EARL DOW has a set of caribou horns and hooves to add to his trophies. Dow, his wife and son have just returned from Alaska where they visited with Lt. Robert Dow, and flew back into Alaskan hinterlands for some caribou hunting. Caribou shed their horns annually and newly-grown racks are covered with hair and are soft until the fur is rubbed off in October.

Littlefield Marksman Bags Alaskan Caribou

By NILAH RODGERS

Earl Dow has returned from a once in a lifetime trip, visiting his son stationed in Alaska and killing a caribou on a hunting expedition.

Dow said he has always wanted to go big game hunting in Alaska, but hunting laws there require you to hunt with a blood relative or hire a guide. When he inquired about guides and learned that it cost $1,000 for one Kodiak bear hunt, he decided "that was too rich for me."

When son, Lt. Robert E. Dow, was stationed at Fairbank's Fort Greely, the Dows decided this would be the perfect time to visit the 50th state and for Earl to try his luck at caribou hunting.

Youngest son Jack went to Alaska earlier in the summer where he worked on test site buildings at the Arctic air base where his brother is stationed.

Earl Dow has been hunting deer and elk in Colorado for the past 15 years. With his son considered an Alaskan resident, and with permission from the army to hunt on an abandoned landing strip, Dow said he couldn't pass up the opportunity.

Now he is the owner of caribou hooves and six-point caribou horns to attest to his marksmanship. "I don't consider these a real trophy," Dow said, fingering the velvet rack. Dow said by the end of the hunting season the horns would have been large and quite a prize. The caribou grow a new set of horns each year, and until they have grown extensively, the horns are covered in velvety hair and are soft.

Size of the horns early in the season does not reflect size of the game, however.

Dow said he hated to come home with a little set, "but it was that or nothing." He and his son got one each, and hunters are allowed three caribou on each license. This means his son will be eligible to get two more before the hunting season ends, and dad Dow is hoping his son will bag some "mounting-size" racks.

While Littlefield residents sweltered, Dow and his family saw a four-inch Alaskan snow and several snow flurries. He wasn't able to bring much of the caribou meat or hide out with him, since

Residents Have Opportunity To See Electric Car Saturday

A prototype of the electric car to be produced in Littlefield will be the first vehicle behind the honor guard in the Saturday morning parade, kicking off the second day of events in Littlefield's first annual event—Littlefield Festivities Days.

Following the parade, the electric car will be on display all day on the city parking lot north of the Post Office in a roped-off area near Parker's Texaco. Bill Stone, parade chairman, said he will have each parade group's position marked in the formation area around Laguna Park. As groups arrive, Stone is to be contacted in the Community Center for location.

The parade will travel from the Community down 3rd Street to LFD Drive, then enter Phelps Ave. from the north end at Delang Traveling south, the parade route will go down Phelps to the Courthouse, then turn back west to Laguna Park where it will disband.

Recluse Spider Found In City Home

The Brown Recluse spider has made its debut in Littlefield.

Mrs. A. R. Johnson, who resides at 322 N. Sunset, found one in her utility room in a sack of empty fruit jars.

She put a lid on the jar with the captured spider and brought it by the Leader-News office.

A definite violin pattern was behind the semicircle of eyes on the head, with a distinct short median groove trailing toward the tail to form the neck of the "Violin".

For control of the Brown Recluse spider, Assistant County Agricultural Agent Bobby Brunson suggests that all cluttered areas, where they could hide, be cleaned up and sprayed.

He quoted from a pamphlet put out by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M which states: "These spiders seek out quiet and undisturbed areas for nests. Frequent cleaning in closets and cellars will decrease the numbers of spiders in these areas.

"Where possible, window shutters, step areas and related places should be washed off with a hose. Some out-buildings may be handled in the same manner.

"Spray or dust outside the home with lindane, dieldrin or chlordane. Follow directions on the manufacturer's labels for mixing sprays. Use a 0.2 to 0.5 percent lindane, 0.5 percent dieldrin or 2 percent chlordane household spray inside the home and spray around windows, door facings, attics, and other places where spiders are found."

According to the pamphlet, members of this species usually are found in or near human habitation, and can be observed in bathrooms, bedrooms, and closets, on the underside of tables and chairs, behind baseboards and door facings or in corners and crevices.

The Brown Recluse spider is of medium size and varies from .03 to 1/2 inch in length, and the males are usually slightly smaller than the females.

Their coloring varies from an orange-yellow to dark brown or almost black and the body is covered with short, fine hairs. Legs are long and somewhat darker than the body, being well covered with short dark hairs.

