

SCHOOL CONTRACTS TO GET ONCE-OVER

Salary Dispute Sparks Change

Littlefield school trustees backed Supt. Paul I. Jones Monday night in a salary disagreement with a resigning teacher and then called for a revamping of the wording in contracts to avoid future misunderstandings.

Discussion of the issue took the major time in a lengthy regular meeting of the school board.

At stake was a difference of $1,038.58 which Deverelle Lewis, former head coach and athletic director, contended was due him as the balance of an $11,420 annual contract.

Supt. Jones told the board he felt the $10,381.42 the school had paid Lewis was the "limit of our authority" under terms of the contract.

Starting and ending dates of the contract were the main points of disagreement.

Lewis submitted a letter of resignation on May 3, with the effective date the end of the "school year." He told the board his understanding was this time would complete his contract.

That effective date placed the termination of employment at May 28, when school closed, under Supt. Jones' interpretation.

The contract called for 210 working days, approximately 10 1/2 school months. It was dated Aug. 17, 1970—the date used on all teacher contracts, Jones explained, because it was the effective date of state teacher pay increases.

Use of that date placed the end of the contract at about July 1, thus the difference in salary, Jones said.

Lewis said his understanding was that the contract year started July 1 of 1970, and he pointed out that he did not stop working last summer. He contended the 210 working days would have been fulfilled at the end of the school year.

After Lewis left the meeting, the board discussed the issue at length.

Trustee Glenn Batson pointed out a discrepancy in Lewis' contract of the previous year, 1969-70, which called for a 9-month working year and was dated Aug. 1, 1969.

"He could have quit that year at the end of April and drawn the full contract," Batson said.

Jones said the contract of that year actually should have called for 10 months.

At the end of the discussion, the board in effect held that the date of Aug. 17 on the 1970-71 contract is official.

It happened in reverse, when Batson moved that the school pay Lewis the difference he was asking. Bob Roden seconded the motion.

The other five members, President Wayne Streety, Werner Birkelbach, Pat Downs, Dick Hopping and Doug Walden, voted "no."

A motion then came that the school check into the wording of future contracts so that starting and ending dates will be specified. The vote on this motion was unanimous.

Proposed School Budget To Keep Same Tax Rate

The Littlefield school board Monday night began study of a proposed 1971-72 school budget that would keep operations—and taxes—at the same level another year.

In other activity at a regular monthly meeting, the board:

1. Employed four teachers and a lunchroom supervisor.
  2. Accepted resignations of three faculty members, including both band directors.
  3. Approved the style and appearance of new band uniforms, with minor changes.
  4. Okayed an athletic budget of almost $24,000, about the same as last year, and discussed making repairs to Wildcat Stadium.
  5. Appointed First National Bank of Littlefield as the school depository for the next two years.
  6. Approved student insurance plans for next year, similar to those used in the past.
- In discussing the 1971-72 budget, Supt. Paul I. Jones told the board expenses would be slightly higher than this year, due to built-in state teacher salary increases.
- The budget, as proposed, would require the same tax rate as currently used, $1.80 per $100 assessed valuation.
- The public hearing on the new budget will be held Monday, Aug. 9th, at the next regular board meeting.

board inspected a model uniform and gave its approval. Minor changes okayed were the addition of medallions on the coat sleeves and back and the elimination of one ornament on the hat.

Purchase of the new uniforms was approved last month, with delivery scheduled early next year, before the spring concert season.

The athletic budget of $23,885 approved by the board is about $200 less than last year's. Anticipated receipts include $11,200 from football, $1,350 from basketball, and $1,685 from sales and miscellaneous receipts. The other $9,650 would be transferred from the maintenance operating fund, if receipts from football and basketball are higher next year than last, the amount of money to be transferred from maintenance would be less.

Briefly discussed was the need for repairs to Wildcat Stadium, especially the east stands. Board members were asked to inspect the stadium to see the need for themselves.

ON CERTIFYING ACREAGE Some Farmers Face Critical Decisions

Some Lamb County farmers, with no real hope for producing anything like a normal cotton crop because of extremely poor stands, are faced with a critical decision between now and the August 1 deadline for "certifying" acreage to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

They have two choices. They can apply to county ASCS offices for "failed acreage" credit and plow up the cotton, or they can leave the cotton and harvest whatever crop it may produce.

