ONE, IT'S BONE DRY is the only way the weather could be described up this week. Scott Lewis and his dog, Rene, examine a rain in the Thomas Lewis flower bed at 1402 Cherry Blossom Drive Saturday morning after hearing there is a 50 per cent chance for precipitation this weekend.

City Hears Requests to Wrecking Yards

Councilmen approved the granting of a permit during Thursday afternoon public hearing, and re-scheduled another public hearing concerning another use permit.

Councilmen approved Jarrell Giles' application to relocate his auto wrecking yard and designated several specifics for the permit. Six adults appeared to oppose the permit, but after details were discussed, a workable arrangement was reached.

It was given 90 days to erect a six-foot wood fence along the south and west side of the yard, and was asked to pull weeds down. Councilmen and City Attorney Ted Sansom to review the contract details with Giles. When the contract is signed, the permit is granted.

At a public hearing, concerning A. Giles' proposal to relocate the City Wrecking Yard, was conducted. One person appeared to oppose the issuance of a use permit, and no one appeared to be in opposition "for" the permit.

Cityman James Shotwell made a motion that the special use be rejected, and the motion died for lack of a second. Another public hearing on the same subject was scheduled for the March 18.

At a meeting of old business, councilmen approved a proposal for agricultural operations at the municipal airfield. It was decided to locate the buildings at the end of the taxiway and charge

Number With Benefits Goes From 115 To 418

The Littlefield school system's free and reduced lunch program is being abused and the lunchroom budget is soaring.

The program, designed to provide free and reduced lunches to low-income family students, was initiated here after the first of the year. Since that time the number of students getting free lunches has increased more than 300 per cent.

Because of this increase in free or reduced price meals, the additional work necessary to keep the records, and the loss of money from additional free lunches, the Littlefield system may have to decide whether to go along with the government program and be entitled to commodities or drop the program and lose the commodities and have to finance the entire cafeteria operations.

Under the program, schools either do it the governments' way or do without. "We might be just as well off financing the program ourselves as the government telling us how to run it and go into the hole anyway," Superintendent Paul I. Jones said this week.

"It could come to that, if the cost is more than the help," he said. "The board will make a judgment on that later."

Before the program went into effect here there were 115 students getting free lunches. After Christmas, when students returned to classes with the newly instituted free or reduced lunch program in effect, the number of students getting free or reduced lunches jumped from 115 to 418.

Multiplying this number of students by 22, an average number of school days in a month, this means the number of free or reduced price meals per month has increased from 2,539 to 9,196 a month since Jan. 1, 1971.

Under the federal law, school authorities aren't allowed to really investigate to see if a student is actually qualified to receive free or reduced lunches. The federal law governing the program allows a school to request some kind of income statement, but they are limited in the types of questions that can be asked to get an accurate financial picture.

Under the new law, school authorities may not even consider the kind of car the applicant drives, the amount of land owned, nor the type of house lived in or the kind of furniture in their house.

"If the school can't find this out, then what in the devil can they investigate?" an irate taxpayer asked. "It just burns me up."

Prior to the first of the year the school had its own check sheet. This can no longer be used. Such items as how many colored television sets, and whether or not the family is making so many payments on other items that there just isn't money left for their children's lunches can't be considered.

Income figures on many of the applications had been erased and other figures put in. There are also accusations of children going through the lunch line with a free ticket, then going to the school store and spending more than the price of a lunch ticket on candy.

In an effort to make up the losses incurred by the program, the school system is collecting state reimbursements

SAM CRISTAN reads an account of his abduction after he was kidnapped in Littlefield Wednesday afternoon by a hip talking Spanish man with a scar on his forehead. Cristan escaped near Nadine, N. M. and spent Thursday and Friday talking to law officers and reporters.

CRISTAN TELLS STORY OF KIDNAPPING

Abducted Man Still Jumpy

By NILAH RODGERS

"I'm a little jumpy about people," Sam Cristan said Saturday morning after peering out from a window before opening the door.

Sam spent about six hours with a yet unidentified kidnapper Wednesday after being abducted in Littlefield, and told to drive to Juarez, Mexico by back roads.

Cristan is employed by Grimes Auto here and when he got into his car about 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to go get a part for the car he was working on, someone lying in the back seat of his car told him in Spanish to keep driving. "I said a cuss word in Spanish," Cristan said, "and was going to turn around, but the man told me he had a gun and to just keep driving." When the man straightened up in the back seat, Cristan said he recognized him as the same man he'd seen around the cars on the car lot before he had gone home to eat his lunch.

Several saw Cristan's abductor before the mechanic was kidnapped. "I'm sure everything happened just the way Sam said it did," James Grimes said. "I just feel real fortunate it wasn't my wife or daughter or son or someone else."

