

SCHOOL TO DROP HAIR CODE

The Littlefield school system's controversial hair code will be dropped Monday when the second semester opens. That ruling came Tuesday night from an emergency meeting of the school board, held immediately after a regular session ended in a hotly debated stand-off with a school attorney.

The attorney, Mark Smith, sought an immediate abolishment of the hair code from his clients, Mr. and Mrs. Sedell Black of their 13-year-old son, Connie, an eighth grade student.

The impression created almost from the start of three hours of discussion was that the youngster faced suspension from school Wednesday morning unless he trimmed his hair to meet the code's specifications.

"Can this lad go to school tomorrow?" Smith repeatedly asked the trustees.

When the board finally voted 5-1 to table the matter until its "next meeting," it said in effect that the hair code remained effective and that any decision already made in the matter by the school principal would stand.

Attorney Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Black and their son, and about 15 interested citizens then left the meeting with the impression that the boy faced suspension.

THE BOARD later adjourned, then called its "next meeting" to follow immediately.

Citing what they considered "threats" and "coercion", trustees maintained their refusal to drop the hair code immediately.

But several indicated they would like to see the school board get out of the "hair business" sometime in the future without bowing to the immediate requests.

As a result, the board later voted unanimously to drop the present hair code as of Monday, Jan. 17, the beginning of a new semester.

Trustees also spelled out a new code which involves three stipulations:

1. No extreme or disrupting hair styles, with this policy to be administered by the school administration.
 2. No growth of facial hair.
 3. The hair policy in the athletic department will be determined and administered by the coaching staff.
- THE DECISION still left unsettled the question of whether the youngster could attend school Wednesday.
- However, the eighth grade student went to classes and began taking semester examinations with the rest of his classmates.
- Supt. Paul I. Jones said Wednesday he felt the question of whether the boy faced immediate suspension was misunderstood by everyone at the Tuesday night meeting.

He said he had talked with Tom Brawley, the junior high principal, and learned that no deadline had been set before the youngster would be suspended.

"Mr. Brawley had warned the boy a second time about trimming his hair in order not to break the code, but he had not set a deadline," Jones said.

Mr. and Mrs. Black, contacted Wednesday morning, said they were satisfied with the board's final decision.

"I took Connie to school this morning," Black said, "and there was no hesitancy about admitting him."

The youngster had allowed his hair to grow so that it partially covered his ears in a style that has become popular, said his father, a barber.

The board's code for boys has stated that "no hair shall be worn over the ears."

"I'm glad to see the board drop the hair code," said Mrs. Black, who said her son could probably live with the old ruling the next three days by grooming his hair a little differently, without cutting it.

Quail Season Ends Sunday In County

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department reminds hunters that the quail season in Lamb County ends Sunday, Jan. 16.

The quail season in most Texas counties continues through Feb. 15 as a result of Parks and Wildlife Commission action earlier this year.

However, the Lamb County Commissioners Court disapproved the Commission's proposed season under the Panhandle Hunting, Fishing and Trapping Proclamation, so the season reverted to general law.

The season started Dec. 1 and continues through Jan. 16. This is in accordance with the general law quail season.

Quarterback Club Slates Banquet

The Littlefield Quarterback Club's annual football banquet has been scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 20, at 7 p. m. in the junior high cafeteria.

President Billy Tom Grant reported that he is working on securing a member of the Dallas Cowboys as the speaker for the event.

"We think we're going to get one of them," Grant said, "and that'll be great, with the Cowboys still in the Super Bowl running."

Tickets are $4 each for adults, with the purchase paying for one adult and one football player. The tickets may be obtained from James Lee at the First National Bank or Doyle Patton at Security State Bank.

Liquor Board Suspends Club

The Texas Liquor Control Board suspended operations of the Crescent Club in Littlefield effective this month.

Selling of alcoholic beverages will be suspended for one month beginning the last week in January.

Suspension of the club is the result of work of the liquor control board here in early December. An agent for the board bought a drink in the private club without a membership card and without signing a guest card as required by Texas law.