According to Donnell Echols of Lamesa, president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., there are at least three factors that should be taken into consideration before the decision is made, including (1) market price prospects, (2) possible effect on future payment yields and (3) the need for maximum production across the cotton belt to meet market demands.

"And it appears to me that when all three factors are considered the odds are in favor of leaving the cotton for harvest if there is a chance for even a very low yield," Echols said.

"The supply-demand situation, current spot market prices and the futures market all point to a strong demand for all qualities of 1971-crop cotton," he continued, "and with higher market prices it will be to our advantage to harvest every acre we can."

As the regulations now read, the effect on future payment yields where sub-normal crops are harvested would be no different from the effect of cotton acreage declared a total failure.

In both cases the county ASCS committee is authorized to use up to 80 percent of the farm's 1971 payment yield in calculating payment yields for 1972 and 1973.

However in 1969 farmers who harvested a "piece of a crop" were given the 80 percent adjustment while farmers with failed acreage were allowed to substitute 100 percent of their previous three year average yields. And this is the cause of farmer concern this year.

Echols has investigated the matter and does not believe there is any likelihood this 1969 ruling will be revived.

He quoted ASCS Administrator Kenneth Frick as saying "We can't give you an ironclad guarantee of anything, but as of now we can see no reason why one situation should be treated any different from the other, and I can assure you I'll be doing everything I can to see that the man who makes an honest effort to produce a crop gets just as much weather adjustment as anyone else."

HOMNY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

WHETHER WE LIKE to think about it, or not, we're coming to be faced with a pretty serious situation in our community. That situation is our shrinking water supply.

Farmer after farmer has been heard to complain about his wells weakening.

"I have two wells that, a few years ago, were pumping eight and six inches of water respectively." One farmer says "Now, both those wells are pumping into one pipe, at about the rate of one-half of a seven-inch well!"

HE FURTHER STATED that both the wells had been deepened to "Red-Red", which is as deep as can be drilled with the idea of getting fresh water.

In other words, that's the end-game, as far as these two wells are concerned.

WHAT, WITH THE DROUTH, the dry land farmer is pretty well out of the picture. So, looks like we'll just be waiting for rain, and the old saying, "It'll be better next year!" will be in style again.

Sure, it's too late to cry over the boo-boo that was made a few years ago, when water rights were sold to the city of Lubbock, a few miles above us, but, needless to say, I'm sure that's one of the things that's helping us along on our road to less-water.

IT'S HARDER TO undo a lot of things than it is to do them—however, that's one thing that needs UNDOING!

We may have to do research for higher paying crops than we're presently pumping our wather out on. Cotton and milo seem to be giving pretty poor returns for the amount of water they require.

And, another thing! A green concrete yard isn't to be sneezed at! They tell me it's a sure cure for dandelions, and stays green the year around. Think of the saving in water that would bring about.

NEEDLESS TO SAY, a good gentle three-inch rain would help a lot of things!

The "Good Book" says that He "sends the rain on the just and on the unjust", but, you notice that It mentions the JUST before It gets around to the UNJUST!

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Ingratitude

By BOB WEAR

INGRATITUDE IS MORE than lack of gratitude. It is lack of gratitude and it is an active force for evil in human affairs. All of its companions are evil; its influence is evil; and every manifestation of it is destructive. It undermines the foundation of all that is decent and worthwhile.

INGRATITUDE IN ONE'S life makes the individual totally insensitive to all the help and service received from others. More than this, it repels the good intentions and good impulses of the people who are trying to be useful and helpful. Ingratitude is like the cold wind that blows in the bleakness of winter when the grass is brown and the flowers gone.

WE LIVE IN A TIME of widespread ingratitude. It is the dominant evil controlling the lives of the people who curse and treat with contempt the people and institutions from which they have received so much. It is the corrupt spirit which possesses those who accept the blessings of God, and home, and country; but they view all of these with the greatest degree of scorn and hatred. Of course, we are thankful for the people who remember to be grateful.

IN THE HUSBAND-WIFE relationship, ingratitude is perhaps one of the most common causes of unhappiness. In fact, most marriages can survive hardships, economic difficulties, and even unfaithfulness; but ingratitude will eventually kill the spirit that gives meaning to the marriage. Let us also remember that unexpressed gratitude will cause about the same damage to a marriage.

