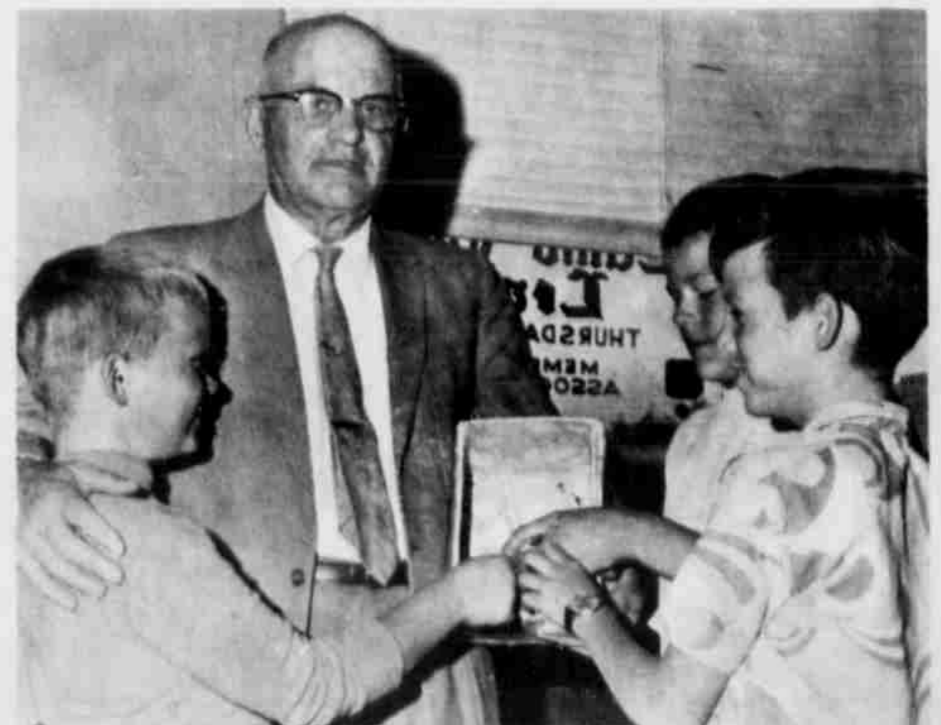

He buys his shelled peanuts 120 pounds at a time. He buys the white syrup in gallon jugs and large sacks of sugar.

He has made the recipe so many times he no longer refers to it. "The recipe is in my head," he said, tapping his temple.

Many people have asked him for his recipe, and he willingly gives it to them. "But it isn't the recipe." He shook his head knowingly, smiled, and added, "It's in the making! The color just before you take it off the fire and start beating is so important. If it's the right color, you won't miss."

Rev. Houlette said he watches his candy making like he'd watch a sick baby. "When it gets the right color, then you've got to go to work." That's where his strong arm comes in handy. The beating takes a man's touch.

The peanut brittle man makes a batch of candy "in 30 minutes flat." He has made the recipe so many times he can look at his watch, write the time down on a piece of paper and he is through "30 minutes from the time he puts the kettle on the stove."

PEANUT BRITTLE MAN—Rev. E. E. Houlette, pastor of the Littlefield United Pentecostal Church has earned himself the sub-title of "Peanut Brittle Man." Wayne Lucas, Cary Anderson and Randy Lucas pool their money and buy candy.

CLEANING UP OPERATIONS commenced immediately after the tornado struck Earth Tuesday. This volunteer worker is shown removing a sheet of tin from the roof of a home while light was still available from the setting sun.

Earth Mothers Honored At Tea

EARTH—The home of Sharla Haberer was the scene of a mothers' tea, Sunday afternoon, where the girls honored their mothers.

The table was laid with a white lace cloth over blue. The table was centered with an arrangement of blue and white carnations. Blue and white napkins were arranged in a fan shape in front of the center piece. Streamers of rainbow colors were on the table. Blue candles decorated with Lillies of the Valley also graced the table.

