

Story Unveiled Of Sickening Japanese Atrocities

By WILLIAM FRYE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—A pent-up story of atrocities perpetrated by the Japanese army on the captured heroes of Bataan and Corregidor was released by the United States government today in sickening detail.

A joint report by the Army and Navy broke at last the rigid censorship maintained by the high command on the almost unbelievable reports that came out of the Pacific, to tell what happened to the men whose valor slowed and delayed the tide of Japanese conquest.

Compiled from the sworn statements of officers who survived the starvation and torture and escaped, it catalogued the infamy of a brutal enemy, and wrote in shocking terms the code of the Japanese warrior—to subject 36,000 gallant soldiers to deliberate starvation, to shoot in cold blood the thirsty who seek water, to watch sick men writhe and deny them medicine, to horsewhip those who help their fallen comrades, to beat men with two-by-fours, to behead those who try to escape, and to bury tortured men alive.

The three who lived to return and tell of the agony they endured were Commander Melvyn H. McCoy, USN, of Indianapolis, La. Col. S. M. Melnick, coast artillery corps, of Dunmore, Pa., and Ed. Col. William E. Dyess, air corps, of Albany, Tex. Dyess is dead—killed in a fighter plane crash at Burbank, Calif., recently while preparing to return to duty in the Pacific. Melnick is with Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Southwest Pacific. McCoy on duty in the United States.

Their sworn statements included no hearsay whatever, but only facts which the officers related from their own personal experience and observations, said the official report.

The statements have been verified from other sources. x x x "The three officers stated that several times as many American prisoners of war have died, mostly of starvation, forced hard labor, and general brutality, as the Japanese have ever reported. "At one prison camp, Camp O'Donnell, about 2,200 American prisoners died in April and May 1942. In the camp at Cabanauan, about 3,000 Americans had died up to the end of October 1942. Still heavier mortality occurred among the Filipino prisoners of war at Camp O'Donnell."

The calculated campaign of brutality began as soon as the exhausted American and Filipino soldiers on Bataan collapsed under the overwhelming weight of the enemy assault. What was in store for them was to begin with "the march of death"—and Dyess reported that, beaten and hopeless as they were, they never would have surrendered if they had guessed what lay ahead.

Thousands of prisoners were herded together on the Mariveles airfield at daylight April 10, within earshot of the still defiant guns of Corregidor. Some had food, but were not permitted to eat. All were searched, their personal belongings seized. Those with Japanese money or tokens were beheaded.

Then, in groups of 500 to 1,000, they began the terrible six-day march, along the National road off Bataan toward San Fernando in Pampanga province, the "march of death" so hideous that it would make the Black Hole of Calcutta sound like a haven of refuge.

A Japanese soldier took Dyess' canteen, gave the water to a horse, threw the canteen away. In a boiling sun, the prisoners were herded through clouds of dust. Men recently killed lay along the road, their bodies flattened by Japanese trucks. Patients bombed out of a field hospital were pushed into the marching column. At midnight the entire group was penned in an enclosure too narrow to allow any of them to lie down. They had had no water—a Japanese officer finally permitted them to drink at a dirty carabao wallow.

Before daylight the next day the march was resumed. Still no food for any of them—water at noon from a dirty roadside stream. Another bullpen at night. When exhausted men fell out moaning, no one was allowed to help—those who still marched heard shots behind them.

On the third day "we were introduced to a form of torture which came to be known as the sun treatment. We were made to sit in the boiling sun all day without cover. We had very little water; our thirst was intense. Many of us went crazy and several died. x x x Three Filipino and three American soldiers were buried while still alive. x x x

"Along the road in the province of Pampanga there are many wells. Half-crazed with thirst, six Filipino soldiers made a dash for one of the wells. All six were killed. As we passed Lubao we marched by a Filipino soldier gutted and hanging over a barbed-wire fence. x x x

"Before daylight on April 15 we were marched out and 115 of us were packed into a small narrow-gauge box car. The doors were closed and locked. Movement was impossible. Many of the prisoners were suffering from diarrhea and dysentery. The heat and stench were unbearable. x x x At Camp Tarao we were taken out and given the sun treatment for three hours. Then we were marched to Camp O'Donnell. x x x

"I made that march of about 85 miles in six days on one meek kit of rice. Other Americans made 'the march of death' in 12 days, without any food whatever."

The prisoners taken at Corregidor did not experience that march, but 7,000 Americans and 5,000 Filipinos were packed for a week with no food on a concrete pavement 100 yards square. There was one water spigot for the 12,000—the average wait to fill a canteen was 12 hours. They got their first food—a mess kit of rice and a can of sardines—after seven days.

At Camp O'Donnell there were virtually no water facilities. Prisoners stood in line 6 to 10 hours to get a drink. Clothing went unchanged a month and a half. The principal food was rice, varied twice in two months with enough meat to give one-fourth of the men a piece of meat square. A few times there were coconuts, a type of sweet potato, but many were rotten and the prisoners themselves had to post a guard to keep their starving comrades from devouring the rotten vegetables. There was an occasional dab of coconut lard, a little flour, a few mango beans. But there was a black market—those who had money could buy from the Japanese a small can of fish for 35.