Police Check Theft, Break-In Attempt

Personnel at Byers Grain and Feed reported to police that someone attempted to break into that business sometime late Saturday or early Sunday.

A piece of wood was used in an attempt to take a pen from the rear door. A lock had been put on the door since the business was burglarized this past Thursday.

Police are investigating the theft of a yellow Sting Ray Schwinn fastback bicycle, from the driveway of the back of a residence on East 12th.

SUIT THREATENED

Trustees, Attorney Lock Horns At Meet

The Littlefield school board's confrontation with Mark Smith, Lubbock attorney who has fought 17 successful hair and dress code fights, ended with some unhappiness on both sides Tuesday night.

When the board voted to table the question of dropping the Littlefield schools' hair code during the regular meeting, Smith's reaction came in two words:

"I'm shocked."

He continued: "You mean to tell me that this boy (eighth grade student Connie Black) can't go to school tomorrow? You really mean this?"

Trustee Werner Birkelbach immediately countered: "We didn't set the punishment, we'll back the principal in his decision."

And Glenn Batson added: "We're not keeping the boy from school. He can trim a quarter-inch of hair and go to school."

Smith then asked, and received, addresses of each board member.

"I ask you once again to reconsider. Surely you don't want to waste the taxpayers' money," he declared. "I'll guarantee you'll lose."

To which Batson replied: "Get on after it then."

All of this took place while everyone at the meeting—the board, the attorney and his clients and some 15 interested citizens—was under the impression that the boy would be suspended Wednesday unless he met the hair code requirements.

It was learned Wednesday that the junior high principal, Tom Brawley, had set no deadline, but had twice warned the youth to trim his hair or face suspension.

magazines showing latest hair styles for men and boys.

"The question here is whether or not a child is entitled to an education if he wears his hair a little longer," Smith said. "The length of hair has little to do with scholastic ability."

Smith cited several court decisions in which it was determined "the length of a male student's hair is an irrelevant consideration."

Quoting a decision of the courts, Smith said the enforcement of unreasonable rules creates disrespect for all rules.

Supt. Jones said the youngster in question had been sent to the principal from off-season athletics practice for failure to abide the coaching staff's rules on haircuts.

BATSON asked if the attorney sought to have the whole hair code voted out.

The attorney said no, then was asked if he knew where a stopping place could be made, "at the shoulders?"

Attorney Smith said he thought the hair

Streety Moves, Roden Presides

While all the attention focused on discussion of the Littlefield school hair code Tuesday night, school trustees also handled several other items of business.

Bob Roden sat in as president of the board, succeeding Wayne Streety, whose recent move to a home just outside the school district disqualified him to serve the final three months of his term.

Roden had been vice-president of the board and moved up automatically when Streety went off.

In action other than discussion of the hair code the board:

1. Tabled a decision on an irrigation project for the practice field north of primary.
2. Ordered the annual trustee election for Saturday, April 1. The same judge and clerks who served last year will be asked to serve again. Terms of Streety, Roden and Werner Birkelbach will expire.
3. Approved unanimously a request from County Agent Buddy Logsdon to acquire names and addresses of the top one-fourth of the junior class so that scholarship information may be sent them from Texas A&M. Logsdon asked that the board give clearance for the names to be given out by the high school.
4. Approved unanimously the increase of coaches' salaries by 5 1/2%, to remove any question on the action taken in the board's December meeting. The increase also have been approved by the federal pay board, Supt. Jones reported.
5. Heard a report from Supt. Jones on the administrators' conference he attended in Austin last week.
6. Approved the financial statement for December.
7. Heard a report that new band uniforms have been received.
8. Approved the financing of a trip to Fort Worth Feb. 9 for students earning all-state band and orchestra honors.
9. Approved the use of the Junior High Auditorium by Tide, Inc., for a meeting expected to attract 500-600 people here.

How to beautify windows as well as the aspects of heating, cooling, light and privacy in relation to shades is being emphasized.

There are many different ways to treat a window, even if it is an unattractive one.

The demonstration includes the use of laminated shades. A laminated shade is made of a decorative fabric bonded to regular cloth. There are several different types of adhesives and

GOOD TRACTION
Tire chains are still the best means of preventing a skid. However, studded and regular snow tires also provide better traction than normal tires. No tire is skid-proof, though— so be careful.

