FARMING AT THE LATIMER'S

farmer. Lack of oxygen is the biggest trouble most fish farmers have, and running an aerator is usually required. But thus far, Latimer has found that the blowing wind supplies plenty of oxygen.

"And up here on this hill there is rarely a calm day," he said. "The winds are usually cussed in West Texas, but they might be the salvation of fish farming."

Latimer hasn't found growing fish an awful lot of work, to date.

The fish eat commercial pellets put out in self feeders, and fish only eat one to three per cent of their body weight per day.

Only one feeder is required per acre of water, too.

Feeding fish pays off in weight gained compared to the amount fed over other types of feeding programs. Fish put on one pound of weight for every two pounds of feed.

Latimer adds fresh water to the ponds weekly from an irrigation well.

The water on Latimer's farm is 54 grains hard--so hard the Latimers won't even drink it and must haul their drinking water. "But they say if cows will drink the water, then it's all right for fish," Latimer said.

fresh water and commercial food combination prevents the fishy smell usually associated with fish. "You can fry fish and someone walking in from outside a few minutes later doesn't even notice a fish smell," he said. "Ninety per cent of the fishy odor is gone."

This summer, when the fish are a pound to one and one-half pounds, they will be sold, Latimer hopes to sell the ma-majority of the fresh fish live weight out of a vat that will be placed under a shade tree in the Latimer yard.

It is said the proof of the pudding is in the eating. "And you can't get fish any fresher than pulling live ones out of the water," he said.

"I'd like to stay in the farming and ranching business," Latimer said. "But with cotton and milo markets the way they are, to stay I've got to diversify, and go to something else for income."

Latimer has 25 Charolais and is on his way to building a herd that will go for show calves.

"I'm hoping to have dozens of my calves in the show rings a couple of years from now," he said, "and that the fish and cattle will become my income," he concluded.

IT'S DST AGAIN

Hour Behind? Run Clocks Up

Most of the nation advanced their clocks and watches to Daylight Saving Time early this morning--or late last night-- and the annual change continues to confuse millions.

Clocks were to be set ahead one hour at 2 a.m. today in 47 states, and are to remain advanced until Oct. 25.

Michigan, Arizona and Hawaii do not observe the time change.

In 1966, Congress established a uniform daylight time to be observed from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October. The law also said a state could remain on standard time if its legislature voted to do so.

This will be the third year Texas will observe DST since the new law was passed. However, Texas was under DST during World War II.

Great Britain adopted daylight time as an economy measure during World War I and the United States adopted it in 1918. It was short-lived, though, as Congress repealed the law in 1919, but many cities continued to use daylight saving time.

After World War II began, daylight saving was again used in the U.S., depending on the wishes of individual states or cities.

According to some researchers, Benjamin Franklin originated the concept of DST in 1784 while he was serving as U. S. Ambassador to France. It is thought he awoke early one morning in Paris, saw daylight, and thought of moving clocks ahead one hour in order to conserve and lengthen the working day.

His concept first was utilized 200 years later during World War I to save fuel for lighting and heating.

If you haven't changed your timepieces yet, you are running an hour behind.

Loyalty Day Festivities Set By Vet Post

Final arrangements are being made for "Loyalty Day" sponsored by the Littlefield Veterans of Foreign Wars and the VFW Auxiliary.

Festivities start at 8 p.m. Friday, May 1, at the VFW Building.

The evening will be highlighted with one of the city's most outstanding speakers, Dr. Curtis Ramey, former president of Fort Worth Christian College. Also on Friday night's agenda will be a free buffet and the public is invited.

This will be followed by a downtown "Loyalty Day Parade" Saturday morning at 10. Trophies will be awarded to marching and riding groups, and $175 worth of prizes will be awarded to the top three floats.

Local and out-of-town busi-groups are invited to participate. Anyone wishing to participate may phone Allen Purdy, Stella Pugh or Mrs. Emil Macha.

This will be the first Loyalty Day to be celebrated in Littlefield in this manner, but Congress designated May 1 as Loyalty Day in 1958.

This act was designed to counteract a Communist movement of using May Day for an annual hate demonstration day against our nation.

Loyalty Day, National VFW leaders say, is a time when Americans need to go all-out to show true patriotism in action.

