Commissioners Set Date For Equalization Board

Lamb County commissioners set a board of equalization hearing for Thursday, July 11, when they met for their end-of-month business meeting Friday.

Beginning at 9 that morning, the commissioners will convene in the courthouse to determine, fix and equalize the value of any and all taxable property in Lamb County for the 1974 tax year.

In other matters coming before commissioners Friday, the court tabled payment to Sherman Insurance Agency for county insurance until the July 8 meeting.

Commissioners tabled a letter of resignation from Ted Borum, also, Borum had submitted a letter of resignation as justice of peace at Earth effective June 30. Borum said he will reconsider the resignation if salary is increased.

Another name was drawn to fill a vacancy on the Salary Grievance Committee. Kenneth Henson's name was drawn. If he accepts after due notice he will be added as a citizen on the committee to hear salary grievances of elected officials.

Commissioners divided $60,000 on time deposits in the general road and bridge fund equally between the four precincts to be used in precinct operations.

Effective June 15 the city of Littlefield no longer shares in paying a caretaker for the dump ground northeast of town. The city deeded the property over to the county on that date. The court voted to assume the $1,500 formerly paid by the city of Littlefield in meeting the custodian's annual salary.

Stanley Doss was reimbursed $233.79 for expenses to a justice of peace convention in Corpus Christi.

An Earth city councilman, Doug Parrish, asked for county help in digging trash pits at the city dumping ground. Effective July 1 the county will pay $50 a month toward handling rural trash hauled to the Earth city dump.

Neil Wood of the Federal Housing Administration advised commissioners on the new FHA crop emergency standing and asked the court to designate Lamb County as an emergency county to the governor due to the extreme drought and hail in the northern part of the county.

Wood indicated he will meet with the court again in October or November. Under present legislation, the court must request emergency measures from the governor. Then loans at five percent interest can be made only on losses after they have occurred and been established.

Present for the meeting were Hubert Dykes, Jack Peel, A. J. Spain, and T. L. "Buddy" Free. Dykes acted as chairman in the absence of County Judge G. T. Sides. Judge Sides is in the Methodist Hospital for therapy on his legs following lengthy hospitalization in the Littlefield Hospital. Commissioners said he is expected to be able to meet with the court on the next regular meeting date, July 8.

J. Spain was able to meet with the court following recent open heart surgery in Methodist Hospital.

One Dead, 1 Seriously Injured In Head-On Crash Near Olton

A Hereford insurance credit investigator was killed instantly Wednesday afternoon in a two car head-on collision about seven and one-half miles southwest of Olton.

Driver of the other vehicle was Kenneth B. Parrish of Springlake. Parrish was seriously injured. He was taken to Methodist Hospital then transferred immediately to Methodist Hospital where he has been in the intensive care unit. Highway patrolmen said Parrish was expected to be transferred out of the ICU into a private room Saturday.

James Sanderson of Springlake was a passenger in the Parrish car. Sanderson was treated and released at Lubbock's Methodist Hospital.

The wreck occurred about 3:20 p.m. Wednesday on FM 1072.

According to highway patrolman Harry Keyes, a Hi-Speed brand spraying machine operated by Wayne Phares was spraying cotton on his farm along FM 1072. Phares had come out of the field going west and turned north and a spraying boom was sticking out in the highway over the right hand side of the lane.

Matchett apparently swerved to miss the spraying equipment and the Gremlin he was driving collided head-on with the Parrish Buick.

Decision In Hail Suppression Case Due Next Week

WILLIAM RODGERS presented reports on scientific studies on the hail suppression in Hale and Lamb Counties presented at the weather commission district hearing in Olton last week. The reports were prepared by Stanley A. Changnon Jr. and Paul T. Schickendanz of the State Water Resources Institute, Urbana, Ill.

During two days of the hearing, Charles Moore of Socorro, N.M., testified for those bringing suit for the temporary injunction. Besides the statisticians, members of the Texas Water Resources Board, the president of Atmospheric, Inc., and an insurance agent testified for the plaintiffs.

On Monday a number of farmers testified against the program and stood briefly, some for the first time, during the five days of the hearing.

Changnon heads the Atmospheric Science section of the Illinois State Survey and Schickendanz is a statistical meteorologist for the Illinois project.

Both reports indicated that due to the variable nature of West Texas weather and the four-year limited time of hail suppression activities here statistical data is preliminary.

These preliminary reports indicate that hail suppression in Hale and Lamb Counties has been successful and the program has not decreased rainfall in the two counties.

The program investigations were done to evaluate results and gain information relative to a hail suppression effort in Illinois.

HAIL DATA STUDIED
In Changnon's report, "Analysis of 1970-73 Hail Data in the Texas Panhandle to Evaluate the Suppression Activities," data was examined from the National Weather Service and crop hail insurance records.

Using a formula for figuring crop hail insurance losses, Changnon pointed out that the main loss cost value for 1970-73 in the two counties was well below average, but even lower in the hail suppression area.

Combining the hail insurance data for the two counties he derived a $5.05 loss figure for the two counties. This was the lowest four-year value among the 25 possible four-year loss cost values of the 1947-73 period. Using Lubbock and Hockley Counties as a control, they showed losses averaged $6.63, or only eight percent below average for the period 1946-69.