The spiders deposit their eggs in off-white round silken cases, approximately one-third inch in diameter, and are usually found in sheltered dark areas that are undisturbed for long periods of time.

Approximately 40 to 50 spiders emerge from the egg case in about 24 to 36 days. The abandoned egg case will contain the cast skins of the young spiderlings after they were hatched and molting once before leaving the egg case.

When bitten, the victim may not be aware of the bite for two or three hours, or a painful reaction could occur immediately, depending upon the amount of venom injected and the sensitivity of the individual.

Within the next 24 to 36 hours a systemic response may occur, characterized by restlessness and fever.

A small blister usually arises, surrounded by a large congested and swollen area. The tissue affected locally by the venom usually is killed and gradually sloughs away, exposing the underlying tissues.

Healing may require from six to eight

Shower To Area

A hot, dry summer, some Lamb County area residents have reported showers and soaking rains for four days.

It began Saturday afternoon when a heavy rain fell over the area. A heavy rain fell near the Hubert farm, three miles south and two miles west of Anton. Although the twister touched down on the ground for almost 10 minutes, there was surprisingly little damage. Mrs. Odum reported some damage to her irrigation pipe on their farm.

Streets were deluged from two inches of rain and light hail dumped in a line from the tornadic clouds. The damage to some soybean crops near Anton was minimal.

In most instances, were reported. Almost all of the county and surrounding area received some rain Saturday afternoon and again in repeat showers Sunday night and Monday.

Rainfall recordings set the record at 2 to 4 inches over the area. Heavy showers were reported over the area Tuesday afternoon, and at Littlefield Wednesday, skies were overcast and precipitation predicted.

NEW PRESIDENT of the Lamb County Pioneers Association is Fred Lichte of Littlefield. He has been a Lamb County resident since 1915 and was elected during the business session of the 20th Annual Pioneer Reunion at the Community Center in Littlefield Tuesday afternoon.

TABLES OF ABUNDANCE fed nearly 400 who attended the 20th Annual Lamb County Pioneer Reunion Tuesday. Guests of honor were volunteer firemen from all six towns in Lamb County. Eldon Franks of Olton is the organization's new vice president; Sid Hopping of Littlefield was re-elected treasurer; and Lyle Brandon of Littlefield was re-elected secretary. Mrs. E. M. Davis, 91, of Littlefield, was oldest woman present and Judge J. E. Dryden, 90, of Sudan, was oldest man present.

Museum Memberships Boosted By Group

By JOELLA LOVVORN

"We, The Women" voted to help the Lamb County Museum Board sell memberships to the Museum Association, and nominated three women for election to the Board of City Development during their regular noon meeting Tuesday.

Persons wishing to become members of the Lamb County Museum Association may purchase membership cards from any member. Fees for persons in different categories include: student, (under 18), $1; single adult, $3; family, $10; contributing, $20; patron, $50; and lifetime, $200.

City Manager Jim Shearer had asked the organization to nominate three women to be elected to serve on the Board of City Development. Two of the Board members resigned and members of the City Council commissioned the city manager to ask three organizations to nominate women for the two positions.

Nominated were Mrs. Eloise Cox, Mrs. Marge Anzeline and Mrs. Ruth Price.

Betty Smith was hostess for the event. In other business, members heard a report on the Sidewalk Art Festival, which was conducted Friday afternoon and evening on Phelps Avenue.

Mrs. Betty Kehoe, president, read a "thank you" note from Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lyman on choosing their yard as "Yard of the Month" for August.

The landscaping committee reported that funds are being spent on grounds at the Elementary II building. Work is complete at the Primary and Elementary I buildings.

Mrs. Betty Smith recommended that the organization start thinking of making some kind of improvement on the boulevard going south of the courthouse.

In connection with the project, Mrs. O. I. Bennett Sr. suggested that people might want to donate plants or trees as a memorial to someone, and that the boulevard could be called "memory lane" or something similar.

Members decided to look into the situation for further planning. They discussed briefly the landscaping to be done at the windmill.

The cookbook committee will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Julia Randall to proofread the copy of the new cook book. The book will soon be in the hands of the printer for publication.

Mrs. Beth Kelly, secretary-treasurer, reported that the windmill marker will be ordered sometime this week. Donations went past the price of the original marker and a larger one, which will stand on a post, will be ordered.

In addition to "We, The Women" other organizations which have donated funds for the marker are Lamb County Historical Survey Committee, Lions Club, Optimist Club, Security State Bank, First National Bank, Roden Drug, and Pat's Record Center.