More Alert Sirens Needed, Says Chief

F.A. Fitzgerald, Littlefield chief of police, said six more tornado alert sirens are needed over town.

Fitzgerald estimates that not more than 25 per cent of the people heard the six short warning blasts on the siren Friday night.

He estimates the additional sirens will cost at least $1,000, but added that the cost would be justified if one life could be saved.

Six short blasts on the siren here warns residents that a tornado has been sighted.

One long blast of the siren, following turbulent weather, signals an "all clear."

The Texas Department of Public Safety says to know what to do when a tornado is approaching may mean the difference between life and death.

The only real protection from tornadoes is in an underground excavation.

Persons caught in open country should move at right angles to the tornado's path. If there is no time to escape, DPS officials say to lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

Persons in town and schools should seek inside shelter, preferably in a strongly reinforced building AWAY FROM WINDOWS. Standing against the inside wall on a lower floor of a building offers some protection.

In homes, the corner of the basement toward the tornado usually offers greatest safety, particularly in frame houses. Persons in houses without basements can sometimes be protected by taking cover under heavy furniture against inside walls. Doors and windows on the sides of the house away from the tornado should be opened to help reduce damage.

Officials say keep calm. People have been killed by running out into streets and turning back into the path of a tornado.

Keep tuned to your local television station for latest tornado information, and do not call the Weather Bureau except to report a tornado.

TV Can Be Warning System

Knowing how to "see" tornadoes on television sets could save many lives.

With tornado season here again, ham operators and law officers in this county offer instructions on the television method of tornado detection.

First, turn your television set on to Channel 13 and darken the set just until the picture is blacked out.

Switch to channel 2. If the screen becomes white, head for shelter QUICK!

Instantaneous streaks across the screen means there is lightning in the thunderstorm. If the streaks fade slowly, there is a dangerous storm whether there is a tornado in it or not.

If bands become wide and linger, there is a storm in the offing that can cause severe damage or spawn a tornado. The wider the bands, the more serious the storm is becoming.

The maximum number of miles away a tornado can be sighted by this method appears to be about 20, but the average number of miles off when detection is made is about five miles--the reason for haste in finding shelter.

Colored or black and white sets can be used, and an antenna is not necessary. An outside antenna expands the range of detection, however. Lightning can be seen in color on colored sets, but authorized.

From Hamburg, Germany, Frau Marianne Clemens reported on the playground houses which the German-American Women's Club had sponsored since the end of World War II. At the playground-house children could be guarded by a trained girl and could also use the playground in winter and bad weather. The first house was such a success that Frau Clemens club has subsequently built eight more playground-houses on city playgrounds, where approximately 3-4,000 children are taken care of each day.

Mrs. Willette O. Jupiter, who is tall, dark-skinned, and wears a scarf tied in an intricate way on her head, wrote that her country, Liberia, on the west coast of Africa, is one of the most cosmopolitan countries in the world. Her club, the International Women's Club of Liberia was started just six years ago by four ladies of one nationality. Today, they have a membership of ninety women from twenty-eight different countries.

Women's groups have been organized all over the world by ladies who have escaped from their captive homelands-Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, and others. Mrs. Mall Jurma of the Baltic Women's Council wrote that through the exiled countries' organizations, women are trying to preserve the traditions of their homelands as well as to continue to struggle for their freedom.

Witnesses Meet

Lester M. Dugan, district supervisor for Jehovah's Witnesses, told 772 assembled Sunday in the Memphis, Texas High School Auditorium that "people in general experience growing fear on streets and in their homes. Especially at night people are tense. Haunting fear is present with them."
 In speaking on the subject, "Withstanding the Pressures of our Day," Dugan told his audience, "Satan wants to occupy people so fully with pressures and worries that they will not take a stand for God. Christians are special targets." He offered this solution, "It is reasonable to turn to the one who made us, Jehovah God. Bible knowledge braces one for calamity. It causes one to be more settled and calm. When calamity does come, Christians have a certain peace of mind from their knowledge of better things to come."
 The presiding minister of the Littlefield congregation, Loyd Lowery said, "The theme of the assembly, 'Sacrifices that Please God,' was exemplified by the conventioners themselves, as they arranged to spend time between sessions calling door-to-door and store-to-store in an effort to help others build faith in God. In attendance from here were several family groups, including Warren Meeks, Sam Stanton, Alvin Tinsley, Betty Farmer, Dessie Shipley, Mae Cundiff and Catherine Baker.
 Saturday morning saw 18 delegates ordained as new ministers through water baptism. To the Witnesses, the baptism in water is a public symbol of dedication and ordination.
 The regular meeting schedule will be resumed this week at the local Kingdom Hall.

