

WELFARE

Mrs. Doris Frey, director of the Lamb County Welfare Department, grew up during the Depression and the hard 30's when man worked for what he had and tried to live within his income.

Mrs. Frey was hoeing cotton when she started working as an assistant in the county welfare department in 1958, and as one who "grew up poor and worked all her life" she has little patience with those who won't work and offer excuses.

"Some people say I don't have any compassion," Mrs. Frey said, "I've got compassion deep down, but I don't have any patience with some of the things that go on here." As far as Mrs. Frey is concerned, there are still shoes to shine, dishes to wash, leaves to rake, cars to wash, floors and windows to scrub, "and the constant cry that people can't get help to do these things."

As soon as Mrs. Frey took over the management of the County Welfare office in 1963, she immediately set about to reduce the number of the roll. "If I have helped a man to be self supporting, I feel that I have helped him more than by giving him something for nothing," Mrs. Frey declared. "I believe that firmly."

A petite dynamo, with salt and pepper hair, flashing brown eyes and conviction in her voice, Mrs. Frey is firm in her reasoning that people must work for their betterment. "Lincoln's name is immortal not because he lived in a log cabin," she said, "but because he worked his way out! God helps those who help themselves."

Daily, Mrs. Frey goes about helping others help themselves, although able-bodied welfare enrollees who receive her help might more rightly term it in half since that time, with about 500 being served per month for the past several months.

"We've always had poverty and always will," she said, "but welfare has become a way of life for some people. And until the middle class people fuss, we're doomed. Before welfare can be reconciled, people must learn that it is a supplement after man has put forth his best efforts. Welfare should be emergency help rather than for a life time or for generations to come."

Persons who have been on welfare for long periods are the real headaches in Mrs. Frey's business.

If a man says he has been laid off from his job, the wel-stitute for personal responsibility and the will to help one's self."

Mrs. Frey often finds that those on welfare don't know the difference between necessary items and luxury items, that too many consider colored television sets, air conditioners, cigarettes and hairpieces more essential than decent housing or groceries.

It really irks Mrs. Frey for a welfare recipient, especially a woman who is receiving aid for a household of illegitimate children, to come in about noon, yawning and obviously just out of bed, decked out in a wig, and sit across from her desk and puff on a cigarette.

Mrs. Frey believes measures should be taken to stop aid for women who have one illegitimate child after another. But if these are drawing state welfare, the county welfare department must give them commodities. "I have to abide by the rules," Mrs. Frey said, "whether I agree with them or not."

"These gals can keep having children, and even have a substitute father living in the house, and still draw welfare. But that's higher-up rules, not ours," Mrs. Frey emphasized. Several now getting commodities have four, five or six children and have never been married. And if they have been married, these are common law marriages.

Mrs. Frey said she asked one woman with a house full of kids why she didn't get herself sterilized. "I'm afraid it might affect my feelings for my man," she told Mrs. Frey.

MRS. DORIS FREY believes too much welfare belittles human dignity and pride. As director of the county welfare program, Mrs. Frey is trying to make as many people as possible help themselves. "Oh, I'm hard on them," she admits, "but if I can help a man to be self supporting, I've helped him more than by giving him something for nothing."

The county commodity program is the chief complaint at the welfare department although it isn't as expensive as the medical part of the program.

By reviewing cases every three months, refusing aid to those who are able but won't work, and by making house calls, welfare in Lamb County has been cut to the point that the majority of the current cases deal with old age assistance.

But while Mrs. Frey is doing everything in her might to cut down, rules governing her job are becoming more lax and, in effect, encouraging welfare dependency. A recent mandate received here said a sign must be posted where recipients pick up their commodities stating that any discrimination as to

No longer does she accept "blanket" welfare cases, or those straight across the board and referrals, preferring instead to do her own leg work when it comes to saying who is eligible for welfare and who isn't. She reviews her own cases on referral, even though it means two or three times more work.

If a man comes in and says he is out of work, he is referred to the employment commission and assistance is refused if he turns down work he is able to do at the prevailing wage.

If he says he is disabled, Mrs. Frey requires a doctor's statement as to the length of disability, cause, and recourse. "There isn't a happy way to administer welfare," Mrs. Frey said. "Neither can any welfare program serve as a sub-

ONE-CAR TURNOVER

A 12-year-old girl was killed and her grandmother injured in a one-car turnover at 10:11 Saturday morning, at the curve of West Delano and Highway 84 By-pass.

Hope Gonzalas was dead on arrival at Littlefield Hospital and her grandmother, Anita Rivas, was treated and released.

Woman Faces Murder Count

A 44-year-old Olton woman has been charged with the Friday night murder of her husband, and is in the Lamb County jail with bond set at $10,000.

Mrs. Clara O'Neil is charged with the murder with malice aforethought shooting death of her husband, Arthur James O'Neil, 31.

According to Sheriff E. D. McNeese, O'Neil was fatally wounded with a pistol at the O'Neil house in the Olton Negro section about 11 p.m. Friday night.

Mrs. O'Neil was taken to the Olton jail about 11:30 and brought to the county jail about 3 a.m. Saturday morning.

The dead man's body was taken to Parsons Funeral Home in Olton.

for a broken rib shortly after the accident.

Driver of the car was Guadalupe R. Gonzalas, 31-year-old mother of the dead girl. She apparently lost control of the vehicle when it failed to negotiate the curve, and the 1956 Ford rolled onto its right side.

Hope was partially pinned underneath the car and her grandmother was pinned between the right door and the front seat, according to investigating officers Wayne Cooper and Chief F. A. Fitzgerald.

Four other passengers in the car apparently were not injured. They were Della Elguea, 34; Janie Elguea, 14; David Elguea, 11; and Ubaldo Elguea, 12.

At presstime Saturday, city police had investigated six other wrecks since Thursday morning.

Thursday morning, a 1968 Chevrolet station wagon, driven by Belinda B. Jordan of Littlefield, was traveling north on Phelps Avenue when a 1968 Dodge, driven by Travis William Bundick of Hart, backed out into the traffic lane to travel north on Phelps, and struck the station wagon in both right doors.

That afternoon, a 1968 Dodge Pickup, driven by Mildred I. Cavitt of Purcell, Okla., was traveling east on West Third and attempted to cross the intersection while the traffic light was changing from red to green.

A 1956 Ford pickup, driven by Norman Connie Chisholm of Littlefield attempted to make a left turn onto West Third while the light was changing from yellow to red and the two collided in the intersection.

About a half hour later, Katherine K. Priboth of Littlefield, attempted to back her 1966 Plymouth from a drive into East Sixth Street and struck a 1965 Comet, owned by Albert B. Miraval of Littlefield, which was parked on East Sixth.

Three accidents were investigated Friday afternoon and evening.