IN THE PARENT-CHILD relationship, ingratitude is the great offender. There are so many reasons for gratitude, and such great need for its frequent expression. One of the basic human needs is the great need to be appreciated. Expressed appreciation makes the load seem lighter, the work a little easier, and the sacrifices worthwhile. Ingratitude spoils the good, and creates its own evil.

IN ALL HUMAN interaction, ingratitude takes a heavy toll and spoils what could otherwise be one of the most effective sources of mutual encouragement. We know that there is some expressed gratitude in some areas; but we also know that the human loss caused by ingratitude is so great that it cannot be counted.

INGRATITUDE DOES NOT stand alone. It keeps bad company. The ungrateful person always has other harmful vices. How black and base a vice ingratitude is, may be seen in those vices with which it is always in combination; pride and hard-heartedness, or want of compassion.—South.

ALL OF US are encouraged and strengthened by expressions of gratitude; but the greatest blessings are bestowed upon the persons who are generous in expressing gratitude. Good reasons to express gratitude to both God and our fellowmen; and do so often.

How Old Is Old?

THE NEW PRESIDENT of the American Geriatric Assn. is Dr. Irving Wright of Cornell.

He says employers and unions should stop trying to tell you when you are too old to work. He says government presumes to rule what age is retirement age though many members of Congress and most members of the Supreme Court are themselves past that age.

WHO ARE THEY to tell you to quit, when they won't?

How old is old? One thing's for sure, you can't measure age by the candles on the cake. If you are 60 and bored, you are old. If you are 80 and active and looking ahead, you are young.

AN ENFORCING retirement at an illogical chronological age is unscientific and unhealthy, can cause psychological problems, marital problems, suicide.

Further, mandatory retirement at age 65 is a waste of the potential productive manpower and woman power of 20 million Americans who are now past that age.

DR. FREDERICK SWARTZ is chairman of the AMA's Committee on Aging. He says 85% of the people over 65 are able to continue working—and should. He says most prematurely retired industrial workers within months are victims of imagined illnesses and begot real ones.

He says it's because housewives don't retire that they live longer than men. But what can a man past 65 do if nobody will hire him?

THE NATIONAL INSTITUTE of Industrial Gerontology blames company policies and union contracts for the inflexible "age 65 criteria."

PABLO CASALS continues to enrich the world with music at 94. Professional muscle-man Charles Atlas, at 79, continues to manage his prospering mail-order body-building business and remains himself a splendid physical and mental specimen.

YET MANAGEMENT and labor conspire with government to bury healthy, potentially productive people 20 or 30 years before they are dead.

Government, subsidizing the warehousing of elderly Americans in nursing homes, is doing them no favor.

FREQUENTLY, aging but entirely able people who would be much better off at home are pressured by relatives to move into one of those "welfare" financed places where by precept and example they learn to think old, act old, feel old and otherwise prepare prematurely to die.

At long last our American Medical Assn. is throwing its considerable weight behind efforts to do away with rigid retirement criteria.

I'LL TELL YOU a quick way to get the unions to change their tune: Feed the same retirement sauce to the gander as to the goose.

In which case President George Meany of the AFL-CIO, at 77, is himself 12 years overdue!

LIFEGUARDS TELL THEIR PEEVES

Safe Swimming Rules Listed

By GAYLE MILLS
Leader-News Society Editor

How are your pool-side manners during this hundred-degree weather?

Many are trying to keep cool in the refreshing waters of Crescent Park Swimming Pool and the Littlefield Country Club Pool.

Lifeguards at both pools try to keep their "cool" when young patrons pull didos of unsafe conduct in and around the pool-side.

Danny Harrell and Leslie LeBoeuf, lifeguards for the Crescent Park Swimming Pool, report some horseplay at times, such as "running around on the wet, slippery concrete by the pool-side. Many get quite a kick out of dunking each other in the water," they said.

Lifeguards report they on occasion, have to "go in and rescue younger ones who venture off the shallow slope into the deep end of the pool."

Other pool-side complaints came from Doug Cummings, lifeguard for the Littlefield Country Club Swimming Pool. He brought to mind such conduct as bringing bottles around the pool, which could get broken. He had seen the time when a piece of glass, not swept up, would cut a toe or foot.

"Some children are bad about diving off the board too close to the side of the pool, but, so far, no one has come up with a sliced head," Doug said.

"Keep Away, a game played by teens, seems to cause great disturbance to the little ones in the shallow water. The teens start their game in the deeper water and slowly venture closer to the younger ones—splashing and scaring them," he continued.

