Sixth Annual Festivities Days Planning, Preparation Underway

The schedule for the Sixth Annual Festivities Days for Aug. 23 and 24, is gradually taking shape and there is still room for a few other activities, according to the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce.

The Festivities Days Committee, under the leadership of the co-chairmen Tom Tollett and Bert Wallace, is seeking parade entries and listings of other activities and concessions by organizations and clubs.

Among the events slated for Friday, Aug. 23, are the annual Sidewalk Art Festival, sponsored by "We, The Women"; various concessions and a street dance that night with "The Caisons" of Hereford presenting the music.

Saturday's schedule is already shaping up with several events to provide something for all age groups.

One of the highlights of the day will be the parade featuring the Sheppard Air Force Band, "Miss Ford Country", horses, antique cars, floats, commercial entries, decorated bicycles, etc.

Several floats are already entered, and more are needed. Any wishing to enter a float, or participate in any way with the Festivities Days activities, are asked to contact either of the co-chairmen, or the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture office, 385-4451.

Businessmen are invited to place entries in the parade, and antique car lovers are invited to drive their cars.

Theme for the parade this year is "Hawaiian Vacation", and cash prizes will be awarded to organizational floats. First place float will be awarded $75; second place, $50 and third place, $25.

Senior and junior riding club divisions will receive first, second and third place trophies in their respective divisions.

Following the parade, the Sheppard Air Force Band will present a concert on Phelps Avenue.

"We, The Women" will again sponsor a flea market on the Santa Fe plaza, beginning at 7 a.m. Saturday. A small fee of $3 per space will be charged, and persons wishing to reserve a space may contact Carol Black at 385-5134. She will also answer any questions about the flea market.

The Lions Club and the Festivities Days Committee will jointly sponsor a public barbecue at noon, beginning at 11 a.m. and continuing until 2 p.m., and again for the supper meal from 5 p.m. until everyone is served.

Other highlights for Saturday will be the 4-H Fair and pet show, sponsored by the County Extension office; a flea market, sponsored by "We, The Women"; a beard contest, sponsored by the Lions Club; Bingo; a cake walk; the sale of helium-filled balloons, three of which will be 10 feet long; the auction of commemorative coins; drawings for the trip to Hawaii for two, for a four-coin set of commemorative coins, sports bicycle, and half a beef, cut, wrapped and frozen.

Members of the Lions Club are urging all men to grow their whiskers for the beard judging contest.

The Hawaiian trip for two will be a choice between a seven-day, six night visit to the Golden Twin Islands of Oahu and Kauai or to the Golden Tri-City on Hawaii and Oahu islands.

The Golden Twin Islands package will include four nights at the Hilton Hawaiian Village, two nights at Kauai Beach Boy on the island of Kauai, air fare via Continental Airlines round trip, meals on board your flight, flower lei greeting, transfers round trip airport-hotel, city sightseeing tour, and a welcome breakfast at the Hawaiian Village Hotel.

The Golden Tri-City package includes: two nights at the Orchid Island Hotel in Hilo, Hawaii; two nights at the Kona Hilton Hotel in Kailua, Hawaii; two nights at the Hilton Hawaiian Village in Waikiki Beach; air fare via Continental and Aloha Airlines round trip; meals on board flight, flower lei greeting, transfers round trip airport-hotel; choice of motorcoach sightseeing tour of Hilo to Kona; rental car for one day (unlimited mileage) for Kona; city sightseeing tour of Honolulu; and welcome breakfast at the Hilo Orchid Island Hotel.

Closing out the day's activities will be two dances. A square dance will be conducted on Phelps Avenue, and the Caisons of Hereford will be playing for a paid country-western dance at the Country Club.

A parade float advertising Festivities

Days and designed to the Hawaiian theme, has been constructed by Carol and Bert Wallace of Wallace's Home Furnishings, and will be entered in all area parades prior to Festivities Days. Among the first will be Anton's Golden Jubilee Celebration Aug. 3.

SANDY STANSELL is a female "mailman" for the Littlefield post office. The 18-year-old has a regular route and works full time. Although there are two Littlefield women who are rural carriers, Sandy is the first city delivery woman. paigned to fight children's lung diseases, according to Mrs. J.H. Grizzard, president of the Lone Star Chapter, National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation.

Mrs. Cowan, of Amherst, will lead local volunteers in raising funds to support research and care programs for children affected by lung-damaging diseases like cystic fibrosis, severe asthma, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis, and a condition called "childhood emphysema".

