"THE SHERIFF Sometimes I got now was just a little boy when I was sheriff," Sam Hutson said. "We've got me I collar him and tell him how it was when I was in office. He thinks I'm lying!" Hutson laughed. "He lives right across the street there," Hutson said, pointing out his front door with the walking stick made and sent to him by a man he helped send to the penitentiary.

HUTSON DIDN'T CARRY ONE 'HALF THE TIME'

The Sheriff Without A Gun

By NILAH RODGERS
Leader-News Staff Writer

Murder of prominent citizens, bank robbing and bootlegging are some of the things Sam Hutson recalls of his 15 years as constable, chief deputy and sheriff of Lamb County. "And I was witness in two death sentences and worked under a woman sheriff," Hutson said. "Gosh digity! I don't know which was worse." Hutson was deputy under Sheriff F. A. Loyd when Loyd was murdered, then Mrs. Loyd completed her husband's term and Hutson was chief deputy under her. Hutson witnessed the shooting that killed the sheriff, shot the murderer in the arm and aided in his capture, then had to protect the killer from a mob who wanted immediate justice. "I guess that nigger was the only man from Lamb County who got the electric chair," Hutson said, "and I delivered him for execution." Hutson had just returned from a call where a woman had lost her mind and was trying to kill her baby. He had taken the woman to the hospital and Sheriff Loyd was taking Hutson back to his car. "Loyd saw this nigger staggering along down by the compress, and let me out without saying a word," Hutson said. "He didn't know it, but the nigger had been shooting it up in the Flats. The sheriff pulled along beside him and the nigger shot him just as he got out of his car. The first shot hit him in the spine and paralyzed him. "There I was without a gun. I'd taken mine off to go get the woman and take her to the hospital. I never wore one half the time anyway, even when I was arresting someone." Hutson got help to get Sheriff Loyd to a doctor, removed Loyd's gun from his shoulder holster and took after the staggering figure who'd fired the shot. "Three bullets whizzed right by my head," Hutson said. "I guess the Lord wanted me around for a little longer or one of them would have got me. I fired a shot and hit the man in the arm and broke it. I didn't know it, but there weren't but two bullets in the gun. Loyd and a commissioner had just come back from Wichita Falls and had been shooting at rabbits with the gun. "I got Loyd off to the doctor and then started looking through about 5,000 bales of cotton washing the nigger'd jump up and run. By that time, he'd got through the compress and was out back in some weeds, and I had a gun with some bullets. But this time he didn't run. "When I got him in jail there was a mob gathered. I had to slip him out the back to my car and take him to Lubbock. "He was sentenced to the electric chair. I guess he was the only person from Lamb County to get the death penalty, and I had to take him to Huntsville." Mrs. Hutson interrupted Hutson's story: "But he bought See HUTSON, Page 4

MUCH THAT IS HAPPENING today is calculated to break or destroy the human spirit. These multiplied efforts are for the purpose of discouraging, lowering, degrading, frightening and otherwise revitalizing us.

IF WE CARE about ourselves, our condition of life; about our children, their welfare; about our country and its future; about our cherished and necessary institutions; homes, churches, schools and such like; the human spirit must be upheld.

THIS SPIRIT INCLUDES our courage, our willingness to work, our readiness to sacrifice, our willingness to put first things first, our recognition of and adherence to wholesome and upgrading moral standards, and our sensible concern for our fellowmen.

The foundation for all of the great elements of the spirit is in our trust in God, Creator; properly expressed in our manner of life. The spirit is upheld, given direction and blessed by the guarding controls.

"SPIRIT", in this sense, is used to refer to temper, or disposition, or mood. All of us know that of the things we see and do not indicate a right mood. It is not the purpose of the writer, however, to identify the symptoms, or diagnose the undesirable spirit which reveals. It is enough, for the time being, to emphasize the need for upholding our spirit's highest possible level.

THIS GREAT NEED FOR SPIRIT is one of the essential elements of all of our choices. The books we read can build up or tear down our spirit. The kind of entertainment and recreation we choose can strengthen or weaken our spirit. Our sense of values influences our spirit.

THE GODS OF GODS we worship will affect our spirit. The object of our devotion can make a difference. Self-control or lack of self-control will have an effect on our spirit. Self-control is strong, vibrant, and completely self-aband.

WE MUST overcome our accumulated ease of living so much the aim is damaging to us. In fact, easy degeneracy. The personal insignificance of another.

WORSHIP IN CHURCH

and get a spiritual lift for the whole week

Let Peace Be Everywhere
 In this world of false prophets and self-proclaimed wise men, may this symbol of the Holy Spirit light upon us. May the Prince of Peace put a quietus on political protagonists and eliminate all rivalry between Methodists, Presbyterians, Baptists, Catholics and Jewish groups. Why can't the Dove of Peace bring goodwill to all men? We must learn that preparation of the soul is much more important than progress in business and things. Of course the road to peace is more difficult than the way of strife. Peace bears the mark of culture, of civilization, of deep piety and genuine religion. Then let us give the "Prince of Peace" a chance. Let us all be peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God. Attend church this week and help build a world for God.

