By CARLOS R. ESCUDERO
SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Rebel chief Carlos Castillo Armas and government boss Col. Elfege Monzon signed a peace pact here today ending Guatemala's two week-old civil war. They pledged a continuing fight to wipe out communist in that Central American nation. The treaty provides for a new five-man military junta—Guatemala's fourth government this week—with Monzon as top man. The other members include Castillo and one of his aides and two ministers in Monzon's outgoing regime.

$50,000 Taken In Bank Holdup

CHICAGO (AP) — Five robbers, armed with a machine gun, shotgun and pistols, took almost $50,000 in a bold daylight holdup of the Ashland State Bank today.

Bank officials at first estimated the loot at about $25,000, but later reported an audit showed $46,878 was missing.

The gunmen, wearing black stockings with eye-slits over their heads, charged into the bank through a side door a few minutes after opening time, meted bank employees and then vaulted over counters into the tellers' cages.

An employee dropped with both hands on the holdup alarm, but the robbers were gone within minutes.

The bank, on Chicago's south side at 9443 S. Ashland Ave. is only a short distance from the busy Beverly Hills intersection of 95th Street and Ashland Avenue.

Four gunmen ran into the bank while the fifth stood guard outside with the machinegun.

The gunmen forced Eugene F. Cronin, the bank president, two other men and five other employees to lie on the floor during the holdup.

One of the men carried a brown canvas bag for the money but dropped a package of 100 $1 bills in his hurry.

An employee said the gunmen fled in a green Cadillac that was spotted at the bank yesterday when the gang apparently looked the place over.

United Fund Heads To Meet Saturday

A meeting of the newly organized executive committee of the United Fund of Big Spring and Howard County has been called for 10 a. m. Saturday in the Chamber of Commerce offices.

Doug Orms, UF president, asked that all executive committee members be present. He said there are several phases of organizational work to be ironed out, as preliminary to the Fund's annual campaign this fall.

Coahoma Schedules Special Clean-Up

COAHOMA — Mayor W. G. Hutchins has proclaimed Wednesday, July 7, as City-Up Day in Coahoma. The city will have trucks to pick up trash and cans. All are asked to make a special effort to clean up all property, including vacant lots.

Pete Thomas, county commissioner, is working with the county health officers and hopes to secure a fogging machine to spray the town.

French Say Withdrawal Completed In Delta Area

By FORREST EDWARDS
HANOI, Indochina (AP) — The French announced today their troops have "successfully completed" evacuation of five fortified cities and 2,000 square miles of populous rice land in the south of the Red River delta.

Most of the thousands of soldiers involved in the massive withdrawal already have taken up defense positions farther north around Hanoi, an army spokesman said.

Vietminh efforts to disrupt the movement were beaten off with only a few French soldiers killed, he said, and there was "almost no loss of ammunition, vehicles or guns."

(In Singapore, Associated Press Correspondent Larry Allen, who recently left Indochina after two years, reported yesterday that the windup of the operation would leave more than half of the strategic Red River delta in control of the Communist-led Vietminh and put an additional four million Vietnamese under the Red flag.)

The major centers abandoned to the rebels were Nam Dinh, Ninh Binh, Phat Diem, Lac Quan and Thai Binh. They spread in an arc 50 to 75 miles south and southeast of the French headquarters city of Hanoi.

The new southern front in the Red River lowlands runs a wavy line from south of Phu Ly, 30 miles south of Hanoi, eastward to the seacoast. The line is parallel with and about 25 miles south of the railway and highway linking Hanoi with the seaport of Haiphong. The French must defend this "lifeline" route to the last, as it is the only supply line and escape corridor for the tens of thousands of French Union troops in North Indochina.

One of the richest prizes to go to the Vietminh in the French withdrawal is the strategic city of Hanoi.

A Cambodian military delegation headed by Gen. Nhek Tioulon is due to arrive here tomorrow.

With the top Cambodian and Laotian military representatives in Geneva, it is expected that the military phase of the discussions here can be brought to a speedy conclusion. Both the Cambodians and Laotians have stated they will walk out of any discussions in which the Vietminh try to claim parts of their territory.

Both contend they are victims of open invasion by Vietminh elements and the only solution is the withdrawal of these forces.

Today's conference session was the first since the evacuation of the southern portion of the Red River delta began, an action whose implications hung heavily over the conference.

The evacuation in the delta, it was learned on high authority, was taken independently of the negotiations here.

Two Persons Hurt In Highway Crash

Two persons received minor injuries Thursday afternoon in a car-truck collision on Highway 80 just east of the city. Neither was hospitalized.

The mishap occurred about 4 p. m. and involved a truck driven by E. A. Smith, of the Jarbet Construction Company, and George Wayne Hansen, Monahan, Deputy Sheriff Miller Harris said.

Both cars were traveling westward and the accident occurred as the truck turned off the highway, Harris reported. Two passengers in the Hansen car were bruised and shaken, and the car was badly damaged.

Arrangements are being made by members of the National Guard to handle traffic and crowd control, with these men serving voluntarily under command of Capt. Charles Vaughn. There will be adequate first aid protection, too. Leslie Snow of the Red Cross will direct a first aid station, and nurses will be on hand under supervision of Health Nurse Jewel Barton.

Monday afternoon, the races will be preceded by a concert for 30 minutes, to be given by the Webb Air Force Band, under direction of T-Sgt. Howard N. Ingalls.

Exhibition races are to precede the boys' events. In the morning, Lions President Proxie Dobbins will race JayCee Proxie Oliver Cofer. In the afternoon, County Judge R. H. Weaver will match skill against Col. Fred M. Dean, WAFA commander. Special cars have been built for these amateurs.

The telephone situation in Texas was returning to normal Friday after operator walkouts in nine cities.

Pickets which the operators had honored were taken down at various times between 9 p. m. and midnight Thursday.

The pickets were thrown up by Western Electric Co. telephone installers on strike for higher wages in 44 states.

Texas was the only state where pickets were set up, but leaders of the union, the CIO Communications Workers of America, have announced they plan to delay nationwide picketing until Tuesday. They indicated also the plan was "subject to change."

The pickets were set up at Dallas, Abilene, Lubbock, Fort Worth, Mineral Wells, San Antonio, Austin, Temple and Meza.

Two-Price Plan On Wheat Pegs Wins In House

LATE BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today approved a provision in the controversial farm bill raising dairy price supports to 80 per cent of parity—5 per cent above the level ordered last April by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today beat down by voice vote an attempt to strike from the politically explosive farm bill a proposed two-price plan for wheat.

Farm state members backing the plan thus staged a comeback in strength after being forced on the defensive yesterday by a powerful administration drive to keep a compromise flexible price support plan in the bill.

The anti-administration forces planned to seek a show-down roll call vote in their effort to continue mandatory high farm price props another year at 90 per cent of parity. They had suffered a surprising setback when the House tentatively approved the compromise calling for flexible props at from 82 1/2 to 90 per cent.

Rallying their forces, the farm state groups rejected an amendment by Rep. Ford (R-Mich) to cut from the House bill a wheat plan authored by Chairman Hope (R-Kans) of the House Agriculture Committee.

The plan calls for a referendum among wheat farmers next year on continuing straight price supports and controls, or accepting a plan to take 100 per cent of parity on that portion of their crop grown for domestic consumption and lower world prices for the rest of their production going into feed or export.

Hope said it would save "taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars" now spent by the government in export subsidies on wheat sold in foreign markets at world prices below the U. S. support level.

The House yesterday rejected both fixed high supports and the Eisenhower administration proposal of flexible supports, and voted for a compromise put forward by House leaders. But the standing-vote decision could be reversed in a formal showdown.

Derby Cars To Be Checked As 'Event Of Lifetime' Nears

The time for the big Soap Box Derby grows nearer.

All boys who will compete Monday in the "event of a lifetime" are to be at the City Park at 9 a. m. Saturday. There, cars will be given final inspection, then impounded in custody of race judges until time for races Monday morning.

Boys are advised that each of them has a sponsor. Those cars brought out Saturday will have name of sponsor painted on the sides of the vehicle.

Meanwhile, plans were moving along rapidly for the big races on Monday. Preliminary heats will start at 10 a. m., and then the finals will be run beginning at 2:30 p. m.

Arrangements are being made by members of the National Guard to handle traffic and crowd control, with these men serving voluntarily under command of Capt. Charles Vaughn. BUSINESSES TO CLOSE MONDAY

The majority of Big Spring business establishments and local governmental agencies will be closed next Monday in observance of Independence Day.

Though Independence anniversary is July 4, Sunday, the official celebration has been set here for Monday.

It is expected that a number of service stations, drug stores and cafes will be open, but Chamber of Commerce officials have announced that most businessmen will take a holiday.

Offices at the City Hall and the County Courthouse will be closed. However, law enforcement officials and firemen will remain on duty. Telephone operators will be on duty, and hospitals will be staffed Monday as usual.

Shaking the effects of devastating drought, this area apparently had turned the financial corner and was on the upgrade at the end of June, the date of the last previous call.

This was one conclusion to be drawn from the combined statements of condition of two Big Spring banks. The statement was in response to a call by the comptroller of currency as of close of business on June 30, 1954.

Deposits were up three-quarters of a million dollars over the same date a year ago. They were up $1,364,000 over the total for April 15, the date of the last previous call.

The deposit figure was $4,000 better than for Dec. 31, 1953, when the largest bank totals of the year normally occur.

Loans and discounts were off by $195,627; cash was up by a million and a half, and total resources were up by more than $829,000.

Loans and discounts of the two banks amounted to $8,246,034.62 on June 30, which was $195,627.98 down from the same date a year ago.

Many Expenditures Are Questioned

STANTON (SC) — A special committee named to probe Martin County fiscal affairs has concluded that members of the commissioners court displayed "an extreme lack of knowledge or extreme neglect of financial affairs of the county."

This, together with numerous financial transactions and exhibits, was included in the report filed with the district clerk after the three-man committee reported to the 118th District Court Grand Jury on Wednesday.

Among the many items cited were those regarding purchase of 11,250 fence posts from January of 1952 through May 10, 1954 at a total cost of $9,484. The auditing committee named by District Judge Charlie Sullivan looked askance at travel expenses of the county judge and commissioners.

Regarding the fence post transactions, the committee says that "a great many of these (posts) were purchased from relatives of the county judge," James McMorris. It suggested that further inquiry should be made to determine if all these posts were actually delivered to the county and used for the purposes for which they were purchased.