"Cystic fibrosis, an incurable genetic disease, is inherited when both parents carry the recessive gene for C/F," Mrs. Cowan states. It is believed that one in 20 persons or 10 million Americans may carry the C/F gene, usually without knowing it. Current research funded by the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation is seeking a practical test to identify these carriers," she emphasized.

Because of improved therapy and constant research, many C/F patients are living beyond infancy to their teens and into young adulthood. That same kind of therapy is relieving and often curing children suffering from other respiratory afflictions whose symptoms resemble those of C/F.

"Most people don't realize that there are six million children in the U.S. affected by pulmonary illness," said Mrs. Cowan. "For some of these children, breathing is not the natural function we, who are lucky, take for granted."

The Breath of Life Campaign supports not only research but over 100 C/F Centers for diagnosis and treatment across the country, six of which are located within Texas.

Several reports of thefts, vandalism and burglary were turned in to city officers over the weekend.

A car parked in front of the Jim Upton residence at 1301 W. 13th had about a half gallon of paint thrown over it, key holes in the doors were damaged and the trunk lid was sprung. Damage was estimated at $300.

Simington was taken to Littlefield Hospital by ambulance where he was treated for a bruise on the right side of the head and for back and neck pains.

An Amarillo man, Paul Michael Burt, escaped serious injury Monday afternoon when his truck and tractor loaded with ammonia overturned on U.S. 84. Right front tires blew out and he lost control of the truck tractor.

He was taken to Littlefield Hospital by ambulance.

Property damage of $500 was estimated on the utility poles, wires, braces and stabilizers at the scene of the accident.

EDITORIAL

A Rare Attitude

LIVING IN A CITY where food is only as far away as your neighborhood supermarket, it's easy to look upon agriculture as a remote happening way off somewhere that has little to do with you and your lifestyle.

But if the American farmer were suddenly to drop from sight, how long would those supermarket shelves be stocked with food and at what price?

FORTUNATELY for all of us, agriculture is one of the few bright spots in the nation's outlook today. It's not only continuing to produce food and fiber to meet the needs of our growing population, but it's also increasing its efficiency at the same time. And that increased efficiency has a lot to do with your supply of food and natural fiber, and the price you pay for it.

Measured in terms of output per man hour, agriculture's productivity has increased at an annual clip of 6.3 percent over the past ten years. By contrast, the rate in non-farm industries has been only 2.7 percent annually in the same period of time.

HOW DOES this affect consumer prices? In food alone, it means that—if farm food production efficiency had increased only at the same rate as that of non-food industries—you'd be paying between 25 and 50 percent more today than you are now.

Research, education, and incentive have doubtless played major roles in helping the American farmer achieve his remarkable record of improved efficiency.

BUT ONE KEY factor that can't be overlooked is the farmer's determination to do his job well, day in and day out, despite seemingly insurmountable odds.

In short, today's farmer takes pride in his work. This may be an old-fashioned attitude to some people's way of thinking, but it's the attitude that made America and it's the only one we can think of that will save America.

DEAR EDITOR

To The Editor,

During some recent weeks our mother was in one of your hospitals. She died there. She was 90 years old and she had an incurable illness.

We wish to take this opportunity to tell you and, if you choose, you in turn tell your community, that she received the most efficient, professional, and even more, the most loving care that we ever saw.

As a matter of fact, the entire community was so wonderful to our family in their grief.

Tell your people to be proud—and NEVER change!

Sincerely,

CLIPS & TIPS

By JOELLA LOVVERN

WHAT'S SO GREAT about the great outdoors?

Entertaining your friends, for one thing. Nothing's nicer on a fine summer night than dining al fresco.

This summer, with people more energy and budget conscious than ever, it's sure that you'll be doing more entertaining at home than ever. Next time you're looking for a party idea, try a Spanish theme.

You can feed eight people a magnificent dinner of arroz con pollo, (rice with chicken), green salad, flan and spiced tea for just five dollars—which leaves something in the budget for party decorations.

You can give a Spanish bazaar look to the patio with lots of basketware. Slip each flowerpot into a little basket. Use rattan placemats. Fill handled baskets with huge bouquets of straw flowers and hang them overhead. Bring out any handwoven rugs and coverlets you may have, and drape them over railings and the backs of couches.

To complement the colorful setting, you'll be serving one of the world's most colorful casseroles: arroz con pollo or rice with chicken.

If you've never tried it, you have a treat in store. It's easy to make this traditional Spanish dish ahead of time, so you'll be able to visit with your friends.