There was a hospital—a dilapidated building with no facilities, no medicine. Hundreds lay on the bare floor without cover. The doctors did not even have water to wash the human filth from their patients. After one week, the death rate was 50 Americans a day, 150 Filipinos; after two weeks, 50 and 500 respectively. The sick as well as the merely starving were forced into work gangs, and worked until they dropped dead.

About June 1, the Americans were removed from Camp O'Donnell to Cabanatuan, where Dyess joined Melnick and McCoy, who had come in from Corregidor. Conditions there were a little better. There was adequate drinking water, it was possible to bathe in muddy water; but the diet did not improve. And the brutality continued—men were beaten with shovels and golf clubs, "men were literally worked to death."

Three officers who tried to escape were caught, stripped to their shorts, their hands tied behind them and pulled up by ropes fastened overhead, and kept in this position in the blazing sun for two days; periodically the Japs beat them with a two-by-four; finally one was beheaded and the others shot. By Oct. 26, when Dyess, McCoy and Melnick left Cabanatuan, 3,000 of the American prisoners had died.

The three officers were taken, with 906 other prisoners, to a penal camp at Davao, Mindanao, and put to hard labor. Food was slightly better there, but "the salvation of the American prisoners of war," Dyess reported, was the American and British Red Cross supplies, both clothing and food, that finally began to arrive, months later. The beatings, the murder, the studied mistreatment and humiliation continued. By April 1943, there were 1,100 of the 2,000 prisoners at Davao still able to work.

This was the life from which McCoy, Dyess and Melnick escaped April 4, 1943. The account is based solely on their official reports, but the Army and Navy said at least four others were known to have escaped from the Philippines—Majors Mitchell Dobervitch, Ironton, Minn., Austin C. Shofner, Shelbyville, Tenn., and Jack Hawkins, Roxton, Tex., and "Corp. Red Carlos Chamberlain, El Cajone, Calif., all of the Marine Corps.

Germans Thrown Back From Nettuno

Berlin Again Subject Of Heavy Raid

RAF Heavies Leave City In Raging Flames

By W. W. HERCHER
LONDON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Hundreds of RAF heavy night bombers touched off fields of flame in Berlin again last night in a possible coup de grace to the Nazi nerve center, previously described by Gen. H. H. Arnold as three quarters destroyed. Great American bombers took over the assault on Hitler's Europe shortly after daybreak, thundering out over the general area of the Nazis' much-fouted "Atlantic Wall," and a U. S. headquarters announcement said that "a military target in northern France" had been blasted. The raid, in the same general area where mystery targets have been hit heavily several times in the last six weeks, was the Americans' eighth this month and the second of the week.

The British announcement described the 12th heavy assault of the obliteration campaign as "very strong," a statement borne out in the loss of 24 aircraft in all the night's operations.

Other RAF bombers hit at Helgoland, the Nazis' mighty North Sea island fortress, while still others struck at unnamed targets in western Germany and northern France and laid mines in enemy waters.

For all practical purposes, this latest attack in the campaign launched last Nov. 18 to knock Berlin from the war might be described as a "mopping up operation." It certainly was not considered here as the last assault planned against the German capital but was looked upon rather as one of the decisive finishing strokes.

The air ministry's communique did not announce the tonnage, but it likely approached the 1,500-ton average of all previous heavy attacks. In this case, Berlin has now heaved and trembled to more than 18,000 tons of bombs in a little more than two months.

Early Swedish reports said the raid left great fires burning in the outer districts of Berlin where most of the capital's heavy industry is concentrated. The center of the city, heavily pulverized in previous attacks, apparently escaped further damage.

The Berlin correspondent of the Swedish newspaper Aftonbladet said the first of last night's bombs fell about 8 p. m., with the full force of the attack concentrated into about a half hour. He said the raid was considered "one of the worst" of the 12 blows but was not on the scale of the first attacks.

Berlin, making its usual claims that the raid was a "terror attack," said that "great damage was done, especially in residential quarters."

Increased Purchases Of War Bonds Made

Big Spring and Howard county people were getting their hands on their pocketbooks to give a better complexion to the Fourth War Loan campaign, reports from issuing agencies showed Friday.

Sales of $73,989.75—the largest amount for a single day since the drive opened on Jan. 18—pushed the total figure to date to $393,805.70.

The results of several special efforts were being figured in the new "kick" for the drive. There was still the back lash from the Ritx bond benefit show Tuesday evening. On the heels of this, appeals by J. H. Greene and Ted Groehl enabled Mrs. Melvin Choate and Mrs. A. L. Cooper to sell $5,000 in bonds at the Big Spring Livestock Commission company sale Wednesday.

Thursday evening the State theatre staged its bond show and reported that the amount of bonds sold for admittances to see "Coney Island" stood at $3,043.75, and this probably did not represent a complete tabulation. The management expressed thanks for all who pressed thanks for all who while this was going on, the Lions were absorbing a drubbing at the hands of the high school Steers for the bond cause. Their suffering netted $675 in bonds plus $34 in stamps. This did not include $1,600 purchased by members previously for admittance. These figures were not included in totals from issuing agencies.

The First National bank became the first firm to go on the honor roll of concerns, whose employees bought an extra war bond 100 per cent. Westox Oil, Safeway Store and Empire Southern Service following closely as additions to the roll.

