BICENTENNIAL

Littlefield commemorates our Nation's 200th birthday

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness . . ."

American freedom was born July 4, 1776 with the adoption of the Declaration of Independence. To the 56 Founding Fathers who signed that historic document, their pronouncement was truly an affirmation of values . . . to which they solemnly pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor.

Now . . . as we celebrate the 200th anniversary of the birth of our nation . . . let us renew that pledge: that the rights they proclaimed so fearlessly, won so dearly, defended so bravely, shall be forever cherished and given room to grow. The men who established this country knew that pious talk isn't enough . . . that the job takes vigilance, commitment and plain hard work. Let's get on with it.

The promise is still unfolding . . .

City to buy truck; appoints chief

In their brief meeting Thursday night, Littlefield's City Council awarded the low bid for a 1976 truck cab and chassis with a flatbed dump body to Armes Chevrolet and appointed Charles Powell as fire chief. Armes Chevrolet's low bid was $9,888.91 with a promise of immediate delivery. Garland Motor Company submitted a bid of $10,599, with a promise of immediate delivery.

The new truck will replace a 1960 International, and will be purchased with Revenue Sharing money which is already available.

The request for the use of Crescent Park for a children's dog show was withdrawn, therefore the councilmen didn't consider the request.

Rad Richardson promoted in Gen Tel shuffle

Rad Richardson has accepted a promotion to division manager with General Telephone Company and is taking his new position at Sulphur Springs, effective July 7.

Richardson moves up to division manager after serving GT here as district manager for the past several years.

No one has been named to replace Richardson.

Temporarily the district office here in Littlefield will be closed. All phone bills and service calls will be handled by the Brownfield office.

Richardson said he did not expect problems since the office is already operating its billing, dispatch and radio service through Brownfield.

Any question or problem usually referred to the Littlefield district office can be taken care of by phoning 637-7571. Richardson said that is automatically a collect call, and customers will not be billed for a long distance call.

Brownfield division manager Frank Morris will take up the slack left by Richardson's leave.

The Littlefield office building where Richardson has his office has sold, and the Littlefield office was contemplating going into rented space.

Littlefield, the 15 towns surrounding towns, and all of the area cooperative exchanges are going into direct distance dialing (DDD) here in October.

Littlefield will be cut in to DDD Oct.

13. Seven area town and the cooperatives will be cut in Oct. 20, and the last eight towns will go on DDD on Oct. 27th.

To make the switch-over, Sudan has a new office and all the Sudan telephone numbers have been changed. Whitharral has a new electronic office, and all Whitharral numbers will be changed July 28. Some Littlefield numbers are being changed. All these will be included in the new telephone directories distributed in September.

Richardson said the change to DDD will affect some of the GT people in the Littlefield traffic department and there would be some reduction in the force. He said a temporary lag is expected, but not much because of increased toll traffic.

Rad, his wife Rita, their 12-year-old son Tommy, and 4-year-old daughter Terri will be moving their household furnishings to Sulphur Springs about July 20.

Richardson said he has enjoyed working with the people of Littlefield and surrounding towns. "I like Littlefield and hate to leave," he said. "But when you've been with a company 17 years you look forward to promotions and must take opportunities to advance."

Local hearing set on mental health

A meeting has been set to discuss a study of the mental health needs of Lamb County.

The study was done by the Central Plains Mental Health/Mental Retardation Center in Plainview, and will be presented in Littlefield at the XII Room of Security State Bank Tuesday, July 13, at 7:30 p.m.

The public is invited to attend and comment on the findings.

Copies of the study can be obtained by contacting the Planning and Evaluation Section of the Central Plains MH/MR Center, phone (806) 296-2726.

The meeting will provide area planners with local citizen views concerning the allocation of tax money to treat the mentally ill, developmentally disabled, alcoholic and drug addict.

DESTREY ROEBER, 12, of 1305 S. Westside, smiles as he watches his fireworks purchase being sacked. Texas is among the 27 states which allow legal sales of fireworks twice a year. Destrey plans to celebrate the nation's 200th birthday with as many bangs as his allowance makes possible.

Arrests, theft investigations keep officers busy

Seven were arrested by county, city and DPS officers this week, and several thefts are under investigation.

At the county jail, an Amherst man remains in jail charged with revocation of probation. Two aliens were arrested Friday and held for the Border Patrol, and an Olton juvenile was arrested on an assault charge involving a 12-year-old girl.

City police officers arrested one on a drunk in public charge, one for disorderly conduct and two were picked up on warrants.

The theft of oil filters, a truck windshield, and vandalism on a farm house north west of Littlefield was reported by Charles Carpenter.

