

City Ponders Refuse Collection Change-Over

LITTLEFIELD is considering a change-over in its refuse collection and is planning to conduct hearings in the near future to the public of the new system. The city ordinance governing collection of refuse in the city, and in the monthly rates charged. Councilmen discussed the new system at length during their regular Thursday night. ... representative of Pak-manufacturing Company, was to discuss the system. Edwards ... councilmen that "you will be the dog problem, because they are one of these over, and you'll be a labor problem." He said that they would be using each container and the containers would be on every other property line. ... total cost of the new system is $204,744, which will include 776 residential boxes and 70 commercial boxes and the system will be financed through Revenue ... the refuse collection is being subsidized yearly with city money, due to the fact that revenue is below the costs involved in the system.

According to a study made by the city manager, the containerized system would cost about $59,523 per year to operate. With the present $1.50 rate per month and yearly revenue of $43,470, the city would still have to subsidize $16,053 per year with tax money. With a rate increase to $2.00, the revenue would be $57,960, and a deficit of only $1,563 would have to be subsidized with tax money. If a $2.50 rate were to be put into effect, revenue would be $72,450, an excess of $12,927 which could be placed in a fund to take care of repairs or other upkeep expense. The date for the public hearing will be scheduled when further statistics on the matter are compiled, and councilmen will set the hearing date during the Sept. 6 meeting. Of the $204,744 total system price, Revenue Sharing money will pay for the equipment, boxes and part of the changeover. The company would accept the trade-in of two present packer trucks, and would assist the city in placing containers and making the routes. Other equipment besides the 846 three-year containerized boxes for both residential and commercial placings, will include three 28 cubic yard side-loading compactors at $5,237 each (total of $15,711); three Handi Lift container hoists at $3,581 each (total of $10,743); one truck and chassis with regular cab at $8,500 (or a total of $25,500); three auxiliary engines at $1,935 ($5,805) and three dual auxiliary hook-up systems at $350 ($1,050). Grand total for the 846 boxes at $172.50 each is $145,935. Councilmen decided that a public hearing would be held to see what the public's idea about the new system would be. In other matters of business councilmen authorized the city manager to enter into an agreement with El Paso Natural Gas Company in allowing them to dump refuse in the Littlefield landfill operation. Refuse from 15 houses and the Dimmitt plant is no longer allowed to be burned, and the company needed a place to put the garbage. Councilmen agreed that $3.50 per 200 cubic feet of refuse should be charged to help defray costs of covering it up. Councilmen authorized City Manager Jim Blagg to call for bids for a blower to replace a defective one at the sewage treatment plant. The gears on the blower and worn, and the manager informed the councilmen that the cost of repair was nearly the amount of a new one. Councilmen authorized the mayor to sign a resolution authorizing the sale of certain city properties. Councilmen also authorized the city manager to contact companies concerning codifying the city ordinances. An emergency item that was not included on the agenda was brought to the council's attention, but councilmen took no action on it. Councilmen discussed the fact that the sandhill well field land has been purchased from Halseil Ranch by a development corporation.

Littlefield To Celebrate Anniversary

Only one more week remains until the Fifth Annual Lamb County Festivities Days, celebrating Littlefield's 60th birthday, is staged in Littlefield.

Hundreds of people are busy putting the finishing touches on "their thing" for the celebration, and the program includes something for persons in all age groups—from the youngest to the oldest citizen in Lamb County.

All sorts, shapes, and colors of whisksers are being sported by the men of the area, and street dancers, stage performers, kids and their dogs, paintings and handicrafts, fiddlers, singers, pretty girls, bike and trike riders are being readied for their portions of the program.

The Sixth Annual Sidewalk Art Festival, sponsored by "We, The Women", will set the wheels for turning for the two-day festivities.

Registration for the show will begin at 1 p.m. in the 500 block of Phelps Avenue on the west side, and viewers may vote on exhibits they think to be winners beginning at 3 p.m.

Cash awards will be presented to winners of the adult oil and acrylic, adult water color, adult ink and pastel, intermediate, junior and crafts divisions of the show.

This year, several oil paintings will be given away as door prizes, and persons may register for the give-aways during the show. Names will be drawn from the registration box between 7 and 8 p.m., and persons need not be present to win.

Friday night, beginning at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium, men will impersonate females in a "Mr. Festivities Days" "beauty" contest. Last year's winner Bobby (Bobbi Sue) Brunson, will crown the new winner.

Several other entries are needed for the show, and persons interested in entering the contest are asked to call 385-4451 or go by the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture office.

Masters of ceremonies will be Charles Mixon and Rafe Rodgers, and they will be delegated to keep the program moving.

Rounding out the first day of activities will be a street dance on Phelps Avenue from 9 p.m. until midnight.

Saturday's program will begin at 7 a.m. with a flea market on the Santa Fe Plaza. All sorts of wares will be on exhibit in booths for sale to the public, and several persons from out of town are expected to bring their goods to the large open air "garage sale." The flea market is being sponsored by "We, The Women."