The girls gave a skit on "Mothers". Sharla Haberer presented a poem, dedicated to the mothers. All the Rainbow girls sang "Our Mothers".

Background piano music was furnished by several of the girls.

Punch and cake was served to approximately 50 Rainbow girls and mothers.

Energetic Mother Likes To Make Things

By LAQUINTA LONG
Glenda Hastey, energetic wife and mother, likes to cook, collect antiques, do all types of handwork and art, loves interior decorating and making creative objects.

"I love to do any kind of hobby that involves working with my hands. It's interesting and challenging", she said.

Wife of Kenneth Hastey, who is employed with Southwestern Public Service Company and mother of two sons, Ken, seven years old, and Keith, who is two and one half, she and her family attend the First Baptist Church.

Glenda is mission action chairman in W.M.U. In connection with her mission work, she is a volunteer teacher for an adult literacy course taught to adults who cannot and want to learn to read.

She is a member of the Order of Eastern Star.

Glenda is daughter of longtime Littlefield residents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Renfro. She has lived in Littlefield all of her life with the exception of a few years at Plainview.

Mrs. Hastey attended Wayland College in 1957 and after Wayland she attended a business college in Plainview.

The Hasteyes were married in 1960 and have lived in Littlefield since their marriage—aside from one and one half years spent in Plainview with Southwestern Public Service Company.

Another enjoyment she and her family share is fishing and camping out. "I guess it's a good thing that I'm kind of a tomboy at heart, with a husband and two sons who are such outdoorsmen", she said in a joking tone of voice.

"My hobbies really keep me busy. There are so many things I like to make. I've made the plastic grapes from the glass molds. I made a picture of flowers which is done by covering your picture backing with burlap. Cut a basket in two and wire it to the backing in the frame. Then take artificial flowers and make an arrangement. It makes a lovely and unusual picture," she said.

"Most of our antiques have been handed down to us from our families. I have a fruit bowl made out of cherry glass that belonged to my maternal grandmother, which had been given to her by her husband. I have an antique flat iron and wooden churn that belonged to her. From my paternal grandmother, I have a very old butter mold.

Another collection I've started is antique food preservation jars. Some date back many years. There are a lot of objects that I'd like to try to make, and plan to, as time allows, but cooking, caring for my family and everyday chores in general, limit a lot of that.

The recipes I've picked are easy and they don't require a lot of time—which is always nice for busy housewives.

Mix all ingredients together for salad.

TACO DISH
Line the bottom of a dish with pre-cooked and broken taco shells.

Brown 1 lb. hamburger meat seasoned with onions and garlic salt.

1 can of Enchilada sauce
1 can of green chilies
Grated longhorn cheese

What The Leader-News Thinks

There has been much in the press these last few weeks about the riots and confrontations which have turned so many university campuses into battlegrounds.

Historically, springtime has been a time for much gentler riots, largely kindled by collegians with an excess of adrenalin coursing through their veins. This was mischief only, a letting-off of steam. Certainly, there was no real malice underlying them.

How sad that what was once a sophomoric rite has turned into sinister and malevolent actions in a dozen different places.

In trying to spot the main differences between the present upheavals and earlier protests, one comes inevitably to the presence, in the case of Cornell University, of armed demonstrators. Though the group protested that they were armed against anticipated attack, no acceptable evidence has yet been furnished to document the claim.