Adolph Sierra reported vandalism at the Amherst Drive In. A concession stand window was broken out and a screen door kicked in.

Textile Plant raises wages

American Cotton Growers, Textile Plant has announced a 40 cent per hour wage increase to its hourly employees.

Bob Hale, plant manager, feels the employees have exhibited outstanding effort under the very adverse conditions created by construction and production taking place side by side.

The wage increase will be for hours worked after 7 p.m., Saturday, July 3rd.

The hiring in rate at the plant was also raised to $2.75 per hour. There are still several jobs available at the plant.

"With the continued positive attitude of the community and dedicated effort of the ACG employees, the maximum potential of the denim plant is well within reach," stated Pat D. Bradley, personnel director.

Two churches to toll bells at 1 p.m. today

Two Littlefield churches will be joining churches from most communities across the country in a simultaneous bell-ringing commemoration of our 200th anniversary today.

Bells at Emmanuel Lutheran Church and First Baptist Church will ring in unison with the tolling of the bell in Independence Hall in Philadelphia at 2 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time - which will be at 1 p.m. here today.

Most churches will be conducting special services today.

MICHELE SEEMAN, 15-year-old Littlefield High School junior, will be competing for the Earth Rodeo Queen's title when judging gets underway at Earth Tuesday, July 6. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Seeman of Littlefield, and is sponsored in the contest by the Dairy

Queen. Monday, July 5, she will be treated to a Coke party at Bee Hive Mall, and a special parade will be served July 6 in the Cottage. The parade will get underway at 5 p.m. Thursday, followed by a barbecue at the Showbars arena. [Staff Photo]

Postal Department rescind plan to curtail services

Littlefield postmaster George Thompson has announced that a planned reduction of Sunday postal services has been cancelled.

Mail will be put into boxes at the Post Office on Sundays and just as in the past.

Post office officials say the schedule of services will be maintained as long as Congress legislation to increase the

Bula residents burying time capsule Monday

Bula residents will gather at 8:30 Monday morning for a patriotic observance and the burying of a time capsule for future generations.

Much thought and information is going into the time capsule which is to be removed and inspected in 50 years.

Articles include history of the different organizations over the years at Bula. Prices of gas, food, cotton, cattle, grain and other farm-related information is included. Clothing styles for men and women, and stories of today's arts and crafts are included. Bula residents are signing proclamations declaring how long they've lived at Bula and bits of family history.

The burying site is a short distance in front of the Bula cemetery gate located one mile west and one-half mile north of Bula.

The capsule is a three-foot 10-inch plastic pipe. A lid placed over the pipe and after the capsule will be placed prepared concreted receptacle in with additional cement, concrete maker will be placed.

A short program will mark occasion. Bailey County Judge Williams will make a few remarks. The colors will be presented and the flag pledged.

A representative from the Mail library will be present to accept promising to open the capsule years and display its contents to future generations.

Everyone in the Bula community is urged to attend the Bicentennial commemoration, and visitors are welcome.

THREE AREA SCHOOLERS were awarded $25 U.S. Savings Bonds for winning their age divisions in the Leader-News Bicentennial essay contest. Jerry Tidwell, publisher of the

Carson of Sudan, the elementary winner. Their essays are reproduced inside.

Square Shootin'

by Jerry Tidwell

Thomas Wolfe said it best, "It is a fabulous country the only only fabulous country; it is the only place where miracles not only happen, but where they happen all the time."

The past several weeks have been a memorable period for us here at the Leader-News. Many, many long hours have gone into this Bicentennial Souvenir Edition.

The last sections have been put together and the job has been halted. But it's not finished, and probably never could be.

We are indebted to many area residents who contributed so much to this special issue. Special thanks go to Willard Street, Ellen Massengill, Mrs. Edith Williams, and Mrs. Johnnie Miller.

Additional copies of the Bicentennial edition are available at the Leader-News office for 50 cents each while they last.

They will be mailed for a few cents extra.

Littlefield's future has never been brighter. A host of new businesses have opened recently—many more have already expanded or are in the process of expanding, plus rumors about more new businesses opening soon.

Home building continues to boom.

The Leader-News was happy and proud to present Savings Bonds to three Lamb County youngsters for their Bicentennial essays. The contest was judged by two local teachers. Be sure and read all the essays. These youths have captured the Bicentennial spirit.

At San Antonio last week, we met former Leader-News Publisher Bill Turner. We were impressed with him during this first meeting, and we've always been impressed with the quality of his newspapers, both here and at Atlanta.

Bill asked us to say hello to all his friends.

They've done it again.

