Registration Opens SPC Classes Here

Don Yarbrough, dean of continuing education at SPC, said only 17 persons registered for the courses in the registration Tuesday night. Twelve persons are required for each extension class offered.

Plans call for classes in history 232, basic accounting 238, English 131, and child growth and development psychology 233.

Classes will meet for the first time Monday, Jan. 14, the final day of registration. Cost of the classes is $50 for three semester hours, $53 for six semester hours, and $67 for nine semester hours.

Voter Registration Receipts Issued In '72 Still Valid

Persons continue to be confused on voter registration receipts, according to Herbert Dunn, tax assessor-collector. Until the present registration went into effect, property owners were conditioned to renewing their voting requirements at the time they paid taxes.

were stamped with an effective date of March 1, 1972.

Voters no longer register each year. Voter registration is good for three years, and is automatically renewed for another three years by voting during that time period.

Any voter who has this date on his card has a valid registration until the last day in February in 1975—whether or not he has voted since registering. That same registration is renewed for another three years when a vote is cast.

Dunn said some of the voter registrations issued in Lamb County

A voter registration is extended three years by voting once every three years.

According to Dunn, anyone who has registered since 1972 is still qualified to vote in the upcoming election or any other election that comes up within three years after the registration receipt was issued.

LHS Students Honored In 'Who's Who' Book

Thirteen Littlefield High School seniors and nine LHS juniors have been named to "Who's Who Among American High School Students", and are to be featured in the Eighth Annual Edition of the honor book for 1973-74. The book is the largest student award publication in the nation.

Students from more than 20,000 public, private and parochial high schools throughout the country are recognized for their leadership in academics, athletics, activities or community service in the book. Less than three percent of the junior and senior class students nationwide are awarded the recognition.

Included are LHS seniors: LaNona Betts, Terry Bryson, Elvira Castillo, Terri Chandler, Carol French, Barbara McBride, Rita McKinney, Bruce Peel, Kelly Pratt, Andy Rogers, Pat Sevier, Tandy Talburt and Pam Turvaville. Junior students included are Richard Barton, Stephanie Banner, Danny Brockington, Janice Cannon, Toni Gardner, Brian Goss, Sharon Healy, Lisa Wells and Regina Williams.

In addition to having their biographies published in the book, they will also compete for one of ten scholarship awards of $500 to $1,000 funded by the publishers and will be invited to participate in the firm's annual "Survey of High Achievers" later in the academic year.

With filing for county offices open and with 13 elected officials in this county with expiring terms, plus upcoming state elections, voter interest is increasing.

For persons who have not registered, registration must be done 30 days prior to an election before a person is qualified to vote.

Persons who have moved to a different precinct should go by the tax assessor-collector's office and make an address change at least three days prior to an election so voters' names can be added on the transfer list to the new precinct.

Those who have lost voter registration receipts should not get another one. They can still vote, since their name will be on the list at the precinct where he is registered.

Besides doing away with paying a poll tax, the new law requires everyone from 18 to register, including persons over 65.

Lamb County has more than 8,000 registered voters.

Three County Officials Draw Opponents

The county officials have drawn opponents in the first week of political activity in Lamb County. Names of the county judge, county clerk and a county commissioner have opponents in the May 4 primary.

Bill Angel is seeking the office of county judge. Incumbent is G. T. Sides. Clarence Kelley filed for the post of commissioner of precinct 2 at Earth where T. L. "Buddy" Free is the incumbent. Kathryn Day has filed for the office of county clerk against Mary Beth Willey.

Through Friday afternoon, 13 persons had filed for elective positions. Incumbents seeking re-election in addition to Sides, Free, and Mrs. Willey include Hubert Dykes, commissioner of precinct 4; Ray Lynn Britt, district clerk; Lucy M. Moreland, county treasurer; C. Roy Stevens, county school superintendent; and Stanley Doss, justice of peace, precinct 4.

Besides these applications, Pat Boone Jr. has filed for another term as district judge of 154th judicial district with the state party chairman.

Batson seeks another term as county Democratic chairman. (This is an elective position in the May primary, but is an unpaid office.)