Anti Cloud Seeding Advocates Referred To Texas Water Board

By NILAH RODGERS Five representatives from Farmers and Ranchers for Natural Weather traveled to Austin Tuesday to talk to Gov. Dolph Briscoe concerning weather modification by cloud seeding. The group had hoped the governor would take action, but Briscoe referred the group to the Texas Water Development Board at its next regular meeting on Aug. 28. Bob Hardesty, the governor's press secretary, said the governor feels this is something for the Texas Water Development Board (TWDB) to handle. If the group meets with the board, it will be the second meeting since the hail suppression program began here in 1970. In 1971 and again this year the group claims that cloud tampering decreased precipitation. In April of 1971, a delegation representing those who object to cloud seeding met with the Texas Water Development Board to try to prevent the issuing of a permit to Atmospherics, Inc. for operations last year. In the reorganizational meeting in the district courtroom on July 24, Bill Smith said the TWDB referred the motion to its advisory committee which in turn ruled in favor of cloud seeding. "The Water Development Board said we (Natural Weather advocates) didn't have a particle of scientific evidence," he added. But according to Nolan Harlan, secretary of the natural weather group, the anti-seeding group has great hopes the matter will be settled when they meet with the board on the 28th. Not only is the group seeking to stop seeding by the firm hired by Lamb County Better Weather, Inc., but they also plan to try to stop the cloud seeding work based in Plainview and supported by the Plains Weather Improvement Association. When asked if they had raised sufficient funds and if an attorney had been hired and would be with the group in Austin on the 28th, Harlan said the group couldn't give out their game plans until the ball game is over. In the meeting with the governor this week, the group was accompanied by Harry P. Burleigh, executive director of the Water Development Board staff. In the July meeting, Dean Elms told the approximately 100 persons present that Burleigh told Natural Weather officers that he would like to see the anti seeding group sue Atmospherics, Inc. because the TWDB needed a test case. At the July meeting, efforts were made to raise $15,000 to hire a lawyer that had represented a natural weather faction in Pecos in the '60s. At that Tuesday night meeting, Ross Lumsden said money collected would be in the mail to the donors if funds weren't raised by Friday, July 27. Plans at that time called for seeking an injunction against Atmospherics. In a telephone conversation with Harlan last week, Harlan said the fund drive was coming along well enough to be encouraging. Those who support the hail suppression program said the meeting with the governor was a ploy for publicity in hopes of raising additional money. Should the natural weather group seek an injunction and take the matter to district court, they would have to post bond for any hail damages that might occur in the hail suppression target area from the time of the injunction until the case could be heard. District Judge Pat Boone said he would have to think long and hard before setting any figure on what a bond like that could run. But with crops looking as good as they do, he said any reasonable amount would have to run "several million dollars." "We're not going to stop at anything short of getting this thing (cloud seeding to suppress hail) stopped," Harlan said. "But we're going to exhaust every means possible before going to court," he added. John Carr who is one of three on the technical selection board of the TWDB said the natural weather group would have to convince the board that health or property has been damaged. Before TWDB would grant any future hearings following the Aug. 28th airing, Carr said the board would have to see some type of material evidence such as printed matter, pictures and statements from those involved. Carr said the six-member TWDB can make one of two decisions. The board can take the matter under advisement until a hearing is conducted to review the permit, or the state board can decide that there is insufficient grounds to call a hearing. "Evidence can't be emotional claims supported by hearsay," Carr said. In the July meeting, Smith told those present that he felt that he had been dealt a serious injustice on the night of July 17th. Smith said he watched a cloud over his farm southwest of the target area for about 45 minutes on that night. "I thought I had a pretty good chance for a good shower," Smith said. "If they weren't seeding, they were certainly making numerous passes, and the

Shotwell-Tomes Vows Said At High Noon

In a double ring ceremony at high noon Saturday, Aug. 18, Miss Sally Katherine Shotwell and Kenneth Alvin Tomes exchanged wedding vows in the First United Methodist Church in Littlefield.

Officiating for reading of the vows before an altar decorated with six enormous arrangements of rainbow colored flowers enfolding five-branch candelabras, was Rev. David Hamblin, pastor of the church.

Pews of the church were marked with rainbow colored flowers with ribbons, and the three wrought iron register tables were decorated with smilax. The center table at the altar held the floral decorated memory candle.

Parents of the couple are Dr. and Mrs. I. T. Shotwell Sr. of Littlefield, and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Tomes of Amherst.

Dr. Shotwell presented his daughter for marriage. She wore a formal-length gown of chalk white silk organza. Venise lace medallions were applied on the scooped neck bodice and short sleeves, and a garland of embroidery dots enhanced the skirt intertwining medallions of lace flowers. Her chapel-length veil of imported illusion bordered in embroidery cascaded from a calot of organza lace. She wore a gold and diamond cross belonging to her paternal grandmother, white gloves belonging to her mother, a blue garter, and pennies in her shoes, minted in the years of their births.

She carried a bouquet of white roses with pastel flowers sprinkled within to carry out the rainbow color theme.

Kathy Halford of Dickinson was her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Kathy Smith of Amherst, Tammy Tomes of Amherst, Gayla Freeman of Spade and Bennie Miller of Amherst.