What Our Readers Think

Caught Napping?

Dear Editor:

In this frenzied, fast stepping, sometimes even frightening society that we live in America today--where unrest reaches the point of willful destruction of both public and private property, where open defiance of laws, law enforcement agencies--even our judicial system is flaunted, where family ties, religious convictions and educational modes are held with little regard--is it not possible that the bulk of our populace the "silent majority" has been a little too silent?

Loyalty is an intangible thing, but it causes people to form a government, to obey its laws and rules and to willingly defend their country against its enemies. It is the cohesive factor that welds a people together for the common good.

It is pretty obvious that in more recent times there has been too little loyalty exhibited across the length and breadth of our great nation.

Join us in observing this Loyalty Day to remind ourselves and others that there is no substitute for loyalty and in so doing to pledge ourselves to maintain a free society in which Loyalty is respected and encouraged.

Allen Purdy, Quartermaster

May 1st of each year has been designated by Congress as Loyalty Day. It was originally set to counteract the Communists using May Day for hate demonstrations against our nation--but should have even more significance with an increasing upsurge of irresponsible dissidents and active extremist.

Exciting Things

Dear Editor,

Exciting things are in the process of happening in Littlefield!

Five local congregations are combining their resources, their talents, and anything else that is needed in order to conduct a United Vacation Church School.

The excitement, the enthusiasm, and the optimism that is being shown by those who are planning this event is something to behold!

The United Vacation Church School will be held June 8-12. There will be classes for all ages from 3 through Junior High School age. An exciting curriculum will be utilized featuring the theme "Neighbors."

While the sponsoring congregations at the present time are: The First Christian Church, The First Presbyterian Church, The First United Methodist Church, St. Martin's Lutheran Church, and the Salvation Army, all of Littlefield, we all want to emphasize the fact that we will welcome any and all young people in Littlefield (and their visitors).

We are all looking forward to this event and the sharing that will be enjoyed by all the friendly "Neighbors" in Littlefield.

Looking forward to a wonderful experience,

S/Doug Morton

THE PHILOSOPHER

Junk Tax?

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm endorses, we guess, it's hard to tell, a proposed new tax.)

Dear editor:

Governments all over the world have been wringing their hands for several years now trying to find some new sources of tax revenue, and consequently I hate to see one come along and get no more attention than one I read last night.

According to an article in a newspaper that showed up in my mail box by mistake, somebody has proposed a junk tax for worn-out automobiles.

Like it is, he pointed out, when a car has gasped its last some people just leave it where it quit, even on city streets, while other cars wind up in huge junk piles, offending the eye and rusting away because the metal in them isn't worth the cost of melting again.

This man wants a $25 junk tax collected when the car is first sold, to be used in getting rid of it when it plays out.

If governments are alert they'll hop on this idea at once. It has limitless possibilities.

If they can collect a $25 junk tax on a car, why not on other things too? Say $10 for worn-out television sets, $8 for refrigerators, $2 apiece for tires, 10 cents for tractors (this may sound low but how many tractors have you seen abandoned on city streets), $2 for sofas (it's a fact, somebody threw one out on the road by this Johnson grass farm a while back), and possibly $100,000 for battleships, $3 for Congressmen and two-bits for columnists. I won't estimate the tax on editors.

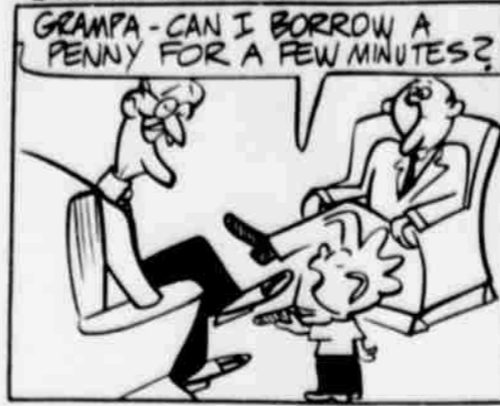

As for bottles and tin cans, I understand this country is throwing away 250 billion of them a year.