Other elective positions expiring this year include the office of justice of peace precinct 1 at Olton with W. G. Finney the incumbent, JP precinct 2 at Earth where Ted Borum is incumbent, JP precinct 5 at Sudan—a post held by Toby Vereen; and JP precinct 6 at Amherst where E. L. Yarbrough is incumbent.

Filing deadline is Feb. 4.

New Year's Resolutions

WELL, HERE IT IS two weeks after the first day of the year and how are you doing on your New Year's resolution?

"We'll have to admit that already we've broken a couple and are finding it very hard to hold the line on the rest of them."

We thought it might make you feel a little better to tell you this, if you had missed out on a few and thought everyone else was keeping his.

You might know that Nathaniel Hawthorne, the great American Novelist wrote in "Twice Told Tales" the following:

"THERE IS NO SUCH thing in man's nature as a settled and full resolve either for good or evil, except at the very moment of execution."

So, according to the novelist the only way to carry out those resolutions is to begin right now to do the things you resolved to do.

WE HAVE A BUNDLE of resolutions for this great and glorious country of ours that we wish the people and the people's servants in the government would put into action immediately.

1. We'd like to see a return to the love of our country. We'd like to see our citizens of all ages, creeds and natural origin rally around our flag and feel the great warmth of patriotism surge through them when the National Anthem is rendered.

2. We'd like to see a definite and abrupt turn from increasing crime to a land where every man, woman and child could go about their business without fear.

3. We would like to see the respect for each person his privacy and property—restored.

4. We would like to see the President and Congress join in making this a country so strong that we need not fear attack or harassment from any other source on the globe.

5. We would like to see our high standard of living spread evenly over the land to provide a decent living for our poor and proper medical care for those who need it.

These are a few of the important goals for 1974, we hope will be brought to fruition by the resolution of those who can make it happen.

AND IT CAN BE made to happen if you and every other eligible citizen in this constitutional democracy will exercise his or her God given right to vote. How about making his your Number One resolution for this year? Get involved in your government, through the ballot, and make this the kind of country you can be proud of forever.

"BLUE" NORTHER

A Woman's View

By PEARL BRANDON

THE WEATHER has been cold this week with snow, and icy streets, but the wonderful people, working as volunteers to deliver the nourishing warm meals to the elderly shut-ins, were there taking their routes as usual.

IN MY "Love" interpretation of the Bible I found this in First Peter 3:3-4. "We have two kinds of beauty, our outward appearance and our inward appearance. Don't be concerned about the outward beauty that depends on jewelry, or beautiful clothes, or hair arrangements. Be beautiful inside, in your hearts.

"With the lasting charm of a gentle and quiet spirit which is so precious to God."

THESE ARE the kind of people we have helping on this program—beautiful people and they are doing so much for our elderly shut-ins in Littlefield.

I used to think it would be nice to grow old and not have to do all the things younger people feel compelled to do, such as getting up every morning and go to work, or acting on committees and trying to help with the church and civic organizations.

But there is so much pain to growing old. When parts of the body start playing out, there is always pain.

WHEN PEOPLE have always been active, it is hard to come to the place where you can't wait on yourself and have to accept help from others. We hate to be a burden to our children or to others.

I GUESS the Lord meant it to be like that, otherwise we would want to live forever on this old earth of ours and He has such greater plans for us.

I found this quotation a few days ago in this same "Love" edition of the Bible and copied it, now I can't find where it came from but it reads like this:

"The WORD, meaning Christ, the wisdom and power of God and the first cause of all things; God's personal EXPRESSION of Himself to men."

SO JESUS was the expression of God—He was God in the form of man, sent here to show us what God is like. He was gentle and kind, never hurting a single thing, yet He possessed the courage to stand up to his enemies, never even backing down in the face of death.

He possessed all power, even enough to heal other people and to raise them from the dead yet He allowed Himself to be crucified and died the death of shame on the cross.

HE DIDN'T hesitate to go because He knew where He was going. He said to the thief on the cross, "This day you will be with me in paradise."

He knew the pain would soon be over and He would enter that Eternal Paradise where we all long to go. We cling to this life because we can't see past death as well as He could.

THE FEAR of not knowing is our great problem, so we have to live by faith—faith in our God to carry us through this thing called death.

Many young people diet too, and this seems so unfair—not to be allowed to live to the ripe old age, or like Abraham "come to their fullness of time," but Jesus died young according to God's plan.

