The Earth Chamber of Commerce played an April Fool's joke on those who attended the 20th annual Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture Banquet Tuesday night in the Springlake-Earth School Cafeteria, and faked the last-minute acquisition of an impromptu speaker—who turned out to be the speaker of the night, "Stutterin' Sam" Cecil Hunter of Sun City, Ariz.

He s-s-s-st-sp-sputtered his way through the hilariously funny evening of nostalgic history of the country, relating past and present experiences with taxes, government, government officials, and an all-out evaluation of the state of the nation—not quite like that of which the President would have presented.

He said he was tired of the pessimistic attitudes of the people of this country, and emphasized "But I'm an octopus...er... oculist... No! I'm an optimist!" He said he was tempted at times to cancel all his newspaper subscriptions and cut the wires to his tv set.

He humorously related how the nation had progressed from the original 13 colonies to the present 48 states—then reminded himself that there are now 50 states, and used the excuse he had forgotten Alabama and Georgia.

He reminded those at the banquet how the town looked in 1931—only one store, a post office and a couple of out houses.

ROBERT L. HALE, 50, a native of Commerce and a 1948 graduate of Texas Tech University, has been named manager of the American Cotton Growers' denim mill being planned for Littlefield. The $30 million plant will consume about 65,000 bales of West Texas cotton per year, and is expected to begin operations in the spring of 1976. (Staff Photo)

Denim Mill Guaranteed Most Modern In World

By NILAH RODGERS

"Denim is here to stay," said Bob Hale, newly named manager of the American Cotton Growers Textile Mill being built here in Littlefield. "And the denim mill being built here will be the best plant in the world making Indigo dyed denim," Hale added at an appreciation dinner at the Littlefield Country Club Thursday noon.

Thursday, the nationally known denim manufacturer Levi Strauss authorized American Cotton Growers to release the information that Levi Strauss has signed a contract with American Cotton Growers for the entire output of denim produced in the Littlefield-based plant for the next five years.

Guilty Verdicts Returned Against Women

A jury found two women guilty of felony theft by shoplifting in criminal trials in district court this week.

A jury verdict of guilty was returned against Rosie Linda Garcia and Mary Hernandez Huerta Thursday. The pair were charged with shoplifting clothing valued at over $200 from the Littlefield Anthony's Department Store.

The court set the punishment. Rosie Garcia was sentenced to serve four years in the penitentiary, and Mary H. Huerta was given a four-year sentence, probated.

The eight-woman, four-man jury included Mrs. W. C. Masten, Mrs. Miles A. Stephens, Joyce Ann Albus, Mrs. Waymon Gordon, Bobby J. Payne, Sue A. Burgess, Ruth Chapman, David Wayne Friday, Marilyn Vann, Barney Scheller, Mrs. M. L. Houk and Jerry L. Townsend.

'STUTTERING SAM', or Cecil Hunter of Sun City, Ariz., kept his captive banquet audience rolling with laughter Tuesday night as he told funny evaluations of the world's situations and predicaments, entwined with patriotism. He was first introduced as a Mr. Watson from Hereford, livestock feeder, who was to fill in until the designated speaker could arrive. (Staff Photo)

'STUDENTS OF THE YEAR' at Springlake-Earth School were introduced by Superintendent Bill Mann during the annual C-C banquet. Jennifer Templeton and Billy O'Hair display the plaques they received for outstanding citizenship, leadership and scholarship at the school. (Staff Photo)

VIRGINIA PAYETTE:
Start Saving Right Now For College Education

Operating on the theory that hardly anybody in 1960 is going to be able to send Sonny off to college with a $50,000 check in his hot little hand, our statisticians realize most folks will have to start saving right now. (Five years ago would have been better, but who knew?)

So they've even figured out how much you have to sock away each year, and that's enough to make you gulp, too. (Family totals will vary, of course, depending on their income-tax bracket and their after-tax return on savings. These estimates are based on a 5-per-cent annual after-tax return.)