One of the men in the shop that day first noticed the man between and behind the two buildings at Grimes Auto. "And my little boy told me there was someone out there," James said, "but I didn't go see. I'm so thankful he didn't take my boy."

Grimes said his employee was still so scared he said hardly talk when he got back to Littlefield the next evening. "Everything indicates that it happened right down the line just like Sam said it did," Grimes said, "and the FBI feel the same way."

Cristan told Grimes he spent a miserable night Wednesday after telling Hobbs, N. M. authorities about his ordeal. Reporters converged on Cristan like mosquitoes at a nudist colony. At that time Rene Guzman, the man wanted in connection with killing three sheriff's deputies at west Dallas was still at large and the kidnapper's description slightly resembled Guzman.

"The man had a fresh scar on his forehead," Cristan said. "The reporters wanted me to say it was across his cheek. Guzman's face looked full, and this guy had a weary, hungry look in the face. He needed a shave, and it had been a while since he'd eaten because I could hear his stomach growl. He had hair down into his shirt collar, and he used a Spanish word 'bra' that I'd never heard around here before. That's a hippy word from South Texas for brother. He talked hip - bra head this way, bra turn there."

Cristan never got a head-on look at the man, and only saw him from the side or in the rear view mirror.

After Cristan passed Levelland, the kidnapper made him cut into a farm road. Cristan said he was about out of gas by

Drug Uses Heard At P-TA

The Littlefield Parent-Teachers Association held an open meeting Thursday night in the high school auditorium.

The speech class of LHS presented a play, "The People Next Door", on the present problems of drug usage. After the play concluded, Capt. Bill Cox of the Lubbock Police Department was introduced as guest speaker.

The text of Capt. Cox' talk was on drugs, and drug users, and the law. Capt. Cox explained, to an audience of approximately 50 adults and 30 students, the difference between the habit-forming drug, such as marijuana, and the addicting drugs, such as heroin or the opiate family.

Cox gave a vivid description of the techniques used by addicts to get drugs into their system, and the methods that they use to purchase these drugs, mostly by crime.

One of the biggest problems the police encounter is glue sniffing. The solvents in glue, gas, paint thinner and aerosol sprays are easily available to anyone, does give some sort of "high" feeling, but it severely damages the brain, liver, throat and lungs" even after very short usage, Cox said.

LSD (acid) is a very dangerous drug, Cox explained, because it can leave the user in a "high" state for up to three months. LSD and marijuana are hallucinogens and drastically affect the nervous system and the sensory system of the body.

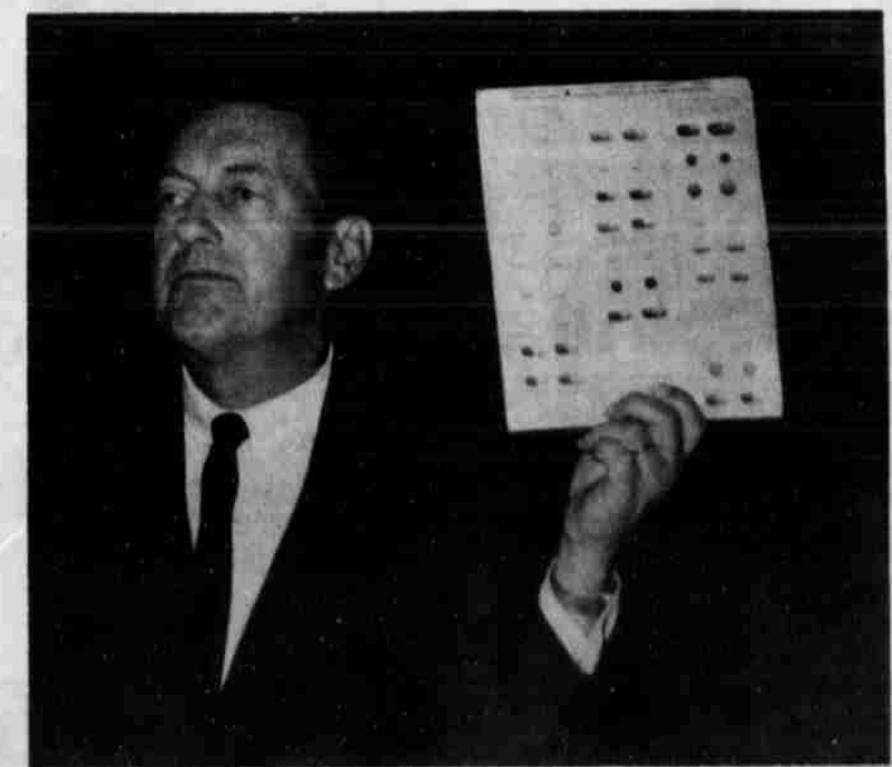

Cox told the audience that the two main reasons people try dope are:

1. They wonder how it feels and how it will affect them, and 2. that friends, mostly close friends, say that "I use it and it hasn't hurt me," goading people into using it.