One of your well-paid government agencies has completed a booklet at the cost of almost $500,000. The pamphlets, written by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, are designed to help farmers and farm workers understand new federal safety rules.

Sounds innocent enough. But the books are causing a controversy because of the stilted language and because the content reveals the writer probably had never visited a farm.

In language with a tone of talking down to the reader, the farmer can learn that fresh cow manure is slippery and can result in a bad fall. Now, try to remember that.

The beef cattle booklet gives this important advice: "Hazards are one of the main causes of accidents and you can make your work area safe by finding hazards and removing them." The book continues, "When floors are wet and slippery with manure, you can have a bad fall. You could also trip over junk or trash."

Another piece of advice is for farmers to "Speak softly to cows..."

Being printed are 155,000 pamphlets on 28 different safety subjects at the cost of $347,220 plus another $119,500 for government paid experts at the University of Purdue who developed the "vital" material.

At least you farmers will have some reading material on those cold winter nights...

Walker-Nobles vows read in Capp City

Double-ring wedding vows were pledged between Kathy Renee Walker of Seven Points and formerly of Littlefield and Richard Mack Nobles of Red Oak, Friday night, July 2, in Calvary Baptist Church of Capp City.

Officiating for the reading of the vows was Rev. Steve Lewis, brother-in-law of the bride, associate pastor at The Church of Christ of Sharon Penn.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Judge W. Walker of Seven Points, formerly of Littlefield, and Mr. and Mrs. T. Edward Nobles of Red Oak.

Judge Walker presented his daughter in marriage. Her wedding gown was fashioned and designed by Mrs. T. Edward Nobles, mother-in-law of the bride and Ada Homesley, the groom's aunt. It was a traditional gown of white silk organza and imported lace. The moulded empire bodice was fashioned with a high ring neckline, enhanced by appliques of lace, loose and long bishop sleeves that were caught at the wrist by a deep cuff, accented with lace. Encircling the hem line of the skirt was a wide edge of imported lace.

She carried a bouquet of pink roses, Stephanotis and Babies' breath. She wore the traditional blue garter, for "something borrowed" she wore a necklace that was given to her by her mother with a diamond from her wedding band.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Steve Lewis of Sharon Penn, was matron of honor. Rhonda Robinson of Ennis was maid of honor and Judy Cannon of Austin, cousin of the bride was the bridesmaid. They wore empire gowns

Arts and crafts festival planned

The Running Water Draw Arts and Crafts Festival Committee is making plans for the Second Annual Running Water Draw Arts and Crafts Festival to be held in the Hale County Agricultural Center, Plainview, Oct. 15-17.

The festival is limited to handcrafted items by artists and craftsmen in Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico.

Over 50 talented artists from this tri-state area have already applied for booth space. Since the number of booths available is limited to 100, interested artists and craftsmen should apply as soon as possible.

The festival this year is again co-sponsored by the Llano Estacado Museum and the Plainview Rotary Club.

For information, contact: Dr. C. Gwin Morris, Box 20, Wayland College, Plainview, Texas 79072.

Senior Corner

By DON PITTS

A Senior Citizen meal will be served at the Lamb County Multi-Service Center Monday, July 12, and Friday, July 30. All Seniors are invited.

The meal is fifty-cents for those who have it, but everyone is welcome, whether you have the money or not.

At the last meal, Bingo game was played after the meal and prizes were won.

Meals are also delivered to those who aren't able to come to the center. Persons wishing to come to the meal, are asked to let us know, so we can put an extra potato in the pot.

Persons who want a meal delivered, may call us so that I can make a home-visit, to determine if you are eligible. The number is 385-5425.

Do you know a lonely Senior Citizen, who needs an occasional visit and a smile, to give them a new outlook on life? Go visit them today. You'll both benefit. If you can't go, call me and I will put them on my list.

The Leader-News asks...

What do you remember about past July Fourth's?

OLTON
Mrs. W. B. Smith, Jr.
285-2385

By NILAH RODGERS
For this week's question, we asked our readers various people what they remembered about July Fourth celebrations from the past. Young said it wasn't a that meant a lot to her in she grew up. Billy Tom said he couldn't even remember what he did the last July Fourth.

It was apparent soon that the good old July Fourths were those that occurred way back in the 1920s and 30s. The Independence Day celebrations in the 1920s and 30s out-shadow recent sunbaths at Bull Lake and a handful of firecrackers set off a back alley.

Here are our readers' responses.

ELLEN WILL
"We came here in 1915, and three years after that we celebrated almost every July 4th at the Yellow House Ranch," Ellen Will said. "We'd walk over the ranch, explore the woods, drink from the tall mill, go to the ranch house, and visit the cowboy boys."