To make this a balanced meal, serve arroz con pollo with a big green salad and Spanish Flan for dessert. This vanilla custard, made with velvety evaporated milk for satin-smooth texture, has its own caramelized brown sugar topping. Friends will toast the cook's health with tall glasses of refreshing spiced tea. Salud y pesetas!

ARROZ CON POLLO

(Makes 8 servings)

- Two 2 1/2-pound frying chickens (cut-up)
- 1 quart water
- Salt and pepper
- 1/4 cup oil
- 3/4 cup (1 small) red or green sweet pepper strips
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 3 crushed cloves garlic
- 2 cups raw rice
- 1 tablespoon seasoned salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1/2 teaspoon cumin
- 1 crushed bay leaf
- 3 1/2 cups (28-ounce can) Contadina brand peeled tomatoes
- 10-ounce package partially thawed frozen peas

Place chicken necks, backs and giblets in saucepan. Add water. Bring to boil; simmer 20 minutes. Sprinkle the remaining chicken pieces generously with salt and pepper. Brown a few pieces at a time in medium hot oil in 5-quart Dutch oven. Remove pieces as they brown. Drain off all but 2 tablespoons oil from pan. Sauté red or green pepper, onion and garlic.

Stir in rice, seasoned salt, pepper, paprika, cumin, bay leaf, tomatoes and liquid.

Break up tomatoes.

Remove necks from broth; pour broth and boiled chicken into rice mixture. Top with browned chicken. Bring to boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 25 to 30 minutes. Remove cover; sprinkle peas over chicken.

Cover and cook 5 to 10 minutes long or until rice and chicken are done and liquid is absorbed. Mixture should not be dry. Add more water as necessary to cook rice.

GETTING BACK to nature and away from it all makes a great family vacation. There's lots of time and energy for swimming, hiking and especially eating.

Preparing the food is part of the fun—if it's shared. Make sure everyone gets a job and keep the food simple, yet interesting.

Camping isn't a carefree vacation unless you plan well in advance. Checklists of foods, equipment and menus are a must to get everything on the road. If you're planning to fish or can carry frozen fish in your ice chest for a day, you'll want to include French Fish Fillets in your campout cooking menu. Dipped into a flavorful, "tomatoey" dressing, and coated with crunchy cracker crumbs, it's the kind of simple, hearty fare that's just right for cooking over an open fire.

Ingredients and equipment are minimal, and preparation and cooking time are short. Bottled French dressing and cracker crumbs are easy to transport in your traveling kitchen, as they take up little space and do not require special storage. As for equipment, this recipe calls only for standard camping supplies—a bowl for the dressing, a plastic bag for the cracker crumbs, and your faithful iron skillet for cooking.

If French Fish Fillets become a favorite on the trail and you want to repeat the recipe at home, or if you're just not an outdoor cooking buff, try the indoor variation. You'll find this convenience recipe a welcome change of taste at the end of a busy working day.

FRENCH FISH FILLETS

- 1 lb. fish fillets
- Kraft French Dressing
- Cracker crumbs
- Coat fish with dressing; dip in crumbs. Pan fry in Kraft Pure Safflower Oil, 10 to 12 minutes, or until fish flakes easily with a fork.
- Variation: Place fish in a greased baking dish; bake at 450 degrees, 10 to 12 minutes, or until fish flakes easily with a fork.

TIPS AND TIDBITS:

WHILE BARBECUING this summer, try some barbecued corn on the cob. Remove the husk and silk, place in double thickness of foil the number of ears of corn you desire. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and brush with butter and prepared barbecue sauce. Wrap foil tightly, twisting end to seal. Place on grill at medium heat for 20 to 25 minutes, turning frequently.

THE CHEFS at the Black Angus in Minneapolis make their renowned hash brown potatoes using baked potatoes. (The baked variety make the difference!) Potatoes are baked the night before and stored overnight in the refrigerator. The next day, the potatoes are shredded and cooked to a golden brown in vegetable oil. (The oil is repeatedly drained off after the potatoes have been turned.)

CABBAGE is a good source of vitamin C and one-half cup of shredded cabbage contains only 10 calories.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Daily Gratitude

WE ARE LOOKING for the things which will help us realize a reasonable measure of satisfaction in our day-to-day living. Based upon the obvious dissatisfaction among people, we must be having difficulty identifying and finding the things we seek.

In the first place, we are not likely to agree about the things which will provide this daily satisfaction. Nevertheless, there is one thing about which most of us can probably agree, and, unfortunately, it may be one of the things many of us overlook.