HOMNY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

WHEN YOU'RE askin' directions, you'd better take into consideration the one you're askin'. They could be tellin' you right, but the outcome may be wrong.

Fr instance, while down on Padre Island during the Christmas holidays, I asked one of my grandkids the way to the restrooms. "Sure, it's right down there," was the ready answer.

THE FIRST DOOR was plainly marked "WOMEN". Being in a hurry, I passed it by and turned into the second door, which, to my embarrassment, opened into the same complex!

Suppose you've guessed, by this time, that the grandkid that gave me the directions was a GRANDDAUGHTER!

LUCKILY, the place was deserted, and, I'd have gotten away with the goof, except for the fact I came face to face with one of the fair sex, as I was leaving out!—Still don't think she bought my explanation—Couldn't much blame her as I took a second look at the door I'd barged thru, plainly marked: "WOMEN"!—Imagine. A TWO-DOOR!!

Anyway, I've decided if I want to know how to keep my socks up, I won't ask my wife!

GOT MY GOOD-OL' 1940 the other day. I see they've simplified the thing—just write across the front, "I SURRENDER", and send them all the money you've got, and can borrow!

GUESS AGNEW'S golf game must be improvin'. I see Nixon is on the verge of endorsin' him for a runnin' mate in the upcomin' election!—(Or, was it PING-PONG?)

THE UPCOMIN' super-bowl game ought to be a doozie. —What with Nixon and Smith drawin' up the plays. I think Nixon's plan looks pretty good. "Throw the deep slant-in to Warfield!"

Smith, on the other hand, goes for the double-reverse, ending with a 'bomb' to Hayes—Might work if the opposin' front-four develops House-maid's knee!

THINK MY PLAN will come nearer workin' Just move the ball across the goal-line. About seven times should be sufficient!

THE YOUNG FARMERS of the area are havin' a new experience. Gatherin' their crop on the front-end of the year, 'steads' the rear. Used to happen quite regularly, in days of yore. 'Course, then, the gatherin' was done by hand. (And sandstorm!)

SAW A NEW bumper sticker today! It said, "Nixon's Thru-In '72"—Wal, some thought he was done, in '71, so I wouldn't bet on it!

TIME WAS, WHEN unmentionables were also unseeables. Things do change. As the fair sex comes more out in the open, seems the male of the species goes farther into hiding! Is that supposed to mean something??

code could call for clean, well kept hair with the length determined by whether it would be "unruly."

Birkelbach said he thought if the hair code was changed, there would be "no stopping point."

"We were liberal last time. Kids need to learn to live by rules. We would just have to keep on changing it, so I'm not for changing it now," he said.

AS THE DISCUSSION continued, Smith at one point said, "you can try me in the courthouse."

That brought a reply from Batson, "Well, if you threaten too much, we just might."

From there, the tone of the meeting became more argumentative, and at one point Batson said, "Before I would overrule a coach on how to run his program, the courthouse would have to do it."

He added: "If a boy doesn't want to cut his hair, he doesn't have to play football. It's not required."

Smith countered: "I'm not talking about football, I'm talking about whether the boy can go to school tomorrow."

The debate continued until Birkelbach suggested that the board had a lot of other business "that's more important" to take up.

That brought a response from Sedell Black, father of the boy whose hair was in question.

"This is what is important to us," he declared.

Pat Downs told the board he felt the school should not be in the business of telling people how to wear their hair. "I still think the coaches should be able to discipline and set their own hair policy," Batson said he was in complete agreement.

On the question of the boy participating in the off-season program, the board as a whole indicated that if the youth didn't conform with the coach's requirements, he should not be in the program.

Trustees agreed the boy should go to study hall or a regular physical education class if he didn't meet the requirements of the off-season program.

Supt. Downs, asked if the youngster could go into football next fall, said, "He may, if he conforms to the coaches' rules."

As the meeting progressed, Downs offered a motion that the one rule on "hair over the ears" be dropped, leaving the rest of the hair code intact. The motion was seconded by Bob Roden.