You In The Church
The Church In You
 — form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

OLD INDIAN SIGNS TELL TALE

Prophet Says Weather Outlook Good

Lamb County and area farmers can plant their cotton solid and not worry about weak irrigation wells if the Indian weather prophet near Muleshoe is right this year.

At sunrise on March 22, J. W. Crim made his 47th consecutive crop forecast, based on the wind direction, velocity and characteristics.

"The forecast looks better than any since 1947," Crim said as he watched the northeast drift of smoke from the teepee-shaped bonfire.

According to Crim, who lives at Clay's Corner near Muleshoe, the best wind at the time of reading is a northeast wind and that's exactly what he had when he lit his annual bonfire on his farm east of Lazbuddie.

Crim can practically count on one hand the number of times he has caught a northeast wind since he's been making the weather observations.

For about the last 10 years, the wind at the time of his observation has been from the southwest, or a slight variation.

"Farmers had better plant early, and not wait until the usual time," Crim predicted, "for they may get caught by rain and cause their crops to be late. They shouldn't have to run those well motors very much this year," he added.

In addition to adequate moisture, Crim predicted hard winds.

Crim has held the weather forecast in the same spot for the last 47 years, "And I've missed the actual forecast only two times," he added.

Although the prophet lives in Muleshoe following his retirement from farming, his son lives on the home place, and Crim continues to make his annual weather forecast at that location.

The only thing Crim noted which would detect from his prediction of more rain than usual was the fact that at the time of his observation the wind was coming fairly strong.

"We may have some clouds with hail as we've had in recent years,"

"This year's wind reading was the best that Crim has noted since 1961, and he predicts that crops will be at least as good as they were in 1961 and 1962.

"These were pretty fair crop years, but they weren't bumper years," he said. "The last excellent year we had was 1947."

There was a small rift of clouds on the eastern horizon at sun-rise when Crim made his predictions, so he went by the clock and the scheduled time of sunrise, as he has had to do on other occasions when it was cloudy or overcast.

"I've never been rained out," Crim said. "There has been snow on the ground a few times, but mostly the weather has been pretty fair."

Being a weather prophet is an art, according to "Indian" Crim, who said he learned the method many years ago. Crim said his father learned the method from Indians and passed it on to him while he was a young man.

A good representation of friends, relatives, and representatives from area news media braved the cold northeast wind to hear Crim's forecast. And for the first time in a number of years, the fabled weatherman saw something good in the drift of the smoke.

Several From Lamb Attend Water Meet

Several Lamb County residents attended the Water Symposium at the Lubbock Red Raider Inn this week.
State Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake, executive director of Water, Inc., spoke at the noon luncheon Tuesday.
Joe Blevins and Joe Krizek, representing Lamb County SCS; Dick Carl, REA; Harvey Messamore, Sudan farmer; and Delbert Donnelson, Littlefield FHA, were among those present to hear about Texas water problems.
"It is as important to transport 'Cajun' water to West Texas as it is to explore the ocean's bottom or the moon's behind," John Shanklin of Albuquerque told the group.
Rep. Clayton said backers of the Texas Water Plan are "pushing ahead at full speed" to implement the project. Clayton hopes a bill will be ready to present to Congress by late 1972. After a probable one year study, answers should be ready on cost, size of facility, power requirements and the like. Clayton estimates that it will be 1978 before Congress would be asked to supply construction funds.

Clayton said this time lapse could be cut if benefits to the state and the four-state region can be shown soon.
Other topics included the depletion problem, various water recoveries and different types of irrigation systems.
The two-day meeting was sponsored by Texas Tech University and the Texas Rural Electric Education and Research Committee.

Journey To Past

BY EVALYN PARROTT SCOTT

NOTE: This is about Willie T. Cook and the Jones Cook of old by Edith Wil-

Cook was born Feb. 18, 1870, in Eolian, Stephens Co., Ga. He was the son of Samuel Downer Cook, who was born Jan. 8, 1836, in Mary Downer was of Alabama, born 1843, and Mary Cook came to the 1870's and settled in Lamson County, Ga. He moved to Stephens Co. where he established a mercantile store, a shop, a post office and a stand cotton gin. Cook describes the gin operation--thus--the farmer had to drive the wagon to the gin door, put the cotton in a basket and pass it to the ginners who poured it into the gin hopper.

The baskets used at the gin were made by Samuel, who used calf-hide, stretching the hide over the top of a barrel, then lacing it around the top with raw-hide strips.