His short life on earth has had more influence on the human race than any other man in history. It isn't how long we live but how well.

IF WE COULD see over there we wouldn't dread it any more than Jesus did.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE Take No Offense

IF WE ARE INCLINED to take offense because of being mistreated, or because of happenings which we dislike, or for some other reason; we have a very hurtful personal problem.

The solution is not in the naivety which characterizes the behavior of some people. A naive attitude may protect a person from some of the harsh realities of life; but it can also cause a tragic misdirection of thought and action.

This "credulous" disposition may have its own unique charm, in some instances; but it can be a cause of self-defeat which comes from dis-orientation.

IF WE BRING TO LIFE a "lack of informed judgment", we increase our difficulties and troubles. Nevertheless, there are people who seem to prefer this naive posture.

They may be happier than the sophisticated persons who are super-sensitive to all that is happening; who never miss anything; who never overlook anything; and are always upset and resentful. This, however, is not the point.

NEITHER "NAIVETY" nor its opposite, "sophistication", can support one's life pattern in the most desirable and strongest frame.

In between this "lack of informed judgment" and "worldly-wise sensitivity" we find the desirable life stability. Her is where we find the most productive and meaningful manner of living.

This is the life situation in which we are perceptive, we are alert, we are knowledgeable, we are observant, but we "take no offense" even when we are mistreated or rejected, or when there is something we don't like "resentment" take hold we cannot afford this indignation or smoldering

Turn Row COMMENTS

NOTICED A FEW pictures from the AP Wire that caught my attention and caused some concern. The pictures were of young boys and girls being caught in a cross fire in Cambodia and other middle-east countries.

The one that was really moving was the picture of a young dad covering the body of his son after being hit by sniper fire. No matter how bad the sight of this makes one feel, it still is not the same as the ones who experience the tragedy.

I got to thinking how lucky we are here in America for not having to experience the crippling of our children as some of the people in other countries. Then my thoughts came back to the local level and ways to improve the conditions and improving our own children.

From comments made from other parents, we may not be crippling our own children, but in some instances we are neglecting them because of some of the inadequacies in our school system. We have many children who are slow learners and find themselves almost unable to compete with other children in various phases of learning. In other ways, they are intelligent and can compete with other boys and girls. Our Title I Reading Program does some good, but it does not give the student all he or she needs to learn.

Several of our students have been tested at great expense of the state to find their problems, and a possible solution for the problem.

From reports of those tested a prescription was forwarded to the school, with aids to help the particular individuals in their learn. But what happened to the and the aid for the students said that we do not have to help these children and teachers do not even know particular child has a learning that a prescription is needed these children.

I'm in favor of those father our education system, to hard look at this problem, they do something about not one or two children who have a learning problem are many. And now is the shunning these students from any ethnic group, but in all walks of life. Null

Scuttling The Free Press

THE LEAD ARTICLE of the January, 1974, Reader's Digest deals with a matter of bread-and-butter concern to every newspaper and magazine publisher in the nation and their readers.

Last September, the U.S. Postal Service announced its intention to more than double in three years second-class postal rates applying to both magazines and newspapers. Many people believe the increases will go higher—perhaps to 300 percent or more.

THIS COULD MEAN the end of the line for the thousands of magazines and hometown newspapers whose role in educating and informing the American people is more crucial to the maintenance of liberty than ever before in the history of our nation.

As an educational service, Congress has, since 1782, maintained special low rates for magazines and newspapers which permitted them to be mailed at less than cost and thus be available to the vast majority of our people.

In 1973, this support totaled $190 million, less than $1 per capita. But now, under the Postal Reorganization Act of 1970, the Postal Service is required to charge rates that will, in its opinion, make nearly all classes of mail pay their own way by 1976.

It is obvious that the Congress did not foresee in 1970 that this would mean that second-class rates would be tripled in a five-year period. The nation's magazines and newspapers cannot absorb these increases. If they pass them on, the very people who most need continuing education will be deprived of it.

TO EASE the immediate financial jolt, the Digest article recommends that legislation be passed phasing in the payment by magazines and newspapers of their full postal cost over a period of eight years instead of three.