Plans were moving rapidly toward an all-day radio program Tuesday over KBST for the purpose of stimulating sales. While the effort will be directed toward the sale of all issues, particular stress will be placed on purchases by individuals, for Howard county has a specific quota of $453,000 for this class as a part of its larger quota of $1,380,000 by Feb. 15.

Cotton Co-ops Urged To Lay Up Reserves
MEMPHIS, Jan. 28 (AP)— Cotton co-operatives must lay up financial reserves or face postwar disaster.

That's the warning of S. D. Sanders of Kansas City, commissioner for the Central Bank of co-operatives of the Farm Credit administration. Sanders told the Mid-South Cotton growers association here yesterday that "if you have no reserves, you're going under when the going gets tough."

State Senator N. C. Williamson of Lake Providence, La., president of the American co-operative association, urged cotton farmers to be prepared to offer a postwar program.

Nazis Hurlled Back By Reds In New Rush

Leningrad Siege Lines Of Germans Ripped To Pieces

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
MOSCOW, Jan. 28 (AP)—Mauled German forces in northwest Russia were being hurled back today toward a line extending through Narva (in Estonia), Luga and Staraya Russa by charging Red armies which had ripped to pieces their siege lines around Leningrad and captured the strategic railway junction of Volosovo and Tosno.

The Germans were fighting to keep Soviet troops from the streets of Lyuban and Chudovo, their only two remaining towns on the double-tracked Leningrad-Moscow trunk line. All but 30 miles of the railway is in Russian hands.

At the lower end of the northwest front, the Nazis were battling frantically to keep the Russians west of Novgorod and Lake Ilmen from rushing upon the Leningrad-Pskov and Leningrad-Vitebsk railways. Ski-men were but two miles from the Vitebsk line at midnight.

(Along the Baltic the Russians were reported within 39 miles of the Estonian border driving westward in the direction of Yamburg. (The Germans reported heavy fighting near Kerch in the eastern Crimea and around Perekop at the north entrance to the Nazi-held Black Sea peninsula. The Berlin communique claimed German gains in the western Ukraine southwest of Pogrebische and said 234 Russian tanks had been destroyed yesterday.)

The capture of Volosovo, 47 miles southwest of Leningrad, gave the Red army an excellent base for a two-way operation west to Narva or southward down a spur line connecting with the Leningrad-Pskov railway.

Red Star, the army newspaper, said the Germans were concentrating remnants of their defeated divisions in the Virtsia sector, indicating that a large force of Germans—probably up to 100,000—had been isolated northwest of Lake Ilmen.

Front reports said that the Nazis drove their soldiers into a hopeless battle along their segment of the Leningrad-Moscow railway, and that a great number were being killed or captured. Those surviving face almost certain encirclement or death in the wild, swampy lake country to the west.

Partisans Sever Important Railway
LONDON, Jan. 28 (AP)— Yugoslav partisans, striking simultaneously, have severed the important Belgrade-Zagreb railway in six different sectors. Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) reported today, while dispatches from Cairo revealed that Yugoslav spearheads were fighting within sight of Belgrade itself.

Tito's communique, broadcast by the free Yugoslav radio and recorded by the Associated Press, said sharp fighting was continuing around Tuzla and Zvornik in eastern Bosnia and Cairo reported that German relief forces had been dispatched to that area from Danube river bases to the north. According to these reports, partisan bands hold commanding positions along the Drina and Bosna river valleys through which the enemy troops are marching.

Commons Told Many Prisoners Have Died

LONDON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the house of commons today that thousands of British troops had died as prisoners of the Japanese after being compelled to live "under tropical jungle conditions without adequate shelter, clothing, food and medical attention."

Eden's statement came in the wake of a U. S. Army disclosure in Washington that the Japanese had tortured, starved and wantonly murdered many of the 36,000 American and Filipino soldiers captured at Bataan and Corregidor.

The foreign secretary charged that Japanese authorities had dictated postcards and letters received from prisoners giving the impression they were in good health and well-treated.

"The information which has just reached the government no longer leaves any room for doubt that the true state of affairs is a different one so far as the great majority of prisoners in Japanese hands are concerned," Eden said.

Then solemnly he voiced this warning: Let the Japanese government reflect that in time to come the record of their military authorities in this war will not be forgotten."

Pointing out that the Japanese government had refused permission for neutral inspection of their prison camps, Eden said, for some time past information has been reaching his majesty's government regarding the conditions under which prisoners are detained and work in some of these areas, and as it was of so grave a character as likely to cause distress to relatives, his majesty's government felt bound to satisfy themselves that it was authentic before making it public."

Referring to the many thousands of British prisoners held in Thailand alone, he said: Our information is that their health is rapidly deteriorating, that a high percentage of them are seriously ill, and that there have been several thousand deaths. The number of such deaths reported by the Japanese to us is just over 400."

Money Can't Pay For This

Webster defines beri beri as a disease common in the Orient, caused by deficiency of vitamins in the diet and commonly resulting from exclusive use of polished rice. In all the dictionaries in the world there is not a space enough to describe the pain connected with this disease which is common in Japanese prison camps.

American prisoners, packed sardine fashion in hell holes the Nips call prison camps, would be able to define the term . . . but it's possible they'll never get the chance.

No one knows just how RM 1/C Troy Wayne Forsch, 23, felt when he first discovered he had beri beri. Likely his body swelled . . . day by day his heart weakened, and eventually he lost all strength. Troy was captured at the fall of Bataan and was interned at Mukden, Manchukuo.