The lint rolled out on the gin floor between two rollers and fell into a bag, stretching the hide over the top of a barrel, then lacing it around the top with raw-hide strips.

Continued Will as concerning his father, Samuel's, seemingly one man town, "In the blacksmith shop we had a forge where we built a fire to heat the plow points. Then we beat them on an anvil with a big hammer, while they were still red hot, to sharpen them. We also shod horses, and made caskets."

"My father Samuel, made my mother's casket, He made it of pinewood, and covered and lined it with black material."

Will had three sisters, whose husbands were open range cattlemen. Mrs. Henry Hawkins' husband worked for the McClintock Ranch in Gaines County, Hawkins was killed by lightning and buried on open range near a well. The place is known today as Dead Man's Well.

Will's sister, Annie Cook and husband were co-owners of the Brunson Brothers ranch; and E. H. Price, the husband of Lillie Cook, worked for the Quinn Brothers Ranch on Sulphur Draw in Terry County.

After moving to Callahan County, Will Cook met his first wife, Emma Williams, and the couple married Dec. 24, 1906. To this marriage was born one child who died at the age of 1 with whooping cough and pneumonia.

Emma Williams Cook died Aug. 17, 1908. In 1914 Will came to Lubbock where he was engaged in moving houses. He helped move Lubbock's first courthouse, which was moved about a block northeast of its original site, and the new brick courthouse was built in 1915.

Minnie Cook was born March 8, 1891 in Callahan County, and was the daughter of W. B. and Margaret Evelyn Jones.

W. B. was born Feb. 12, 1837 in North Carolina. He served four years in the Confederate Army and lost an arm in later years due to a wound he received in the war.

Jones moved to Callahan County where he served as a Texas Ranger. He was a member of the Baptist Church and the Masonic Lodge.

He died July 26, 1926 and his funeral services were held in his home with burial at Baird.

Margaret was born in Alabama July 15, 1855.

In 1909 Minnie Jones married D. Williams and the couple had two daughters, Jewel and Bessie. In 1913, Williams died of typhoid fever and Minnie went back to make her home with her parents who helped with her two young daughters. For support of her children, Minnie did practical nursing in Baird.

Will Cook and Minnie Jones Williams were married Jan. 20, 1916 in Baird and Will bought his second wife to the home he had bought in Lubbock.

After four years in Lubbock they returned to Baird. Cook was later employed near Creck-enridge with an oil pumping station, pumping water for the oil field.

When the Cooks arrived at Spade townsite on Jan. 2, 1930, they recall only a four-strand barbed wire fence where two wagon-rut railroads crossed. These two rut-roads are now paved State Farm Roads, numbers 54 and 168.

The same year, 1930, the public school was erected. The school was built on the southeast corner of the sod ground at the two cross-roads and was named Spade for the cattle ranch from which the school grounds were purchased. The brand of the ranch is engraved over the entrance of the school building and the Longhorn was chosen as the school emblem.

However, the first school the Cook children attended after moving to Lamb County, was at Littlefield; but they were to become among the first pupils to enroll at the Spade school where five of them were graduates. Bill Cook received his grade and high school education in the Spade schools. His daughters, Dianne and Billie, started their school work in the same classroom.

The four Cook boys were active in school athletics and Howard was Valedictorian and both his grade and high school graduation classes. The four boys all served in the Armed Forces of World War II.

The summer of 1930 Roy Hicks built the first grocery store in Spade.

C. E. and Cliff Dean of Lubbock built the first cotton gin.

J. A. Grear set up a blacksmith shop. The Baptist was the first to build a church; but, a community church had been built about four miles northwest of Spade. It was given to the Methodist and was moved into Spade. A new building has been erected since.

The Spade Church of Christ was built in 1939. The "first step" men on this project were Durham, Keesee, Savage, and Hutchins.

Spade continued to grow into a busy cotton village and had several grocery stores, filling stations, four gins, two auto garages, two cafes, a butane-hardware business, one large grain elevator, one barber shop, a beauty shop, and it's own water system. The first water superintendent was Charles Heffington, ginmer at the Hampton gin, who sponsored the city's water system. Mrs. Heffington assisted as clerk for the water system.

The quarter of land which Will purchased was eight miles northeast of Spade. It was off of the Spade Ranch land.

Will and Minnie retired from farming and moved to Spade in 1960.

Among the Cooks' first and long-time neighbors were the Leonard, Sweeney, Jack Fowler, Edd Bird, Smith, Milligan, Griffin, Young, Hutchins, Gardner, Potteet and Vann.

To Will and Minnie Cook were born eight children, including Floyd, who served in World War II in the European Theatre. He met and married Hazel Revell in Oxford, England while overseas. He now resides in Lubbock with wife and four children, Carol, Linda, Debra and Mark.