One cent junk tax per can or bottle would be 250,000,000,000 times 1 cent which comes out either 250 million or 2 and one-half billion dollars, one or the other, figures like that don't mean much to me, I get mixed up when you go past 3 zeroes, but you can see we're talking about big money.

With that much additional tax money, think how many more miles of highways we could build and how much more room that'd give for throwing cans out.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Victory Over Self

By BOB WEAR

SELF DEFEAT seems to be a growing human condition. In many instances, this is a state of mind--it is a choice made by the people involved. It is admitted that circumstances do have some impact upon one's life, but too many persons give in too easy and too soon to unfavorable life situations.

It is an established fact that many, many people do not do their best; they do not really try. For example: many do not develop their potentialities because they are too lazy, or feel sorry for themselves, or will not pay the price of self-denial. They are not people hindered by circumstances, but they do not expend adequate efforts.

THERE IS GREAT NEED FOR greater efforts. The general conditions and challenges of our time call for energetic effort, and continuing effort. Almost everybody can do a little better, and many can do much better. We must try, and keep trying. This is no time for indolence, but it is widespread.

"Indolence is the dry rot of even a good mind and a good character; the practical uselessness of both.--It is the waste of what might be a happy and useful life."--Edwards.

THE WILL TO WORK, the spirit of not giving up must be nurtured and cultivated. The victory needed in the human experience is the victory over self. It is not so much talent that we need, but it is the will to do, to honestly do all we can to improve ourselves and to improve our situation.

"What men want is not talents: it is purpose; in other words, not the power to achieve, but the will to labor."--Bulwer.

A WOMAN'S VIEW

Miracles

By PEARL BRANDON

ON THE BILLY GRAHAM program a few nights ago, I heard the remark, "Faith at the outset is never sufficient...but it grows when you put it to work."

It was another minister speaking in Billy Graham's place and he went on to speak of modern day miracles.

DO MIRACLES really happen in our day? The Bible tells of Jesus healing the sick, making the lame to walk and opening the eyes of the blind when he was here on earth.

I AM THINKING now of a Mexican man I knew several years ago. He had a lot of troubles. He and his wife seemed very young although they had been married several years.

Their house was one small room. It was more of a hovel than a house, made of odds and ends...boards and old pieces of tin he had carried down there on his back. The shack was built on the back of someone else's lot, near the alley. It was just tall enough to stand in and had a dirt floor, and was lined with card board boxes.

HIS FURNITURE consisted of an old mattress on some rusty springs on the dirt floor, a two burner oil stove, an old table someone had given him and a few boxes he used for chairs.

Various pieces of old clothes hang on nails on the wall, along with a few odd pots and pans.

AMELIO WAS ALMOST blind. He could see well enough to get around but couldn't hold a job.

He owed everybody he could get in debt to, especially the hospital. His wife had suffered several miscarriages. She was tiny and thin and still looked like a child.

AMELIO SUFFERED with his eyes which turned out to be glaucoma, but we didn't know it at the time. With all our worry with him and his problems I actually wondered sometimes if there was really anything very much wrong with him. He was always needing something: a prescription filled...or food...or fuel.

Then they finally had a baby that lived. That meant milk and baby foods. By that time we had the commodity program with food for adults but babies can't live on powdered milk.

THE CLIMAX CAME one day when a friend brought him over and he came rushing into my office. I could see he was in great pain. I called the Methodist Hospital and sent them on. His eye burst just as they started operating.

The doctors operated on him and fitted him with a glass eye. When the affected eye was removed the sight came back into his other eye and he could see well.

A FEW WEEKS LATER he came into my office one day and I have never seen such a change in anyone. He was smiling and happy, and all cleaned up with a hair cut and shave and clean clothes.

He shook my hand and said, "This time I don't come for help. I come to tell you 'thank you' and to tell you now I have a job."

I can buy my own food for my wife and my boy...and their medicine."