The posts were purchased without invoices and were paid through authorization of County Judge McMorris, the filed report said.

The committee reported it had found a great many expenditures, the propriety of which was questionable. These are all listed in the report of about 50 pages which contains more than 30 exhibits consisting mainly of financial statements, photostatic copies of checks and purchase orders, and statements of witnesses.

The report is particularly critical of travel expenses listed for the county judge and county commissioners.

This travel expense for 1952, the committee reported, amounted to $11,241.73 and for 1953 it was $12,288.62.

For the first five months of this year, the auditors said, the travel expense for the five county officials amounted to $5,050.84.

The committee reported to the court that it had checked the travel expenditures of the judges and commissioners of 24 Texas counties, including Martin, and that they found the average expenditure of the other counties for this purpose in 1953 was $1,779.43, as compared with the $11,241.73 expended by the five local officials according to the records which have been examined.

With reference to the letters sent to other counties inquiring about expenditures for travel by officials, the committee's report said: "From the replies we have received to date, we find that Martin County leads the rest by a very large margin for waste and extravagance in this one type of expenditure alone."

"The committee has questioned the commissioners extensively regarding various transactions," the report reads, "and have found that they display extreme lack of knowledge or extreme neglect of the financial affairs of the county."

A good portion of the committee's report has been devoted to alleged cedar post-purchasing transactions between County Judge James McMorris and Amos Jones and Paul Jones, father and son, of Burnett County.

One of these transactions involve a check in the amount of $337.50 with reference to which the committee report says: "The committee concludes that James McMorris received $337.50 of county funds for a purchase that was never made."

Statements of political candidates' campaign accounts may be filed with County Clerk Pauline Petty on Tuesday, July 6, the clerk announced this morning.

Date for filing the next statements falls on July 4, which is Sunday. However, the clerk's office will be closed on both Sunday and Monday, because of the Independence Day holiday.

Mrs. Petty said she has received a ruling from Attorney General John Ben Shepperd to the effect that the statements may be filed on July 6.

No reference is made in the ruling to the early filing of statements. Some candidates already County Memorial Hospital with an

Senators Say U.N. Funds Out If Red China Enters

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas told the Senate today that the "American people will refuse to support the United Nations if Communist China becomes a member."

Johnson lined up squarely behind Senate Republican leader Knowland of California in a demand for a reappraisal of this country's foreign policies and defense.

In an interview earlier, Knowland said he may ask Congress to shut off all American contributions to the U. N. if that organization admits the Chinese Reds. He said Secretary of State Dulles would be asked to reaffirm U. S. policy on the issue in an appearance before the Foreign Relations Committee today.

Again taking the same line as Knowland, Johnson told the Senate that he and the American people are "very uneasy about the intentions" of longtime Allies.

Although he did not name them, Johnson made it clear he was talking about England and France. Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) took the floor soon after Johnson sat down, to register a dissent. He said this nation must be on guard against "these calls for going it alone or we soon may find ourselves going it alone in a Third World War."

Morse said that while he opposes Communist China's admission to the U. N. and wants the American delegation to fight it vigorously, "I'm not going to take the position that if a majority of our Allies make a mistake that we should walk out of the U. N."

Instead, he said the United States should remain in the organization and try to "reason" with its Allies.

Morse said he fears that the stand taken by Knowland and Johnson may be subject to "serious misinterpretation" abroad.

Even if we are outvoted in the U. N., Morse said, the voice of a Free America should be spoken in the U. N.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) praised Knowland and Johnson for "seeking the same objective and courageously speaking their minds."

Sen. Thye (R-Minn) also congratulated Knowland and Johnson and said he wanted to be associated with them in their speeches.

Johnson indicated that Senate debate on the administration's new $3 billion dollar foreign aid bill, expected to reach the Senate soon after the July 4th recess, will bring a full-dress discussion of these problems.

And he joined Knowland in a plea that partisan politics be forgotten on these important issues.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Astronomer adjusting the huge telescope at Williams Bay, Wisconsin.

If there are people on Mars, the human eye has failed to see them. Even our big telescopes would fail to give a clear view of a city.

As science goes forward, we may expect better telescopes to be made. Perhaps an excellent way will be found to combine the electronic microscope with a huge telescope. When this is done, we should be able to locate an object on Mars which is as small as a village with 100 homes.

With the present close approach of Mars, astronomers have a better opportunity to study it and make photographs. If they had the kind of telescope I have described, they could make high-grade photographs in any year.

The electronic microscope magnifies an object many thousands of times.

The United States and Canada have several telescopes with gigantic mirrors. The mirrors range from five feet to 16 and two thirds feet in diameter.

The eyepiece of a telescope magnifies the image on a mirror and, in a sense, serves as a microscope. Some believe that the image already is magnified as greatly as the mirror will allow if a sharp image is to be obtained.

That may seem to be a good argument, but it fails to settle the case. In time to come, an electronic microscope may make a telescope many times as good. Perhaps a young reader of this column will show the way to this great forward step.

Efforts to produce electronic telescopes have been made, but have fallen short so far. During the next 15 or 20 years, bright minds may settle several important problems. Perhaps the mirrors will be improved. With better mirrors, we shall have better telescopes.

County Receives Additional Forms

Deed forms were received by county commissioners Thursday for 10 additional strips of property which must be acquired for the widening of Highway 80 to freeway status east of Big Spring.

Commissioners earlier had received deeds for three pieces of property, in addition to numerous easements and access rights. The deed forms are being prepared by the State Highway Department. County officials must negotiate with property owners for title to the property described in the forms. When all right-of-way is secured, it will be transferred to the Highway Department for construction of the freeway.

County Judge R. H. Weaver said acquisition of the right-of-way probably will be started next week.

Due to be completed Monday is right-of-way for the proposed farm road from the Chalk Community to Highway 80 in the eastern part of the county. Only one signature must be secured to complete the right-of-way, the judge said.

The State Highway Department also will construct the Chalk road, on right-of-way acquired by the county.

Lawn-Mowing Pact Ends Difficulty On Separation Decree

CLEVELAND (U) — Mrs. Wanda Cholewa, 35, got a home, custody of her three children and $28 a week for their support.

But until her husband had the lawn mowed she refused to sign a separation agreement for a divorce.

"He has a power mower," she told Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Merrick. "He took it with him when he left last February."

Her husband Leo, 32, a forging company foreman, wanted no part of the lawn cutting. It was two acres of land and she had the house. Let her mow the grass, he contended.

Finally, to end the stalemate, Judge Merrick suggested that Cholewa give her $100 to have the job done. He consented and Mrs. Cholewa signed the agreement.

The divorce was granted on grounds of gross neglect of duty.

THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

Just recently I have been enjoying a book of western verse. That is, I reckon it's verse because it rhymes just where it should with familiar words, and I understand it and like it. It's all about jack-rabbits and cattle and horses and saddles and outlaws and the sky and mountains and plains, and cowboys.

This book of verse has been written by a man who is an uncle of Mrs. William Boynton Martin, who lives at 1094 Wood, here in Big Spring. A great many people know Mrs. Martin, but they probably know her better as Mrs. Preacher Martin. Her husband runs the Magnolia station at 601 Gregg.

Mrs. Martin's mother and the man who wrote this book, S. Omar Barker of Sapello, New Mexico, are brother and sister. That also makes Mrs. Martin a niece of Elliott Barker, former New Mexico State Game Warden, and the one who, more than anybody else, has done more for wildlife in New Mexico and the whole Southwest, because Elliott and Omar are brothers.

A great many people have read, and enjoyed, Omar Barker's poems in such magazines as Ranch Romances, Western Story Magazine, Wild West Weekly, Zane Grey's Western Magazine, Short Stories, Western Romances, Ace - High, Argosy, Cowboy Stories, Adventure, 15-Western Tales, Hoofs and Horns, The Cattleman, Triple-X Western, Western Sportsman, Progressive Farmer, The Saturday Evening Post, Country Gentleman, Liberty and other publications. All his poems are about the western cow country, as they naturally would be since he was born on a New Mexico ranch in 1894 and has lived in that atmosphere all his life. His present home, Rincon Montoso, up in the mountains near Sapello, between Las Vegas and

Mora, is a part of the ranch on which he was born. He lives there with his wife, Ella, who is also a writer of western stories.

This book of verse, "Songs Of The Saddlemen," has been illustrated with drawings by Harold Bugbee of Clarendon, who has done so many of the illustrations of J. Evetts Haley's books, and the foreword has been written by that Mason County "Hound Dog Man" Fred Gipson, who says of it:

"I am pretty sure that the poetry in this book can't be very good. It's shamelessly lacking in dreamy flights of fancy. In none of it do I find evidence of the writer's having plumbed the innermost recesses of his dark soul to bring forth those startling profound and incomprehensible—not to mention inexpressible—secrets of life . . . But if, like me, you can't make heads or tails of great poetry, then I recommend that you settle for the brand that S. Omar Barker writes. It's as western as sage-brush, authentic as a brush-scuffed old boot, and full of warm hearted humor that seems to always be a part of 'the man who rides where the range is wide.' It'll do to read and consider."

Or let's put it this way—S. Omar Barker has done for the cowboy life in verse, what Eugene Manlove Rhodes did for it in prose, and what Charles M. Russell did for it with brush and oils.

What this, then, all adds up to is that S. Omar Barker is the cowboy's poet, because he is at once both cowboy and poet himself.

There are a hundred and a dozen different verses in "Songs Of The Saddlemen" some of them long, some of them shorter, and it, incidentally, is about his fifth book, the others being Vientos de las Sierras, Buckaroo Ballads, Born to Battle and Sunlight Through the Trees.

As Gipson says, Barker probably didn't suffer very greatly in turning out these rhymes. "In fact," writes Gipson, "I've got a sneaking notion that the writer was actually enjoying the hell out of it. Which, of course, is no way to write great poetry."

I think every westerner will greatly enjoy, and treasure, "Songs Of The Saddlemen" and certainly every tenderfoot should have a copy, to read and an extra copy to send to the folks back home so they can better understand this Southwest, a land that promises so little and gives so much.

