Town Hall Meet Slated To Talk Street Plans

The City of Littlefield, faced with deterioration of its streets following heavy rains last fall and freezes early in 1970, will take its program for repair and improvement to the people in a town hall meeting Thursday night.

Plan I calls for $40,000 worth of curb and gutter changes in order to improve drainage throughout the city, compared to $20,000 called for in Plan II.

STREET IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM: Questions and Answers

Q. How much do the citizens of Littlefield have invested in their paved streets?
A. There are 41 miles of paved streets in Littlefield representing an investment of over $2 million.

within a one year period, or as soon as possible. Such a program cannot be financed from present operating revenues without seriously affecting other city services. A bond issue would be the only sound and feasible way of financing such a project.

The public meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday in the district courtroom of the county courthouse. City Engineer Bill McMorrises and Joe Smith, bonding agent and advisor, will be on hand to help answer questions.

Chisholm also said approximately $26,000 in work is needed at the city airport, and would have to be added to either plan if it is done.

Q. What plans of action are available to improve our streets?
A. (1) CONTINUE THE PROGRAM OF THE PAST--by appropriating as much operating money as possible for street repair work.

Q. Would a bond issue for street improvements require a tax increase?
A. Yes, it would require a minimum increase in the ad valorem tax rate of 15c. The present city tax rate is $1.09, and property is assessed at 66 2/3% of value.

Trapper Is A Coyote Getter

By NILAH RODGERS
Leader-News Staff Writer

There's a lot of badgers in the county," the wiry trapper with the craggy face said. "And there's getting to be quite a few coons along Running Water Draw. There's quite a few red fox in Hale County, and swift fox are spreading all over the county. Fox like hard land places. You won't see fox where there's coyotes; they're deathly afraid of them."

I don't even know about," Sweatt said. "That's the bad part about my job." This is the reason coyote getters are used only on big ranches. Strychnine has to be used on farms, and both gets dogs.

their chickens or eggs. People also call him with complaints of badgers digging into their terraces, or saying that prairie dogs are cutting down their feed or destroying their grass.

LOYD SWEATT is the government trapper for Lamb and Hale Counties. His main job is reducing the coyote population in the sandhills and on big ranches over the two counties. Sweatt is paid through A&M College with Lamb and Hale Counties putting up part of his salary and the state paying him 10 cents per mile for his travels over the two-county area.

Bee Street is retiring after 29 years and 10 months of service, and his wife was recognized for "her years of dedication with Bee and the anxious nights when he worked many hours overtime in rain or electrical storms." Some of his associates have said Bee has been in telephone work all of his life. He was raised in the telephone office at Dickens, where his mother was chief operator for 28 years, and his father, W. D. Street, was a plant man. Street received his first pay check from the Hendrix Telephone Company when he was 16 years old, and it has been telephone work for him most of the time since then. He started with General Telephone Company in 1928 as a lineman on a construction crew. He was a combinationman in Dickens in 1940, maintaining operations for Dickens, Roaring Springs, McAdoo and Crosbyton. He later was transferred to Sundown where he worked Sundown, Whiteface, Morton and Levelland, and during the oil boom days he was transferred to Billings, Okla. During the early 1940's and World War II, when men and material were hard to acquire, Street worked long hours taking care of more than 400 miles of rural lines, plus Oklahoma cit-

Anton School Enters Contest

ANTON--Anton High School's entry in the VIL one-act play competition is "Recognition Scene from Anastasia". The cast includes Patti Stone as Dowger Empress; Lorelle Biffle as Anastasia; and Bill Moore as the narrator. Troy Tidwell is the state manager. These students are under the direction of Mrs. Pete Norwood.

The setting of the play is a few years after the first World War. Rumors have been in circulation that the youngest of the Russian Czar's daughter has escaped the massacre, and shortly after such a girl was discovered. She was suffering from a severe head wound and hovers on the verge of aphasia. Some people claimed to recognize her but more proclaim her an impostor. The Empress Anastasia's grandmother could positively identify her. They bought her to the house where they held Anastasia a virtual prisoner.

Two winners from the March 18 zone contest will be chosen to advance to the district contest to be held the following week.

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm tangles or dodges, we can't tell which, a traffic problem.)

