AFTER 47 YEARS FRANK IS PIONEER

Rogers Just Came To Visit

FRANK RODGERS, News Staff Writer, arrived at the first depot on July 4, 1924, in the middle of a big celebration. He was wearing a straw hat, Panama suit and white shoes when he stepped out of the train into a mid-summer day and was met by Hal-Cattle Company officials in overcoats.

The swaggering young bachelors were just "getting away" from Venita, Okla. for a while, and had no intentions of staying in West Texas, anyway, really planned to go to Louisiana when neighboring man W. E. (Bill) Halsell had asked Rogers if he'd come to Amherst to keep the Halsell Land Com-

"When I went to buy my train ticket, no one knew where Amherst was and they sent me to Clovis," Rogers said, then back to Amherst on another train.

Rogers was taken to the Amherst Hotel. "Oh, that was a swanky place," he said. "Two stories, stem heat and they even had a French chef."

His short hotel stay became a long one. Then the second year he was at Amherst he met the pretty first grade teacher, who is now Mrs. Rogers. On Independence Day of this year, Rogers' short stay in Lamb County added up to 46 years.

Rogers stayed with the Halsell Land Company until the Federal Land Bank took over the book work 13 years later. During this time 150,000 acres of the Sod House and Springlake Divisions of the XIT Ranch were cut up into farms and sold. The land was priced at $25 per acre and sold very fast with the majority of the 230,000 acres, with the exception of 80,000 acres in the sandhills still owned by the company, selling the first three years after being put on the market.

Rogers saw many firsts for Lamb County while in Halsell's employ. Bill Halsell built the first cotton gins at Amherst and Earth. The first irrigation well in Lamb County was drilled at the Halsell Ranch headquarters. "The motor was setting on the water," Rogers said, "and there's still good water there."

Antelopes roamed near the Amherst townsite when Rogers first went there, but as the land was settled and people built half dugouts, the antelopes moved back into the sandhills.

Hunting was still plentiful, though, with the jack rabbits, coyotes, ducks and geese. "There was lots of water here, then," Rogers said. "Soda lake was 800 acres covered with water. In fact a man drowned in that lake the day I got here," he said.

"To give you an idea of how many ducks were here then, one day Lester LaGrange and I drove up to the lake and shot into them. After they flew up we drove around the lake and shot again, then came back and I climbed the windmill tower and shot again. We picked up 80 mallards from that."

"But hunting geese was the biggest thrill. I'd get out in the feed shocks early in the morning."

The rabbits were so plentiful that they were fed to hogs kept at the dairy farm that was part of the company's demonstration farm. "Bill Rowland, Lee Payne and I would close up the office about five o'clock when we went rabbit hunting, and we wouldn't come back until we had 100," Rogers said. "We'd feed them to the hogs that were kept where the Batson house is now. The rabbits were so thick they'd eat everyone's watermelons."

Coyotes, predator of the rabbits, were thick, too. "I killed many a coyote," Rogers recalled. "Seven was the most."

RESOLUTION PASSED

City Opposes Gas Hike

Old Taxes Discussed

Littlefield city councilmen voiced opposition to Pioneer Natural Gas' proposed rate increase, and discussed the city delinquent tax situation and the water purchase contract with Sunnydale Water Supply Association, during their regular meeting Thursday night.

Councilmen discussed and approved a resolution to join other cities in opposing the application for an increase in the general service rate for natural gas service as submitted by Pioneer Natural Gas Co.

City Manager Pat Bradley brought the councilmen up to date on proceedings made by the West Texas Utilities Committee, along with their engineers, accountant and attorneys.

City Secretary Beth Harry discussed individual tax accounts with the councilmen, and they in turn recommended the action to be taken on each case.

Councilmen were informed that the FHA has rejected the water purchase contract as the city and the Sunnydale Water Supply Association submitted it.

Appearing before the council to discuss the contract requirements were Attorney Robt Kirk, T.L. Timmons, Eddie Wallace and Elton Hawk. No decision will be made on the contract until further information can be obtained from the FHA, a city ordinance, and the bonding agent.

In other matters of business, councilmen:

1. Authorized the publication of a notice of budget public hearing to be conducted at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 17 in the city hall.
2. Discussed a request for water by the Lamb County Sheriff's Posse, and decided to follow the city ordinance which governs the tying on and laying of line.
3. Discussed preliminary budget worksheets, including tax rate, assessment rate and miscellaneous revenues.
4. Approved the departmental reports, minutes, and bills for the month.
5. Received for filing, a letter from Ralph Yarborough concerning the airport grant.

FOUR JEEP DISPATCHERS for the Post Office department in Littlefield went into service here Friday morning, Aug. 28. Letter Carrier Troy Gardner was caught arranging mail in his dispatcher while it was parked on Phelps Avenue.

County's Farm Tour Is Readied

Rather than a conducted farm tour this year, the Lamb County extension service and the Soil Conservation Service have planned 28 demonstrations over the county that can be toured individually during the next few weeks.

Various varieties of cotton, narrow row cotton production, 4-H Club demonstrations, nematode control, broadcast cotton and irrigation practices are included in the cotton demonstrations.