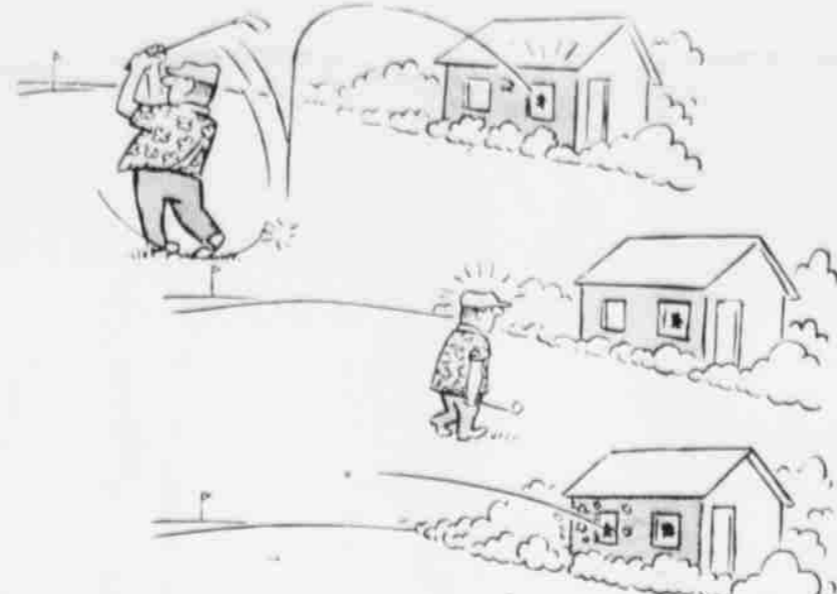

It is difficult, at this distance, to understand why the Cornell administration gave way to the main demands of the rioters, not to mention its tacit acceptance of guns and ammunition as persuasive instruments.

It is clear now that such permissiveness has been widely interpreted to mean that if a minority group wants to get its way, it has only to take up its weapons and scare its way into acceptance. Militants at one South Carolina college have already proceeded on that premise.

Any student of history knows that the door to anarchy and revolution has very often been first pried open by students. Many of the Cornell faculty members who spoke out against the university's handling of the dissidents were, not surprisingly, professors of history and government. They know best the hard lessons of the past, and see violence for the dark threat it can become if it goes unchecked and unpunished.

President Nixon has expressed himself with clarity on the issue. He, along with the majority of Americans, feels that disorders, violently conceived, should be firmly and quickly dealt with. There can be no other answer.

OWNER'S REPORT

Tall Tales?

By BILL TURNER

THAT HEADLINE we used Thursday on the "White Tornado" at Earth drew lots of comment.

People teased us that "white tornadoes" only happen in television commercials.

But that photo with the front page story, taken by Bob Hamilton, looked pretty much like the Earth funnel was a white one.

I heard a story a couple of days later that sheds a little light on the Earth tornado.

Monte Berry, who I'll admit is pretty good at telling fish stories, says the Earth tornado was white because it sucked up a small playa lake in the Earth area.

"This farmer who lives right close to Earth says he saw it with his own eyes," says Monte.

"The thing just came along and sucked up all the water there, then splashed it all over Earth," he added.

Maybe that was why some parts of Earth reportedly got very little or no rain, and other parts in the tornado path got a huge splash.

I repeated the story to Jack Barton at Rotary Thursday, and he looked at me like I was a nut.

"That's a tall Texas tale," Jack said, "you can't be serious."

At that point I didn't know whether I was serious or not. Monte told it for the truth.

And lots of people who've heard it, believe it could have happened.

Still, I get this strange doubt....at least everytime somebody looks at me with one of those sarcastic grins.

THE LARGEST Crappie ever reported was caught recently at McAlister, Okla., in a lake Neil West used to fish when he was a kid.

A 5-year-old girl caught the fish, a 5 and three-quarter pounder, Neil says.

"She was using a broken pole and a dead minnow," he went on, with his face contorted like it was a true story, but he still couldn't believe it.

"And do you know what they did with that fish?" Neil asks, almost like he was in pain.

"They ATE IT!"

Neil swears it's the truth, because it was in the McAlister newspaper.

He's fished for years, with the best equipment, and all the know-how he could pick up.

And the story about the 5-year-old girl, her broken pole and the dead minnow tears him up.

But what really gets him is the fact that nobody made a trophy out of it.

The moral of the whole thing, according to Neil, is "never give a kid a fishing pole, it's downright embarrassing!"

THE FARMER'S WIFE

Horrible Subject

By LIBBY MUGGETT

"HEY, FARMER'S WIFE, what you gonna write about for a Mother's Day column?"