Dear editor: I know that when a man is broke he's not very interested in talking about money and by the same token I have a feeling people are getting tired of reading about pollution and traffic congestion.

Mainly they want something done about it immediately so long as somebody else does it, but I can't help reporting on a proposed solution to the traffic problem on Wall Street.

PAUL HARVEY

Soak The Rich?

HERE COMES A CRY not heard in our streets since the 1930s: "Soak the rich, share the wealth."

The demonstrators' protestations heard lately in New York City included an obscenity but the message was the same: the have-nots want what the haves have and if they have to, they say, they'll seize it.

IN OUR COUNTRY they already have.

Last December, when the re-elected President Marcos of the Philippines was sworn into office, he made an announcement which caused a lot of world leaders to swallow their portable dentures.

At that ceremony, which was further spotlighted by the presence of our Vice President Agnew, President Marcos announced that he would "give away all his worldly possessions" to the Filipino people, thus to set an example of self-sacrifice.

HE SAID he'd talked it over with his wife, Imelda, and she agreed--fully supported his decision--to give away all their worldly possessions "so that they may serve the greater needs of the greater number of people."

Immediately upon hearing that utterance, you and I forecast the inevitability that the world's self-appointed Robin Hoods are likely to start demanding that all wealthy families give their money away to the poor "as reparations for years of deprivation," or some such. Sure enough, we've heard to that effect from at least a fraction of the New Left.

DO YOU KNOW the background of President Marcos' dramatic gesture?

A WOMAN'S VIEW

Cooperation

By PEARL BRANDON

THOSE OF US who have been trying to promote the Red Cross drive would like to express appreciation for the wonderful response to our request for workers.

In contacting persons to work the envelopes for the business part of town, we had only two rejections; one had illness in the family and the other had already obligated himself on another drive.

THEN WHEN WE started calling women to work in the banks and post office, we only had two or three who couldn't work.

We still have a long way to go... working the envelopes and getting them turned in to the Red Cross Office which we need to get done before the end of the month.

ing off at noon on some days and not even starting on others, but some Wall Street efficiency expert up there said, all right, if we let them quit half an hour early in the afternoons they'll have to start half an hour early in the mornings.

It's this type of thinking that makes me glad I'm where I am. If a man has to get up half an hour earlier in the morning to beat a traffic jam in the afternoon, in other words has to lose sleep to fight the problem, it seems to me the problem is the winner.

It's like the agricultural experts. They're always telling farmers how they ought to improve their pastures so their cows will do better, but what I want is for them to be working on a cow that'll do better on what I've got to offer. Invariably they put all the work on me instead of the cow.

I've tried for years to get this point over, but nobody pays any attention to it.

As Shakespeare almost said, truth crushed the earth frequently lies there unrecognized.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

The Amazing American

THE AMAZING AMERICAN whips enemy nations, then gives them the shirt off his back.

He yells for speed laws that'll stop fast driving, but he won't buy a car if it won't do a hundred.

The amazing American gets scared half to death if we vote one billion dollars for education, but he's cool as the center seed of a cucumber about spending three billion dollars a year for smoking tobacco.

HE GRIPES about the high prices of the things he has to buy; but he gripes about the low prices of the things he has to sell.

He knows the lineup of every baseball team in the American and National Leagues, but he doesn't know half the words in the "Star Spangled Banner."

AN AMERICAN will get mad at his wife for not running their home with the efficiency of a hotel, and mad at a hotel for not being home-like.

He'll spend half a day looking for vitamin pills to make him live longer, and then he'll drive 90 miles per hour on slick pavement to make up for the time he lost.

THE AMAZING AMERICAN will complain about his wife's cooking, yet on a camping trip he'll eat half-fried potatoes, burnt fish and coffee made with gritty creek water in a rusty bucket and think it's wonderful.

The amazing American will work on a farm so he can move to town so he can make more money so he can move back to the farm.

In his office he likes to talk about baseball, football, fishing, etc. Out at the game or on a creek bank, he talks business.

HE IS THE ONLY GUY in the world who'll pay 50 cents to park his car while he eats a 25 cent sandwich.

An American likes to cuss his government, but he'll fight any foreigner who does.