"Everybody who lived here would go out there. Twenty-five or 30 families would go and take cake and ice cream. It went on for several years. Then two or three times a July 4th celebration would be held downtown. There would be no big horse tanks on the east side of the street across from the Street's Mercantile, about where City Barber Shop is now. One of the tanks would be filled with water, and the other tank would be filled with lemonade with big chunks of ice floating in it.

"Boy it hit the spot. It would be so hot. Everyone would sit around the Mercantile to stay in the shade. When they got thirsty, they'd walk across the street with their tin cups and get a dipper full of lemonade. Everybody would bring their lunch and spend the day."

"All the cowboys in the area would come in to town the night before and spend the night where the post office is. Then they'd stay over for July 4th."

Mrs. Willis said she remembered that Myrtle Marion Shaw was just a baby then. "Everybody called her Shaw Baby, and all the kids took turns wheeling her around," she said.

In later years, Mrs. Willis said July Fourths were the day people who lived in the Oklahoma Avenue community all got together for ice cream and cake. "One July Fourth it was so cold we had to have our coats on to eat our ice cream," she said. "Everybody sat around the stove all day, and if they went outside they had to wear coats."

Alice Willis
Alice Willis remembers that cold July Fourth, too. "I don't remember the year," she said. "It must have been in the late '30s. That year Guy went to Muleshoe for a celebration. I didn't go, but my husband said he never shook so much in his life."

The July Fourth Mrs. Willis best remembers is the big one in 1913 when the train arrived in Littlefield.

"We had a big barbecue, rodeo, fireworks, all the doings, with a dance that night. They built a big wooden platform out on the prairie, and everyone came," she said. "The barbecue was out in the wide open spaces, too. A lot of people rode the train in to celebrate. And Olton was a pretty good little town, then, and they all came over. There wasn't a Sudan or Amherst then. They came from Lubbock and Plainview, though."

"After that first big celebration, there were July Fourth celebrations every year for a long time. It wasn't always in Littlefield. Sometimes it would be in Olton or Muleshoe, and later at Springlake. There was always somewhere to go and get sunburned," she added.

"Everybody would take a picnic lunch, and the celebrations would last all day. For years there was always a rodeo somewhere. Olton and Earth or Springlake were big on rodeos. There would be big prize money, and people came from everywhere to see them."

M. P. THEDFORD
M. P. Thedford said he usually had to work on the Fourth of July. He came to the Littlefield area in 1923, and July Fourth celebrations were still pretty big things. "But if work let up enough to get off," he said, "we usually went to Plainview or Lubbock where they really made big deals of Independence Day. They had barbecues, rodeos, fireworks, carnivals, all those things," he said.

"Later in the '30s, they'd have car and horse races around here on July Fourth. They'd race a horse against a Model A Ford. Of course, the horse usually won. They'd hold those about where the old oil mill building is now. They'd race for so many yards. I don't remember how many, but cars didn't take off to fast then."

FLOYE MORRIS
Floyd Morris remembers several years when Bull Lake dried up that old junk car races were held on the salt flat bottom of the lake.

"Those old junk car races would be part of the July Fourth celebration," Morris said. "Shoot yeah, they raced old cars, motorcycles, everything out there for a while," he said. "The races usually started on the Fourth. 'You bet, that would draw a crowd. Gosh, there would be a slew of people out there. 'Nobody had any money back then. We'd just take any old car that would run, rebuild it, and hop the motor up. Everybody that had an old car that would rev up would be out there. We got a lot of sport out of it. Ones in the races

Bike rodeo conducted by local Cub Scouts

Pack 641 Club Scouts held a bike rodeo at Crescent Park Sunday.

Each Scout demonstrated stopping accuracy, change direction, emergency stop, balance, and signals while staying in full control of the bike. Members of Troop 641 supervised each event.

Weblo Scouts John Lee, Benny Davis, Craig Bradley, and Shane Albus were presented activity badges. Scoutmaster Jimmy Steuart presented the Arrow of Light, the highest award for Cub Scouts, to John Lee.

Scoutmaster Roland Bell and members of Troop 641 were present to accept and welcome John into Scout Troop 641.

Morris said he couldn't remember the years the lake was dry and races were held. "I think it was the early 1930s," he said. "There for a while, you could walk across the lake bottom."

Young Homemakers participate in events

SUDAN— The Young Homemakers met June 28 to finalize plans for Sudan's Bicentennial Celebration.

Those present were: Barbara Bond, Lou Boyles, Norma Burnett, Ann Carson, Jo Ann Gaston, Dyanne Humphreys, Nell Ingle, Kay Morton, Geneva Newman, Jan Smith, Sharon Thornton, Beverly Thurman, and Kay Wiseman.