They wore gowns of rainbow colors with puffed sleeves and scooped necklines. They were fitted at the waists with ribbon sashes tied at the back, and they carried colonial bouquets in rainbow colors with wreaths of flowers in their hair.

Clay Cooper of Littlefield was best man, and groomsmen were Tommy Shotwell of Littlefield, Brian Tomes of Amarillo, Rickie Tomes of Paris, Tex., and Larry Purdy of Littlefield.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Shotwell wore a formal-length green silk chiffon gown with sequins, and matching accessories.

Mrs. Tomes wore a pink formal-length gown with pink accessories, and both mothers wore orchid corsages.

Registering the guests in the bride's book were Sherry Shotwell of Littlefield and Mary Seale Gibson of Shreveport, La., both cousins of the bride, and Rachel Maurer of Littlefield.

Traditional musical selections were played on the organ by Mary Elizabeth Shotwell, cousin of the bride. Mrs. C. E. Payne, aunt of the bride, presented a poetry reading, "Love and Marriage", and "The Wedding Prayer."

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was given in the Shotwell home.

For their honeymoon trip, the bride wore a beige knit suit trimmed in bright colors, and matching accessories.

They will be at home at 301 Wood Street in Amherst.

The bride attended St. Mary's Hall in San Antonio and the groom has attended Texas Tech at Lubbock.

What Our Readers Think

Natl. Cystic Fibrosis Fdn.
1819 Hemphill
Fort Worth, Tex.
August 10, 1973

Littlefield Leader-News
Littlefield, Texas 79339

Dear Editor:

Cystic fibrosis is not a vague, obscure or rare disease. It affects one in every 1,000 babies, the result of both parents carrying the gene for C/F. It affects the entire body—particularly the lungs and digestive system. So far, it's incurable.

When a group of parents of C/F children formed the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation seven years ago, they knew very little about cystic fibrosis. Even the name "Cystic Fibrosis" was new; the disease wasn't recognized medically until the late 1930's. What those parents did know was terrifying—C/F children usually died before they were old enough for elementary school.

Today that beginning has grown into a national organization which raises funds through the Breath of Life Campaign in local communities. There are more than 300 chapters and branches of the National Foundation to advise and help parents and administer local programs and fund raising.

The North Texas Chapter which serves Littlefield and all of the North Texas area has some 600 children afflicted with the disease.

Without the help of Mrs. Janice Aaron and Chris Threadgill, co-chairman, many children might not be discovered. Also funds wouldn't be adequate enough to save them. The chairman recruited many enthusiastic volunteers and the Rainbow Girls The fund-raising campaign consisted of both a car wash and a door-to-door campaign. The initiative of the chairman and the hard work of the many volunteers involved made your campaign collect over twice the national average for a community campaign.

There are more than 100 Cystic Fibrosis Centers where not just C/F patients, but children with asthma, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis, and childhood emphysema can be diagnosed and treated using the most sophisticated methods known. The National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation supports the research of scientists throughout the world, who seek a cure or control for C/F.

Today C/F infants have a good chance at longer and more productive lives—for many are living into their teens and beyond into young adulthood, the result of improved medical care and expanded research. Children with other lung diseases whose symptoms are similar to C/F respond very favorably to much the same treatment. Their suffering is alleviated, and many times cures are affected.

Though there is still no cure for cystic fibrosis, today there is real hope, based on the realities of more public support, more advanced research and better care, and more public understanding. Interest in the study of genetic diseases has grown to significant proportions in the scientific community, and C/F research can only benefit from this heightened interest, as it is considered a model for genetic disease due to its complex nature.

But with this progress, the need of six million children who struggle to breathe grows larger, and with it, the need for more volunteers and more funds.

Everyone can help. The job cannot be left solely to dedicated parents of C/F and lung-damaged children. The cause is great enough to engage the attention and support of men and women everywhere who care about children—and lung disease. The Littlefield community has indeed proven that it does care.

In closing, we would like to sincerely thank the citizens of Littlefield for their outstanding generosity, and for making the Cystic Fibrosis Campaign a great success.

Gratefully,

clouds dissipated in five to seven minutes.

Ron Pickus, one of the two pilots in the Littlefield-based operation said he did fly an observation flight outside the target area that night but he said he did not do any seeding.

Pickus' flight record shows he flew an observation flight southwest to examine cells moving northeast into the target area. The report shows no inflow and infrequent lightning strikes.

"Actually the seeding has been very light this year," Pickus said. The pilots point out that last year when the area received so much rain the clouds were seeded with more silver iodide than any two years combined. "Three times more silver iodide was used last year than this year," Pickus added. "If cloud seeding causes clouds to dissipate, why did it rain so much last year?"

"I've never seeded a hail cloud that it didn't just rain to beat heck at one point or another along the line," Wayne Wilkinson said. Wilkinson is the head pilot of the three-county area based in Littlefield.

He said the pilots have conducted 30 individual seeding flights this year. At the time of the July meeting called by the natural weather advocates, Wilkinson said they had conducted 22 seeding flights. He prepared a chart showing the date, plane used, take off time, landing time, time they started seeding, position, time the seeding ended, the number of flares burned and the amount of silver iodide generated.

