

Lamb County Voters Cast Ballots Saturday

Saturday will be a busy day for Littlefield residents, when the third annual Loyalty Day Parade, the fourth annual Band Boosters' Barbecue and the general election primaries will keep citizens moving from one event to the other.

Democratic and Republican primary polls will remain open until 7 p.m. Saturday, so that residents may choose their favorite candidates and express an opinion on the busing referendum.

The Band Boosters' Barbecue, to help support the over-all band program in the Littlefield schools, will begin with serving the noon meal at 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Community Center in Laguna Park. The Junior High Band and the Seventh Grade Band will play through the noon meal.

The evening barbecue will feature the Wildcat and Beginners Bands playing through the 5 to 7 p.m. serving period. Tickets for the meals are $1.85 for adults and $1.25 for students. The menu will include barbecue beef, beans, potato salad, pickles, onions, bread, coffee and iced tea.

The Loyalty Day Parade, sponsored by the Littlefield VFW and Women's Auxiliary, will begin at 1:30 p.m. Participants will form the parade on the street south of the courthouse, will begin northward down XIT to Delano, then turn right to Phelps Avenue and proceed southward down Phelps Avenue.

AGAINST DST, FORCED BUSING

Majority Undecided On Governor's Post

IF THERE WAS a political candidate named Undecided or Don't Know, he'd be Littlefield residents' choice for Texas' next governor.

The "haven't made up their minds yet" group held the majority in an opinion poll conducted by the Leader-News Tuesday. Four names from each page of listings in the Littlefield telephone directory were selected at random.

OF THE MORE than 60 persons questioned, 26 said they were undecided, 18 were for Briscoe, eight said they weren't voting, five said they are for Smith, two said they like the woman candidate, and two said they knew who they would vote for, but they weren't telling.

Persons polled were asked four questions:

1. Who are you voting for for governor?
2. Who do you think will win?
3. Are you for or against the forced busing referendum?
4. Are you for or against Daylight Savings Time?

Littlefield voters are much more opinionated when it comes to the two referendum proposals.

FIFTY PERSONS said they were definitely opposed to forced busing of public school students. But of the number who readily expressed their wish on the matter, less than one-half said they understood that they would have to mark their ballots "For" to express their disapproval of busing.

Others volunteered comments on the busing issue. A recurring statement was that voters are against the busing issue just for the sake of integration. Several said they thought the money spent for busing should be spent on schools and better facilities instead, and others said they believed very much in every student having equal opportunities for a good education, but not for busing itself.

THE POLL CLEARLY revealed preferences on Daylight Savings Time, too. Thirty-three vehemently said they are against DST; 13 said they like it, five were undecided or had no opinion and the rest said they wished the time would be set one way or the other and then left that way!

The choice of governor this year seems to be more of a vote against a certain candidate than for a person's favorite. A laugh was the most common first reaction to the question.

When asked "Who are you going to vote for for governor?" several replied, "Well, I'm not going to vote for the one that's in there now."

EVEN THOUGH many voters have made their choice, not all are confident their man will win. Answers like "I'm voting for Briscoe, but I'm afraid Briscoe will get it" or "Smith will probably get it because he's the man I'd least like to see win" were common replies.

With almost 75 per cent of those polled undecided, candidates in a runoff will be named by those who were polled the last minute to make up their minds.

Three Youths Jailed On Marijuana Charges

Three 19-year-old Lamb County youths were jailed on possession of marijuana charges here Sunday.

Jackie Lynn Gullett and Gregory Leo Smith of Olton and Keith D. Slaughter of Amberst were all booked into the county jail after an Olton city policeman, Bert Herring, apprehended the trio following a chase all over Olton, down U. S. 70 from Olton to Springlake and ending north of Springlake.

Ped Hunt, Olton chief of police, said Herring first attempted to stop the vehicle the boys were in after the officer noticed the occupants throwing beer bottles out.

Bond was set at $2,500 each, and all three were released Sunday.

Three others were arrested over the weekend.