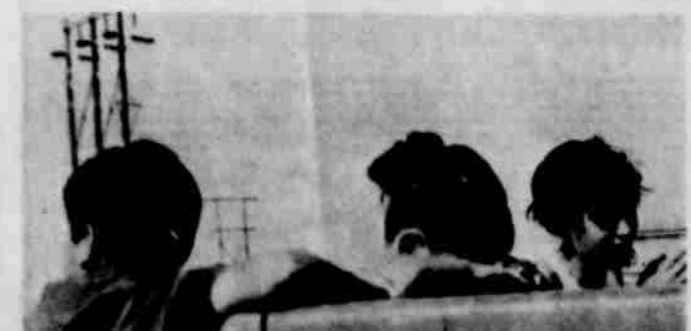

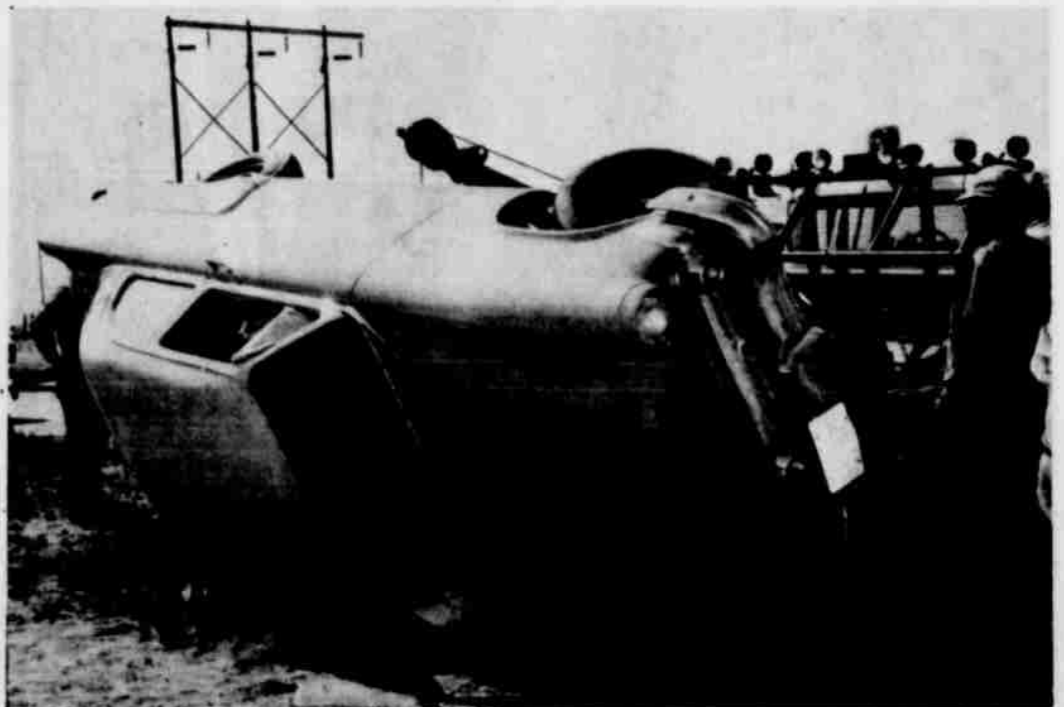

At 5 p.m., a 1967 Mercury, being driven by Mary Salazar Gonzales of Anton, was parked behind a 1965 Buick at Lamb County Frozen Food Locker.

Vira Stewart of Littlefield backed the Buick into the right door of the Mercury.

At 7:55 p.m., a 1962 Ford, driven by Peggy Jean Coffey of Littlefield was stopped for a stop sign on South Phelps at East 10th, when a 1947 Plymouth, driven by Dewey Joe Fields of Littlefield, ran into the rear of the Ford.

That night, at 11:10, a 1967 Ford, driven by Willie Lee Young of Littlefield, had backed out into the traffic lane on Phelps Avenue and was beginning to move southward on Phelps, when a 1963 Ford, driven by Angel A. Rodriguez of Littlefield, collided with the rear of the Young automobile.

HOPE GONZALAS of Iraan, 12, was killed Saturday morning in this 1956 model Ford which rolled at the curve of West Delano near the Highway 84 By-pass. She was pinned underneath. Three other passengers in the car, David Elguea, Ubaldo Elguea and Janie Elguea, stood near a pickup and prayed while volunteers freed Miss Gonzalas and her grandmother, Anita Rivas, and placed them in an ambulance.

Watershed Work Set To Begin

Congressman Bob Price has been advised by the Department of Agriculture that the budget limitations have been removed to permit preliminary work to proceed on 25 watershed projects in 16 states, including Running Water Draw and Lower Running Water Draw in this district.

Secretary of Agriculture, Clifford Hardin, said that local people in the 25 watersheds immediately affected can now move ahead with confidence to meet those commitments which the law requires they carry out, including obtaining land rights and local financing.

Storm Clouds Continue

Friday, for the sixth straight day, the Littlefield area was hit by a storm watch.

Precipitation was light over most of the area and parts of county were pelted with hail. The ground was white in the Lums Chapel area from melted hail.

The Whitharral area was hit again with a tornado at 1 p.m. Rain in this area ranged from .4 to .50, but 1.5 inches were dumped on the Hodges Community south of Whitharral.

Littlefield received only a .2 inch, but rain was heavier in town. V. M. Peter reported 1.3 inches fell on the farm.

To the north and east of Littlefield, in the Hart Camp area, rainfalls were reported up to 1.50 and 1.75. Rain was much lighter in the Spade-Fieldton area, however, with most gauges recording .3 and .4 of an inch.

Dryland farmers in the Pep Bula and Beck Gin areas got little moisture. Leonard Albus at Pep recorded only .2. J. D. Smith reported .4 west and east of Beck. Rain was heavier northeast of Beck and small hail fell there.

At Sudan, measurements were from no moisture to traces and up to .50.

Anton showed .4 in town, but as much as an inch fell north of Anton just inside the Lamb County line.

At presstime Saturday, showers and thunderstorms were predicted for Saturday and Sunday evenings.

The black, boiling dust storm that rolled across the area Wednesday evening added one more woe to area farmers' long list of planting problems.

With little recent moisture, most farmers in the Littlefield trade area were already experiencing drying out of planted crops. In many cases, cotton crops up to stand were so tender that the young plants could not withstand the hot, dry dust and static electricity in the sandstorm Wednesday.

Spotted showers Monday and Tuesday contributed to wind erosion of soil as the storm kicked loose dust in its sweep across the Plains.

Farmers who will not be able to get cotton planted by the June 1 deadline specified for government compliance in this year's farm program must make application for "prevented planting" at the ASCS office. This is the same application that must be filed when cotton crops are destroyed after June 1.

Cotton crop certification can be anytime after the crops are up, and the Littlefield office sent off the first certification Thursday.