"Running around the pool" was one of his main pet peeves.

Before you and your family decide to dive into the pool for the cool relaxing exercise of one of America's leading family sports, ask yourself what you know about pool safety, and if you are completely prepared for the responsibilities involved.

Know how pool-side accidents occur, be sure you are acquainted with and observe the rules of pool safety. You must know and teach your family the rules of safe conduct in or near the pool and know the latest in first aid.

It is a steady job for every pool owner to keep fully aware of potential dangers and safety rules at the pool, to make swimming a safe and fun recreation.

Pool industry authorities report in 1960 there were about 200,000 permanent family swimming pools (in-ground and on-ground) in our nation. Today, they report, there are more than 700,000, plus about a million portable or "above-ground" pools.

This means in 1971, there will be an estimated 3-million pool owners and spouses who will think they are reasonably sure that they know what pool safety is all about. But, a trio of good intentions, common sense, and rusty experience is not enough.

The majority of the nation's estimated 3-million family pool owners probably once knew the basic fundamentals of life-saving, first aid and artificial respiration. Once knowing is not quite good enough and won't get the job done when a crisis occurs.

Setting and maintaining rules for the pool is one important step. Here is a list of rules for your swimming pool, according to safety authorities.

S swim with another person, even if you're Olympic material, as you may need help if trouble occurs.

W wait at least two hours after eating before you plunge into the water, this avoids cramps.

I injuries from glass can be dangerous, so remove all soda bottles and glasses from pool area.

M make sure toys are removed from pool when not in use, as they weaken chemical protection.

S shoving, dunking and other types of horseplay are taboo in or around the pool.

A athlete's foot baths and pre-swim showers are for your own protection and pool sanitation. Use them!

F follow carefully all directions on chemicals before using.

E eating in or around the pool is not only messy but a sanitation hazard as well.

L leaves and grass clippings and other debris should not be thrown or carried into the pool.

Y young children should be supervised at all times.

Life-saving methods have been developed in recent years, by simplification of respiration has been virtually "mouth-to-mouth resuscitation" new methods must be learned by all to be used effectively.

Be sure you have the proper equipment on hand, as well as a first aid manual. The Safety Council, Red Cross and agencies will assist you in this. A practical life-saving refresher course will give you the confidence you need.

But one of the most overlooked areas of the pool is the danger areas. These are basic and well-understood.

Use all pool chemicals according to manufacturers' directions and be sure to handle and store carefully.

To control bacteria and water must be treated with a sanitizer, called calcium hypochlorite, often known as "dry chlorine" bacteria fast and helps control is for your own protection.

The ordinary dry chlorine is dangerously reactive oxidizing agent, which has been responsible for fires and explosions in past years. It burns violently in contact with suntan lotion, fertilizers, soft even grass clippings.

However there is a new special calcium hypochlorite, flameproof and, in that respect, is much safer than ordinary dry chlorine, which is tested in a number of ways. It is from dealers handling pool chemicals.

Show a little concern for your family, post rules, inform your friends of the necessary precautions, this could mean a carefree "summer swimming fun" for all.

Poor Vision Causes Accidents

If every automobile driver had good vision, the number of highway accidents would go down dramatically, according to the Better Vision Institute. Unfortunately, even a score of 20/20 ("excellent") on the eye chart test is no guarantee that vision is good enough to meet the demanding daily test of driving an automobile safely. The chart test merely measures clarity of vision at a distance which is only one of the seeing skills that road safety demands.

Many American drivers have never taken even this simple test. Some drivers will never have any test at all unless existing state laws which allow automatic license renewal are changed.

But even in states where license renewal tests are required, visual clarity is frequently the only seeing skill that is measured.

Other eye skills, equally important, are often neglected, in tests of new drivers as well as of those renewing their license.

One of these skills is depth perception. Whenever you try to pass a car, you are risking your safety on your ability to use your depth perception. You must be able to judge the "depth" of the car you are passing and to judge angles and distances accurately. Only about half of the 50 states now check for this important seeing skill.

All states should check drivers' depth perception, warns the Better Vision Institute.

Like the ability to see clearly (the eye chart test), the ability to judge distance is something correctable when faulty, but the defect has to be discovered before anything can be done about it.

FIELD OF VISION
Only about one-third of the states now check for another cause of road accidents: poor field of vision. Field of vision is the size of the angle that your eyes, working together, see when you look down the road.