If your child is 14, you'll have to save roughly $4,000 a year for the next eight years to send him to State (or $6,880 for private colleges) . . . if he's 8, make that $2,250 or $4,000 . . . and if he's 4, $1,970 or $3,450.

THE LUCKY (?) ones are those whose future scholars are still in diapers. If they start right now, they have to save only $1,860 or $3,250. Every year — for 17 years — for each child.

Meanwhile, back at the old bankbook, the figures are just as scary. In the past two years the purchasing power of the family dollar has shriveled to about 80 cents; financial assets have declined 11.5 per cent; and household debts for the middle-income class have increased 18.6 per cent.

THAT COVERS everybody with incomes ranging from $10,000 to $35,000 and there are a lot of them. They account for 53 per cent of our 55 million families and roughly 75 per cent of consumer buying.

Last year their incomes went up an average 8.3 per cent, which dropped to 7 per cent after taxes. Inflation cut their purchasing power 6 per cent. This leaves the average parent with precious little left to put away for college. And things are going to have to pick up a lot by 1993 before he can afford $100,000 for one diploma.

He says the country couldn't possibly have gone to the dogs as some of the news media paint it—and he got tangled up with the word "dog" and said dog gone, gone dogged, er.... the dogs ain't got nothing to do with it!"

Nine citizens of the community were recognized and honored for their outstanding contributions to the community following the speaker, who was appropriately introduced near the close of his speech.

A husband and wife team of Eddie Bob and Mary Kate Belew were presented the top honors of "Man and Woman of the Year."

Joanne Branscum introduced Mrs. Belew. "One of the greatest honors a community can bestow upon one of its citizens, is to award them the outstanding man or woman of the year," she began. "The Earth Chamber of Commerce has given me the privilege of making this presentation."

"The person who is named 'Woman of the Year' is deserving in so many different ways. She is called on to do many things by the church, and by other organizations in the community. She responds with a cheerful 'I'll do the best I can,' and this is all you can ask of anyone. It's easy to tell that the person who will receive this award is a productive, effective, useful and happy citizen because she spends her efforts in a constructive manner toward building up the community and making it a good place in which to live."

"This community is one of the best and it's because of people like this who are willing to give of their time and effort to make it that way. A woman is as great as the truth she speaks, as great as the help she gives, as great as the destiny she seeks and as great as the life she lives. I consider it a privilege and a pleasure to present this plaque to a very deserving 'woman of the year'— Mary Kate Belew."

Doug Parish introduced the "Man of the Year." He began, "For the man of the year we have chosen someone for his support with the youth of our area. He is active in Band Booster and Little Dribbler programs. He has coached and held an office in Pee Wee Baseball. He has sponsored youth activities in his local church, and he was an officer in the Junior Livestock Show."

"Around the town, he has served on the city commission and the Earth Volunteer Fire Department. He is 'Johnny on the Spot' when you need an emcee or a sports announcer, or a 'fish fryer'."

"He is a past Lion president and now holds a district zone office. But his last and most outstanding achievement which received honorable mention and will probably get him into the Cowboy Hall of Fame, was the Businessmen's Calf Tying Contest."

"Ladies and gentlemen, I give you the

'Outstanding Man of the Year, Bob Belew.'

"Farmers of the Year," for the Lazbuddie, Springlake and Earth communities were introduced by Leon "Tuffy" Dent.

"In these days and times, if a farmer is to survive and prosper, he must be at his very best and sometimes that isn't enough. To be successful, he must not only be a hard worker, but a man of many talents."

"First, he must be a shrewd business man. He must be willing to gamble against Mother Nature and Father Time. He must be an accountant, a skilled personnel manager, have extensive knowledge of marketing, and businesslaw. He must be a social worker and philosopher—on top of that, he must be lucky."