Citing the Colorado study, Changnon said they found a 48 percent reduction in hail over a four-year period during a hail suppression program in that state.

In both the San Luis Valley study in Colorado and in the Lamb and Hale studies he said there was a one per cent chance of this reduction occurring naturally.

"Our conclusion based on our studies and submitted to the National Science Foundation shows a 48 percent decrease in hail," Changnon said. "That's a highly significant reduction since the seeding program began. A dramatic result."

Schickendanz presented a report on detailed studies of rainfall in Lamb and Hale Counties and chronological reports from 23 reporting stations for the National Weather Service in surrounding counties.

The statistical meteorologist said the specific purpose of the evaluation was to determine whether or not rainfall has been decreased in the target areas in Lamb and Hale Counties.

In a lengthy report analyzing precipitation for the years 1931-69 during unseeded periods and comparing it to historical data of counties inside and outside the target area for 1971-73, Schickendanz said calculations showed that rainfall has not been altered within the target area.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs brought out the fact that Atmospheric, Inc. had commissioned the study and that while rainfall in Lamb and Hale Counties remained about the same during the 1971-73 period, some adjoining counties without seeding programs showed increased precipitation.

TOM HENDERSON CALLED
Tom Henderson was called by defense lawyers Tuesday. Henderson is president of Atmospheric, Inc., the contracting firm for the cloud seeding program here.

Henderson said he has been in cloud seeding activities since 1948 when he was hydrographer for a cloud seeding experiment to increase snow packs in the eastern part of California. In the late 1950s he put together Atmospheric, Inc.

For more than 20 years his firm has been seeding in the Kings River Project to increase rainfall for irrigation purposes for the Kings River Conservation District in California.

Atmospheric is in charge of the South Dakota project, too, with 10 seeding planes and three radars. In addition they are providing five planes and technology for the National Hail Research Experiment in northeastern Colorado under the National Center for Atmospheric Research.

In addition to the West Texas project, Atmospheric is doing the cloud seeding for the Colorado Municipal River Project at Big Spring.

Henderson is in charge of a hail suppression project in its seventh year in Kenya, Africa, where it hails more than 200 days per year. More than 4,000 individual hail

From Baseball To Combat

AS A RESULT of a recent decision by Little League Baseball, girls will now be allowed to play in games.

More serious, however, is the strong pressure currently being exerted to allow girls to enter the four U.S. service academies.

Sponsors of the Equal Rights Amendment, which would open up virtually everything equally to male and female, show a complete disregard for nature and the differences between the sexes. This is not to say, we hasten to add, that there has not been unjust discrimination in employment and other areas.

THE DECISION to allow girls to play Little League Baseball is of relatively minor importance unless, of course, you happen to be one of the girls involved. Whether they play or not would depend on managers and coaches of individual teams, a Little League spokesman explained. "The girls would have to prove equal competency in baseball skills, physical endowments and other attributes as a basis for team selection," he added.

We are concerned, however, that the Little League decision no doubt encourages proponents of "equal rights" proposals to more serious areas where the results could prove harmful both to the females involved and society as a whole.

FOR INSTANCE, hearings are being held before a House Armed Services Subcommittee on six bills that would ban sex discrimination in the four service academies. Perhaps it would be okay to permit our daughters to study military strategy and be commissioned for some peaceful administrative job.

But what happens in time of war? Do we want our daughters in the front line? The answer must be no.

THE LAW that now prohibits women from entering into combat should be kept on the books and money should not be thrown away training them for war.

Baseball is one thing. Combat's another.

PREDICTION: IT'LL BE A BANG-UP FOURTH OF JULY!

A Woman's View

By PEARL BRANDON

THE PROGRAM "Meals on Wheels" will be closed down during the month of July.

As most of you know, this is the program that furnishes meals to the aged, shut-ins of our town, which has been in operation since August 1, 1973. The meals have been prepared at Thornton's Cafeteria and delivered to the homes for the noon meal, five days a week by volunteers.

THORNTON'S Cafeteria plans to be closed for all the month of July also. During this time, the plans are now for the "Meals on Wheels" to reorganize and find the funds to operate on another year.

If these plans go through, we will start delivering again Aug. 1, 1974.

We have been busy this week advising our people of the plans to be closed for one month. Some of them are quite distressed about it, as they have looked forward to the warm nourishing meal and also to the daily visits of our lovely volunteers.

WE WISH to express appreciation to Thornton's for the special effort they have made to furnish appetizing, well-balanced meals to our elderly people, who are ill, or have very low incomes.

We have had from 30 to 40 people on our lists during this time, but have never served more than 38 at one time, or less than 25.

WE ALSO wish to express our appreciation to our wonderful group of volunteers who helped with this program the entire time it has been in operation.

Even with the gas shortage, they have driven their cars and come in all kinds of weather to deliver the meals on their days—and some have come on extra days when we were short of help.

I AM happy to say all these people have promised to continue to help when we start again.

Thanks to everyone of you; you are a wonderful group of people.

WHILE I AM expressing appreciation to people I would like to say how grateful we should be to the churches of the town, especially for what they are doing for our young people.

They plan summer camps and special programs to keep them busy and interested during the summer months; and they don't just include members of their own church, but allow the young people to invite their little friends from other churches.

During the Easter Holidays, the Garlands from the Methodist Church invited the young people to their lake home at Possum Kingdom—among the group were several youth from other churches.

