Littlefield Feeders Means Millions To Area

Littlefield Feeders may mean more to area economy than a person would think. Cattle feeding is one of the main factors holding the area's economy together. Custom feeding accounts for hundreds of jobs and millions of dollars in income and productivity in this area. Considering the output, payroll and spinoff of only one 20,000-head lot makes for a not-so-small industry.

The ag man for Southwestern Public Service Company in Amarillo, Sam Thomas, figures that an average sized feedlot is built to hold 20,000 head of cattle. Under normal conditions, that operation will turn out about 36,600 head cattle a year.

Figuring a 1,100-pound steer at 45 cents per pound and multiplying times 36,600 head, the gross value of those cattle is $18,117,000. Using a multiplier of 3.86 for the total gross impact, that means that one feedlot pumps $69,931,620 into the local economy.

Then figure 25 workers on the payroll at $1,000 each a month, or $300,000. The job multiplier here is 2.82, so the feedlot actually means about 71 jobs.

At a wage base of $15,000 times the 44 extra jobs, the tally grows to $666,000. That, added to the $300,000 in direct employment, is just $34,000 shy of a flat $1 million.

Those cattle consume 1,830,000 bushels of milo, which can be figured at 4.5 cents a pound, or $4,611,640. Figure 16,470 tons of hay at $60 a ton for another $988,000 and the pharmaceutical cost could be in the neighborhood of $73,000 a year.

A 20,000-head lot would require 1,006 20-ton loads to move the cattle from the feedlot and a minimum of 366 20-ton truck loads to bring in replacement animals. The in-put movement, of course, will vary when cattle sometimes come and go, depending on the availability of grass.

The feedlot we may have taken for granted needed 2,745 truck loads to handle the 54,900 tons of grain that would have been used in the yards, and 824 truck loads to bring in the hay.

Looking at the big picture, multiply all those figures by 170 feedlots in this part of Texas. Don't forget, among other things, 114,114 truckloads to move fats to the packer, 41,500 loads to bring in replacements, 311,255 loads to haul the grain and 94,567 loads to tote the hay and other roughage.

Littlefield Feeders had 12,500 cattle on feed the first week in May and pen building continues. By fall the lot should be operating at full capacity, which is 28,000 to 30,000-head.

Charles Ball, Texas Cattle Feeders Association executive vice president, feels the increase in beef prices, here to stay for a while, should be good news for the producers and consumers.

He figures that prices will stay up

Rep. Bill Clayton Named 'Man Of Year'

State Representative and Speaker of the House Bill Clayton, who for years has been an advocate of water conservation, has been named a "Man of the Year in Texas Agricultural" for 1975 by the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association.

One of six Texans selected for the award, Clayton was nominated by the county agents in District 2 (South Plains) of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The awards are presented annually to outstanding leaders in agriculture and related industries, said Dallas County Extension Agent Steve Wheelless, president of the state association. The awards also recognize the contributions made by these leaders to improving the quality of living and economic growth in their communities, their counties, the state and nation.

Clayton will receive his award during the association's annual meeting Aug. 3-5 in Lubbock.

Clayton, who farms and ranches near Springlake in Lamb County, has been an acknowledged leader in water legislation. He has served as chairman of the standing Subcommittee on Water Conservation of the Natural Resources Committee and on the Conservation and Reclamation Committee as well as numerous interim water committees.

He has also chaired committees on aeronautics, counties and livestock since being elected to the Texas House of Representatives in 1962. Clayton has held the Speaker's position since January.

He is a member of the Executive Committee of the Southern Environmental Resources Conference, board member of the Texas Water Conservation Association, former executive director and present advisory board member of Water, Inc., former chairman of the Interstate Conference on Water Problems and member of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Water Resources Committee.

Other achievements include chairman of the 1975 National Legislative Conference and executive committee member of the Southern Legislative Conference. Clayton is a director of the Olton State Bank and is president of Springlake Enterprises as well as Texhold, Inc.

Recipient of numerous awards, Clayton's honors include the Fort Worth Press "Outstanding Service Award in Water Conservation" and the first award of the West Texas Water Institute for meritorious contributions to the development and conservation of West Texas water resources.

Clayton is a graduate of Texas A&M

University with a B.S. degree in agricultural economics.

He and his wife, Delma, have two children.

Cystic Fibrosis Campaign Headed By Mrs. Watson

Chuck Laurent, president of the Lone Star Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation announces the acceptance of the annual Breath of Life Campaign by Mrs. Harlon Watson of Springlake.