Wilkinson said he made the chart to show at the meeting "It's just a shame the opponents won't take the time to find out what's going on," he added. Flight charts show the general path flown by the planes. "And we haven't ever been very far out of the target area. On May 22 we got out near Lazbuddie. That was the date hail really hit."

Wilkinson said seven observation flights were made in May, three in June

A Woman's View

By PEARL BRANDON

WHILE WORKING with the program "Meals on Wheels" we are coming in contact with all sorts of people—many who have very serious problems.

These people have been able to take care of themselves most of their lives, now after becoming old or ill they can no longer do so.

IT IS THE things they cannot do for themselves that worry them most. It is hard for people who have been independent most of their lives to ask others to do for them—such as driving their car to the doctor or to the grocery store.

MOST OF US feel this will never happen to us and all at once it is here. Suddenly we find ourselves facing blindness or cancer, severe arthritis or other ailments.

One day we look in the mirror and find ourselves old.

WHERE HAVE the years gone? It seems only yesterday we were healthy and happy.

Young Dr. Thomas A. Dooley, who gave his life working in the jungles of Laos, said, "most intelligent and mature Americans know the duties of their citizenship. Those of us burdened with being over-privileged know we must help those burdened with being under-privileged."

WE MANIFEST our desire to help by doing what we can for those around us.

It is not things or places that make us happy. It is serving those around us as best we can.

IT GIVES YOU a great feeling of satisfaction to render a service for a stricken neighbor or friend.

You remember when the disciples of Jesus were arguing among themselves about who would be the greatest in His kingdom. Jesus told them to let those who would be the greatest become the servant of all.

He also said it is greater to give than to receive.

SOME OF US don't have much to give, but ourselves, but we can give that and in giving receive a greater blessing than we dreamed could happen.

"Freely give, and freely thou shalt receive—good measure shaken down and running over."

P. S. Incidentally, all the people who deliver the "Meals on Wheels" are volunteers. What grand bunch they are!

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Tell It Now

SOME THINGS should never be told. There are people who ruin their influence in the present by telling things from their past; mistakes they made which belong to the past and should be left there.

Then, there is the uncomplimentary information about other people that is so freely spread about.

We have no reason for telling it, no point in telling it; and we and everybody else would be better off if it were not told.

Occasionally some uncomplimentary information must be revealed. Even then, it should be done with the greatest regret and reluctance.

TELLING WHAT SHOULD not be told, and not telling what should be told is a strange phenomenon in human behavior. We know something good about someone, but we don't tell it.

Why? We appreciate the useful service performed by somebody, but we do not express our appreciation.

Why? We may have information that will encourage someone, or help improve an unhappy situation; but we don't reveal it. Why? We hear a complimentary report about the work, or action, or attainment of others; but we don't tell it. Why?

IT IS IMPORTANT to know what not to tell, but it is also important to know what to tell and tell it when and where it helps. There is untold good to be accomplished by telling what should be told, and telling it now.

This is one of the areas of usefulness in which all of us can make significant contributions.

WE CAN ACTUALLY BRING about substantial improvement in the social climate.

We can effectively offset the view that there is nothing anybody is corrupt; that no deeds are performed; that no one is trusted.

THERE IS GOOD in the words and deeds of many persons are honest and upright deeds are being performed by the majority of individuals who are worthy.

These are the things that should be told now.

IT IS NOT UNCOMMON for someone say, "Nobody can be honest"; or "Everybody is a crook"; or "There are no honest workers"; or some other remark.

These are hurtful, and very destructive. In fact, they are discouraging.

THERE ARE MANY PEOPLE can be trusted; many persons are honorable citizens; there are people, many honest people; there must be hundreds or thousands of workers.

Let us tell it now. Such good is always appropriate, and is needed today.

THERE IS NO REASON should permit the bad news of preeminence over the good news. We do not want to be naive; neither do we want to be misled.

THE TRUE, the pure, the beautiful, the lovely things; and the true virtue and good report must be every day.

These, as part of the reality must not be ignored. Tell it now.

GUESS YUH NOTICED I've been demoted again. At least I was in the last edition. Guess that'll teach me to crack wise about OL' ELVOR, huh?

On the other hand, it could have been that TR took some kind of cut in pay in order to be elevated. No doubt, a conspiracy of some kind.

IN CASE YOU'RE interested, the boss wasn't very enthusiastic about my suggestions about getting off Friday afternoons, and eliminating Mondays. Seems that if it wasn't for what little I do around the mill, he might give me FULL time off.—Less pay!

TIME WAS THAT if you had a job working for the federal government, you were a man of importance. Smile, friend, if you have any income at all, you ARE working for the government!

IF NIXON'S TV speech left you feeling kind of empty, welcome to the crowd. Seems HE didn't do it, either.—Still suspect the butler.

GUESS IT'S HUMAN nature, hero worshipers. Seems we're looking for someone to admire and look up to.

Seems we were born with the Never is it stronger than it is in younger years. Naturally, the begins to weaken as we become and our heroes begin to fade away.

SOMETIMES THIS is caused by disillusionment in finding that we are only human, or because the trust. So many times it may be they have begun to fade, stop reason of old age catching up with us.

