Conservation Program Extended 10 Years

County owners or farm operators in Lamb County are eligible to get from 50 per cent in cost-sharing funds from the county Soil Conservation Service for underground irrigation, land leveling, grass planting, and other conservation work.

The Great Plains Conservation Program has recently been extended for 10 years, and $189,000 has been made available to owners and operators of a conservation area that includes Lamb County.

The 10 counties are using the program at the same time, and the program is on a first come, first served basis, according to Bob McQueen, local conservationist.

The extension and broadening can be seen by doubling of the needed soil and conservation work on Texas farm lands, McQueen said.

The law extending the program, which was passed in 1957 to give landowners the Great Plains help in building conservation districts, was signed by the President in 1958. The program was extended to end Dec. 31, 1971, but has been extended to 1981.

The legislation authorizes an annual $150 million in Federal funds for the cost-sharing of conservation work.

In addition to cost-sharing regular soil and water conservation work, the program will provide for the management of fish, wildlife and other resources on farms and ranches. It will improve the economic condition of landowners. It will also provide assistance on agriculture-related problems in keeping with the county's overall objectives.

The law also authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to enter into contracts on a cost-sharing basis, but where erosion is so severe that conservation work is needed on the farm or ranch holdings.

McQueen pointed out that the law places the responsibility of soil and water conservation districts more sharply into the hands of landowners. It stipulates that "approved" conservation plans developed in cooperation with the soil and water conservation district in which their lands are situated shall form a basis for contracts."

The county conservationist described the Great Plains Conservation Program as a most useful tool for soil and water conservation districts in their effort to get greater resource and economic stability established in a region recognized for its agricultural risk.

"The success of this program can be attributed to the willingness of landowners to enter into formal contracts with the Secretary of Agriculture to move ahead faster toward completing the conservation job on their entire units," McQueen said. "This often includes an agreement to shift cropland to grass where the cropland is incapable of sustained, safe production. The whole idea of the Great Plains Conservation Program is to enable the landowner to make needed changes in his cropping and grazing system, to change the use of his land as indicated by soil information, and

Davis Home Best Decorated

The J. B. Davis home at 301 E. 22nd was judged first place winner in the Annual Christmas Home Lighting contest Thursday night.

The Davis home, which features lighted rooftop, surrounding shrubbery and indoor Christmas tree, spotlighted manikins, and a radiant Santa Claus with a set of reindeer led by Redolph with his flashing red nose, receives the top prize of $50 awarded by Southwestern Public Service Co.

Taking second place honors were Regina, Sandra and Sheldon Macha, 1120 W. 3rd., with their ingenious arrangement of the manger scene to the right, decorated lamp post in the center, Santa and his reindeer on the rooftop, and lighting entwined with holly around the roof, window, door, and lamp post.

Their arrangement was sparked with a speaker which played Christmas music to passersby to help extend the warmth of the spirit of the lighted tree inside to those in the cold outside. The entry won the children a $25 prize.

Third place entry was decorated by Bob Ed Grissom, 1406 Cherry Blossom Drive. The huge blue moon and star bring the attention to the Santa and his reindeer arrangement on the lawn. The jolly "HO HO HO" shouts the family greeting to all who enter Littlefield by way of Highway 54 from the west. Bob Ed takes the $15 prize with this entry.

Fourth place winner in the contest was Jim Jefferies, 1307 W. 12th. Gaily-wrapped Christmas packages

WITH HER SKIING, HIS HUNTING

Roberts Overcome The 'Grind'

MRS. VIRREL ROBERTS could give that television commercial mother of seven who is often mistaken for her daughter trouble. This vivacious grandmother of seven water skis often, recently broke some ribs when she was thrown from a horse, and she has rolled her car off a mountain enroute to a ski range. Undaunted, she loads up her ski gear again and is off for the first of several snow skiing trips this year.

By NILAH RODGERS
Leader-News Staff Writer

Jewel Roberts goes snow skiing at the stroke of a parka or the thump of a ski pole, and husband Virrel goes hunting at the drop of a pin (30.06 or .270).

"There are plenty of people who think we're crazy," Mrs. Roberts said. "But Virrel's hunting and my skiing is what makes everything worth keeping at a grind all the time. He dearly loves hunting, and there's nothing as challenging as skiing."

Mrs. Roberts learned to snow ski in 1960, and "fell madly in love" with the sport. Since that time she has peeled off the top of just about every available slope. "I'm not a good skier," she laughed. "No, I'm not. But we learned to ski at Taos, N. M., and we've never seen a slope we're afraid of. We can get down any slope in our own style. And we've perfected side-slipping."

Mrs. Roberts says "we" when discussing her skiing trips because she takes her two daughters, one at a time, on two separate week-long skiing trips each year.

But in addition to these four trips, she goes every chance she gets. She says she never knows 30 minutes ahead of time when she's going. Once when she'd just come back from a ski week, daughter Venita called her wanting to go skiing.