Jack Christian, Elementary II principal, introduced the Committee of 11, a group of fifth and sixth graders studying the local drug problem. The Committee decided that it would like to write and produce an original skit concerning the drug problem.

Author of the skit will be Christa Beth Bradley, the director will be Leigh Kirby, and the stage manager will be Blake Wood. The play will be on live television, Channel 5, later in the spring.

CAPT. BILL COX of the Lubbock Police Department shows a chart of various types of pills used or that can be obtained by drug users. Capt. Cox addressed the Littlefield Parent-Teachers Association on the problems concerning drug use and abuse Thursday night at the high school auditorium.

Gayle's Batterings

By GAYLE MILLS
LEADER-NEWS SOCIETY EDITOR

THIS WEEK let's concentrate on some good "home hints," "cooking tips" and "odds and ends." I know all of you women are interested, like myself, in latching onto any new "hints."

MY MOTHER keeps me well supplied with "scrubbers" made from nylon net—in real cute different shapes and sizes. They are just great to keep the bathtub clean, sinks, cleaning windows, mirrors and stuck on pans. They are great to keep the white mineral deposit, caused from hard water, that collects around your faucets. This one may not be new to all of you—but to some it will be.

TO WASH small items in the washer, make a bag of nylon net, use a nylon sock and tie at the top.

PUT YOUR old dish rack to good use—it is easy to separate various sizes of grocery bags by putting them out of your way in a dish rack—easy to get to when you need them.

DID YOU KNOW a mirror rubbed with soap and then washed off won't steam up?

OLD PIECES of soap are wonderful to pick up bits of broken glass.

SOAK a new rope in soapy water for five minutes—will soften it.

MAKE A BRIDAL shower decoration by attaching different kitchen utensils to a larger utensil, such as a rolling pin. It makes a real cute mobile that is quite decorative, and serves as a practical gift that can be disassembled by the bride-to-be, to provide her with an assortment of useful kitchen items.

PAD YOUR HAMMER—if hammering delicate nails or upholstery tacks put an adhesive backed bandage over the head of the hammer. It will prevent those awful marks on woodwork or walls—that is if you should miss the tack or nail.

IF YOU SHOULD ever want to ship flowers long distances for some reason or another—insert the stems into a potato—the potato juice keeps them nice and fresh, and they won't wilt.

COOKING TIPS

IF BARBECUED chicken appears to be burning before it is cooked, chances are the barbecue sauce is too thick. Thin it with chicken broth, tomato juice, or water to help reduce the burning and prevent undercooking of the chicken.

DID YOU KNOW that fresh fruits will flourish in the refrigerator if you transfer them from cardboard box to sealed container. Berries—on the other hand—should be spread out on a shallow dish and left uncovered. They should also be washed just before serving.

NO MATTER what the song used to say, you can put bananas in the refrigerator—when they are fully ripe. But, be sure to store them in sealed containers so odor won't transfer to other foods.

EGGS tend to keep longer when stored broad end up—because this position protects the sealed air cell just below the broad end of the shell.

TO KEEP CHEESE from sticking to the grater, put a little amount of cooking oil on the grater with either a small pastry brush or a paper towel and rub a bit—then when washed the cheese will come right off.

IF YOUR children love dip as well as mine do, they will love this idea when presented to them. Put cheese dip in a plastic squeeze bottle—a neat trick to serve a tasty snack. No more broken chips or crumbs. With a squeeze bottle, you can always keep the dip on hand refrigerator. If dip is too thick to get through the hole in space cut off tip to make hole larger.

SQUEEZE BOTTLES are great for flouring meat—and easy too. Use a squeeze bottle with several small holes in the top. Place the dispenser along with your pepper shakers and fingertip use. Also convenient for making that last bit of gravy. You can use empty plastic bottles, as they have plastic tops with holes already in them.

HERE'S HOPING some of these hints will brighten your day!

ODDS AND ENDS
DID YOU know the first trolley car was made in 1842 in N. Y. City?

CHOCOLATE means "water" in Aztec!

THE ORANGE tree is a kind of evergreen!

LOBSTERS chew with their claws! Chomp—chomp!

THE MILLER MOth got its name to the fact that "mills" around—especially in the vicinity of electric lights.

SOAP POWDER was first produced in 1843 by Benjamin T. Babbitt!

THE MAY FLY lives for less than a day, then dies! Aye, aye!