For instance, in one of these poems, "Thirsty Cowboy," he has written:

"There's a sayin' out West and it's true, I'll allow,
That a man who can't drink from the track of a cow,
Ain't much of a cowboy; for where punchers ride
There ain't habblin' brooks along by his side

For a waddy to drink from when joggin' around.
He waters, like cattle, wherever it's found.
Sometimes there is gyp in the water he drinks,
Sometimes it is muddy and sometimes it stinks.
Sometimes it's so thick where the cattle have pawed
That ere it is swallowed it has to be chewed."

And again, writing about the jackrabbit:

"When Mister Jack lets in to lops
He sure gets up and drags it.
It makes him mighty hard to rope—
The way he signs and zags it."
Best of all "Songs Of The Saddlemen" is a complete production of the cow country. Written and illustrated in the land of cowboy boots, it has been published and printed in Denver. It is one of the "Sage" books published by Alan Swallow, 2819 South York Street, Denver, 10, Colorado, at $2.75 and will probably be available in all book stores.

Don't Demand All Of Steady's Time

By BEVERLY BRANDOW

Dear Miss Brandow:

My boy friend is in town on weekends only. He comes to see me every Saturday, but never on Sunday. Please tell me why. Do you think he doesn't like me as much as he has led me to believe?

A Worried Gal
Once a week may not seem very often, but look at it this way. Your beau is spending half his time home with you. This is not a symptom of a boy who has lost interest or has been attracted by some other girl.

Enjoying your company does not make him enjoy the company of his family any less, and Sundays are usually considered family days. This is particularly true when the boy has been away from home all week.

Don't be too demanding of his time. No boy likes that. Solve your problem by inviting him to church with you or to your evening young people's meeting. If he attends his own church perhaps this will cause him to invite you to go with him.

Suggest a family picnic. Perhaps he feels you wouldn't care to see him two days in a row. Take the initiative yourself. When you see him, invite him over for home made cookies and a game of scrabbles on Sunday.

Should he turn you down, don't be too hurt. He has certain obligations to his family. Try to be understanding. Perhaps soon he will be in town during the week, also.

Add To Your Holiday Admonitions This That You Don't Forget Why

This weekend brings up a double holiday. There have been many and appropriate admonitions to be careful, especially of highway traffic. Police have asked parents to keep an eye on junior if he has to shoot fireworks because today's variety are not only noise makers but finger and eye burners.

Not much has been said about the reason for the holiday. There will be millions upon millions who will never give it a thought, and to our shame perhaps many who won't even know that July 4 is the day that our nation celebrates its independence.

If there is a date that stands out more prominently in all the calendar of the year, it is Independence Day. This is the occasion when our forefathers reluctantly cut the ties with the mother country and mutually pledged their lives and fortunes to the cause of freedom. This was no mere catch phrase, for all too tragically many were to give their lives for a cause they passionately believed was just. For most the struggle cost everything they had and left them penniless.

Out of their tribulation and their faith ultimately came some great principles of government, a democracy the likes of which the earth had never seen. Five times it was tested externally on the field of battle, and once it convulsed almost to the death internally. Yet it has stood, great and mighty, strong and majestic, feared and respected.

Let not its birth be forgotten. If you own a flag in your home or in your business, fly it this weekend—on Sunday—the actual date, and on Monday, the day of official observance.

Britain To Celebrate Independence But This Time From Its Rationing

The people of Great Britain will celebrate their own "Independence Day" Saturday, July 3—one day ahead of their American friends.

What Britain celebrates will be an end to rationing, after fourteen years and four months of food control. Probably the greatest conflict storm in British history will result when housewives tear up their ration books and scatter the bits to the four winds.

There has been plenty of food in Britain for some time now, so the chief effect of the end to rationing will be psychological. Butchers have been allowing housewives a little extra meat for months, and bacon has been effectively off the ration for some time.

Rationing was a must for Britain, because two-thirds of its food supplies came from abroad, and German submarines played havoc with the supply lines. Thirty-five thousand British merchant mariners died in the struggle to keep the food ships coming.

The low point for wartime food was reached in the spring of 1941, when the meat ration was 20 cents worth of meat per person per week. But in the postwar years things got even worse. By spring of 1949 the ratio was 14 cents worth of red meat, plus 3.5 cents worth of corned beef, per person per week. As late as September of 1952 the meat ration was still only 28 cents worth.

With the triumph of the Conservatives under Churchill over the Laborites under Clement Attlee conditions gradually started getting better, and finally came the day of deliverance from all forms of rationing.

British medical authorities insist the national health underwent steady improvement under austerity. Will Britons now start eating themselves back into a state of valetudinarianism?

Matter Of Fact—Joseph and Stewart Alsop

British Foreign Policy Based On Awareness Of Total Peril

Far from seeming ailing or aged, Sir Winston Churchill has displayed all the aplomb of the greatest personality of his age during his days in Washington.

Furthermore, he and President Eisenhower have done good business together. They have re-forged the links between Britain and America, as they set out to do. Yet there is still a flaw in the forging that they have not and perhaps could not overcome.

In brief, the British leaders have now waked up to Britain's total peril from Soviet attack with the absolute weapons. It may seem strange that this British awareness of total peril should now be so important. After all, the peril has existed for some time. It has been known in theory since it began to exist but the truth is that the British leaders did not feel the peril in their bones until this winter. Their actions were not influenced by it. They did not regard their peril as something real, practical and immediate.

A date can even be given, on exceedingly good authority, for the moment of the Prime Minister's own full awakening. On Feb. 17, Rep. Sterling Cole talked in Chicago to an ironically chosen audience—the annual convention of the National Sand and Gravel and Ready-Mixed Concrete Association. But Cole got his most attentive hearing in London, at No. 10 Downing Street.

The Chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy described how our first hydrogen bomb "obliterated the test island" at Eniwetok; tore a "cavity in the floor of the ocean a full mile in diameter"; and did other horrible and specific things.

Precisely because Cole's facts were vivid and specific, they aroused the Prime Minister as he had never been aroused by all the secret and abstract studies available to him. Churchill has been quoting Cole's facts ever since, in a sort of grim litany. He referred to the man at length during the White House talks, reiterating his other oft-repeated statement that the British Isles are "a bull's eye target" for Soviet attack.

Still more curiously, the episode of the Japanese fishing boat was what really convinced most of the other members of the British government. Like Churchill they had all the secret papers. But as in Churchill's case, the elaborate calculations of the secret papers had seemed to them remote and unreal. Then the fall-out from our second hydrogen test cruelly interrupted the voyage of the Fortunate Dragon. And that simple episode translated the calculations of the secret papers into human terms that any politician or planner could understand.

After that, the peril of Britain was truly real and truly immediate in the mind of every British policy-maker. And this harsh, belated awakening in turn controlled the British response to the challenge in Indochina.

All the reasons the British have given for their policy in the Indochina crisis—the importance of Asian nationalism, the need for Asian support, and so on—are good reasons. But there is one other thing about their policy that the British have not said.

Warnings that the loss of Indochina would amount to a super-Munich in Asia, have come from almost every trusted British key official on the spot. Britain's own Asian experts have emphatically argued that the danger of an Asian Munich is much greater than the danger of offending Asian nationalism. All these warnings have been ignored in London, except for one detail. Reinforcements are being sent to Malaya to meet the increased Communist menace there, which only confirms the character of the warnings.

All the facts, in short, point the same way. The British policy-makers thought that a war to save Indochina would spread into a wider war. Hence they had to ask themselves, "Are we ready to risk the destruction of Britain for the sake of Indochina?" That single question was controlling and decisive. The answer was "No." The British therefore set out to secure the surrender in Indochina that is now taking place.

It is tragic that the sense of total peril should produce this kind of result. But it is not blameworthy, because it is inevitable.

In twelve or eighteen or twenty-four months, some other trifling episode can be expected to arouse the people and the policy-makers of this country to the peril of America. And we shall then react to our own total peril—for it will be total by then—in just about the same way that the British have reacted. We sleep now, as the British slept until this winter. And it will be a nightmare to awaken.

Such is the flaw in the Anglo-American partnership, in the Western alliance, and in the whole ruling conception of American foreign policy.

U. S. Defers Decision On What To Do As Vietminh Steadily Gain In Indochina

WASHINGTON (U)—Twenty-five years from now—if by then the Communist wave has receded or is lapping at American shores—the cause may be traced back to this country's decision, or lack of it, on its dilemma of 1954.

The dilemma is what to do about the Communist threat in Southeast Asia where the French, in Indochina, are melting under the torrid drive of the Communist-led Vietminh.

What decision has this country made so far? None. It is going to plan with the British and other Allies for united action in Southeast Asia against the Communists if they—

There is even no certainty that a line will ever be drawn or that the Allies will in fact ever act together, or separately, to keep Southeast Asia out of communism.

Once the Communists got Indochina, they could pump supplies across the border to help revolutionary Communist states in neighboring Burma and Thailand, just as China helped the Vietminh. The lack of decision by America and its allies stirred Sen. Knowland of California yesterday. Knowland, the Republican leader in the Senate, had urged the United States to bomb China during the Korean War.

Less than a month ago he said the United States will have to "face up to the fact" it may have to fight in Indochina. Yesterday looking at Viet Nam slowly falling to the Communists and little being done to stop it, he said:

"Where do we go from here? How many more Communist victories must be gained in Asia before the free world recognizes the danger?"

He continued: Will the non-Communist countries cling to their feeling it is not worth the risk of fighting when it comes to Cambodia, Laos, Thailand, Burma, Malaya, India, Pakistan, Formosa, Japan, Indonesia, The Philippines, Australia, New Zealand?

When the crisis came in Indochina—although all year the Eisenhower administration had been talking of the importance of Indochina and how, if it fell, all South-east Asia stood in peril—the President's advisers were divided on what to do.

Meanwhile, China, the main enemy, could stand aloof, sending in supplies to the Vietminh, letting the Vietminh do the dying. If China sent in her own troops, the United States would face another decision: whether to bomb China. That might bring in Russia on China's side, and start World War III.

But, as Knowland noted, if the United States never moves in anywhere, the Communists in time will try to take over everywhere. The Eisenhower administration will have to make a decision someday.

Death Finds Holidays His Most Busy Times

Editor's Note:—The National Safety Council forecasts a record number of deaths over the 4th of July weekend. In the interest of a safe and sane holiday, we are reissuing the following column, which was widely praised by safety officials last year.

NEW YORK (U)—Death got up early this morning. As America began to celebrate the long Independence Day weekend, Death promptly went on overtime.