"When?" Mrs. Roberts asked. "In the morning," Venita answered. "Give me until noon," Mrs. Roberts replied, "and I'll be ready. I worked nearly all night long catching up on the bookkeeping so I could go again," she said.

Mrs. Roberts keeps all the books and accounts at the couple's lumber yard. "I can do my bookkeeping when I get back," she said. "Even if sometimes I get so far behind I have problems and have to call in the auditor. I don't mind all the hard work in the world, knowing all the fun ahead those three months."

"I like to see how fast I can get down an easy slope, and how well I can go down a steep one. When I stand at the top of a mountain and look out over the tops of the trees, there's something about it so exciting that my throat gets dry. I like to come right off the top 30 or 40 miles an hour, knees going bump, bump, bump, and come to a curve where there's about this much room." She measured the distance off with outstretched arms.

"To the side and below are just the tops of trees and you know what a terrific drop there is. It's so exciting! So exhilarating! I feel like every hair on my head is standing up in a point. And when I get to the bottom I can hardly wait to get on that chair and go back to the top."

Mrs. Roberts said Leta Merle's husband, Reed Loflin, says she has lots more guts than sense. "I just laugh and tell him they're young. But when you get to be my age you've got to get with it if you're going to get anything done," this grandmother of seven said.

Mrs. Roberts has skied almost every slope in New Mexico, but says she likes Taos best. "I've never fallen more in love with any place in my life," she said. "I go wild when I get in powder, and nowhere in the world is there powder like this, especially at the tops where just the sound of your voice can set off an avalanche."

Jewel Roberts encouraged her husband to go on his first hunting trip several years ago when he didn't even own a gun. He borrowed a gun for his first deer hunt and bagged a 26-point buck when a 28-pointer was the top in Texas. Now he is a hunting enthusiast and gun collector.

After she learned to ski, she told Virrel he could go hunting and/or fishing anytime during nine months of the year if she could have her first choice of three months during the skiing season.

Since that time Mr. and Mrs. Roberts have given their daughters two weeks each of skiing for Christmas. "We cubbyhole all year for these events," she said. "Or event. My son-in-law says it is Three other bids were submitted—two from Garland Motor Company, including one for two Plymouths and bids for two Buicks, and a bid from Mitchell Ford.

Delivery on the new Chevrolets is expected in about 30 days, according to C. Randall, representative for Armes Chevrolet.

The trade-in value placed on the old patrol cars was $4,614.98.

Other matters discussed in the brief meeting included reading and approving the minutes of the previous meeting, approving the bills for payment, made up of a letter received from the Texas Municipal Board and postponed consideration of resolutions passed by the Municipal League at the annual meeting in San Antonio in November.

The moulded basque bodice was fashioned with a high ring neckline and long bishop sleeves of brocade accented by silver threads. A narrow banding of the brocade edged the neckline and enhanced the center front of the bodice. The slim skirt of softly gathered fullness was floor length. Her flowers, worn as a headpiece, were white frosted carnations with rosebuds.

POINSETTIA CARE

Being subject to cold damage, poinsettias should be placed away from drafts and opening doors to prevent sudden temperature changes. Drafts from circulating air furnaces are especially harmful. The favorite Christmas flower needs only enough moisture to prevent drying and shedding of its leaves. After watering, any water left remaining in the tray beneath the pot should be emptied. Too much water damages its roots and shortens its life.

Sudan FHA Views Slides

The Sudan Future Homemakers of America Chapter met Thursday, Dec. 3, at the Sudan High School auditorium. The Area I project "Concern for Others" was on the program agenda for this meeting. Dr. J. R. Fain, a Littlefield physician, presented a program to 30 members of the Sudan Future Homemakers and several adult guests. Mrs. J. I. Fain was also present for the program. Guests were welcomed by Angela Pickett, president. Kathy Rice, vice-president and program chairman introduced Dr. Fain who has been working with the Lamb County unit of the American Cancer Society for some time.

Following these films, Dr. Fain asked those present if there were any questions. Many of the FHA members and adults did have questions.

Dr. Fain stressed the importance of yearly physical examinations for everyone because many cases of cancer can be successfully cured if caught in time. He also said that the three films he showed, as well as others, are available for any group meeting. Programs can be scheduled by contacting Hubert D. Henry, P. O. Box 1068, Littlefield 79339.

OPERATION MOTORCIDE CHRISTMAS 1969

6 P.M.

MIDNIGHT
DEC. 28

The Texas Department of Public Safety estimates that 54 persons will be killed in traffic accidents during the Christmas holiday period from 6 p.m. Wednesday, December 24 to midnight Sunday, December 28. DPS officials are joining with the Governor's highway safety program in urging Texans to "Drive Friendly" during the holidays and stay alive for the seventies.