Willie James Conley of Littlefield was charged with simple assault Saturday and released the same date on a $400 bond.

Tommy Daugherty, 26, of Terrell, was picked up in Mount Pleasant on a Lamb County warrant charging him with four counts of forgery.

James L. Garrett, 27, Lubbock, was given three days in jail for contempt of court for failure to pay child support.

City Begins Operation Of Bull Lake Project

Bull Lake is officially a Littlefield city park. The city of Littlefield took over operation of the lake Monday, and building of a new entrance road was started.

Terms for operating the lake concession were agreed upon at the last city council meeting, according to Pat Bradley, city manager.

Bradley said the council agreed to let the city take over the management of the lake in order to keep the lake open to the public.

Approximately 400 acres of water in an additional 100 acres of fenced area is included in the area which will be supervised by the city.

In addition to the new access road, immediate plans call for about two miles of fencing and the placement of trash containers. Additional work will be done as funds are available from revenue from the lake.

Future plans call for picnic tables and rest room facilities.

The new entrance will be approximately one mile west of the existing entrance. After grading, the road will be covered

Miss Thompson Participates In State Mock Convention

Belinda Thompson of Spade participated in a mock constitutional convention conducted by students of government last Monday at Ranger Junior College.

The convention was the culmination of a semester-long project which began early in the spring. Miss Thompson was the permanent convention secretary.

All students enrolled in state and local government were divided into three parties: the Government party, the Opposition party, and the Independent party, and were assigned the task of producing a constitution to be presented to the convention for debate and final approval.

The students chose a mythical state called Hornadillo and used two recent state reform constitutions as references. The Government party used Illinois constitution adopted by the state in 1971, and the Opposition party chose the New York state reform constitution. The Independent party was charged with the task of producing alternatives to both.

A total of 13 committees of nine students, representing each party, met throughout the semester to consider all aspects of state government and to work out compromises between the different views.

On April 24, the compromises along with the minority reports were submitted to the convention for ratification and adoption.

The convention opened at 8 a.m. and the final vote, adopting the new constitution was at 9 p.m., ending a total of 12 hours of debate and voting as each article was considered separately.

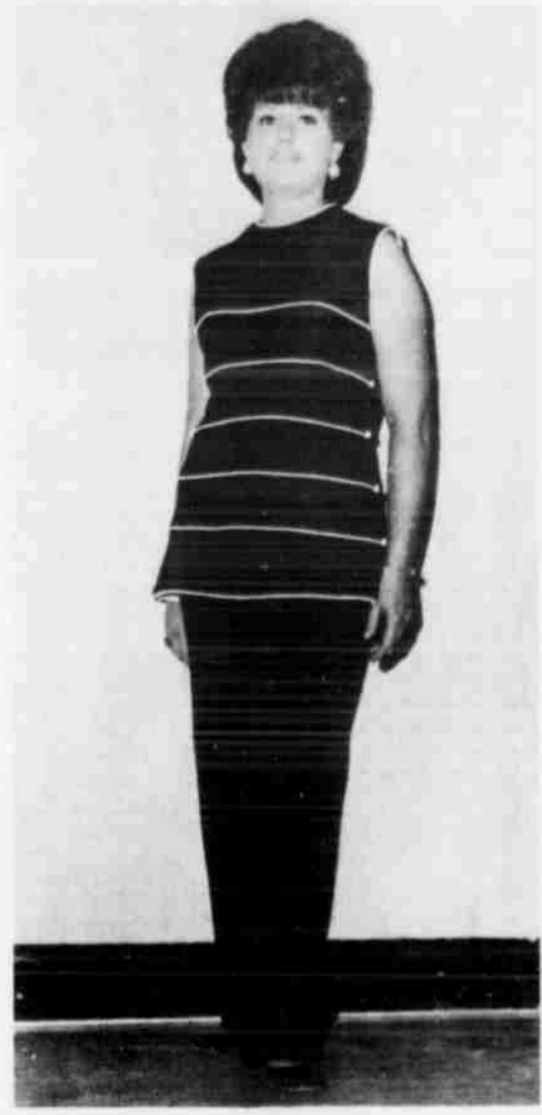

Dr. Bill Buckner, instructor of government and economics at RJC, made the following statement after reading the final draft of the students' work, "As far as I am concerned, the constitution of Hornadillo is a much better one than the present state of Texas constitution and would be easier to live under and to live with."