SUSIE HUMPHREYS

Engagement Announced

AMHERST—Mr. and Mrs. Jim Humphreys of Amherst announce the engagement of their daughter Miss Susie Humphreys to Mark E. Balko of Lingo, N. M.

Susie is a senior at Amherst High School. The prospective bridegroom is a freshman at West Texas State University.

Rose Zybur was named queen of the Be-Little Tea Club during their meeting Tuesday night.

Total loss recorded for all members present was 150 pounds, and each member answered roll call with number of pounds she had lost or gained.

Hazel Davis presided for the meeting, and members sang a fellowship song and said a pledge in unison.

A WOMAN'S VIEW

Prayer

By PEARL BRANDON

"FATHER, I don't know how to pray, as I ought to pray... or what to pray for."

him up to God in prayer. If I am ill, I pray to get well, or for strength to bear my affliction.

IF I AM in doubt, I pray for faith.

SHALL I PRAY for riches? I have sufficient for today, and tomorrow I may not need as much.

I think most of us have had the experience of having our prayers answered almost miraculously. We have also experienced the long wait for the answer to our petitions... and the agony of doubt.

Once a very rich man lived in our community. When he died a young man was heard to say, "You mean that man had to die and leave all that money!"

"DON'T YOU hear me Lord; why do you wait so long. My pain is great." Then there are times when we pray only for strength to bear the burden of that day.

YES, HE DIED; he went the way of all flesh. All he has left is a small plot in a lonely cemetery. No one even remembers him very well; only the money he had.

BUT IT SEEMS to me real prayer is when we live so closely attuned to God that our soul reaches out seeking the Creator who gave it life.

GOD HEARS the heart speaking regardless of the words we utter. My desire speaks louder than my words.

"Why Should I care if my brother annexes both his and my share; My Father owneth a kingdom and I am his privileged heir.

IF I AM in trouble, I pray for God to help me through the difficult situation.

Then prayer is as natural as breathing.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Demanding Rights

By BOB WEAR

DEMANDING RIGHTS seems to have become an obsession with mankind. Granting that such action may be justified once in awhile, it hardly seems that this is a well thought-out guideline for living.

hassle about human rights. Many persons are demanding considerations and privileges which are grossly unreasonable, but they claim them as rights.

THE PRESENT-DAY practice of demanding rights can be pushed and pushed until there will be no rights for anybody.

In fact, it is unbelievable that so many people could know so little about "rights" and how to provide them for everybody.

Many instances, demanding rights will lead to the infringement upon the rights of others. There is another great evil.

"THERE IS NO RIGHT without a parallel duty, no liberty without supremacy of the law, no high destiny without earnest perseverance, no greatness without self-denial."

MANY DEMANDS are unjustified, because those making the demands are actually trying to take, by force, what others have earned.

If all of us will do our best to fully discharge our duties, we will thus do the most we can to preserve and protect our rights.

They show no regard for the rights of other people, and give no indication of being responsible in what they are trying to do.

If, however, we continue to demand what we think are our "rights", and ignore and neglect our "duties"; the day will come when there will be no "rights."

RIGHTS ARE NOT rights if we do not know how to use them constructively, or if we refuse to use them constructively.

THE ONLY RIGHTS for you and me are limited rights. There can never be a life style such as some persons envision.

If we are going to use them for destruction; to destroy the property of other people, or to molest other people; we forfeit them.

They show no regard for the "rights" of other people, but seem to consider themselves privileged persons who are immune from all laws of man and of God.

Rights should be taken from us. It is becoming increasingly obvious that there is much too much misunderstanding about rights; their source and what they really are.

"RIGHTS" separated from corresponding duties, obligations and restraints rapidly become the shackles that bind human beings in the most hopeless form of personal bondage.

"CONFUSION" is probably the word that most nearly describes the current

Solutions

JIMMY R. ALLEN

THERE HAS BEEN a rush to correct or cover the scandal of stock manipulations and profit-making by public officials in connection with a special-interest bank bill last legislative sessions.

pressures placed upon them. Unless we want the legislature peopled only by the rich, we must provide for adequate salaries.

Those who would cover it use strategies varying from denial of wrong-doing, pointing to many precedents of such actions by others, to burying it in humor.

SOME HONEST—but not wealthy—men are serving at great sacrifice.

THOSE ATTEMPTING to correct it have secured passage of a bill asking voters to create a commission on ethics with the additional responsibility of setting salaries for public officials.

They are constantly allured by perfectly legal ways of profitmaking and are in danger of becoming obligated before they realize it. They need the support of all the people if they are to represent all the people.

Others have questioned the bill saying that packaging it in this fashion is a shrewd way of killing it. Voters will not accept the idea of a pay raise in this guise.