He has more food to eat than anybody and more diet fads to keep him from eating it.

HIS IS THE MOST civilized, most "Christianized?" nation on earth, but he dares not deliver a payroll without an armored car.

In America we have more experts on marriage than any country in the world, and more divorces.

THE AMAZING AMERICAN allows enemies of his country to hide behind the constitution while they seek to set fire to it. He is likely to fight them in Laos, and tolerate them in Cuba.

He would not steal money from his neighbor, but he'll pay the tax collector to steal it for him.

He irrigates desert to make farmland, then puts the extra acres in a soil bank.

HE SPENDS 280 million dollars this year on tranquilizers, and an equal sum on pep pills.

He tosses beer cans out of the car window, drops gum wrappers in the gutter, plans autograves yards along the highways, hides a mountain or a meadow with a billboard selling laxatives, and then stands up at his civic club meeting with a lump in his throat, sings "America The Beautiful."

AND YET for all of that, the amazing American is still a pretty nice guy...despite all he is not...because of all that he is...calling anybody a real American is still the highest compliment you can pay.

HOMINY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

A YOUNGSTER saw a friend of his with a pretty, shiny whistle. The best thing about the whistle was that it made a very beautiful sound.

He decided, at once, that he wanted a whistle just like the one he'd seen. "Where'd you get the whistle?" he asked. "Down at the variety store," he was told.

THE KID RAN to the store and asked for a whistle. But, alas, the storekeeper said: "Sorry. I just sold the last whistle I had, a little while ago. Guess I'd better increase my stock."

The merchant sat down and ordered a gross of whistles. When the manufacturer received the order, he said, "My, but business is picking up, I'd better increase my output." Whereupon, he started making more whistles.

THE LABORERS, upon finding their work load increased, went on strike and demanded more pay. The price of whistles went up.

Soon the merchant received his order of whistles.

He sat down and called the kid that had wanted the second whistle. "Sorry," the youngster told him, "I found a cheaper, foreign made whistle that I bought, besides, I'm saving up to buy a hula-hoop." And the merchant was left with a full gross of whistles. He didn't order any more whistles.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Worth Doing Well

By BOB WEAR

THERE IS GREAT satisfaction in doing our work well, regardless of what it is or how it may be rated by prestigious standards.

In fact, the dedicated, diligent worker is probably the happiest person in the human scene.

THERE IS NOTHING to recommend laziness, idleness or "sloppy" work. Our work, whatever it is, is not done as it should be done, unless it is done well. We may not be the most skillful, but when we do our honest best, we have done well.

THOSE WHO HAVE no work to do are poor, indeed. Those who have work to do, but resent the doing and give only half-hearted effort are poor, too.

"We have too many people who live without working, and we have altogether too many who work without living." --C. R. Brown.

MANY PERSONAL ILLS and social ills would disappear if everybody would go to work doing whatever honorable and useful work available to them. There is no substitute for this spirit and the accompanying life action.

"There is a perennial nobleness and even sacredness in work...Were he ever so benighted and forgetful of his high calling, there is always hope in a man who actually and earnestly works." --Carlyle.

WE ARE CREATED TO WORK and, as long as we are physically and mentally able, we must work. If we refuse to work, or just half do our work, we pervert our lives and detract from our own well-being. We are also failing to keep faith with our Maker and our fellowmen.

IN A LITTLE WHILE the manufacturer awoke to the fact that he was producing a lot of high-cost whistles that no one was buying. He had to start laying off his laborers.--They, upon finding themselves out of work, had to apply for welfare.

The whistle-maker was still in trouble, he couldn't sell his wares. He applied to the government for subsidy payment, so he could sell his whistles at lower prices.

The governmental agency looked his plant over and decided upon its potential production. "We'll pay for one-third of your production, if you'll shut-down one-third of your machines, and we'll pay you one-third price on all the whistles you do produce," they offered. "Also, we'll feed your ex-workers."

THIS PLAN was working pretty well for the manufacturer, but soon the government found itself going into the red! "Gotta raise more money, let's levy some new taxes."--So--?--They put more taxes on whistles.

