Littlefield Hotel Destroyed By Fire Saturday

LANDMARK burned here late Saturday morning. The old Littlefield Hotel was destroyed by a $5,000 fire at its location just off West 6th Street. Fire Chief Durham was started in the third-story loft, and he was killed by arson. Before being moved there, it occupied a prominent spot on XIT for many years. The hotel served as important role during the land boom days, and at one time was the center of activity in Littlefield.

LETTERS

To The EDITOR

Dear Editor:
 May we at Littlefield Satellite School take this time to say thanks to everyone in Littlefield who has helped us at our school this year. It is so gratifying to see so many wonderful people put themselves out to help Our Very Special Students.
 A special thanks goes out to the Xi Nu Nu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi and the Littlefield 4-H'ers who made a special contribution to help us get a "Special Teaching Kit," which our boss, Mrs. Sue Wards of Lubbock, thinks will be a big help for students in both classes.

Thanks also goes to the Eastern Star for the large supply of construction paper, Crayolas, "Praying Hands" mold and cash to buy other molds; and to Mrs. A. M. Lovvorn of Miles for the egg cartons.
 It is just great to live in Littlefield when people are interested in our work.
 Thanks for your publicity of our work.

Thanks again,
 Pauline Dempsey
 and

CLIPS & TIPS

By JOELLA LOVVORN

HOMEMADE EGGNOG may be just the thing for the hurry-up hostess who still wants that "special touch" for holiday entertaining.
 It's "Creamy Cinna-Nog," and it gets its rich, smooth texture from a milk base and the addition of whipping cream. Red cinnamon candies give this particular eggnog a festive holiday color and hint of spicy flavor.
CREAMY CINNA-NOG
 6 cups milk
 1 1/2 cups red cinnamon candies
 3 eggs
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 red food coloring (optional)
 1 pint whipping cream (whipped)
 Combine milk and candies in saucepan. Place over low heat and allow candies to dissolve. Stir occasionally. Combine eggs, sugar and salt in another saucepan. Beat in hot cinnamon milk slowly and cook over very low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture coats a metal spoon. Chill thoroughly. If desired, add red food color as needed to tint beverage an attractive pink color. Carefully fold two-thirds of the whipped cream into chilled mixture. Pour into chilled punch bowl. Spoon remaining cream onto nog. Makes 10 cups (2 1/2 quarts) nog.

cholesterol in the blood. These are fats that harden at room temperature, such as, fat from beef, pork, coconut oil and chocolate.
 The food you eat can endanger your heart or protect it. The typical American diet is rich in eggs, which are high in cholesterol; the meats, butter, cream and whole milk are high in animal (saturated) fats. These foods tend to raise the level of cholesterol in the blood, and high blood cholesterol level contributes to the development of a form of hardening of the arteries—the condition that underlies most heart attacks.
 Here are a few recipes for fat-controlled, low cholesterol meals.
CHICKEN PAPRIKA
 1 frying chicken (3 lbs.) cut into serving pieces, skin removed
 1/8 teaspoon black pepper
 1 1/2 teaspoons paprika
 2 tablespoons corn oil
 2 tablespoons chopped onion
 2 tablespoons flour
 1 1/2 cups skim milk
 Water (as needed)
 Season chicken with pepper and paprika. Heat oil in skillet and brown chicken on all sides about 10 minutes. In a saucepan combine onion and flour with skim milk and cook over low heat until mixture begins to thicken. Pour sauce over chicken, cover, and simmer for 45 to 50 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.
 If you have an electric skillet, it is ideal for preparing Chicken Paprika, or you may prepare it on the surface unit of an electric range. Add a little water if necessary to prevent scorching. (The chicken needs to be skinned because of the layer of fat directly under it.)
OVEN-FRIED FISH FILLETS
 1 lb. fish fillets
 1 cup dry bread crumbs
 1/4 cup French dressing (or 2 parts vegetable oil to 1 part vinegar or lemon or lime juice)
 Preheat oven to 450 degrees. If frozen fish is used, thaw it enough to separate pieces. Dip fish into well-seasoned French dressing, then into bread crumbs. Arrange in an oiled baking dish. Pour any remaining French dressing over fish. Bake for 10-12 minutes, or until the fish flakes when tested with a fork. Makes 4 servings.
STUFFED ACORN SQUASH
 2 acorn squash, cut in half
 1 cup unsweetened applesauce
 4 teaspoons brown sugar
 4 teaspoons soft corn oil margarine
 Cinnamon
 Place squash halves cut side down in a baking dish. Cover bottom of baking dish with about 1/4 inch water. Bake at 400 degrees 45 to 50 minutes or until tender. Turn squash over. Fill cavity with applesauce and brown sugar. Dot with margarine. Sprinkle with cinnamon. Continue baking until applesauce is bubbly, about 15 minutes. Makes 4 servings.
SNOW PUDDING
 1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatin
 1 cup skim milk
 1 tablespoon instant coffee
 1 package (3 3/4 oz.) vanilla instant pudding
 1 cup skim milk
 2 egg whites
 In a small saucepan sprinkle gelatin over 1 cup milk. Add coffee. Heat over low heat, stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Set aside. In a mixing bowl stir together pudding and 1 cup milk. Add gelatin mixture and beat according to package directions. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold into pudding.