Pearl Cook served as emergency dental assistant at Abilene, during World War II and met and married Eddie Woods. They have four daughters, Sharon, Ann, Ellen and Margaret, and live in Longview.

L. M. "Budd" Cook and wife, Mozelle, have two children, Sandra and L. M. Jr.

W. A. "Bill" Cook of Spade married Lillian Alexander of Sudan. They have two children, Dianne Walter who is employed with Delta Air Lines in Dallas; Billie Duncan who is a student at Stillwater, Okla.

Thelma Lee Cook died at the age of 16 with acute diabetes.

Howard P. Cook and wife, Harriet, live in Seattle, Wash. and had five children, Brent, Bryan, Bridget, Brad, and Brenda who died in infancy.

Samuel Cook died in infancy.

E. H. Cook died in infancy.

Crackdown Set On Chain Letters

"A startling 476 percent upsurge in unlawful chain letter activity has prompted Postmaster General Winton M. Blount to order a nationwide crackdown on those who conduct the scheme through the mails," said George Thompson, officer in charge of the Littlefield Post Office.

Chain letters are regarded as non-mailable under the postal lottery and fraud laws. They are considered fraudulent because of the unlikelihood the chain will remain unbroken and the participant will reap anything from his participation.

Chief Postal Inspector William J. Cotter revealed that the number of such schemes under investigation by his department leaped from 97 in August 1969 to 559 by the end of January 1970.

Cotter said the nationwide increase in chain letter activity primarily involves cash, but, from time to time, it will also use items such as United States Savings Bonds and Postal Money Orders.

"When and if anyone actually profits from chain letters," he said, "it is only those who are in on the ground floor. Later participants rarely, if ever, recoup their investments. Endless chains, as they are sometimes known, are not really endless. They progress with such rapidity that the number of prospects is soon exhausted and those investors who relied on the chain find themselves to be losers. As an example, a letter requiring a purchaser to sell or mail six copies to others with each of these selling six more, and so on, would theoretically reach the entire literate population of the earth if it were followed through only to the eleventh level."

In many cases, the promoter sets himself up to take all the profit. "For example," Cotter said, "one of the most vicious chains recently uncovered was one using the bereaved families of soldiers killed in Vietnam as victims."

In this scheme, the promoter posed as a grieving father himself and attempted to lure 100 families into a chain letter swindle where all proceeds were to be sent back to him under five aliases at different addresses.

An additional 1,000 families were slated to be targets when the promoter was arrested and subsequently sentenced to three years in prison.

The letters he actually mailed could have netted him more than $30,000 if he had been allowed to continue but prompt action by Postal Inspectors prevented any public loss."

The Department's Office of the General Counsel stressed that "even though some of the chain letters are transferred hand-to-hand and state 'Do Not Mail,' the schemes still violate the postal laws since the proceeds realized from such activities usually are mailed."

On the other hand, so-called chain letters which call for nothing more than recipes, picture post cards, and the like, are ordinarily considered to be mailable since the items sent do not constitute a thing of value within the meaning of the applicable law.

However, postal cards involving "good luck" chain prayers containing a threat of bad luck to those breaking the chain are illegal under a law that prohibits the placement of threatening matter on the outside of mail.

Cotter cautioned the public especially to be alert for numerous chain letters currently being distributed which claim to have been reviewed by some legal authority and officially approved for mailing. "This is not true," he said.

He urged the receivers of all chain letters to "turn them over promptly to local postmasters or postal inspectors to avoid possible criminal involvement in the scheme and to assist the Post Office in its efforts to protect the public from this illegal activity."

GSPA Working On Higher Rates

The Grain Sorghum Producers Association is continuing its drive to get grain sorghum loan rates set more realistically to those of corn in the new farm legislation. Elbert Harp, GSPA's Executive Director, said "Present national average grain loan rates are now only 86 percent of those of corn; whereas, the average feed value relation has been set at 95 percent or better." Harp pointed out that, "Presently the grain sorghum loan rates are related to corn according to feed value and seven other factors, which virtually allow the Secretary of Agriculture to set it anywhere he chooses. We are working to remove all the other factors, except food value, and have been encouraged about the possibility of getting it passed." Congressman Bob Price of Pampa plans to introduce the GSPA amendment, which now appears to have the support of most of the Agriculture Committee members. GSPA has been seeking the support of other farm and grain organizations and Harp stated that, "We now have the support of National Grange, National Farmers Union, National Farmers Organization, National Corn Growers, United Grain Growers of America, Nebraska Feed Grain Growers, Panhandle and Texas Grain and Feed Dealers Associations, and the Panhandle Country Elevator Association." "The U. S. Department of Agriculture is currently studying the amendment, but has given tentative approval with minor changes," he continued. Harp said, "This will add 18 cents to the national average loan rates if we get this change made in the law."