The purpose for the project was to acquaint the students with the problems involved in writing a basic organic law which ultimately affects of the state, to provide the students with an opportunity to actually experience state government in action, and to study all aspects of government at the state level, using as references, the state of Texas and the two other states whose constitutions were used as references.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

By BILL BOYKIN
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AN ESTIMATED 1.85 million Texas Democrats are about to decide one of the most significant primary elections in years.

Another 100,000 or more will vote in the Republican primary Saturday.

Both parties will also conduct important precinct conventions May 6 — first step in the presidential nominations process. With emphasis on the hard-fought gubernatorial primaries in both parties, little attention has been devoted to the conventions beyond a prolonged Democratic scrap over adoption of new procedural rules.

Democrats almost certainly will go into June 3 runoff for both governor and lieutenant governor — and perhaps other statewide elections.

Gov. Preston Smith, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde and State Rep. Frances (Sissy) Farenthold of Corpus Christi are major contenders for the Democratic gubernatorial runoff spots.

The lieutenant governor's field is also closely bunched in the stretch drive with State Sens. Wayne Connally of Floresville, Ralph Hall of Rockwall and Joe Christie of El Paso and Houston newspaper executive William P. Hobby the top contenders.

Former Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough is favored to win the Democratic U. S. Senate nomination over Barefoot Sanders and face GOP Sen. John Tower in November.

Republican gubernatorial candidates staging serious campaigns include State Sen. Henry Grover of Houston, Dave Reagan of Sherman, Al Fay of Houston and Tom McElroy of Dallas. John A. Hall of Weatherford has also put up a fight.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin is challenged for re-election by John Hill of Houston, and Comptroller Robert S. Calvert and Treasurer Jesse James have multiple opposition.

A minimum of 58 — maybe as many as 80 — new state representatives will be elected and at least 11 new state senators.

NO MEDICAID EVICTIONS

No sick poor are going to be thrown out of hospitals before they are well due to new curbs on medicaid, the State Welfare Department pledges.

The new American Physicians Union claimed in advertisements that Welfare Department guidelines set a limit on hospital stays for each illness.

A department spokesman said nobody will be thrown out who needs to stay in the hospital and that the guidelines were meant merely to suggest normal care periods for ailments and age groups. If additional hospitalization is needed, it will be paid for, a department official stated.

The medicaid program, which cost $142 million for the current fiscal year, is paid two-thirds by the federal government and one-third by the state.

TRAFFIC DEATHS INCREASE

Traffic deaths this year have increased 190 per cent over 1971, the Department of Public Safety reports.

DPS recorded 904 deaths compared with 688 for early 1971.

Deaths on interstate highways actually dropped six per cent, but fatalities in city limits jumped 11 per cent, DPS said.

RATLIFF QUILTS

Ratliff, 60, said his "past mistakes or bad judgment" should not reflect on other members of the Texas Senate.

MEAT PRICES MAY RISE

This year's spring drought may again cause meat prices to rise, Agriculture Commissioner John White warns.

If the drought continues, said White, cattlemen will have to reduce their herds.

"Meat prices should come down, but this will be only temporary," said White. "After those cattle are sold, there again will be a shortage of livestock which will result again in higher meat prices."

The same thing, according to White, happened last year in a rainless period.

MASS TB X-RAY

Texas State Department of Health announced skin testing has replaced the mass X-Ray screening for tuberculosis in Texas.

X-Rays are recommended only for those persons testing positive in skin checks and those in high-risk groups.

The Health Department will continue to use mobile X-Ray units — mainly for follow-up testing. The Texas case rate for new, active tuberculosis is 25.8 per 100,000 population. The national average is 18.3.