Research and care programs for the millions of children affected by lung-damaging diseases such as Cystic Fibrosis, severe asthma, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis, and a condition called "Childhood Emphysema."

Cystic Fibrosis, a genetic disease for which there is presently no known cure, is inherited when both parents carry the recessive gene for C/F. It is believed that one in 20 persons or 10 million Americans may carry the C/F gene, usually without knowing it.

Current research funded by the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is seeking a practical test to identify carriers.

It's Against The Law To Burn Field Stubble

Regulation I of the Texas Air Control Board prohibits outdoor burning within the state of Texas.

This prohibition applies to outdoor burning of agricultural crop residue.

There are exceptions to the regulation in that certain outdoor burning is allowable, such as fire-fighting training, recreational campfires, etc.

Violators of this ban on outdoor burning are subject to fines of $50 to $1,000 per day for each day of violation.

The Texas Air Control Board also has several other regulations concerning other types of air pollution, permits for construction and operation of possible air pollution sources, and air pollution emergency episodes.

For further information contact the Region 2 Office of the Texas Air Control Board at #15 Briercroft Office Park, Lubbock, Texas 79412, or phone (806) 744-0090.

A TELEPHONE CABLE containing 55 pairs of wires to the Anton Exchange were cut in two shortly after noon Tuesday when a truck went down Eastside between East 8th and East 7th, caught the cable, shook the lines, knocked local telephone lines out of service and caused a Southwestern Public Service Co. transformer to burn out. Here, repairmen for both companies are at work. In the foreground the telephone lines are being spliced, while in the background a new transformer is being installed. (Staff Photo)

Dear Sir:

I want to thank all the people of Littlefield, Spade, Amherst and Fieldton who have sent money and their prayers for my son, Ricky Head. He has a brain tumor.

I also want to thank the newspaper for the story. I was told you ran in your paper telling people there was a fund for Ricky at the First National Bank.

We enjoyed the two years we lived in Littlefield.

May God bless and reward every one of you.

Would you please send me a copy of that paper C.O.D.

Ricky is holding his own for now. We were able to bring him home for a while, yesterday.

He is a little upset now, as he has the chicken pox.

Thank you again and please let the people know how much we thank them.

Sincerely,
Sandra and James Head

SPAG Finance Employees Resign After Wages Cut

Two South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) employees resigned here Tuesday after SPAG budget committee members recommended reducing their salaries during a business meeting of the Executive Committee and the Board of Directors of SPAG at Clark's Restaurant.

A budget committee was appointed in June by SPAG to review the association's finances, and the committee recommended that the salaries be reduced—sparking the resignations of Jim Crowder, finance director, and his assistant, Linda Major.

Their salaries were discussed during a closed session of the board, and SPAG board members approved reducing Crowder's salary to $11,000 annually and the assistant's salary to $9,940 after reopening the meeting to the public.

SPAG members have authorized SPAG executive director Truett Mayes to set staff salaries, and SPAG president, Carolyn Jordan of Lubbock, said new employees will be hired at rates between $11,000 and $12,000 for the finance director's job, and between $6,000 and $7,500 for the assistant's post.

Crowder's salary had been raised from $8,000 annually to about $12,000 in a 12-month period, and his assistant's salary had been hiked from about $5,100 to $10,620 annually in about a six-month period.

Other action taken by the SPAG board included authorization for studies toward appointing a Health Service Agency (HSA) and a health advisory board for a SPAG area health program.

Lubbock County Commissioner Alton Brazell said "general discussions" at the liaison meetings have been to hire West Texas Health Systems staff members as professional planners for the HSA. WTHS is due to be phased out in December in lieu of national plans for regional health coordination.

Brazell said the committee has also reached a tentative agreement to have SPAG board members appoint a 25 to 30 member HSA board from health consumers, elected officials, health professionals and minorities in the SPAG area.

Duties of the HSA board and staff will be to improve medical programs and cut health care costs in the region. The SPAG area will receive a minimum of $342,200 annually for conducting the programs.

Letters indicating there is no plan for Economic Development District (EDD) officials to change a requirement for minority representation on the SPAG board before the 15-county region can be designated as an EDD were also presented at the meeting. Designation of an EDD in the SPAG area would mean a $1 million grant to the City of Lubbock for job development.

Mrs. Jordan said a vote on obtaining minority representation on the SPAG board to meet the guidelines will be taken at the August board meeting.