The Young Homemakers sold homemade ice cream Saturday.

Members have also participated in Sudan's celebration by: renovating a storefront; decorating a float for the parade and sponsoring the fire plug painting contest. A big thanks to Mickey Stevens for painting the little girl carrying the flag.

Following the activities, the Pack served hot dogs and chili. Thanks was expressed to all mothers who brought home made ice cream and cake.

The next Pack 641 summer activity will be an evening swim party at Crescent Pool July 10 at 7 p.m.

TUESDAY in Abernathy was "Mamma Struve Day" as officially proclaimed by Mayor Pete Thompson. A pioneer woman of the plains, Mrs. Struve was celebrating her 100th birthday. Open house was held Tuesday afternoon at Mrs. Struve's residence. South Plains residents were invited to visit her, and approximately 200 called. Attending from Olton were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Struve, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Struve and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cook Smith.

MR. AND MRS. John Stiles from Texhoma visited several friends here recently.

MRS. H. B. MAXEY Jr. took Mrs. H. B. Maxey Sr. to visit her doctor in Plainview Tuesday.

MR. AND MRS. Raiford Daniel Sr. visited in Littlefield Wednesday.

Armstrong Circle conducts meeting

AMHERST— The Annie Armstrong Circle of the W.M.U. met Wednesday evening, June 28, in the home of Mrs. James Holland. Mrs. Glenn Willson led the opening prayer.

A Bible study on "The Poised Beauty of Self Acceptance" was conducted by Mrs. Holland.

Members present read and discussed Scriptures which pertained to the study.

A paraphrased version of the 23rd Psalm by Toki Miyashina concluded the lesson.

Mrs. Randall Crawford, co-chairman, presided during the business session.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served to

Shower honors Darla Hedges

Darla Hedges, bride-elect of Mark Hulin, was honored with a white Bible ceremony June 29 in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Cowan.

A white Bible is presented to each girl who has been in Acteens prior to their marriage. White candles are used throughout the program.

Those participating on the program were Sandy Duvall, Doris Tucker, Terri Cowan, Denise Ferguson, Barbara McDaniel and Gayla Cowan.

Special guests were Mrs. Arthur Hedges and Debra, Mrs. Joe Jones, and Mrs. Ronnie Hedges.

Following the shower, a lingerie shower was presented to the bride-elect. White snowballs and pineapple were served to the many guests.

Check-Mate

If you normally carry a large balance in your bank checking account, you are losing money every day. Now, with one simple phone call, you can transfer idle dollars from a checking account to an interest-bearing savings account at First Federal. Then, when you need the cash, another phone call will return it quickly to the bank for your personal checkwriting. Meanwhile, you've earned interest on money that would have been idle without Check-Mate. Good idea.

What does Check-Mate cost? Nothing. It's free. So come in and sign up soon!

Future Independence Requires Energy Independence

social gains of the past several years will be meaningless. To properly develop our own energy sources is a complex job that will take time and money...but it's a job that must be done. It can be done by private enterprise working with the blessing and the cooperation of our government. You can help by just simply understanding the need because that's the first step in solving the problem...the more people who understand and appreciate the need, obviously, the easier will be the massive job.

This nation, now celebrating its 200th birthday of independence, must, if it is to enjoy future independence, develop its own sources of energy. Militarily, economically, and socially, this nation's people must not be humbled by dependence on foreign oil cartels, friendly or unfriendly. Without our own basic energy sources, we face the loss of jobs because it takes energy to move the factory wheels. Without our own basic energy sources, we are but putty in the hands of foreign militarists who would not hesitate to destroy us. Without our own energy sources, the