Little did he know when he joined the Navy in 1935 that he would die in November 1943, a futile death in dirty quarters, rank with the stench of filth and sickness.

Was it a futile death? Will all our red blooded young Americans who have given their lives have died in vain? That, Howard Countians, is up to you and the job which is expected of you!

Planes Back Nazis In Furious Parry At New Beachhead

By WES GALLAGHER
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS, Jan. 28 (AP)—The German 10th army, backed by planes, struck with fury at the allies' Nettuno beachhead but was repulsed by British forces in a battle near Carroceto, on the Via Anziata 10 miles north of Anzio and 21 miles south of Rome. Allied headquarters announced today.

At the same time the Germans suffered their greatest air defeat of the Italian campaign, losing at least 50 planes in 24 hours in sky battles over the beachhead and over southern France where Flying Fortresses and Liberators struck at three airfields near Marseille and Montpellier and crippled the bases from which Germans raid Allied shipping off the Italian coast.

Heavy German armored trains, backed up almost to Rome, shelled Allied troops in the fan-shaped beachhead area and correspondent's reports said 60-ton Tiger tanks were assembling along the fringes of the beachhead as the enemy re-mustered resources for a fiery contest for the Italian capital.

But today's communique from advanced headquarters said Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth army had enlarged its bridgehead and taken many German prisoners.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead, in a delayed dispatch, said the British and Americans had established a wedge so strong that Rome now was menaced, and that optimism was running high among the troops.

The Fifth army has extended its grip up the coast to a point 12 miles north of Anzio, another report said, and Americans edged forward two miles in another sector yesterday.

Gen. Sir Harold Alexander's Italian headquarters reported the beachhead was at least five miles deep at all points now, generally six miles deep, and much deeper at some points.

While Allied tank destroyers and columns of infantry flowed inland in a steady stream, special German troops had been raced by truck into the flat, almost treeless country and posted in farmhouses with machineguns in a desperate effort to bar the path to their vital communications.

Elements of two German divisions, the Hermann Goering armored division and the 29th armored grenadiers now had been identified in assaults on the bridgehead.

Heavy losses were exacted yesterday by the British who met the 29th and took more than 100 prisoners.

The desperate sky tangles in which burning German planes fell at the outskirts of Rome also showed that the Germans were making a desperate bid to seal off the Allied threat to the Eternal city.

Meanwhile, captured German prisoners said Adolph Hitler had given orders to the Tenth army to hold fast at all costs to the Gustav line on the old front to the south.

Spain Is Faced With Showdown As Oil Is Stopped

By FLORA LEWIS
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Spain faces today the necessity of redefining her position toward Germany and the Allies as a result of American suspension of her main oil supplies.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco's government was forced to confront the possibility of a profound crisis in Spain's entire economy.

The United States, it was learned on highest authority, has stopped scheduled February oil shipments to Spain from the Caribbean area, virtually Spain's only source of supply.

Secretary of State Hull is expected to announce the move today.

The limited amount of oil Spain has been getting from the Caribbean in her own ships is so tightly calculated that expert observers said the loss or delay of even one tanker's cargo would have extremely serious results.

Seven to nine tankers were said to be involved in the orders prohibiting planned shipments next month.

The action was understood to be part of a general reexamination of American policy toward the key neutral.

For some time the United States and Britain have made representations to Spain on the following requests:

1. Release of a number of Italian vessels from interment in Spanish ports.
2. Thoroughgoing restrictions on activities of Nazi spies and saboteurs, especially on Spanish territory near Gibraltar.
3. Reduction of Spanish exports of vital war materials to Germany.

The American action came at an especially delicate time for Spain, already deeply impressed by Argentina's severance of relations with the Axis.

Under the leadership of a Women's Missionary Society from the First Baptist church, a move to furnish utility kits to Russians has been launched at the First Baptist church.

There are 50 of these kits on hand and more can be secured if there is a demand. Church leaders pointed out that the effort is by no means restricted to the membership, but any person who wishes to have a part in the gift may do so either by leaving money with the committee or the church office, or by purchasing items to go in the kits.

On the committee are Mrs. Della Agnell, chairman, Mrs. Lina Wellen, and Mrs. Grady Burnett.

Among the things to go in the kits are these (sizes stated specifically so the kit will be packed lightly): Two pound box sugar; 2-1-2 oz. dehydrated soup mix; 4-2 oz. can evaporated (not condensed) milk; 2 packages bullion cubes; 1-2 pound hard candy (not peanut or milk chocolate); sewing kit;

1 pair of socks; one bar white soap (not naphtha or other scented soaps); 1 crochet-needle (size seven); 1 pair knitting needles (size 3 and 10 to 12 inches); 1 pair knitting needles (size 3 and seven inches); 2-1-2 yard roll 1-inch surgical adhesive tape; one six yard roll two-inch gauze bandage.

If the kit is not tight, cotton gloves, socks or towels may be placed to make it compact. Women will pack the kits at the church Tuesday at 9:30 a. m.

Braves Deliberate About Successor To Casey Stengel

By BILL KING
BOSTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Freed from possible embarrassment by the unsolicited resignation of the droll Charles Dillon (Casey) Stengel as their manager, the serious-minded directors of the recently reorganized Boston Braves baseball club today were deliberating about his successor.