For when mankind has a holiday for any reason, Death can know no idleness. He must tabulate a great human self-slaughter.

And so it was Death rose early today. He had a lot to do in the busy days ahead. He had many a mortal rendezvous to keep on highway and byway, in homes and saloons, on pond and pavement, on mountain cliff and summer playground.

For Death had a double duty. He had not only his usual job to do, the escorting of the sick and old and life-worn across his pale frontier. He had his extra holiday clients to attend to. The lost battalion of the needless dead.

On such days as these, Death, the fair weather friend of the foolish, initiates new members into the D.O.A. club. This club has no dues and no life memberships. It is made up of unseeing holiday victims who are brought to hospitals and tagged with a card bearing three initials that stand for "dead on arrival."

Yes, Death got up early this morning. For by next Monday night there are hundreds of Americans he must meet and wave to their doom—a D.O.A. tag. In 10,000 cars rounding 10,000 curves, he whispers to the driver, "Go on and pass that car ahead of you. Never mind what your wife is saying. What makes her think there might be another car coming around the bend toward you anyway? Wives are always worrying about something."

But on some of the curves another car does come around the bend. There is a scream and a crash of metal. And Death says to the silent husband, "So long, sucker." And he says to the silent wife, "You'll never have to live with another fool, dear." Then he walks over to the silent, huddled driver of the second car and says, "Pal, I know you didn't want to join our organization, but I am only taking membership, and this guy nominated you. And now you belong."

Or Death puts his arm around a teen-age high school driver and says, "Faster, kid, faster. Boy, you're a real hot rodder. Sure, you can see clear in the moonlight. Let's see how close you can come to that bridge abutment." A moment later the boy's ribs are in his lungs, blood drenches his whippers, and Death tags him and says, "You know, I almost thought you'd make it. Well, even counting the funeral costs, I still saved your folks most of the $5,000 they'd put away for your college education."

And somewhere a mother at a picnic, busy fixing the lunch, is sure someone else in the family is keeping an eye on the child who toddles toward the lakefront. And, sure enough, someone is. "Come in, little boy," says Death from the water. "I will catch you, and your mother will never, never forget you again. See the pretty tag I have for you?"

Death waits on a darkened porch as a little girl in a filmy dress sneaks out with a sparkler in her hand. "Go ahead and light the sparkler all by yourself," coaxes Death. "You're a big girl now."

So Death will move at a ceaseless pace today, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, playing his deadly game of tag across all America with the holiday risk-takers and their victims. And the foolish. And the unwary. Wherever he pauses an ambulance will follow, half, pick up a still burden and race with it to a hospital where it will get the epithet:

Nickel Is Passing But You Can Make Five-Cent Buy—With Dime

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.

Though my groaning may be a little premature, today I'm lamenting the passing of a great American institution—the nickel.

For like the penny before it, the nickel is doomed to the role of secondary "fill-in" change.

Even during my lifetimes—and I'm not so terribly ancient—the nickel has slipped from a place of prominence to a position of little value. It used to be a coin to be reckoned with.

It would be hard to pinpoint the time that the nickel first started losing face. Possibly it was in the early years of the war. At least it was during those years that it was first brought to my attention.

At the time I was an apprentice stock boy in a small grocery store. As I was stacking cans on shelves a woman came up and asked me the price of a can of corn. As usual, I didn't know.

The manager was in the front of the store, and she found it necessary to yell at him. "How much does this nickel can of corn cost?" she said.

He knew what she was talking about without looking. "That nickel can costs 11 cents, but you can get the 10 cent can for 20," he replied.

I thought it was a pretty good joke. And as I remember it, I did my share of the laughing. It didn't occur to me that this and other such incidents possibly marked the dawn of a new era.

Even then the nickel, like the buffalo it pictures, was becoming a vanishing American—at least in value.

However, it is only recently that my Scotch blood has begun to boil. I usually work on a delayed action basis, and it takes me a few years to catch up with what other people have known for a long time.

It is only in the past year or so that I have noticed that this disease known as "dimelitis" has become so contagious.

Candy manufacturers have even been affected. Chocolate bars which have sold for years at 5 cents are now going for a dime. The germ has also spread to the cold drink manufacturers or at least those who retail the products, because pop costs 10 cents practically everywhere now. You can't even buy it for a nickel in the machines.

That long-favorite American drink—coffee—even costs a dime at most places now. By actual count I know of only two places in town that still have a nickel cup. At Big Spring residents are still lucky. That dimelitis disease has spread to the telephone companies in a number of cities. Here we still get to use the phone for a nickel, but I don't know for how long.

People here can also put a nickel in a parking meter, but I'm afraid that will not last forever either. Some cities have boxes—well they already have slots for dimes and quarters.

And it seems to me that I even used to hear of a good five-cent cigar.

Ripsnorting Fourth Of July Oratory Would Be Welcome

I don't spend too much time longing for the good, old days. But I wish I could do something constructive to revive the old-fashioned, ripsnorting, flag-waving Fourth of July.

I want a Fourth complete with parade, a community picnic with foot races in the town park, fireworks and, to top it all off, some inspired orator to speak well of Uncle Sam.

Most of all, I want the spellbinder, some William Jennings Bryan or Demosthenes (J. G.), to loose a flood of oratory in praise of Uncle Samuel, the United States of America, and even of us poor, frustrated taxpayers who, by and large, are doing the best we know how in a mighty confusing world.

I can't think of anything more soothing to our jangled ganglia than an Independence Day speaker who would point with pride and view with confidence our own, our native ship of state. And it certainly would be novel!

I am 100 per cent for brotherly love, international aid and hands across the sea. Still and all, for 364 days out of the year, the rest of the world, if not too much with us, is certainly breathing down our necks.

The world and his wife are fine people. The trouble with them in recent years is that they have gotten into the habit of telling us where to get off. They are always telling Uncle Sam the truth about himself, as they see it.

It is my hunch that Uncle Sam is innocent as a new-born babe. A smart man doesn't fiddle-faddle in deals of this kind; he stacks the deck to win.

But if the world and his wife weren't blaming Uncle for the Guatemalan situation, they would be upbraiding him for something else. It is open season for hollering at Uncle Sam. It is the price he pays for being big and powerful. (Read what they used to say about the British Empire when it had money and muscles!)

Uncle's ears are bent, all right, but they might perk up good as new with a little loving oratory on the Fourth. What the old gentleman needs no less than his nieces and nephews is an orgy of patriotism, a sentimental binge of flag-waving. What's wrong with flag-waving, may I ask? Especially on July 4?

On that day, we are entitled to forget the gripes aimed our way by a frightened, overworked world. That is the day for us to be reminded of what the United States has done and is now doing to keep democracy alive in a nervous world.

This is still the land of the free and the home of the brave—brave enough to fight to keep itself free and to try to keep the rest of the world free, too, although the going gets tougher all the time.

When I was a child, the Fourth of July program in our town had two standard features, (1) the orator and (2) the reading of the Declaration of Independence just preceding the oratory.

Young and old, we hung on the beautiful words of that mighty document, its noble sentiments and its rolling periods. If the United States had given nothing else to the world, its existence would be justified alone by that declaration for all mankind.

The Declaration, read in this year of grace, would sound even better, like a trumpet call in a world almost half-slave. It, coupled with an oration full of confidence in the U. S. A., would sound fine on the Fourth to all of us. After all, we have a right to think well of ourselves on our birthday anniversary.

These Days—George Sokolsky

Nation Should Know Hemisphere Offers Best Mineral Resources

Senator George Malone of Nevada is the only professional engineer in the United States Senate and therefore he brings into that body a point of view which is very different from that of the lawyer.

The problem that faces Malone's committee is precisely what is the situation of the United States with regard to minerals, metals and other strategic materials. This committee has produced a tremendous volume of technical data, difficult to read at times but all of it extremely important. The assumption has heretofore been that the United States was short of certain strategic materials which could only be made available by overseas commerce which could be shut down swiftly in the event of war. For instance, tin and rubber from Malaya might be withheld from us should Red China come into possession of that country.

According to the Malone report, 77 minerals and materials, included in this report, are vital to the maintenance of the American economy and its progress as a military force. It lays down this finding absolutely:

"The western hemisphere will be the only dependable source of the critical raw materials in the event of an all-out war. 'The delivery of any such critical materials to this nation across a major ocean during such a conflict will be highly 'problematical.'"

This position is unquestionable in the nature of modern warfare. The oceans can be closed down until one power or the other gains a total victory. The schnorkel submarine, the atomic submarine and the long-distance airplane make the ocean lanes of traffic unsuitable in war. The Pacific Ocean was made unsafe for the transportation of supplies of rubber and tin during World War II, with the result that the United States was forced to develop a synthetic rubber industry based on the Baruch Report. It will be forgotten, of course, how Florence is Guardia desperately collected tin cans in the hope of meeting the tin crisis, cans which eventually helped to fill the Jersey meadows.

The hope of meeting future crisis is in a hemispheric cultivation of mineral production and the means for the transportation of minerals and their products without the perils of the seas. The "Europe First" attitude of the State Department resulted not only in the loss of China but also in the partial abandonment of the Latin American countries. This committee lays emphasis on the importance of regarding the western hemisphere and cultivating its economy as a unit.

In time of war, there will be no alternative to self-sufficiency. Once the oceans are closed down to commerce, we shall have to exist on what we have within our own boundaries or what we have stockpiled or what we can bring to our smelters and mills from within the western hemisphere. Much of our thinking on this subject has been based on the assumption that many strategic minerals and materials were available only in Europe, Asia or Africa.

It is like that famous speech on "Acres of Diamonds": We seek all over the world for what can be found in our backyard. The committee found:

"During the last two decades established procurement practices have dangerously increased our dependence upon nations across major oceans for the critical materials without which this nation cannot survive.

"Evidence is conclusive that we have become dependent upon overseas suppliers across such major oceans for many of such critical materials. We must avoid dependence upon an overseas supplier to the extent that he could suddenly render us impotent by withdrawing supplies of critical materials during a world conflict, or could use such dependence as a political or economic bargaining lever."

The supply of minerals and essential materials is the first task of war preparedness in this age.

SHOW COURTHOUSE

New 'Phone Books Feature 'New Look'

Big Spring's most-read book—the telephone directory—has a new look. For the first time in several years, the directory cover will carry the familiar "Spirit of Communication."