Swim Training Starts Wednesday

New Cosmetic Face Lift Originated in Europe Gives Face Younger Smoothness

Tell yourself it's true, because you'll see it happen to you, and nothing could bring you more happiness when it does. This new cosmetic face-lift will give you the look you have desired desperately, the look so thoroughly unrevealing, your cleverest rival could not guess how old or young you really are. Yours will be the look that fascinates college seniors and retired widowers alike. The experience and charm that makes a woman so intriguing will be in your face, but not the harsh lines that unjustly announce the year in which you were born.

The principle of the cosmetic face lift is rational and simple. It offers the advantages of result—certainty without risk—no suffering, no heavy expense, no sagging later on. Your lift can be as permanent as you want it to be. As a self-given application, with fair frequency whenever you feel so disposed, and your new look will remain with you indefinitely. Women of all ages, abroad and here, are enjoying the fruits of their cosmetic face lifts regularly.

How To Get It For Yourself

Your lift is in a bottle containing a non-oily, pleasantly scented emulsion named 2nd Debut. At night, before retiring, and after your make-up has been removed and your facial skin is free from traces of cleansing cream, you smooth a small amount of 2nd Debut over your face and neck. Spread it gently with a circular motion of your fingertips, until it vanishes. Now is when your lift begins. There is no cutting—no stretching the skin—no peeling—nothing more than just a simple and delightful few minutes each night before retiring. Instead of "lifting" your face in the usual sense, you will accomplish a similar effect by actually lifting the harsh age signs from the surface of your face.

After age 25, in the female, the cells of the skin usually begin to shrink in size due to reduced ability to obtain water and retain it. Skin then dries and "falls in." These areas are the lines that are so worrisome because lines can become wrinkles that give the "over 40" look a grasp on appearance that is difficult to break.

It is by making water moisture available to these areas in the right way that surface lines are first softened and then smoothed. This discovery by a European scientist is so important that scientific journals in many countries herald it as a major contribution to knowledge of skin care in this century.

The process is simple and natural. It is based upon resupplying to the skin the natural ingredient, or "aid", through which the surface cells obtain water-moisture. This ingredient is designated CEF, which means Cellular Expansion Factor. This "aid" to water-moisture usage, when spread over the skin's surface, actually carries with it molecules of pure water in a form the skin can use.

It is then facial lines on the surface start to smooth out to become less and less visible on the surface. CEF is available in the U.S.A. in the form of a non-greasy, lightly scented emulsion labeled 2nd Debut. You can get it in two potencies; 2nd Debut with double potency CEF 1200 for any age in a hurry, like important engagements within the next week. This is the pink 2nd Debut.

This CEF 1200 is also the favorite of women over 35 with really serious age signs. The ivory colored CEF 600 2nd Debut is the original 2nd Debut and for the woman under thirty five. Either will keep any woman looking younger than her years.

New Cleanser is Complete Beauty Treatment

Allowed to remain on the face overnight then flushed away with water, 2nd Debut Skin Cleanser is a liquid that does wonders. Actually, you will see you have never seen your skin so fresh or clean-looking as after this new way of cleansing. Definitely improves surface face texture.

Non-alcoholic Skin Freshener Co-operates With CEF

Created to give you the freshening finishing benefits of an active freshener but without alcohol to aid rather than restrict the action of 2nd Debut super-moisturizer, CEF. It's a real "lift" for your complexion's spirits, and is delicately scented.

Money Back Guarantee on all 2nd Debut preparations.

ing-Sullivan Vows Exchanged May 22

A formal candlelight ceremony May 22 in the Crescent Park Church of Christ in Littlefield, Miss Carol Anne became the bride of Roger Sullivan of Iowa Park. They were pledged before an altar decorated with matching bouquets of shaded pink gladioli, carnation wrists, and tied with pale pink satin ribbon. Pale pink in a tall brass candlestick decorated with greenery during the ceremony. Rev. Wear, minister of the church, officiated.

Blood Bath

WE ARE TOLD that we cannot withdraw our troops from Vietnam immediately because the South Vietnamese would suffer a "blood bath" at the hands of the ruthless Reds.

LAST NOV. 3 he said for us to bring all our troops home now "would inevitably allow the Communists to repeat the massacres which followed their take-over in the north 15 years before."

There is no evidence to substantiate that allegation, but even a good corporation attorney can be forgiven for an occasional memory fault or for repeating an historical hodgepodge which he thought to be true.

SUBSEQUENT TO THAT Nov. 3 statement, however, he was reminded by correspondent Tom Wicker and a Cornell professor and several magazine articles and numerous books on the subject that there is no record of any blood bath in North Vietnam in 1954.

On the contrary, the International Control Commission disclosed only 19 complaints of political reprisals and only one involving murder following the armistice in North Vietnam.

IN SOUTH VIETNAM, there were 214 complaints lodged in the same period against the government of Ngo Dinh Diem. Subsequently, the Diem government itself reported 48,200 Communists arrested from 1954 to 1960.

So if there was a blood bath, it was in South Vietnam, not North Vietnam.

YET PRESIDENT NIXON, announcing his invasion of Cambodia on April 30, repeated the same old discredited allegation.

He said, "The easy political path would be to desert 18 million South Vietnamese people... and expose them to the slaughter and savagery which the leaders of North Vietnam inflicted on hundreds of thousands of North Vietnamese who chose freedom when the Communists took over North Vietnam in 1954."

THEN, WITH YET ANOTHER week in which to refresh his recollection, in his news conference May 8 the President said it again: "If we withdraw from Vietnam and allow the enemy to come into Vietnam and massacre civilians there by the millions as they would..."

Here is what history records: A peasant revolt was harshly repressed in North Vietnam in 1955 and 1956. George McT. Kahin, director of the Southeast Asia Program at Cornell, says 10,000 to 15,000 may have died. (Not the hundreds of thousands the President mentioned or the millions he predicted.)

FURTHER, this repression resulted from an insurrection in opposition to land reform policies and did not result from the year's earlier take-over by Ho Chi Minh.

Anticommunism has motivated much of Mr. Nixon's public life. He matured politically in those desperate days when agents of a disciplined international conspiracy were our major menace.

TODAY OUR PARAMOUNT problems are dissolving dollars and eroding environment and rampant crime and chronic race strife, all of which are worsened by a dreadfully debilitating four-way blood bath in the wrong place for the wrong reasons.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Understanding Us

By BOB WEAR

UNDERSTANDING is urgently needed. We must be diligent in our efforts to understand ourselves, and understand each other.

We can understand, and the obvious reasons for doing so are urgent. We must keep trying.

WE MUST DO BETTER than we are doing.

So far as we know, there is no simple formula for establishing and maintaining a completely satisfactory social rapport, but we must try.

We must dedicate ourselves to the task of seeking better understanding. We cannot afford failure. Success will not come easy, but it is possible. We must not give up.

IF WE FIRST LEARN to understand ourselves, we will do better in understanding others.

If we will be honest in our self-evaluation, we can know why we feel the way we do; why we talk the way we talk; why we act the way we act; and why we react the way we do.