WHEN SCHOOL was out, the First Baptist Church took a group to Glorieta, N.M., which is their church assembly. They also allowed their members to invite their friends to go with them.

My granddaughter attended both assemblies and thoroughly enjoyed them both. She came home from both of them excited and inspired to live a better life.

I AM GRATEFUL to all of you for making these things possible for her and other young people of her age.

Thanks so very much, to all of you who are giving of yourselves for our youth of Littlefield.

That is just one more reason it is so nice to live here.

Penny Walter Named Runner-Up In Miss Texas Teen Ager Contest

Miss Penny Walter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walter Sr. of Littlefield, was named first runner-up in the Miss Texas Teenager contest for 1974 in San Antonio Saturday, June 22.

As first runner-up, Penny was recipient of a $500 scholarship and a huge trophy. She was chosen for the honor from a list of 15 finalists, who submitted essays on "What's Right About America."

She was sponsored in the event by the Early Risers Lions Club of Littlefield.

Context of her essay reads:

WHAT'S RIGHT ABOUT AMERICA

Our country today is in a time of great turmoil.

God shed his grace on thee, America.

I am confused, yet I am proud.

What's right about America?

Individuals from the lowest to the highest public office have the right to openly express opinions, to vote and to elect or impeach the leaders.

America spends billions of dollars to eliminate disease, transplant human hearts, and make remarkable discoveries toward mental and physical health.

Technology in America has sent man to the moon, built homes without destroying nature, and fed half the earth.

God shed his grace on thee, America.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Upgrade Self

By BOB W.

THE VALUE OF HUMILITY is recognized by all people who understand the makeup of an effective personality. There is, however, considerable misunderstanding about the meaning of humility.

Many folk seem to think that it refers to the degrading or downgrading of one's self. It is admitted that the word is often used to "imply 'undue' self-deprecation", but this is not a good usage.

The more wholesome and desirable meaning of humility is: "the absence of 'vanity' and 'arrogance'." It is readily acknowledged that both "vanity" and "arrogance" are undesirable, but these traits of personality are no more undesirable than "self-hate", "self-effacement", and "self-abasement". The "humbleness" we seek includes none of these.

IT IS UNFORTUNATE that "humiliation" and "humbleness" are so widely used as synonyms. In the best usage, they are not the same and do not describe the same personal situation. We can be "humble" without being humiliated.

"Humiliation" suggests such things as shamed, dishonor and disgrace. "Humbleness," the wholesome kind, does not have anything to do with any of these. Therefore, when we speak of "upgrading self"; we are not dropping or disregarding the important characteristic of "humbleness".

self view, but is real and honest involves the personal responsibility, best behavior and continuing improvement.

WE MUST THINK WELL of ourselves, and this is to be a whole view; without vanity or conceit. Of course, we must think and act to justify this self-respect. If the indicated changes to be made, we make them. This is one way to "upgrade self".

Some persons downgrade themselves because of the recognized need for change; but this is a mistake. We are being wise, if we accept the change as an opportunity to "upgrade self".

IT IS FOOLISH to feel that there is need for improvement of ourselves if it is even more foolish to assume that we are incapable of making improvement. Of course, even involved in "upgrading ourselves" he associated with "good" "optimism"; and "gratitude". We are perfect, but none of us are hopeless. Therefore, all of us "upgrade self".

UPGRADING SELF also includes change in the view of one's self. Many persons do not maintain an accurate view of themselves.

They are worth more than they think they are; they are more capable than they think they are; they are acceptable to others than they think they are; and their role in life is more than they think it is.

WE CAN "UPGRADE SELF" if this action will be good for us individually and collectively.

THE SAME PEOPLE who were up-tight about what Kissinger was givin' away to achieve peace in the middle-east, are now gnawing their nails about what Nixon is giving away in Russia.

Meanwhile, the most of us are worried sick about what Congress is givin' away right here in the good ol' U.S. of A!

THINK I HAVE a doozie of a plan to end all this inflation. All we need to do is lower prices, all across the board, and limit ourselves in our spending. (Guess we all know that.)

All we're waiting for, is for everybody else to go first!

THOUGHT I'D seen it dry in this country, but must have been mistaken. I've learned that one of our dry-land farmers is trying to grow POWDERED WATERMELONS!

He's the guy who thinks decency and morality are the best way to go. He's the fellow who still attaches some importance to marriage and the building of a home, who thinks the responsibility of raising children and setting them on the right track is of grave importance, who still believes in God, and the Bible.—Even thinks marriage is a life-time contract.

He tries to face the realities of life without the distortion of strong drink or dope. He even thinks that working for a living is honorable and important. He thinks what he tells you should be believed because he sticks to the Word. His word is his bond. He even emphasizes his manhood and is proud of it.

HE THINKS that sex should be practiced only by those who are married, and with mates, nakedness shouldn't be displayed, nor flaunted. He has since forsaken the cinema, only to be ashamed and embarrassed by progressive laxity of tv standards. He finds himself watching fewer and shows and programs on his own tv.

It seems that the "Now Set" have to great length and extremes to display the value of everything he's stood for. Not only do they try to justify themselves by saying they "tell like the truth" they're trying to prove that the "Lies" is respectable and honorable HOGWASH!