"The other day I ran across the following lines that describes a farmer: 'We the unwilling, led by the unknowing, are doing the impossible for the ungrateful, and have had to do so much for so long with so little, that we are now qualified to do anything with nothing.'"

"These men that we have selected are good examples and living proof to us that a farmer can be successful and happy. We are indeed fortunate to have men like these in our communities—I am happy to make the 'Farmer of the Year Awards'."

The Lazbuddie award goes to Max Steinbock, the Springlake award goes to Jimmy Ray Banks and the Earth award goes to Bryan Dutton.

The "Outstanding Student's at the Springlake-Earth School were Jennifer Templeton and Billy O'Hair, and were introduced by Bill Mann, superintendent of schools."

He stated, "They are both a credit to their families, to the churches and to the school."

Two young men were singled out for meritorious service awards in the community, and were introduced by Norman Hinchliffe. They are Eddie Sam Jones and Danny Parish, who look over the responsibilities of the farm after their fathers were unable to continue the operation.

"Eddie's father, Carl Jones, had an unfortunate heart attack last summer, and Danny's father was in an automobile accident," Hinchliffe said, and continued, "Both did outstanding jobs and we recognize them for their dedication and outstanding service to the family, to the farm and to this community."

New officers for the 1975-76 year are Wendell Clayton, president; Gary Bulls, vice president; and Billy Moore, secretary-treasurer.

Directors for 1975-76 are Macky McCarty, Norman Hinchliffe, Doug Parish, Bill Scott, Wilton McDonald, W. B. McMillan, Perry Martin and Roger Haberer.

Executives of American Cotton Growers and Plains Cooperative Oil Mill met with various Littlefield and Lamb County civic leaders and businessmen Thursday to introduce Hale to the community.

Hale brings a wealth of experience in the textile industry to American Cotton Growers and to the $30 million ultra-modern plant to be located in Littlefield.

"The denim market is growing stronger and stronger," Hale said. He compared the 7-day week operations of denim mills to other types of textile mills which are shutting down. "The overseas market is expanding," he added. "Even if the denim market faltered here, the overseas demand would keep us in operation. The demand for denim has been strong since Levi Strauss first introduced it and braced it together during the 1850 gold rush days."

Hale assured the group that the denim plant under construction here will be the most modern, productive and competitive of any now in existence. "We'll beat all competition for many years to come," he said.

The new plant will have an annual payroll of $3.3 million and will hire about 380 persons. "And women can operate any machine in the plant," Hale noted.

L. C. Unfried, New Home farmer and chairman of the textile division of American Cotton Growers, discussed how the denim mill will be financed with a minimum amount of capital and a maximum amount of security. "This mill will help farmers get more for the fiber they're producing," he said.

"This is just the beginning of industrialization that other plants will be built on a similar cooperative plan," he predicted.

The mill will draw its cotton from a textile pool of approximately 250,000 bales which will come from the 26 cooperative gins where members have voted to commit all cotton ginned at their gins to the pool.

The proposed mill will consume approximately 65,000 bales of West Texas cotton. The value should increase $30 to $50 per bale, based on today's denim prices. Gin membership is restricted to those gins that voted to provide total support to the program by committing all cotton ginned at their gins to the textile pool.

Surplus cotton not used by the mill will be sold by Plains Cotton Cooperative Association under the supervision and control of a Pool Committee of the Board of Directors of Plains Cotton Cooperative Association. Each participating gin community will elect a representative to this Pool Committee. The seasonal pool will be operated to minimize any risk of loss from the operation of the mill or from the marketing of cotton from the pool.

With the marketing pool, the Houston Bank for Cooperatives will loan most of the $30 million to finance the mill. Participating cooperative gins will invest $2.2 million, and regional cotton cooperatives will invest $3 million.

Hale, the new plant manager, is a native Texan and a graduate of Texas Tech. For the past 25 years he has been with J. P. Stevens Company in Seneca, S. C. For the past nine years Hale has been managing the denim operation for that company at their industrial plant in Rock Hill, S. C.