Death Predictions All-Time High

The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety has estimated that traffic crashes in Texas over the Christmas and New Year holiday periods may claim as many as 87 lives.

Colonel Wilson E. Speir said 54 deaths are expected in the Christmas period beginning at 6 p.m. Christmas Eve to midnight Sunday, Dec. 28.

It also is estimated 33 traffic deaths will occur during the New Year holidays from 6 p.m. New Year's Eve to midnight Sunday, Jan. 4.

"We urge each individual driver to accept the challenge of proving our estimates are too high," Speir said. "Many holiday accidents can be prevented if Texans will drive safely and realize that no one is immune to a traffic crash."

Speir also announced that the Department of Public Safety will place all available patrolmen on the highways during the holidays to enforce the law and aid motorists.

He said a special "Operation Motorcide" would be in effect over both holiday periods, during which periodic tabulations of traffic fatalities will be made and given the widest possible dissemination in order to focus public attention to the added dangers involved in holiday travel.

... THE ROBERTS

one continuous event—from the time the snow gets good until it ends."

Daughters Venita and Leta take turns keeping each others pre-school children while one is gone with their mother for a ski weekend. Because keeping seven young children under one roof is a chore, Venita and Leta each take two, staggered one-week trips.

Broken bones are the bugaboo of skiing, and Mrs. Roberts saw a ski instructor's father miss a curve and fly off into the nothingness below where he broke both arms, a shoulder blade and ribs in the fall.

"But I've never broken a bone," she said, "and I still think it's funny every time I fall."

Mrs. Roberts said skiing isn't as expensive as some think. When she first started going to Taos, a week of skiing was $70 and this included everything—room with carpeted floor, piped-in music and private bath, meals cooked by a French chef, and daily skiing instructions and rides in the lifts. But prices have jumped each year since then, she said.

Mrs. Roberts often skis at Red River where living quarters with a kitchen costs $50 on a ski week, package plan.

She is such a good public relations skier at Red River that the area director there gave her season tickets for two consecutive years. "When they gave me the first season ticket, I was just speechless," Mrs. Roberts bubbled. "I was a long time finding out why they just gave me a pass, but someone at the lodge told my daughter I was the best advertising Red River had ever had."

Mrs. Roberts is off to snow-covered slopes again. This time she took her 11-year-old granddaughter Tanya along. Mrs. Roberts took Tanya roller skating first, then ice skating and water skiing. Now she is going to teach her how to snow ski.

Recently someone who had heard about Mrs. Roberts for a long time, but meeting her for the first time, said she just couldn't get over how young Mrs. Roberts looked. "I think I'll get me a job and go to work if it will keep me looking so young," the woman said.

"It isn't the job," Mrs. Roberts said. "It's skiing."

Area Artists Invited To 'Biblical Show'

Requests for information about the Wayland College Art Department's invitational "Biblical Motif Show" in March are coming in from artists as far away as Mississippi and California.

The show is open to all artists.

The show will be juried, the pieces to be exhibited to be selected by a jury, and cash awards of $100, $50, and $25 will be made. In addition, the Wayland College President's purchase award of $250 will be made.

This is the first of a series of selected topic exhibits to be held at Wayland in the new Harral Memorial Galleries adjacent to the auditorium.

Guest book registration has indicated gallery viewers from every section of Texas as well as Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma and other more distant states.

All artists are encouraged to enter this sculpture and painting show featuring Biblical motifs.

Work is due Feb. 25, 1970, and will be accepted at any time before that date, according to B. Allan Dunaway, chairman of the art department at Wayland.

For more information, inquiries may be directed to Dunaway at the Art Department, Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, Texas 79072.

install needed soil and water conservation treatment measures."

Nearly 500,000 acres of cropland have been planted to grass in Texas under the program. An inventory of conservation shows that 571,000 additional acres in the 99 Great Plains counties in need to be returned to permanent vegetation.

The seeding of unsuitable cropland to development of water resources, reduction of the soil erosion hazard through various conservation techniques, and control of invading brush on rangeland, improvement of irrigation systems to use available water most efficiently, and better grassland management are among steps taken by landowners in the program to create resistance to drought and other emergencies and thereby reduce suffering and financial stress once common in the Plains. Plains farmers and ranchers have returned nearly 2 million acres of hazardous cropland to grassland uses in the program.

Although the program in Texas has reduced dust storms on the Plains, the job is far from complete. A recent survey shows that only 15 percent of all needed conservation work on the Plains has been done.

Sudan fell to Seagraves, 76-31, in the opening game of the New Deal basketball tournament Thursday.

The Hornets, led by David Weaver with 10 points, could not overtake Seagraves, led by Eddie Knight with 15 tallies.

In Sudan's second game New Deal outpointed the Hornets, 51-34. Weaver again led the attack with 16 points.

In the girls' division, Sudan whipped Frenship, 44-33, in the Hornets' opening game.