Nonetheless, we seem to be looking for someone to use for our examples. Dads, especially, are conscious of this inborn trait of youngsters.

IF WE SEE that we can't fill in (of proper example) perhaps better acquaint our youngsters with someone that will. He can be found in Holy Scriptures.

LOOKS LIKE THE tire industry may have some research to do in the design of truck tires because of noise pollution. It seems that the noise pollution board is on trucks because of their loud noise, not only from the engine, but from the tires.

I understand the noise from trucks must be reduced to 95 decibels at 50 feet. This is about one and a half times greater than the decibels recorded in most conversations.

THE SHORTAGES OF various products seem to grow. First it was energy, food, feed grain, cotton, toilets and now, according to the Dallas Morning News the breweries are in trouble and they are not able to supply the demand.

HAD THE OPPORTUNITY to attend the dedication of the new cotton seed mill earlier this week. Looks like cottonseed flour will have a place in our everyday diets. The various pasteries we had an opportunity to sample were very tasty and the drink made from cottonseed was refreshing. Looks like Mrs. housewife has a new challenge in the line of baking.

THERE IS STILL plenty of griping about the high cost of food. A lot of this cost can be eliminated if you watch how you shop. I can recall when lunch meat was cut into slices by the butcher. Now most people buy the pre-packaged luncheon meat that runs around $2 a pound. If you have your butcher slice the same amount for you, you could save about 75 cents per pound.

It is your convenience foods that your grocery prices up. The prepared heat and serve type foods cost more. Actually when you buy this type food are more or less buying a meal of help to prepare your food.

It is my opinion that we have America waste too much food. A part of our grocery budget goes down the disposal or into the garbage can because of improper planning or buying. Also at the same time, we in America are not properly utilizing investments in cookstoves and appliances.

Nuff said...back to the dog house.

NOTICED IN THE last edition of Leader-News that Cornball is a man that he is the restful type. From what I hear, this is true. I know for a fact when there is a swarm of bees in a neighborhood, that he becomes restful and locks the doors and windows. I even believe that he covers his face with fear of these hard working creatures. Again his wife has to go find a home for these tired workers.

WEATHER REPORT—Possibly the earlier part of this week and more fair weather for the remainder of the month.

HINTS FOR THE MAKER—Ever think of iron-on patches inside the garment where it starts to wear? You can use iron-on patches that don't show and areas are reinforced to wear longer. HOPE EVER URGES us to be better tomorrow will be better.

She wore a matching veil of sheer English illusion which drifted to fingertip length from a beaded Juliet cap. The three circular tiers of the veil were completely trimmed in peau d'ange lace.

The reception following the ceremony was held at the bride's home at 503 South Harrison in Crosbyton.

The tiered wedding cake, champagne punch, peppermint mints and nuts were served from a table covered with an antique crocheted cloth over hot pink made by the bride's great-grandmother, the late Mrs. G. C. Pass. Appointments were silver and crystal. The silver coffee service was placed in the den.

Stand Up!

...it makes the "counting of heads" much easier. But when one stands one should be sure he stands for something. No need waiting for tomorrow. It may be too late to register a vote. It is quite easy to persuade one's pooch to stand, to register his want.

It is quite a different thing when we ask a friend, a neighbor to vote an issue.

Perhaps we should be more anxious to make a choice. God said, "Choose ye this day whom you will serve." It would be a better world if we would bounce to our feet to be counted, when God, the church, friends or family are in jeopardy. Sound footing will help when vital issues are at stake. May we hold fast to right, to God, and when we come to stand up in judgment, before the "book of life" we shall not be afraid.

We shall be standing for something.

Homemaking Tips

BY Lynn Bowermon

Nothing brings about happier thoughts than a lazy warm summer afternoon and a freezer of homemade ice cream. Ice cream began as a delicacy for the nobles of long ago, but today we all enjoy this summer cooler. At this time more than 200 flavors exist, however, the nationwide favorite is vanilla.

For some new ideas on serving ice cream let's try the following recipes. There's almost as much fun in preparing ice cream delicacies as there is in eating them.

Banana Nut Ice Cream
5 eggs separated
2 1/2 cups sugar
Vanilla Junket
1 large can of milk
3 bananas
3/4 cups nuts

Finish filling with milk
Whip eggs to stiff peaks and add sugar and junket powder to whites. Beat egg yolks and can of milk together. Combine two mixtures. Fold in mashed bananas and nuts. Makes excellent vanilla ice cream by leaving out nuts and bananas and adding two teaspoons of vanilla.

Peach Ice Cream
(Or other fruit)
1 qt milk plus 1 cup (or more depending on amount of fruit to be used)
1 can sweetened condensed milk
1 small can evaporated milk
1 pint of whipping cream
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons vanilla flavoring
3 cups (or less) mashed peaches (fresh), or strawberries mixed with 3/4 cup sugar and juice of 1 lemon (other fruit may be substituted such as 6 well ripened bananas or one 2 1/2 can crushed pineapple. If pineapple is used, reduce the amount of sugar 1/2 cup.

Combine first 6 ingredients and freeze to a mush in an electric or hand-turned freezer. Add peaches (or other fruit) mix and freeze hard. Remove dasher and pack with ice and salt until ready to serve. Keeps well in deep freeze without getting icy.