With this understanding, we can, if we desire to do so, become involved in the rewarding labor of improving ourselves. In fact, we can continually make progress in self-understanding.

WE CAN LEARN to understand others in much the same way that we understand ourselves.

We can usually know why others feel the way they do; why they talk the way they talk; why they act the way they act; and why they react the way they do.

To the extent we can know these things about others, and reinforce this knowledge with kindness and wholesome tolerance, everybody involved is better off.

TO UNDERSTAND can become one of the predominant aims in our total life experience.

Understanding will be found in truth, but it must be sympathetic understanding to be of the greatest practical value.

This is applicable in both the wholesome self-concept, and in meaningful human associations. There is certainly no admissible place for severity and harshness.

A FRIENDLY AND HARMONIOUS relationship is the basic purpose for desiring and seeking understanding.

To whatever extent we can attain and maintain this quality of insight, all of us will be generously rewarded.

DO NOT JUMP to conclusions. We often form attitudes toward others on the basis of incomplete or inaccurate information.

This just about makes understanding impossible so far as pleasant human associations are concerned.

In fact, there is no reason to be so quick to make these decisions. In this connection, we are usually being wise if we give others the full benefit of the doubt.

ONE DAY MR. SMITH met a fellow employee on the street, and the man ignored his greeting.

He decided the action was deliberate, but learned later that the other man's son was seriously ill and not expected to live.

IF WE COULD ALWAYS KNOW the true situation of others, we would surely see their behavior in a different light.

We cannot always know, but we can be wise enough to give them the benefit of the doubt.

SINCERE AND HONEST efforts to understand, as a continuing and sustained approach to the human scene, will produce some of the most helpful and rewarding blessings to us and our fellowmen.

A WOMAN'S VIEW

Eternity Where?

By PEARL BRANDON

ONCE AN OLD MAN was asked the question, "Where are you going to spend eternity?"

After pondering awhile, the old man answered, "I don't know, wherever the Lord wants to put me, I guess."

WHEREVER the Lord wants to put me, I wonder how many of us are going to be satisfied with that?

"Lord, I want a lovely suite in your mansion with a bath and all the other things that go with it, such as a thick carpet, beautiful lamps and paintings on the wall. I'd like a view, too, Lord, of the ocean, perhaps, or a mountain lake.

Oh yes, I want a comfortable bed... I sure want a good bed. I'd like to have color television, also and and a radio for nights when I can't sleep."

"WHAT HAVE I done to earn it? I don't know, Lord, do I have to earn it?"

Of course the old man has probably never had any of these things and wouldn't care for them. They say you don't miss things you've never had.

BUT WITH MOST of us it's different. We are used to these things. We are kind of expecting a mansion all our own over there.

I DON'T SUPPOSE the old man would be comfortable in a fine place surrounded by all those luxuries with nothing to do.

He would rather be in a quiet little spot working for the Lord like he did here on earth.

HONNY BRATS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

SPRING IS OFFICIALLY here, now that school is out.--Mothers, all over town, are wondering if they can adapt themselves to the chore of doing their own babysitting.

The teachers, no doubt, are heaving a great sigh of relief, looking forward to the ensuing three months of vacation.--Then, (I surmise) will, shortly begin to plan for next school term, with that same sense of anticipation and growing excitement, as the school term draws near, once more.

IT TAKES A SPECIAL kind of person to be a school teacher--some unknown quality which few of us would understand, and, surely, don't have.

To the most of us, a person that could make more money (and has the education to do so) doing something else, must be nuts to occupy their time riding herd over a bunch of unruly, and obnoxious brats!

IT MIGHT INTEREST a few of you to know that from my front door, I look out over the playground on which I played when I was a student.

The building where I first attended school in Littlefield, has been torn down. (No I didn't do it, the building was pretty aged when I first saw it!)

ALL FIVE of my younguns have gone to school in the same plant, and have played on that same ground.--What is now known as

"Elementary II" was my high school. A few of my teachers are still around. However I'll not embarrass them by naming them. Perhaps I should, because of my high regard for them, but when you take into account my age--more'n half a century--it'd make THEM sound ancient!

ANYHOW, I, now, realize that the teacher must get their largest satisfaction out of the knowledge that they're building PEOPLE, not just money-making machines, and that these students their own influence will live on, and on!--(Probably another reason I shouldn't mention the names of my teachers)

THE ART OF TEACHING a kid how to live, in addition to how to make a living, is some kind of special gift.

AND, to care enough for mankind to make one want to sacrifice for his betterment, must be a special addition!

So, let's doff our hats to our teachers and thank them for the efforts they put forth to help us with our kids!

color, religion or creed should be reported to authorities. Until recently, persons must prove a six-month residency, and now that has been lifted.

A person with four dependents who makes no more than $230 per month can demand and get commodities. The same is true for up to 10 persons, adding $20 per person to the $230 up to 10 dependents. A welfare dependent with nine others in the family can have an income of $330 and still pick up a car load of food every month.

"It's ridiculous the amount of food persons get," Mrs. Frey said. "I don't see how anyone could use that much in one month."

Since Mrs. Frey began her work in 1958, government commodity items have increased from five to 24.

- An order for a family of 12, and there are several families of that size, pick up: 24 pound of dried beans, 12 pounds of breakfast cereal, 12 pounds of instant potatoes, 6 quarts of fruit juice, 6 cans of peaches, 29 oz. 4 cans pork, 29 oz. 24 pounds cheese, 6 pounds split peas, 12 pounds raisins, 4 cans turkey, 29 oz. 12 pounds shortening, 12 one pound cans vegetables, 24 pounds rice, 24 condensed milk, 14 1/2 oz. 60 pound flour, 12 pound corn grits, 8 cans scrambled egg mix, 6 cartons dry milk, 4 1/2 oz. each

- 30 pound corn meal, 12 cans chopped meat, 30 oz. each, 4 cans beef, 20 oz. each, 12 bottles corn syrup, 1 lb. 3 cans peanut butter, 6 lbs. 12 pounds creamery butter