There will be a number of grain plots of various varieties. Tommy Alair has a demonstration of row crops and grasses on bench levelled land with surface irrigation. Orville Cleavinger has grown soybeans with minimum tillage following wheat.

H.C. Armstrong has minimum tillage corn following cotton; John Bridges has eight varieties of corn; and Elmo Taylor has a tailwater recovery system for surface irrigation.

Other cooperators in the demonstration plots include Driscoll Bryant, Cecil Johnson, Eldon Gohlke, J. A. Streeby, Paul Mathews, Gary Pickrell, Marvin Bowling, Bennie Harmon, Gary Lichte, Kenan Lichte, Troy Mose, John Terry, Dean and Brad Walden, Scrub Messamore, Leslie Lichte, Lewis Fields, Thurman Lewis, Sonny Whitmire, and A.E. O'Hair.

A map showing locations and descriptions of the demonstrations will be published in this Thursday's Leader-News.

The stops will be marked by special demonstration signs and will be easily accessible to private vehicles.

Additional information concerning any of the plots may be obtained from Buddy Logsdon at the county agent's office, from Joe Blevins at the local Soil and Water Conservation Service office, from the Lamb County Program Building Committee men of the Lamb County Crops committee.

Football Contest Begins This Week

It's football season again and time for arm chair quarterbacks, grandstand coaches and fans in general to start guessing on the outcome of all the area games.

Again this year, the Leader-News will award $10 weekly prizes and a grand prize of two tickets to the New Year's Day football classic at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, plus $25 for expenses.

Weekly winners, plus standings, will be reported in the Thursday editions.

Contestants are urged to enter each and every week, because the grand prize is awarded to the entrant with the most wins accumulated at the end of the season.

To enter, clip out the contest page in the Sunday Lamb County Leader-News, mark out the team you feel will lose and fill in the scores in the tie breaker box. Then bring your entry to the Leader-News office before 5 p.m. Friday.

Entries mailed in must be postmarked before the Friday evening game time. Late entries will be disqualified.

Weekly winners will receive $5 for first place, $3 for second and $2 for third best entry. In case of ties, the tie breaker scores will be used to determine the rankings.

Winner of last year's Cotton Bowl ducats and expense money went to Harold Ray (Doc) Bowman of Amherst. Floyce Pierce ran a close second for the season, and a father and daughter team, Linda and Loyd Hood, had third and fourth place standings.

For cash prizes and a chance to sit on the 50-yard line at the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day, clip and complete the contest challenge today and every Sunday for the next 12 weeks.

AUDUBON'S BIRDS AND FLOWERS

We have all seen the famous American bird pictures painted by John J. Audubon, organizer of the famous Audubon Society. This famous painter had mastered the technique of painting the intricate feathers and features of birds, but he acquired the services of other artists to paint in the floral and plant backgrounds on his pictures.

Flowers, he thought, are special, and need special artists to capture their delicate beauty.

We feel flowers are special too. That is why we fill our orders with special care. You can be confident that when you order flowers from us, they will be just what you want, carefully prepared.

Our Friday Night Hero

Friday night, in virtually every city and hamlet from the windy plains of the Panhandle to the sun-kissed Rio Grande Valley, from the piney woods of East Texas to the Big Bend country, Texas' September Song will again ring through the air. High school football, played as only the youth of the Lone Star State can play it, will light fields and fill stands everywhere.

It's a time when a very special breed of youngster steps into the spotlight - some rather bashfully, others as if to ask what in the world took so long. He's the schoolboy football player, a magically complex kid with short-cropped hair and a skinned nose; a boy who looks upon his evening chores with a stone-faced stare - a little afraid, yet determined; unsure, but eager to give it his dead level best.

He's the kid down the block son of a lawyer or banker, postman or plumber prepared through daily sacrifice to give his part, modest, but firm in his belief that his particular team is the best around. He's the super hero who makes the sports writer's job easy and the college scout's mouth water - the scrub who prospers in that quiet satisfaction that comes from just being a part. Both approach their respective duties with the same vigor and enthusiasm, determination and dedication. In doing so, the great and not-so-great stand on equal ground.

The high school football player is tomorrow's poet and scientist, teacher and politician, trying today in the way he knows best, to show that he deserves admittance to that fascinating, often bewildering, world of manhood. He's today's hope - assurance that tomorrow will be a brighter day.

He's his own worst critic but the first to applaud the performance of his best buddy. He likes nothing more than winning but respects the rules which govern the game.

He dreams the dreams of youth - glory, stardom, success, and adoration. By the same token, he accepts loss with the same humility and pride generally reserved for those who occupy the winner's circle.

He likes out of town trips, pep rallies, short workout days and the swelling pride that comes from seeing his name in the morning paper. He's the natural athlete to whom everything comes easy; the skinny kid who spends long hours perfecting the most simple of tasks.

He's the hero of little brothers, girl friends, and mothers who live in the constant fear that her boy will be injured. He's the culmination of dad's dream - a youngster he can pridefully point to and say, "That's my boy..."