Noise Pollution

NOISE COMES in many forms, and it is described by many people as unwanted sounds. But whatever the definition, noise is a problem—one that has been creeping up on all of us over the years.

Noise pollution is fast becoming recognized as a great public health problem as is air or water or land pollution.

THE INCREASED USE of machinery has resulted in a growing assortment of industrial situations which threaten the hearing capabilities of workers. But noise goes far beyond the confines of plant sites.

The sounds of our cities are the result, not only of elevated plant noises, but of the roar of traffic, the blare of horns and sirens, construction noise-makers such as jackhammers, and the roar of jet airliners. No one anywhere is immune to these noisy, irritable influences.

NOISE CAN ACTUALLY surround you. It travels in pressure waves from its source, like the ripples caused by a rock tossed into a pond. Invisible, it is usually carried by air, but it can also be conducted by the wood walls of a home, the steel floors of offices, by the glass in windows, and by the metal bodies of autos and airplanes.

The federal government requires that the environmental impact—including noise effects—be assessed before proceeding on federally funded construction projects.

WITHIN OUR OWN STATE, members of the legislature have asked the State Health Department to study measures available for control of noise in the general environment.

The State Health Department's Industrial Hygiene Program has long been involved in noise control. Operating out of the Division of Occupational Health and Radiation Control, the program has routinely worked with members of industry to implement recommended noise control measures.

THE HEALTH DEPARTMENT program's involvement in community noise control is just beginning to delve into this phase of noise control, and requests from local governments for assistance in forming ordinances have been received.

The program is assisting in the research of legislation enacted by and under consideration in other states. On the basis of exposure and experience on noise problems, consideration may be given for expanding the legal support for the Department to include environmental noise control with the industrial responsibilities.

EMPHASIS on noise pollution is bringing results, and sometime in the future Texans may be able to enjoy that "silence that is in the starry sky" about which Wordsworth once wrote.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Our Privileges

By BOB WEAR

A PRIVILEGE IS "a right or immunity granted as a peculiar benefit, advantage, or favor." There are many privileges available to us. It is right for us to think about and desire these benefits; to expect to receive and enjoy them.

If, however, most of our concern is directed toward the areas of privilege and favor, we are creating an unbalanced and unreal situation.

WHAT ABOUT OBLIGATIONS and responsibilities? If we are engrossed in what we can get, or think we should get; and are unconcerned about what we should be giving, we are in trouble. We are in trouble because the source of privileges will eventually disappear.

There is a very real sense in which privileges and rights must be earned.

"WHAT CAN I EXPECT to get out of this?" This is a legitimate question, when it is accompanied with the question, "What is my obligation in this?"

There are too many people who expect something for nothing; people who are expecting benefits, but have no justification for expecting anything.

THERE ARE TOO MANY people being given too much, and this is not helping anybody; but hurting everybody. It seems that these people expect to partake of the fruit which is produced by the efforts and the work of others.

This is a disastrous viewpoint. Privilege without responsibility is destructive of human well-being.

THERE IS TOO MUCH of the spirit,

"It's nothing to me, see to it yourself." It is not uncommon to hear people say, "Why don't they do something?" We want the work to be done, the obligations to be met, and the service to be rendered; but too often we want somebody else to do all of these things. Of course, we want to share the benefits.

THERE ARE NO PRIVILEGES or blessings that do not have one or more attendant obligations. Whether we consider freedom or our daily bread, it can be said, truthfully, that "freedom is not free" and "there are no free lunches."

Both are unalterably tied to obligations and responsibilities. Yes, there are "free loaders"; but somebody must take care of the obligations which produce these and all other privileges.

WHEN WE ACCEPT BENEFITS, but shirk attending duties; we place the benefits in jeopardy.

Concern for obligations must precede expectations and demands for rights and privileges. We can never know the real satisfaction of privileges until we know and accept obligations. In fact, the fullness and richness of life will escape us completely unless we are just as interested in meeting obligations as we are in receiving benefits.