THERE IS ONE THING common to all of us which is intended to serve a very useful purpose, or a number of useful purposes in the area of our practical needs for personal well-being and personal effectiveness.

It is a very unusual person who cannot find something for which to be grateful, but finding this something is not the principal difficulty. The problem is in the failure to let our gratitude have its proper place, and serve its rightful purposes.

IN THE MIDST of our daily troubles, problems, disappointments, and such like, we can find something for which to be grateful.

There will be some days when we must put forth more effort in our search, but we can surely find some reason for being grateful.

If we make the mistake of not being grateful, we are lessening our chances for the satisfaction we desire and need. It may be easier for us to be grateful some days than it is on other days; but "daily gratitude" is a must. At all times, the most good comes from letting gratitude have its maximum upon us.

"WHAT UNTHANKFULNESS forget our consolations, and to matters of grievance; to think upon two or three crosses as hundred blessings."—Sibbs.

"DAILY GRATITUDE" is our personal strength, because of the best sources of the strength need; and it also helps us to maintain the good cheer which is much for us and everybody else. Of course, there are other personal to be received from "daily Gratitude has been called "the of virtues".

OUR VIEW OF GRATITUDE not be flippant or nonchalant, but be a serious and sincere one. It is a deep feeling that is transferred, strong and helpful practical life it is intended to be.

We do this by concentrating thought patterns which will troubles and difficulties from gratitude aside. We must "gratitude" from erosion.

THERE IS NO NEUTRAL "Daily gratitude" is present in or we are ungrateful people.

Remember, ingratitude is considered one of the most harmful in one's life.

"INGRATITUDE is abridgement of all baseness, never found unattended with viciousness."—Fuller

"DAILY GRATITUDE" is to the abundant life.

HONEY GRATS

By CORNBALL BLEVIN

A COUPLE of times, within the last several years, I've had opportunity to visit Yosemite Park in central California. The big attraction, there is the famous "World's highest waterfall". It is, indeed, quite a curiosity. Of course you might catch yourself wondering if it is the highest waterfall, or perhaps the lowest. Anyway, it's a long way from the top to the bottom.

I DUTIFULLY STOOD in great awe for some time admiring this wonder, observing the different appearances, due to the wind playing in and out of the water, as it obeyed the law of gravity. Soon, however, I found myself entertaining such inane thoughts as wondering just how they got the water to the top and poured it off to entertain us rubberneekers. Then, "Now, if that water should do an about face, and start flowing up the side of that mountain—that would REALLY be something!"

AFTER WHICH, I turned to my favorite pastime, when in the midst of a bunch of tourists—PEOPLE watching. Also, there were fleeting thoughts of the trip back down that twisting, turning, torturous, two-lane road we'd have to travel getting out of there.

In short, I'd seen the falls doing its thing: Pouring down the side of a mountain and my interests were turning to other things. The second trip, as far as I was concerned, was hardly worth the effort. The falls were still doing same old thing!

WHICH MIGHT ANSWER questions the pollsters are worried about: "Why isn't the population excited about the developments in Watergate case? Why aren't there discussions about the heroes of Kissinger in their dealings with acts of state? Why isn't there anger and demonstrations about flatation?"

The truth of the matter is, that been "Oversensationalized" to the of numbness. Our reflexes are dead.

A PEOPLE who have lived two "World-Wars", several "Actions," a depression following a market collapse, an engineered rise of farm products in order to raise a president's assassination, men on the moon, civil rights demonstrations, riots, killings, a Patty Hearst, and a multi-murderer case with the projected idea that he paroled in a few years, just can't hold interest in such trivial Watergate, statesmanship about flatation!

IT WOULD TAKE something earthshaking to sharpen our interest this point. Like, perhaps, a good soaking rain fallin' all over this country.

WELL, IT'S ONE day closer to the end of the drought, and believe me, I've had about as much of this as I want. Of course I'm not the only one. Dryland farmers have no hope for any income, with the exception of the small check from the government, which in most instances will not cover the expense in farming the dry parched soil, just to keep what few weeds that was able to grow plowed up.

The irrigation farmers have reached the point of no return as far as profit is concerned, as in most instances, their expense will be more than their income and from all indications, these farmers will not collect any kind of check unless some new law will be enacted in the near future.

Some people said this dry weather will last two years and a few have indicated that it will be dry again next year. If we are experiencing a two-year dry cycle, I would like to believe that it started last year, because if you will note, last year was extremely dry with the exception of a rather large rain that fell during the last week in July. With this exception, 1973 was a dry year and our crops were actually grown on the abundant amount of moisture that was received in 1972.