ONE DAY THE pendulum must swing the backswing, then, they'll be trying to re-establish those old standards of living, while wondering how the old seemed to have gotten so much satisfaction, and enjoyment out of it.

Do you wonder why we see so many empty shells of men, who have grown old before middle age? They've been having "fun-fun-fun", while wrecking the ideals of the "Old Square".

IT HAPPENED AGAIN, Cornball slipped another of his things past the publisher. That makes novel number three and now he has convinced me that he is much older than he lets on to be.

Besides dating himself in his novels, he is also proving another point, that he is getting feeble. By this, I mean, with all respect to the old people, that referring to what has happened vesteryear is beginning to be his prime topic.

FARM REPORT—Crops are beginning to grow and should continue to make rapid progress as long as the moisture is available and the nights remain warm. It seems that cool nights have affected the growth of cotton more than milo or corn.

Some farmers have indicated they are finding a few squares on cotton while a few have been seeing white and red cotton blossoms.

Rain is still needed by all farms because this water pumped from ground is not doing an adequate job to give the crop the necessary moisture and it is especially needed in the planted crop areas. There is still time plant milo and even if it becomes too late to plant milo, rain will be needed for the farmers can plant a cover crop.

In order to prevent another dust bowl we will definitely have to plant a cover crop this fall.

WHEN WAS the last time you heard the phrase "Pray for rain"?

In some churches this phrase applied to have been omitted. Guess we can have a day of prayer for rain, if churches open for those who can attend and maybe a sounding of the fire sirens some other device to let those who have forgotten about the time of prayer they can say a short prayer while they are working.

To me, prayer has never been in vogue. We may not receive our answer when we would like to, but our prayers are answered when He thinks it is best for us.

It seems that some only turn to the Lord when we are in trouble or in

Becky Withrow, Freddie Maxwell Pledge Double Ring Wedding Vows

BULA— In a double ring ceremony officiated by Terry Blake, minister of Church of Christ, Flint, Mich., Miss Becky Jodie Withrow and Freddie Martin Maxwell, pledged marriage vows, Tuesday evening, June 25, in the Sudan Church of Christ.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Withrow of Route 1, Sudan, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymon Maxwell, Route 1, Sudan.

Background for the ceremony was an arched candelabra, holding white candles and an arrangement of white daisies entwined with greenery, flanked on each side with large baskets of chrysanthemums, gladiolas and daisies.

Musical selections of "Twelfth of Never", "Whither Thou Goest", "Faithful and True" and the "Recessional" were given by a chorus from the Sudan Church of Christ.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of silk organza over Angel-skin peau, fashioned in a semi-bell silhouette form fitted bodice, high neckline and summer puff sleeves. Her semi-bouffant skirt was trimmed in venise lace flowing into a brush train. The sleeves and bodice were trimmed in the same motifs of lace. Her fingertip veil was held by a tiara of tiny orange blossoms with a double bouffant veil attached. Her bouquet was a cascade of white carnations and baby's breath, with a detachable corsage, on top of her white Bible.

To carry out the tradition of "something old," the bride carried a handkerchief belonging to his grandmother Maxwell and formerly to his great-grandmother, Mrs. Fred Weaver. "Something borrowed" was the white Bible from her sister, Mrs. Joe Price. "New" was her wedding dress. She wore in her shoe, pennies minted in the year of the bride and groom's birth and a three-pence given her from a friend, Bob Wood of Littlefield for good luck. "Something blue" was her blue garter.

The bride presented her mother with a long-stemmed red rose as she approached the altar. After the ceremony she presented his mother with a long-stemmed red rose.

Miss Jackie Withrow of Sudan, attended her sister as maid of honor, Mrs. David Driskill, Petersburg, and Mrs. Rodney Marshall of Witharral, were bridesmaids. They wore identical long formal gowns of blue crepe, with a wide midriff, trimmed in lace. They carried nosegays of daisies.

Flower girl was Miss Karla Withrow, sister of bride. Ring bearer was Billy Drum, Caddo Mills, nephew of the groom.

Randy Pierce of Sudan served as best man. Groomsmen were Roger Bellar, Sudan and Robby Piper of Midland. Seating the guests and serving as candlelighters were Alan Black, Route 1, Sudan and Jeryl Bellar, Bula.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Glen Testerman, sister of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Withrow chose a long frost blue crepe dress, with white accessories. The groom's mother was attired in a long sky blue crepe dress, with sheer sleeves and a sleeveless coat, she also wore white accessories. Both wore blue carnation corsages.

For the reception which followed in the fellowship hall of the church Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Maxwell were assisted in receiving guests by members of the wedding party.

The bride's table was overlaid in white lace over blue, centered with a huge blue candle surrounded with white daisies and greenery. The three-tiered bride's cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Jerry Smith of Fort Worth and Mrs. Joe Price of Olton, sisters of the bride, assisted at the table.

The groom's table was covered in an ecru crocheted cloth, made by his grandmother, Mrs. E. W. Parmer and great-grandmother, Mrs. Ramsey, over blue, centered with a silver decorator bowl filled with blue and white flowers. Serving the German chocolate cake and the coffee from a silver service were his sisters, Mrs. Lynn Drum of Caddo Mills and Mrs. Glen Testerman of Sudan.