In its place is an artist's sketch of the new Howard County courthouse. The design, "The Spirit of Communication," long used on directory covers here and throughout the Bell System, is a sketch of the statue atop the AT&T building in New York. This figure, originally called "The Genius of Electricity," has been the subject of much discussion. Frequently, telephone customers call the business office to ask if it is a sketch of Mercury, or if Buster Crabbe, the swimmer and movie star, posed for it.

"We selected the new Howard County courthouse for our directory cover because it reflects the growth and expansion of business and industry in Big Spring and Howard County," Cliff Fisher, Big Spring manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, said.

The new Big Spring directory contains 48 alphabetical or "white" pages and 120 classified or "yellow" pages. It has a gray cover. The book contains 6,250 alphabetical listings compared with 6,065 listings in last year's book. It also contains 2,700 yellow page listings.

First listing in the new book is AAA American Auto Association, 511 E. 3rd. The last listing is E. S. Zublate, 204 N. W. 2nd.

Approximately 13,400 copies of the directory have been printed. "A number of extra copies are printed as replacements for those used in public telephone booths and other places where much use occurs," Fisher explained.

The new Big Spring directory contains telephone number of the new Luther and Lomax subscribers. These exchanges are owned by the Wes-Tex Rural Telephone Cooperative.

"Old telephone directories should be thrown away immediately after the new directory is received. However, care should be taken to remove any items, such as photos, letters and notes, which may have been placed between the pages," Fisher said.

Detective's Ruse Saves Would-Be Woman Suicide

NEW YORK (AP)—A detective's ruse saved a middle-aged woman who, for an hour and a half, perched on a fifth-story hotel window ledge and threatened to jump.

Some 5,000 onlookers stood by as Mrs. Marion Oakes, about 50, was coaxed to safety last night. She said she was despondent over the death of her husband.

Police pleaded with her without success as she sat on the ledge of the Hotel Edicott screaming, "Gangsters are after me."

Finally, Detective Bob McDonald put on a white shirt backward, which in the darkness resembled a doctor's tunic, and keeping up a stream of pseudo-medical talk, persuaded her to step off the ledge "only for one minute."

She was then grabbed by another policeman. The woman was taken to a hospital for observation.

Padre Island Bridge Dedication Is Set

PORT ISABEL, Tex. (AP)—Some of the old timers still find it hard to believe, but a $2,750,000 causeway tying Port Isabel with the southern tip of historic Padre Island is to be dedicated tomorrow.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson and Spanish Ambassador Don Jose Felix de Lequerica will dedicate the 6,776-foot span, the Queen Isabella Causeway, at noon.

Isla Grande Park, the first public recreational area to be built on the island, also will be opened tomorrow. Some 850,000 in attractive, comfortable beach, fishing and housing facilities at the 189-acre Isla Grande will be received from contractors tonight by the Cameron County Board of Park Commissioners.

Korean Assembly Nixes Rhee Slate

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea's newly elected National Assembly today handed President Syngman Rhee a stiff and unexpected rebuke by refusing to confirm his new Cabinet.

Many of Rhee's gun Liberal party members bolted to join independents and Democratic Nationalists in withholding confidence from the slate of ministers.

The vote was 96 for the Cabinet and 74 against, with 16 abstaining, 9 votes invalid and 12 absent.

The 96 votes were four short of the absolute majority, 102, needed for Cabinet confirmation in the 203-seat Legislature.

Loyalist Demos Win Court Test On Party Ruling

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
 Associated Press Staff

Gov. Allan Shivers, bidding for a third elective term, and his most active opponent, Ralph Yarborough, continued their long-range debate Friday.

In Besanmont, the loyalist Democratic faction which is supporting Yarborough won two court victories.

The Ninth Court of Civil Appeals upheld the anti-Shivers Democrats in a test case involving control of the Democratic party in Texas.

Gaston Wilder Jr., attorney who filed the suit and an appeal, said he hoped to get Supreme Court action before the precinct meetings are held primary election day, July 24.

In a unanimous decision, the Appeals Court ruled that only Democratic votes cast for Gov. Shivers in the 1952 general election should be used in computing delegate strength.

Then the court overruled a motion for rehearing filed by Wilder, Beaumont attorney and Loyalist leader. The action upheld the Jefferson County Democratic Executive Committee and affirmed a 60th District Court ruling that refused to grant an injunction against the Jefferson group.

The Supreme Court action now sought by Wilder would be expected to have statewide application.

The Jefferson County Democratic organization has been in direct opposition to the Shivers-controlled state committee.

But Shivers had consolation in the Thursday developments. Sen. A. M. (Pat) Aiken of Paris, Tex., threw his support behind the governor.

Shivers and the Texas State Teachers Assn., usually friendly to Senator Aiken, were sharply at odds in 1953 on how to achieve higher salaries for teachers. A subsequent special session this year finally worked out a "compromise" but many teachers still felt hostile toward Shivers. They got a $402 yearly boost instead of an asked-for $600 raise.

Aiken, long a close friend of the governor's, said in an article in the Texas Outlook, TSTA publication, that Shivers "has had the best interests of our public schools at heart."

Shivers headquarters in Austin said the average teacher salary in Texas actually has been increased $1,100 per year during the governor's administration.

Yarborough spoke in El Paso Thursday while Shivers spoke in Monahans Thursday.

Hitting at the "Republican administration in Austin," Yarborough said, "no other governor in the state has ever asked for a third term, but the voters are now faced with the prospect of the indispensable man idea."

But he said he considered honesty and integrity in office to be the main issue in the governor's race. Again he devoted much of his address to an attack on the Shivers-appointed State Insurance Commission, whose members have been under fire for what Yarborough called "a record replete with evidence of fraudulent abuse of insurance laws."

At Monahans, Shivers said, "my opponent has not come up with any constructive programs. He is running around saying he wants to double this and triple that, and at the same time eliminate some of our state taxes."

Guatemalans See Evidence Of Red Regime's Tortures

GUATEMALA (AP)—Handkerchiefs to their noses, a long line of men, women and teen-agers filed past a row of mutilated bodies in tropical Guatemala's capital today.

The smell of death was overpowering as the curious populace lifted the lids of the crude wooden coffins to peer at some of those the new military government says were tortured to death by deposed President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman's dread secret police.

Some of the lookers fainted. Others vomited at the stench. Most fled.

In the small, plaster-walled room in Guatemala City's morgue a statue of Christ loomed behind the coffins, candles burning at its side.

The gruesome display was part of the drive by Guatemala's new government against Arbenz's Communist backers, who sparked the terror wave which preceded his downfall and who now are reported stirring up peasant opposition to his conquerors.

In the weeks just before and after Col. Carlos Castillo Armas' "liberation" army of exiles invaded from neighboring Honduras, the police rounded up hundreds of anti-Communists and opponents of Arbenz's red-backed regime.

Of those picked up, the bodies of some 60 so far have been brought to the capital—torn, battered and broken by police torture.

Six of these, brought in yesterday from the little village of Villa Lobos, were typical. After several days of working over by the police, they were machine-gunned on June 24 and left in a shallow grave.

All were men. Their bodies were purple from beating, slashed and cut by floggings. Eyes were gouged out and teeth were kicked in. The groins had been a favorite target.

Each man's hands were tied behind him.

Texan Ordered Back North For Contempt Action

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP)—Louis B. Conley, 31, of Amarillo, Texas, who served 37 months in county jail for contempt of court, has been ordered back to Massachusetts to face another contempt charge.

Judge Felix Forte yesterday signed rendition papers in superior court for Conley's return here on the grounds he has been delinquent in weekly support payments for his son.

Conley's sentence in Plymouth County jail ran 37 months, the longest in Massachusetts history for contempt. It stemmed from his refusal to return his young daughter to his divorced wife, who had been given custody.

Juggler Goes Into Lion Cage In Try To Save Trainer

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Eric Drossky is a circus juggler who is scared of animals. But last night he leaped into the lion cage and fought desperately for the life of trainer William Coetzee, his best friend.

Women screamed and fled from the tent when one of the six performing lions turned on Coetzee as he was putting the animal through its paces. As all six lions pounced, Drossky rushed into the ring. With a chair, he tried to draw the raging beasts toward himself.

The lions clawed the trainer. Then they chased the juggler until ringmaster Dennis Wood joined him with a club. Together they held the beasts at bay and dragged Coetzee out.

The trainer, badly mauled, died three hours later. Drossky, meanwhile, had gone on with his own juggling act.

Andrews Man Tells Of Fall In Big Bend

ALPINE, Tex. (AP)—A 25-year-old well drilling company employe told yesterday of surviving a 25-foot fall, a cut artery and a two-day exposure in Big Bend National Park.

Daniel L. Carl, of Andrews, Tex., said he fell from a ledge Tuesday, and managed to pull himself up to the top of it again before losing consciousness. He was found yesterday by a national park construction crew. He had put weight on the arm and had managed to stop the blood flow. He was not believed to be in serious condition, despite loss of blood.

Karachi was a city of 300,000 before Pakistan became independent in 1947, but today it has a million people.

Jesus, Our Example and Lord

HE GREW AND WAXED STRONG, FILLED WITH WISDOM AND GRACE

Scripture—Luke 2:10-52.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

WE TURN now from the dire warnings of the prophets prophesying dreadful punishment because of the sins of the children of Israel, to a lovely story of our Lord's childhood and youth. We have read it before, but like the tale of His birth, it is ever new.

It is a story that will appeal to children of all ages as well as to those of us who are grown up. It can make even quite small ones think of their own homes and compare their conduct there with that of Christ when He was young. If the lovely picture of the small Boy growing up, obedient and helpful in His home is presented strongly enough, it may help the youngsters to follow His example.

And in this decade when the unwholesome actions of older children are occupying so many newspaper headlines, and horrifying us, it might give some a change of heart and mind that will save them lasting shame in the future.

We know very little of Jesus' childhood after He and His parents came back to their home in Nazareth (about 90 miles from Jerusalem) after their flight to Egypt soon after Jesus' birth. He was three years old at that time, and Luke tells us, "The Child grew and waxed strong in spirit, filled with wisdom; and the grace of God was upon Him."

He was preaching and teaching, men who tried to trap Him were astounded and shamed because He quoted the Scriptures to them. However, to continue our story: "And when He was 12 years old they went up to Jerusalem," as they did every year at the feast of the Passover. This may not have been the first time Jesus was taken to Jerusalem, as His parents went every year, but this time He was older and it probably meant more to Him.