SPAG board members also made favorable funding comments on requests for a $136,115 grant from the Lubbock County Hospital District (LCHD) for a countywide Emergency Medical Services (EMS) program and $366,785 for the Lubbock County Summer Youth Program.

CLIPS & TIPS

By JOELLA LOVVORN

OUTDOOR COOKING offers hours of fun and relaxation for the entire family and for friendly gatherings, providing that certain safety steps are recognized and followed.

To guide barbecuing enthusiasts in their cooking, here are some suggestions:

1. WHERE to use the grill is an important consideration. Place the grill on level ground, where it will be stable. An anchored grill is a good choice, because it can't be tipped over. Select an open area for proper ventilation. Never attempt to cook indoors on a charcoal grill; the burning briquets can generate poisonous carbon monoxide fumes.

2. WHEN to barbecue is influenced by weather conditions. On windy days, even if the grill's cooking area is protected by a windshield, be extra careful to prevent flames from escaping and doing damage to the surrounding area.

3. WHAT to use to start a charcoal fire is important, because some materials are more dangerous than others. Do not use kerosene or gasoline! A small amount of special charcoal lighter fluid is the preferred method of starting charcoal. Use a long, kitchen-type wooden match to ignite the fire, and immediately move away from the grill. Don't try to add more starter fluid after the charcoal begins burning. When lighting a gas grill, always raise the cover before turning on the gas.

4. HOW to be cautious during cooking involves both the operator and the design of the grill. It is recommended that you wear a large apron and insulated cooking mitts.

When lifting the grill's cover, keep your distance from the heat. Some grills feature side-mounted lid handles to help eliminate the burn hazard. Be sure to use long-handled cooking utensils that have sturdy, heat-resistant handles to provide a firm grip.

Keep children away from the grill during cooking and until the grill has cooled.

BY FOLLOWING these tips, avid barbecuers can be sure of safer, more enjoyable years of outdoor cooking.

AS FOOD PRICES continue to deplete a large portion of the family budget, today's homemakers should take a good, long look at the lowly, little peanut.

Why peanuts? Nutritionists declare that pound for pound, peanuts have more protein, minerals and vitamins than beef liver and more food energy than sugar. It has been said that in one peanut butter sandwich lies all the nutrients to fulfill a child's daily needs. Also, in its various forms, peanuts do less damage to the grocery budget than do meats and sugar.

FEEDERS

Continued from Page 1 because of the lack of finished cattle available, so the producer who has animals to market will be in a bit better shape. The supply situation, especially considering the lack of financial backing for new feeding ventures, isn't expected to change very much in the near future.

As for the consumer angle, the profits being made should eventually attract new production, so adequate supplies of finished beef should be available in the months and years ahead.

Thus, it may reasonably be assumed that peanut popularity in the average American kitchen is destined to rise. And where better to look for delicious ideas for turning that healthy little pea into scrumptious dining adventures than two of the leading peanut-producing states—Alabama and North Carolina.

Howard Bloom, owner-operator of the Holiday Inn restaurant in Roanoke Rapids, N.C., was named "Top Peanut Pusher of 1973" in his state and has developed hundreds of original recipes featuring the peanut.

Two of his favorite creations are Panut Carrot Salad and Howard Bloom's Original Peanut Soup.

Another mouth-watering peanut recipe is "Little Ann's Peanut Pie" from the Holiday Inn in Eufaula, Ala. This gorgeous delicacy teams roasted peanuts with white raisins and coconut.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Lessen Stress

By BOB

WE CANNOT CONTROL everything that affects us, but it is important that we learn to control everything we can. More than this, we must learn to be very wise in the formation of our attitudes and the management of our responses to what is happening.

We do have great capacity for accomplishment in these areas, and we have access to all of the information and help we may need to thus equip ourselves for living with a minimum of stress.

"LESSEN STRESS" is a worthy, and necessary aim; and is a very reasonable one, too. It is stress that causes tension. Of course, there are instances in which we use the words "stress" and "tension" interchangeably. In this instance, "stress" is being used according to the standard meaning; "a physical, chemical, or emotional factor that causes bodily or mental tension."

So far as available information reveals, different persons have different tolerance levels of "stress"; and some folk can handle it better than others. We can probably learn the degree of "stress" we can handle, without appreciable damage to ourselves; and then manage our lives accordingly. This can be done, because of well-formed, wholesome attitudes and our sensible response to what is happening.

HAPPENINGS in today's world have the possibility of causing an enormous daily "stress" in one's life.