Carcasses without kidney and pelvic fat are now being double stamped with the yield grade on each quarter or primal cut, while those with kidney and pelvic fat intact are still identified by a single stamping.

The change comes from the Meat Grading Branch of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service, according to Dr. Frank Orts, meats specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Yield grades indicate the percentage of salable meat in a carcass and range from grade 1, the highest yield, to grade 5, the lowest. The most significant indicators of the amount of salable meat are the amount of fat on the outside, as well as the amount of kidney, heart and pelvic fat, points out Orts.

In the past, all graded carcasses have been stamped with a single, identifying shield-shaped stamp on each quarter or primal cut.

However, some meat packers are now removing the kidney and pelvic fat before carcasses are graded. This materially reduces the yield grade although the amount of outside fat remains the same, says Orts.

For buyers of whole carcasses, it makes little difference whether the yield grade is determined before or after removal of the kidney and pelvic fat, except that there is less fat to remove from inside the carcass.

However, those buying quarters or primal cuts should note the marking procedure as the removal of kidney and pelvic fat does influence the yield of salable meat, notes the specialist.

Green Gage Plum Ice Cream
1 No. 3 can of green gage plums
3 1/2 cups sugar
Juice of 3 lemons
3 cups cream
5 cups milk

Run plums through sieve. Add lemon juice and sugar. Let chill. Add cream and milk and freeze.

Tutti-Fruitti Ice Cream
3 mashed bananas
Juice of 3 oranges
Juice of 3 lemons
1 small can crushed pineapple
3 cups sugar
3 cups evaporated milk
3 cups milk
1/4 cup chopped cherries

Few drops of red food coloring (if desired)
Mix all ingredients together, pour into freezer can. Pack ice and salt around can, freeze.

Remember ice cream should be stored at 0 degrees F. for maximum flavor and quality. Serve ice cream within 3 to 4 weeks; for best results in dipping put the ice cream in the refrigerator for 15 to 30 minutes or until it reaches about 8 degrees F.

When filling the freezer container, fill only 3/4 to 7/8 full as there must be allowance for expansion. To freeze the ice cream, use 8 parts of ice to 1 part of ice cream salt. Finely crushed ice melts faster and hastens freezing so it is best to crush large pieces. Be careful not to let salt or salt water into the ice cream.

A fall vegetable garden can be a bountiful source of good food and a richly rewarding enterprise for the serious gardener, says a vegetable specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

A vast array of vegetables can be started from seed in early August for harvest in September and on through the coldest months. Some of the cold tolerant kinds, particularly the root crops, can be harvested well into the winter, Roberts says.

"Certain varieties are well adapted for fall harvest in this area," he adds. "Topcrop and Contender are quick-growing, green snap beans. Resistant Kinghorn Wax is a prolific yellow snap bean that grows fast. These snap beans are well suited to home freezing and canning."

"Many varieties of green and yellow summer squash will produce heavily before frost," the specialist says. "We like the yellow-fruited Seneca Butterbar and Early Prolific Straightneck, as well as the green-gruited Cefini and Storrs. Green Hybrid for summer squash."

Leaf and head lettuce thrive the cool weather of fall. Buttercrunch, Butter King, Ruby (red leaf), Salad Bowl, and Great Lakes 659 (head) are proven performers. Green Curled endive will sharpen the flavor of fall salads a bit, Roberts advises.

The cabbage family is well represented by brussels sprouts (Jade Cross), cabbage (Early Jersey Wakefield, Ruby Ball, Superette, and Savoy King), cauliflower (Snowball Y and Snow King Hybrid), broccoli (Green Comet), collards (Vates), and Kale (Dwarf Scotch), according to Roberts.

Green onions of the White Sweet Spanish variety can be started now and pulled throughout the late fall, he says. Swiss chard can be picked continuously, even after the light frosts of fall. The Viking or American varieties of spinach are cold hardy and can be picked long after frost.

Says Roberts, the root crops such as carrots, beets, parsnips, turnips, and rutabagas are well protected from cold by the soil. Carrots and parsnips can be pulled throughout the winter if the soil around them is mulched.

For utmost satisfaction, gardeners should pay close attention to seeding rate, planting depth, amount per

Officials To Discuss Test

Pending changes in brucellosis testing regulations for the cattle industry will be discussed in a specially called meeting Monday, Aug. 20, of cattle industry representatives and others.

Two officials of the Texas Animal Health Commission will be on hand to discuss the regulations. They are Mac Tiner, area 1 brucellosis supervisor, and Dr. G. D. Lindsey, area 1 veterinarian.

The meeting begins at 1:30 p.m. at the South Plains Electric Cooperative, 110 North Amarillo Road, in Lubbock.

The testing program under the new regulations is expected to begin Oct. 1, and is designed to eliminate the disease from Texas, allowing the state to be certified brucellosis free.

Joe Blevins To Meet

Committee

Joe Blevins of Littlefield, serving on the Land Use Management and Planning Committee for SPAG (South Plains Association of Governments) and will meet with the committee to discuss the inventory of resources within the South Plains Region, Monday, August 27, in the Southwestern Service Reddy Room, 50th Street in Lubbock.