On his shoulders ride the hopes of the entire community - the students, the man on the street, and all those who have worn the school's colors before him. He readily accepts the challenge, without reservation or doubt, vowing to perform to the best of his ability. He's too busy doing windsprints to bother with stealing hub caps, too tired after an afternoon of blocking and tackling to build protest signs. He may not get the same size headlines as those who are threatening the very foundation of our society, but he'll run until he's ready to drop if it will help defeat an upcoming opponent.

He's the kid who blushes from praise yet bristles if you degrade his teammates or coaches - the kind of fellow who can make you feel almighty small when, criticizing a defeat, he answers simply that "we did our best."

He's what the Red, White and Blue is all about; as American as apple pie; refreshing as the cool breezes which signal him to center ring.

It'll be good to see him again....

THE ABUNDANT LIFE We Earn It

By BOB WEAR

ONE LAW OF LIFE is being grossly ignored today. There are many things in our life situation which we must earn.

They cannot be forced. There is no power great enough to force that which must be earned.

We can waste much time, effort and money trying to formulate the social mechanism that will force the human conditions and relationships some people planner envisions; but which can become realities only as they are earned and deserved.

WHAT POWER CAN FORCE others to accept us. The act of trying to force us upon them causes a feeling of repulsion.

In the first place, their rights have been violated and this is a threat to all human rights. In such situations, there will be many damaging consequences for all persons involved.

It is so much better that we earn the acceptance of others, or be forever without it.

LAW AND SOCIAL PRESSURE cannot qualify us for some certain role in life. If we have not earned the role, we do not deserve it. Then, besides this, we cannot fill the role.

Therefore our latter condition is worse than our first. Nothing is much worse than being placed in a life role we are not qualified to fill, and may not even have the desire to try to fill.

WHEN ARE WE RESPECTED by others? Is it when some law or some kind of official order requires others to respect us? Of course not. If others ever respect us, it will be because we have earned their respect.

If we retain their respect, it will be retained by our continued life performance.

WE ARE NOT CAPABLE to perform some certain job of work just because we are, by some type of force, placed in the job. If we have not earned, by education, experience, interest and industry, the right to do that job; we will not be able to do the work.

If we are unable to do the job, forcing us into it will not help us or anybody else. There will be a job for us that we deserve, because we have earned it; and this is where we belong.

A GOOD SELF CONCEPT cannot be legislated, or forced into being. It must be earned, and it can be earned.

We must remember, however, that a good self-concept depends, not upon external circumstances, but upon the quality of personal character. A high quality character can be earned, and there is no other way to acquire it.

UNBALANCED LIVING is the inevitable result of forcing human relationships which no one desires; forcing people into life roles they neither desire nor can fill; forcing persons into jobs they cannot perform satisfactorily; and creating, by force, artificial self-concepts and self-images completely dissociated from reality.

HUMAN BEINGS function best, and are most effective and happiest in a social structure which permits freedom of choice, opportunity to work, and the right to occupy the niche in life which they best fit.

With all of this, we must accept the imperfections and inequities which will endure forever.

TRYING TO FORCE that which must be earned is a serious threat to everything worthwhile in the human experience.

DOWN TO EARTH Legislated?

By JIMMY R. ALLEN

WHETHER IT'S a Sunday School class discussion, a barbershop dialogue, or a "spit and whittle" club on courthouse steps, someone usually gets around to the cliché, "You just can't legislate morals."

This half truth often ends the conversation about some area of public morality and the problem of law making and law enforcing. The issue is a timely one.

Can man's moral behavior be controlled by law? Should it be?

THE TRUTH INVOLVED in the statement is that man's inner moral decision making is a personal process. Outward behavior can be regulated, but inner attitudes depend on many factors besides laws.

The basic and ultimate answer to moral problems is not to be found in legislative assemblies, courtrooms, or polling booths. The Bible is clear in the insight that man's basic problem is a sin problem. (Romans 3:23) This can only be solved by an inner transformation which comes by the touch of the spirit of God in one's life.

IF THERE COULD be a "best of all possible worlds" in which every person had this inner transformation, laws would be merely regulations to keep the traffic straight and so forth.

Such a world does not exist. Therefore, laws for social good are justifiable for the protection of the young and the weak. Greed must be held in check. Justice must be sought. Opportunity for all must be provided. Enticements toward destruction must be minimized.

WHILE MORALS may not be legislated internally, moral men do legislate. Their laws should reflect the best of their moral insight.

Often the issues facing citizens are complicated. Viewpoints vary on the value of proposed courses of action. The test of morality lies in what happens to persons.

SUCH A SITUATION, for example, faces Texans in the November elections.

On Nov. 3, voters will make a ballot "for or against repeal of the prohibition of open saloons found Section 20, Article XVI of the constitution of the state of Texas."

IT IS NOT A VOTE for or against abstention from use of alcoholic beverages. It is not a legislation of morals.

It is a question of how moral men evaluate the best way to handle regulations on a product which does have socially and personal damaging effects.

THE BEST WAY to examine the issue is to look closely at states which have moved from the package store and private club concept to the liquor-by-the-drink concept and discover what their experience has been.

Two states which have done this in the last decade are Iowa and Georgia. (Iowa in 1963 and Georgia in 1964) Other more recent changes in Tennessee, Virginia, and Mississippi do not allow enough time to evaluate results.