"Whenever a new group purchases control of a corporation, they have the right to dictate the policy," Stengel, now enroute east from his Glendale, Calif., home, wrote President Bob Quinn yesterday, adding, "and in order that there be no embarrassment, I hereby tender my resignation."

It was accepted immediately by Quinn and the three directors who recently acquired enough additional shares to control the club, Joe Maney, Guido Rugo and Louis Perini, all wealthy Boston contractors.

Stengel, who gained a sizeable fortune in oil and real estate, has kept his baseball associates chuckling for more than 20 years. Many of his pranks and witticisms have become legends, such as, while managing the Worcester Eastern league club in 1925, first selling himself to the higher Toledo American association club as a player and then resigning as an executive.

A player for the Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, New York and Boston National league clubs, Stengel also managed the Toledo club before succeeding Max Carey as Brooklyn pilot in 1934. The inimitable Casey was ousted from the latter berth a year before his contract expired and one of the most hilarious of his many amusing baseball reminiscences centers about him being paid more for not managing the Dodgers in 1937 than Burtleigh Grimes, his successor, received for doing it.

'Growlers' Are Nosed Out 50-17 In Benefit Play

By BURGESS DIXON
Herald Staff Member

Midst a bedlam of roars resounding from the rafters mingled with creaking of former athletes aged joints an indomitable aggregation of Lions club stalwarts were nosed out 50-17 by the Big Spring Steers in a war bond promotion cage race in the high school gymnasium Thursday evening.

Some difficulty is found in listing the Lions starting lineup as the entire club appeared to be in the game at the same time but as nearly as possible to keep the records the following list of "growlers" were seen on the hardwood: 'Gallop' George Tillinghast, who rang two field goals and 1 free throw to total five points; 'Oshkosh' Otis Grafa; 'Jumpin' Jack Smith who pierced the basket twice for a total of four points; 'Turbid' J. D. Stemberidge who topped his team in scoring with three field goals totaling 6 points; Maestro Dan Conley who tossed one field goal for a tally of two points; 'Dancin' Alex Selkirk; 'Bruiser' Boone Horns; D. J. 'Vulcanizer' Sheppard and 'Horrible' Hack Wright.

The Steer team for the first time this season had a picnic of scoring with Lusk ringing up 4 points; Cochran, 7; Mize, 12; Warren, 8; Wright, 2; Huggens, 7; Simmons, 4; and Barron, 6.

There were four personal fouls against the Steers and two against the Lions.

Proceeds from the game were favorable with war stamp admissions totaling $33.25 bond admissions coming to $650 and added to this is $1000 worth of bonds sold to Lions at their meeting Friday which totals $2,283.25 sold for and at the game.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—Dr. Phog Allen, Kansas U. basketball coach and chief advocate of higher baskets, isn't a guy you can quote briefly, but his ideas about the court game always get attention. . . . His latest communication runs some seven closely typewritten pages about such things as 12-foot goals, a six-foot margin for under-the-basket operations, three-point field goals and smaller basketballs. . . . But the high point is that Phog really has experimented with buckets placed too high for "mesanine hurlers"—those 6-8 to seven foot boys—to dunk the ball in. . . . "We have had two 12-foot baskets in our gymnasium for 15 years," Allen says. "We use them for the purpose of teaching our boys correct arching of the ball."

Regretful rookie—The finest tribute that could be offered Mark Roth, former Yankees road secretary who died yesterday, was that in some 20 years on that exacting job he never lost a trunk or a newspaperman. . . . Just by way of emphasis, Harold Parrott, who recently took a similar job with the Dodgers, received his baptism of fire yesterday when he helped shepherd a swarm of scribes to Brooklyn's Bear Mountain training camp. . . . All went well until the return when Parrott was about to "drive boss Branch Rickey from the ferry to Brooklyn. . . . As they strolled toward the parking lot, Harold fumbled in his pockets and, moaned "My keys." . . . He had left them in the car and securely locked the doors.

They always did kick—Another yarn from the Dodger expedition, this one by Capt. Paul Amen, Army's baseball coach. . . . Last spring when the Dodgers used the West Point field house, Manager Leo Durocher also helped coach the cadets. . . . His teachings weren't very evident, but in mid-season Amen saw one of his boys sliding into second "with his spikes dangerously high. . . . When the cadet returned to the bench he received a dressing down from the coach. . . . "But sir," the boy protested, "Mr. Durocher told us that when the play was close, even if our own mother was playing second, if she was holding the ball loosely we should do everything we could to kick it out."

Frankie Sinatra Is Part Owner Of Boxer

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 28 (AP)—Frankie Sinatra is negotiating a match for the heavyweight of whom he has just acquired a part and says:

"I think it's just possible that I own a piece of the next world's heavyweight champion."

The swag-crooner referred to Tami Mauriello of the Bronx, in whom Sinatra has just invested $10,000. He wouldn't say just how much of Mauriello's 190-pound person went to him in the deal but implied that it was a considerable chunk.

The singer had a luncheon conference yesterday with Cautious Cal Working, sole proprietor of Turkey Thompson, the bull-shouldered negro who also is among the nation's first-class heavyweights. Sinatra is hopeful that an outdoor meeting between the two boys can be arranged here next spring or early summer.