If we are not wise in our response; in the ways we think and talk and act; we will feel so much "stress" that the resulting tension will be greater than we can handle effectively. We are right and the power to do what we want is in our hands. The stressful we are going to be in that situation to become.

"NO LIFE IS SO HARD that it makes it easier by the way we live." Glasgow.

OUR PERSONAL LIFE can also be involved in our consideration of "stress" and the resulting tension. Many factors may be involved, but the most frequent cause of the "stress" that hurts so badly is prolonged or recurring anxiety.

This can become habitual, and it is such a negative process of misguided imagination, its impact upon us can be devastating.

"ANXIETY HAS NO definite form to grapple with. It is usually associated with an elusive, indefinite, threat of future danger. It changes body for immediate action in such instances, is premature and unnecessary." Carrington.

AS A FIXED ATTRIBUTE of life, this sustained or often recurring anxiety produces the "stress" that is so much harmful strain on the mind.

Fortunately, well-formed, sensible attitudes will provide the protection we need against the "stress" that hurts so much.

WE CAN "LESSEN STRESS" if we must do so, in order to live an abundant life.

Turn Row COMMENTS

I GUESS THAT THERE IS some good in almost everything, for example, the silver leaf nightshade is one of the worst weeds in West Texas cotton fields.

Yet this herbicide-resistant pest has an enemy that may prove deadly says Experiment Station scientists. This is a tiny parasite (a nematode called N. phyllobia) that had rather live on nightshade than any other plant. And its presence causes nightshade to develop a severe case of galls which stunts or kills the plant. TAES and ARS researchers have been able to artificially infest nightshade with these nematodes. They say this biological control may one day offer cotton growers still another tool to control a pest with the use of chemicals.

"GOIN' down the Road," a new feature film documentary on the life of Jim Shoulters, one of the greatest professional rodeo champions of all time, is now available for use by committees, compliments of the Winston Rodeo Awards program.

The movie features rodeo scenes from the Shoulters ranch in Henryetta, Okla., to the National Finals Rodeo while Jim gives some inside views of what pro rodeo is all about.

Plenty of rodeo action is shown in "Goin' Down the Road," including Jim's son, Marvin, riding the great Mighty Mouse for the first time ever and Larry Mahan winning the World Champion All Around Cowboy title for a record sixth time.

The 27-minute, 16mm, color movie with an original soundtrack has already won two film awards, the Western Heritage Award for Best Documentary and the CINE Golden Eagle Award.

But it was designed especially for use by local rodeo committees in the pre-rodeo promotional activities for your individual rodeo. The movie is an attractive and entertaining promotional tool to use when speaking to local community groups.

"Goin' Down the Road" is now available to go down the road. Just contact Rogers, RHR Filmedia, Inc., 4848 48th Street, New York, N.Y. 10008, for information on obtaining a copy in connection with your rodeo.

WHAT'S IN STORE for cattlemen far as prices are concerned for the remainder of 1975?

"Although there's optimism in some circles due to current stronger market prices and an increase in cattle feed it's a little early for cattlemen to be cheering," contends Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist for Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"In fact, producers may be in for another drop in market prices as year moves along."

So Uvacek advises cattlemen to market or contract calves early and old cows as soon as possible.

What are the reasons for Uvacek's gloomy outlook?

First of all, the supply of grain and beef should increase during the second half of the year. Fed cattle markets are expected to be about 9 per cent larger during the last six months of 1975 than during the first half of the year.

Increased cow liquidations will also boost the total beef supply. Uvacek expects cow slaughter to increase 40 per cent during the last half of 1975 compared to the first six months of the year.

More beef will also result from large kills of non-fed steers and heifers and calves. Slaughter of non-fed steers and heifers is expected to be up 62 per cent during the last half of the year while cow slaughter should be up almost 70 per cent, according to the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"Cow-calf producers are loaded with calves that they will be marketing this summer and fall," points out Uvacek. "Many of them will be moving to feedlots, but the expected overflow is sure to bring feeder prices down."

"All this means a weaker cattle market during the remainder of the year," believes the specialist.

FIBROSIS

Continued from Page 1 Because of improved therapy and constant research, many C/F patients are living beyond infancy, childhood, and into young adulthood. Children with other lung diseases whose symptoms are similar to C/F respond very favorably to much the same treatment. Their suffering is alleviated, and many times cures are affected.