Following discussion of this motion, in which the majority of the board indicated all the rules should be kept, or thrown out completely, this question was withdrawn.

Then Downs moved that the entire hair code be thrown out, with the exception of the athletic department making its own rules.

The motion died for lack of a second. Finally, the motion to table the matter until the next meeting came from Batson. Birkelbach seconded.

Black asked that the board "decide tonight, because the semester's ending and we need to know."

Mrs. Black asked, "If you table this for a month, can Connie go to school?"

That question continued unanswered, as the board voted 5-1 to table the matter. Downs opposed the motion.

Then Downs moved that the boy be allowed to attend classes. Doug Walden seconded.

The vote was 2-4 against, with Roden, Batson, Birkelbach and Dick Hopping opposed.

One of the four, Batson, explained that he felt that if the principal called for suspension, the board should not overrule him.

As it turned out, the suspension had not been made final by the principal, or the motion may not have come up.

It was at this point, when the board backed the supposed ruling of the principal, that Smith expressed his shock.

The meeting broke up shortly with the impression that the boy faced suspension the next morning.

That was cleared up later, as Connie Black went back to school Wednesday morning, his hair intact.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

No Discouragement

By BOB WEAR

THERE IS SO MUCH that is wrong, so many evils which threaten our well-being, and so many personal challenges and difficulties that we cannot afford to become discouraged. If we do permit ourselves to become discouraged, we weaken ourselves; and this has the effect of compounding the perverse conditions which are already bad enough.

Discouragement will debilitate us in the situations where our greatest possible strength is needed. This means that we have less chance to cope with life as it must be lived; that we are giving the advantage to our enemy; that we are thinking and acting in ways that are self-defeating; and that we place ourselves under the lash of self-condemnation and self-reproach.

WE MAY NOT BE ABLE to eliminate discouragement, but we can make sure that it does not become so big that we are made ineffective in our living. When we realize that discouragement is beginning to take over, we must get busy with our work; transfer our thinking to things which will encourage us; do something to help someone; and go to work making the faith-element of life stronger.

Discouragement does not stand alone. It attracts such undesirable as a feeling of despair, a gloomy view, a lethargic outlook, a spirit of surrender, and a deep sense of loss. Thus, we become less and less capable of maintaining the best possible level of living. Everything becomes worse for us than the actual situation justifies.

AT THE VERY BEST, life for you and me must be considerably less than perfect. Unfortunately, this realization seems to be discouraging to many people; but it should not be. When we expect things that never can be so, we are making our own discouragement; and perhaps the very worst form of it. All unjustified expectations must be discarded in our fight against discouragement.

We must think about the people with whom we are associated at home, on the job, in the community, in friendships and in all other areas of interaction. Discouragement is contagious. When we submit to discouraged feelings, we will cause other people to be discouraged. Thus, our lives become a destructive influence. This is not what we want.

IF WE WILL BE COURAGEOUS, and we can be; we can, at least, be courageous enough for effective living; we will help ourselves and everybody around us. As little as we may think about it, courageous views and actions will create a source of help from which we and others will draw much of the strength we need.

When we encourage others, we are encouraged; too. It won't be long until others will be encouraging us. Then the great human blessing of mutual encouragement begins to grow and displace discouragement.

Two Earth Girls Injured In Wreck

Two Earth girls, 19-year-old Karen Armstrong and 18-year-old Camille Haber, were injured in a car-truck accident 10 miles east of Spade about 6:30 p.m. Monday.

Miss Armstrong was brought to the Littlefield Hospital for treatment of a fractured rib, cuts and bruises.

The accident occurred on FR 54 when the girls were returning from Plainview in the Haber car.

A gin burr truck, which was going to make a left turn, had pulled into the lane in which the car was traveling to let a car behind the burr truck pass on his right side.

Cotton Projection Takes Another Look

The deeper the 1971 crop gets, the worse the yield prospects look.

Richard Newman, ASCS manager, said the latest bale count released by the Lamb County is 90,000 bales.