PAUL HARVEY

Sore Losers

TO A LIBERAL COLLEAGUE the other day I said, "How do you now evaluate President Nixon?"

He said, "Well, I didn't like the way he scuttled Dr. Knowles' nomination. I don't approve his abandonment of ADC. I don't agree with his modification of school desegregation guidelines..."

I SAID, "Bob, hold on a minute, Richard Nixon was elected President because he was less liberal than Hubert Humphrey. Now you are objecting because he, Nixon, has not adopted Humphrey's platform."

Bob said he'd not thought of it like that.

THIS IS A PARADOX of the American political system. The American majority elects a President because they approve his politics and policies, then his critics continue to try to change his mind.

President Nixon was elected mostly because he promised to firm up the soft dollar, counteract rampant crime, disengage us from Vietnam and, thereafter, end the military draft.

SINCE THE ELECTION, with his considerable energies, he has moved forward on all four of those fronts.

Yet we read surveys (for what they are worth) suggesting that President Nixon's popularity is diminishing.

My friend, Bob, was in fact criticizing President Nixon for doing "his thing." And Bob is fairly representative of a very large number of Americans who, without realizing it, are sore losers.

IF THESE SURVEYS have any validity, President Nixon is going to have to fight back. Campaigning for GOP candidates next year, he will be effective only if he is at that time enjoying the continuing enthusiasm of the people who elected him.

Whenever a President wishes to command the nation's attention, all our nation's mighty information media are immediately available to him.

THAT SOUNDS LIKE a distinct advantage for the incumbent. What's overlooked, however, is that the President may have less than an hour in front of the cameras to present his case.

Immediately and for many hours thereafter, the public is confronted by an army of critical faces and voices and words.

COMMENTATORS, more often than not liberal, immediately follow the President's address with this nit-picking analysis.

Subsequently, if he has, for example, devoted three minutes to explaining why aid to dependent children frequently encourages illegitimacy—for hours and days and weeks thereafter, newscasts will showcase self-appointed spokesmen for "those poor babies" unit, in the public mind, the President's perfectly valid position is made to appear arrogant, arbitrary and cruel.

THE ONLY WAY President Nixon can escape the slings and arrows of the outraged losers is to do nothing.

But then he turns his back on the people who elected him.

Whatever it costs in personal popularity, this President won't do that.

THE FARMER'S WIFE

Go Cowboys!

By LIBBY MUDGETT

FOOTBALL SEASON is here, whether you like it or not. Exhibition games are just as footballly as ones that count, no matter that the cotton fields are far from being white and the grain ain't ripe.

Which brings us to the Dallas Cowboys.

THERE'S A FEW other teams around somewhere, but as far as I'm concerned, they're only there so the Cowboys will have somebody to play with.

(Two exceptions: 1, the New York Jets for the thrill of seeing Joe Namath flattened ever so often for the mere reason that I loathe him, but grudgingly admit he is a thing of beauty and precision while quarterbacking and 2, the Green Bay Packers because I said all along they were giving too much money for Donny Anderson and would rue the day, and so far I'm right, although he does cut his hair and doesn't have a mink coat.)

NOW YOU FOOTBALL experts, professional and amateur, stay out of this. This is for people who like to watch football for the sheer fun of it, and technicalities and statistics can go flying.

Tom Landry finally listened to me and slapped Bobby Hayes' hands like I've been telling him to for years. That boy never did put out like he could have except when the ball was laid right in his little arms and nobody looked like they were even thinking about tackling him and hurting those valuable legs, or toes, or whatever he uses to run with.

MAYBE NOW he'll hustle and learn that there's more to being a good back or end or whatever than just being fast. See Bobby run. Run Bobby run. Please!

All you nasty people that have been riding Don Meredith's back are going to miss him. I was a Meredith fan through and through, even when he threw four interceptions handrunning and ran like a spastic. For some reason or other, Meredith could move the Cowboys when nobody else could and I'll have to admit that sometimes it was backwards, but nobody say nothing bad about Dandy Don in my presence! You'll wish he was back before this season is over.

DITTO DON PERKINS. If he makes as good a politician as he was a football player, New Mexico has gained a beaut. But then, remember Roosevelt Grier.

Thank heavens, Jethro Pugh is okay, and Bob Lilly and George Andre and Willie Townes and I won't have to sell my television set.

AND CORNELL GREENE looks as good as ever, which is larrupin' good. I still don't like to think of him as a cornerback, I don't know who thought up that name but it smells, he's just about the most dependable, graceful and best back that was ever back there in the back and grossly underrated.