"Er, uh, American battle deaths in Vietnam."

"For Mother's Day?"

"Well, there's more than 34,000 mothers involved."

"YOU CAN'T DO THAT! Mother's Day writing is supposed to be full of sweetness and light."

"I know, I know! But being a mother isn't always sweetness and light and besides, these statistics haunt me night and day. Did you know that more boys aged 20 are killed than any other age?"

"Well, it's always been that way in war. Don't bring it up now!"

"But listen, more than 8,000 mothers of those 20 year olds that were killed got to go through today. And 2,000 mothers of 18 year olds, and over 5,000 of 19 year olds, and did you know that nine 17 year olds have been killed?"

"YOU REALIZE YOU'RE sounding like Willie J. Fullbright?"

"I can't help that. I once caught myself saying something in agreement with Ted Kennedy and twice with Ralph Yarborough, but everybody lapses."

"Get a piacard and demonstrate, but not now!"

"Look, I'm not demanding anything. I just can't quit thinking about all this just because it's Mother's Day. Maybe on account of it IS Mother's Day. Guess what was the most common cause of death."

"ARTILLERY FIRE."

"No. It was enemy small-arms fire—over 13,000 were killed this way. I wonder how many ever even saw where it came from?"

"Oh, come on!"

"Booby traps got over 5,000 and another 5,000 died from grenades and mines. Artillery and rockets only got 3,260."

"FOR CRYING OUT LOUD, it's Mother's Day!"

"Over 2,000 fatalities from aircraft crashes. Guess what's the safest branch to be in."

"Navy?"

"No, they've lost nearly 1,000. Coast Guard lists only 1 combat death."

"CAN'T YOU WRITE about something more motherly?"

"But I am, I am! Did you know that the big majority of these kids had only been in uniform less than two years?"

"There's a plug for that professional army."

"Not necessarily. Every professional has still got to get through his first two years. His chances of living through it all increase three times in his third year and ten times his fourth year."

"LET'S GET OFF this subject and find out which is the most popular flower used for Mother's Day."

"Now I wonder why New Mexico has had the largest proportion of losses in relation to population and Alaska the smallest."

"Why?"

"There's bound to be a reason, but what is it? And why does Oklahoma and West Virginia closely follow New Mexico in losses percentage-wise?"

"WONDER WHICH PERFUME is the most popular Mother's Day gift?"

"And here's another puzzler—the Air Force lists about 600 deaths, yet aircraft crashes claimed over 2,200."

"That's easy to figure out. The Air Force transports the Army and the Marines."

"They're not very reliable, then. They lost 1,600 of their passengers. But that's not many comparatively."

"COMPARATIVELY TO WHAT?"

"To the 34,000 total war dead. If they can make it to age 40, they can feel safer. Only 273 aged 40 and over have been killed."

"This is a horrible subject for Mother's Day!"

"Isn't it, though?"

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Midway Living

By BOB WEAR

WE MUST AVOID EXTREMES in personal and public life. This does not mean that we will be without convictions. In fact, we will have firm convictions, but we will not force them upon others.

We can and should be enthusiastic in our views and devotions, but we must not be overbearing. Individually and collectively, we can find balance and stability in midway living.

IN THIS DISCUSSION, no reference is being made to the areas of established specifics and absolutes for personal behavior. In these areas, there is no extreme right, or extreme left, or middle position; but only right or wrong.

One of the great fallacies in human thought is the feeling that the remedy for moving too far in one direction is an extreme movement in the opposite direction. The recommended remedy is often as bad as the situation is supposed to correct. Extremism presently threatens the strength and well-being of our country.

WE READ AND HEAR about the extreme right and the extreme left, but most people seem to prefer the moderate or middle course. This is not because they have no convictions.

They have sound convictions, and they are wise. Midway living may be the difficult way, but it is the sensible and sound way for all.