Connie Lance was the high pointer with 21, while Sherry Simpson led the losers with 10. Sudan outfoxed New Deal 53-44 in their second game.

Lance sparked the Sudan fens with 29 points. Debbie Webb led New Deal with 26.

Lamb NFO Delegates Attend Convention

OLTON-Lamb County NFO delegates and members, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Dickson of Earth, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Witten and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis all of Olton, have returned from the national NFO convention in Louisville, Ky.

A record 14,000 voting delegates attended two days of meetings, which charted the future of agriculture and strengthened the position of the family type farm in rural America.

It was the largest farm convention in American history.

Delegates heard fact-backed reports from various commodity department heads, calling attention to price increases being received by NFO members for their products through the NFO collective bargaining program.

Growth of the organization also was reflected by the reports of many new commodities added to the bargaining program.

"For the first time in the history of agriculture, a coordinated bargaining program in all 48 states of the continental United States is operating or has the capability of operation, which makes the NFO structure a total collective bargaining structure", President Oren Lee Staley told members in his State of Affairs message.

Delegates were warned that the first two years of the 70's will decide whether the family type farms or corporate ventures will supply the nation's foods.

The NFO announced a "gigantic" organizational drive this winter, designed to contact every farmer who is not a member of the NFO and ask him to join.

Stanley pointed out that rural business men also have a large stake in the battle for rural America survival. "In a corporate agriculture structure, small business men will go down the drain along with the farmer."

Delegates were told that stepped-up bargaining efforts will be designed to secure more contracts and to improve the contracts the NFO already has in operation, and to secure added block bargaining.

The NFO still regards its holding actions of various farm commodities as a major factor in winning goals. Spot holding actions will be used as needed and now are in use on such products as grain sorghum, durum wheat and some other feed grains in various areas.

Staley, of Rea, Mo., was re-elected national president and Erhard Pfingsten, Sergeant Bluff, Iowa, was renamed vice-president.

What The Leader-News Thinks

Giving Is Painless

LOOPHOLES in the Federal income tax laws allow four millionaire taxpayers with incomes from $6 million to over $10 million each to escape paying any tax according to a U. S. Treasury Department study.

Fifty to 75 of the super-rich eliminate all of their tax liability by the use of the unlimited charitable deduction.

STANLEY S. SURREY, former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, called for the elimination of this tax preference before the Senate Finance Committee.

He described this loophole: "While superficially this deduction may seem to have a certain appeal when loosely described—a person must give away 90% of his income—in actual effect the individual is not giving away income or assets but giving away his tax.

"The assets actually contributed are nearly always appreciated securities whose gain is untaxed and the income made tax-free is generally dividend income otherwise subject to a rate around 70%.

"I see no reason why one group of persons is permitted to give their tax to any charity they choose while others are required to pay their tax to the Federal Government.

"If all of us could choose either to pay our income tax to the Government or give it to our favorite charity we would have tax anarchy.

"This being so, no special group should be permitted this choice."

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Smiling Through

By BOB WEAR

A GENUINE SMILE is probably the most encouraging and reassuring expression of the human personality. Even though some will ask, "What is there to smile about?"

This is, of course, one way to look at life; but it is not the best way. We can find good reason to smile, if we try.

"A SMILE WILL GO a long, long way" is a line from an old song. It, however, is more than the idle musing of the poet—it is an established fact.

All of us know what a warm smile on the countenance of another person can do for us.

Sometimes we meet a friend in the early morning who smiles as he meets and greets us, and the smile sets the tone for the day's activities. In fact, there are limitless ways in which a sincere smile contributes to all that is honorable and worthwhile in life.

"WHAT SUNSHINE is to flowers, smiles are to humanity. They are but trifles, to be sure, but, scattered along life's pathway, the good they do is inconceivable." —Joseph Addison.

We know what a genuine smile can do for us. Therefore we should be forever conscious of the good we can do, and the joy we can give by greeting others with a smile.

OUR SMILES WILL HELP OTHERS, but this is not all; they will enrich our own lives.

"I am persuaded that every time a man smiles, but much more often when he laughs, it adds something to his fragment of life." —Sterne.

Smiles are going to do more for us, and for those about us than frowns can possibly do.

THE GENUINE SMILES, wholesome smiles are more than smiles. "Smiles from reason flow, to the brute denied, and are of love and food." —Milton. There is power in a smile—power for good. Smiles help business enterprises, family life associations, and contribute good to all other areas of human relationships.

A SINCERE SMILE is the true advertisement of a calm, courageous spirit. It imparts to all who see it a portion of the courage and faith from whence it comes.

PAUL HARVEY

South Africa

LET'S LOOK at South Africa. As the eyes of the news characteristically do—the worst first.

In South Africa, the black man is not allowed to vote. His position and condition are very similar to that of the American Indians whom we annihilated or pushed back onto reservations, except in South Africa there were no massacres.