This year Lance Rensell will come into his own. You think he's already there? Hah! You ain't seen nothin'! I can just tell from the way he's starting out, he's a young man heading for better things.

I'VE BEEN TELLING Tom for years that he is underusing Mel Renfro. He is far too valuable a player to trot off and on the field in that thing they call a specialty team of some kind. I don't know what else he should be doing, but that's for Tom to figure out.

Pettis Norman has some bettering up to do and he's doing it. As is Walt Garrison. And they're both already good, so just wait until you see them when they're even better.

NOW CALVIN HILL is something else again. He is not the super-rookie that the announcers keep drooling about and if they don't hush up they'll give him the big head and we'll have another Bobby Hayes on our hands. However, if everybody will quit bragging on him, he's going to be as good as he looks like he is right now, but really isn't yet.

And Dan Reeves is my very special pet. There's something about him that brings out my motherly heart(maybe it's the way he murders the English language). Ugly but appealing, especially while carrying the ball if Morton can only get it to him.

YOU THINK I'M against Craig? Nope. Can he help it if he's still just a growing boy? And who knows—he may turn out to be as good as Namath without the Broadway trappings and white shoes. Well I can dream, can't I?

Are the the Cowboys going to the Super Bowl?

Wash out your mouth with soap for even having to ask!

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Self Rule

By BOB WEAR

WE HAVE BEEN REMINDED again how terrible the uncontrolled powers of nature can be. We are still reading about and seeing the devastation of recent storms.

This, however, is nothing compared with the destructive powers of mankind out of control.

ALL DAY AND ALL NIGHT the news media bombard us with accounts of human tragedies being caused by man out of control.

The general condition is even worse than the specific happenings indicate.

We must find ways to help more people learn the noblest human art, the art of self rule.

THE PRESENT HUMAN misery and distress will continue to spread until we see the great need for learning to govern ourselves.

Most everything being emphasized today is leading mankind in the opposite direction. The whole concept of individual rights and personal freedom has been perverted and distorted.

THE PRINCIPAL ELEMENT in personal freedom is the rule of self. It is unfortunate and such a loss that so many people, in so many ways, encourage the destructive view of "doing as we please".

It was Pythagoras, a Greek philosopher, who said, "No man is free who cannot command himself." This noticeable truth of long ago has never changed. We can see the evidence everywhere we look.

IT WAS A SAD DAY when leading and influential people, in our society, began saying that the individual must not be restrained or inhibited.

They taught, and maybe believed, that each person must be given license for full expression of self.

This faulty view of human behavior was a "sowing to the wind", and, now, as to be expected, "we are reaping the whirlwind" of growing strife and disorder.

THIS IS NOT ALL. Persons who do not rule themselves are doomed to a continuing frustrated, dissatisfying and worsening life condition.

WHATEVER LASTING satisfaction, personal happiness and worthwhile accomplishments we experience in our living will be the fruit of our wise self rule.

Locke said, "The most precious of all possessions is the power over ourselves; power to withstand trial, to bear suffering, to front danger, power over pleasure and pain, power to follow our convictions, however resisted by menace or scorn; the power of calm reliance in scenes of darkness and storms."

WHEN WE RECOGNIZE the need for and value of ruling self, we have found the open door to effective, meaningful and rewarding living.

Let us enter in and be busy with our greatest and most important life work; that of self government.

This will be our greatest wealth, and happiness, and satisfaction, and contentment.

WE CAN LEARN self rule, and we must. Our Creator, the one most capable to understand and fill our needs, has given much emphasis to personal self control.