HE TOOK A SMALL Bible out of his shirt pocket and said, "Now I read to you." He read the Bible in Spanish and told me what it meant in English.

"You see the print in my Bible is little but I can read it. The Lord made my eyes well, now I work for Him."

Wasn't that a modern miracle?

PAUL HARVEY

Grow Fastest

IT WAS THE BELIEF of Pope John XXIII that his Church must adapt itself to changing times or get left behind. He believed it was the inflexibility of Catholicism which supplied the "excuse" for Martin Luther's Reformation.

And thus, hopeful of reinforcing the faith and reattracting young people to the Church, Pope John initiated the era of ecumenical dialogue and modernization of the Mass.

SOME NOW BLAME those compromises for the subsequent trend toward marriage for priests, short dresses for nuns and the myriad manifestations of modernity.

And if a "diluted dogma" was intended to revitalize the Church, it has had the opposite effect. During the past year the membership gain in the Roman Catholic Church was less than 1 percent; less than the population increase; the least increase in 25 years.

SIMILARLY, major Protestant denominations which have tended toward liberalization in doctrine, liturgy and social attitudes are in the most trouble.

Lutheran churches in the United States gained only two-tenths of 1 percent in membership last year; the least ever.

UNITED METHODIST CHURCH, which has perhaps "gone modern" with the boldest strides, suffered a decline in membership approximating 2 percent.

On the other hand, the strictest churches continue to grow fastest.

THE ASSEMBLIES OF GOD, America's largest Pentecostal body, enjoyed a 9 percent increase in membership last year. The strictly fundamentalist Church of Christ grew about 9 percent.

The Mormon Church, which continues to frown on drinking, smoking, dancing and such, established new congregations last year at a rate of almost one a day!

HOW MUCH the diluted of the major denominations blamed for recent rebellion of the church is impossible to

All that can be said for is that a decline in church participation and an increase (11 times greater than our population increase) have been similar.

UPI'S RELIGION writer, Cassels, says the statistics show a discernible pattern: "Many Americans are weary of controversy, doubt and confusion which inevitably attend change. They seek a haven of comfort, a feeling of continuity with the familiar ways."

"If he finds in church a dissension rather than a theological faddism rather than a fident faith, he will be moralized than refreshed."

THE SOBERING 1969 year have caused some churches to another look at the mirror. Every few days of the year Pope Paul VI has reaffirmed toric Church law.

Recently he responded to priests saying "celibacy is a 'capital law' of the Church and, as such, not a subject for either debate or discussion."

ALMOST DAILY we are hearing clergymen of prominence begin to reiterate respect for the of Moses, reverence for the of all scripture, John 3:16 as firm opposition to "liberals."

Dr. Wallie Criswell, President the mostly conservative and Southern Baptist Convention, down a revolt by a Virginia of young liberals saying the bat, struck out. "When ing gets rough the deeply com prevail."

HOMINY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLE

WHILE WE'RE BUSY worryin' about the younger generation, we should, also be aware of some of the pitfalls placed in their way.

We of the older bunch didn't have near so many temptations as the younger are "blessed" with.

In the first place, we didn't have so much spare time to while away.-- We of the country variety, especially, had plenty to occupy our minds.-- Like: cows to feed and milk, horses to tend, and, of course, there was always the hogs and chickens that needed attention.

ADD TO THIS: The cotton to hoe, the maize to head, bundles to stack, cotton to gather, the thresher to feed, the field to plow, and the seeding to do, and it's no wonder a day off was so welcome!

The day of automation was still in the distant future, tractors weren't in common use until I was nearly grown. We farmed with horses and mules. A full 160 acres of land looked as large as a full 1,000 acres of land looks to the present day farmer!

OF COURSE, we didn't have TV to train us in the ways of the world. Radio could be found here and there, and the most common reading material was the "Farmer-Stockman."

A trip to town in the "T" model once or twice a month was about the extent of our longer travels.-- Oftener than that, was an emergency.

One of the prime advantages WE had was, that we had much better parents that the younger generation! --Pop was the head of the house, and everybody knew it!

When he said "Jump", our only question was: "How high?" learned to respect and obey at an early age.--No monkey ness there.

WE ATTENDED CHURCH larly, (weather permitting) on a wagon when the "T" was down or out of gas.--Believe a five mile ride to, and from in a flat wheeled wagon really was the appetite.--(Can't get the across town, in their caddies, days.)