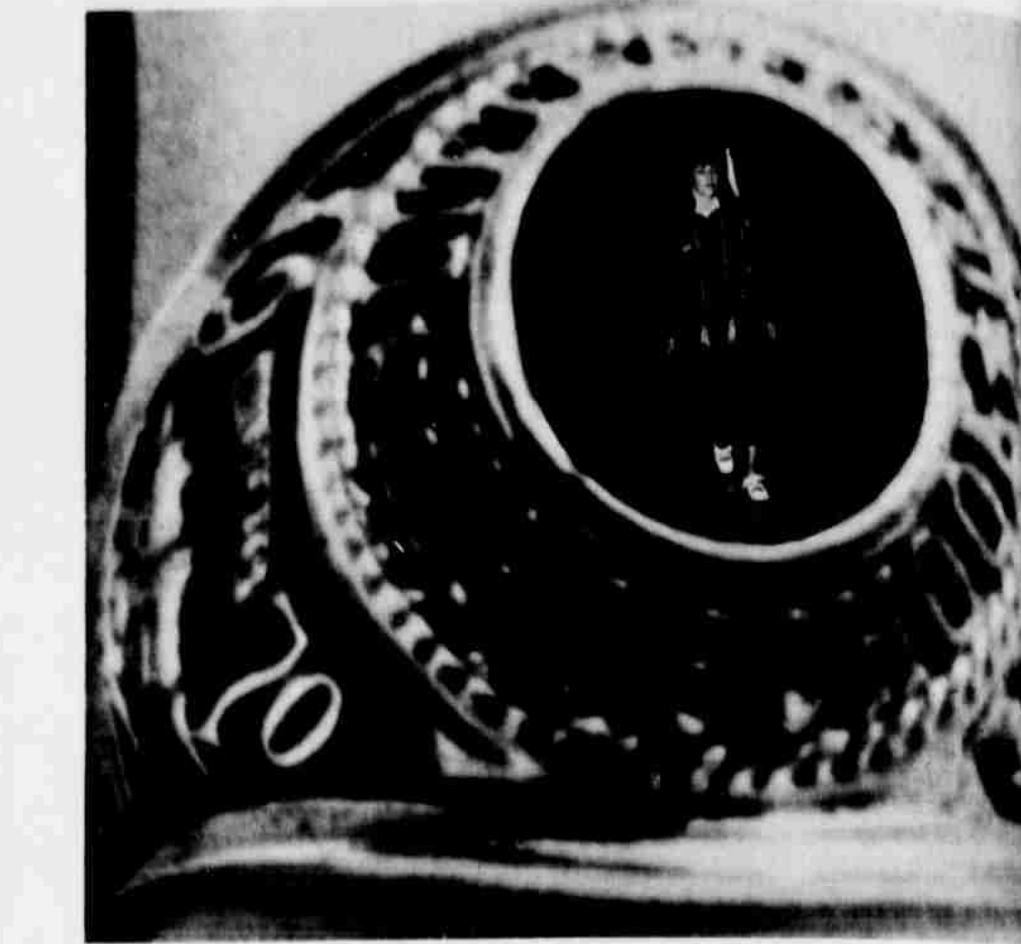

These foods are freshly packaged, too - as fresh as can be bought off the grocery shelves. Stamps date the items and show that all the peanut butter, dry milk, shortening, chopped meat and beans were processed in January of this year. Corn, potatoes, wheat and apple juice were put up not earlier than October, 1969.

Even here "customers" complain. Recently one woman demanded another can of peanut butter because the one she was about to receive had been bent. Some gripe about the scrambled eggs, etc.

In past years, in addition to all the commodities issued, grocery orders were given. But Mrs. Frey flatly refuses grocery orders, knowing the more than abundant amount of food supplied through the government commodities. Office records reveal $1,322 spent on grocery orders in one month in 1958, all in addition to the commodities and medical expenses.

Mrs. Frey also refuses to pay rent, utility bills and won't give gas money to transients traveling through the country on welfare money. "If you or I decided to go somewhere, we'd have the money to get to where we were going, or friends and relatives lined up along the way. But there are actually people who travel across the U. S. getting gas money, eats and aid from welfare centers as they pass through."

"One day a man and woman came in here and the woman plopped her baby down on my desk top and said she wanted

Anton Burglar Nets Big haul

Approximately $3,000 merchandise was taken in robbery of the Coffman Store in Anton late Thursday night or early Friday morning.

Entry was gained through front door by prying open facing and forcing the lock. H. M. Hoffman, owner operator of the grocery store also has a stamp redemption center in connection with business. Included among taken were a new colored television set, a big stereo combination, and numerous small electrical appliances such as toasters, electric irons and irons.

Investigation is being handled through the Hockley County sheriff's office.

G&C Auto Supply at Anton was broken into, apparently same night. Items taken included $27.50 cash, a check to Beth Dalton, and pocket knives.

Both investigations are being handled through the Hockley County sheriff's office.

SANTE FE STOCK

The board of directors Santa Fe Industries, Inc., today declared a dividend of 4) of twenty-five cents per share on its preferred stock payable Aug. 1. Stockholders of record at close of business June 26.

NORMAN FREY stacks items on the counter that represents only half of a grocery order for a family of 12. The other half is on page one with the beginning of the story. County Welfare Director Mrs. Doris Frey was told to cut welfare expenditures when she assumed management in July of 1963. The county department was set up to serve 1,200 then and the April report of that year shows 959 persons were served with expenditures running $5,000. This April, 484 were served and expenses are averaging $1,000 to $2,000 per month.

money for gas, that they were on their way to California. My husband walked in about then and remarked that she wouldn't find welfare money so easy to get here. She picked up a baby bottle and drew it back, intending to hit him."

When it was clear the couple had no intention of doing any work in return for any favor, they were escorted to the city limits by a sheriff's deputy.

Later, when another man came by the welfare office at noon wanting gas money, Mrs. Frey arranged for him to do some farm work and even provided transportation to get him to the farm at 1 p.m. He never showed up for the after lunch appointment.

Some who have been on welfare for many years try to force welfare help. One such case involves a man (with numerous school-aged children) who had rather live off the fat of the land than work. "If you don't give me my commodities, I'll take my kids out of school," he threatens.

"I don't cater to any of them," Mrs. Frey said. "Even if I lose my job over it. Welfare doesn't help nine out of 10 persons. No welfare program can serve as a substitute for personal responsibility."

Mrs. Frey runs the office with the aid of two part-time helpers where there were formerly five persons working. Mrs. Reta Cook helps with the clerical work two days a week, and Mrs. Frey's husband, Norman, receives $60 a month for reading the orders at the commodity storage barn where groceries are handed out four Tuesdays every month. Frey worked three years without any pay until Mrs. Frey asked for a small salary for him. "He is 72-years-old," she said, "and he lifts and stacks and does jobs that plenty of bucks on welfare wouldn't do."

Mrs. Frey's economizing of the tax payers' dollars isn't only out of her personal feeling about welfare, but on orders from the county commissioners and the county judge.

"They told me to cut back," she said, "and I'm cutting. It makes some people mad. I don't give a rift. If I lose my job I guess I can go to hoeing cotton."

To be sure, welfare isn't bad, and there are needy persons getting commodities and medical aid who really need it. Many elderly persons who have only a small social security check must depend on aid. There are those with dependent children who couldn't get properly without assistance.

"Every person who enters our doors needs help," Mrs. Frey said, "and it is our job tend to their needs, even if it is just lending a sympathetic ear or referring them to another agency."

Then with steady grit and energy to whip her weight wildcats, Mrs. Frey helps people become self supporting. She remains dedicated to the principle that God helps those who help themselves.

WORSHIP in CHURCH and get a spiritual lift for the whole week

LEST WE forget

God has a destiny for America, and only eyes of Faith can read that destiny. Were it not so, all those who have, and will pay with their lives the last full measure, will have died in vain.