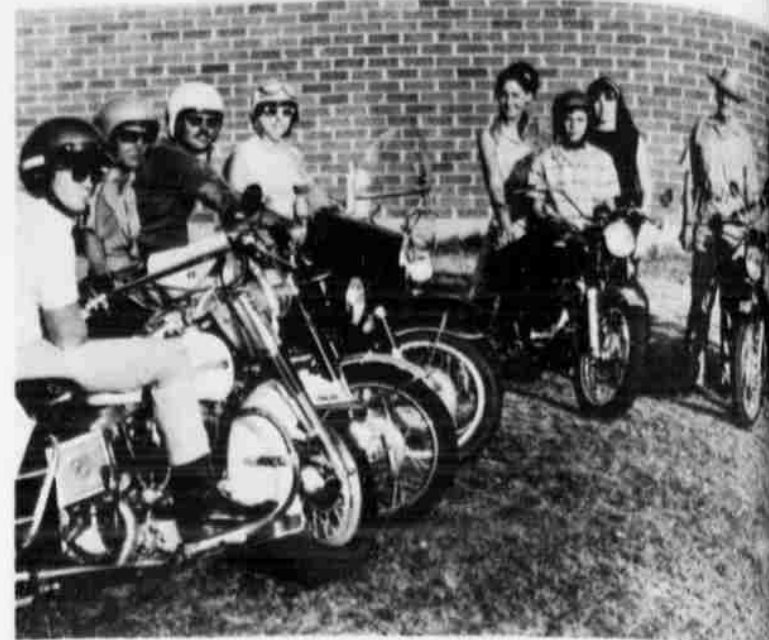

"He who is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he who rules his spirit than he who takes a city."

OUR BEST HOPE for adequate self rule is in our acceptance of divine rule.

In accepting divine rule, we will enter into the climate of truth, and light, and understanding, and motivation necessary to the most meaningful self rule.

THOSE WHO WILL NOT rule themselves must soon become slaves to their shameful, destructive and unrestrained desires.

They will find themselves existing in the shambles of their unrestrained behavior.

MEMBERS OF THE LITTLEFIELD Roadrunners are shown with Ross, parade chairman, as they prepare for their part in Littlefield Festivities Days. These and many other riders will put on a motorcycle show from 4-6 p.m. Saturday at Laguna Park.

the Alaskan backroads are impassable and they had to fly in. Alaskans use the caribou hide to make muck lucks, high top boots with the furry side of the hide next to the skin. Dow said your feet and legs stay warm in these even with temperatures 50 degrees below zero.

Dow also got in a little fishing while there. His only regret was having to leave before the moose season opened Monday. But Jack made the return trip with his parents and he had to get back in time to register at Texas Tech.

"It was a once-in-a-lifetime trip," Dow said, "but the last one as far as driving." Dow said the Alkan highway with its 1,100 miles of dirt road filled with chug holes took a lot of nerve to drive.

Dow may not get another chance to hunt in Alaska, but he plans to go deer and elk hunting in Colorado again this year. Meantime he has his caribou horns to go with his other wildlife trophies, and another hunter's dream has come true.

weeks, leaving scars of dimensions.

In the event a person is a victim should consult a physician immediately, and if possible, the spider for positive identification.

As yet, specific antidotes are available for treatment, but they treat the patient for both systemic reactions.

Cotton Bollworm Still A Problem

"The cotton bollworm problem prevalent in Lamb County," said County Agricultural Agent Logsdon, "and the farmer has to see his production prospects before he decides whether to spray for them."

Bollworms are being found in cotton fields throughout the Plains.

Agricultural extension entomologists are cautioning spraying if not needed, as an application of insecticide will kill the insects and probably the continuation of spraying at intervals.

Bollworm adults or moths are more active in lush growth and recent rains, cotton will be in condition and more vulnerable to attack.

According to pest research in the Extension Service, one bollworm destroys eight squares and about 10 bolls. This can be quite an expense when heavy populations are present. Research has shown that 2,000 bollworms per acre are of importance—this is about 10 bollworms per 10 feet of row.

Cotton producers are urged to check their fields closely by carefully examining plants in several areas across the field. An average of two bollworms per row is found, control measures should be considered.

Logsdon said "worms that are less than 1/2 inch in length are most destructive."

"If the farmer has a good prospect, it may pay him to get out to look at his prospects, he could put more into it than he gets out of it," Logsdon concluded.

Poodle 'Hams It Up'

Suzette brings the morning paper in, carries letters to the post office and picks up in-coming mail, and delivers messages next door to the person to whom the note is addressed.

These are just some of the "people" things that Mrs. Jane Owens' black miniature poodle can do. "Poodles are the easiest things to train," Mrs. Owens said, "they're so human."

Suzette sits on command, crosses her "hands", waves, stretches, speaks and sits up. She has a bright orange straw sailor hat and collar she wears for some performances.

Suzette isn't Mrs. Owens only dog. Priscilla, a white poodle, keeps Mrs. Owens and Suzette company. "I guess people think I'm crazy to keep two dogs," Mrs. Owens said. "But it's so nice to have someone to greet you when you come in. They're so protective! If someone just walks down the sidewalk, they let me know."

Priscilla doesn't know all the tricks that her black friend knows. Mrs. Owens calls Prissy a "sweet little lap dog that doesn't know how to do anything because I didn't teach her and work with her when she was young."