The best of the other entries will be printed in the Thursday, July 8, edition

 battles were fought, people were trampled upon, holes where gunner was shot. The sky was full of as the sun slowly crept down to another day. Thomas Jefferson sat at his desk, his candle glowing, light to the room. His pen lay in the well in front of him. The paper he lay without a word. That he was thinking we cannot be sure of. Maybe he was thinking of the British, of their wars, how they treated the Americans, Africa being only one third as large Britain. Maybe he was thinking of Stamp Act Crisis, how the tax fell on all Americans whatever section, city or class. Stamps were required ship's papers and documents, and offended merchants and lawyers. occurred to few colonists that they do more than grumble and buy up until the Virginia House of gesses sounded a trumpet of tion that aroused Americans to act ost everywhere.
 The House of Burgesses a group red to exert themselves against arch governing of the tidewater asters who with royal governors, unated Virginia politics. Among unsatisfied people was Patrick ry, who was ambitious. he made a sch in the house trying to get more e. People were upset when he ationed that George III might lose head. He proceeded to introduce a of resolutions declaring that Amer- s possessed all rights of English- especially the right to be taxed y by their own representatives. y should not have to pay taxes ss the Virginians voted on it, and he battle went and they formed a p act congress which met in New k with delegates from nine of the nies present.
 hey decided to petition both the g and the two houses of Parliament use the congress denied that they ld rightfully be taxed except by their provincial assemblies. The merchants of England feeling the loss of their market begged Parliament to repeal the Stamp Act. King George III himself finally was convinced that the act must be repealed. Opponents of the repeal insisted that unless the colonists were compelled to obey the Stamp Act they would cease to obey any laws of Parliament. So Parliament passed the Declaratory Act and the repealed the Stamp Act. In rejoicing over the repeal most Americans paid little attention to the declaration of Parliaments power.

 As he sat there Thomas Jefferson and the committee to help him, John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman and Robert Livingston, he began to write the Declaration of Independence.
 "When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another to assume among the Powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation."
 His pen would go back into its inkwell and he would lean back in his chair, crossing his hands, his eyes shut and his brows knitted together in deep thought. What could go next? Something about men, of course, but what? Men were created equal or were they? Was the black man as equal as he white? The thought crossed his mind, but lingered no longer. Yes, the black man was as free as he, for wasn't it the same creator who created both men, and both men worshipped the same God, maybe not the same way, but He was still the Father of both.
 So he began to write again? "We hold these truths to be self-evident that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the

 And so on he wrote, writing his feelings on paper, writing the feelings of the four around him and writing what he thought best for the country, his country, for Americans.
 To end his long effort and struggle he wrote: "We therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress, Assembled appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare that these United Colonies are and of Right ought to be free and Independent states; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce and to do all other Acts and things which Independent States may of rights do. And for the support of this Declaration with a firm reliance on the Protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor."
 His pen dropped and the tired but happy faces were upon the five men. They know, although the declaration was finished and ended, it wasn't the end, but just the beginning.

WHAT THE BICENTENNIAL MEANS TO ME AND AMERICA
 The Bicentennial means to me 200 years of pure freedom, freedom of religion, freedom of the press, freedom of the speech, and many more freedoms that our forefathers fought and struggled for for so long. The Bicentennial means to me a big red, white, and blue celebration in which everyone in America is invited. It means the stars and stripes that we see every day that fly free over everyone's head. Almost everything that we see this year has to do with the Bicentennial.

 Americans look forward to the Fourth of July because 200 years ago on that day the Declaration of Independence was signed. That meant that the 13 states declared their independence from their mother country, England. The Bicentennial means that for 200 years we have been a free nation. Maybe someday the United States will be a completely independent country with each state supplying to the others its natural resources and abilities. I hope we can become independent but remain friends with the other countries.
 Americans can work together as a whole and can learn in public schools about the rest of the world and what America has gone through to earn its independence. We all should be proud of our forefathers and the America we all can now share. We all should hold our head high and keep our freedom instead of letting the Communists cheat their way into overthrowing our government. It is a great thing to know that we Texans are sharing with the other 49 states one big celebration. People thousands of miles away in Hawaii, Alaska, and Maine are celebrating the same as we are here, even though there are people of every race and color. For 200 years our forefathers have been willing to die to keep our country free, and I hope that my generation will be just as willing to fight and die for freedom.
 Bicentennial means 200 years of freedom, but to me it means more. It means a lump in my throat and tears in my eyes when I see the red, white, and blue flag waving in the breeze. The Bicentennial is a rather great and powerful thing.

I am proud to be an American—Happy Birthday America!
 By ANGIE CARSON
WHAT THE BICENTENNIAL MEANS TO ME AND AMERICA
 The Bicentennial means that our country is going to be 200 years old. And we should celebrate our countries birthday. We should go to all the Bicentennial celebrations because we should be proud of our country. We should be glad that we live in our country rather than some other country because in another country they can't go where they want to and when they want to but in our country we are free to do what we want to and we are free to go where we want to go. That's why we should salute our country in being 200 years old.
 We should be thankful for Columbus because he was the one that found America. We should be thankful for the men that risked their lives to save our country from the war against England. We should be thankful for George Washington because he was our leader when the war was going on. We should remember the pioneers because they came westward and made Texas what it is today. We should be thankful for all the people that made our country what it is today.