Wasn't much place to go to except to bed, unless we were to listen to the radio, or to play dominoes with the family.--We lived together, worked together, played together, worshiped together, and acquainted with each other--the modern family!

MAYBE, THESE WEREN'T "Good" old days, nonetheless, were the "Happy" days.--We having the sense that God a tadpole should recognize money, a car, and freedom, restraint, is a poor substitute for love, understanding, and discipline that a kid needs!

Yet the modern parent thinks he's doing his kid a favor by his way with money, and the youngster do as he please.

SO, LET US now observe progress and prosperity are that's needed to be successful. Perhaps the kids aren't so base when they say they're "ing for something!"

That "something" may be "living" and "learning" they while they were growing up!

This man's foundation points the way to Go. Actually, it is the Book of Life... is your name written there? It offers peace of mind and comfort of soul to those who take it seriously. Attend church regularly and read of the things it offers one to hold to when one is no longer able to hold the Book... it offers Sound Footing.

B&C-Marcum, Sudan Pound Out Opening Babe Ruth Victories

Littlefield's baseball season officially got under way Friday night, with Mayor J. E. Chisholm throwing out the first ball for opening games of Babe Ruth League play.

Victors in the first night of action were B&C-Marcum Olds over Amherst, 18-1, and Sudan over Roden Drug, 13-6.

Little League play will open May 4, and Senior Babe Ruth action will begin after school is out.

In the B&C-Marcum victory,

Leon Hodge allowed Amherst only one hit and struck out 10 batters in the five-inning affair.

Gary Brown led the B&C-Marcum hitters with a triple and three singles, while Noto Trejo had a double and a pair of singles. Johnny Villafranco chipped in with a pair of singles.

In their four at-bats, the winners scored 3, 7, 3 and 5 runs, in that order. Amherst picked up its only run in the fourth frame, when Harmon got the Bulldogs' only hit.

Deleon was the losing pitcher, bearing the brunt of B&C-Marcum's 14-hit attack.

Sudan came back from a 6-3 deficit to tie the score with three runs in the sixth inning of the Hornets' game with Roden Drug.

Then the Hornets broke it open with a seven-run seventh inning, putting the game out of reach.

Donny Noles was the winning pitcher, although tapped for nine hits by the Druggists. Mark Hanna had a double and Richard Tamplin a pair of singles to pace Sudan's hitting attack.

Noles, Price, May, Jefferson and Chester each added singles to help the Hornet cause.

The tightly contested game saw Bobby Matthews lead Roden with a double and single, while Danny Jeffries collected a double. Clotis Twitty, Kenneth Owens, Jim Bob Harris and Tim Walker had a single apiece.

Larry Hobrantsch was the losing hurler, and was effective until he tired in the late innings, when Sudan came up with the 7-run frame.

ACTION DURING THE opening of the Babe Ruth season was started by a bout between B and C Pump-Marcum Olds and Amherst. Benny Saenz connects for a double for the Littlefield team.

Area Schools Show In Regional Track

Eddie Moates of Amherst placed first in the pole vault regional finals with a 12-1 and won a berth in the state finals.

ip Botello and Danny Spradley.

Other Bulldog tracksters qualifying in the regional prelims Friday were Raul Gutierrez, Phillip Botello, Bill Walthall, and David Rodriguez in the mile relay with fourth best at 3:36.9, but this is the best time for the team this year.

Rodriguez also qualified in the 440 dash with 49.7, and John Cantu got past the 220-yard dash preliminaries with a 24.0.

Milers for Anton, Ector Morales and Pete Aldaco, qualified in the mile, with Morales getting a 4:51, his best time for the year, and Aldaco finished in 4:58.

Jerry Bellar of Sudan qualified in the 100 in the Class A preliminaries.

Amherst placed in four of the final events of the regional track meet.

ties say it is best to turn to black and white for tornado detection.

The reason tornado can be detected with no antenna or with rabbit ears is that a tornado is in the line of sight, up high, where there is nothing to keep the television set from picking up the electrical frequency of the tornado.

This frequency can be picked up on channel 2 because it is on a 55 mcgacycle band, the nearest television has to the electrical pulse generator of a tornado.