"And when they had fulfilled the days, as they returned, the child Jesus tarried behind in Jerusalem; and Joseph and His mother knew not of it." At first they thought He must be with some of the company, and they looked for Him among their kinfolk and acquaintances, but did not find Him. Then they turned back to Jerusalem, probably terrified that something harmful may have happened to the child. Three days they sought Him. Finally, in the temple, they found Him "sitting in the midst of the doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions."

What did the Boy Jesus ask them? We do not know, but the doctors must have been enthralled with this young Boy who was so interested and intelligent. "And when they saw Him, they grew, and waxed strong in spirit, filled with wisdom; and the grace of God was upon Him."

It is, of course, natural for children to grow in body and in mind, but sometimes what we know as a very sweet, tractable little child will, when we see him a few years later, have changed into a headless, disobedient, turbulent youngster.

What has happened? Is it the parents' fault? They are often told so. Is it just a natural condition which will pass as the years go on, and the child becomes wiser? In some cases the answer is yes; in others, no; he may grow more willful, lawless and unmanageable.

Is it the result of the great war and continual violence recorded in the newspapers all over the world? Some blame the so-called "comic" books which depict crime in all its horrors and are sold cheaply in many places to children.

Jesus' home in Nazareth must have been a small, humble place. We know virtually nothing of His brothers and sisters growing up with Him. Were they too "growing in spirit and wisdom?" Jesus must have gone to school in the synagogue and learned to read and write and to know the Scriptures. And how well He learned the latter. Time after time, when were amazed, and His mother said unto Him, "Son, why hast Thou thus dealt with us? Behold, Thy father and I have sought Thee sorrowing."

She did not scold or rave at Him for giving them trouble and grief. She spoke gently, sadly, we have no doubt, but gently, as Mary, the sweet mother, would speak. And He answered: How is it that ye sought Me? wist ye not that I must be about My Father's business?"

They did not understand His words, but He knew that He was preparing even at that early age, for His Father's work.

"And He went down with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subject unto them; but His mother kept all these sayings in her heart. And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man."

You remember that after Jesus' birth, with all the wonders that occurred then, that St. Luke tells us that Mary kept "all these things, and pondered them in her heart."

Mothers keep so many things that happen to their children, and "ponder them in their hearts." Bless are they who have happy things to call to mind when their children are grown and have left home.

SUNDAY SCHOOL 9:45 A. M.
 Morning Worship: "Castles In Spain"
 Evening: "What Mean Ye By These Stones?"

The Fourth of July is a great day in the United States of America. On this date in 1776 the Thirteen Original Colonies declared their independence from the British government in which they had lost confidence. They assumed their right, as they themselves expressed it in their Declaration of Independence, to live under "the laws of nature and of nature's God."

This freedom has carried down to this very day. And that is why happy little faces, such as those in this picture, can look hopefully out from the shadow of the Stars and Stripes to safety, and justice, and law and order in government and society.

Government by the people can endure only when it is in the hands of godly men and women, of good citizens, of officers and officials who respect the Christian principles upon which all good and sound democracy is laid.

The Church and the State are true partners in democratic living. Over them both Freedom's Holy Light is a welcome and necessary beacon. A representative government in the hands of good officials protects the inalienable right of freedom of worship. And the Church builds in men the character, the moral tone, the spiritual stamina, which make them worthy of being entrusted with a free government of free people.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Hair Should Shine In The Summer Sun

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Features Beauty Editor

Hair is on the spot during the summer months. At other seasons we can hide unruly locks or a crowning glory in need of a shampoo under a hat or kerchief and still look chic. But not so during warmer months— one season of the year when hair must shine.

It is easy to keep it clean and sleek with a minimum of effort, however. Here are some helpful pointers:

1. Keep your hair short enough so that it may be washed every day if you like. On warm days hair may even be shampooed under the shower and dried before you take off for work. Rub briskly with a good absorbent towel, then use a dry brush. After that put the hair up in pin curls when it is slightly damp. If it is still damp when you take off for work, wear a smart bandanna around it. But drape it attractively—don't wear it in a babushka style. Comb out pin curls when you get to your locker.

2. If hair is on the longish side and badly in need of a shampoo which is out of the question at the moment because of illness, vacation traveling or lack of time, try a dry shampoo. One that is water-less and flower-scented will help rid hair of dust, dirt and excess oil. What's more your wave will be intact after this type of shampoo. All you do is put about a tablespoonful in a saucer, dip in the applicator brush that comes with the shampoo and brush it through a small section of hair, working it away from the scalp. This is repeated, strands at a time, until the entire head is done. After the hairbrush is used briskly, your hair should look soft and fluffy once more.

3. When on the beach protect your hair from burning sunshine with a beach hat or other head covering. This is particularly important if the hair has been dyed or bleached, because hair may be exceedingly dry to start with.

4. If you go out driving, particularly in a convertible car, be sure to take a head covering with you. This should be anything that will grip the hair and keep it in its proper place, whether bandanna or hat that ties under the chin.

5. Carry one of those little hair sticks that can be whisked quickly over hair wisps to keep them in place. These little wax-like sticks are small enough to be kept in the handbag, and will come in handy when on an automobile drive or when traveling. They are particularly good for short hairdos.

New Equipment Helps Make Outdoor Dining Easy, Fun

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Features Writer

One of the joys of warm weather is outdoor dining. Years ago backyard and terrace dining were limited to picnic type fare. But with the advent of chic weatherproof furniture outdoor dining took on a new glamor.

Now the family may enjoy breakfast, lunch and dinner outdoors when the weather is nice. The table, chairs and cushions may remain outdoors. Even the plastic table cover or place mats will not be harmed by sudden showers.

Designers are creating beautiful but sensible tableware for open air dining. There are delightful items in the inexpensive bracket to charm any outdoor table. New glassware in bubbly, light-flecked emerald green has the textured look of more expensive and even antique glass.

It is well-designed, adding a particular note of charm, considering that it may be found in dime stores and gift shops.

Lazy Susans are perfect for outdoor tables to hold pickles, radishes, radishes, celery and may be had in glass as well as other materials. So, too, the casseroles are available in gaily colored, individual ovenware glass that may go from oven to table in a jiffy. Take your choice of sunny yellow, green, red and grey.

Outdoor table coverings are particularly elegant. These are made of washable non-woven nylon in some instances, with the look and feel of dessoak with colorful hand-screened designs on either black or white backgrounds. Plastic placemats may simulate linen, silk or other fabrics in lattice, crocheted, knit or other designs. Straw place mats are very popular. Any of these may be wiped off with a damp cloth.

Even insect repellent is available in candle form in smart glass or other containers that will not detract from your table setting.

Evening dining may be enhanced particularly by candlelight. If you really want your table to look chic put a candle in a small flower pot, painted white or a color to harmonize with your table cloth. The advantage of the flower pot (besides being cute) is that the dirt will anchor the candle, keep it from blowing over and prevent it from igniting your table cloth.

Develop Child's Taste For Variety Of Foods Early

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M.D.
During time when babies will gobble down anything remotely resembling food is the time to get them accustomed to all sorts of tastes. They are not too choosy, usually, and will relish almost anything that can be sucked or swallowed. They have not yet learned to chew so whatever we offer them at this early age must be smooth and capable of slipping down the throat with one gulp.

Cereals and fruit are the first solids your baby will have. Don't stick to just a few kinds. Use cereals from as many different grains as possible, wheat, oats, rice, barley, corn. They all taste a little different.

When you begin with vegetables give your baby just as wide a variety as possible. Use all the kinds that come in the prepared baby foods, and in addition give him lots of other kinds too. Any vegetable that can be mashed smoothly is good for him. Give him broccoli, cauliflower, brussels sprouts, turnip—any vegetable you cook for the family. He will like some better than others but he will probably eat most of them and develop a taste for variety.

If there is one he is not too fond of try to teach him to like it. Add a very tiny bit of it to a favorite food. Gradually and little by little add more of the strange food until finally the baby is eating it plain without the masking taste of anything else.

Meats, fish, fruits and juices come in many flavors. Try your best to introduce your baby to every possible taste.

When your baby is a little older, has some teeth and is beginning to chew lumps instead of just swallowing smooth food, continue with your wide variety of foods. Let him have food from your table, meat loaf, stew, liver, kidney, sweetbreads, brains, even oysters, clams and shrimp when you have them. (Omit the cocktail sauce!) Shellfish is excellent food and quite digestible by babies.

Hold back on sweets. We never need to teach little children to like sweets. They like them all too well. Even a baby likes the puddings and sugary food so well he will often hold back on the vegetable and meat if he knows he can fill up on puddings. It's a good idea to make all desserts fruit in the early years.

Babies choke on food hard to chew. Nuts, raw carrots, corn are taboo in the very early years.

The baby who is given an opportunity for a huge variety of foods grows into a little child who eats almost everything put before him.

For Ageless Beauty, Vitality Is Needed

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women Editor

Any woman who allows herself to look old at 35 is merely a dope, says Lilly Dache, a high priestess of glamor.

"Every woman can be young, vital, attractive at any age," insists this French dynamo. "All she has to do is work at it. Nobody needs to have gray hair or wrinkles any more. Such things are merely a sign of laziness."

The voluble Lilly sat on the lawn of her country home at Pound Ridge, N. Y., managing to look glamorous in a pair of blue jeans and an old T-shirt. The noted milliner—who started her New York career 25 years ago as a salesgirl at Macy's, after arriving from her native France with $13—has just been named president of three corporations devoted to the cause of feminine beauty, one making cosmetics, another perfumes, the third hair cosmetics. She directs these with one hand while designing hats with the other.

Miss Dache, who is Mrs. Jean Despres in private life, has been studying the astonishing vitality of the queen bee, who lives 60 times longer than the humble worker bees, and who is fed on a diet of "royal jelly." Lilly recently brought back a commercial cosmetic containing the "royal jelly" ingredient. Says she:

"I don't mean that women will live 60 times longer than men if they use this cream on their faces. But perhaps they can look 60 times as young, and that would be better. This ingredient has been tested in France for several years. It costs $2,000 a pound, and has been found to contain all the known vitamins and a number which haven't even been named yet."

At a time when most women would be thinking of nothing more strenuous than competitions of the local garden club, Lilly is starting a new career.

