Sidewalk Bicycle Riders Are Warned

Littlefield city police have received a number of complaints concerning young people riding bicycles on downtown sidewalks.

Some ride at high speeds and make it hazardous for shoppers walking down the walks.

Police Chief James Cox seeks cooperation from the young people who have been riding on the sidewalks, adding that this is a violation and persons who complain could file. The police department asks the cooperation of the riders and their parents in eliminating sidewalk riding as a simple matter of courtesy.

Tractor Recovered 13 Miles From Theft Point

A $19,000 International 1066 diesel tractor equipped with air conditioning, dual tires and FM radio has been recovered by the Lamb County sheriff's department.

The tractor was stolen from the Don Curtis farm three miles north of Springlake last Saturday sometime after 5:30 p.m.

The tractor was recovered at the

According to Sheriff E.D. McNeese, Carlisle had agreed to buy a tractor from a man who said he lived in Lovington, N.M. approximately two weeks before the tractor was delivered Saturday night about 10 p.m. Carlisle had taken $1,500 out of the bank as a downpayment for the tractor.

Carlisle told deputies he agreed to pay $11,500 for the tractor and gave the man the cash, a $5,000 horse and a note for $5,000. On Thursday before the tractor was stolen on Saturday, approximately $150 worth of tools were taken from the tractor. The tractor was stolen sometime later, and delivered 13 miles from where it was taken the same evening it was stolen. McNeese said the serial numbers had been removed.

Carlisle phoned sheriff deputy V. L. Smith and reported that he had bought the tractor on Monday after he learned of the theft.

The tractor was returned to Curtis at Earth after Texas Rangers Bud Newberg and Jack Peoples came in to aid the sheriff's department in the investigation.

In other action at the sheriff's department this week, officers went to Aztec, N.M. and took Charles Lee Hewitt into custody. Hewitt was indicted by the grand jury recently on a charge of burglary of Pay & Save earlier in the fall. Hewitt remains in jail with his bond set at $5,000.

DID YOU EVER eat those dandelions growing there in your yard?

Well, to tell the truth, most of us haven't. But Biblical botanists have agreed that the dandelion was one of the "bitter herbs" called for in the Passover meal as recorded in Exodus 12:8 and Numbers 9:11.

So, with evidences found in the Talmud, which were written sometime after 200 A.D., people have been eating them a long time.

Now, Cornball will have a new use for those "yellow flowering plants" he speaks about every spring.

Oral teachings about the "bitter herbs" date back to the time of Jesus. A comment by Rabbi Juhah in the Talmud is to the effect that "whatever plant contains an acrid sap qualifies as a bitter herb." This, together with the fact that the dandelion grew freely in Biblical lands long before the Christian, era, makes us almost certain that it was eaten as part of the Passover and at other times as well.

Greek works from the fourth century B.C. list it among their potherbs (greens) that must be cooked before eaten. As their seeds float through the air, most of us are quite familiar with them. The name itself is a corruption of the French "dent de lion" which means "lion's tooth."

This in turn goes back to the Greek name for it: "leontodon."

In the old country it was sometimes called ''priest's crown'' from the appearance of the plant when the white head is gone to leave a bald pate surrounded by drooping bracts.

According to a cookbook I have in my possession "Cookbook Of Foods From Bible Days", written by Jean and Frank McKibbin, the dandelion contains a peppery white sap, just as do lettuce, endive and chicory (all of which are mentioned in the Talmud as bitter herbs.)

Consequently, it is eaten only when the leaves are very young and tender. Some people have gathered them in the spring and enjoyed them raw in salads, or well cooked in place of other greens like spinach.

But most of us have either poisoned them or got on our hands and knees and dug them out of the ground.

Did you know dandelions contain more vitamin A than any other popular fruit or vegetable. For instance they have at least 50 percent more vitamin A, as well as more of certain B vitamins, calcium and phosphorous than spinach greens. Dandelions have long been popular in France where several varieties are cultivated. In 1836 they were grown commercially for the Boston market and are still available in some parts of the U.S. all year, although the biggest months are April and May.

And Cornball, here's another idea too. Roasted dandelion roots are used to make a coffee substitute. They are dried, roasted until they are the color of coffee, then ground. People who have drunk it say it is remarkably similar to coffee. And just think how much cheaper!

The dandelion has been used for medicinal purposes for thousands of years. The old herbals dwell at length on its application to various illnesses. Dandelion wine is still part of the American scene as it is in Europe.

But it is best known as a fresh vegetable. The young leaves make a good vegetable sandwich with butter and salt or even a dash of lemon juice and pepper.

Cut it fresh into your green salad along with lettuce or other salad greens. Like water cress, it adds piquant taste.

If you gather the very young plant right out of your lawn, cut it at the tap root just below the ground so the whole plant is held together. As a cooked green, in case you think dandelions alone may be a bit too bitter for your family, use half spinach. In this case, the dandelion greens must be partly cooked first before they are combined with the spinach for final cooking.

Dandelion greens take from 10 to 20 minutes to cook, whereas spinach takes nearly five minutes.

BOILED LEAVES 2 lbs. young, tender dandelion leaves

l qt. water l tsp. salt

4 strips bacon, sauteed and crumbled 1 Tbsp. butter or bacon drippings

Wash dandelions in several waters. Remove roots and flower buds. Bring salted water to rapid boil and add the greens. Reduce heat and cook uncovered 5 minutes. Cover and simmer for 5 minutes more, or until just tender. Drain. Add butter or bacon drippings and toss lightly. Garnish with the bacon pieces. Makes four generous servings.