Bills to accomplish this have been introduced in both houses of Congress by Senator Gale McGee (Wyo.) and Representative James Hanley (N.Y.). For the longer run, Congress should review its basic decision to make the nation's newspapers and periodicals pay full mailing costs. It is difficult to see how anyone can stand by a decision almost certain to kill off a major segment of the free press in America. Write your Congressmen— let them know what you think.

Lee pointed out that Savings Bonds are the least-inflationary means the government has for financing the national debt. Dollars derived from Savings Bonds sales also help pay for ways of protecting our environment; improving our standard of living.

"I know of no better way", chairman Lee stated, "for most of us to help our country, our neighbors, and ourselves— at one and the same time. Today's higher interest rate should encourage more people to buy Bonds, thereby bolstering their individual financial security."

"The improved rate", he continued, "should also stimulate our 4-H Clubbers, Future Farmers, and other young folks, who haven't started saving for their futures, to begin setting dollars aside through U.S. Savings Bonds."

WAR ANNOUNCED

A New Orleans newspaper, employing the Pony Express, was the first to announce the outbreak of the Mexican War in 1846.

Cotton Insect Control Is Changing

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, in its current campaign to help cotton farmers depend less on insecticides, has developed a system which has worked well in Southeast Texas trials.

Researchers believe that if the technique is expanded to the estimated 215,000 cotton acres in this region, it would increase output by more than 13,000 bles, reduce the amount of insecticides applied by about 1.4 million pounds, and boost producer net returns more than $10 million.

Experiment Station entomologist Dr. Winfield Sterling said the study was conducted in cooperation with the Texas Department of Corrections (TDC).

His co-workers were Dr. Ronald Lacey and research associate James Casey of the Texas A&M University Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology Department.

Sterling said the new strategy follows this basic pattern:

(1) Control the boll weevil with a fall diapause program.

(2) Control the cotton fleahopper with low insecticide dosages applied during the early fruiting phase.

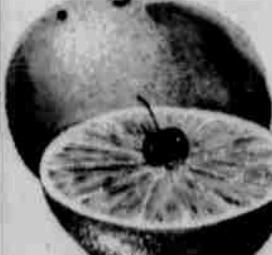

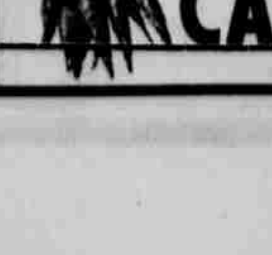

(3) End fleahopper treatments quickly to enable beneficial insects to increase enough to regulate bollworms and budworms.

(4) Tolerate up to 15 per cent bollworm and budworm-damaged squares before insecticide treatment.

(5) Harvest the cotton and destroy crop residues as early as possible.

Gallagher Brothers Serving With Navy

OLTON—Store-keeper Seaman Apprentice Kenneth E. Gallagher of U.S. Naval Communications Station (Harold E. Holt) Exmouth, Australia, and his brother, Radioman Seaman Apprentice James E. Gallagher of U.S. Naval Communications, who is now stationed in Yokosuka, Japan, are now on duty in their respective bases.

Sons of Mr. and Mrs. James Gallagher, both enlisted in the Navy at the same time, June, 1973. Each took seven weeks' leave of training at U.S. Naval Training Center at San Diego, Calif.

Kenneth graduated as honorman of his Company. Both brothers returned to San Diego for special schooling before going overseas.

Kenneth went to Australia Aug. 1, 1973, for a 14 months' tour of duty. He is in "receiving and salvage", does some bookwork and operates a fork lift for unloading cargo ships. The Harold E. Holt base is on the northwest Cape about 850 miles north of Perth. It is a small base, about 500 people and is three miles from Exmouth—population 350.

The country around the base is red sand hills covered with brush. Winter time temperatures range in the mid 80's. They are having summer now and temperatures ranged from 120 degrees the day after Christmas to the 140 degrees. It is as hot at 7 in morning as at noon and the sun glare from bottles and cans starts often brush fires.

The flies are so thick in the summer that you can turn black when you go outside, reports the Gallagher Seaman. He also reports that there are poisonous "Red back" spiders, poisonous snakes and lizards, emus Kangaroos, poisonous fish, eels and sharks. The great Barrier Reef is located just offshore and the fishing is very good both from the pier and from the base's 40 foot fishing boat.