"Tami will take him sure," Sinatra said.

With the U. S. Lawn Tennis association waiving all rules to permit the amateurs to compete with the pros, the following stars will appear: Pauline Betz, Katharine Winthrop, Alice Marble, Mary Hardwick, Mrs. Dorothy Round Linn, Lt. (jg) Don McNeill and Lt. (jg) Ted Schroeder.

Willie Cude, former National Hockey League goalie, is now scouting for the Montreal Canadiens.

Rice-Texas Invade TCU And SMU For Conference Tilts

FORT WORTH, Jan. 28 (AP)—Rice and Texas invade North Texas in top Southwest conference basketball games of the week-end with four being played within 30 miles of each other.

The Texas Christian Horned Frogs meet Rice here tonight while Texas is at Dallas battling Southern Methodist.

Tomorrow night things will be reversed as Texas moves to Fort Worth to play T. C. U. while Rice goes over to Dallas to clash with S. M. U.

Baylor and Texas A. and M. are idle but Arkansas will be in Oklahoma playing non-conference tilts with Oklahoma A. and M. and the Phillips Oilers.

Titleholders Will Mix It In 10-Round Bout

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—They say you can't have your cake and eat it but Sammy Angott and Beau Jack know better.

The respective lightweight champions of the NBA and New York state athletic commission swap punches tonight in a 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden and when they get through they'll have over 60 percent of an estimated $70,000 gate and their titles. Man has yet to devise a sweeter solution.

With both boys coming in over the 135-pound limit, the fans will "enjoy" the unique sensation of watching two titleholders of the same division collide without a crown being dented. The faithful don't seem to mind and 16,000 are expected.

Jack, the Augusta, Ga., shoe-shine boy, is a slim 5 to 6 choice in a brawl that has the boys in the back room on the anxious seat. The Beau looked anything but a champ as he fanned the breeze in easing out a close-cut decision over Lulu Costantino in his last outing. But he's a good puncher and a tireless worker even if he isn't a picture style of boxer.

Angott, who hails from Washington, Pa., by way of Louisville, Ky., has not been a garden crowd pleaser with his clout and clutch formula but has been a consistent winner. It's possible that the NBA king might be Mr. Big in all the precincts if he hadn't "retired" suddenly in 1942. The mystery of what made Sammy run still hasn't been cleared up to the satisfaction of the paying customers.

Railbirds at Stillman's gym report both in excellent condition.

Work Starts On Highway Project

The right-of-way has been cleared, much equipment has been moved to the site and actual work has started on the Big Spring-Garden City highway paving project.

Seven miles of road, beginning at the junction of highway 87 with the road westward to Elbow, five miles south of town, are to be hard-surfaced.

The project is to be completed in approximately five months. Brown & Sons are the contractors.

CHENEY, Wash., Jan. 28 (AP)—Every man at Eastern Washington college is a basketball player and still Coach Bob Brumblay has to go out on the sidewalk and shanghai casual passersby to furnish practice opposition for his war-shrunk eight-man varsity.

But this little teachers' college, which sent a team into the national intercollegiate at Kansas City last year, has chalked up 18 victories against six losses, meeting such topnotch outfits as Gonzaga, Idaho and Washington State.

The girls help out as team managers, waterboys and scorekeepers.

St. Louis Browns Sign Two Hurlers

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 28 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns have announced the signing of two pitchers, Newnam Shirley of Denison, Tex., and Raymond Campbell, a southpaw, to 1944 contracts. Both were free agents.

Shirley was with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1941 and Springfield, Mass., of the Eastern league in 1943. He is classified 4-F in the draft.

It Is Our Job -- Not Theirs

The chamber of commerce of our city is in the midst of a sort of senseless campaign for membership.

Although manpower and support of more and more people is highly desirable for the organization, perhaps the greatest urgency of the situation is in the need for additional finances for 1944. The chamber has set its objective for a $16,000 budget.

This, of course, represents a substantial gain, but to us it is a modest one considering the big task the institution has mapped for itself during this and next year. It is ultra-conservative alongside the $22,000 which many leaders feel the chamber should raise this year, and the $30,000 some suggested in sliding up the job that lies ahead.

We can imagine but few people who shouldn't be asked to join the chamber this year for it is, as its slogan suggests, the "community at work." The dollar a month for individual memberships is a small enough price for one to pay toward support of the organization which is constantly looking toward the development of the community and in turn the betterment of all the residents within and surrounding the community. The investment is especially true when it is considered that this year the chamber is launching an ambitious survey as the basis of sensible, orderly and forward planning. Popularly, this is called post-war planning—looking out for means of quick operation of projects which would furnish jobs to bridge the gulf for returning soldiers and defense workers.

But the thing we like most about the program of the chamber is that in committing itself to this planning, it was made clear that it would not be limited in scope to mere post-war efforts, but rather pitched on a long-range basis.

Dollars invested in the chamber of commerce in the next year or so probably will bear fruit for several years to come. The chamber will not materialize so many things on its own, but will be the means of forming matters to the point that our other agencies and institutions can lay hold and realize.

If you are not yet a member, submit your application, whether businessman or individual. It is our job, not "theirs."

Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—In the midst of a lot more sensational home-front and war-front problems, it's difficult to explain just how vital the situation in Central and South America is being considered here.