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I appreciated the fine article in the column 'The Abundant Life' by Bob Wear "Don't Impose" in the Jan. 18 issue. It was well written and timely. We surely need to be reminded to be considerate of others. We are reminded of the admonition of the Bible in Romans Chapter 12 verses 9 and 10, "Let love be without dissimulation (hypocrisy). Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good. Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honor preferring one another." And in verse 16 "Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits."

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Duty To Self

IT IS AMITTED that finding the essential understanding of and view of one's self is difficult. There are so many differing suggestions which can lead to misconceptions. To further complicate our efforts to fashion and carry out a proper "duty to self", there are the many conflicting notions which have been acquired from the living experience. Regardless of difficulties, however, we must never be careless about forming our self-concept. We must do our very best.

"DUTY TO SELF", when properly understood and expressed is no part of any kind of obession with self, or undue interest in self. It is, in fact, the only way by which we can be effective, self-fulfilling, and useful persons. We can never do right by others, or give ourselves to anything worthwhile until we are doing right by ourselves. Each person has certain, well-established duties to self.

WE MUST TAKE CARE of ourselves, take the very best care of ourselves. This is the basic prerequisite for success in our work; as a member of the family; as a responsbile citizen; and is essential to the fulfillment of our purpose for being. This means that we must like ourselves and love ourselves; not in a conceited way, but in the most wholesome way. We must manage ourselves wisely. We must be neither harsh on nor self-seeking; but learn a the most prudent kind of pline.

WE KNOW that there is undesirable and hurtful kinded ness, but the fear of this must permitted to lead us to a disregard of self; or ourself'. Nothing must be degrade, or downgrade, or one's self. In fact, all le knowledge supports the great

WHILE I'M A LITTLE self-concious about having missed so many issues of late, I'm not sure I should even try to write this one. I've just finished scanning the current US&NR, and the most impressive articles leave me with a despondent chilled feeling. (My apologies to Turn Row for reading the thing)

The articles about "Terror In Schools" should make us stop and take a recount. If they don't turn your blood cold, you're in pretty bad shape!

IT WOULD SEEM that the banning of God, the paddle, and the mixing of the permissive teachings of the old maid child psychologist are, indeed, beginning to bear fruit. We seem to be reaping a sizeable crop of rebellious, disrespectful dope-headed infidels in a large part of our country.

We, in this area, are quite bountifully blessed as the problems aren't nearly so prevalent here.— Even tho, some of them keep rearing their ugly heads from time to time. The main problem, of course, is the lack of discipline, or, the inability to enforce it.— (Seems our own schoolboard had that question come up in one of their meetings, lately.)

IN SUCH PLACES as Washington, D.C., Detroit, Los Angeles, and yes, Houston and Dallas, we learn that it's not rare to hear of assaults, rapes, and robberies of teachers being reported. (We have no idea of how many are NOT reported) This, by students themselves, and young hoodlums that go in gangs around the neighborhood.

It's said that most of the offenders come from low income and minority groups. Even so, some of the schools in the "Well to Do" neighbor aren't without sin. Of course a tried to remedy this problem putting them all on food stamp making sure they're equal in privileges. GUESS MOST OF YOU noticed that the world did not come to an end after all. Although to many it did come to a standstill during the Super Bowl X game Sunday. Yet our favorite team did not win, they should have made a certain Monday night sports commentator eat his words. But knowing him, he's sort of like a certain writer, they hardly ever take anything back. I'd be willing to bet that the sports caster probably laughs all the way to the bank, regardless of what we say or think.

Oh well, there is always next year.

GUESS IT IS ABOUT time for my spring weather forecast. Generally speaking, the rest of this month should be warmer than normal. There will be some rains in the latter part of July as a result of a Gulf coast hurricane. September will be wet and mild but October will be somewhat different with warm dry weather.

Now to be more specific, we is a area should receive some moisture the end of this week and more took the end of the month. There is a go possibility that the moisture receive at the end of the month will be ell freezing rain or sleet.

There will probably be some she activity around the 7th of March

"The Reluctant Dragon" is one of the cleverest word contradictions ever formed. So is "Paper Tiger." In each instance you have power coupled with impotence. Such paradoxes are common in fairy tales and politics. But not in spiritual realities.

SPIRITUAL CONCERNS DEMAND INVOLVEMENT

Spiritual concerns imply and demand involvement. Jesus almost engaged in ridicule when He told of those who met the hungry and said, "Be thou full," and to those who were naked, "Be thou clothed."

Prayer and action go hand in hand. The spiritual giant is not reluctant to engage in hand to hand battle with evil-or with need. Getting up in the morning and finding out where God is working and going there to help Him is the daily assignment of every Christian man or woman. Your prayers must be punctuated with practice. Your vaunted, spirit-filled life must not turn out to be a mere "paper tiger."

Jesus said, "Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he would send forth labourers into his harvest" (Luke 10:2). Those are your orders. There is a time for prayer—it preceeds every time of service . . . deliberate, obedient, prayerful service, in His name-in His harvest.

Corn ruined by wild cane or sandbur? Get Eradica

* Foundation

If your cornfields have been a jungle of wild cane or sandbur, you need help. The best help is Eradicane herbicide applied in your center-pivot irrigation system. How do you do it? With Herbigation™ weed control service. It's simple enough. You meter Eradicane into your center-pivot irrigation line from a supply tank. Water does the work of application, either just before or just after corn planting.

Eradicane controls wild cane and sandbur and many other weeds as the weeds sprout.

That's Herbigation weed control service with Eradicane. It works so well performance is guaranteed when used as the label directs, or Stauffer will replace the Eradicane. Verify purchase, leave a check strip and notify Stauffer promptly.

This season, grow corn not wild cane or sandbur. Use Eradicane. Always follow label directions carefully. Order Eradicane now.