BUT BECAUSE the apartheid (segregation) policy of South Africa contradicts our recently righteous respects for human rights, the United States has tried to stomp the life out of white South Africa.

We have condemned that government in the United Nations, we have applied economic and political boycotts, we have placed a total embargo on arms sales to the Republic of South Africa.

IT IS OBVIOUS that the United States is entirely willing to feed South Africa to the Communist wolves now at her door, howling for blood.

Before we throw this white government to the Reds, let's weigh what they'd win and what we'd lose.

GOLFER GARY PLAYER, a genuine Christian gentleman, caused many Americans to take a second look at his homeland. Then, when the human heart transplant technique was pioneered by a South African doctor, Christian Barnard, such progress appeared incongruous with South Africa's "backward image." It was not incongruous.

South Africa is a modern, developed country with up-to-date harbors, airfields, roads and railroads.

IN NATURAL RESOURCES, South Africa, per square foot, is the richest country in the world. Almost every mineral of value, except oil, is there in abundance.

South Africa's defense force is small, but it is disciplined, efficient and potentially more effective than the armed forces of all other African nations combined.

Some of the most brilliant and resourceful scientists, physicists and engineers in the world are South African. South Africa could produce atomic weapons in quantity any time its government desires.

THERE IS NO STRONGER economy in the modern world than that of South Africa. Its money is backed by 85% gold. Unemployment is less than one-half of one percent.

And South Africans, stanchly pro-American despite our official rejection, represent the only country in Africa which we could really depend upon in an international conflict.

FORMER PRIME MINISTER Dr. H. F. Verwoerd was vigorously anti-Communist. He believed that Afro-Asian Communists wished to destroy white civilization in Africa, grab the natural riches and enslave the blacks.

He believed Western nations do not understand his nation only because they do not try to understand.

SO SOUTH AFRICA continues to be the only country in the world that gives the United States more in friendship, co-operation, goods, services and support than we return.

We do not have to agree with South Africa on all issues. We do not agree with Red Yugoslavia or segregated India or dictatorial Ethiopia or fascist Spain on all issues—yet we co-operate with them where it is to our best interests to do so.

The Republic of South Africa deserves at least as much.

The Story Of Christmas Kettles

One dark, stormy night just before Christmas of 1894, a large ship was wrecked on the rocky coast near San Francisco.

Survivors—cold, wet, hungry—were helped to shelter in a nearby Salvation Army building. Since California, like the rest of the nation, was in the grip of depression, there were few "extras" on hand. The Salvation Army was already stretching its resources to care for thousands of jobless seamen and longshoremen. Soon the food supply ran out.

At that moment an ingenious lassie picked up the kettle and dashed out into the bitter cold. At a busy street corner she set up a sign, "Keep the Kettle Boiling"—and that night there was soup enough for all.

By Christmas, 1895, the word of this successful innovation had spread and the kettle was used in 30 Salvation Army Corps in various sections of the coast area. The Sacramento Bee of that year carried a description of the Army's Christmas activities and mentioned the contributions to street corner kettles. Shortly afterward, two young Salvation Army officers who had been instrumental in the original use of the kettle were transferred to the East. They took with them the idea of using it in the needy family Christmas appeal.

In 1897, William A. McIntyre prepared his Christmas plans for Boston around the kettle, but when the time came for action, his fellow officers refused to cooperate because they were afraid they would make spectacles of themselves. So McIntyre, his wife and his sister set up three kettles at the Washington Street bottleneck in the heart of the city. That year the Army's kettles in Boston provided Christmas dinners for 150,000 needy people.

In 1898, the New York World called the Salvation Army kettles "the newest and most novel device for collecting money" and also noted that "There is a man in charge to see that contributions are not stolen."

In 1908, contributions received through Christmas kettles in New York City provided funds for the first great sit-down dinner, in Madison Square Garden.

Today the kettles are used by every Salvation Army Corps in the nation. Many of the kettles are manufactured in state prisons.

Public contributions to the kettles enable The Salvation Army to bring the spirit of Christmas into lives which would otherwise be denied the warmth and friendliness of the season. To those far from homes, to underprivileged children, to the ill, to inmates of jails and prisons—to all these, The Salvation Army's remembrance at Christmas often spells the difference between happiness and misery.

Throughout the country the Salvation Army in a recent year gave more than 1,650,000 persons assistance at Thanksgiving or Christmas. In most cases, families are given a check instead of a Christmas basket so they can have the fun of shopping and planning according to their own tastes. In addition many homeless individuals are enabled to share a bountiful meal at Salvation Army centers, such as those in Skid Row areas. Special preparations for the holiday, of course, are carried on in Salvation Army homes for unwed mothers, residences for the aging and similar institutions.