Hale is a member of the Lions, Elks, a Mason and a Methodist. He has a 22-year-old daughter and a 14-year-old son. The Hales will reside in Littlefield.

QUIET, FEDERAL GOVERNMENT AT WORK!

A Woman's View

By PEARL BRANDON

WE ARE SEEING some terrible things take place right before our eyes on television now, while the South Vietnam refugees are running before the enemy, seeking a place of safety for their families.

This is a peculiar sort of war where the family accompanies a soldier right up to the front where he is fighting. After their leadership broke down you can understand why a man would feel he had to get out of there and take his family to a place of safety.

ALL CHRISTIAN people must feel as we do standing helplessly by and seeing those people trampled on and butchered— people carrying wounded children and mothers begging the overcrowded ships or planes to take their children and leave them behind.

"Time" magazine it showed a picture of a little boy about six years old holding a little sister about one and crying after they had landed without their parents.

It makes you want to take that little boy and his baby sister right into your home and care for them, as well as all the other little children over there suffering this terrible disaster. If there was only some way we could do it.

WE WERE discussing this in our Sunday school class and one woman said she was so disturbed about it she couldn't sleep. I know a lot of other people feel the same way.

In our lesson a few Sundays ago, the writer said, "Paul pointed out that God alone is ultimate. God controls the direction of history."

GOD CONTROLS the end of time. God controls even "the lawless ones."

God has seen fit to give Satan some degree of freedom, but he has no independent existence or power.

God has tolerated his existence, but the Lord at His coming will annihilate all evil. He will restore those who are afflicted for righteousness' sake."

IT LOOKS LIKE to me the old Devil is running scared— he knows his time is about up and is trying to do all the damage he can before the Lord takes over.

All of us are afraid of pain and death. We would probably act the same way those people are acting if a great merciless, cruel enemy was bearing down on us and we were helpless to defend ourselves.

BUT WE MUST remember, God doesn't look on death as we do. He is able to make us live again.

Jesus said in Matthew 3 that He was able to raise up children unto Abraham from stones. Will He not be able to defeat Satan and all his hordes when the time comes.

IT LOOKS LIKE the job is too big for mere human beings to defeat this terrible enemy that is trying to conquer the world. This is God's fight and He has the power.

Let us pray that He will intervene soon so the prophecy of Isaiah can come true. "Behold, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and nations that knew not thee shall run unto thee because the Lord thy God and for the Holy One of Israel; for he hath glorified thee.... For ye shall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace; the mountains and the hills shall break forth before you singing, and all the trees of the fields shall clap their hands."

"INSTEAD of the thorn shall come up the fir tree, and instead of the brier shall come up the myrtle tree; and it shall be to the Lord for a name, for an everlasting sign that shall not be cut off."

Does not this mean the time will come when peace shall cover the earth and all nature will sing with joy.

And man will not say to his neighbor "Know the Lord," for all shall know Him—and man will not study war any more but will live at peace with the whole wide world.

EVEN AS we would gather those suffering children into our arms so will the loving God gather all mankind.

For evil will be destroyed and mankind will know the Lord as He really is. There will be no more greed, or hate, or evil—only love will reign and fill the hearts of man and cover the earth.

I pray to God this happens soon.

JUST SOMETHING to think about... Although the World Food Conference held in Rome is "Old Hat" now, and nothing was really accomplished—with the exception that we Americans to much of the world are more or less cannibals because of our flesh-eating habits.

It was apparently agreed that America is looked upon as the chief food producer of the world. Apparently it was also agreed that we waste too much food because we feed our grain to cattle, hogs, chickens, sheep, goats and rabbits and then we eat these animals.

Therefore by utilizing our grain and making a more varied diet for ourselves we are being criticized by some of the other countries in the world by saying we are "Cannibals".