The committee is currently inventorying existing resources within the South Plains region. The committee will also discuss recommendations being made to local governmental agencies to adopt goals and objectives relating to the wise use of resources within the region.

David Sullivan, professor of law at Texas University, will be on the committee on the land resource management.

Sullivan, a SPAG Resource Management committee member, has been serving as consultant secretary, council of environmental quality executive office president, this past summer in California and Washington, D.C.

The public is invited to attend the meeting.

Consumers And Phase IV

Having been raised in a society where food has been abundant and low-priced relative to most of the countries in the world, Americans have come to take their food supplies for granted. But now the picture has changed!

The Phase IV program to halt inflation begins Aug. 12 and will directly affect the food industry as well as most every aspect of the United States economy, says Dr. William Vastine of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In spite of publicity emphasizing beef shortages in warehouses and retail stores, there has been little evidence that the continued beef price freeze of Phase IV will be compromised before the Sept. 12 deadline, he notes.

However, consumer pressure to remove this price freeze combined with that being exercised by retailers, processors and produce groups would appear to be forthcoming.

Meanwhile, the only hope lies in this fall's harvest. "If the 6 percent increase in the corn crop over last year and the 24 percent increase in soybeans, 5 percent increase in grain sorghum, and percent increase in the crop is realized, some relief by late 1973 or early 1974 would be expected."

According to Dr. William Vastine of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, agricultural producers will be most directly affected in the short-run by the following: (1) the beef price freeze that continues until Sept. 12, (2) only dollar for dollar price increases on commodities not frozen may be passed on to processors, wholesalers and retailers, (3) decreases in raw agricultural costs must be passed on to consumers, (4) beef price increases after the proposed freeze termination must be on a dollar for dollar basis.

Several other aspects of Phase IV are of interest, notes the Texas A&M University System specialist

Former Littlefield Resident Attends Ranger Celebration

Mrs. L. J. Foley of Austin, former resident of Littlefield, attended the Sesquicentennial celebration of the Texas Rangers which was held in Waco recently.

With Mrs. Foley were her daughter and son-in-law, Pat and Bill Whitten, also of Austin.

More than 3,000 people attended the groundbreaking ceremonies to see Governor Briscoe and Senior Ranger Captain Clint Peoples turn the first earth for the Texas Ranger Hall of Fame to be built on the Brazos River at Fort Fisher in Waco.

Mrs. Foley and the Whittens were among the 1,500 invited guests who attended the Commemorative Banquet held that same evening at the Waco Convention Center.

Among the honored guests present were Governor and Mrs. Dolph Briscoe; the Texas Public Safety Commissioners; Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety; Clint Walker, motion picture star who served as master of ceremonies at the banquet.

Another former Littlefield resident in attendance at the festivities was Jack Jackson, a Texas Ranger stationed at Uvalde.

HOW MANY BOOKS does your child read? Mrs. Alice Cowen (left) sits before a stack of books representing the number an average elementary grade pupil without disabilities will read during a single school year. In front of Mrs. Frances Duke is the number the two Dimmitt teachers says a child with such disabilities will read in same period of time. (WTSU Photo)

Teachers Publish 'Library' Story

Two Dimmitt school teachers, master's degree graduates of West Texas State University, have been notified of acceptance of an article for publication in the Instructor, an educational journal.

Mr. Alice Cowen of Dimmitt and Mrs. Frances Duke of Route 1, Springlake said the article is on "Emphasis on Library Reading for Problem Readers."

Teaching remedial reading at the elementary and junior high level, the two teachers have developed a method of instruction through the reading of library books are interesting to the pupils do not exceed his level.

"We have established a library in our own carefully selected books for students," Mrs. Cowen said. "They find and choose books they want to read just try and interest and encourage them to read the whole book," she said. "If a child loses part of a book, we sometimes read a chapter or two or even the whole book," she said. "When they finish a book, we encourage them to go on to more books," she said.

Each child develops a program attuned to his individual reading level, teachers explained. The books are selected on an individual basis.

"After they finish the book they compile about a minute oral report to the class about the book whether or not they liked it," Mrs. Cowen said. This remedial program was begun last spring by the two teachers evaluating the results. Women said it had been successful.

"We hope to further the course so that it will be even more effective," Mrs. Cowen said. "We think motivating the children in their own selection of reading will be more successful."

MR. AND MRS. Archie Sorley entertained Saturday night in honor of their daughter's birthday, Mrs. Johnny Lewis, also in honor of their granddaughter's birthday. Jennifer Kelley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Kelley. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Kelley and Jennifer, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Lewis of Houston, the Rev. and Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. Pearl Schreier and Cynthia Sorley. Birthday cake and ice cream were served.

A Child's Third Year Important To Security

A child's third year brings many new and exciting changes in his development—often accompanied by over-expectations from parents.

"During this period, a child gains awareness of the world around him. At the same time, his personality expresses itself in several ways," says Jane Fleischer.

The family life education specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, pointed out that "the child's increasing ability to be sociable—plus his great pleasure in being with his parents—prompt them to live and enjoy him even more.