Kettles have changed since the utilitarian cauldron was set up in San Francisco. Some new Salvation Army kettles have such new-fangled gadgets as a self-ringing bell and come with a Christmas booth, complete with public address system over which the traditional Christmas music is beamed. Behind it all, though, is the same basic feeling summed up in The Salvation Army slogan, "Share with Others."

THE PHILOSOPHER

Giving Gifts

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has discovered that Christmas is here again, his letter this week reveals.)

Dear editor: Although they're generally drowned out because people's instincts frequently are more accurate than their thoughts, still there are always a few around this time of the year who say all this gift-giving has gone too far, that Christmas has become just a big commercial blast, that people would do better to spend their money more usefully.

Well, possibly so, but the same probably was said about a group of wise men, numbering three I believe, who showed up with some gifts one time. After all, what use are myrrh and frankincense to a newborn babe?

Now me, I believe in gift-giving so strongly that for years I've been working on a plan where everybody figured up what Christmas cost him, then put it alongside what he got, and if he came out on the short end, the government, in the spirit of the season, would make up the difference, but so far the only response I've gotten out of all the politicians I've mentioned this to is a Christmas card.

Oh, one did write a brief note saying he doubted it would show fiscal responsibility, but thunderation, if you're going to be financially responsible at this time of the year you'll wreck the whole idea. Obviously he didn't have the Christmas spirit.

Reforming Christmas is sort of like reforming society. It reads good on paper but nobody ever seems to pay much attention to it, people just go on being people.

Merry Christmas, this year and from now on, too.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

DEAR EDITOR

What Our Readers Think

Holladays 'Retire' Santa

Bill Turner
Lamb County Leader
Littlefield, Texas

Dear Mr. Turner:

We have had many, many inquiries as to why we did not put up our outside Christmas decorations this year, and feel many of our other friends have wondered why also. We felt the best way to reach everyone who wonders is to write you.

Not putting up the lights this year is more of a disappointment to us than to the viewers who pass our house, because it has been a family tradition for at least 20 years. We started it for our children, then later grandchildren, and now we have great-grandchildren who will miss the lights. It always hurts to have to break a tradition.

You are aware of the trouble we have had (along with others who put up lights here in town) from vandalism every year. Many of our good friends, some that we didn't even know personally, have volunteered to take turns sitting with the lights. We appreciate very much and are deeply grateful to know there are so many who would give of their precious time at this busy time of the year.

Our police department patrolled and sat up trying to keep the vandals, but there are people in town who need to be too, and the police can't be everywhere.

It just ruins the fun of having lights, knowing that they may be partially or totally destroyed one night. Or even worse that innocent person might be injured you saw and gave chase to persons involved in tearing something you had built up over the years. This nearly happened last year!

We hate it very much, but with much thought, we have decided to "retire" Santa from our house this year.

Season's Greetings from
Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Holt

Spirit Dampened

By LIBBY MUDGE

THINGS THAT KILL the Christmas Spirit in the hardest of jolly, old ho-ho-ho souls:

Running out of materials for that special surprise gift you are making yourself and having the saleslady at the store tell you they've sold out but will have in some more in January.

HAVING TO GO see the accountant that labors for you, he says, but after he gets through explaining all about your sin of just living, you wonder if he's not secretly laboring for the Internal Revenue Service.

Finding a special bargain of a $1.98 gift and when you get it home, it looks exactly like a $1.98 gift.

LOOKING AT YOUR LAST trailer load of stripped cotton and admitting that it really does look more like a trailer load of pecans.

Discovering tucked in amongst your Christmas cards a telephone bill for twice the amount you expected.

Mailing a Christmas package at more than the cost of what's in the package, but the clerk insists if you don't send it air mail it won't get there in time and you know he's right.

WALKING INTO YOUR house after Christmas shopping and finding your Christmas tree overturned with the water that was in the stand now soaking merrily into the gifts stacked underneath where the tree was.

Flipping on your television set to catch a Christmas special and seeing American boys fighting and getting fought in Vietnam.

REALIZING, in the middle of your Christmas baking, that you left a vital ingredient out of that concoction that's already in the oven.

Exchanging gifts at a Christmas social and the recipient of yours can't hide that first flicker of disappointment upon unwrapping same.

HAVING YOUR DENTIST peer into your prized-open mouth, chortle happily, and inform you if you don't come back and have that work done first thing after Christmas, he won't be responsible.

for what will happen.

Thinking you had enough cash in your purse for that little Christmas decoration you just purchased then having the clerk add various taxes up and you don't have it.

RUNNING OUT of Scotch right in the middle of wrapping Christmas gifts.

Looking in roughly 100 stores for a special present for some one and finding out that Aunt Be bought the same thing last year for the same somebody.

Felling uplifted after a program of Christmas carols and the program is a debate on the merits of Congress' tax bill over Nixon wants as a tax bill and don't want either one of them.

MAKING UP YOUR MIND you're going to buy 100% cotton gifts this year and wearing out pairs of shoes trying to find some.