"THOUGH THE WIDE UNIVERSE is full of good, no kernel of nourishing corn comes to him but through his toil bestowed on that plot of ground which is given to him to till." — Emerson Privileges are eventually lost, when obligations are rejected.

Artistic Ability Occupies Senior's Time

By CAROL WHITE

Who would believe that Littlefield High School senior, Cathy Nelson would have time to make pillows, decorate candle holders, re-do old furniture, decoupage pictures, sew, cook, and actually have time to go to school?

This busy senior has been working on such projects since she was a freshman.

In the past, Cathy has made use of her artistic ability and made Christmas and birthday presents for friends. Her fur pillows made ideal gifts. Other presents she has made include decoupage books. These were made by taking old books opened to the center and gluing the pages together. Usually a wedding or graduation announcement served as the material to be decoupage.

Re-doing old furniture is a never-ending quest for Cathy. Asked why she enjoyed this work, she stated:

"I like to re-do old furniture because it makes a room seem more original." So far Cathy has refinished end tables, a coffee table, and a cane-bottom rocking chair.

With plans to be married this summer, Cathy would like to refinish all the furniture in her future home and has definite ideas to start on a dresser, two chests, a bookcase, and a rocking chair. For these projects, she plans to enlist the help of her fiancé.

Cathy's latest experiments have been making wine decanters. A wine bottle with raised grape designs on the bottom served as the container. Paper mache was pasted onto the raised grape designs and then painted different shades of purple. The final step was varnishing the bottle.

Another favorite project of Cathy's is making candle holders. She likes to experiment with these because there are so many different variations. Glass insulators from telephone poles make interesting holders. The insulators are stacked and glued together. Coating with a crystallized paint gives the holder a glazed effect. Juice glasses also make interesting candle holders.

Sewing takes up a great deal of Cathy's time. The hardest project she says she has ever made was a coat with a detachable maxi bottom. She likes to make coordinating pant, skirt, and vest outfits and lists pants as her favorite sewing item.

As a future homemaker Cathy gets in plenty of practice on her family by planning most of their meals and cooking them, too.

CATHY'S COMMENTS

The Game Of Life

By Cathy Giles

"I shall pass through this world but once. If therefore, there by any kindness I can show, Or any good thing I can do, let me do it now let me not defer it or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

—Grellet

This year's seniors are preparing to leave the shelter of home and enter into the game of life. What each will make of his life is up to the individual.

Whether one utilizes the many opportunities life has to offer is a decision which each person has to make for himself.

Memories of bygone days will follow you on your travels through life and each memory will hold some precious lesson or bit of wisdom.

Tackle any task you encounter with initiative and fervor. Do not delay; for, each precious second lost is never to be regained. Make life surrender its treasures unto you and you shall prosper for it. Accept whatever events may befall you, but most of all live day by day. All we can ever expect of life is today for there is no tomorrow. Today is the only thing that exists for the rest of our lives.

STUDENT TEACHERS Sharmin Forester from high school and Teri Smith from junior high have recently completed their training in home economics.

Rodeo Club Is Building Rodeo Arena

By NILAH RODGERS
Leader-News Staff Writer

Littlefield High School's newly organized Rodeo Club had a "ripping good time" Sunday.

The ripping was literal. Twenty LHS Rodeo Club members ripped out old sheds at the sheriff's posse arena Sunday afternoon in preparation for a two or three-year project. Metal and pipe chutes and pens will be built so the Littlefield Club will have a place to practice and hold rodeos.

The club project is through a contract with the Lamb County Sheriff's Posse.

Getting the Rodeo Club organized is considered a major step, since there was quite a bit of opposition to the club from several quarters. Final establishment of the club represents six years of efforts.

Brad Nace is president of the fledgling club. Monte Angel is vice president; Mark Payne is secretary; Kenan Lichte is treasurer; Don Trotter is sergeant-at-arms, and Doug Allen is reporter.

LHS chemistry teacher, Nathan Wilson sponsors the organization, and Debbie Collins is co-sponsor. Of the 20 junior and senior members, eight are girls.