Furthermore they raised the income tax of the whistle-workers.--This, of course, caused the workers to demand more pay.--which caused the manufacturer to need more money, which caused taxes to go higher, which caused the legislators to vote themselves a raise so their kids could afford to buy the whistles, which caused,----- also as the owner of a Littlefield insurance agency, Keithley and Company.

The count to which Keithley entered a guilty plea was for willfully attempting to defeat and evade a part of his joint income taxes for 1963. That year the IRS said Keithley reported joint taxable income of $12,036.72 and the amount of tax due was $2,731.02.
However, the IRS said Keithley's joint taxable income during 1963 was $23,651.48 and there was due a tax of $6,667.56.
During the five-year period from 1963 to 1967 Keithley reported a taxable income of $84,954.61 and income tax due was $18,657.31, the IRS said.
Investigators said the actual taxable income during the five-year period was $127,134.97 and the income tax actually due was $32,194.66.
Keithley has been associated with the Littlefield Federal Savings and Loan Association since the late 1940s.
Floyd Coffman, president of the firm, said Wednesday that Keithley was on a "leave of absence."

future tax increases would be necessary for city operations?"

A. No, such a promise was not made or publicized by the City Council or others supporting the sales tax. It was said that "a tax increase or other increases in service fees would not be necessary" to finance the SEWER BONDS voted for construction of a new sewer plant, and other sewer system improvements in 1967.

Q. Why can't the street improvements be financed from the sales tax revenue and other revenue sources?

A. When the sales tax was proposed and adopted in 1967, city officials outlined the necessity of that additional revenue as follows:
(1) To amortize the sewer improvement bonds.
(2) For financing increased costs of operation for the new sewer plant.
(3) To purchase and replace city equipment such as the street sweeper, Dempster Dumpster truck, garbage paker equipment, etc., which had been postponed for several years.
(4) For operation of the Municipal Airport subsequent to improvements made there.
(5) Increased maintenance for Little League ball parks.
(6) Maintenance of the cemetery assumed two years previously at approximately $7,500 per year, and maintenance of the downtown project costing about $5,000 per year.
(7) Street improvements, and lighting of Highways 54, 84, and Hall Avenue; including additional street lighting costs for upgrading the lighting program in residential areas.
(8) Revenue from the sales tax would be used to offset the loss of an estimated $17,000 in revenue resulting from decreases in property values, other revenues, and the removal of parking meters.
(9) Granting much needed pay increases to city employees.

THE GREATEST REWARD for our work is not the financial consideration, but the personal satisfaction from the fact that we have done our best. As necessary as the monetary gain may be to us, it leaves much to be desired without the realization of work well done.

"The labor and sweat of our brows is so far from being a curse, that without it our very bread would not be so great a blessing.--If it were not for labor, men could neither eat so much, nor relish so pleasantly, nor sleep so soundly, nor be so healthful, so useful, so strong, so patient, so noble, nor so untempted." --Jeremy Taylor.

WORK IS A BLESSING, but the maximum blessing is in doing our work with the greatest possible diligence and skill.

All necessary work is important, and "a job worth doing, is worth doing well."

This attitude must be one of the constancies of personal action for a life of quality.

OUR TRUE VALUE is not to be equated with mere station in life which usually rests upon the shifting sands of human confusion and limited insight.

Our true value is in doing our work well, and being grateful for work to do. "It is not the mere station of life that stamps the value on us, but the manner in which we act our part." --Schiller.

DEDICATION AND DEVOTION to the necessary work of life contribute to and underlie the strength, confidence, stability, wealth and general sense of well being which are so important in personal and national life.

Thirty-two Littlefield Distributive Education Club of America (DECA) students are employed at 21 business places here doing everything from dishing up ice cream to polishing diamonds and silverware.

Some of the students are employed in the line they hope to continue in their careers. Robert Armistead, employed by Tommy's Electronics, may make this his vocation. Joey Batson works in his dad's insurance office rating policies and doing related work. "Perhaps you will become an office manager for an insurance company," Mrs. Jocelyne Henry, distributive education coordinator, said.

Roden Drug and Sav-U-Discount each hires four DE students.

THE SALES STAFF at Findley's Jewelry relies on DE students. Marjorie Richardson is a former DE student still employed in the job she held during school. On Findley's right are Cyd McKinnon and Billie Ruth Richey, DE students in this year's DECA program.