"However, parents and others must realize the child is still very young—so don't expect him to have good judgement yet.

"A two-year-old still needs guidance and protection to keep him happy, healthy and safe.

"Also, refrain from making comparisons between your child and others his age," the specialist added. "Of course he's different—every child is different from every other.

"More than anything else at this point, the child needs a chance to be himself, to gain in independence and feel secure."

Although understandably anxious for each new word and fresh evidence of his progress, keep in mind that he isn't entered in a race, Miss Fleischer emphasized. "He grows, develops, learns and achieves at his own pace."

Concerning manners, she pointed out that young children develop good manners from observing consideration for others being practiced within his own family.

"Although too young to be taught etiquette, a two-year-old is old enough for learning to say 'thank you, hello and goodbye.'"

"Even so, don't force him. Instead, simply show pleasure when he makes the right response.

"Also, show your pride in the child—and don't hesitate to let him know your feelings."

Some children go through a shy or timid stage. During this period, Miss Fleischer advised using caution when involving the child with strangers.

"Don't feel you must immediately introduce him to someone he doesn't know or seldom sees.

"Instead, let him take the lead. When he's at ease, probably he will want to enter the conversation," the specialist concluded.

The Lonely Heart

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

Unless a homeowner has some sound knowledge of textiles, or knows just whom to turn to for expert advice, it can be extremely difficult to know how to purchase carpeting.

If you have decided that carpeting all or part of your home will give it that finishing touch, you are headed toward a major—and an expensive—step in home improvement.

But where do you go from there? You may have formed some basic ideas about hue or color, and know whether you'll settle for shag or sheared type of carpeting.

You may start watching carpet ads, and confusion can set in. A similar type of carpeting may be advertised at various rates. You must check to see if the listed price is for the carpeting only, or whether it includes cost of installation—a substantial item. And, does the installation estimate also include the price of padding to put under the carpet?

This sort of variation in pricing is not necessarily an indication of misrepresentation of total cost. Since some flooring firms contract out their installation work, their only interest is in showing you the actual carpet cost. Others include it in a package.

The usual guide to carpeting cost is in terms of so many dollars per square yard. And while some volume sellers market carpet by the linear foot, for the do-it-yourselfer, most flooring specialists consider the per-square-yard estimate to be the consumer's easiest indication of expense, without unnecessary waste of material.

If you run across an offer of carpeting quoted by the cost per square foot, beware. This can be misleading.

The same holds true for the type of advertising which boasts that you can have "three rooms carpeted for as little as —"

Obviously, it would be impossible to cover three rooms containing a total of, say, 80 square yards, for the same price as another three rooms containing a total of only 60 square yards.

According to complaints which have been received by my Consumer Protection Division, this sort of advertising has been used as a come-on for what is known as "bait-and-switch."

That means that after a consumer goes to see goods boosted at a special price, the salesman disparages the quality of the material, and tries to talk the person into accepting a better grade of merchandise instead of the one advertised.

"Bait-and-switch" is one of the deceptive trade practices which is prohibited under the new Deceptive Practices-Consumer Protection Act.

Other prohibited practices include advertising that a product, such as carpeting, is on sale, when in fact it is not; misrepresenting that high quality carpeting can be purchased at a special price because it is left over from a commercial contract, when that is not true, and claiming that carpeting is "guaranteed," if no written guaranty is furnished to the customer.

Since carpeting is a major investment for any homeowner, it would be well worth your while to bone up on the differences in carpet qualities and prices. Literally, hundreds of carpet choices are available on the market, and if you understand your needs, it is quite possible to find a real bargain.

Accredited consumer guides and governmental textiles brochures and county home demonstration agents can be helpful in making your selection.

And do not hesitate to shop around, too, when it comes to financing the cost of carpeting. Compare the interest rates offered by the merchant, and the rates available through home improvement loans offered by savings and other lending institutions.

If you do encounter any deceptive practices, feel free to contact your local county or district attorney, or one of the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division offices in Austin, San Antonio, Dallas, Houston, Lubbock or El Paso.

Poison ivy will get you if you don't watch out.

What most people don't realize is that its poison is potent the year 'round—even after the plant is dead.

Furthermore its poison can be transferred from one person to another by clothing or shoes—even by animals that brush up against you or that you pet after they have run through a bed of ivy.

It's not uncommon for campers who pick up firewood to be poisoned—or even from the smoke of burning poison ivy buds. In this instance the buds emit droplets of poison ivy oil that are carried away in the smoke and settle on clothing, then seep through to the skin.

You can lessen the damage of ivy poisoning by a thorough washing of hands and arms as quickly as possible after contact—and by a good scrubbing of all wearing apparel at the very first opportunity.

There are numerous "relief" medicines on the market.

But the best "cure" we have found is to rub the skin gently (don't ever scratch) or dab it lightly with cotton soaked in a mixture of 12 aspirin tablets and some camphor gum dissolved in a pint of rubbing alcohol. Apply it often.

Some say that after a bad case of poison-ivy-itch you're immune to the infection for a year or two. But, it could be that you're just a darn sight more careful and give the itchy vine a wide berth for a long time thereafter.

We're helping more people in more ways than ever.