Although I'm not sure as to what 1975 will be in regards to rainfall, I'd be willing to bet that it will be wetter this year.

Of course, we are not the only ones that is experiencing dry weather. Some sections of central Texas, have had less than 50 percent of the average rainfall this year, and in some sections of the Dakotas, especially corn areas, they are experiencing extremely dry weather. One reporter stated that they may lose a great percent of their corn crop because of drought.

ANOTHER PROBLEM: As each morning, the store cashier would the bank to get $50 worth of change put in his cash drawer. That would care of any purchases made which required him to make change.

This time the bank teller was a one. He gave $25 in $1 bills, $20 in $5 bills, and the remaining $5 in coins, consisting of 100 coins.

Upon getting back to the store, the cashier saw upon re-counting the money, that no 5-cent pieces had included. How many of each type of coin did the bank give the store, to make 100 coins without including any nickels?

Debbie Read Returns From Canadian Visit

AMHERST— Debbie E. Read, the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truitt Read, left June 5 and returned July 13, as an exchange student sponsored by the Amherst Lion's Club.

She joined 15 other boys and girls from the area for Blyth, Ontario, Canada. An older girl and boy who had been on a similar trip, accompanied them. They flew from Lubbock to Dallas and Detroit.

From there they went to their destination by bus. They were met by the families, with whom they were to stay. Debbie stayed with Mr. and Mrs. John Nesbit and baby son, Johnny.

Debbie found that the school was different from those in Texas. They have 13 grades, for instance.

She visited Niagara Falls, Toronto, attended two Shakespeare plays and other places of interest with her hosts, the Nesbits.

Three students from Blyth, Ont. were to arrive in Lubbock this weekend. Judy Ives is to come to Amherst. The Lions' Cleo Johnsons, B. L. Burditts and Gene Campbells will be her hosts.

The Read family is in the process of moving to Crosbyton and are enlarging and improving the home they have purchased.

Debbie says that she is grateful and appreciative to the Lions for the opportunity to represent them for the stay at Blyth. She will speak at a meeting of the club soon.

Cook, J. D. Nelson, Bub Stewart, Frances Enloe, Marvin Wagner, W. P. Holland, Sr., Leon Holly, Claud Cook, G. C. Bearden, Gene Priddy, Alvin Mills, Bill Roberson and W. T. Weaver Jr.

The honoree's sister, Mrs. Jerry Toliver, and Terry Lynn and the prospective mother-in-law, Mrs. James J. Warren of Cumby accompanied her here for the shower. They were guests in the Clarence Muncy home.

Clayton Elected Vice Chairman Of Southern Legislative Conf.

State Rep. Bill Clayton (D-Springlake) Friday, July 19, took time from his duties at the Texas Constitutional Convention to win election to the vice-chairman's slot of the Southern Legislative Conference during its annual meeting in San Antonio.

The 450 delegates in attendance at the Conference elected Clayton after naming Virginia's Senator J. Harry Michael Jr., to the chairman's post.

During their four-day meeting, delegates heard from dignitaries as Texas Governor Briscoe and Lt. Governor Hobby, and passed resolutions on such topics as the energy crisis, comprehensive health planning, mass transit, and deficit financing.

The Southern Legislative Conference is the representative organization for state legislators and staff coming from 15 southern states and is an affiliate of the Council of State Governments.

One major role of the Southern Conference is to serve as the intermediary organization between the states and the federal government and to provide for better communications between these two levels.

Clayton, a six term veteran of the Texas House, has served on the Executive Committee of the Southern Legislative Conference for the past year.

In addition to this post, Clayton, a leading contender for Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, was recently elected chairman of the Southern Environmental Resources Conference.

Handle Yourself With Much Care

Of all accidental injuries each year, 17 percent happen to persons 65 and older. These accidents can often be fatal. Older persons are involved in 26 percent of all accidental deaths.

To help older persons do the extra planning necessary for safety, the Administration on Aging has developed "Handle Yourself With Care." This 22-page booklet is available for 40 cents from Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

Falls are the leading cause of accidental deaths and injuries among older persons. Here are some suggested safeguards:

- *Keep traffic lanes through all rooms free from hazards to stumble over.
- *Always light the way ahead when entering a room or going up and down the stairs.
- *Be careful getting into and out of a tub or shower stall. Use a non-skid rubber mat or safety strips in the tub and a non-slip mat beside it. Have a grab bar installed as a help in getting in and out.
- *Get rid of scatter rugs or anchor them firmly with a non-slip mat underneath. Never have small rugs at top or bottom of stairs.
- *Wipe up spilled liquids immediately.