Though there is still no cure for Cystic Fibrosis, today there is real hope, based on the realities of more public understanding, more public support, more advanced research and better care. But with this progress, the need of six million children who struggle to breathe grows larger, and with it, the need for more volunteers and more funds.

Everyone can help. The job cannot be left solely to dedicated parents of C/F and lung-damaged children. The cause is great enough to engage the attention and support of men and women everywhere who care about children and lung diseases. Promise your support, call Mrs. Harlon Watson at 986-2751 and help destroy cystic fibrosis.

Cotton Price Outlook Mixed; Could Brighten

Actual increase in cotton production coupled with a production this year, to strengthen the U.S. cotton market.

And with high world cotton carryover on August 1, export demand could also become a big factor in price movement, Cox said.

Cox's analysis is drawn from a survey of world cotton supply and demand conditions conducted by economists at Cotton Incorporated, the fiber company of U.S. cotton producers.

"With the economy showing signs of recovery, increased cotton use should push prices gradually upwards in the months ahead," Cox said. "However, prices are likely to be tempered by the carryover on August 1, expected to be the largest in several years."

One unknown in the price picture is how foreign exporting countries will handle their large carryover, Cox said.

Foreign exporting nations hold a greater share of the world's carryover than they normally have held in the past, and this year they failed to cut back plantings as sharply as had been expected.

Foreign producers are expected to hold about 81 per cent of the world's carryover on August 1, 1975, with the United States holding about 19 per cent.

By comparison, during the period 1967-72, foreign producers held an average of 70 per cent of the carryover, and the United States 30 per cent.

"If foreign exporting countries choose to dump their stock on the world market, U.S. exports will suffer," Cox explained. "Domestic cotton prices would also suffer, since they, in part, reflect export conditions."

The 1975-76 export outlook continues to brighten, however, as the noncommunist world begins to recover from the grips of the recession, Cox said. He projects U.S. exports at about 5.0 million bales in 1975-76, an increase of about 1.1 million bales over the figure for 1974-75.

"U.S. exports must compete in world markets at world prices, and the industry must continue to promote U.S. cotton aggressively," he said.

Cox advised producers in all areas to pay close attention to the market and re-evaluate their plans, since conditions could change very rapidly. He noted that short staple cotton, which is now in relatively tight supply compared to stocks of other staple lengths, should become more abundant later. Medium length cotton, in ample supply now, will become scarcer later in the 1975-76 crop year.

The demand for short staple cotton continues to be strong, relative to the rest of the market, Cox said. "Denim products, made from the short staple cotton, are the hottest selling textile products at this time," he pointed out.

Supplies of short staple cotton are somewhat limited now, Cox said, but that situation is expected to change because of the large plantings in Texas and Oklahoma.

The converse is true for medium staple cotton, Cox said. Production will be down sharply, while demand is expected to make a gradual recovery. "Demand will grow as the domestic textile industry slowly recuperates from the recession," he explained. "Tighter supplies will be felt by the textile industry later in the year."

The Cotton Incorporated analysis of the current cotton outlook is published in the June 1975 "Cotton Summary."

The STRENGTH of a Nation . . .

At this time, our thoughts are turned to our nation and the war that was fought to bring freedom to our land. Pictured here is a monument to the leader of our people at that time. The people were willing to give their lives that we might be free from tyranny, and have the right to worship as we please. God was with us then as he was with the children of Israel when Moses led them from Egypt. Upon receiving their freedom they sang . . . "The Lord is my strength and song, and he is become my salvation: he is my God, and I will prepare him an habitation; my father's God, and I will exalt him." Exodus 15:2

Help keep our Nation strong by relying on the strength of the Lord. Attend Church Regularly.

FIVE YOUNG IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN FIVE YOUNG

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Babe Ruth Squad Batters Olton

The local Babe Ruth 13-year old All-star team crushed Olton 13-3 Monday in the first round of the district tournament.

The Stars played again last night against the winner of the Muleshoe-Plainview contest.

Joe Rodriguez limited Olton to just three hits while going the distance on the mound. He was aided offensively by a five-run outburst in the third inning that allowed the locals to go ahead 6-1. They were never pressured after that.

Catcher Alvin Contreras slashed a triple and two doubles to lead the All-stars in batting. Ruben Torrez cracked a double while Henry Hiley, Tommy Williams, David Duenes and Rodriguez all added singles.

MRS. ROY HUTSON directed a patriotic program for members of the XYZ Club Tuesday as Phil Harguess, associate minister of the Crescent Park Church of Christ, led the group. (Staff Photo)