THE EXPERIENCE in Iowa and Georgia reveals a much higher rate of increased consumption of liquor than the national average and a corresponding increase in alcohol-related violent crime and highway deaths.

Contrary to the myth that people drink less when buying by the drink than by the bottle, Iowa's increased consumption according to the industry's own figures was 29.7 percent and Georgia's was 45.3 percent while the national increase over 1964-68 was 20.6 percent and Texas was 20.0 percent.

DURING THE SAME PERIOD, the national violent crime rate was increasing to a disastrous 52 percent, but Iowa was increasing at a rate of 104 percent.

In this same period the national increase in traffic deaths (measured by the scale of rate per 100,000 miles driven) was rising 6 percent. In Iowa, it was rising 34 percent.

MORAL MEN DO legislate. Moral men do face the necessity of examining issues and voting at the polls.

Texans who value human life would do well to study this situation carefully before casting a November ballot on the subject.

What Our Readers Think

'Chilling Experience'

318 East 22 Street
Littlefield, Texas
2 September, 1970

The Editor
Lamb County Leader-News
Littlefield, Texas

Dear Sir:

I had a chilling experience during last Saturday's "Festivities" that I would like to share with the readers of your "Letters to the Editor" column.

I was standing in the crowd watching the beard judging contest when I noticed a neighbor of mine, very drunk, holding a loaded pistol. When I asked him what he was going to do he replied that he was going to shoot that blank-blank Doyle Winfield because he wouldn't let him in the beard contest. He didn't have a beard.

Since I am the only person that I trust with a loaded gun I disarmed him, unloaded the weapon, and walked away. I took the gun to his wife. But instead of taking it she went and got his other gun and asked me to dispose of both pistols. Knowing the mood of the owner I was happy to do so.

But that's not the really chilling part. This drunk had hung around my motorcycle shop for hours wanting his gun back and getting drunker. I finally got fed up and went up town to get the law. Before they arrived our nameless friend informed the people remaining at the shop that he was going for another gun. The police were told this when they arrived. They were given a detailed description of the culprit and his car.

Later, 10 people, including myself saw the culprit's car turn onto Main Street from Delano right in front of a police car driven by officer John Bankston.

We saw Officer Bankston go the other way as fast as he could. That's the chilling part.

Our Policy

Our columns are always open to anyone who writes a letter to the editor. The Leader-News will accept all letters that are signed, however, the name of the writer will be withheld upon request. Such letters are kept on file for inspection by anyone who wishes to see them. Letters are printed as space permits, with shorter letters having a better chance of being printed on time than those which are extremely long. The fact that a letter is printed does not mean the Leader-News necessarily agrees with the opinion stated.

THE PHILOSOPHER

Education

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm looks the situation over as a new school year gets underway.)

Dear editor:
With motorists alerted on the opening of public schools because of more children on the streets and the National Guard alerted on the opening of colleges, I settled back down out here on this Johnson grass farm to reflect on a couple of items I encountered yesterday.

One was a television interview with a college student and the other a speech I read by a college president.

The college student, who was 21, said he'd tried for four solid years to get his message across to the system using everything from trying to swing elections to peaceful protest, but the system's faults still exist and he sees no choice now but to use violence.

The college president said one answer to the school problems is to start kids in school at the age of 10. Said most kids are bored with the first few grades and they'd be better off if they didn't start till they were 10 years old, at which time they'd be in shape to learn some really solid stuff four times as fast as they could when they were only 6.

If you ask me, neither one is right. In the first place, if you want a real revolution, tell parents who are living for the day when their child gets 6 and can get out of the house and into school that he'll have to be underfoot for another four years. eee-yuk!

No. The answer is to start children to school when they're 1 and let them finish when they're 10.

This would thus give them 11 years till they're 21, and anybody knows it takes at least 11 years to straighten out the world, four years just never has been long enough.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

PAUL HARVEY

Ballot Battle

STUDENTS, distressed about the war or whatever, disrupted campuses last year, focused some attention on their grievances but more on themselves.

So when the tear gas clouds were wafted away the status remained quo.

THIS NEXT FALL students aim to do battle with ballots and this next effort is organized.

Within days after President Nixon ordered American troops in Cambodia, angry students met in the Princeton University gym. They voted to strike to protest the escalating war. And they voted 3,800 to 200.

BUT AT THE MEETING they decided to do more; to go to work within the system to elect peace candidates to Congress this next fall.

Their effort became known as the Movement for a New Congress. The rapidly with which it spread to 400 campuses holds hope that students who were becoming disillusioned about our political system now recognize that whether it works for them or against them is up to them.

NOW 28 REGIONAL centers report To Princeton headquarters that they have 20,000 students prepared to campaign and they expect to have 300,000 thus involved by October.

In Santa Clara County, California students, themselves ineligible to vote, recruited new voters; helped 1,000 register the first week.

THE YOUTH MOVEMENT has its roots in opposition to the Indochina war. As that war phases out, enthusiasm may wane. But at present count the Movement has adopted 60 peace candidates for the House and six or seven for the Senate, intending to mobilize bipartisan support for these.

Since other antiwar student organizations have participated in spring primaries it is difficult to assess the effects of any or all.