Suzette is seven-years-old, and Mrs. Owens began training her when she was six-weeks old, taking her in her lap and showing her to cross her feet. Next she sat her next to the cabinet, then before long she was sitting up in the center of the room.

Going to the post office each day is a high point in Suzette's and Mrs. Owens' day. Mrs. Owens removes the poodles' collars at night and puts them on the head of the bed. "Suzette always knows exactly when I'm ready to go," Mrs. Owens said. "When I close the dresser drawer, she runs and gets her collar and brings it to me."

Suzette is allowed to carry letters inside that are to be mailed, and she brings the day's mail out.

Bringing in the daily paper is another of Suzette's favorite activities. "She's off her bed and barking at the exact minute the paper boy comes each morning," Mrs. Owens said.

Mrs. Owens bathes and grooms the poodles every three weeks. She has her own clippers and operates her own saloon when grooming time comes around.

In addition to her poodles, Mrs. Owens plays bridge for a hobby. "And I'm not a good player, either," she laughed. "But I sure would have a lonely life if I didn't play. You have people in, and they have you." She belongs to the Duplicate Bridge Club and plays with a team of four at night.

Mrs. Owens (and her late husband, E. L., who died last January) has lived in Littlefield 25 years. Each fall Mrs. Owens works at the Hugo Kinkler gin where she has worked so long she is "beginning to feel like a fixture."

HANG DAMP TOWELS

Spring-type clothespins suspended from the top of the clothes chute can be used to hang damp towels and other items until they are dry, rather than dropping them into the basement while they are still wet.

MRS. JANE OWENS' little poodles are all she's got for company. "And they're such a joy," she says, "so human." Suzette, the black miniature, is something of a ham, performing at the drop of her orange straw sailor hat. Priscilla is a little soft snowball—a sweet little lap dog that doesn't know many tricks.

Agriculture Official Speaks To Rotarians

Not one industry in the U. S. has had the same rapid rate of growth as agriculture, Dr. Wayland Bennett told Rotary Club members and their guests Wednesday. "Farming has its problems, and there are fewer people," he said, "but agriculture is not a declining industry."

Dr. Bennett, associate dean of agriculture, said technological developments in farming were the reason the American public was the best fed and best clothed nation in the world, and for less take-home pay than any other country.

One farmer now produces enough food and fibre for himself and 46 other persons, he said. He compared this to the average farmer who produced food and fibre for himself and four others in 1850, for eight others in 1900, and 10-11 persons and himself in 1930.

Dr. Bennett said the farming industry has more research, brain power and capital than any other industrial phase, with $281 billion invested in land and buildings. This is twice the investment of all the steel, and five times the automotive industry's investment.

Yet only 6 per cent of the nation's population...

But while farmers only six per cent of the population, one-third of the businesses in the U. S. are in agriculture, Dr. Bennett pointed out. "Farmers produce more petroleum than all other industries, and creates 3-4 jobs out of one in the nation."

Dr. Bennett said statistics showed the average Lamb County farm is 582 acres, an investment of $184,000, and produces $38,000 worth of products annually.

He estimated that 23-county South Plains from farming, and the cent of all income in Lamb County is agricultural.

His suggestion for profit for the farmer, processing, such as wool, "starting with what you have in abundance."

Lamb County pioneer Ray Smith fondly recalls the days when he and his family lived behind the present day General Telephone Building and he rode his horse to the City Hall to water him at the windmill.

Smith says he feels that he has seen more changes and progress in his life time than any previous generations—from the horse and buggy days to going to the moon.

Smith "cowboyed" on his father's and the George White Ranch. As a boy and young man, he sold newspapers, worked in a grocery and dry goods store and filling station.

Although Smith is considered a pioneer, and has been a Lamb County resident for 50 golden years, Lamb County has been well settled since he can remember. "All I know about pioneering is hear-say," Smith said. But he has had access to plenty "say-so" since his grandparents, the B. F. Smiths, were the first Littlefield family, moving here in 1912.

Smith lived in Bailey and Cochran Counties a few years, also. He was born at Melrose, N. M., in 1918 where his parents had gone to find grass for their cattle.

Ray Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. (Bob) Smith, are charter members of the Lamb County Pioneers, and still active in the organization.

Bob Smith was president the fourth year of the organization. Ray was secretary five years, president last year, and as president in the above Marshall Kelly.

Since returning from Armed Services, Ray has engaged in farming, ranching, and is presently located in the community.

He is a graduate of Littlefield High and is now in the former Littlefield Hamilton. They have children, Bob is in the Air Force and on his way to Nam. Jerry is in the Air Force, and is stationed at Goodfellow Air Force Base, San Angelo. Ray is a member of East Texas State University.