It is believed that the world can be fed by what grain we convert into meat, and maybe that is true. The average conversion rate from grain to meat would probably run about 6-1. In other words it would take six pounds of grain to produce one pound of meat.

Most people in America will consume an average of about 228 pounds of beef this year, plus several pounds of pork, chicken and other types of meat. In other words, the average American will probably eat at least one pound of meat per day, and in doing so, each will deprive the world of a little over a ton of grain because of the conversion.

GSPA Recommends Reduced Plantings

"Grain producers who cannot afford to sell their grain for $2 per 100 pounds this fall should consider cutting acreage, finding alternate crops or contracting at higher prices either through cash contracting or hedging their crop," according to Elbert Harp, executive director of Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

"The $2 is not a prediction," Harp explained, "but it is a possibility if a normal crop is produced on the acreage now intended for grain production and the proposed changes in the government farm program are not enacted into law."

The March sorghum acreage intention as released by USDA shows an overall increase of 6 percent above 1974. With an average yield, this could be a total grain sorghum crop of 900 million to one billion bushels, on top of a possible record yield of corn.

This total production of grain would be geared to maximum consumption at record levels in both domestic and export markets. With cattle on feed less than 60 percent of a year ago and hog numbers down by more than 15 percent, there is little real evidence that consumption will be running at record levels, Harp explained.

The GSPA executive pointed out his concern that prices will drop at harvest. "We could go from our present grain deficit to a surplus almost overnight," he said, adding that the surplus stocks could cause grain prices to drop back to government loan levels or to the previously mentioned $2 level.

Harp said, "We have no assurance that grain prices will not drop to loan levels, as they did for cotton. Two years ago cotton prices were 60 to 80 cents per pound, but last fall they crashed back to loan levels of 16 to 20 cents per pound." A survey conducted recently by Grain Sorghum Producers Association of members throughout the sorghum belt indicated farmers are ready and willing to cut back at least 25 percent on their production this year. Of the survey cards returned, more than 93 percent supported the cutback in acreage.

Girls District Track Meet Scheduled Here Wednesday

Wednesday, April 9th the Girls District Track Meet for girls will be held at Wildcat Stadium in Littlefield. The meet will feature a varsity girls' division with the top two places in each event to qualify for the Regional Meet in Odessa. In addition, the Junior High division of seventh and eighth grades will also be competing for the championship of the district.

Schools represented at the meet will be Olton, Dimmitt, Friona, Morton and host school, Littlefield.

In the varsity division the favored team to win will be Olton, with a close fight possibly shaping up for second place between Friona and Littlefield.

The Olton team has some of the best times in the Panhandle area in all three relay events. They have posted a 440 relay time of 30.5, an 880 relay time of 1:47.0 and an excellent mile relay time of 4:08.2. The Friona girls have a fine mile relay team returning that ran at the state meet in Austin last year.

Other feature competitors will be Donna Hodges, a past year's state competitor in the broad jump and triple jump.

The Littlefield girls should do well in the high jump with Melissa Sawyer having one of the better jumps in the Panhandle and the top jumper in the district. Also Shebra Johnson in 440-yard dash. She should be a contender in the 100-yard dash also.

In the junior high division the Littlefield eighth grade girls will have to contend with strong Olton and Friona teams but could be a surprise team in the meet. The Littlefield girls run well in the 440 and 880 relays and run well in the 440-yard dash. The Littlefield seventh grade girls have a fine track team and could be in the fight for the championship trophy when the dust all clears Wednesday afternoon.

Field events are scheduled to start at 9:30 with the running prelims beginning at 10 a.m. The running finals are due to start at 2 p.m.

Backpacking Gear Choices Aided In Book

There's nothin' like the feel of a new trail to explore stretching the out-of-doors—the clean, out in front of you. That's why backpacking is fresh air, the beauty of the trees.

WARNER HYBRIDS

WARNER SEED CO. introduces another fine grain hybrid—WARNER W-832.