"Always I have wanted to design the whole woman," she says. "A woman can wear a beautiful hat and a stunning gown, but if her face is tired and her hair is faded, what good does it do?"

"The inner spark of beauty and vitality must be there, or all the beautiful clothes are wasted. So now I am starting with the woman herself. I want to show her how to keep her face fresh and glowing, her hair beautiful and shining, her body young and lithe. Then she is ready for the outer glamor—the hat to call attention to her face, the gown to dramatize the best points of her figure. And as a final touch, of course, she must be surrounded by fragrance. That is the complete picture of the modern woman, whose duty it is to be as beautiful as she can. And she can."

Street Widening, Landscape Work Will Be Started Soon

Excavation work is to be started in the next few days for the widening of streets on three sides of the Howard County courthouse.

A city survey party is to start engineering work on the project either today or early next week.

The excavation will get under way as quickly as grades are established.

The city and county are cooperating in the widening of Third, Scurry and Fourth Streets adjacent to the courthouse grounds, to permit head-in parking. The city is to furnish engineering, the county will do the excavation and cost of paving will be shared.

Advertising for bids on beautification work for the square also will be started in the next few days. County Judge R. H. Weaver said today.

Landscaping plans have been completed and the commissioners court is expected to ask for bids on the beautification following a conference with Peter Michel, representative of the Lambert Landscape Company, probably Monday. The Lambert company prepared plans for the landscaping.

City Engineer Clifton N. Bellamy will meet with commissioners and Michel, as engineering work for the street widening must be coordinated with landscaping plans.

Four Persons Die In Three-Car Crash Near Waxahachie

WAXAHACHIE, Tex. (AP)—Four persons were killed and two injured in a three-vehicle crash five miles north of here yesterday.

Highway Patrolman James Vaught said other motorists blamed the triple crash on high-speed driving. Vaught identified the dead as:

Carlos Levon Nelson, 25, Route 5, Paragould, Ark.
Fred Nelson, 59, Paragould.
Mrs. Fred Nelson, about 50, Paragould.

Charles E. Krumpler, 22, Fort Hood, Tex., a passenger in the Nelson automobile.

Mary Alice Nelson, 17, was in a critical condition in a Waxahachie hospital. She was a daughter of the Nelsons.

Vaught said the Nelson car, going at high speed, rammed a watermelon truck driven by James Alton Porter, 28, Dilley, Tex., and then bounced into a car driven by Mrs. Ethel Lyon Pursley, 54, Hubbard, Tex.

Porter was not injured. Mrs. Pursley was believed only slightly injured.

Strong Earthquake Felt In Philippines

MANILA (AP)—A strong earthquake jolted the central Philippines today, centering in southern Luzon, where nine persons were reported dead and at least 14 injured.

Philippine News Service, which reported the casualties, said the provincial capital of Sorsogon was hardest hit.

Seven were reported killed there and two in Legaspi City to the north.

Eighty per cent of the old buildings in Sorsogon, a city of 20,000, were destroyed, Philippine News Service said. The towering steeple on a Catholic cathedral toppled.

Man Sentenced In Fatal Embrace Case

BALTIMORE (AP)—Kenneth C. Keller, who told a jury he accidentally shot his wife while embracing her, was sentenced yesterday to 18 years in the Maryland penitentiary for second-degree murder.

The 23-year-old mother of two children was fatally shot in the head last January. Keller said he was embracing her and stroking her hair with a hand that held a pistol.

He said the gun was discharged accidentally. Keller, 24, is formerly from Parsons, W. Va.

Smokers Continue Puffing Away In U. S.

By The Associated Press

Most of the country's cigarette smokers still are puffing away—though apparently with some restraining anxieties—despite medical reports the habit might hasten their death.

This was the situation indicated today by checks with tobacco wholesalers and retailers in more than a score of major cities across the nation.

Most of them said they had detected no change in cigarette sales since an American Cancer Society report 10 days ago that average cigarette users 50 to 70 die sooner, mainly of heart attacks or cancer.

"Smokers seem generally complacent about it," said a San Francisco wholesaler. "They figure why worry when the hydrogen bomb is liable to snuff out their lives anyhow someday."

However, there were some reports of sales drops, amounting to as much as 25 per cent, along with other signs some smokers were disturbed. A change to filter-tipped cigarettes was a wide trend.

Among 75 sources, some of them representing chains with hundreds of outlets, 52 said cigarette sales had remained unchanged, 15 reported slumps, usually slight, and 7 reported sales increases.

"The scare has just switched them around to filtered cigarettes," said a Dallas wholesaler.

"We also sell more pipes than ever before, but there's no real decline in cigarette sales."

"People just fuss, raise hell, buy pipes and then go right back to cigarettes."

The survey gave no general evaluation of a big run on chewing tobacco, cigars, snuff or pipes as a substitute for cigarettes.

Distributors in Washington, D.C., reported:

"The demand for pipes, pipe tobacco and cigars has risen slightly."

Indications of a switch was to filter-tipped, long cigarettes came from dealers in nearly every city.

"More filtered smokers are offsetting any loss in sale of regular brands," said wholesalers in Raleigh, N. C.

Cigarette holders also were getting popular.

Said one of Connecticut's largest retailers:

"We've sold more filter-type cigarette holders during the past year than in the history of the company. People are looking for all kinds of ways to continue smoking to avoid any harmful effects."

Many sources said it was too

Convict Obtains Law Lesson In Seeking Release

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Gerald Mastracchio, 31, serving 15 years for attempted robbery, got a lesson in law yesterday from Judge Fred B. Perkins.

Serving as his own attorney, Mastracchio went before Superior Court with a petition for a writ of habeas corpus for his release from prison.

He said two other men had confessed the attempted robbery for which he is serving time so he should be freed.

Judge Perkins explained to Mastracchio he drafted the wrong petition because he was not attacking the legality of the trial but was, in effect, claiming new evidence. What he should have brought, the judge said, was "a petition for a writ of error coram nobis."

Mastracchio went back to prison, presumably to draft a new petition.

British Suspenders Men Feeling Pinch

LONDON (AP)—The British suspenders industry says it can't be self-supporting if trousers are.

Feeling the pinch since a recent trend here toward elastic waistbands, the National Assn. of Brace, Belt and Suspender Manufacturers, has sent 100,000 leaflets to British men's shops. It warns the retailers they will lose the profits on eight million dollars worth of suspenders sold each year if they go out of style.

Also, the association contends, it is unhealthy to constrict one's waist. And it asks: What will happen when the elastic gives out and a citizen is left with no suspenders?

Italians Fuss Over Beauty Competitions

ROME (AP)—An elderly senator and a youthful deputy have asked the Italian government what it intends to do about banning "those sinful sex shows," the beauty contests.

The answer, according to the press in this Latin land that likes its women full-figured, is going to be: "Absolutely nothing."

The two formal questions in Parliament struck at one of Italy's favorite indoor sports, the beauty competitions that have given the nation's skyrocketing movie industry some figures that Einstein never dreamed of in his calculations on relativity.

Out of the "miss" battles of bust and hips have come the peasant-house beauty with implausible name, Gina Lollobrigida; red-haired Silvana Pampanini; Silvana Mangano, once voted second most popular film star in Europe, and provocative Lucia Bose.

Frowning on this sort of thing were 65-year-old Christian Democrat Sen. Bartolo Galletto and 31-year-old Monarchist Deputy Nunzio Caroleo.

Their twin demands in the Legislature called beauty contests: "Expositions of vanity and stupidity."

"An offense to public morality."

"An affront to the dignity and traditional decorum of our country."

"An influence toward the further decadence of the already far-fallen movie industry."

The newspaper Il Tempo replied reprovingly: "Please, let's not lose our sense of humor."

soon to gauge the effects of the latest medical report accurately. "Dealers are imagining all sorts of things, from boom to bust, before the statistics are in," said a spokesman for the National Assn. of Tobacco Distributors, which includes 3,033 wholesalers. "Actually, it will be impossible to determine reliably what the effects are, if any, until the middle of July."

"The report has probably created a flash-in-the-pan reaction," said an Albany, N. Y., wholesaler. "But the public will resume normal smoking as people have done after other such scare reports." Said a Dallas secretary: "I might as well die happy."

Match Play Starts In July Fourth Tourney Saturday

Underwood May Be An Entry

James Underwood, who earlier had indicated he would not play in the Fourth of July Tournament at the Country Club due to illness, has been given the green light by his doctor and is due to qualify today.

Underwood, who enters college this fall, will be one of the favorites to win the crown now held by Jake Morgan. He has been playing fine golf all year.

Morgan will be exempt from qualifying but may arrive in town in time today to try for the medal prize.

Tommy Hutto, J. R. Farmer, Champ Rainwater and Earl Reynolds are among other favorites in the meet.

Match play in the tournament, which limits the entry list to club members as per custom, gets under way Saturday and extends through Monday.

Match play was expanded to three days, due to the long holiday weekend. As a result, the championship flight will be limited to eight players and only one round a day will be required of the participants.

Pro C. A. DeWees, who will serve as starter of the tournament, was still predicting a turnout of 40 players. He said match play would begin daily about 12:30 p.m. The championship flight will get away about 1:30 p.m. every day, he added.

Merchandise prizes will go to winners of each flight. Through Thursday night, 13 players had posted entry fees and eight of those had played qualifying rounds.

They are Champ Rainwater, with an 81; Speedy Nugent, 85; George Grimes, 88; Bunky Grimes, 91; Dr. J. E. Hogan, 85; Kent Morgan, 85; Frank Powell, 88; and David Reed, 94.

Hutto fired a 78 in practice Thursday but delayed qualifying until today. Charles Long reported a 38 on one nine.

Others who have entered but who had not qualified Thursday are Earl Reynolds, Jack Wallace and Farmer.

Players will take part in a barbecue at the club house on Saturday night.

Tournament Talk

Two members of the Big Spring Country Club get together with Pro C. A. DeWees (left) near the ninth green Thursday. The others are Dr. J. E. Hogan (center) and Dr. Bill Broadrick. The talk must have been about the upcoming Fourth of July Tournament, match play in which starts Saturday. Hogan will be a participant. Broadrick said he doubted he could play because of the press of work.

Five Out-Of-Town Cars Appear At Local Speedway Tonight

At least 11 cars, five of them from out of town, will be in action at the Big Spring Speedway tonight. Time trials of the weekly stock car races get under way at 8 o'clock. Admission is $1 per person.

