City Council calls for re-bid on street seal coating project

In their meeting Thursday at noon, Littlefield's city council called for a re-bid on the 1976 seal coating program, using different specifications on materials; passed an ordinance granting a 6.89 percent rate increase in local service to General Telephone Company; appointed Dr. W. Lowest bid on seal coating, using river rock as specified in the bidding specifications, was $20,240, while others were $23,420, $24,800, $25,050

Councilmen decided a considerable saving might be realized if the bids were submitted for crushed limestone instead of river rock. The council was unanimous in calling for the re-bid.

K. Bert Watson President and Chief Executive Officer Pioneer Natural Gas Co.

Dear Fellow West Texan:

Starting with meetings in the summer of 1973 involving some 2,000 people, Pioneer discussed the national energy position with particular focus on natural gas and the West Texas situation. Many of you attended those meetings.

Letters and other material have been sent to an expanding list of people periodically since that time with the purpose of updating the situation. Additionally. Pioneer representatives have had many meetings with elected and other officials and leaders of West Texas.

As you are probably painfully aware, the higher cost of gas in the field took hold at the point of consumption more firmly during the past year than in the previous periods. Domestic rates increased 35 percent _from January through Decmeber of 1975 as a result solely of the increased average cost of gas in the field. The price for new good quality gas in the field varies from $1.40 to $2 per Mcf which is not much of a change from last year. Accordingly, gas still is sold at the current average domestic sales price of about $1.50 per Mcf-less than the price at which it could sell at the wellhead.

The average cost of gas to Pioneer for its West Texas system increased 39.65 cents since Jan. 1, 1975 to 89.23 cents in Jan., 1976. As noted in recent news stories. West Texas fares far better than the rest of the state in dometic burner tip rates because Pioneer has so far been able to maintain a price on a par with or lower than the lowest average cost of gas of any of the Texas gas transmission companies of the same or larger size. In January, the next closest to Pioneer was over 10 cents per Mcf higher than the January purchase price of 89.23 cents.

Further, Pioneer does continue to have gas available.

An important event occurred in the past month which we want to discuss because publicity noted that Pioneer was involved but the distinction from most of the others was not pointed out.

El Paso Natural Gas Company, a major interstate supplier, held a series of meetings with its natural gas customers in Texas, New Mexico. Arizona and California to explain the requirements of a new Federal Power Commission directive which will be implemented May 1, 1976. Due to the shortage of a gas supply available to that company, they are to restrict deliveries for each class of customer to the volume delivered to that class customer in a base period in 1974. As applicable to domestic customers, this means that any increase in consumption of gas since 1974 and in the future is not provided for.

Accordingly, in Clovis and the surrounding area, including Farwell, the gas company has announced that it will connect no houses not presently served and the New Mexico Public Service Commission has ordered such a moratorium. The same results are applicable to apartment houses and irrigation customers in addition to industrial consumption.

In Arizona, the regulatory body is placed in effect by the distributors or follow some other course and similar proceedings are pending in California.

In Arizona and, for that matter, most other areas, there are limited alternate fuel or energy possibilities and the probable result is a restriction of residential and commercial construction or growth during an extended period until alternate energy resources can be ready for delivery or the national energy policy is changed. If the same condition prevailed in West Texas, as we view it, there is as small a choice of alternates as in Arizona.

As we stated above, Pioneer is a customer of El Paso and was represented at these meetings. However, the direct purchases from El Paso are small and most of the deliveries from El Paso are the result of exchange of gas; in other words, the return of gas delivered to El Paso by Pioneer. The exchange is not now and is not expected to be effected.

Pioneer, except in a very few isolated circumstances affecting less than 1 percent of its customers, is now able to supply gas from other sources and most of these isolated circumstances can be corrected.

No domestic or commercial service in any city on the West Texas system will be affected and Pioneer expects to continue to make service available to new houses and buildings.

During 1975, Pioneer acquired new gas which its engineers estimate to exceed the amount of gas sold. Its comparatively favorable gas supply position was therefore maintained. Regretably, we lost one important source of supply because we would not agree to meet the higher of an escalating minimum price (shortly to be $1.97 per Mcf) and the highest price that anyone might pay in Texas without any escape. Another company that serves the large industrial and petrochemical industry of the Gulf Coast did meet these terms and now receives the gas.

Prospects are excellent for the continuing development of one of the most significant new supplies of gas within the continental United States in an area in the eastern portion of the Texas Panhandle. With a substantial capital outlay. Pioneer expanded into and enlarged its capacity to transport this gas to its main transmission system and now can bring up to 200 million cubic feet per day or over 1/4 of its total gas from this area.