For a wedding trip to points in New Mexico, the bride chose a two-piece blue knit suit, white accessories and a corsage lifted from the bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside on a farm south of Sudan.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell are graduates of Sudan High School. The bride graduated from Levelland Junior College, attended Oklahoma Christian College and West Texas State University. She belonged to Epsilon Chi, Outreach and Gleaners. The groom has attended Texas Tech, and was a member of the Rodeo Association.

... TESTIMONY CONTINUED

storms have been seeded in this program.

Other projects for the California-based firm include consulting programs in Yugoslavia and Turkey.

PLAINTIFFS CALL EXPERT

Charles Moore of Socorro, N.M., testified Tuesday in behalf of Farmers and Ranchers for Natural Weather. He is presently teaching physics and atmospheric physics at New Mexico Institute of Mines and Technology and is director of the Langmuir Laboratory.

Moore worked with Dr. Workman at the Langmuir Lab and was an associate of Dr. Bernard Vonnegut who developed the silver iodide technique. Moore said he held the same view essentially as Dr. Workman did when Workman published his last scientific paper saying silver iodide seeding decreases rainfall.

Moore said in his opinion, silver iodide causes unfrozen droplets to crystallize, form tiny snow flakes and use up moisture.

"If one acts effectively to suppress hail, he acts effectively to suppress rain," Moore said.

In cross examination, Jerry Kirby asked Moore if New Mexico wasn't experiencing a drought, too.

"Indeed, we're having a drought in New Mexico," he answered. "The national forest has been closed due to the monstrous drought."

Kirby questioned Moore about his last seeding activities being in the late 1950s and using sodium iodide in a combination with the silver iodide. Moore said they used vaporized ammonia, ammonia nitrate fertilizer and sweet sudan grass seed in seeding clouds also.

"Five pounds of silver iodide is like carrying around an atom bomb," he added.

Showing stepped up time-lapse films, Moore illustrated dissipation of clouds coming over a mountain range in New Mexico.

INSURANCE AGENT TALKS

A Plainview insurance agent, Wade Woods, said hail losses handled by his company had decreased substantially since the hail suppression program had started.

He gave his hail loss figures for 1966 through the present time. He said there were no claims paid in 1970 or 1971. "In 1972 we had 90 hail claims from a May hail that came before the program started," he said.

Woods said no losses paid in 1973 nor so far this year led him to his conclusion that the hail fall had decreased drastically since the weather modification program has been in effect.

HENDERSON CALLED AGAIN

Henderson was questioned extensively the last day of the hearing concerning various limits over plaintiffs' land and how such limits would affect the hail suppression program.

Henderson concluded that a program could be carried out "in a limited fashion" by avoiding flying over certain properties but that a really effective program would be nearly impossible in most cases.

"It could be done," he said, "but it would seriously effect the operation."

Henderson pointed out that about 40 percent of total flights are for observation only, that 30 to 40 percent of all thunderstorms are seeded or a total of about five percent of the total clouds.

Because of the amount of time it takes for the silver iodide to take effect, Henderson said flights outside the area of interest could not be eliminated and still carry out a program in some cases.

The remainder of the final day of testimony was devoted to testimony of participants in the two factions.

The defense called farmers who support the weather modification program. Testifying to the success of the hail suppression and no decrease in rainfall were Les Watson, Fred Clayton, Vernon Qualls, Orville Cleavinger, Jeff Willey and Dale Stanley.

In each case, the farmers were asked if they would support a program they thought would affect any area farmer's or rancher's rainfall. Every one of the farmers said they would not put a cent in to any program they thought would result in a decrease in rainfall to any other producer.

Along this line of questioning, defendants called pilot Wayne Wilkinson a second time, also Dean Faver, J. B. Wheeler, Paul Leach, Charles B. Marlin, F. F. Flip Calhoun, Bobby Short, Truman Redwine and Chester Mitchell.

Several witnesses for the plaintiffs took the stand for a second time in concluding testimony. Farmers testifying against the seeding operations were Harrel Layton, Benny Claunch, Dean Elms, Charles Burt, Jimmy Ratliff, Ross Lumsden and Curly Daugherty.

In their request for a temporary injunction, the plaintiffs claim a natural right to air space, free of interference by any cloud seeding operations.

At the conclusion of the hearing District Judge Pat Boone Jr. announced he would study the evidence and announce his decision by July 3.

Included in the data are briefs from each party in the suit citing points in law and cases backing up their contentions and allegations.

This is the first suit filed against weather modification since lawmakers passed the Weather Modification Act in 1967 and began licensing projects.

In announcing his judgement, Judge Boone will rule on a plea of privilege by Plains Weather Improvement Association, also, with a right to a court hearing in Hale County separate and apart from Lamb County Better Weather, In. and Atmospheric, Inc.

The limited space really limits the size of furniture—but a slim, comfortable and chairs can be effective if carefully placed.
Small, bright chairs around a table might be the answer. If space is a problem, you might consider a small rectangular table placed against the wall.
These mini-dinette areas can be treated formally or informally. An example of a former shows that elegance is possible in a tiny breakfast room by using such things as striped wallpaper, brass chairs and a table-topped pedestal.

Wow, Tasty Taco Little League Champs

WOW, who already have the major league crown locked up, dropped their second game in a row Tuesday to Fire Dept. The Woodmen were blanked 8-0 on the one-hit pitching of Brady Bradley.