NO STRATEGY for solving the crisis of confidence and character now facing our state is going to be a perfect one. This step is one which should be given serious consideration in the interest of restoring integrity in public office.

CHRISTIANS AND OTHER citizens of sensitive moral conscience should be aware of the fact that no commission on guidelines of behavior or level of pay will make a dishonest man honest. This is a matter of character.

The political world is not the only one in which decisions in gray must be made. Black and white moral decisions are easy but are scarce. Most Christians must work through decisions with many varying elements of right and wrong.

However, we should be concerned also with helping honest men resist tremendous GOD DOES NOT leave us without help. He provides his standards toward which we must strive, and He reveals them in the Bible.

He also promises that inner guidance of His spirit (John 16:13). Bringing the best of moral insights to bear, we should commit ourselves to be true to our best selves.

In this fashion, integrity can be achieved and shared in a world in travail.

"Sorry we're late Miss Hubbs... the driver of the school bus broke down!"

unproductive or inflammatory impatience. France concluded a summit conference with West Germany on Jan. 25—a conference dealing with bilateral and world problems. Nothing was decided.

THIS IMPATIENCE may have motivated much of our domestic progress, but it puts us at a decided disadvantage in dealing with Orientals and Asiatics.

THEY TALKED about the possibilities of European unification but neither put the other under any immediate give-or-take pressure.

Russia may be altogether as concerned as we are about Arab oil and Israeli guns, about the spillover from the Vietnamese war, about Berlin's vulnerability and Poland's restiveness and Red China's numbers—

BESIDES, for 200 years we managed to remain aloof from most of the world's many miniwars.

BUT RUSSIA has decided not to try to solve all or any of these problems right now.

It was only after radio and television—simultaneous communication—began to bring every tiny trouble spot on the planet home to each of us that our traditional preference for order and fairness and neatness caused us to jump up and in on squabbles which were way outside our proper precincts.

MAYBE AFTER the Communist Party Congress in March; maybe.

GOVERNMENT OF, by and for the people can be altogether as volatile as government left to some dictator's iron whim.

And maybe, by then, in some or all of these hot spots the fever will break.

So you and I will have to learn patience before it will be reflected on either end of Pennsylvania Avenue. You and I will have to learn that most hot potatoes, just set aside for a while, cool.

FRANCE, with deeper roots than ours, has learned some of this diplomatic patience—if only from generations of general no-goods can still bring about our indignation.

ONE OF MY occasional readers has chided me for being so free with my criticisms. "Nothing pleases you!" he says.

After some thought, I, maybe, have the feeling he's right. Could be, tho, if I looked about a bit, there just might be SOMETHING that pleases me!

WE, OF THE OLDER generation, can remember when ours was considered a "Christian" nation. We were taught to expect the best of others, as well as self. When they didn't live up to our expectations, they were so informed!

FOR INSTANCE, the wifemate knows a few secrets about bringing forth a purr or two from me instead of the common growl. Take for instance, that black chocolate cake she's so adept at baking.

Perhaps my generous supply of criticism is a hang-over from this teaching. Anyway, if the violators of society continually go un-noticed, what do they have to fear? Public indignation is a dreaded thing to the public "servants!"

"Course, I try to overlook the fact that there's usually some favor she's wanting when this special treat comes about. But shucks, who can be contrary, when he's full of that delicious cake?"

SURE, and I know, if I had twice the brains I've already got, I'd be a half-wit—However, it don't take a half-wit to see that something's rotten in the land of the Danes, concerning some of the happenings in our society!

Am I on the defensive?—Perhaps so, But, I suppose I'll still call 'em as I see 'em!

YET, I'M AWARE of the old maxim: "There's so much bad in the best of us, and so much good in the worst of us, that it ill behooves any of us to speak ill of the rest of us!"

THERE'S ONE thing for sure, tho, the things we THINK we see amiss within our society, are STILL worthy of note!—When it comes to the point that we consider the GOOD as being the "oddball" things that are worthy of notice, we're sunk!

Still, I wonder if I should see my 'ellowman commit a crime, should I keep silent? If I see him taking a wrong road, should I warn him? And if he is in ignorance; should I attempt to teach him? Silence may be golden, but it's a very poor means of communication.

I suppose we're guilty of taking the good for granted. That's what we're used to! But the cheats, the crooks and the liars and then because he didn't have much when they left Littlefield.

GEORGIA GREEN

Funeral services for Mrs. Georgia Green, 83, who died here Friday will be conducted today at 3 p.m. in Trinity Baptist Church.

"He asked me if I had a knife," Cristan said. "I told him I didn't, so he picked up a screw driver laying in the back seat floor board and told me to kill the car. Then he made me tear a big hole in the back seat and took my other set of car keys and said he was getting in the trunk of the car while I went back to this little place to get some gas."