THE PRINCIPLE of midway living is well expressed in the story by the Latin poet Ovid. He tells about Daedalus and Icarus, father and son, who were exiled on the island of Crete.

The father made two pairs of wings by which he hoped they might be able to escape. The right day finally came when they were ready to leave the island.

THE FATHER TOLD THE SON that they must not fly too low because their enemies on the ground could get them if they did. He also warned his son not to fly too high, because the sun would melt the wax which held the wings together.

He told the boy that their safest course was somewhere between the extremes.

THE TWO WERE ABLE to get off the island, but the boy became excited with his ability to fly and soared higher and higher.

It was too late when he realized what he had done. Heat from the sun melted the wax, his wings came apart and he fell to his death.

THE FATHER, using similar equipment, was able to make good his escape. He did not fly too high, but high enough; and he did not fly too low, but low enough.

He took the sensible middle course. There is a good lesson here for us.

We can avoid extremes, too. For instance, we can be opposed to the destructiveness of the extreme left position without belonging to the extreme right.

We can be opposed to evil without becoming sanctimonious. We can oppose the authoritarianism of the extreme right without belonging to the extreme left.

WHEN WE OPPOSE ONE EXTREME, let us make sure that we do not move far enough to reach the other extreme. It has been well said, "Some of our worst vices are caused by virtues which we have pushed too far."

In human affairs, midway living is a way wide enough to allow the necessary flexibility in our judgments and opinions.

It is even wide enough for the necessary differences that must develop as we try to work together for our common good.

IF WE ARE WISE, we will oppose all extremism and all of its evils, and diligently seek the balance, and the stability of the strong, enduring middle course.

Dear Sir:
Since the Mount Carmel Examiner is soon to go to press, we have been obtaining single issues of weekly papers from all over the country, to see what is being done in this field.

In doing so, we have found your LEADER-NEWS to be the best example of the type of weekly we intend to print. We've enjoyed the general format, promotional ideas, and the quality of particularly the pictures.

We are herewith enclosing check for eight dollars for a subscription and would like to receive also your permission to reprint some of your non-copyrighted features. We would like to commend you for your fine example of journalistic excellence and wish continued success.

Sincerely,
Paul

Trying To Shock Us

LET'S IGNORE the maliciously militant students for a moment and consider the others who may have some valid grievances.

On every visit to any campus, I am confronted with such questions as:

What's wrong with students having an equal voice in college administration?

What's wrong with Saxon words in campus publications?

What's wrong with dorm rules allowing nocturnal boy-girl visits behind closed doors?

What's wrong with trying to overthrow the "establishment"; our country was founded by radical dissidents.

THESE ARE QUESTIONS which you and I cannot sidestep with platitudes. Such questions, unanswered, are used by revolutionaries as fuse-lighters for campus revolt.

First, I am aware that the coed questioner suggesting there's nothing wrong with coeducational shacking-up is testing my own shock resistance.

I've learned, however, to take the last question first: "After all, our country was founded by radical resisting the establishment..."

THAT HYPOTHESIS is quite unworthy of any history student and I suspect they know it. If they don't know it—if religion has been altogether removed from their American history textbooks—let me remind them that America's founders never came to this country to be free to do whatever they wanted.

They sought a place of freedom "to do what they'd ought"; there's an important difference. They bound themselves to the Law of Moses. They prayed not for freedom, but "They will be done on earth...."

SO MUCH FOR THAT.

THE PHILOSOPHER

No Argument

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm takes on the housewives of America this week. That's his look-out, not ours.)

Dear editor:

I don't want to get a bunch of housewives mad at me, I figure they've got more backbone than college presidents, but an item in a newspaper I read in town yesterday got me riled up and I'm going ahead and write about it and if anybody asks where I am, tell her I left on a two-months trip.

According to it, there's a wave of protest around the country over the price of beef at the grocery store.

"Why," one housewife I overheard said, "I just read that the price of cattle is the highest it's been since 1951. Something ought to be done about it, and I'll tell you one thing...."