Three DECA girls work at the Dairy Queen, and Connell's Office Supply and Dairy Mart employ two students each.

Some employers are former DE students, Bob Bromlow is a former DE student, and has a quartet of DE students under him, Lloyd Champion, who is printing foreman at A&B, is training DECA member Randy Brestrup.

DECA students meet a 55-minute class Monday through Friday and work a minimum of 15 hours each week.

Distributive education is well named, for it serves people employed in distribution--the retail, wholesale, and service occupations. The program is a cooperative part-time high school program which teaches these young people sound knowledge, skills, attitudes and appreciations for the job they are employed in.

Mrs. Henry tries to give students specific instruction directly related to the students' places of business.

DECA is growing locally as well as nationally. Last year there were 29 students in the Littlefield program. This number is up by three this year.

The Littlefield DECA club concentrates on local services, too, helping with the council banquet and time in such projects as the cancer drive.

Mrs. Henry checks students at their placement at intervals of two hours credit in each year in the program's employment, considered an extension of the classroom.

Each employer evaluates work of DE students at the end of each year and this evaluation becomes part of the students' record each reporting period.

Support of DECA will develop future leaders in marketing and distribution, Henry said.

Special Services Begin Today At Presbyterian

At 7 p.m. today, Rev. W. Donald Harris, D. D. will begin a series of special services at the First Presbyterian Church, located on the Level-land highway.

The sermon theme for tonight is "From The Cross--Triumph".

Dr. Harris was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here from 1936 through 1941.

While here he met the former Mary Anne Kimble of Floydada who was a Littlefield school teacher. Don and Mary Anne were married and have two children, Anne and David.

During the coming week Dr. Harris will preach each evening at 7:30 p.m., continuing with sermons on the theme, "From The Cross", dealing with power, peace, love and new life. The final sermon will be Thursday night, March 26.

"Everyone is invited to hear

Rev. Harris, and share Christian worship which he will lead, at 10:30 a.m. at the Clemen Sorley, pastor church.

Since leaving Littlefield Harris has served at Jacksonville, Lamona, and Baytown.

Currently he is an secretary for Spanish ministries with the Presbyterian Church.

Although his "home" is in New York City, Dr. Harris travels extensively in the Caribbean area, to Puerto Rico where he was born, during the time he directed Inter-American university at San German.

"We commend Dr. Harris to the people of Littlefield, vete you not to miss this opportunity to hear an outstanding Christian witness," said Rev. Sorley.

STRENGTHEN YOUR FAITH

Through Regular Church Worship

LIFE AHEAD

Only four years have passed, but what lies ahead? Will this be a life of service to God and country... or will it be bleak, full of dissipation and sin? Parents — the job is yours! Financial security is good, but don't stop there. Much more than a life is at stake — there is a soul to be reconciled, to be guided. Then tend him, nurture him — for "A child left to himself bringeth his mother to shame." Prov. 29:15. Remember, his life will only be a projection of yours. Let us help make it a "Good Life Ahead."

You In The Church
The Church is You — form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

This Page Is Dedicated To The Application Of Christianity In The Solution Of Human Problems — It Is Paid For By People Who Care — People Who Want Victory For God.

If you like sharp cars, read about this one:

Would you believe - a 1963 Cadillac Limousine with all the frills? Well, we've got it and on the Showroom floor, no less.

Here's what you can expect when you see it: a big black Cadillac, that is so long that it will not fit into most garages, however, there's a reason for the length since it will seat 8 people in style.

In case you have a large family (or perhaps just 2 enthusiastic children) you might appreciate the window that separates the front seat from the back compartment. This should be ideal for that long vacation.

Both compartments have temperature controls including air conditioning, as well as radio control for both compartments.

It has the power you would expect to find including - power brakes, steering, windows (all 3), seat, tilt steering wheel and speed control. If you will come and look at it, you might find something else we haven't discovered.

It's clean as can be and costs only a small portion of what it did new. It's yours for only $2895.00.

Note: In case you hadn't already figured it out, we'll trade for just about anything at Mitchell Ford. Come to see us.