The 39.65 cents per Mcf increase in the average cost of gas and in the customers bills is mentioned above. The average domestic customers uses about 120 Mcf a year and would pay an additional $48 plus sales tax because of this increase.

If the price increased another 25 cents per Mcf in 1976, that would be an additional $30 annually plus sales tax. These are important changes, particularly for those on low fixed incomes, but not nearly as catastrophic as some comments suggest. The changes are in the area projected when the price for new gas reached the higher rates of two years ago. As an alternate to gas shortage, the increases are not large.

Pioneer has the largest irrigation load in the state. The annual average price for the irrigation customers at the March rate is $1.16 per Mcf. For a typical well and typical annual irrigation application, this would cost 7 to 8 percent of the gross revenue from the production of cotton, grain sorghum or corn, and slightly less for wheat. Another 25 cents per Mcf increase in the cost of gas would require crop prices to increase 1 to 1.7 percent in order to recoup the additional cost. Of course, it would be more in a dry year but maximum consumption has never approached 2 times the average. This fuel cost is an important production cost and should be recovered in the crop price but it is less than 1/2 of the typical rent paid for irrigation land.

We are currently able to convince attractive industrial and agri-business prospects that the energy availability in West Texas will compare favorably with any area of the nation. Current prices have resulted in active exploration in our supply area although there has been a lessening activity at the south end of our system with a growing number of drilling rigs becoming inactive. This is generally attributed to national legislation either passed or pending. The drilling activity at the north end of the system is at least level and perhaps expanding and the successful identification of new gas supplies is pleasing.

Pioneer recognizes that natural gas energy is basic to the economy of West Texas. With the cooperation of its customers, the Company will continue to aggressively compete for and acquire natural gas under the most favorable conditions possible.

Very truly your. s/K. B. Watson K. B. Watson

parameter and the second

I'VE BEEN KICKING the new Child and Family Services Bill around a bit in previous columns. Most of the comments were from bits and pieces of information that I had been able to obtain from various sources.

Most all were incomplete to a certain degree.

The National Congress of the Parent-Teachers Association sent us a bit of information that I'd like to pass on to you in regards to the new proposal.

"This bill provides for the Sovietization of the American family.

"This takes the responsibility of parents to raise their children and gives it to the government."

'This bill undermines the family as the basic unit of society.'

HAVE YOU HEARD or read any of the above comments about the proposed Child and Family Services Act?

Is it possible that a bill with such alms is supported by the American Academy of Pediatrics, the U.S. Catholic Conference, the United Methodist Church, the American Home Economics Association, the National Association for Retarded Children, the National Education Association, the National Council of Jewish Women. the United Church of Christ, the Baptist Churches, and, among others. the National PTA?

Have all these organizations who feel that this legislation would strengthen American family life been so misled?

Although opinion on legislation is rarely unanimous, the opposition to this bill has gone beyond normal disagreement, and many of the charges are based on questionable information and tactics. Look at a few of these charges, and at their refutations. I. Is the bill "destructive of American family life"? The bill itself states that "the family is the primary and most fundamental influence on children" and that "child and family services must build upon and strengthen the role of the family and must be provided on a VOLUN-TARY BASIS only to children whose parents request them.

Clearly, the bill is voluntary, and designed to protect the family unit. 2. Does the bill include a "Charter of Children's Rights" or a "Child Advocacy" clause, both of which are referred to in much of the anonymous printed material in opposition to this bill? No. A "Child Advocacy" clause, which supposedly would permit a government advocate to enter the home, direct the child's education, and transfer the authority of the home to the state, is not advocated by any of the 100 congressional co-sponsors of this bill; moreover, no such language appears in the bill.

The Charter of Children's Rights, developed by the British Advisory Council for Civil Liberties, is the offspring of an organization which does NOT exist in the United States; and statements from it have not been proposed, included, or even considered as a part of the Child and Family Services bill. Herein, as you will see, lies a legislative lesson.

In congressional debate in 1971 on another bill, a senator referred to this Charter to indicate the extreme suggestions of some child advocates in England (see Congressional Record, December 2, 1971). This series of comments on the British Charter has

Nilah Rodgers listed in national who's who

Nilah Rodgers is included in PERSONALITIES OF THE SOUTH, a bicentennial memorial edition of who's who representing America's heritage 200 years after the establishment of our nation.