Projected bale counts tumbled to a revised figure is issued, projected 105,000 bales for the paper more than a month ago rejected my figure and put it at 90,000 bales," Newman said.

Now that the bale count panned down to 90,000 bales for Lamb Newman said he is afraid there might be a little high.

Before the wet weather set in, September the projected yield projected at 140,000. With the loss of 50,000 bales from the first ginners estimate that the final harvest is more than three completed.

Baptist Church To Show Film

"Lost Generation," the latest release from World Wide Pictures, will be shown Sunday, Jan. 16, in the auditorium of the First Baptist Church, 400 E. 6th Street, Littlefield.

Filmed in Eastmancolor, "Lost Generation" utilizes multiple screen images and a probing documentary style to investigate attitudes of dissent, violence, the mood of America, and the answers that can be found by this generation as they face the decisions of life.

According to Rev. A. J. Kenemer, pastor of the church, the opinions of both young and old, urban and rural, rich and poor, are brought to the screen as the camera focuses on people of various backgrounds throughout the nation.

Location shots were filmed in Alaska, the Southern states, on the farms and in the small towns of mid-America, and in the dying Haight-Ashbury hippie district of San Francisco.

The feature-length film, which includes special appearances by Billy Graham, Art Linkletter and Jack Webb, was described by one reviewer as a "moving film that calls on us to make a decision about how much we want to get involved in the troubles of our times." It is a relevant story that demands our immediate attention.

"Lost Generation" will be shown once at 7 p.m., with no admission charge, and the public is cordially invited.

Survey Slated For This Area

Information on employment and unemployment was collected in this area by the Bureau of the Census last week of Jan. 17, according to Walter A. Freeman, Director of the Bureau's Collection Center in Dallas.

The sample of households in this area taking part in the survey are among 30,000 the country scientists selected to represent a section of all households in the nation.

The survey is taken by the Bureau for the Department of Labor.

Statistics on conditions of labor force, especially unemployed, are indicators of economic conditions of the United States. For example, the Department reported that November survey showed 4.8 million unemployed persons.

After allowance for the seasonal changes, the 210,000 more than in October with virtually all of the increase among young adults. The November survey showed that employment continued at an all-time high with 80 million people employed.

All information on individuals and families provided the Bureau is confidential by law and published only as statistical totals.

Student Resolutions Revealed For Year

By CARLA OWENS

Every year at the beginning of a new year many people around the world are involved in making resolutions. These resolutions usually indicate a person's purpose in making something better and if he has determination, he can make the resolution successful.

Making New Year's resolutions dates back to the early Romans. Under their Emperor Constantine, they accepted Christianity in the fourth century A.D. and celebrated the new year on Jan. 1. However, they changed the pagan idea of a feast day to the Christian one of a fast day. Instead of spending the day in revelry, the Christians spent the day in prayer and meditation. They believed that New Year's should be a time when Christians repented of any wrong doings of the past year, and made resolutions to turn over a new leaf and lead better lives in the coming year. Little did they know that making resolutions would become a world-wide tradition that is still being practiced now in the twentieth century.

In almost every country the celebrations on New Year's Day vary greatly, however, even though resolutions are still a universal affair, kinds of resolutions vary. For example, in Liberia on New Year's Eve, the churches hold "Watch Night" services. These services begin around 8:30 or 9 p.m. and end with the coming of the new year. During the services, the congregation takes stock of what has happened to it during the year that is closing and makes good resolutions for the year about to begin. The minister guides them in their resolutions to turn over a new leaf and make the new year better than the old.

Then in India it has become traditional for many of the people to resolve to treat their pets better. By spending as much as $16, they buy gifts or pay for expensive groomings for their pets. The British Isles, like our own country, is in the habit of making a long list of good resolutions for the new year; sometimes these resolutions may be broken by Jan. 2, which is also true of us. All New Year's resolutions are like anything else—you get out of them what you put in.

What about LHS students? A survey to find out the kind of resolutions that many of the LHS students made for the 1972 year was made this week. The following are some of the results.

KAY TERRY, SR.: "My New Year's resolution was to make more and better friends and to graduate in the year 1972!"