Kenneth gets to go out in the boat about once a month. The largest fish he caught recently was a 40 pound trawler. His friends caught a 112-pound cod from the boat and 365-pound cod from the pier.

James E. (Gene) went to Yokosuka on Sept. 1, 1973 for a two-year tour of duty. He is in communications and his job is "classified."

Yokosuka is a sea port town south of Yokohama. Japan is "wall to wall" city all down the coast and Gene says that all the 100 million people in Japan are on the streets because they have a perpetual traffic jam. The cars drive on the left side of the street, and the streets are so narrow and crowded that you do more sitting in traffic jams than you do driving. Gasoline is about $1.25 a quart.

The country around Yokosuka is rolling hills covered with lots of shrubbery, flowers and fields. The highest summer time temperature ranges in the 80's and the lowest winter temperature range is in the 40's. They get a lot of rain and it snows only in the mountains.

Kenneth is a 1970 graduate of Olton High School and was employed for four years by Don's Super Market, Olton. He worked for about six months for Texas Alarms Corporation in Lubbock in 1972.

Gene is a 1971 graduate of Olton High School and was also employed four years by Don's Super Market in Olton and Hale Center.

James Gallagher, the father of these two seamen is manager of Pioneer Natural Gas Company. His wife is employed at Olton School Cafeteria. They have two daughters at home, Laurie, who is a Junior in Olton High School and Evelyn, who is employed at Olton Enterprise. They also have a son, Jerri, who is employed at Holiday Bowling Alley in Ruidoso, N.M.

Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher recently received some pictures of their sons and some of the fish they caught.

USDA Increases Payment Rates For School Lunches, Breakfast

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has retroactively increased its payment rates to state educational agencies to help schools pay for school lunches and school breakfasts they have served during the past six months.

The increased rates cover meals served under the national school lunch and school breakfast programs between July 1 and Dec. 31, 1973. They were announced by USDA's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) as another step in implementing the new child nutrition law passed last month.

The national average payment to help defray food costs of each lunch served to participating school children was increased from 4 to 10 cents. Within that average, states were authorized to vary the rate of reimbursement to individual schools up to a maximum of 16 cents a lunch. Previously the ceiling was 14 cents.

For the first time, states will receive a guaranteed additional payment to assist in the service of lunches to needy children of 25 cents for each reduced-price lunch and 45 cents for each free lunch.

Any state where payments averaged higher than this rate last year will be paid at that higher level through Dec. 31, 1973. In cases of severe need, the federal per lunch reimbursement to individual schools can range as high as 70 cents for each lunch served free, 10 cents above the previous maximum. Payment rates for each reduced-price lunch in these circumstances may vary up to a high of 60 cents, the same level previously allowed.

The new regulations also give the states the responsibility for determining relative need among schools and for setting variable rates of cash reimbursement within federally-allowed maximums.

The national average payment for each paid breakfast served to eligible children, which has been 5 cents, will be increased to 8 cents. The payment for each reduced-price breakfast, which has been 15 cents, will be increased to 23 cents. And the payment for each free breakfast, which has been 20 cents, will be increased to 28 cents.

For cases of severe need, maximum rates of reimbursement for especially needy schools have also been increased. The maximum rate for free breakfasts, which has been 30 cents, has been increased to 45 cents.

A school is considered especially needy if it serves a high percentage of free and reduced-price breakfasts to children who meet the school's eligibility standards, has unusually high costs in providing breakfast, or has other unusual factors indicating special financial need.

The regulations formerly provided that for schools other than those deemed especially needy, the assistance payments would be limited to the cost of obtaining food. That limit has now been expanded to include labor and other costs.

Full details of the revised national school lunch and school breakfast program regulations were scheduled for publication in the Federal Register Dec. 28.

Fort Worth Show Begins Jan. 25

The 78th edition of the Stock Show is scheduled Jan. 25 through Feb. 3. Entry deadlines for rabbits, pigeons and poultry are Jan. 15. Other livestock entries have closed and are being processed and counted.

Rodeo tickets are available by mail at P.O. Box 150, Fort Worth, Texas 76101, or from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. daily, including Sundays, at the Rodeo Box Office in the lobby of Will Rogers Coliseum.