Being proud of yourself thinking of using real sand from sandhills to arrange your Christmas scene on and having the family think you hauled it in just for the holidays.

FINDING SIZE 16 pants on (non-returnable) for Cousin Fred and getting a little Christmas card from her just after you got wrapped informing you she just 25 pounds.

Taking anything with an address number to the post office.

RECEIVING A CHRISTMAS card from an old friend telling her husband just gave her $50 for Christmas and the next mail open is a lovely reminder that land payment will be due just the holidays.

Finding out that the insurance company you used to patronize giving away beautiful pens this and the company you switched to is giving out ugly calendars.

BEING TOLD FOR CERTAIN that Christmas comes on Thursday this year when you have been thinking all along you had an extra day to tie up all those loose ends that dangle every year.

Adding up what you really spent on Christmas and having your repairman swear on his reputation that there's nothing wrong with that adding machine.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Respond!

Whether you're a prize-winning cook or a beginner still having trouble with fundamental sauces, your cooking will respond to a gas range. And, your family will love you for it.

The real secret of better cooking is fast, accurate heat control. And nine out of 10 professional chefs agree that only a gas range gives you the control needed for gourmet meals... that's why so many of them use gas.

A gas range gives you an infinite number of temperature settings, not just a few pre-set push buttons. You can see the blue flame, adjust it, always know how much heat you're getting. And, when you turn on a gas range the flame is there... no waiting for warm-up. Turn it off and the flame and the heat disappear immediately — precision control for every phase of top-of-range cooking.

There are lots of extras you can get with a gas range, too. Like high-speed infrared broilers, the Burner-with-a-Brain that makes every pot and pan an automatic appliance, automatic controls that start and stop ovens at preselected times and hold food at serving temperature without over cooking, and ovens that clean themselves. All these things to give you greater kitchen freedom.

The fact is that a gas flame cooks better than an electric coil, and costs less too. So, whether you're a prize-winning cook or a beginner, respond to a gas range and your family will respond to you. See your gas appliance dealer.

Actors, Singers, Dancers Being Sought For 'Texas'

One hundred salaried positions will be filled in the company of the "Texas" Musical Drama before the opening rehearsal on May 31, 1970.

Actors, Singers, Dancers who wish to try out for the 1970 season, will have the opportunity on Jan. 2.

Auditions will be held in the Branding Iron Theatre on the campus of West Texas State University, and the theatre is in the Fine Arts Building on Highway 87.

The director, William A. Moore, who has been with "Texas" since its beginning and is responsible for its production, and his staff, will begin hearing applicants at 1 p.m.

Stage technicians and instrumentalists (banjo, standard guitar, violin, accordion and string bass) will also be interviewed.

The directors invite everyone who is interested to try out, bringing a short memorized selection to show acting ability, a memorized song to indicate the quality of the singing voice, and rehearsal clothes if they wish to try out for dance.

Since almost all roles involve some singing and dancing, applicants must demonstrate both abilities. The directors understand, of course, that most people are stronger in one area than in the other.

A second audition in Canyon will take place Jan. 24 in the same location, starting at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m., another Feb. 28 in Dallas at El Centro College, and one to be announced in Norman, Okla.

Members of the cast must be free to report May 31 for rehearsal and be prepared to stay through Aug. 31, the end of the season.

HIDES GREATNESS

He intentionally hides the greatness of His birth; He who is of the royal race and of the blood of David wills to be born of a poor artisan; He wills to be born as even the children of the poor and not born-in a stable, in a manger, in the society of vile animals. Not only does He hide His divinity under the guise of humanity, but he debases His humanity itself to the infirmities and weaknesses of infancy. What a humiliation. This God-Man becomes like little children; like them, deprived of the use of speech, liberty of movement; dependent in everything on the will of those around Him.

FIRE DAMAGE SOARS

Fire losses in the United States in 1968 reached a record $1,829,922,000. However, due to fire prevention efforts, the ratio of losses to the value of property subject to fire has declined steadily for many years.

Christmas Gifts Around World

Whether it's Santa Claus, the Kurosu, "Pere Noel," Befana" or "You" who brings the gifts on Christmas, they share with the rest of the world a feeling that you have presented a present of the season.

Classes

ave Social

MILTON—The Dorcas and Sunday School classes of the Baptist Church met last evening in the home of Mrs. R. G. DeBerry for their annual Christmas party. Husbands were invited.

Teachers of these two classes are Mrs. L. G. Elkins and Mrs. H. B. Carson. D. S. Price is department president.

The evening was spent in refreshments of coffee, hot chocolate and a variety of pies served to Messrs. and Mrs. L. G. Elkins, H. B. Carson, D. S. Price, Jim Hyatt, L. Carson Jr., and R. G. DeBerry. Also attending were Mrs. R. W. Malone, Homer Jewell Campbell and W. Smith Jr.