Boys Ranch Rodeo Expects Big Crowd

A new attendance record is expected to be set for the annual Boys' Ranch Rodeo at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch over the Labor Day weekend.

This is the 25th year for the rodeo that is believed to be the only one of its kind in the nation in which the only contestants are boys competing under R.C.A. rules on professional rodeo stock.

The Ranch's nearly 350 boys have been preparing for the rodeo for about three months, making their qualification rides on broncs, Brahma bulls, steers and calves.

All of the boys will participate with approximately 180 riding as contestants.

Trophies will be awarded riders with the best times in each division. The two-day performance will be climaxed by the naming of the Senior and Junior All-Around Cowboys.

"We believe this will be the most exciting rodeo the boys have ever put on," Ranch president Virgil Patterson, said. "The barbeque beef sandwiches will be sold for $1 again this year, so there will be plenty to eat for those wishing to picnic at the Ranch."

Tickets for the rodeo are on sale at the Boys Ranch office at 800 West 11st St., 372-2341. Reserved box seats are $2.50, and $1.50 general admission for adults, and 75¢ for children and servicemen in uniform.

SMILES OF APPRECIATION—These Littlefield Wildcats, their coaches, fans, parents and members of the Booster Club consumed several gallons of home made ice cream Tuesday night at the football fieldhouse. It was the annual event sponsored by the Booster Club, and attracted more than 200 persons.

Wildcats Scrimmage Seminole Tomorrow

It might be wise for Littlefield Wildcat fans bent on watching the 'Cats scrimmage tomorrow evening against the Seminole Indians to have identification and proof that they live here.

The scrimmage is to take place at Wildcat Stadium, starting at 7 p.m. But only residents of Littlefield and area and Seminole will be admitted.

Coach Deverelle Lewis announced the restriction this week. He said the limitation was made that no one, except by mutual agreement scouts from Colorado City to Dunbar, could watch the game except residents of the two communities.

Coach Lewis asked that fans "please not be offended if asked for proof of their residence at the game being allowed to enter will be no admission. The following Wildcat varsity will travel to Seminole for a scrimmage tomorrow night. That evening's game is set to start at 6 p.m. The varsity only will play tomorrow night.

The first major-league game was played in 1935.

Every Friday night there is a fish and/or chicken buffet. "And you should see those halibuts," Bill Holder said, licking his lips in anticipation. "The halibut is as long as this table. Beautiful!" Friday night serving hours are from 5:30 to 10:00, and the price is $1.45 with coffee, tea or cold drinks.

Saturday evenings there is a Mexican food buffet. Tacos, enchiladas, beans, tamales, tostados, quacamole or choice of two or three salads are included in the menu, and the price is only $1.50.

Any time there is a group meeting in several of the various community rooms in town, the Crescent House will cater their meals.

serving banquets and large gatherings in the beautiful dining room is another service offered by the Crescent House. Several large banquets have been hosted in the Crescent House Restaurant since the Holders took over management.

On individual orders, delicacies such as lobster tails, individual trout or a fisherman's plate is offered. Steaks are all choice and the largest cuts are aged. Many out of town people drive in to Littlefield for Crescent House steaks.

Even breakfasts at the Crescent House are something special. The aim of the Crescent House management is to give really good service and make your visit a pleasant experience. They carry extra waitresses for the rush hour shifts.

Bill and Kitty Holder invite everyone to come in and try their brand of Crescent House hospitality.

Gregg's Re-Upholsters Sentimental Furniture

Do you have a chair that belonged to your granddad? Or maybe you have a frayed piece of furniture you've had since you were first married.

Luther Gregg at Gregg's Upholstery Shop at 601 Hall Avenue takes special pleasure in re-upholstering these sentimental pieces.

Luther stresses "quality" in his upholstery work. Quality is the key word here, because it is possible to buy a new chair cheap.

But the fine grade of fabric Gregg's Upholstery uses in upholstering is beyond comparing to assembly-line furniture.

Every re-upholstery job Gregg's turn out is precision work. "An upholstery man watches details so closely," Gregg said. "He really takes care with the detail work."

Luther attributes their "new furniture look" in all finished upholstery to the detailed work.

A good upholstery job here is always better than a new piece of furniture.

The frames are reconditioned, made them sturdier than when they were bought originally. Greggs give you much more than just a chair.

Luther Gregg has been in the upholstery business 22 years. He began with auto upholstery when he established his body shop under the water tower on the Clovis Highway in 1947.