But I didn't stop to hear the rest, as I've learned long ago that when a woman says "I'll tell you ONE thing," get set for 15 or 20.

I came on home and tried to decide whether I should sell that Jersey steer I've been fattening out for the past three years or hold it for more money. Who knows, the price of cattle may soar above what it was in 1951, or 18 years ago.

Why not? Wages have soared far

If youth's argument for restraint, more permissive more "do what you want" demonstrating constructive then my generation would be forced to concede.

ON THE CONTRARY, examine the bitter fruits of recent era in which we increasingly allowed each youth to do his own thing.

One-thousand college-commit suicide each year another 9,000 try.

General disease among school-agers is epidemic. increased 25% in two years.

One in every six teen-ages becomes pregnant out of wedlock. That number has doubled since 1940.

Youth crime is increasing times faster than youth population is increasing.

IF ALL THIS "FREEDOM" made them happy....but mental illness among school-agers epidemic.

If their "judgment" were mature as their bodies.... automobile accident statistics that is not so.

And one in two teen-ages subsequently will be divorced.

AND FURTHER EVIDENCE that their judgment remains mature than their intellect is bare-faced absurdity of many today's campus demonstration demands.

Again, however, I am convinced that many of those "demands" intended mostly to test the resolve of their elders.

THEY ARE BEGGING TO know what they have not been hearing in church, in school or at home. Some things are "right" and some things are "wrong" and each of us will do what is right or suffer consequences.

above what they were in 1951. price of automobiles has nearly doubled, tractors and Congress have tripped, medicine has swooped. You bought any gas lately? Paid any interest? Bought a loaf of bread? Had a fence straightened? Sent a kid to college? Been to a hospital? Seen a movie? Got a haircut? Paid any taxes? Bought a house? Bought a fighter-bomber? Paved a mile of road?

I don't want to argue, not personally, with that woman and fellow-housewives around the country, but I'll send her a private letter if she'll tell me what has soared far above the 1951 price level, with the exception maybe hog lard and toothpicks.

Yours faithfully,

"I'm quite sure I can fix it if only I knew how this confounded hood opens!"

WORSHIP IN CHURCH

and get a spiritual lift for the whole week

My Plight

Could it be the accident of birth that 'caved-in' her world? Does God discriminate between His people?

Could it be that her home located 'across-the-track' determines her plight??? An empty bowl, sure, but a compassionate heart. Almost despondent that's what she is. If you are one of those who has plenty and haven't yet given...

then, maybe you are partially responsible for the situation we find here. God may take from your store-house the 'just' amount. He said, inasmuch as you have done it to the least of one of these little ones, so have you done it to me. Her plight may be our responsibility. May we see that she has the opportunity to attend church regularly for we are, our brother's keeper.

THE RECENTLY REMODELED Library in First Baptist Church inspires a feeling of pride from the church members. The church has undertaken a large scale remodeling task on the church building. The library with its new gold carpet and refinished look is an example of the tremendous work being done.

Special Offering To Be Taken

Members of Emmanuel Lutheran Church believe that letting servicemen know the folks at home care, should be more than just a matter of words," says Rev. Wm. H. Remmert, pastor.

That's why the congregation will participate in a nationwide offering today, Mother's Day, Sunday, May 11, designed to raise $400,000 for the work of the Armed Forces Commission of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod," he continued.

According to Rev. Remmert, the Synod's program for servicemen is one of the most extensive among American church bodies.

Besides supplying chaplains to the military services, the commission sends out literally tons of material each year to about 36,000 members of the Synod in mailings at least once a month. He also indicated, that at this time the church body has 5,000 men serving in the Vietnam struggle.

Included are devotional materials, worship orders with hymns and meditations (in case of servicemen can't make it to a service), information on chaplains, times of services, and chat from home.

The Missouri Synod Church body also has more than 120 active-on duty chaplains and more than 400 civilian contact pastors who serve parishes near military installations. Nationally, Lutherans provide one of every 10 chaplains, even though only one of every 20 Americans is a Lutheran.