More than 25 percent of all deaths from fires and explosions involve older persons. The booklet gives the following fire prevention suggestions:

- *Don't smoke in bed or anywhere when you are

STRETCH

GASOLINE THIS SUMMER.

Smart motorists are getting the most from every gallon of gasoline. By reducing their usual speed. Avoiding jackrabbit starts and prolonged idling. Checking for proper tire pressure. Keeping their cars in tune. If every driver played it smart and saved just one gallon of gasoline each week, it would save millions of gallons of gasoline. And that's what much of this section is all about.

Six Ways to Stretch Mileage Offered by Noted Race Driver

By JERRY GRANT
Champion Spark Plug Co.
Highway Safety Team

Maybe you believe that a professional race driver giving tips on saving gasoline is like a vegetarian offering advice on how to barbeque a steak. I don't know about the vegetarian and the steak I do know that saving fuel is becoming a vital consideration to those of us who race at the Indianapolis '500' and other tracks around the country.

Since the United States Auto Club, sanctioning body of Indianapolis-type racing, recently reduced the fuel allotment per race car, the driver must be more fuel-conscious than ever. Getting that little extra mileage from a tank of racing fuel can mean the difference between winning a race or being an also-ran.

Since it is my business to know all I can about all kinds of driving, I can pass these fuel saving tips on to you with confidence.

1. Any car I drive, be it at Indy or my own private car, is in best possible shape.

I don't waste a drop of fuel because my engine isn't tuned, my tires aren't properly inflated, my brakes are faulty or any other part of my car isn't functioning the way it should.

The average motorist can't say the same. If he has neglected maintenance he is wasting costly and scarce fuel.

2. Driving fast is the name of my game and I have the skill to do it safely. But I don't drive any faster than absolutely necessary to win. And that's part of the secret of driving with gas economy in mind.

Reducing your highway speed from 70 miles per hour to 50 can save you more than 20 per cent in fuel. With gasoline prices the way they are, you're saving almost four gallons or $2 or more per tankful by cutting speed.

3. If you've ever ridden with a professional race driver, you know that he is an extremely smooth driver, both on and off the track.

He doesn't indulge in gas-wasting jack-rabbit starts. He keeps a steady foot on the gas pedal, doesn't pass erratically or lane hop.

All these maneuvers consume fuel unnecessarily.

4. The successful race driver always anticipates traffic patterns. If you do the same on the road, you'll save gas. Try to "play" traffic lights and don't tailgate to avoid sudden stops and starts.

5. None of you is apt to experience the pit stop where your tank is filled and tires changed in 20 seconds. But avoid, if you can, long periods of idling, either at a service station or any other place.

If you have to wait in your car for more than a few moments, turn off the engine. This holds true at a railroad crossing while waiting for a train or at a market waiting for someone to come out of the store.

Fuel Squandered When Ignition System Fails to Function Well

Any defect in the ignition system is likely to create misfire and a resulting incomplete burning of the fuel. Thus raw gasoline will end up in the exhaust, both squandering fuel and creating pollution.

The role of the ignition system is to convert about 10 volts of primary current from the battery to upwards of 25,000 volts at the spark plug firing end. Any defect in this system producing

As a race driver who needs every competitive advantage I can get to win and as a motorist who loves driving, I am truly concerned with the fuel situation. You can bet I'll be watching my gas gauge more carefully this year and I urge you to do the same.

less voltage is apt to create a misfire.

Common defects that can lead to misfire include worn out or fouled spark plugs, deteriorated plug cables or boots, distributor or coil malfunctions.

If any of these components aren't working right, it is possible that the electrical charge provided won't be sufficient to fire one or more spark plugs. The air-fuel mixture will not be ignited in affected cylinders. So, not only will gas be wasted in non-firing cylinders, but you need to compensate for loss of power by feeding more gas to the functioning cylinders.

Just as Car Needs Check Before Going on Trip, So Does Camera

Just as you would have your car inspected before taking a vacation trip to make sure it's running smoothly, check your camera. Shoot a test roll of film before leaving. If the pictures are satisfactory, you can be reasonably sure the camera is working properly. If not, bring it to a dealer and have him check it over.

When you pack your camera for the trip, the first thing to do is "unpack" it and keep it handy for any photo scene that presents itself en route. It won't help to see just the shot you want if your camera isn't easily available.

A word of advice: film is perishable. Heat and humidity are harmful to film. In summer, don't put your camera or film in the trunk, glove compartment, or on the rear-window deck. The handiest place for your camera equipment is on the seat beside you.