Rev. Fred D. Blake will officiate at the services of the 50-year resident of Lamb County. Burial will be in the cemetery under the direction of the Price Funeral Home.

Cristan said the man gave him a $5 bill to pay for the gas and told him not to move his hands or head and to drive off as soon as he was gassed up, then stop and let him get back into the back seat.

She is survived by one son, Vernon Green of Sundown; three daughters, Mrs. Davidson and Mrs. Hazel Little of Okemah, Okla., and Mrs. Betty Del City; three brothers, Walter, Charlie Crawford of Wetumks, Okla. Roscoe Crawford of Woodbridge, Okla. grandchildren and 27 great-grandchildren.

Cristan said he knew he had an oil leak, but the man wouldn't let him take time to get oil when he stopped for gas. By the time he got to Nadine, N. M., Cristan said his oil light was coming on and five or six minutes later the motor started knocking.

Mr. Green was a resident of Littlefield for many years. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Littlefield.

Cristan said the man wouldn't let him go get oil but made him turn off the highway up into some grassland. "I was really getting scared," Cristan said, "and was trying to figure out what the man was thinking. I didn't think about trying to drive off and leave him the first time he got out to get in the trunk, but I had time to think that if he got out again I'd try it. He told me to turn the car back and head back to Nadine for oil. Then when he got out to get in the trunk and didn't make me kill the motor again, I knew I had a good chance."

... LUNCHES

The wind was blowing hard Wednesday and Cristan said the car windows were up, but he said he heard the man yell when he drove off.

wherever it can. On any free or reduced lunch, the school gets 30 cents back from the state. Students in the lower grades account for most of those getting meals. This evens out pretty well in primary grades, but in the upper grades where 45 cents is charged, that's automatic 15 cents loss.

Thursday morning Cristan's parents and wife went to New Mexico after him. His car is still there. "It's thrashed," he said. "It'll take an overhaul to get it going again. I'll be all right when I get over being jumpy."

Mrs. Jennie Aten, who works in the school nurse's office, accepts applications for the free or reduced lunch. She makes the investigation and recommendations to the committee. She pointed out that the program was instituted very rapidly. "It all happened quite suddenly," she said, "and the program going we had to go ahead and start. But as it goes along there are further inquiries being made."

APPAREL MARKETS. A new specialized marketing service pioneered by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. identifies 117,000 retail and wholesale apparel establishments by line of merchandise and price range. The computerized service evolved as a fast marketing aid to makers of various lines of apparel and accessories in selected price categories.

To begin with, the school was asked to verify information from 1969. They now to the point of asking for 1970 forms.

THE school board predicted the program would take added effort. But with the bookkeeping and added records that will be kept, it could come to the point where the program is costing more than helping, Superintendent Jones said.

"All the schools are raising a bunch of the re-imbursements," he said. "If we are raised it could be the key to whether we continue or go alone. We don't want added work if we're not going into it also."

"If we were running our own program we wouldn't be able to feed nearly as many students who may really need help," he felt the number who were getting help about right before the requirements became less stringent. The program certainly leaves reason to question eligibility of some," he concluded.

Easter Seal Appeal Begins Here March 1

Easter Seal Appeal in Lamb County begins March 1, according to J. D. Harrell, Jr., who serves as Representative for the area.

Harrell said that Easter Seal workers would begin homes in the county on March 1.

Harrell said the person to request rehabilitation from the Easter Seal is the person who is physically handicapped. These services include physical and occupational therapy, speech programs and information services to the many problems of the families of handicapped children and adults.

More than 21,000 people received the Texas Easter Seal with the costs of expert professional care rising, more money than ever will be needed.

Funds help support 20 centers in Texas, where crippled children and adults are treated, regardless of their ability to pay. Walkers, wheelchairs, and related services are provided to those who cannot provide for themselves.

"The people of Texas have always responded generously to helping the handicapped, and I feel certain they will make it possible to increase Easter Seal services to crippled Texans throughout the coming year," Patton said.

SOIL SAMPLE TIME

Soil samples should be taken now to complete plans for renovating pastures in the weeks and months ahead, remind soil chemists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Happy Home Environment
WHAT'S THE IDEAL?

Most people would agree that the ideal happy home environment must take into consideration the environmental aspects as well as the spiritual and human relationships.

In the present state of technology, electricity does its job well when it comes to environmental aspects of conditioning the air in your home.

The ideal system, now available, not only does its job of comfort heating in winter and comfort cooling in summer but also cleans the air itself. Electric humidifiers control the amount of moisture in the air and electrostatic air cleaners remove undesirable dust particles.