Bobo Lewis, Alan Jones, Lynn Duffey, Joe Haynes and Bruce Payne all cracked singles for the Firemen, who evened their season record at 7-7.

George Brockington hit a single for the losers and Jimmy Clayton took the loss.

The Lions scored five runs in each of the last two innings Thursday to ease past Birkelbach 16-14 in another major league battle.

The Lions had scored six runs in the first inning, only to fall behind 7-6 and then 13-6. Steve Jackson was the winning pitcher, and was aided by David Duenes' double. Jackson, Ricky Silvas and Joseph Ayala added singles.

Closing Communications Gap Is Topic For Law Officers

Suppose you were a police officer writing a traffic ticket for someone who did not speak your language—and you did not speak his.

Could you explain his offense to him and get the pertinent information for the ticket?

Frank Gonzales, former Amherst resident who is assistant professor of Spanish at South Plains College, is trying to close this communication gap between law enforcement personnel and Spanish speaking citizens.

Gonzales has worked for nearly a year writing and preparing a manual titled "Conversational Spanish for Law Enforcement Personnel." to be used in conjunction with a course of the same title. Gonzales will teach the course to law enforcement personnel and students through the Continuing Education Division at SPC starting this fall.

Gonzales wrote his own material because there simply was nothing available in this field except academic Spanish textbooks. And knowing just the grammar of a language is meaningless in everyday use.

"The purpose of this book is to make available some simple, practical Spanish expressions suited for those involved in law enforcement," he says in the preface. "It is designed for law enforcement officers, office personnel, administrators and persons involved in the judicial capacity that come in contact with people who use the Spanish language as their language of communication."

"I have taken the basic language structure and adapted it to law enforcement situations," he said.

The manual includes instructional units on interrogation, violations, emergency situations, arrest and booking, highway signs and drugs.

Each unit contains dialogue, sentence structure and variations and an oral self test. There are not written exercises. The work is based on oral and audio learning.

"This is the most current method of language instruction for non-academic people on the market today," Gonzales said.

He is correlating tapes on all the material in the manual for placement in the language learning center of the SPC Library. Several native Spanish speakers will record the material for the tape cartridge program.

"There are cultural notes throughout the manual, such as names and birthdays," Gonzales noted.

The manual is bi-lingual, with Spanish phrases and the English equivalent. Law enforcement personnel can learn how to ask for addresses, telephone numbers, give directions and obtain information on personal characteristics, in Spanish. And they also can learn the phrases on heart attack, complaints, hit and run victims, missing persons, arrests, pleas, bonds, traffic violations and a host of other terms policemen come in contact with every day. The Miranda Warning stating a person's rights and a waiver also are included.

Gonzales gathered his material for the manual from the Texas Drivers License Manual, are police departments and the Department of Public Safety. He received a grant this summer from the South Plains Association of Governments, a 15-county organization, to complete the manual, which he has been working on for about the past nine months.

Gonzales had earlier written a proposal for a grant to SPAG from the Texas Criminal Justice Council. The $20,000 grant to establish the Spanish course for law enforcement personnel, was funded in January.

The manual will be published this summer and will be ready for distribution by the beginning of the fall semester, Gonzales said. The Spanish course for law enforcement officials was taught at five counties throughout the SPAG Counties in SPAG including Bailey, Cochran, Crockett, Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Hockley, King, Lamb, Bock, Lynn, Motley, Terry, Yoakum.

Littlefield Service Station Led Youngster To Classroom

By SHARON BEAUCHAMP Weatherford College

Before he was old enough to reach the windshield of cars, he was working in his father's service station in Littlefield.

Because of his size, the small red-haired boy was assigned to work inside behind the counter taking care of the sale of candy, etc.

It was there behind that counter that he first began to read the daily papers. Soon he found that he had developed a deep interest for the happenings in the American government.

This early beginning in a liking for the study of government coupled with a good feeling for the atmosphere created at a junior college are the two things that eventually led Quinton Reeves to be a member of the faculty at Weatherford College.

By the time Quinton was a freshman at Littlefield, he had made several visits to a nearby junior college to watch his sister perform in the drill team.

He was impressed with the many activities that his sister was a part of while she attended that junior college. She had not been very active in student activities in high school, but the junior college atmosphere had evidently aroused a feeling of individual importance.

Quinton planned to attend that same junior college, therefore, he was extremely pleased to receive a music scholarship for that college.

Although he attended a college only 23 miles from home, he found that there was little time to go home. "Dorm life broadened my perspective of life considerably. I became more broadminded. It was the first time that I really began to be exposed to an open social system. The old cliques that were present in high school did not exist. People were accepted for themselves, not for families and accomplishments in high school."

Since he appreciated the personal attention he received at the junior college, he noticed the lost personal identity when he went on to a bigger school.

After receiving his Bachelor's Degree, he enlisted in the U. S. Navy. His assignment to Naval Security took him to Taiwan and Morocco. He toured such countries as Spain, Switzerland, Austria, Denmark, France and Germany.

At the conclusion of his enlistment, he returned to Texas to continue his education at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

While working on his Master of Arts, he served as a research assistant in the Government Department.

With his strong feelings of the advantages of a junior college, he had definitely decided that he wanted to be a member of the faculty of a junior college.