CAR PICTURES

While driving to your camping site, you will want to take some pictures. It is always best to stop the car, but sometimes this is not possible. If you must shoot from a moving car,

While most amateur photographers want bright sunlight to illuminate their still shots or films, some dramatic effects can be obtained on cloudy or partly cloudy days. This is particularly true on beach shots where the white sands can cast an annoying glare when the sun is too bright. (Photo courtesy of Kodak.)

shoot through the front window. If you shoot out of the side window, the foreground of your picture will be blurry. Hold your camera as steady as possible without bracing it against the car, because vibration will blur your pictures.

NATURE PHOTOS

Campers, more than other vacationers, have a love of the outdoors and a feeling for nature. Your pictures should reflect this.

The most attractive nature pictures often are those taken close-up—the flowers in bloom, the shells or unusual rocks your child finds, even the toad he brings back to camp; all are perfect subjects for close-up shots.

MOUNTAINS

Bright sunlight is best for distant mountain vistas, but don't overlook dramatic storm-cloud effects.

Faulty Components Can Cause Drag, Waste Fuel

If you think the gasoline shortage is a drag, then there is something you can do to make it less of one. Make sure critical components of your car are in good condition to eliminate conditions that waste fuel.

For instance, lack of maintenance in areas such as tires, brakes, shocks, wheel alignment and transmission can affect gasoline mileage as well as safety. In some cases, these faulty components help create a "drag" on the engine, thus requiring more gasoline to keep the car running.

Underinflated tires create such a drag. So can poorly adjusted brakes, especially when the driver has a habit of "riding" the brake pedal. Gas-wasting engine drag also can result from improperly aligned wheels.

Worn shocks also can cause road wandering with resultant fuel waste.

Slipping transmission bands or low transmission fluid levels can hinder proper changing of automatic transmission gears, thereby causing fuel wastage.

Neglected, these components can cost you money in premature tire and brake wear as well as possibility of expensive transmission repairs. With the extra bonus of better fuel economy and safety, routine maintenance of these items is more important than ever.

Car Care Key to Keeping Yours on Road

Twin Problems Faced By Motorist Require Better Maintenance

"May I use the car?"

This question is no longer the exclusive property of some teen-ager asking dad for permission to use the family auto. With growing shortages of fuel, restrictions of emission limits and other regulations facing the motorists, soon the whole nation might be asking, "May I use the car?"

As we enter the period of the year when car ownership and operation is most pleasurable — vacation time — the motoring public must face up to some unpleasant facts.

The energy shortage is growing more severe and pessimistic sources predict that the price of a gallon of gasoline may climb even higher in the near future.

Some Positives Emerging

There is talk of revoking the very privilege of driving in certain areas of the country. This is particularly so in locales with high concentrations of cars and with smog-prone climatic conditions.

It may require uncommon optimism to see the flimsiest silver lining in these black clouds but there are some positives emerging from this negative state of affairs.

One such positive is the growing realization on the part of the car owner that there is indeed a "tomorrow" as far as the supply of gasoline is concerned.

The motorist can no longer operate a car without considering the need to conserve fuel.

Therefore, he accepts the fact that he must both drive sensibly and maintain his car to get the best possible fuel economy.

Gasoline prices haven't soared to the point where the fuel will be a substitute for cash at the bank. And a savings account for gas is not one of the services offered by even the most innovative financial institution. But this young motorist and her banker friend demonstrate the fact that up to two gallons of gasoline per tankful can be saved when a car's engine is tuned. Driving sensibly is another sure-fire way of helping to solve the energy shortage.

Carefree summer driving starts with our car care!

TUNE UPS SAVE GAS.

A lot of it. In nationwide fuel economy tests, motorists' cars were tested before and after a tune-up. Results showed that a tune-up with new Champion spark plugs saved, on the average, a gallon of gasoline in every tankful. Considering that 3 of every 5 cars on the road need a tune-up right now, tune-ups alone could save us millions of gallons of gasoline each week.

Tune-ups benefit us in other ways, too. Quicker acceleration for safer passing. Dependable starts. Plus a substantial reduction in emissions.

See your mechanic regularly for a Champion tune-up. Once a year or every 10,000 miles.

Proper Car Care Crucial to Cleaner Air

Federal Environmental Chief Calls Untuned Motor 'Trouble'

By RUSSELL E. TRAIN
Administrator, Environmental Protection Agency

Russell E. Train, Administrator, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Automobiles are an important part of the American way of life. Since the 1920's, while the population of the United States doubled, the number of automobiles has increased 800 percent.