Our "Good Neighbor policy," built up through years of effort and expenditures running into the near-billions, is threatened with collapse. The Bolivian revolution was the first defection but it may not be the last.

As a matter of fact, a high British official, who asked that his name not be used, explained it this way in a private conversation the other day:

"The Bolivian revolution is just the beginning and in a way it's no more than a preview of what's brewing in the United States and other Allied nations."

"In South America, peace has come. Let me make myself clear. A year or more ago, they considered themselves threatened by the Nazis on the east and the Japs on the west. Those nations south of the Rio Grande that were financially and physically able made preparations to resist invasion. They were alarmed and solidarity with neighboring nations and unity within seemed their best protection."

"In the last year, and particularly since we have mopped up North Africa, Sicily and southern Italy on one hand; and eastern New Guinea, the Solomons and the Gilbert Islands on the other, the war has receded from these shores. In Latin America, peace is already just around the corner and the minority groups or those out of power see no further necessity for delaying action."

"To some extent, this same thing is manifest in your own nation. Every major victory in the war brings forth new defections among minority groups. And I'm sad to say the same thing may occur in England just as soon as we have made successful advances toward establishing a western front in Europe."

"To some extent, this view throws a new light on the Latin American situation, but a nonetheless alarming one so far as western hemisphere solidarity is concerned.

In our own nation, winning the war still is uppermost in most minds, but once the certainty of that victory is just over the next little hill, how are we going to feel politically about our leaders and sacrificial participations in world reconstruction?

The answer to that question will clarify to some extent what has happened and may spread in Latin America. Washington observers who admit our failure to keep Argentina and Bolivia closely welded, are now worried about Chile, Peru and Paraguay.

If the British official is right and the Bolivian revolution is merely a prelude to what may happen when peace comes, it's time for drastic action now. The State Department already has indicated that it feels that way about it, but the Allied Nations can't really move without a solid front composed of those Western hemisphere nations who will be united in the idea of world peace forever.

FLIGHT FROM LOVE

by JOHN C. FLEMING and LOIS EBY

Chapter 6

Marek glanced at his watch as he and Julie came out of the studio cafe.

"I told Burnette we'd meet him at sound stage Number 2 for the tests at one-thirty," Marek said.

"Tests?" Julie frowned.

"I'm sorry, I thought I'd told you," Marek said apologetically. "Nothing to it really. Just some simple screen tests for photographic possibilities. You won't have to read any lines. Just like getting your picture taken."

Marek stopped and swung open a thick sound-proof door. Julie caught her breath as they stepped inside and she saw the stage set of a luxurious drawing room, the battery of lights, three cameras set for different angle shots and a crew of technical men busy with last minute details. Max Burnette detached himself from the knot of executives that had been talking and came forward to meet them.

"Everything's ready, Miss Brampton, you go with Miss Lindsey here," he said nodding toward a tall, young woman in a tailored suit. "She'll take you to the hair dresser and then to the make-up department."

When Julie came out of the makeup Marek stood up as he saw her coming across the set. She had changed to a long, flowing white dinner gown. Her hair was piled high on her head in a mass of crisp, jet curls. The dress molded perfectly to her softly curved figure.

"You look stunning," Marek said happily.

"And feel like an idiot," Julie smiled.

"Max, take over," Marek shouted.

He turned and went across the set taking a chair beside the camera man. Things started happening fast and for a moment Julie forgot herself in the excitement and confusion around her. A battery of cameras swung into position, powerful lights bathed the stage in whiteness. Burnette turned to Julie.

"We're not using sound so you won't have to worry about lines. See that box of flowers on the table? You walk into the room, take the flowers out of the box and arrange them in that vase, then turn and face me. Give us a little smile on the face-out like you were arranging the flowers for someone who is coming home—someone you care about."

More lights came on. She heard Max's deep voice about "Camera!" Her knees went rubbery as she started across the spacious set but she held her head high, tried to walk casually. She could feel her face burning, partly from excitement and partly from the heat of the powerful lights.

It seemed miles to the table where the flowers were but she made it. She got them out of the box and arranged them in the vase. Turning toward Max she forced a smile. She could feel herself weeping. Then she heard Marek's voice close by her side.

"That was fine!" he said. "Let's get one more take just to be sure."

Later, Julie wondered how she ever got through the routine a second time. Once back in the dressing room she found her hands trembling as she changed back to her street dress.

Marek was waiting outside when she came out.

"Tired?" he smiled at her. "You've had quite a day. I promise I'll be easier on you after this."

"A little," Julie admitted. "I guess the trip and all—"

"You'll feel better after you've had something to eat. I'm taking you to the Brown Derby for dinner and then straight home so you can go to bed."

It was still early for the dinner crowd at the Derby and the room was quiet and restful. Julie didn't have much appetite but she managed a salad and some toast.

"You'll get used to this work in a little while," Marek said. "It gets to be routine. No more tiring than any other sort of a job."

"Things have happened so fast," Julie said, "my mind hasn't caught up with my action."

Marek paid the check and took her back to the hotel. Just before he turned to get back into his car he said, "Better sleep most of tomorrow. I'll call you late in the afternoon."