Later he moved further east on Highway 84, going into upholstery exclusively.

Gregg's Upholstery has been at its present location on Hall Avenue for 22 years.

They offer pick up and delivery on all furniture upholstery.

Although Gregg does more furniture upholstery than anything else, they also do auto upholstery. They will exchange pick-up seats with you so you can be on your way in 15 minutes.

Gregg's can take care of all your canvas work, too. They patch truck tarpaulins, make irrigation sleeves of canvas or burlap, and make covers for your air conditioners.

Sudan Is Powerhouse, Despite The Rankings

They've got another football powerhouse over at Sudan again this year. In fact, it's so good, even cautious Jim Cain, Hornet mentor, can't completely hide his expectations.

Though he has only four starting offensive players back from last year, Cain is loaded with experienced talent, all with size, speed and competition for a starting berth.

And above all, the Hornets now have a winning tradition, which is worth plus points before any kickoff.

Hornet fans...and they number well into the hundreds...are still trying to figure why their club isn't figured among the state's Class A top 10 teams. Texas Football magazine didn't even mention them further than a conference title.

But that's the way it's been the past two years. They've not been ranked until well into the season, and they made it to the quarter finals both seasons.

Carrying a big part of the offensive load both the past campaigns were Larry Hanna and Jerry Bellar. And they're back for a final challenge for the state crown.

Bellar accounted for 1,640 yards last season and Hanna 907.

Add to that combination the return of the other starting halfback Billy Gore, who rushed for 370 yards, and you have 2,911 yards of talent a year older and more experienced. The trio also racked up 288 points while racking up 11 victories against two defeats as juniors.

Bellar, a second-team All-Stater last year, has gained 3,079 yards and scored 280 points in his three-year career. He's started 31 consecutive games for the Hornets.

Strongest individual in the backfield, fullback Hanna gained 1,670 yards and scored 192 points in two years, despite being sidelined his sophomore year's playoff games with a broken leg.

Gore has gained 846 yards and scored 42 tallies in his two seasons with the varsity.

Stepping into the shoes as field general this season is senior Rex Boyles. The tough 141-pound senior started as "monster man" on defense last year and shows exceptional talent in this early part of workouts as a quarterback.

Biggest player on the team is Harvey Willeby. The 215-pound strong man is Cain's only returning lineman. The others were lost to graduation.

Willeby is slated to go both offensively and defensively at the tackle position.

But he's the only lineman who has a post nailed down, according to Cain. A battle-royal is waged at every workout for the remaining slots, because at least two players of almost even ability want the honor of starting for the black and gold.

Center candidates are junior Johnny King, 165, and senior Steve Smith, 130.

Gerald Chisholm, 201 junior, and junior Allen Roberts, 174, want the left tackle slot and senior Allen Black, 175, is challenging Willeby for the right tackle post.

Candidates for starting end positions are Shawn Potter, 139 senior, Randy Glover, 163 junior, and David Weaver, 174 junior.

Sophomore Roger Bellar, 144, will be used alternately at end and halfback. Gregory McNabb, 141, junior, is campaigning for an offensive post in the backfield, as is Roger Boyles, 143 sophomore. Boyles also is challenging 135 senior Randy Pierce for the "monster man" position on defense.

Edwards has Cain's eye as the number one candidate for the honored position on the defensive line, nose guard. That's the slot where the past two holders have earned college scholarships and were key members of the famous Hornet defense. Robin Davis (A&M) and Monte Roberts (TCU) made the nose guard position work in textbook fashion the past two campaigns. Both were All-State as seniors.

Hornet fans will have their first opportunity to see the 1969 edition under combat conditions at 7 this evening. They scrimmage the Hereford junior varsity in Sudan.

Next Thursday Olton's Mustangs will scrimmage the Hornets, same time, same place.

This will be the fifth season at the helm of the Hornet hord for Coach Cain. Each year has marked an improvement on the past under his tutelage.

His first year ended with an uncomfortable 2-8 won-lost mark. But the next was a 9-1 improvement, losing only one District 3-A tilt.

Then came the championship, Sudan's first in all its football history, in 1967. That year the Hornets amassed a 10-3 record, losing 14-0 to Seagraves in the quarterfinals.

Last year it took the eventual state champion, Sonora, to knock the determined Hornets out of the playoffs. Again, it was in the quarter finals. But, as any fan who watched the game will report, a couple of breaks and that 26-20 decision could have easily been reversed. So Coach Cain now has a most impressive 32-14 record at Sudan. Sudan is hoping that mark is raised to 47-14 this year.