W-832 is bred upon the good strong stalk of the ever popular W-839.

W-832 also has the heat and water stress tolerance of W-839 built in.

The large semi-compact heads of W-832, with their light, red, dish brown berries, produce high test weight grain. W-832 has the marks of a great producer with its long wide leaves, that characterize all heavy producing grain hybrids. An abundant leaf area not only makes for higher yields, but also preserves water, and prevents weed growth by shading the ground.

W-832 is another winner from WARNER SEED CO., your "full line" quality seedsmen for the Golden Spread.

gaining rapidly in popularity among outdoor sports. As with any sport, once you discover it you'll begin to wonder what equipment will best suit your needs—and how much it will cost.

A reprint from the 1974 Yearbook of Agriculture lists equipment that you need including the range of prices and the brand names to look for. A free copy of the reprint, "Backpacking Gear," may be obtained by writing Consumer Information, Dept. 12, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

The hints include the following advice:

—Selection of hiking shoes should be your first concern. Even a one-day hike can be misery without comfortable, good fitting, well broken-in shoes. Take plenty of time in getting your shoes fitted. Wear the type of socks (usually a thin inner pair and thick outer pair) that you will wear while hiking. Insist on a roomy fit to allow for the swelling that comes from carrying a 30 to 40 pound pack hour after hour.

—In choosing a sleeping bag, you'll find there are mummy type bags, barrel type bags, and full rectangular bags. The mummy type bag is tapered to fit the body, is the lightest to carry, and the easiest to keep warm in. Some people find the mummy type bag too confining. If you're in doubt, by all means try the bag on for size.

West Texas Tennis Camp Registration Underway

Registration for the sixth annual West Texas Tennis Camp continues at a brisk pace, according to camp director David Kent, but plenty of spaces remain open two of the three summer sessions.

The camp, on the campus of West Texas State University, is scheduled for three sessions, June 1-7, June 22-28, and July 27-August 2.

"The first session is already filled, but we still have plenty of openings in the second and third," said Kent, who also is head tennis coach at WTSU.

Over 1,200 young tennis players have improved their games since the camp was started five years ago. Campers enjoy excellent tennis facilities, a modern dormitory, and balanced meals.

Cost for each weeklong session is just $150. Application forms are available by writing David Kent at West Texas State, P.O. Box 413, Canyon, Texas 79016. A $50 deposit is required with all applications. The camp cost includes room, board, instruction, and all activities.

Campers receive an extra bonus during their off hours. The $4-million WTSU Activities Center is open to them. Inside the AC, campers will find swimming, bowling, paddleball and handball courts, and many other varied activities.

The second and third sessions of the camp will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis.

Irrigation Energy Costs Lowered With Tailwater

Irrigation costs in the Southern High Plains can be reduced significantly through increased use of irrigation tailwater and playa lake water.

Arland D. Schneider, U.S. Department of Agriculture agricultural engineer, and Leon New, Texas A&M Extension Service irrigation specialist, working at the USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center here have studied the relative costs of pumping from irrigation wells and pumping from tailwater pits and playa lakes.

Results of the study show that pumping tailwater is the least expensive in terms of energy costs, followed closely by energy costs for playa pumps. Tailwater pumping showed energy costs ran to a maximum of $1.52 per acre foot and playa pumping costs ran to a maximum of $2.35 per acre foot.

By comparison, the researchers report energy costs for pumping from irrigation wells ranged from a low of $2.11 per acre foot at 75 percent pump efficiency and 100 feet of total dynamic head (TDH) to a high of $14.05 per acre foot at 45 percent pump efficiency and 400 feet of TDH.

Total dynamic head is the sum of all forces that oppose water movement and create pressure which the pump must overcome.

When the discharge pressure is zero, such as when pumping into an open ditch, the TDH is nearly equal to the pumping lift of the well.