He believes, "There are greater opportunities in a junior college atmosphere. It allows a better working relationship between teacher and student. It is what formed my feeling that a teacher should never feel that he is above a student because he is a teacher. Teaching is a helping situation and the teacher is the one in the helping role."

During the summer months, Quinton Reeves will be teaching Principals of American Government on the main campus and Bridgeport. He is son of Mrs. E. Reeves of Littlefield.

Main Beef Industry Growth Charted In SPS Survey

Annual survey of the beef industry for the year ending in 1973, conducted by Southwestern Service Co., is now available at SPS offices as well as at the headquarters in Suit 200 of the SPS Tower.

Recognized as the most comprehensive survey of the beef industry, the SPS production survey of cattle feedlots in the Oklahoma-Texas area, a tally of packing plants and their production and a chart showing the trend of the feeding area from 1966 to the present, which were prepared by Thomas after a year-long survey of the company's service area, indicate that feeders turned out 5,312,763 head of fat cattle in 1973, Thomas said. Custom feeders in an area from Morton County in Kansas to Gaines County produced 4,492,763 head last year, an increase of six per cent or 232,665 head.

The lot capacity increased by 232,750 to 2,742,250 or nine per cent, while the annual capacity was hiked 305,600 to 6,192,900. To be added to the totals can be 200,000 in Ochiltree County and about 150,000 had from Union County, N.M., neither of which is in the SPS service territory.

A breakdown of Texas shows that Deaf Smith again led the field with 602,889 head fed in 1973 and a lot capacity of 299,000. Coming in for second place was Parmer County, which had 437,000 head from its lots, which have a capacity of 289,000 head.

In the Oklahoma Panhandle counties of Beaver, Cimarron and Texas, which had a 11 per cent increase, the number of cattle fed was 548,106, a jump of 55,632 over the previous year. The lot capacity in those Oklahoma counties, which rose 22 per cent, increased 50,450 to 282,100.

Taking the lead with 424,700 fed and a yard capacity of 207,000 was Texas County in the Oklahoma Panhandle.

Although the New Mexico counties of Chaves, Curry, Eddy and Roosevelt were down by 7,959 in the number fed of 396,389, the one-time capacity rose 34,510 or 274,050 for a 14 per cent hike.

In Thomas' survey last year for 1973, he figured that the 16 existing packing plants had an annual capacity of 2,474,080 head. Added to that would be 300,000 per year at National Meat Packers in Liberal, Kan., and major construction at the

Glover Packing Co. facility in Roswell, N.M. Sure to be a big part of the survey next year will be the production figures from the new Littlefield feedlot,

American Beef Packers near Dumas, and Iowa Beef Processors, Inc. and the West

Texas Dressed Beef Co. in Amarillo. ABP has been officially opened and construction is progressing at IBP and the West Texas Dress Beef plant.

School Textbook Materials To Be Displayed At Center

New text materials to be considered for use in Texas public schools beginning Sept. 1, 1975, will be placed on public display at the state's 20 regional education service centers on July 1, 1974.

Copies of the proposed textbooks will be sent to the centers by publishers submitting new materials for adoption by the State Board of Education Nov. 9, 1974.

The center which services the Lamb County area is located at 700 Texas Commerce Bank Building in Lubbock.

A separate display of kindergarten oral language development systems in English and Spanish and bilingual text materials for the primary grades will be set up at Maplewood Elementary School in Austin on June 17, 1974. This exhibit will be open to both educators and the general public each weekday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. through Aug. 9, 1974.

Although the exhibit in Austin is the only place educators and the general public will be able to actually examine the kindergarten and primary grades learning systems, detailed descriptions will be made available at the service centers. Each system may include books, films, tapes, or other equipment.

Copies of each prospectus on the systems will also be sent to members of the State Textbook Committee and their advisors and to the kindergarten and/or bilingual education consultants.

Each prospectus will include information about the authors, an outline of the purposes of the system and its relationship to specific research, a guide for the teacher's use, evidence of field testing with different population groups, and evaluation procedures to be used.

Text exhibits at the regional education service centers throughout the state will include books for 11 elementary school and 11 high school subjects.

Elementary school subjects slated for new texts include handwriting for grades one through three, language and grammar for grades one through eight science for grades one through six, and basal readers for grades seven and eight.

High school text materials will be selected for courses in speech, elementary analysis, analytic geometry, calculus with analytic geometry, probability and statistics, computer mathematics, mathematics independent study and conference courses, fundamentals of mathematics, introductory algebra, Spanish levels I and II, and choral music.

The 15 teachers and administrators appointed to the 1974 State Textbook Committee and their advisors will examine each text this summer in preparation for their October 2 meeting to vote on the recommended materials. This list of books voted by the committee is then forwarded to the Texas commissioner of education. Final action will be taken by the State Board of Education at its November 9 meeting in Austin.

Each member of the State Textbook Committee will appoint two consultants to examine and make recommendations on the bilingual textbooks and systems for the primary grades and bilingual systems for kindergarten. Each consultant must have special training in kindergarten and/or bilingual education under criteria set up by the State Board of Education.

Committee members will also request the help of advisors in the other subject areas. Some 800 teachers active in Texas public schools, parents, and other specialists are expected to serve as advisors to the State Textbook Committee.

State Textbook Committee members and their consultants will examine all systems of bilingual subjects and kindergarten oral language development systems at the Austin Municipal Auditorium Sept. 30 through Oct. 2. This exhibit will present the same materials which had been available to the public at Maplewood Elementary School in Austin from June 17 through Aug. 9.