 This year many people are going to visit important places like Philadelphia, Boston and Washington, D. C. People could go to New York City to see the Statue of Liberty and in Philadelphia to see the Liberty Bell and also you can see where the Declaration of Independence was signed.
 For the Bicentennial, Sudan is going to have a celebration on July the third. They are going to have a parade and a barbeque and homemade ice cream and play games. That's how Sudan is going to celebrate our country's 200th birthday.
 My family has planted a flag out of flowers and hope it blooms by July the fourth. People throughout our country should fly the American flag and show that they are patriotic and love our country.

Haves win again

It was a matter of the "haves" versus the "have nots" this week in Littlefield's major league baseball action. The two teams making a bid for the championship going into the final two games of the season met the two squads at the very bottom of the six-team division, and the results were about as predictable as March winds in West Texas. Birkelbach, 11-3, walloped the Lions 20-5, and Wow held off Rotary 7-5 to end its season at 11-4. The Lions' record dipped to 0-14, while Rotary has a final standing of 3-12.

Season-ending games were scheduled for Friday night, when Lamb Co. Electric tried Lions, and Saturday, as Birkelbach and Fire Dept. went at it. Birkelbach could have locked up the major league crown with a win over Fire Dept., but the Firemen were sure to put up a fight. They were in title contention, too, with a 10-4 ledger, and if they upset Birkelbach there will be a three-way tie for the top spot.

Lamb Co. Electric presstime Friday, but will be content with how they matter how they against Lions.

BIRKELBACH 20 LIONS 5

Ronnie Smith of Lions' batters Tuesday two-hitter as they swarmed to 20-5. The winners got their share of their second, when they seven scores.

WOW 7 ROTARY 5

WOW had the down 7-0 after but Rotary climbed to make a fight of runs in the fifth finally losing 7-5. Brian Gregory and single for the who scored three first and four fourth. Mark pounded out two Randy Healy and added doubles.

SECURITY STATE 12 VFW 0

C-O 13 LEADER-NEWS 3

Six runs in the third inning was enough to bury the News-men Tuesday, as a single by Orville Haynes was all the offense they could muster.

TEXAS TECH

Texas Tech head basketball coach Gerald Myers has opened his annual basketball camp at Lubbock Christian College to a record number of boys.

TECH CAMP

Held each summer in the LCC fieldhouse, the camp has grown to 120 participants. Though this figure represents the highest total in the camp's four-year history, Myers pointed out that the facilities accommodate up to 150 boys.

Pitchers turn in top performances

Tight pitching but high scoring were the main point of two minor league games played this week. Carlisle-Oldham's Freddie Hernandez turned in a one-hitter against Leader-News Thursday to lead his team to a 13-3 win, then Oscar Torres of Security State put together another one-hitter as the Bankers shut out VFW 12-0 Thursday.

by slapping a pair of singles. Teammate Randy Contreras also had a hit. The Newsmen, with one game left, had a record of 2-7-3.

SECURITY STATE 12 VFW 0

Security State got six runs in the fourth inning to finish off their rout of the Veterans Thursday 12-0.

Jimmy Ratliff, Benny Davis, Juan Hernandez, Charles Jackson and Terry Jackson all contributed at the plate for the winners.

Adrian Martinez got the lone hit for the veterans, who dipped to 2-8-2 on the year.

The wins by C-0 and Security State kept them in a battle for the minor league title as of presstime Friday. C-0 had the supper hand with a 7-1-5 season record, which, counting ties as a half game won and a half game lost, become 9 1/2-3 1/2. The Bankers were 8-3-2, or 9-4. They needed a win over Leader-News last night while C-0 had to lose to VFW Friday.

That combination would give Security State the title and unseat Carlisle-Oldham from the top spot they have held all season.

THE LITTLEFIELD JR. BABE RUTH All-stars will be playing in the district tourney tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. in Plainview. Their first round opponents in the double-elimination tourney is Muleshoe, but to win they must also outlast teams from Plainview, Olton and Dimmitt. The team consists of [front, l. to r.] Tim Oakley, Lonnie Perez, Albert Rangel, Louis Flores, Jimmy Clayton, Brady Bradley, Victor King and Johnny Ortiz, and [back] Coach Johnny Sierra, Jr. Sierra, Alvin Contreras, Jimmy Avery, Joe Rodriguez, Pablo Trevino, Tommy Williams, Michael Jones, Coach Don Avery and Manager John Clayton III. [Personal Photo]

All-stars open in tourney

Tomorrow night in Plainview the local Jr. Babe Ruth All-stars get their first taste of competition as they take on Muleshoe in the West Texas District 2 tournament.

The district tourney, which is a double-elimination affair pulling in teams from Dimmitt, Olton and Plainview as well, is the first stepping stone on to the state meet, which will be played later this month in Seminole.