Since irrigation tailwater is initially pumped from a well, the reclaimed water simply reduces the average energy cost of water applied to a crop. For average pumping efficiencies and a pumping lift of 300 feet, the typical tailwater return system will reduce the overall energy cost between $1.00 and $1.50 per acre foot.

Energy costs, the researchers said, increase directly as the TDH increases. For example, the amount of energy used when pumping against 400 feet of TDH is twice that when pumping against only 200 feet of TDH.

The researchers also point out that energy costs are less when pumps are highly efficient. New pumps that are properly selected and matched to irrigation wells, they said, should be 70 to 80 percent efficient.

ELECTION DAY lines turned out pretty long Tuesday, as 1,252 voters turned out to express their desires on candidates for the mayor and city councilmen. (Staff Photo)

Calendar Lists Unusual Events

Have you ever been to an armadillo race, listened to a yodeling contest, floated down a river in an inner tube, or viewed a parade where the floats actually float?

The Texas Highway Department's new Calendar of Texas Events lists these and hundreds of other exciting activities slated in the Lone Star State from April through September 1975.

Since the Bicentennial year begins in 1975, special attention is given Bicentennial events. Miniature Bicentennial symbols mark more than 200 activities throughout the state.

With an emphasis on close-to-home travel resulting from energy conservation, the events calendar is a prime tool for attracting visitors to Texas cities and hamlets for a colorful variety of local fairs, arts and crafts shows, rodeos, ethnic festivals, and even rattlesnake hunts.

For instance, the armadillo race at the zany Armadillo Confab and Exposition in Victoria May 23-25; the yodeling contest at the Kerrville Folk Festival May 22-25, and the river float at Bandera's "Fun-Tier Celebration" May 24-25, are within 200-miles of each other; you can attend them all on one tank of gasoline.

Examples of other major events include the Neches River Festival in Beaumont April 16-20; Fiesta San Antonio April 18-27; Buccaneer Days in Corpus Christi April 24-May 1; Brazos River Festival April 27; Jefferson's Pilgrimage May 3-4; May 17-18; the State Crafts Fair in Kerrville the Austin Aqua Festival 1-10, and the Texas Festival in San Antonio 7-10.

Information in the calendar is compiled and supplied by chambers of commerce throughout the state.

Guaranteed Home Loans Available

New GI loan policies that apply to all veterans with military service since the start of World War II make more than 20 million veterans eligible for the Veterans Administration guaranteed home loans.

Among them are more than four million veterans whose GI loans have been paid in full, VA Regional Director, Jack Coker, said today. Those who have never used their eligibility are still eligible even though they might have been out of service more than 30 years. Also potentially eligible for new loans are those veterans with current loans outstanding. The only condition for restored eligibility is that the first loan be paid off and the home be disposed of.

In addition to broadened eligibility rules, new legislation approved by the President on December 31, 1974, raised the maximum portion of a loan VA is allowed to guarantee from $12,500 to $17,500 and made it easier to buy mobile homes and condominiums.

Changes affecting the purchase of mobile homes were—
* a provision for loans to purchase lots on which to place mobile home units already owned by veterans.

* an increase in the maximum permissible loan amounts to $12,500 for a single-wide unit and $20,000 for a double-wide unit.

*liberalized rules for guaranteeing loans on used mobile home.

Opportunities for purchasing one-family condominiums with VA guaranteed loans were broadened by deleting a requirement that VA loan guarantees for new developments in which the VA and Urban Development had already insured loans.

GI Bill Students Eligible For Education VA Loans

GI Bill students who can't make ends meet despite recent increases in Veterans Administration education payments are eligible for VA loans to meet necessary education expenses, the VA points out.

The loans are not automatic to all students, VA stressed, but applicants who demonstrate a clean need can qualify for loans up to $600 per academic school year under a recent law.

A Dec. 3, 1974, law (PL 93-508), which raised monthly education payments by 22.7 per cent, stipulated that loans could be extended only to those students who were found to be in need after the "actual cost of attendance" was compared to the student's "total financial resources."