We need only to look at our cemeteries to have our manhood shocked and our Americanism awakened. Our allegiance would be strengthened by that look. We can never recompense for the supreme sacrifice and heartache the spilling of each drop of blood caused. But every American should bow his head in shame when he dares not to salute our Grand Old Flag.

Please let us, this day, rededicate ourselves and say a benediction for all those who have and will lay themselves, in our behalf, between our wonderful country and all her foes.

Lest We Forget.

The Church In You

— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

Sponsors of these messages urge faithful church support. Through these pages the appeal is for all men to stand up and be counted . . . to combat communism on all fronts . . . to be faithful to God.

3-Car Wreck Investigated

A city-owned truck, a station wagon and a car collided at the intersection of Highway 84 and 385 Thursday afternoon resulting in property damages of $1,100.

Mrs. Jean Oliver Banner of 200 E. 17th Street was driving a '67 Chevrolet station wagon east on 84 when she attempted to make a left turn into 385.

A 1970 Ford truck owned by the city and driven by Bert Wasson, and also traveling east on 84, hit the rear of the station wagon.

A third vehicle was involved when the Banner wagon knocked into the side of a Chevrolet which was traveling west and meeting Mrs. Banner and Wasson. Juan Vill of 202 E. 8th Street was driving the westbound car.

Highway Patrolman Bill Parsons investigated a $500 damage to the station wagon, and $300 to the truck and car.

There were no personal injuries, but the Banner child, Brad, 12, and Blain, 1, taken to a hospital for examination.

Levelland Man In One-Car Wreck

An 18-year-old Levelland man, Richard Marshall Botkin, apparently went to sleep while driving early Saturday morning and struck a culvert west of town.

The accident happened about 4 a.m. on U. S. 84 seven miles west of Littlefield. Botkin was traveling east when he ran off the median and hit the end of the culvert.

Highway Patrolman Weldon Parson investigated and set damages of $400 to Botkin's '65 Ford.

B&C-Marcum Tops Amherst Nine, 16-5

Thursday's Babe Ruth action was between B&C Marcum and Amherst, with B&C Marcum coming out on top, 16-5.

The big innings for the winners were the first with three runs, the second with six, and the sixth with three more tallies.

Amherst crossed the plate four times in the bottom of the third, and once in the seventh.

One of the factors in the high scoring by B&C Marcum came in the second inning when Amherst left the field thinking there had been three outs and actually there were only two, thus allowing two more runs in from second and third bases.

Leading hitters for B&C Marcum were Johnny Villafranco, with a pair of singles and a double; Leon Hodge, who had a single and a double; Noto Trejo, with a double and a single, and Terry Bryson, a double.

Tucker was the only hitter for Amherst with a single.

Leon Hodge was the winning pitcher, R. Miller was the losing hurler.

SUDAN 8, AMHERST 4

The Sudan Babe Ruth team grabbed an 8-4 win over Amherst there Friday, May 22.

It was 0-0 until the fourth inning when Amherst made two runs.

Sudan remained scoreless until the top of the sixth, then ran in three scores and added five runs in the seventh to continue their winning tradition.

Donnie Noles was on the mound for the winners, Randy Miller pitched for Amherst.

Richard Tamplin led the hits for Sudan with a home run, a double and a single. Mark Hanna scored a homer and a double, and Donnie Noles hit a double and a single. Carroll Legg, Charlie Jefferson and Mitch Chester got singles.

Kisinger and Miller hit two singles each, and Humphreys hit one for Amherst.

Head-Hunters Were At Work

Randy Scott was the victim of a double-header at the Monday afternoon practice session of the Sudan Angels team when he received two injuries in one inning.

Randy was taking second base for practice when he ran into a swinging bat, causing numerous lip and gum abrasions.

While continuing to second base, someone knocked him a hot skinner. Wham, the ball hit Randy's tongue (which was sticking out licking the blood off his first wound).

Not to be known as a sissy, Randy set the rest of the practice session out and it was only when his mother, Mrs. R. E. Scott, arrived on the scene that it was decided the victim of the "double-header" might need to be taken to a doctor.

Needless to say, Randy isn't doing too much talking.

Drownings Claim 78 This Year

Boating accidents and wandering children have accounted for many of the 78 drownings in Texas since Jan. 1, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

"People keep making the same old mistakes and paying for them with their lives," said George Cook, director of Water Safety Services for the Department.

"They ignore wind warnings on the lakes and on the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department servers, or they don't listen."

They pay no attention to specifications for their and the result is tragedy, according to Cook.

Apartment swimming, private pools and irrigation ditches have claimed the lives of several small children recently. "Wherever there is a body of water parents should keep a tight rein on their children," said Cook. "Children are naturally attracted to water and all too often they get in."

Cook cited two recent instances in which small children toddled off from their parents during picnics and drowned in nearby waters.

FARMERS PAY MORE
From 1957 to early 1970, the index of prices farmers pay for commodities, interest, taxes and wage rates increased 31 percent. Taxes were up to 129 percent, hired wage rates 81 percent, motor vehicles 35 percent, fertilizer 7 percent, and feed 6 percent to name a few. Thus, the cost-price squeeze continues to keep their earnings below those in other industries.

Five Miles Of Flags Introduce 'Texas'

Five miles of flags will line the route of Canyon this weekend whenever the "Texas" drama is playing. The drama will lead travelers to the box office which is located on the drive from the city to the theatre in the near-by Duro Canyon State Park. The great lights reveal the "Texas" musical drama plays nightly except Sundays June 26 through Aug. 1.

Members of the cast work eight hours a day before the opening for almost a month. They not only must learn the show but must condition themselves since they work in such the calls of the early western days. Each night the bugle rivets the attention of the audience on the lone rider who bears his flag to the top of the high cliff. Each night the thunder and lightning of a great storm crackle through the audience. And each night the actors tell of the land and its grip on them until people go away and say "So that's the way it was!"

The directors of the production, William and Margaret Moore of West Texas State University have announced that rehearsals will begin on May 31 this year.

Another is the "Cross And Sword" in St. Augustine, Fla. which is entering its sixth season.

The "Stephen Foster Story" in Bardstown, Ky. is opening for the 11th time.

The "Common Glory" in Williamsburg, Va. is telling the story of Jamestown for the 23rd summer, and the original "Lost Colony" is entering its 30th season. It is wise to make reservations in advance, especially on weekends. Write to "Texas", Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015 or telephone 806-655-2182.

LESS GOES FOR FOOD
It is true that expenditures for food per person in the U.S. have increased from $306 in 1947-49 to $511 per person in 1969 but disposable incomes have increased even faster--from $1,244 per person in 1947-49 to $3,098 in 1969. The percent of income spent for food by the average American thus has dropped from 24.6 percent in 1947-49 to only 16.5 percent in 1969. Thus, food is still one of our best bargains.