This method of tornado detection has been cleared by the weather bureau after finding that it is really more effective than radar in pinpointing a tornado locally.

Anton Golfers Go To State

Anton blasted Bronte, 652-658, in the UIL Class B regional golf meet at Lubbock Friday to take their place in the state finals.

The win was sweet revenge to Anton since Bronte edged out Anton last year to go on to win the state title.

Randy Jones, Tommy Gilbert, James Turnbow, Jeff Hobgood and Randy Herrin had six strokes on the defending champs.

The Anton golfers along with their coach John Paul Jones will be in Austin May 7-9 with their goal set for the state crown.

Republicans Hear Party Candidates

Lamb County Republicans honored Mrs. Margaret Suits, state committee woman of the 30th Senatorial District, and Dr. Robert Morris, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate who is president of Plano University, during a meeting recently.

Republican County Chairman

L. Peyton Reese presided for the meeting, introduced the special guests and recognized some of the longtime workers in the Republican Party in the county.

Dr. Morris outlined his past experience in governmental work and gave his qualifications for the Senate--explaining his political philosophy and ambitions for the party.

County Republicans who were recognized included Bob Manley, who has recently moved to Edinburg; Bob Meinecke of Olton, former county chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Pat Downs; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Davidson, L. E. Sullins, all of Littlefield; and Mrs. Peyton Reese, Levelland Republican.

Mrs. Margaret Suits has been committee woman since 1966 and spoke on the value of a two-party system.

She stated that the best way to achieve the two-party system in all areas is to elect conservative state officials and support the local primaries.

She outlined an eight-point program on what she feels it means to be a member of the Republican Party and place her support on the candidate.

A brief question and answer session followed her presentation prior to adjournment before a social hour.

Game Officers Clear Cases

Game management officers for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department cleared 1,005 cases from the books in February and obtained 766 convictions.

Hunting convictions led the list with 557 and fishing convictions totaled 119.

There were 11 commercial fishing convictions, two pollution convictions, 75 water safety convictions and two trespassing convictions.

Total revenue accrued to the State treasury amounted to $25,850.50.

Hunters Improve Safety Record

Hunters in Texas apparently were more safety-conscious during 1969 than in the previous year, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department statistics.

Hunting fatalities dropped from 37 in 1968 to only 24 last year, and the total number of accidents decreased from 106 to 92.

A considerable improvement was noted in the number of accidents involving persons under 21. They dropped from 101 in 1968 to a low of 69 in 1969.

The number of youngsters 16 or under involved in accidents also dropped from 60 to 40.

During 1969, there were three accidents reported in which the shooter injured two victims with one shot. There were seven accidents in which the shooter was unknown or unclear.

Rifles were involved in 10 accidents, shotguns in 10. There was a total of 24 wounds in 40 of the 92 accidents reported.

No accidents were reported among archery hunters. A 39-year-old hunter died from a tree stand.

SCS Ready To Stop Erosion

Remarkable progress has been made in soil and water conservation in the United States in the last 25 years. But the country continues to suffer heavy soil erosion losses. About 120 million acres of land are in danger of being washed away, with only about one-third of our land adequately safeguarded. And sediment causes costly damage to our major water storage reservoirs. The amount of erosion-produced sediment dredged annually from our rivers and harbors exceeds the volume of earth dug for the Panama Canal. Increased farm production resulting from tremendous advances in science and technology tends to obscure the fact that to meet food and fiber needs of a few years hence, this country will need the production equivalents of about 200 million acres, based on current yields. Since we do not have the additional acres of cropland, this production must come largely from increased yields on existing land. The Soil Conservation Service would like to help on soil not limited to working with farmers and ranchers. Policy permits SCS to work with town and county planners; to give assistance to urban landowners; to help school systems with resource people and material to be used in conservation education; and to give programs on conservation to civic clubs, community clubs and other organizations. The SCS can give direct assistance to businessmen in selecting building sites, septic tank location, measures to prevent erosion and other soil and water related problems. If you have a soil erosion problem get in touch with the Soil Conservation Service located in the Court House.

A settlement was made out of court while the jury was being selected for the Herbert S. Funk versus American National Life Insurance Company.