AND THE STUDENTS have no illusions about being able to convert conservative constituencies. But where there were less than 15 percent points separating the winners from the losers in 1960's election--wherever there is a reasonable hope of affecting the outcome of an election--the Movement will concentrate its efforts.

Canvassers are urged not to be argumentative, snobbish, unkempt or too noisy.

THEY ARE URGED to memorize voting records and to be prepared with proper quotes from candidates they want elected or those they want un-elected.

One of the national leaders of the New Congress is Bob Durkee. He believes students' political involvement hasten the retirement of President Johnson.

HE BELIEVES THAT, beholden to no political party, the Movement for a New Congress is a proper alternative to violence and proper basic training for a generation of concerned citizens.

HOMINY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

I TOOK A PICTURE of one of our "pride and joy", a few days back, out in the front of our house. This, of course, being the most popular background for the family portraits.

It came out beautifully, and in every detail.

One of the "details" prominently displayed, near the middle of the portrait, was a memento of bygone days--none other than the old "Night Owl"--the popular accessory of the old out-door toilet of bygone days.

Turns out, my better-half had adapted this one to the business of growing flowers. (Oh, well, I should be so useful after I'm outmoded!) Anyway it started me thinking of the "Conveniences" of the days of yore, and brought to mind the old out-house that was a must for the pioneer.

We remember that "no home could be complete, without one". These were built to the individual taste and financial ability of the owner. Also, a determining factor was the size (or anticipated size) of the family they were to serve.

THEY RANGED in size, from to lowly single seater to the plush four passenger variety. Usually, located a calculated distance from the dwelling, and with a consideration as to the prevailing wind of the area.

The night-owl was kept in the house and was for "Emergency-use-only", and required delicate handling.

AS FOR THE "Station" itself,

A WOMAN'S VIEW

Equal Rights

By PEARL BRANDON

THE LAST FEW WEEKS we have been hearing a lot about equal rights for women.

As for me I can't think of anything nicer than being a woman under conditions as they are now. I can't think of anything nicer than being a housewife.

I CAN HEAR SOME of you saying, "What's so nice about making beds and cleaning house?" Plenty.

To me it's a real joy to put the house in order each morning and to make things comfortable for my family...to cook the things they like to eat.

I LIKE THE freedom of the housewife. Of course there are things that have to be done, but I can plan my own time to do them. I don't just have to wash today, if I don't feel like it, and if the weather is severe I can stay inside. My mother used to say it is nice to be a woman in bad weather.

IT'S WONDERFUL to be a woman.

The courtesy that men pay we women like opening doors and helping us with our coats makes us feel special.

I LIKE FEMINE things like pretty clothes with ruffles and lace and bows, and bright colored scarves and pretty shoes.

I like to cry when I need to, without being thought of as a sissy. I like Mother's day and being a grandma.

I like the special privileges and the attention we get as being the weaker sex.

WHO WANTS EQUAL RIGHTS like driving trucks and tractors and fixing flats...or shoveling snow? Not me.

When I get the ironing done and the car washed and the lawn mowed, I'm going to finish canning that batch of peas I picked yesterday and then I'm going to fix myself up pretty and sit down and do my nails.

ROGERS

I ever got in one day."

Halsell's son, Ewing, charged before the elder Rogers died, and Ernest Halsell was the strong-armed foreman. In those days Rogers often visited the Ranch at branding time. Rogers had been raised 18 miles from the corner Oklahoma home. "But I didn't know him personally," he said.

Frank Rogers met the Will Rogers for the first time after coming to Lamb County but he never got to know him well because Will stayed from the office and out of the cowhands when visiting Halsells.

Frank became acquainted with just about every name in the county while working for the land company, and people became his cowboys when he became a job dealer in Littlefield in December, 1938. The Rogers then moved to Littlefield in 1942. Rogers was in the farm implement business until six years ago.

Rogers is 75-years-old, looks 15 or 20 years younger. He spends his mornings at Littlefield Federal Savings Loans where he is vice president, then keeps fit by golf every afternoon.

And he has broken the golf course, too.

Wildcats, JV Nip Mules In Scrimmage

Maybe all it takes to get a football team out of the doldrums is a little "winning." The Littlefield Wildcats accomplished that Friday night as they nipped the Muleshoe Mules, 1-0, in a controlled scrimmage at Wildcat Stadium.

Coming off last week's lackluster showing at Tahoka, the Wildcats showed improvement and some spark in edging the Mules.

Muleshoe, a Class AAA doormat last year, showed some spunk of its own in the early going.

During its first offensive series, Muleshoe drove one time to the Cat 10, where Coach Deverelle Lewis' forces stiffened their defenses.

The Wildcats made little headway in their first 20 offensive turns, although QB Wendell Horn did scamper for a couple of good gains.

Then the Junior Varsity units of both teams took the field. QB Alan Mackey led a long drive which culminated in Mackey's one-yard punch for a score.

That gave the Littlefield JV a 1-0 victory in their match and the scrimmage was again turned back to the varsity teams.

When the Cats came back out, they seemed to pick up where the JV left off. Leroy Danford got off a couple of good runs during a long drive directed by QB Lynn Barton. Danford got the Cats' only score on a 10-yard scamper, capping the drive.