"VISITORS' CENTER" is the focal point of the 269-acre Lyndon B. Johnson State Park. A wing of the center was fashioned from a hundred-year-old log cabin discovered on the site when construction was begun.

Texas Hill Country Home Of LBJ Ranch

The Lyndon B. Johnson State Park is carved in the Texas Hill Country that spanned the 36th President of the United States.

Situated beside the Pedernales River where it winds between the LBJ Ranch and U.S. Highway 290, the 269-acre park reflects not only the former president but his people and the land that moulded them.

Johnson, who with Mrs. Johnson has assisted in planning the park since its inception, often has expressed his kinship with the land and the people of his birthplace.

While in the White House, Johnson said a president must find a way to determine what is right.

"The answer was waiting for me in the land where I was born," he said.

Hill Country land is rugged and demanding. It does not surrender easily to men.

An historian observed that the Hill Country "asserts itself," requiring a man's best efforts before yielding its fruits.

It is a land of gently rolling grasslands and limestone hills shaded by broadleaf trees and crossed by small streams.

The park, much of it in the final stages of construction, does not intrude on the land. It blends naturally with the hills and the oaks and sycamores.

Visitors may drive 60 miles west from Austin on Highway 290, cutting through Texas ranch country to the park.

Turning into the entrance, they follow the park road as it curves beside an expansive display of wildlife.

Whitetail deer dart across the grassy slopes behind a high fence. Gaunt Longhorn cattle stand motionless like impassive monuments to the days when cattle drives originated in the Hill Country. Shaggy buffalo graze where more than 100 years ago Comanches hunted the buffalo.

The park road cuts between the oaks and pecan trees where blue jays, mockingbirds and flaming red cardinals play among the branches.

It leads first to the visitors center, a stone and split log shingle-roofed building that links the Hill Country past with its present.

The two rooms of the east wing are formed by a 90-year-old log cabin that is blended with the newly constructed west wing.

Discovery of the old cabin came by accident.

When workmen began to tear down the old Behrens homestead to make way for the park, they discovered the dilapidated house had been built over the ancient log house.

They preserved the cabin and integrated it into the center. Its two rooms separated by a "dog run" or breezeway are furnished now just as they might have been when settlers lived there.

Park planners from the staffs of National Park Service and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department made careful historical research to trace the early years of Hill Country development and of Johnson and his forebearers.

Exhibits inside the center, the center itself and other aspects of the park portray that history.

"A president's country," begins the legend printed beside an historical exhibit at the center.

"This stern land produced a president. Here are the elements that formed his heritage and helped shape his full and active background."

That heritage began with the Indians who left the scorched remains of their trash heaps on the park site as evidence of their wanderings.

"Conquistadores" arrived in the 1500s to find the rough land had shaped those Indian inhabitants just as it would the Spanish and those who came after them, including the tall, energetic son of the Hill Country who became president.

Cabeza de Vaca observed a special quality in the peoples his soldiers encountered in these hills.

"I believe these people can see and hear better and have keener senses than any other in the world," he declared.

The Visitor Center speaks, too, of the influence of the German settlers; the early colony of Mormons; the first Texans who arrived from Tennessee and Georgia and Alabama; the federal troops and later the Confederate soldier who garrisoned at Fort Martin Scott near Fredericksburg; the cowboys, among them Johnson's grandfather and great-uncle.

One third of the center is designated as the "Presidential Area."

It contains a school desk from the Albert School, a leather book satchel and a book in which young Johnson scrawled on the flyleaf, "Lyndon Baines Johnson."

The east wall is decorated with photographs of the heads of state and other guests who visited the LBJ Ranch while Johnson was president and earlier.

Displayed as well are mementos of the White House years and life at the ranch.

There is a teakwood model of Noah's Ark inscribed "To President Lyndon B. Johnson by Levi Eshkol, Prime Minister of Israel, Jerusalem, June 1964."

Johnson's boots and Statson and his cattlebranding iron are displayed.

An audio-video area uses eight rear projection screens to flash more than 1,000 color slides of the park and the Hill Country for viewing by visitors seated comfortably on benches.

The Johnsons are frequent visitors to the park where they often take ranch guests.

A path behind the center leads over a rise along what will be

Ounce Of Prevention Will Save Trouble

The best method of dealing with snakebite is to avoid it, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

When spring and summer comes in, snakes come out, and an ounce of prevention may save the outdoorsman from serious trouble.

Campers, hikers, fishermen, birders, outdoor photographers, flower enthusiasts and summer rabbit hunters invade snake territory when they go afield, and a watchful eye and a pair of boots are good protection from snakebite.

Region 1 Director Henry Burkett said a snakebite kit may be the lowest priced form of protection an outdoorsman can have, and if a trip afield is at night, a good flashlight may help avoid the hungry rattler out searching for food.

First aid is an important part of helping the victim, but not much that a physician will have to undo damage before he can begin medical treatment.

While the fatality incidence for snakebite is extremely low, a bite may have serious side effects if not properly treated.

Thorough familiarity with first aid is as important as the snakebite kit itself and may save a victim needless medical treatment.

Texas has some 16 varieties of poisonous snakes, and a bite victim should always attempt to identify the snake so the physician will be able to properly treat the wound.

The two rooms of the east wing are formed by a 90-year-old log cabin that is blended developed this year into a nature trail.

The path twists for a hundred yards to Ranch Road One beside the Pedernales.

Visitors are provided an excellent view of the LBJ Ranch with its rambling white ranch house visible through the trees and across the river.

A narrow road nearby leads across the river to the LBJ birthplace and the Johnson family cemetery, enclosed by a stone wall and shaded by magnificent sycamores.

Leaving the ranch area and visitors center, those who visit the park may drive east along the park road to browse through the old Sauer home or they may turn west to the Danz house.

Both are being reconstructed to provide visitors with still more of the flavor of the Hill Country development.

The Sauer home is being restored to hold furnishings from the period 1880-1915 while the Danz homestead will feature the era 1860-1880.

While the origins of Hill Country men and of the man who became president are the theme of the park and its exhibits, the former president and Mrs. Johnson were determined that the park should provide ample recreation for its visitors.

It does that.

There are two large picnic areas set amid the oaks and a profusion of wildflowers.

And the Texas Highway Department has constructed roadside parks and rest areas on the approaches to the park.

Johnson himself directed that a large swimming pool and bathhouse be erected west of the visitors center.

There is a playground and pavilion, a 250-seat auditorium and an amphitheater planned for the park.

Facilities were expected to be completed during summer 1970.

All of it melts into the Hill Country landscape, a land of which the former president has said,

"There is no other place... that can do for me what this land and what this water and what these people and what these hills and these surroundings can do."

Tornado Toll For 12 Years Has Averaged 72

The tornado that devastated Lubbock, Tex., recently was one of 600 that will be sighted in the United States this year, if it's an average year. About half will occur during April, May and June.

Not all will teeter 20-story buildings, as in Lubbock, but the average indicate many more will be killed and injured and property damage will be severe. In the last 12 years, tornadoes have killed an average of 72 persons each year in the United States.