I FOUND this column in "The South-westerner", published by Southwestern Public Service Co., and written by Murrell Bridge, home service director. It is quite timely for the season, and I thought you might enjoy it here.
THE HOLIDAY SEASON is here and a big percentage of us will consume too much rich food. It seems that some of the best liked foods are loaded with fats and calories. Almost everyone realizes that the food he eats has something to do with his health. Dieting is never easy. It happens that people who like to cook, like to eat and that makes dieting even harder for some of us.
 Each year, more than 570,000 people die of heart attacks in this country. Many thousands of those deaths occur among people in their most productive years—men and women with responsible jobs, with children still in school and people who have other responsibilities.
 Research scientists are getting closer to the secret of prevention. Their studies show that certain physical conditions and living habits increase the risk of heart attack; and for every one of those risks there is a practical step you can take to counteract it. All this adds up to a health program that can be followed, with a doctor's guidance, by everyone in the family—children as well as adults. Children can benefit most of all, if they are trained from the start in eating and living patterns that may protect their hearts in adult life.
 With the help of your doctor, here are six guidelines:
 I. Have regular medical checkups.
 II. Exercise regularly.
 III. Don't smoke.
 IV. Control high blood pressure.
 V. Count your calories—avoid excess weight.
 VI. Reduce fat and cholesterol in the diet.
THIS LAST ONE we will talk about now.
 Recipes based on low-fat, low cholesterol meal planning are recommended as one means of reducing the risk of heart attacks in people who are susceptible.
 Just because the doctor may have put you on a diet, that does not mean that all good food is not for you.
 Saturated fats tend to raise the level of

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

An Equal Chance

THERE ARE INEQUALITIES, and much concern about them. Some of this is wisely conceived, and is probably altruistic; but some of the words and actions seem to miss the point, and are destructive rather than helpful.
 Of course, we want to do all we can to move toward the greatest possible degree of equality for all; but there must be some inequalities. If for no other reason; our unchangeable individual differences will produce and maintain them, but all of us know that there are other legitimate reasons which must be accepted.
ABSOLUTE EQUALITY is impossible, but, in a wise consideration of some areas of personal experiences, we do have "an equal chance". In the other areas, we should accept and adjust to our difference.
 In fact, we have good reason to be thankful for many of them. Nevertheless, this does not allow for, or justify any mistreatment of anyone; but some inequalities will remain forever. We should be glad, rather than mad about this fact.
IN THE MOST IMPORTANT ways, we have "an equal chance". That is, in the ways generally considered important; all who are willing to put forth the effort and submit to the same disciplinary guidelines can be quite acceptable human beings.
 Even so, there will still be; in the strictest sense; inequalities. This is certainly not objectionable, because it is just part of the reality that cannot be changed. The best action for all of is acceptance, without resentment.

"THOUGH ANOTHER" more money, beauty, brains, yet when it comes to the values such as charity, honor, nobility of heart; "an equal chance" with everyone most beloved and honored of Anon.
OUR SENSE OF VALUE viously, be the controlling accepting or rejecting this "an equal chance". If made outstanding physical appearance, brain power, popularity, such like have first place in and plans; we will not accept "an equal chance". There is for not accepting it, because true.
 There is no possibility of these areas, and to whatever make the assumption that equality in such things, we unrealistic. Unfortunately, strain, and stress, and such come out of this unreality. Much frustration, disappointment, envy, hatred, bitterness, ugliness produced by the ception. How very sad!

ATTEND CHURCH THIS WEEK

LIFE'S RICHEST GIFT

Giving of yourself to others is life's richest gift—and it is the hardest to give.

We give dribbles of our time to our children and oceans of ourselves to our businesses. But when we withhold ourselves from those around us, every other gift is hard to give.

In helping in the United Fund Campaign in our city, I have watched pure agony and anger in purple tones on some men's faces. They hurriedly and insolently flung it across the table to me.

In every instance I have known like that, the giver didn't know how to give of himself. He didn't help in the fund drive. He didn't give to his church. He couldn't give himself to his family. The pores of his heart were stopped up and he couldn't give life's richest gift—himself—to others.

I remember Esther's last words to her uncle Mordecai as she prepared to go into the king's presence to plead for her people, "I will go . . . and if I perish, I perish." With those words she walked into the hall of fame.