Special attention will be focused on the work of the commission through the offering and the ID Celtic cross, the bulletin insert, and the laminated worship cards. 36,000 Lutheran servicemen carry the ID Celtic Cross, which has LUTHERAN written across the back side.

The government has granted servicemen permission to wear this cross on their "dog-chain."

"As they bring their special offering, members of the congregation will be reminded to the words of a fellow Lutheran returning from overseas who wrote, 'I would like to thank you for the materials you send each month. Without God's love and SERVICEMAN David Green and his wife, Theresa look at the Celtic Cross which was presented to David shortly before he left for Germany to do his "second hitch" in that country.

EARTH

MRS. BEULAH NEWTON 257-4341

WE AT EARTH are counting our blessings during a night of turmoil. Tornadoes are such tricky and destructive demons. We watched one go through a part of our little town and take buildings down and some were damaged. Then, when we think of what it could have been like, we are thankful. No one was hurt. One lady was scared and collapsed, but she is fine and resting in the Amherst Hospital. We are thankful for people who are concerned. We had patrolmen, ambulances, doctors, nurses, and just plain people to help in case they were needed.

MR. AND MRS. Jim Griffin were in Lubbock Tuesday night and Wednesday at the bedside of a brother-in-law who is critically ill.

MR. AND MRS. Cecil Ginn were in Earth Wednesday morning checking on relatives after the tornado. They found everyone fine.

MR. AND MRS. Walter Elam, and Buddy Robnett of Lubbock were in Earth Tuesday evening checking on their parents following the tornado.

MR. AND MRS. Garner Ball, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Wagoner of the Sunnyside community were in Earth Tuesday evening visiting Beulah Newton.

MR. AND MRS. Dicky Woodring were checking relatives in Earth Tuesday evening, following the tornado. They found things not so bad as were first reported.

TOBY WALKER was in Earth Wednesday morning checking on relatives and damages from the tornado. Toby is brother-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Griffin.

GUESTS IN the Herchel Belew home Tuesday evening were Rev. and Mrs. Johnnie Williams.

THE FRIENDSHIP Sunday School class of the First United Methodist Church had a noon luncheon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hinson Tuesday. Approximately 18 were present for a covered dish meal and games of "42" and "84".

ANTON—Fourteen Lions and two guests enjoyed a roast beef supper with king size rolls and strawberry shortcake at their meeting Monday night.

Lion D. J. Peters gave the invocation and Lion Don Stone led the song, "Onward Christian Soldiers." Lion Jerry Biffle led the "Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag."

Thought for the week is, "There is a line on the ocean where you loose a day when you cross it. There is a line on most highways where you can do even better." A statistician said, in a lifetime you eat 30,000 eggs, 6,000 loaves of bread, 9,000 lbs. of potatoes, 8,000 lbs. of beef, 12 sheep, 15 pigs, 5 calves and 7,000 fish. Why worry about extra piece of pie?"

After the business meeting, Homer Lowrance, state president of the program which was his students Bill Walker is entered in a Public Speaking Contest.

He gave a talk at market of supply and demand.

5-CENT BAR

One of two remaining 5-cent items, the chocolate bar, may be doomed. In the past three years, the chocolate cravers have gobbled up all the world's yearly production and most of the reserves. The result: increase in prices from 17 cents a pound in 1965 to 49 cents. Other factors which may jeopardize the nickel candy bar are the higher manufacturing and distribution costs.

HERE'S WHAT MANAGER ARMON PERRIN HAS TO SAY:

"Our advertising consistently of both sale and regular merchandise through The Leader-News helped bring us up from 36 in the District to Number One. Our volume of sales has increased steadily since we began our systematic program of newspaper advertising. With the responsive readership of our newspaper ads, and the cooperative attitude of The Leader-News, we've been able to attain the goal every manager of the J. C. Penney Company works for. I think The Leader-News is our strongest force today in making Littlefield an area trade center."