Students participating in the tri-state organizational-sponsored rodeos must have the same academic rating to enter as those who participate in UIL events.

"Some of the boys haven't quite got their grades up, yet," said the sponsoring chemistry teacher, "but they are working on it."

Only juniors and seniors are allowed to participate the first year. Wilson said there are several underclassmen who have brought their grades up so they can join next year. "We've got a number of boys looking forward to next year," he said, "and there won't be a one who won't get to participate because of their grades."

THE LITTLEFIELD RODEO CLUB started its first project Sunday. Lacking an arena for rodeos and practice, the club contracted with the sheriff's posse to build chutes and pens at the play day site on the old fair grounds. Left to right are officers of LHS's newest club. Mark Payne is Rodeo Club secretary; Brad Nace, president; Monte Angel, vice president; Kenan Lichte, treasurer; Doug Allen, reporter; and Don Trotter, sergeant-at-arms.

Of the 10 sanctioned events, six are for boys and four are girls. Brad Nace picked up a second place last year before the club was organized. "He's put on some good bull rides this year," Wilson said, "but he hasn't placed because the bull fell on him in the re-rides. Riding a bull one time is enough."

It's balance that counts in rodeo skills. "It's balance, not brute strength," Wilson said. "You can be strong as a bull, but when that bull or horse gets to shaking, it takes balance."

Most of the Littlefield Rodeo Club members go in for bareback and bull riding. Girls like barrel racing and pole bending.

Littlefield students have participated in some of the events at Amarillo, Dalhart, Hereford and ENMMI this year. They haven't won any top slots, but they show promise.

Wilson said there are several "green hand" juniors who look real promising for next year. "Monte Angel and Don Trotter do a good job bareback. Doug Allen could be good if he had some practice," Wilson said, "and Doug thinks he'd like to try the bulls."

Wilson doesn't discount the ninth graders and sophomores, either. "And we've got some girls who'd be real good if they could practice."

A place to practice is the first thing in mind in re-working the play day arena. Presently, the club does not have facilities. Interest in the club is high. They meet two nights a month. At the last meeting 17 of the 20 members were present, and the three missing were juniors and were in play practice.

Although some of the rodeos offer prize money, the top prize doesn't do any more than pay the boys back their entrance fee and expenses. The school participates by name only.

Club members pay their own entry fees, usually $10 for each event. Students furnish their gas, pay for their own meals, and for rooms if they are away from home overnight.

Sometimes there are chances to win a saddle or other big prize. For a chance at a top prize, members must enter three events and win two of them. "And that's just for a 'chance' at one of the prizes," Wilson said. Coats, boots, dress shirts and belt buckles are among the prizes offered.

The big rodeo of the year for Rodeo Club members is the one at Dalhart at the end of the school year. Entrants must pick up points through the year to enter this competition. Because most Littlefield club members are juniors and this is the first time around, none of the LHS members are eligible this year.

But look for Littlefield Rodeo Club members in the 1973 competition.

Turner Hurls 9-0 Shutout Over Bank

Roden Drug, behind the pitching of Bill Turner, blanked Security State Bank 9-0 Saturday night in Junior Babe Ruth Baseball.

The Druggists broke the game open by getting a couple of runs in the top of the first and put the game on ice as Ben Farmer connected with a three-run triple and came in for the fourth run in the third inning.

A run was scored in the fourth when Turner came in and he gave a repeat performance in the seventh for the ninth run for the Druggists.

Turner was not only the winning pitcher, but led in hitting by connecting for a round tripper off an error. Farmer contributed a triple for the winners and Mike Cotter got a one bagger off an error.

Security State's hitting department consisted of Danny Brockington, Tommy Twitty, and Raford Green, who each got singles. Twitty and Green got theirs off errors.

Turner was the winning pitcher and allowed three hits. Brockington pitched for Security State.

Pee Wee League Sets Practice Meet

May 15 is slated for the first practice of the Littlefield PeeWee League.

The League is composed of six teams made up of 89 boys.

Places of practice, team members and coaches will be named in Sunday's Leader-News.