Parents and other citizens will be able to express their views during a series of public hearings at the Texas Education Agency in Austin, beginning Sept. 10, 1974.

The commissioner of education will hold hearings beginning at 10 a.m. on Sept. 10-12. Later, the State Textbook Committee will hold a public hearing October 1 beginning at 8:30 a.m. The State Board of Education will hold a final public hearing Nov. 8 beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Pets Deserve Care

Pets deserve special consideration with the approaching summer weather, believes a veterinarian for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"A dog always should have access to shade and plenty of clean drinking water. He should be fed early in the morning when it's cool and again late in the evening after the heat subsides a bit," says Dr. James Armstrong with Texas A&M University System.

"Continue to exercise your pet, but not in the heat of the day. Think of your own comfort and treat your dog accordingly. That means brief exercise during the cool of the day, so the dog won't become overheated."

Food intake can be adjusted to exercise and energy used during hot weather. Like a human, a dog should not overeat or eat when he is hot or exhausted, advises Armstrong.

Cats that are running free will generally take care of their own needs for rest, exercise and comfort. But they also should have constant access to shade and fresh drinking water.

Armstrong has a word of caution for those who take the family dog wherever they go, especially in hot weather. "If the car windows are open, the dog can leap out and be lost or hit by another car. If left in the parking lot with the windows closed or nearly closed, the dog can suffer intolerably as sun-reflecting windows quickly heat an automobile to extremely warm temperatures.

"Leave the dog home when you go shopping and when you go on vacation in the automobile," suggests the veterinarian. "At tourist stops and camping grounds your dog can be a nuisance."

The boarding kennel is best for your dog when you leave town, unless you have a friend who knows and likes the dog and will keep him while you're gone.

Make Good Preparations Before Taking Vacation

Vacation bound? There's a chance you might also be heading for trouble if you haven't taken certain precautions before leaving home.

Law enforcement experts and our Consumer Protection Division attorneys say that what is vacation time for most folks is working time for many burglars, pickpockets, and con men.

They suggest that you plan in advance to burglar-proof your home and to guard against possible thefts or consumer frauds on your trip.

While the number of such occurrences is small compared to the number of vacationers, it only takes one bad experience to ruin a trip. Here's a list of things to check before you leave:

—Stop mail, newspaper, and other deliveries.

—Tell a neighbor or your apartment manager that you will be gone and ask them to keep an eye on the place.

—Leave a few lights on or buy an automatic timer to turn certain lights on and off each evening.

—Cut your lawn just before leaving and, if you will be gone a long time, have someone cut it while you're away.

—Check all windows and doors to make sure they are locked. A sliding glass patio door can be more securely fastened by wedging a stick at the top or bottom of the door.

—Check with your local police if you plan an extended vacation. Many forces offer a "close patrol" of homes where persons are away. If your police force does, you will need to tell them what cars or persons, if any, will be making authorized visits to your house.

—Have your telephone put "on vacation." Your callers will be told that the telephone has been temporarily disconnected at your request, and you can have them referred to another number if you wish.

—Avoid mentioning to casual acquaintances or strangers that you will be on vacation. Also, avoid telling your newspaper's society editor of your trip until you have returned.

—Before leaving, engrave all valuables in your home and those you will be taking with you in the car with your driver's license or social security number. Some police forces will loan you an engraver to mark your belongings and will register your number on their master list. This may discourage burglars from taking your goods and can make identification of recovered stolen goods much simpler.

After taking precautions to secure your home from burglars while you are gone, don't let down your guard when you get into the car and drive away. There are a few things to remember during your trip too:

—Make sure you have had your car serviced and thoroughly checked before leaving and always get out of the car to watch when having it serviced on the road. There are a few unscrupulous persons who sometimes take advantage of tourists with out-of-state license plates. If your car was given a clean bill of health before you left, you can better evaluate warnings about faulty fuel pumps, air filters, batteries, etc.

—Take traveler's checks or use credit cards, and keep a list of your credit card numbers in a safe spot.

—Men should avoid keeping billfolds in back pockets, or at least button the pocket if possible. To discourage pickpockets, use the inside coat pocket or a money belt.

—Women should select a purse with a secure clasp or zipper and keep a hand over the opening when carrying it. —Don't wear unusually expensive or flashy jewelry or display large rolls of bills. —Never boast of wealth or possessions or tell strangers your home town or address. —Check valuables at your hotel desk for safekeeping. You could be taken advantage of in more subtle ways, too. Many people spend large amounts of their money on vacation souvenirs without examining them. Many souvenirs cheaply made, and of little or no value. Try to set a limit on the amount of money you're likely to spend on vacation or put in a BEULAH PIRTLE takes a rest, as in the background, Virginia Hart instructs members of Anton High School P. E. class on watering, cleaning and planting in the city park in preparation for Anton's Golden Anniversary celebration, Aug. 3. Mrs. Pirtle stands beside one of the trees she and Mrs. Hart planted in the park more than 45 years ago. Shown below is the same vicinity of the park where Anton's first water well was drilled by H. F. Bishop. Present city officials plan to re-do this first well, hoping to make it pump water again. Note the young trees and the lily pond by the well, part of the beautification program of 1929.