Muleshoe took its final 20 plays, using its first offense against the Cats' second defensive unit.

The Mules reached Littlefield's one-yard line, but there the Wildcats stopped the march, finally pushing the Mules back to the 15-yard line.

Starting again from their own 40, the Mules drove downfield again, and on the last play of the series, a pass connection almost tied the score. But the Wildcats knocked the Mule pass receiver out of bounds at the Littlefield one-foot line.

That ended the Littlefield-Muleshoe scrimmage, and gave both Wildcat teams 1-0 victories.

Rev. Gordon Is Ordained

The First Baptist Church of Sudan was the ordaining church for Rev. Paul Gordon, at the Bula Baptist Church Sunday afternoon, Aug. 30, at 2:30.

The invocation was given by Waymon Gordon. Questioning of the candidate was given by Dr. Fred Howard and J.R. Manning gave the charge to the church.

Dr. Strauss Atkinson, area missionary from Plainview gave the charge to the candidate.

Presentation of the Bible to Rev. Paul Gordon was made by the Sudan church. Dr. Howard gave the ordaining prayer and the laying on of hands was given by the ordaining council. The benediction was given by Philip Gordon.

The hand of fellowship was given to Rev. and Mrs. Gordon by the congregation and special music for the ceremony was given by Mrs. J.R. Manning.

Rev. Gordon and his wife are both spring graduates of Wayland College and he is now pastor of the Bula Baptist Church.

LITTLEFIELD CHEERLEADERS gave the fighting Wildcats a boost as they posted signs in the front yards of every varsity football player. Max Huber admires the sign cheerleaders Kay Armistead, Tonya Pickrell, Rachel Harlan, Linda Horn, Kathie McBride, and Debra McAnally put outside his front door.

Best Laid Plans Fail On Pool

A planned opening of the Littlefield Country Club swimming pool during the Labor Day Weekend didn't go as planned.

Mechanical problems will keep the pool from being open today and Monday, as originally scheduled.

Cotton Contest Is Scheduled

The 1970 Sew-It-With-Cotton contest for Lamb and Bailey counties has been scheduled for Sept. 22 in Littlefield.

The contest is sponsored by the Denim Dolls Chapter of the Women's Cotton Promotion Association and is open to everyone excluding Home Economics instructors and Home Demonstration agents.

First prize is $15.00 and second prize of $10.00 will be given in each of eight categories.

Any interested person or child nine years or over may get entry blanks at Ware's Department Store, H & M Fabrics by calling Claunch Gin at Bula.

THE BULLDOG football squad for the 1970 season runs through drills for the offensive attack at Bula High School's field.

Eight Lettermen Back For Bula's 1970 Season

By GARY BRYSON
Leader-News Sports Writer

Eight varsity lettermen return this year to challenge the favored teams of District I-B, at Bula High School.

The Bulldogs' head coach, Loyd Halbrooks, is back for his third year in an eight-man team conference. His assistant, however, is a first year coach at Bula. He is Pat Risinger, whose younger brother is the Bulldog starting quarterback.

Halbrooks took his squad, totaling 11 men, into a pre-season return bout with Loop this part Friday night, in a home game. The first scrimmage, held in Loop Sept. 28, showed the Bulldogs with several weaknesses that Halbrooks hopes to have resolved by the season's opening.

Ron Risinger, beginning his third year in the quarterback slot for Bula, is a junior weighing in at 175 pounds.

Risinger will be flanked by running backs Mitchell Autry, a 175-pound senior, and Steve Newton, a 150-pound sophomore.

Craig McDaniels, a 115-pound freshman, and Larry Clawson, a junior two-year letterman, will be seeing duty at the end positions.

Snapping the pigskin will be freshman Jerry Sowder, weighing in at 145. The guard posts will be held by Kenneth Turney, a one-letter sophomore at 180, and three-letter senior Gene Stroud, at 145.

Terry Sowder, a 220-pound three-letter senior, freshman Edward Clawson, at 110 pounds, and two-letter sophomore Kenny Claunch, at 125 will be the substitutes for the squad.

As in last year's district race, Halbrooks feels that Cotton Center and Three Way are the teams to beat this year. "If we beat either one we should at least be in the running for the district championship," he said.

With new hopes for the 1970 football season comes a new look to the Bula Bulldog football field. A brand new stand has been built for the fans. The materials were donated by local merchants and Bulldog fans, and the work was done by Bula boosters. This stand is the first one ever owned by the Bulldogs, and will hold about 100 persons.

The schedule for the Bula team has been changed with two of the 1970 opponents dropping football all together. Below is the revised schedule.

Ambulance, Car Collide At Olton

An ambulance from Earth enroute to a Plainview hospital with a patient collided with an automobile at Olton that pulled into the path of the east-bound ambulance, resulting in injuries and totaling the ambulance.

Hershel Hulcy was driving the ambulance that was carrying Frank Meeks, who had apparently suffered a stroke, to Plainview. Also in the ambulance was Meek's wife who was accompanying him to the hospital and Brian Hulcy, an ambulance attendant.