In the other first round game, Olton takes on Dimmitt at 6 p.m. tomorrow.

If Littlefield beats Muleshoe, they will move on to the third round, as the winner will receive a second round bye. That game would be played at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday.

A loss by the locals would put them in the consolation bracket against the Olton-Dimmitt loser at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Manager John Clayton said the boys had been practicing well and would continue to work out until Monday. The team will leave Littlefield at about 4:30 p.m. tomorrow en route to Plainview.

Clayton said the pitcher and starting lineup would not be set until gametime.

The All-stars are made up of players from all four Littlefield Jr. Babe Ruth teams and squads from Anton and Sudan.

Pee Wees play to tie

The Roadrunners and Tigers concluded the 1976 Pee Wee league season Tuesday with a high scoring tie, 15-15.

The game was the last chance for the Tigers to pull out a win this year, but they had no more luck shutting down the Roadrunners' offense as their opponents did. The Roadrunners ended their season at 2-10-2, while the Tigers finished at 0-11-3.

Happy Birthday, America

This poem was submitted to our office by Emert Rose of Littlefield. We are pleased to publish it in our Bicentennial issue.

Happy Birthday, America''
By EMERT ROSE.

We were cold and hungry and the days were long
They said our dream was worthless but our Spirit was strong
It was there at Lexington on a battlefield by a stream
I gave my life for freedom, America, our dream.

This war I fought in was tragic, foolish so it seemed Brother fighting Brother struggling to preserve our dream

These United States of America where everyone is free from strife
On a battlefield at Gettysburg was where I gave my life.

Again the clouds of war settled over a distant land
There threats against our freedom, so I went to lend a hand
There in the trenches of Flanders we fought so men could be free
The shells exploded, the medics came and the man they found was me.

I was 18 when they called me, I was a man they could plainly see
We drove them from the Islands, we drove them from the sea
We hit the beach at Tarawa, the tide was running red
We made them remember Pearl Harbor but they found me among the dead.

Korea was a poor but peaceful land, we fought to keep it free
A President fired our commander, we lost the Victory
He asked us not to shed a tear,

my feet are not made of clay
For old soldiers never die, they just fade away.

Then came Vietnam another country fighting for its life
They came from the North offering nothing but bondage and strife
Our leaders called it Police action but to us it seemed like war
I gave my life knowing freedom was what these people were fighting for.

We are the lost legions at our camp above the sky
We hold no regrets for what we did for we see our Flag still waving high
So America be proud of your Birth year and listen in the silence of the night
You will hear our bugler blowing, and in the harbor a lady holds a light.

Inscribed at her feet a message from her founders and her dead
As you see her for the first time you almost see her nod her head

"Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses, yearning to be free
The wretched refuge of your teaming shore
Send these, the homeless tempest-tossed to me
I lift my lamb beside the Golden Door.

So people walk with reverence, you are trodding sacred sod
This is our welcome to America and our Thanks to our God.

The Promise Of God

"Happy is that people, that is in such a case: yea, happy is that people, whose God is the Lord." Psalm 144:15

These statements from early-American leaders, express their confidence in the Word of God as an indispensable guide for our nation.

"It is impossible to govern the world rightly without God and the Bible." —George Washington

"The Bible is the best book in the world. So great is my veneration of it that the earlier my children begin to read it, the more confident will be my hope that they will prove useful citizens to their country and respectable members of society!" —John Adams

"The Bible is the rock upon which our Republic rests!" —Andrew Jackson

"If we abide by the principles taught in the Bible, our country will go on prospering and to prosper!" —Daniel Webster

"To the influence of the Bible we are indebted for the progress made in true civilization, and we must look to it as our guide in the future. The Bible is the sheet anchor of our liberties. Write its principles upon your heart and practice them in your lives!" —Ulysses S. Grant

"There are a great many problems before the American people. I would be afraid to go forward if I did not believe there lay at the foundation of all our schooling, and all our thought the incomparable unimpeachable Word of God." —Woodrow Wilson

"If I were to have my way, I would take the torch out of the hand of the Statue of Liberty and in its stead place and open Bible!" —Thomas Marshall

"Thought: Only as America blesses God can God bless America."

First Baptist to celebrate

The First Baptist Church of Littlefield will celebrate the Bicentennial Sunday with a special "Happy Birthday America" theme.

The colors will be presented with 50 flags in the ceremony, plus a huge flag will cover the front of the auditorium. Tom SoRelle is in charge of the flag ceremony.

District Judge Pat Boone will lead the "Pledge of Allegiance" while Garry Bivins will handle the special music.