BOBBY MATTHEWS, JR.: "Try not to raise as much Cain and bother my third and fifth period teachers."

RITA MCKINNY, SOPH.: "Pass my driving test and make my orthodontist take my braces off when he promised."

SHELLI MALONE, SOPH.: "Never to make any New Year's resolutions—I always break them."

MINNIE FREEMAN, JR.: "My New Year's resolution for this year is to make better grades in all of my classes and to become a senior and to be more active in my church activities."

KENNY PRATT, SR.: "To read my Bible every day."

DRUANNE WILKINSON, JR.: "To live life to its fullest and to be able to face my problems with maturity."

ANGELA PURDY, SR.: "To be a better wife and mother and to pass biology—if it's the last thing I do."

EDWARD YOAKUM, SOPH.: "Try to keep my mud out of the gutter."

BRUCE PEEL, SOPH.: "To keep caught up on my assignments and not wait until the last minute to do my world history once-a-six weeks-5-page report for Mrs. Blakely."

TIMMIE CAMPBELL, SR.: "Have fun, fun, and more fun!"

CAROL FRENCH, SOPH.: "To make this year as good or better than last year."

MOLLY GREEN, SR.: "Not to argue with Larry."

DEANNA JEFFERY, JR.: "To try to mind my own business and not everyone else's."

LEE GOSS, SR.: "I can't keep them, so why make them?"

KAROL TERRY, JR.: "To work real hard on my routine for tryouts."

KELLY PRATT, SOPH.: "Do not bug Mrs. Ayres so much."

BEVERLY KEMP, SR.: "To really get down and start studying."

LARRY WRIGHT, SOPH.: "Keep smiling."

Meal Served By Giddens
Linda Giddens from the Pioneer Natural Gas Company in Lubbock, was hosted recently by the Patsy Lively Chapter of FHA. She presented a program of "Cooking with Gas." The meeting took place in the Flame Room at the Littlefield Pioneer Gas Company.

Recipes from the meal were given to each member who attended.

Band Receives New Uniforms

The Wildcat Band has just received new uniforms. These will replace the uniforms the band has been using for the last nine years.

The new uniforms are maroon with a white, built-in overlay on the front. "Wildcats" is written diagonally across the overlay in maroon. There is a white letter "L" on the back. The pants are maroon with a white stripe down the side.

The hats are white fur-covered shakos. They are 11 inches tall. The fur can be removed and machine washed.

The 120 new uniforms are custom-tailored and were ordered Sept. 15. This type uniform was selected for ease of maintenance.

The drum major uniforms are white with a maroon "L" on the front and elaborate maroon trim.

The first time the band will wear the new uniforms will be at concert contest Apr. 22.

FTA Point Count Made

The end is nearing for the final count of points for FTA state convention. Total points were turned into the secretary, Carol Chisholm, at the Monday meeting. The points were counted for the purpose of determining the four delegates to the state convention in Fort Worth. Delegates will be announced at a later date.

Sandwiches, potato chips, and Cokes were served to members while the club's project money from stationary sales was turned into the secretary.

Butterfly Nets And Hot Pants?

By VELVA LEE
And JENNIFER ROBISON

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following may be the most unusual sports story we will have all year. It is the, different to say the least, result of assigning two of our female reporters to cover basketball.)

As the game begins, the boys jog out in their fancy hot pants, which they wear to show off their hairy legs, and their sexy T-shirts with the numbers on them.

The players seem to get a big kick out of jogging around the court attempting to chunk the burnt orange ball into the butterfly net with the hole in the bottom of it.

By the middle of the game the players are exhausted, sweaty, and acting like madmen in their attempts to get that silly ball.

Every now and then, a player gets to make a spectacle of himself. He throws the ball into the butterfly net and all the other boys line up to watch him.

Above all, let's not forget those courageous boys who so bravely hold down the bench on the side lines.

Sometimes, during the game, a player gets too fresh with the ball or another player. This is what they call a foul, whatever that is.

And as the game comes to an end, (at least we think it's the end) we are still searching for the answer to the ultimate question:

What is basketball?