The ambulance was at the intersection of Highway 70 and Main in Olton when Sherree Minicke drove a 1967 Chrysler from a parking lot into the path of the emergency vehicle. The ambulance hit the car broadside on the right.

Mrs. Meeks and the ambulance driver were thrown against the windshield and dash. Hulcy received a slight head injury and Mrs. Meeks was admitted to Central Plains Hospital with chest bruises and knee injury.

Miss Meinecke was given emergency treatment at Community Clinic and released. Mickey Crowder, a passenger in the Meinecke car, was not injured.

Olton city officials investigated the accident and the Meeks were taken to Plainview in a Parsons ambulance. Damages to the Meinecke car were estimated at $500 and about $3,500 to the ambulance.

SECOND NATIONAL HONOR Mrs. Wiley Roberts Has Oil Color Photo Shown Nationally

An oil color print by Mrs. Wiley Roberts was accepted from among some 3,000 similar prints from all over the U.S. for exhibition at the National Photographers Association held in Chicago, Ill. last week.

Two other entries submitted by Mrs. Roberts scored within two and four points respectively of making the national exhibition. A portrait of Littlefield High School senior, Vicky Elliott, taken and colored by Mrs. Roberts missed acceptance by two points.

This is the second time for MRS. WILEY ROBERTS holds the oil color print that won the honor of being exhibited at the National Photographers convention in Chicago, Ill. last week. The bottom right photo of LHS senior Vicky Elliott lacked only two points from being the national exhibit.

Mrs. Roberts attended Wynona School of Professional Photography in conjunction with the national show at Chicago. She studied the latest method of using air brushes in retouching old photographs.

Mrs. Roberts attended the national level. She had a portrait hung for exhibition in 1968. Work submitted last year by the Roberts Studio husband and wife team was delayed in the mail, reached its destination two days after the deadline and the case wasn't even opened.

Wiley Roberts' direct color entry of a purple iris lacked only two points showing even after being dropped while being unpacking resulting in a broken corner that knocked off 10 points.

Farm real estate value has risen 64 per cent since 1950 for roughly the same amount. Farmer's real estate taxes are 54 per cent in the same period.

Oltonites In Boating Mishap

Three Olton women were injured in a freak boating accident at Bull Lake Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Wayne Carson, Mrs. Kathline, and Mrs. G. G. Dinger and Dixie G. Carson, were caught in the fire.

Some of the gasolene spilled into the boat and was ignited by an unknown cause. Mrs. Carson, Kathline and Dinger were caught in the fire.

Mrs. Carson and Dinger received second degree burns on their legs and Kathline serious burns on her face and her hair was slightly singed. Quenette was in front of the boat and injured.

The three injured were taken to the Littlefield Hospital for treatment and released under a doctor's care.

Police School Set For Week

The school, starting Sunday, is conducted by the Texas Police Extension Service.

He said, "Officers completing the course become eligible for certification by the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Education. Officers interested in the school should write Hudson, W. T. Box 295, Canyon, Tex. 79016. Deadline for enrollment is Sept. 21."

...and every man

shall receive his own reward, according to his own labour; for we are labourers together with God." Those lines from Corinthians, might well be the inspiration for the holiday America observes... a special day set aside to pay respect to those who labor to make our nation great and, consequently, keep it free. This is Labor Day... when each man and woman whose work helps keep the bulwark of Democracy strong, receives "his own reward" in the satisfaction of a job well done.

It is not just another day for looking back on past accomplishment—this Labor Day. In a strange new scientific world which taxes comprehension, it is a time for looking ahead... for rededicating ourselves. We must need those Corinthian lines which asks us all to be "labourers together with God."

News Gets Around

Longtime Littlefield resident Joe Wells recently got a letter from Senator Jack Hightower congratulating him on his 82nd birthday. "I don't know how Senator Hightower knew about it unless he reads the local paper," said Wells. We assured him that the Senator does get the Leader-News regularly, and we were glad to know he even goes so far as to read the "personals."

But that's usually the case with weekly and semi-weekly papers. Unlike the dailies, which get scanned quickly and thrown out, the weekly newspaper stays around awhile, and most people read them thoroughly.

Even Senators.

And if that sounds like a pitch for the hometown paper, you're exactly right.

Retirement Incomes Bigger In County

The amount of money flowing into Lamb County each month in the form of Federal retirement pensions has increased considerably in the last few years.

Because of the vast changes made in the social security law, the number of local beneficiaries and the size of their checks are greater than ever. According to the official figures covering the past year, retirement and disability payments are now going to 2,664 persons in the local area, as compared with 2,178 four years ago.

Most of them are retired workers or their widows, children and parents. The other are disabled workers and their dependents.

The findings are contained in the annual report of the Social Security Administration. It lists, for every county in the United States, the number of people on the retirement rolls and the payments to them, as of the beginning of this year.

Nationally, there are more than 25 million men, women and children receiving benefits as against less than 21 million in 1965. They are collecting nearly $27 billion a year.

In Lamb County, pension payments at the close of the year were at the annual rate per beneficiary of $887, in contrast to the 1965 rate of $737.

A further increase is in effect at the present time, by virtue of legislation boosting benefits by 15 percent across the board.