What can you do if a tornado approaches? Before knowing the specifics, it may be helpful to know more about tornadoes.

If you live in the tornado belt—the midsection of the country or the South—you're more likely to experience a tornado than if you live in the east or west. Lubbock lies at the western edge of the heart of the tornado belt: Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, which have more tornadoes each year than all other states combined.

The tornado is a violent local storm with whirling winds of tremendous speeds. It usually appears as a rotating, funnel-shaped cloud that extends toward the ground from the base of a thundercloud.

The air motion is characterized by a cyclonic upward spiral, causing rapid expansion, cooling and condensation, which forms the dark cloud of the tornado funnel. A downpour of rain and hail is the common associate of the tornado, occurring just before and just after its passage.

All tornadoes have one common characteristic—the rapidly counter-clockwise rotating winds.

It's not possible to predict the exact spot where a tornado will develop, but weather experts can indicate a rectangular area 100 miles wide and 200 miles long where there is a reasonable possibility that tornadoes might occur. There must be considerable moisture in the air for a tornado to form.

Tornadoes may occur at any hour of the day or night, but form most readily during the warmest hours of the day. The Lubbock tornado hit about 9:30 p.m., slightly more than half of all tornadoes occur between 3 and 7 p.m.; 23 per cent strike between 4 and 6 p.m.; 82 per cent between noon and midnight.

The deadly funnel of a tornado averages only one-fourth of a mile wide and its path of destruction usually is not more than 16 miles long. However, some spectacular ones have devastated areas more than a mile wide and 300 miles long. One reported tornado, however, was only nine feet wide.

The Lubbock tornado swept a wide path eight miles long. The forward velocity of a tornado varies from 25 to 40 miles an hour.

The vertically rising air in a tornado may reach 200 miles an hour. The horizontal winds may reach 300 and possibly 500 miles an hour, though in most the velocity is less. The Lubbock tornado, which stripped a wide section of downtown buildings to their foundations, must have had winds at the higher ends of these scales. It was followed by hurricane-force winds, which is unusual.

The sudden reduction in air pressure as the tornado passes, combined with strong winds, causes buildings to "explode" and tosses heavy objects considerable distances.

If you're on the water or in open country, move away from the tornado's path at a right angle. If the tornado does not appear to be moving to the right or left the chances are it's heading right toward you.

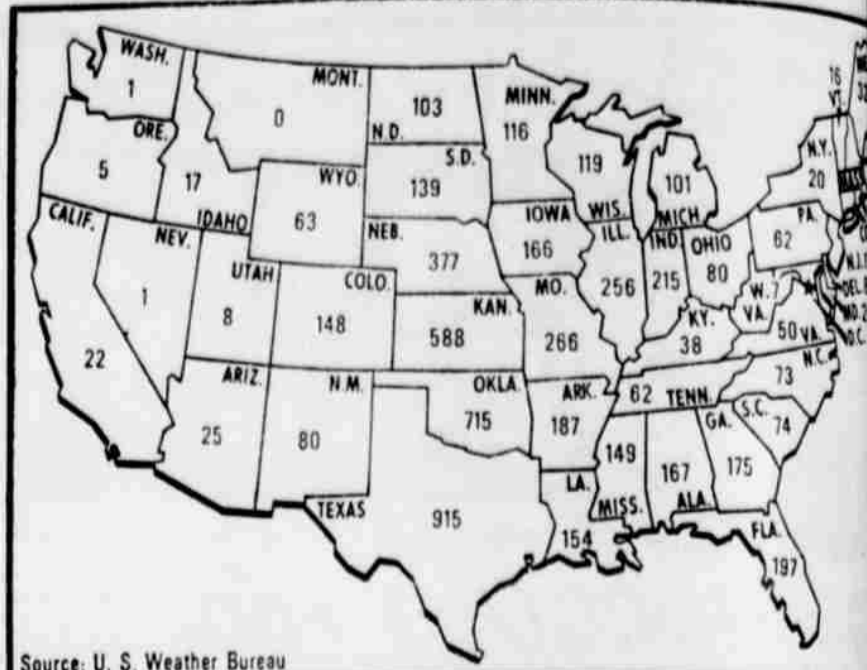

A boater who sees a big thunder cell with a very ragged bottom should realize this can become a small tornado or waterspout, which is a tornado over water.

Watch the direction of movement, and try to avoid the main part of the storm. Actually, it's good boating practice to keep away from the leading edge of any thunder cell. There could be a dry squall that cannot be seen and these may have winds of 80 miles an hour or more.

If you're in open country and there's not time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or a ravine. If you're home, open windows but stay away from them. Take cover under heavy furniture in the central part of the house.

Tornadoes generally occur in warm, humid, unsettled weather and frequently are connected with severe thunderstorms. The formation requires the presence of layers of air with contrasting temperature, moisture, density and wind flow characteristics. Cool, dry air aloft moving in from the west or northwest overrides warm, moist surface air coming from the south.

When this situation occurs, and is accompanied by a narrow band of strong winds at intermediate levels complicated energy transformations produce a vortex, or whirl, and we have the birth of a tornado, most violent of all storms.

Want Hot Biscuits? Try This

A department store in Illinois recently advised husbands who had forgotten to buy their wives a box of their franchise brand of candy to try this regimen:

- 1-When someone tells you the children are beautiful...say they take after their mother.
- 2-With your arms around your mother-in-law say you know why her daughter is such a dream.
- 3-Fed her the first bite of our candy... at the same time look into her eyes.
- 4-When you're holding her chair while she sits down...don't forget a gentle squeeze of her waist... as she gets seated.
- 5-Be sentimental...call her baby, darling, pussycat, honey-baby.
- 6-Watch her closely at parties, interrupt any man who spends more than ten minutes with her.
- 7-Once in a while, unobserved, take out the garbage.
- 8-Tell her you never believed it could be like this.
- 9-Tell her not to wear her skirts, 'that short'...say what she has is for you alone.
- 10-If you're both in shape, carry her across the room.
- 11-On the day the repairman is coming...get terribly jealous.
- 12-Remark, sweetly, that she doesn't need any make-up.
- 13-Be sure to purchase the best portion of the on her plate.
- 14-Tell her you love even when she is diapering baby.
- 15-Grow sideways because she is wild about even if they kid you about soup when you're sick.
- 16-Ask her to feed you when she's stirring favorite cake.
- 18-Send her a schmal on an unimportant holiday.

THE FOOD DOLLAR
Farmers received an average of 41 cents out of each $1 spent for U. S. farm produced food in 1969. This was about 2 cents more than in 1957-59, but 9 cents less than in 1947-49. The farmer's share of the consumer's dollar varies widely among products. It is smaller for a highly serviced product such as bread than for an unprocessed product such as eggs. When $1 was spent in 1959 at the grocery store, 41 cents went for products and 59 cents for marketing service.