So then, 4 things to give you a happier home environment... electric heating, electric cooling, electric humidification and electric air cleaning... and all of it automatically. Ask your Public Service manager for complete information.

and get a spiritual lift for the whole week

In all the world no monument is more famous than Bartholdi's Statue of Liberty. Standing on an isle in New York harbor, it is the symbol of a nation that enjoys the ultimate in political and religious freedom. It is our American landmark.

Since 1886, the towering statue has been the first welcoming beacon for countless thousands coming to these shores to find a better life... The Life of Liberty, of Freedom, the American way. The inscription on its base carries a potent message of promise as significant as the monument itself:

"Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore.
Send these, the homeless, the tempest-tost, to me:
I lift my lamp beside the golden door."
Then, if we have in the past, may we never again take Liberty for granted... it wears a price tag.

BUILT IN 1913, this one room building served as Littlefield's first school house for two years. About 20 students in grades one through eight were taught by J. P. Hatchett, the first teacher in the Littlefield school system, who moved here from Causey, N. M. Arthur P. Duggan Sr., B. F. Smith and John Kling were the first board members. The house has been enlarged and is on East 7th. Standing proud, though weathered and cracked, the building gives a hint of past years. Listen closely and hear the bell as it rings, the shuffle of feet, gusty laughter as a prank is pulled, the whack of the baton against the table as the teacher signals for attention. The delightful smells of various items for lunch, wrapped in newspapers and in paper sacks, reach out. The lazy sun, the drip of water from the water tower, the creak of the windmill as it turns makes time stand still. (Sketch and story by Rev. Benny Goss)

Three Teachers Slate TSTA Convention

Three Lamb County educators will be official, voting delegates at the 92nd annual state convention of the Texas Teachers Association March 11-13 in Dallas.

The Lamb County Teachers Association will be represented by Leon Burch of Littlefield; Cordia H. Rgesheimer of Sudan; and Eloise Galloway of Olton.

They are among the 1,330 certified members of the 1971 House of Delegates which will meet on the last day of the convention to discuss and act on proposed amendments to the TSTA constitution, new policies, recommendations of standing committees, and other business.

The official delegates are elected from the 433 TSTA local associations throughout the state and certified by districts on the basis of one delegate per 100 members or fraction of 100. Every local association in the state is entitled to at least one official delegate.

With total membership in TSTA expected to hit a record 138,000 this year, attendance at the convention may exceed 10,000.

Featured speakers include A. D. (Andy) Holt, president emeritus of the University of Tennessee, and Art Linkletter, the well-known radio and television entertainer.

She is in California visiting with her three sons, Harold, Cecil and Rual Handey.

On the nationwide television show she had a sign saying she had 19 grandchildren and lived at Littlefield.

THE EFFECTS of spring-like weather can really put the vim and vigor in a person—whether it be spading your flower bed or taking a stroll with your dog. It felt so much like spring last week that so many people were outside taking advantage of the sunshine and warm weather. Mrs. Alvin Bagwell was busily spading her flower beds when the Leader-News photographer happened by her house. "Dino" and his master, Adelle Van Ostrand took a stroll to the grocery store to take advantage of the nice weather.

Saving Tips 1970 Returns

...you can save this year's taxes. ...many new ways to paying your 1971 ... 1970, no individual more than $900—a exemption of $600, plus a standard deduction without paying some ... the new low-income of $1,100, plus the exemption of $625, person to earn up to about paying any tax at amount permitted for ...

each personal exemption is raised to $625 as compared to the previous $600. Also, parents of foster children may now treat those children as their own and get the same tax break as other parents. Without a doubt, the most sweeping change—the feature of the law that affects everyone—is the removal of the surcharge. The new law is complex, however, and one needs expert assistance to find his way through the maze. In addition to the tax features already mentioned there are savings for others. Middle-income parents get benefits because of the liberalized rules for low-earning children. Single people can now look forward to their first tax relief in a long time and recently separated spouses get a unique break. Savings in all of these categories, plus the relief from the surcharge, mean one thing—this year you will have more take-home pay to meet Uncle Sam's tax crunch on the Ides of April.

Livestock Dealer Is Suspended For Violations

F. Donald Crenshaw, a livestock dealer of Clovis, N. M., has been suspended as a registrant for violating financial and payment requirements under the Packers and Stockyards Act, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. He purchased livestock throughout New Mexico, western Texas, and southeastern Colorado. USDA Judicial Officer Thomas J. Flavin suspended Crenshaw's registration under the P&S Act for 30 days, starting Jan. 31, 1971, and thereafter until he shows that his current liabilities no longer exceed his current assets. He may not operate as a livestock dealer during that time. Crenshaw was also ordered to cease and desist from:

1. Operating as a dealer while his current liabilities exceed his current assets;
2. Issuing insufficient funds checks in payment for livestock; and
3. Failing to pay, when due, the full purchase price of livestock purchased in commerce.