Just how much a person or his dependents receive in retirement benefits depends upon the amount contributed to the social security trust fund, through payroll deductions, during the worker's active years.

Now, with pension checks larger than in the past and with more people covered, the influx of cash into the local area from this source has grown in importance. It represents a sizeable part of the money in circulation.

Lamb County residents, as a result, are now collecting a total of $2,364,000 a year, a marked increase over the $1,606,000 they were receiving four years ago.

Social security taxes have generally been going up proportionately, although no change is expected this year, despite the 15 percent increase.

LCC Plans Open House

Lubbock Christian College is opening its campus to the public at a Labor Day Rally, Sept. 7.

The public is invited to share in the inspiration and old-fashioned fellowship in chapel at 10 a.m., partake of a western-style barbecue at noon, hear the choruses and Royal Blue Band present some of America's most stirring music at 2 p.m. and listen to Dr. Bill Banowsky speak on "The Greatest Challenges of Our Age," at 2:30 p.m.

LCC is making headway in becoming a four year college--the junior year started this semester--and wants everyone to see the progress that has been made in: the library expansion; the new Mabee Agriculture-Science Lab; the commercial farm improvements; in campus development.

'Cowsills' To Appear At SPC

The popular family rock-group, The Cowsills, will appear in concert on the South Plains College campus Saturday, Oct. 17.

The South Plains College Student Senate and the Student Activity Office will sponsor the event.

The Cowsills are a family group consisting of the mother, Barbara Cowsill, four sons and one daughter.

They have been singing as a group for three years, and have had six million selling single records and four albums that have received the coveted gold record for selling a million copies.

Their first big hit was "The Rain, Park and Everything" followed by their very popular "Indian Lake". However, their biggest hit came in 1969 with their recording of "Hair" which was the number two song for the entire year, and is among the top fifty selling songs for all-time.

Further details will be released by the SPC Student Senate in the next few days concerning the acquiring of tickets, prices, and other pertinent information.

The concert is planned for a Saturday night to allow families, school kids, and all working people to attend the concert.

Highlights Aired For Field Day

Agricultural Research for '70's will be the theme of the 61st Annual Field Day Open House at the Texas A.M. University Agricultural Research and Extension Center Lubbock on Tuesday, Sept. 9, beginning at 1 p.m.

Detailed discussions will be presented on cotton and grain varieties, weed control, row-row cotton and grain storage insects, announce Dr. Kirk and Dr. Jerry Johnson, field day chairmen. These discussions will be presented on special tours to particular field stations throughout the afternoon. Visitors may select any or all of these tours.

Also featured will be special exhibits in various phases of agriculture who will be available for individual consultation. So, agricultural producers, homemakers and gardeners are encouraged to bring their questions on insect, diseases and weed control, fertilizer use, irrigation or whatever for the "experts." Kirk and Johnson also encourage them to bring any plant specimens they may have.

A mainstay at the annual event will be general tours to the various field research plots on the Center's 300 acres, add the chairmen. This tour will give visitors a bird's-eye view of the many phases of agricultural research being conducted.

Displays and exhibits will also be featured for public viewing. These will include plant diseases, vegetable production, soil testing, plant physiology and herbicide use. Other attractions will include a large machinery exhibit, the cotton ginning research laboratory and research rose garden.

Kirk and Johnson invite everyone interested in agriculture in the West Texas area to make plans now to attend the field day and to spend a profitable afternoon.

County Cotton Production Down 26.1 Percent In '69

The report of the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service on acreage, yield and production of cotton for 1969 just released, shows 1,418,600 bales (500 pounds gross) produced in the 25 High Plains counties represented by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

The total is down from 1,662,300 bales grown in 1968 but still represents 49.6 percent of the State's 2,862,000 bales total and over 14 percent of the 9.9 million bale total grown in the U.S.

Lamb County had a total of 166,400 planted acres--123,000 of which were harvested, making a 26.1 percentage of acreage lost.

The average yield for the county per harvested acre was 273 pounds, yielding a grand total of 70,200 bales weighing 350 pounds.

Running bales for the area were reported earlier by the U. S. Bureau of Census at 1,392,800. Statewide production in running bales came to 2,806,926 in the census report.

The TCLRS report for 1969 reveals an average yield per harvested acre for the Plains counties of 349.2 pounds, compared to 1968's yield of 496 pounds. The state average yields per harvested acre for 1968 and 1969 were 410 and 294 pounds, respectively.

Weather in 1969 cost High Plains farmers 226,250 acres of cotton, 10.4 percent of the 2,173,950 acres originally planted. Abandonment of acreage between planting and harvest time across the State came to 9.7 percent.

Adverse weather both on the Plains and Statewide was responsible also for the drastic drop in per acre yields last year.

TCLRS figures for irrigated cotton harvested on the Plains total 1,256,000 acres or 64.5 percent of total acres harvested. Yield on irrigated acreage averaged 404 pounds per acre as opposed to a yield of only 255 pounds on the 35.5 percent grown under dryland conditions.

NATIONAL FOREST

About 19 per cent of the 510 million acres of commercial forest land in the United States is in the National Forest System. Private ownership accounts for 72 per cent and the balance is in other state, federal and local holdings.