An English and creative writing instructor at the San Mateo, Calif. University who formerly instructed her at TTU in Lubbock nominated Nilah.

The historical edition includes persons whose background, service, and past achievements are worthy of note by other citizens.

Nilah was nominated for 'putting West Texas and West Texans on the map through her publications of

The Promises of God

"Great peace have they which love they love: and nothing shall offend them." Psalm 119:165.

A saintly man, who in later years of life, was bed ridden and enduring excruciating pain, was visited by some unbelievers that had known him in the years of his strength and he had testified to them of the 'Love of God'.

Old time argumentativeness had not left them, "The Love of God' you used to believe in", said one, "hasn't done much to relieve you of this pain! Do you believe in Him now?" He answered, "Seeing He has kept me in perfect peace all these years in the midst of all this pain, I believe in Him and love Him today more than ever!"

Thought: The Bible testifies of Him, who is the source of all historical, human interest and personality stories and articles, and for giving bouquets to the living.

The nominee said it is rare to find a woman who understands all the various phases of agriculture so well and focuses so adeptly on all problems in this complex and changing society.

Besides Nilah's employment as staff writer at the Leader-News for the past eight years, she has published well over 200 articles in more than 30 national magazines. These include Mechanixs Illustrated. The Lion, The Rotarian, Grit, Southern Living, Farm Journal, Progressive Farmer, Cotton Farming, Farmer Stockman, and all of the livestock and farm publications.

One of her latest articles is about a plastic surgeon in Fort Worth who goes to Mexico twice a year to do free surgery on the harelipped victims. It is translated into Spanish and is being published in all of the South American editions of Reader's Digest this year.

Oklahoma Ave. Club meets

Vena Maner was hostess for the Oklahoma Avenue Home Demonstration Club Thursday afternoon, with 13 members meeting at Lamb County Agriculture Building. "Denim and '76" is the decorating theme for District Convention, and members cut table runners out of cotton denim, courtesy of American Cotton Growers' Textile Plant.

District 2 THDA meeting will be April 8th, and the last district with the three Lamb County Home Demonstration Clubs as hostesses.

The first home demonstration club in the world was organized by a group of women in March of 1915, at Sumter, S. C. under the leadership of extension service of the Winthrop and Clemson Colleges. (Ref. in the Treasure Trails of 1776-1976, published by National Extension Homemakers Council).

Each club has a delegate to the county council, and Mrs. Fern Bitner of the Oklahoma Avenue Club is secretarytreasurer to the council.

Mrs. Doris Waters is voting club delegate at the convention.

'The diligent workers of the three Lamb County clubs are expecting a successful convention, and all members are to meet at 1 p.m. Wednesday, April 7, at the Lamb County Agriculture building," stated County Agent Dorothy Powell.

The meeting was closed and refreshments were served to: Lorene Hulse, Ruth Miller, Minnie Davis, Jo Jones, Fern Bitner, Ila Helms, Jerry Cook. Zelda Helms, Thelma Griffin, Beverly Trimmer, Letitia Kelsey, Mary Feagley, Ruth Trimmer and Extension Service Agent Dorothy Powell.

Janette Bishop is elected sweetheart

ANTON-Phil Snow of Houston, southwest district sales manager of the Agricultural Division, Velsicol Chemical Corporation, was the guest speaker at the Anton Lions Club Ladies' night Monday night.

Miss Janette Bishop, high school junior, was elected sweetheart. The other candidate was Miss Gina Monroe.

Miss Bishop is the daughter of Lion Boss Eddie and Mrs. Bishop.

Miss Monroe's parents are

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Monroe. Snow spoke on the dangers to agricultural production of foods due to the Environmental Protection Agency's stringent regulations of chemicals. He said that the book "Silent Spring" by Rachel Carson was the motivation for control of pesticides by the government.

He said, "Our freedoms are in great danger." In this he was referring not only to the invasion of the federal government into regulation of chemcials, but also the continued invasion into industry and farming by government agencies.

The Lions officers for 1976-77 elected were president, Dutch Chesser; first vice president and secretary, Mike Byrum; second vice president, Denny Belew; third vice president, Eddie Bishop; Tail Twister, Louis Boothe; Lion Tamer, Orval Williams; and directors, Gordon Timms, Wayne Mc-Larty, Leon Wooton, and S. M. Monroe.

Jim Billings was introduced as a new member.

Rotate vegetables to improve production

"A lot of things go into a successful garden, and one item that should not be overlooked is that of rotating crops," points out Birch L. Lobban, Assistant county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.