The cease and desist order—like a permanent injunction—was issued to insure future compliance with the P&S Act. P&SA requires livestock dealers to pay for livestock by no later than the close of business on the day following purchase, unless credit has been arranged in advance. Dealers must also maintain current assets equal to or in excess of current liabilities. These are measures of financial protection for sellers. The order was issued in default when Crenshaw failed to answer the administrative complaint issued by USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration. The P&S Act is a fair trade practices law. It promotes and maintains fair and open competition in the marketing of livestock, poultry and meat. The record in this case is open to the public. Copies of the order, P&S Docket 4380, may be obtained from the Information Officer, Packers and Stockyards Administration, USDA, Washington, D. C. 20250.

PLEASANT PLACE
U. S. News and World Report selected Austin as one of 14 "pleasant places to live."

WALNUT TREES in Lamb County? Don Joyner who lives northeast of Littlefield recently planted 510 walnut trees for commercial production. The Lamb County SCS office staked the sites 40 feet apart and an REA machine dug the 20-inch holes six feet deep. The three-year old grafted trees are seven feet high and will produce in two years. Comparable in size to a golf ball, the walnuts are similar to English walnuts. In the left picture is C. C. (Shorty) Slaughter comparing a walnut to a golf ball. Slaughter is shown with Don Joyner in the right photo. Slaughter has planted black walnut trees and is budding Idaho walnuts the root stock. (SCS Photos)

Tax Write-Offs Are Limited By Reform Act

The Tax Reform Act of 1969 changed the income tax rules on accelerated depreciation of buildings, according to Ellis Campbell, Jr., IRS District Director for North Texas.

The Act limits declining balance depreciation write-offs to 150 percent of the straightline rate on new commercial and industrial buildings acquired after July 24, 1969.

New buildings acquired before then can still be depreciated at the old rate of 200 percent of the straightline method, Campbell said.

Under the declining balance method of depreciation, the rates for property with a 10-year useful life are 15 percent under the new law and 20 percent under the old law.

These rates are applied to the remaining cost of the property which has not been tax deducted, whereas straightline rate is applied to the original cost and results in a level amount of depreciation from year to year.

The 200 percent declining balance rate is still available on new residential housing where at least 80 percent of the gross income from rental of the building is from residential units.

Used residential property, with a useful life of 20 years or more, can be depreciated under the new law using a 125 percent declining balance method, but all other used real estate acquired after July 24, 1969, may be depreciated only under the straightline or comparable method.

Exceptions to the new rules are provided in the law if construction, acquisition, or permanent financing arrangements were entered into before July 24, 1969.

Detailed information on changes to depreciation deduction is contained in IRS Publication 534, "Depreciation, Amortization, and Depletion," available free by dropping a post card to your IRS District Director.

Texas, 'Number One' In Livestock Export

Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has released figures on the number of livestock Texans exported in 1970 and predicts that Texas will continue to rank Number One among the 50 states in the export of beef cattle, swine, sheep and goats.

Texas exported 111,083 head of goats; 75,820 head of sheep; 10,916 swine; and 6,325 head of cattle last year, Commissioner White said.

The state also exported 946 head of dairy cattle, which is believed enough to hold its Number Four ranking in the export of dairy animals.

Figures were available in 1970 for the first time on Texas export of horses and show that 1,124 were exported.

Most of the livestock and swine went to Mexico and South American countries which have found Texas cattle and hogs more than adequate for upgrading their herds, Commissioner White said.

Texas Department of Agriculture personnel are active throughout the year in helping foreign visitors locate and buy good Texas swine and livestock.

The figures on exports are based on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's health certificate records. Such certificates are required when exporting livestock and swine.

More Insomnia In Women Than Men

A significantly greater proportion of women than men have difficulty sleeping, according to a paperback book study of sleeplessness titled How to Avoid Insomnia.

The authors indicate that physiology probably plays the dominant role in creating the differences between the sexes in their sleep patterns.

How to Avoid Insomnia details the results of an experiment conducted at Duke University to illustrate the differences between sleeping males and females. Both groups were told that they would be paid extra for awakening to certain sounds, such as the telephone or bagpipes.

The depth of sleep achieved by the men and women was determined by EEG readings of their brainwaves. Strictly controlled experimentation proved that both groups responded equally to the expected stimuli. However, when other non-meaningful sounds were introduced, EEG readings indicated that the female responded much more actively to the new stimuli.

The results of the study suggested a basic sex difference that can be seen in the grain's arousal system. The greater sensitivity to sound in normal women seems to reflect some uniqueness in female physiology which often manifests itself in the state of insomnia.