The Christmas decor was throughout the home. Gifts were distributed from a decorated tree to guests and members.

Ms. Rumback Entertains Ladies' Circle

Mrs. Kathrine Rumback was hostess to the Mary Francis Ladies Circle recently in her home.

The birthday calendar was presented by Mrs. G. V. Walden and a prayer was offered for home and foreign missionaries.

Mrs. E. G. Brunson, the group's teacher, led the group in Bible study, "God's Fellow Workers" taken from the new testament.

Those present were Meses Barker, J. L. Barnard, W. Boyd, Herbert E. Evans, J. D. Ewins, K. Houk, K. Lindley, E. G. Martin, Walter Martin, M. B. Nelson, G. V. Walden, M. B. Walden, and Misses Alice Walden, and Frankie Stephens.

Special guests were Mrs. Lenton Walden, Mrs. Alene Edwards, Mrs. A. M. Dunagin and Mrs. Walden of Dallas.

For no matter where you go, gift-giving is one of the high points associated with the holiday season.

Mexicans, for example, are actually given to distributing gifts from on high. They hang a large ceramic "pinata" stuffed with presents from the ceiling. Blindfolded children and adults strike at it with long poles. When it finally breaks, spilling its riches to the ground, everyone has a gift.

When "Santa Kurosu" (Japanese for Santa Claus) opens his bag on Christmas Eve, a strange smell fills the air—for some Japanese villagers consider it extremely good luck to give fish as Christmas presents!

In Spain, gifts are exchanged on January 6th in honor of Epiphany, to celebrate the arrival of the Three Wise Men at Bethlehem. Adults in France exchange gifts on New Year's Day, but the impatient young fry are visited by "Pere Noel" on Christmas Eve just like their American cousins.

Gift-wise, American children are game for almost anything—Limbo Legs, Dynamite Shack, Cut Up, Kooky Carnival and Finders Keepers, among others, are the names of the games.

The first requires the youngster to jump over a spinning "limbo" rod as best he can.

A player in Dynamite Shack must get rid of all his "dynamite" sticks by placing them in a toy shack while wearing two huge and hilarious plastic thumbs. If he makes it, the rooftop pops off.

A fashion game designed for the clothes-conscious, Cut Up is played by young girls racing against time to cut out paper money to "buy" fashion outfits and clothe their models.

Kooky Carnival is another winner. It has many different skill and luck games like Movin' Mouse and Spineroo. Youngsters take their chances along the "midway".

Related to the old shell game, Finders Keepers, still another find, is primarily for thinkers. Here, a good memory pays off.

Players spin the spinner and pick up one of the cut shapes specified. If the child finds a coin, he keeps it.

Playing the game according to the rules, Italian children put out their shoes and await presents from a female version of Santa called "La Befana" who, riding on a broomstick, brings gifts to good children...and ashes to bad ones.

While waiting for Befana, who comes on January 6th, Italian children and their elders draw small gifts on Christmas Eve from a jar called the "urn of fate."

The poet Dylan Thomas immortalized some of the gifts exchanged in his native land in his "A Child's Christmas in Wales," in which he tells of receiving "useful" presents like mufflers and gloves and a crocheted nose bag, and "useless" presents like "fudges and toffees, crunchies, crackles and marzipan."

In Sweden, the feast of St. Lucia on Dec. 13 ushers in the Christmas season. Each community chooses a lovely Lucia Queen to represent the young girl martyred for her religion centuries before in ancient Rome.

The chosen Queen is feted and entertained royally. In families with daughters, throughout Sweden, the prettiest is traditionally chosen as Lucia. Her "gift" is to wait on everyone else for the day!

The systematic British long ago established Dec. 26 as "Boxing Day"—on this pugilistic sounding occasion, servants and tradespeople all over England are given boxes of money in token appreciation for their services.

"Christmas isn't Christmas without presents" said a concerned Amy in classic "Little Women" and tradition bears her statement out.

Whatever the amount spent, whatever the present, Americans certainly agree with Amy's sentiments.

Each year in America, more than 27 billion dollars are spent on Christmas presents.

WORSHIP IN CHURCH

and get a spiritual lift for the whole week

Luke tells us what Christmas is all about in chapter 2, verse 14, when he shouts — Glory To God In The Highest, and On Earth, Peace And Good Will To All Men. It takes only two words to speak the Christmas Message, — "glory" and "Peace." These words express the glory of God as no others do. That historic babe, born in a manger, has transformed a whole world. His spirit means Christmas in the life of humans such as we. In Him is embodied the love, patience, and essential goodness of the best man who ever lived— Jesus. He is the true example of the God of power and righteousness. Men knew he was all-powerful but had never known He was all-loving. We must not wallow away Christmas Day by guzzling up our blessings in dismay. Let us give of our best in the spirit of Joy. Exchange gifts, if you may, in memory of Him who taught us that it is always more blessed to give than to receive.

A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL!