For example, some drivers have "tunnel vision." That is, their field of vision is so narrow that they can only see what is directly in front of them and could not see hazards on either side. Their tunnel vision may be caused by glaucoma, which a thorough eye examination could detect.

Some drivers have a form of tunnel vision because they have not developed the good habit of constantly looking from side to side and checking the two rear view mirrors when driving.

Such drivers should learn to keep their heads and eyes in motion as much as possible and should use wide-angled mirrors that bring the outside corners of the road closer to their field of vision.

NIGHT DRIVING
Driving at night requires better vision skills than driving during the day.

Good night vision requires the ability to see in dim light, beyond the range of your own headlights, to see in glaring light, and to recover rapidly from the "shock" of headlight glare.

One should never look directly into the center of an oncoming set of headlights. The driver should always look over to the side of the road.

To take full advantage of all the available light, your windshield should be clean and free from all obstructions, such as stickers, dangling toys, ornaments, etc. Your eyeglasses must also be completely clean. Special coated prescription lenses are available for night driving.

One or two out of every ten drivers is more nearsighted at night than during the day. When in doubt, remember that your eye doctor is equipped to test your eyes under low illumination conditions which are similar to night driving conditions.

You may be one of those drivers who should wear one pair of eyeglasses for day driving, another for night driving.

Sunglasses, which are so useful during the day, are dangerous for twilight or nighttime driving because they cut down the amount of light that reaches the eyes. Sunglasses must not be worn for night driving.

If a driver has a choice of making a trip during the day or at night, he should consider this fact: On a mileage basis, night accident rates are twice as high as day accidents in town and nearly three times as high in the country!

REGULAR EXAMS
All drivers should have their eyes checked every year, because vision sometimes fails very gradually. A driver may not become aware of his vision weakness for a long time. Good road vision is extremely demanding.

Good driving takes concentration. Fatigue glows up your eye reactions. Some visual weaknesses have a tendency to make the driver drowsy. Prolonged high-speed driving on open stretches makes everybody's eyes tend to "freeze," thus narrowing the field of vision. Many drivers become almost hypnotized by oncoming headlights, road stripes, or the tail lights of the car in front.

Drivers on long open stretches should stop for brief rest periods, preferably every hour. In one study of single-car accidents, it was found that 80 per cent of the accidents occurred on open stretches.

High-speed driving makes extra visual demands. High speed adversely affects clarity, depth perception, and field of vision—and gives one less time for correcting one's mistakes.

ALCOHOL AND DRUGS
Alcohol and drugs dull both the eyes and the brain. They also dull the higher mental faculty that is commonly called "common sense." Driving under their influence is driving under an additional handicap—and sheer madness!

To avoid automobile accidents, the Better Vision Institute urges all drivers:

*Have a professional eye examination every year.

*Always wear eyeglasses if they have been prescribed for driving, avoid driving when the eyes are tired, reduce speed at night, remove sunglasses at night, and keep your eyeglasses, car windows, and rear-view mirror clean.

*Demand high visual standards in your state.

Highway accidents would be reduced, says the Better Vision Institute. A driver would have a thorough, professional eye examination once a year, courtesy of Better Vision Institute.

Free 1972 License Plates Offered To Disabled Veterans

Details of a new program which will provide free 1972 automobile license plates to some disabled veterans have been revealed by the Texas Highway Department. The program was set up by an act of the 62nd Legislature. To qualify, an applicant must:

- Be a Texas resident;
- Be a veteran of the armed forces of the United States;
- Have a disability rating of 70 per cent or more;
- Be drawing compensation from the federal government as the result of service-connected disability.

A qualified veteran is entitled to register one passenger car or light commercial vehicle with a manufacturer's rated carrying capacity of one ton or less for his own use without paying the prescribed registration fee. There is a statutory fee of $1 which must accompany each application.

Specially designed license plates will be issued with the lettered "DV" appearing as either a prefix or suffix to the license number. The words "Disabled Vet" also will appear on the plates. Vehicles with Disabled Vet plates will be exempt from paying parking fees charged by any governmental authority other than the federal government. This includes parking meters. The license plates will not be available until the beginning of the 1972 registration year. The law provides that the disabled veteran must make application by October 1 preceding the registration year for which the plates are requested.

All Disabled Vet plates will be issued directly from the Motor Vehicle Division of the Texas Highway Department in Austin.