Bright sunshine was streaming through the draperies when Julie slowly opened her eyes the next day. It was nearly one in the afternoon. Slow realization broke through to her that there was really nothing she had to get up for. Marek had said that he would call late in the afternoon. She stretched for a few luxurious moments. The long night's sleep

HOLLYWOOD—Alex Gottlieb, the producer, said that "Janie" was a fine script, and Mike Curtis, the director, said that "Janie" was one of the finest screenplays he'd ever had, yet sir. So I gathered the name of the picture was "Janie," and the house belonged to Janie's folks, Edward Arnold and Ann Harding, who had dug up their front lawn and planted vegetables for victory.

"And what a garden!" said Mike Curtis. "Those cabbages — $5 a head. That lettuce — $5 a head. Carrots — $2.50 each."

A knock came on her door. She got up and opened it. A bellboy grinned at her and handed her a special delivery letter. She signed for it and took it back to her nest of pillows. It was in the flourishing, delicate handwriting of her mother. The wroning of

Where there are moppets there must be a teacher-welfare worker, and Miss Lois Horne, while Clare Foley sild, was standing by with watch in hand, taking notes on the minutes and seconds the child rehearsed and worked. Miss Horne was celebrating — if you could call it that — her 13th anniversary on the Warner lot.

"Thirteen years ago today," she said, "My, My! I'd forgotten until someone reminded me."

Miss Horne obligingly reminisced a little about the hordes of moppets who have come under her rule, from Mary Kornman of the old "Our Gang" comedies to her present charge, Clare Foley.

But what she reminisced about, mostly, was smells — the kind that never reach the screen. Miss Horne doesn't like smells. There was the Noah's Ark scene for "Green Pastures," when the wet camels — "did you ever smell a wet camel?" — and the wet suits of the gorilla-impersonators were unbearable. "I had a schoolroom on the set," she said, "but I moved the children. I said 'This may be school but it's not welfare—you'll find us at the schoolhouse.'"

Among her other unfavorable smells: artificial movie smoke, quick-drying paint and — sh-h-h! — the aroma of one particular child actor.

"The Dead End Kids were all perfect gentlemen, but this nice little boy — he ate garlic every day!"

"The Fallen Sparrow" Shows At Ritz Preview

"The Fallen Sparrow," showing at the Ritz theatre Saturday midnight only, an action-packed and suspenseful big mystery movie based on the best-seller of the same name by Dorothy B. Hughes, brings Maureen O'Hara and John Garfield together for the first time in co-starring roles. Their parts are peculiarly suited to their outstanding talents.

Garfield has played some of the screen's greatest "hard guy" roles, but he was never tougher nor more realistic than as the young American adventurer who returns from civil war, prison, and torture in Spain to match wits with Axis agents in his own New York City and in the midst of his circle of well-to-do friends. His love-making to three beautiful women particularly strikes a new note.

Not even as a villain has he or any other screen smoothie succeeded in putting over such hard-boiled, ruthless romancing, a quality which makes his love affairs in the picture with Miss O'Hara, Martha O'Driscoll and Patricia Morison strikingly different.

This is better understood when it is explained that he suspects all three women of being agents of his deadly foe. The latter have despaired of torturing him until he would reveal a secret, the fascists want, and which they are now trying to obtain by subtler means. He is out to avenge not only his own wrongs, but the murder of a friend at enemy agents' hands.

Japs Charged With Brutal Murder Of 50,000 Marines

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP) — Palmer Hoyt, former director of OWI's domestic branch, charged today in an article released by the American magazine that the Japanese brutally murdered most of the 50,000 prisoners taken at Bataan.

Declaring that the American people had not known this fact for two years, Hoyt said the Japanese marched their American prisoners "through deadly heat without water, although they had thousands of available vehicles. And they crushed thousands of men who did not die from exhaustion and thirst by running trucks through their columns."

The article, written before the army and navy disclosure last night of atrocities on Bataan and to be published in next week's edition, declared that "the full-blooded story of this war, the most important and personal story in the history of our nation, is not being properly presented to the people."

Isolate Yellow Nips Advocated By Sen.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP) — Senator Hatch (D-NM) told the senate today that if Japan does not instantly abandon the barbarous course it has taken in dealing with prisoners of war the civilized nations must isolate the Japanese within the bounds of their small islands forever.

Speaking on behalf of New Mexico national guardsmen who were included among the thousands of Americans tortured, starved and murdered by the Japanese in the Philippines, Hatch asserted that a War-Navy department statement on Japanese atrocities to prisoners proved Japan had forfeited "any right to any association with the civilized nations of the world."

In New York he faces unseen peril, for his foes are hiding among the horde of refugees that have been taken to the bosom of his acquaintances there. They all seem sinister at first, but gradually his detective work and turning of the feminine agents to help, willingly or unwittingly, in his own cause reveals the real agents and begins to make their plot against him clear.

KILLED BY DYNAMITE

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 28 (AP) — Two soldiers were killed yesterday in the explosion of dynamite they were unloading from a truck in a Geiger Field demolition area. The victims were Technician Third Class Rudolph Musjin, Rice Landing, Pa., and Technician Fifth Class Nick Sahagian, Long Beach, Calif.

EXCEEDS BOND QUOTA

HOUSTON, Jan. 28 (AP) — Angeline was the first county in the 39-county East-South Texas region to exceed its Fourth War Loan quota, the regional war finance committee reported today.

The county's quota was $1,168,000 and this was exceeded in a one-day, county-wide drive this week.