Two cars are due in from Monahan, along with two from Midland and one from Colorado City. In addition, such local drivers as Jimmy Doe, Clyde Majors, Raymond Hamby, Bill Baker and Shorty Hamby will be trying for the prize money.

Paul Prescott owns the Colorado City car which will race here but it will be driven by Buddy Parham.

The feature race will be a 25-lap event. The track is a quarter-mile in length, which means the winner will go 6 1/4 miles.

Pat Patterson, who directs the racing program, said that more Midland drivers can be expected here in the future. The Midland cars, he said, are being built now and only a few of them are ready.

Big Spring drivers descended upon the Midland track last Sunday and left with most of the honors.

One of the top races on this evening's program will be a Car Owners' race, limited to persons who have the cars registered in their names.

A new Big Spring car, only recently rebuilt, will be in action tonight. A Ford, it has been assigned the number 4. Its driver is not known.

Bonine, Molden Go To Angelo

SAN ANGELO (SC) — The San Angelo Colts of the Longhorn League have obtained pitchers Ben Bonine and LeRoy Molden on option from the Milwaukee team.

The two have been with Odessa. Bonine has a 4-1 won-lost record.

The transfer took place following a dispute between the Milwaukee farm office and Odessa. Jack Knight, general manager of the Oilers, quit the Odessans to work as business manager at San Angelo.

Bonine won 18 games for San Angelo in 1953.

Martinez Seeking Shot At Gavilan

HOLLYWOOD (H) — Vince Martinez of New Jersey, having removed the glitter from "Golden Boy" Art Aragon, today challenged Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan and hung out a $100,000 bait for a title match in Los Angeles this autumn.

Martinez' manager, Bill Daly, who is no man for penny ante measures, saw his 25-year-old puncher from Paterson hand Aragon the worst beating of his career last night and announced:

"I am ready to guarantee Gavilan $100,000 to defend his title here against Vince."

Rails Upend Cargo Kings In Pony League Contest

Eugene Walker shaded Wayne Fields in a pitching duel as the TP Rails defeated the Cargo Kings, 3-1, in a Pony League game here Thursday afternoon.

The win was the fourth of the season for the Rails over the first half champions. Previously, the Rails had administered two defeats to the champs in first half play and one in the three-game playoff for the first half crown. Walker, who struck out 15 batters and walked only one, collected two hits and stole home with I'd particularly like to recommend Esso Extra Motor Oil for your farm and ranch. It is a heavy duty, anti-acid, detergent motor oil with an unusually high viscosity index.* Like all other Humble products it has been designed to perform under Texas conditions.

Let me know if I can help you with any special needs or problems . . . whether it's gasoline, motor oil, lubricants, rust preventives . . . any petroleum products.

*High viscosity index means less "drag" on your starter and engine, lengthens battery life and saves gasoline.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The WT-NM League picked up one of the better umpires around when it signed Milton (Red) Eiler recently.

The Californian is very professional in his approach to the business of calling plays on a baseball field.

He's been working in the Western International League the past three seasons, before that called balls and strikes in the Longhorn League.

Kenny Keltner, who used to play a lot of third base for Cleveland, is now playing the hot corner for a Milwaukee sandlot nine.

Bob Upton, who had his troubles while hurling for Artesia in the Longhorn League (his record: one win, three losses), made an auspicious debut for Galveston in Big State League play recently.

He beat Harrington, 7-4, and propelled a home run out of the park. It didn't count, though, because he didn't touch second base.

Upton appeared in relief twice in two nights against Big Spring in the local park earlier this month and was saddled with two losses.

Bert Estrada, the former Big Spring hurler, had won six and lost three games for El Paso, the most recent Arizona-Texas League record showed. He had finished 50 in 15 games. He's the one-time Big Spring hurler.

Al Monchak, the one-time Odessa and Roswell skipper, is having his troubles in the Piedmont League. His Portsmouth team is mired in sixth place.

Toronto of the International League is a major league possibility judging from its attendance.

In its first 18 games, the Canadian city averaged 7,660 paid admissions per game at home.

Clint Hartung, the storied Texan, has been a disappointment with the stick for Havana of the International League.

He's hitting less than .270.

Spokane, Washington, which recently quit the Western International League, drew 287,000 paid admissions in a Class B league in 1947.

Last year, it played to only 80,873, after the circuit's classification had been upped to A.

A feud may be brewing between two of California's best known schools.

Ronnie Knox, two years ago the most publicized schoolboy football player in America, is quitting the University of California to enroll at UCLA.

He'll lose a year of eligibility, but can still play two years.

Frank Leahy, who saw Knox in high school, was quoted as saying Knox was the greatest high school quarterback he ever saw.

An over-zealous stepfather is supposed to be behind young Knox's decision to switch schools.

There's a possibility he might not be welcomed at UCLA, could play someplace he'd be eligible this fall.

Seven Top Horses Compete At Ruidoso On Saturday

RUIDOSO, N. M. (SC) — Seven of the fastest horses in the Southwest have been entered in the $1,000 added Quarterhorse Championship, which will be run here Saturday afternoon.

Strangely enough, this year's event has drawn two of the fastest thoroughbreds in the United States, Maroon and Brigand.

Webb Air Base is still the team to beat in YMCA City Softball League play.

The Dusters fought off a challenge to their first place standing by drubbing Cook Appliance Company here Wednesday evening, 1-0.

The Airmen scored their only run in the fourth when Shackner singled and moved all the way to third when J. B. Murphree let the ball get through him in center field.

Paschal flew out and Sproesser fanned by Robinson singled to get the run in.

Cook's had the bases loaded in the seventh with one out but could not score.

Pete Cook singled and E. B. Lees doubled. Jack Lee singled to load the sacks but Cotton Mize and Ben Kirkland flew out to the infield to end the threat.

In the third, James Watts of Cook Appliance got all the way to third after singling with none out but could not score.

Webb collected three hits, Cook Appliance Company six.

Cook Appliance handed Webb its only loss of the season earlier in the year.

NAACP To Fight Racial Bars in Private Housing

DALLAS (U)—The fight to end racial discrimination in public housing is almost won, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People says.

The NAACP will turn its attention soon from the public housing projects to private housing, Mrs. Constance B. Motley said in an interview yesterday.

The 52-year-old New York woman lawyer will be chairman of a workshop on segregated housing today, fifth of the NAACP's annual convention.

On the future emphasis on private housing, the NAACP's chief housing strategist said: "By private housing I mean mass projects of many units which exclude Negroes by virtue of race. "We don't mean a single home owner who does not want to sell his house to a Negro."

Mrs. Motley said Negroes move into predominantly white areas despite antagonism and often violence for three reasons: "1. A dreadful shortage of Negro housing. 2. A desire to live in new construction instead of the decrepit quarters traditionally reserved for Negroes. 3. An ambition to live in a decent neighborhood instead of one spurned by the community."

She explained that "our argument against discrimination in private housing—projects which may number 200 units—is in effect banning them from a community."

"One project in New York of 16,000 homes is a town in itself, with about 50,000 people living in it," the woman lawyer continued. "We feel such projects are almost public utilities—and should be open to the public."

One stiff opponent, Mrs. Motley said, is "the lending institutions, which have ultimate control over housing patterns in a community."

She said banks will not finance new housing if they fear that it will affect the value of their near-by property.

Oklahoma Governor Thinks Segregation To Remain Policy

DALLAS (U)—Gov. Johnston Murray of Oklahoma said here yesterday that he expects Oklahoma to keep colored and white students separated, and still comply with anti-segregation legislation.

Murray said he favored liberalizing existing rules concerning students living in one district, who want to go to school in another. "That would let whites go to white schools, and colored to colored schools," Murray said.

He added that he thinks de-segregation will hurt Negro teachers, because "where white teachers are available, they will be hired."

Woman, 71, Marries Her Fourth Husband

WOODLAND, Calif. (U)—Mrs. Grace Louise Power, 71, received a final decree of divorce from her third husband yesterday, then walked into another courtroom and married No. 4.

He was William Patterson Goodman, 80, who said yesterday's marriage was his fifth.

Nebraska's Senator Butler Dies Suddenly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Hugh Butler of Nebraska died at the age of 76 last night, the fourth U. S. senator and the second from his state to succumb this year.

Butler, who had been elected to his third six-year term two years ago, suffered a stroke Wednesday night. He was taken to the naval hospital at nearby Bethesda, Md., yesterday morning and died there.

Butler, a former grain dealer, was a strong campaigner who defeated several governors in his various campaigns for the Senate. He was active in Rotary and the Congressional Church.

His wife and two children preceded him in death.

Sen. Eve Bowring (R-Neb) announced his death in the Senate, working late on a big tax revision bill, and it immediately recessed out of respect. Mrs. Bowring is serving by appointment, filling the vacancy created April 12 when Republican Sen. Dwight P. Griswold died, also after a heart attack. Griswold was 60.

Two other senators have died this year: Clyde R. Hoey (D-NC), 76, and Lester C. Hunt (D-Wyo), 61. Hoey suffered a heart attack; Hunt shot himself.

And three Senate members of the 83rd Congress died last year: Willis Smith (D-NC), 85, Charles W. Tobey (R-NH), 65, and Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), 63.

Butler's death will not affect the Senate lineup, now 47 Republicans, 47 Democrats and 1 Independent. Gov. Robert Crosby of Nebraska is a Republican and will appoint a Republican to serve until the November election.

Crosby, who said at Omaha that "all of Nebraska is shocked and saddened" by news of Butler's death, is a candidate for the GOP nomination for a full Senate term for which Griswold had planned to run. Mrs. Bowring is not a candidate.

The governor did not discuss possible choices.

Still another Nebraska senator, Kenneth S. Wherry, died in November 1951 and Griswold had been elected to serve out his term.

Butler, a quiet-spoken man with white and wavy hair, was a native of Missouri Valley, Iowa, and a graduate of Doane College at Crete, Neb. He had served as chairman of Doane's trustees.

As a young man, he was a construction engineer, later a miller, and then a partner in an Omaha grain firm. He was a former president of the Omaha Grain Exchange and of the National Grain Dealers Assn.

Among Senate Republicans, only two outranked him in seniority: Senators Bridges (NH) and Wiley (Wis). Butler was chairman of the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee and served on the Finance Committee. He was also chairman of the group which assigns GOP senators to committees.

He played a major role in the campaign of Hawaii for statehood.