Eligibility was limited further to students eligible for VA education assistance for attendance at an educational institution at least a half-time basis. It must lead to a standard degree or that it be a six months or longer that leads to "an identifiable vocational objective."

Another provision was that the student must have sought under the guaranteed loan program of the Education Act of 1963.

VA pointed out repayment of both the principal and interest is deferred until the student is enrolled on a half-time basis, and no interest accrues until the beginning of repayments is determined.

Installment payments start within nine months the student ceases to be on at least a half-time basis. Interest at the rate of 8 per cent per year begins at that

Hearing Difficulties Diagnosed At Center

Two or three times a week a Laredo mother gets her five children together for a trip downtown—very much like a shopping excursion.

But in this case the mother is taking her two boys and three girls to the Ruth B. Cowl Rehabilitation Center for hearing therapy. All five—ages 11, 9, 8, 7 and 4—have hearing deficiencies and are receiving help through the center and the Texas State Department of Health. The Cowl Center is one of 37 such centers throughout the state with contracted services for the State Health Department.

Hearing problems in the children were first brought to the attention of the State Health Department's Maternal and Child Health Division last year. One of the youngsters had been taken to San Antonio for hearing tests, and three others were later evaluated at the Cowl Center. The youngest, who just came along with the others, was given a hearing test to see whether she, too, suffered the same hearing loss as her older brothers and sisters.

The Health Department's Speech and Hearing Services Program is maintained for hearing-impaired children through 20 years of age who are from low income families. Its services include diagnostic evaluations, hearing aid evaluations, hearing aid and ear mold purchases, hearing aid checks, and initial counseling for the patient and family.

Another program—Crippled Children's Services—may take over a case if hearing loss is reversible through a surgical procedure.

The program has six basic objectives:

1. Identification of as many children with severely impaired hearing as possible;
2. Evaluation of these children through developing coordination of the several professional skills necessary;
3. Elimination, as far as possible, of factors contributing to the hearing deficiency through medical therapy or prosthesis (hearing aids);
4. Providing parent training in special techniques and child rearing practices to encourage learning and speech and language development. Direct training of the child is a part of this objective;
5. Encourage the public to recognize that the needs of hearing impaired children can best be met through utilization of several professional disciplines, namely otology, clinical audiology, speech pathology and education of the deaf; and,
6. Integrating the program with that of school health services in such a way as to enhance the health and well-being in children of all ages who are, or may become hearing-impaired.

While not all objectives of the program have been fully reached because of lack of funding and staff, the program has provided extensive services to approximately 4,800 children. With the addition of a consulting audiologist-speech pathologist in 1973, direct services in both speech and hearing are now possible for children in areas of the state where these services were previously unavailable.

At the Cowl Center, newest addition to the list of cooperating centers, there is no audiologist although it has the necessary hearing testing environment in the form of a sound-isolated suite. Using the facilities available and Health Department equipment, program personnel make periodic trips to Laredo to provide needed clinical services for children in the state program.

Children at the center receive an examination by an ear specialist. The center contracts with the specialist for this examination.

Texas children referred to the state program are given an audiologic assessment: pure tone testing and speech testing to determine an individual's speech hearing threshold, a measurement of the point at which they can just hear and also understand what they hear.

From this and the otologist's report, it is possible to determine the need for a hearing aid. If a need is determined, a hearing aid evaluation is done using several representative devices and performing the same tests. The hearing aids also are rated for comfort and tolerance levels. "This is a very personal thing," according to program personnel, "even though all the hearing aids may have similar specifications."

In case of the five Laredo children, the older ones could not function adequately in school without the hearing services they received.

Not all services are provided in a center setting. In San Benito, a public health nurse has located children with speech and language impairment. The services may include speech and language training or lip reading and be as basic as providing vocabulary training, depending on the individual.

The hearing aid is just an aid to hearing.