Assembly Plan

Has anyone noticed anything that has yet to arrive on the LHS this year? Has anyone had an eye open enough to see almost total absence of assemblies thus far during the school year?

Assemblies provide for the enjoyment and enrichment of individual student. These planned programs also add variety to student's day while breaking the drudgery and monotony of school day, school week, school month, and school year.

Even when assemblies are planned, they are often not held in the interests of most LHS students. Many of these programs are prosaic and unimaginative.

Students have progressed beyond the stage of studying dark while an uninteresting speaker pounds out facts of irrelevant subject. Most LHS scholars would welcome a well-planned and interesting assemblies. SO WHY DOES SOMEONE DO SOMETHING???

Ready for a suggestion? Wouldn't an assembly committee composed of a few Student Council members be worth a try? The purpose of this committee would be to arrange a variety of interesting assemblies which the entire student body would like. At least, then, assemblies would be planned by representatives of the audience that has to endure the thing.

—Wanda Cotter

Merlin Mystery Show

Entertains LHS Students

By KAROL TERRY

The Great Merlin Mystery Show brought many strange effects to several LHS students. Bobby Matthews, junior, under the suggestion of hypnotism, actually ate an onion thinking it to be a peach.

A senior student, DeLon Walker, became "drunk" on a glass of water and found it quite amusing.

Dennis Cowan, senior, was told to jump out of his chair and say "Happy New Year!" when the Great Merlin said, "Ladies and Gentlemen!"

Yes, he did just that. Merlin asked the audience to initial a piece of paper and write a question on it. Papers were folded and put in a pot. Merlin looked into the crystal ball, selected a question from the container and without looking at it, identified the initials and revealed the question on the paper. At least it looked that way. Merlin also selected one question to be automatically written on a slate with magic chalk.

The Great Merlin Mystery Show began with an atmospheric opening and brief interpretation of an oriental dancing girl in the private temple of the Rajah. Merlin repeatedly proved his ability as a magician performing various tricks.

Aside from the nightly performances, Merlin also entertained LHS at an assembly held in the high school auditorium, Jan. 5.

WHAT'S THAT? DeLon Walker, left picture, seems to be a bit puzzled by the Merlin show here. At right is Dennis Cowan, who doesn't seem quite himself for some reason.

Truck Driver Regulations Revised And In Effect

Farmers and ranchers have won a clear-cut victory in regard to farm truck driver regulations, according to J. T. (Red) Woodson, president of the Texas Farm Bureau.

The final revised regulations which have been issued and in effect since Jan. 1 are in accordance with Farm Bureau's recommendations, the state farm leader said.

Woodson said Farm Bureau members around the nation responded to a call for action last spring that resulted in a decision by the Bureau of Motor Carrier Safety to change the proposed stringent rules on farm truck driver qualifications.

Leaders of the American Farm Bureau Federation said the response by farmers and ranchers was one of the greatest they had ever seen.

The proposed revisions announced on June 8 are similar to the final revised rules.

In brief, these revised regulations provide a complete exemption from federal qualification of truck driver in the case of a driver of a farm truck:

(1) If the gross weight of the truck is 10,000 pounds or less, or

(2) If the truck is a straight truck with a gross weight over 10,000 pounds, within a radius of 150 miles of the farm, or

(3) If the truck is engaged in transporting machinery or supplies to or from a farm for custom harvesting or transporting custom harvested crops from the farm to storage or market, or

(4) If the truck is engaged in hauling bees in seasonal movement.

A partial exemption is made in the case of the driver of a farm truck which combination truck with weight in excess of 10,000 pounds, within a radius of 150 miles of the farm. In such case, the driver must be at least 21 years of age, and after passing a written examination, the driver must have passed a driving certificate examination.

In addition to the regulations, the Department of Transportation is preparing a leaflet summarizing the regulations. These will be distributed by the Agricultural Extension Service.

(4) Pass a written examination and certificate so indicating.

(5) If an employer, file his employer information relative to items 1 through 4, above, and information relative to his background experience. The information required to file information.

The Department of Transportation is preparing a leaflet summarizing the regulations. These will be distributed by the Agricultural Extension Service.