Today we have nearly 100 million registered automobiles in this country, virtually one for every two persons. And three out of every four Americans are licensed to drive those automobiles. Our entire way of life has been restructured, especially since the end of World War II, to accommodate the tremendous increase in the number of automobiles and the mobility which they afford. We have built our lives around the automobile and are now almost totally dependent upon some form of personal transportation.

Relying on the automobile's capabilities most of us have situated ourselves beyond practical walking or cycling distances of relatives, friends, jobs, stores, churches, medical and recreational facilities, libraries and theaters. And on top of this, in most areas public transit today is either inadequate or nonexistent.

Major Pollutants
As a result the automobile has become the single most important source of three major air pollutants.

It is estimated that in 1971, on a nationwide basis, gasoline powered motor vehicles contributed 43 percent of the hydrocarbons, 62 percent of the carbon monoxide, and 31 percent of the nitrogen oxide emitted into the air.

In many cities, however, these motor vehicles contributed far more than the national averages — reaching the 90 percent range in some cities.

The Clean Air Act of 1970 requires the automobile industry to reduce these emissions by at least 90 percent by 1976, as compared with 1970 or 1971 emission levels.

Even with these major reductions, the Environmental Protection Agency has determined that more than 35 metropolitan areas in the United States, having a combined population of 88 million, would not be able to meet the health-related air quality standards of the Clean Air Act by the law's 1975 deadline unless stricter controls were imposed on pollution sources.

Half Reach Goal
About one-half of these cities can reach their goals by being tougher on stationary sources, primarily industrial and commercial facilities, and through transit improvements, parking restrictions and automotive inspection and maintenance programs.

Proper engine maintenance, enforced by sound inspection programs, is an important part of every community's effort to reduce and control air pollution. The amount of pollution reduction through inspection and maintenance programs varies among cities because nearly every city has to cope with circumstances somewhat different from the others.

Portland, Oregon anticipates a 12 percent reduction in pollutants through its inspection and maintenance program; Denver and Sacramento look for about a 7 percent reduction and Boston about 3 percent.

Annual emissions inspection in State-operated facilities will cost an estimated $2 per vehicle. Annual maintenance costs are expected to be in the $20 to $30 range for vehicles which fail the inspection test. Most of this maintenance is routine work which would normally have been performed voluntarily by prudent motorists.

In addition to the pollution-control benefits, the Department of Interior estimates that an auto tuneup every six months will cut American oil consumption by 140,000 barrels a day.

A properly tuned car may seem like a small way to cope with today's pollution and energy problems. And yet such an ordinary procedure may well be crucial in many situations. Of all the transportation control strategies devised to reduce air pollution, the one which causes the most public concern — because it entails the greatest personal inconvenience — is the "Reduction of Vehicle Miles Traveled."

Means "Drive Less"
In plain language, that means taking steps to insure that people drive less. New York, Los Angeles, Baltimore and Washington, D.C. have included such measures in their plans. Obviously, the more pollution can be controlled through other measures, the less need there will be for more stringent controls.

An untuned car can, indeed, be a lot of trouble.

ADVICE TO WOMEN

who DRIVE...and MEN, Too... from DeDe BENNON... a woman who does

Dear Dede:
I am a minister in a small town which I do not wish to identify. Along with a small salary, I am provided with a car. I receive no allowance for gasoline, oil, or regular maintenance of the car. Frankly on what I earn, I cannot afford the new tires, brake job and new shocks that the car desperately needs. I really fear for my safety every time I go out in the car which is extensively used in my calling. I do not want to appear to be ungrateful or to make it seem I am asking our congregation for more money. Do you have any suggestions?

THE PARSON
(Toson Withheld)

Dear Parson:
From the work your car requires now and will need soon, it appears that a dent of several hundred dollars would be put in your budget. Admittedly that's a large sum of money for a minister to spare. But, don't be afraid of discussing the matter with your Church Board. I am certain they don't want their minister involved in a tragic accident. Perhaps they can make some arrangement with congregants who are in the auto repair business to maintain the car. No matter who must pay for the repairs, future high repair costs can be anticipated by using a monthly savings plan, that is putting aside a certain amount of money each month exclusively for car expenses. Some months, there will be a big surplus in the fund. Other months you'll need to tap the till. Respectfully suggest that your church set aside a modest monthly stipend of $25 or so each month to maintain their car which is on loan to you.

Dear Dede:
Can you help me win an argument with my dad? I've taken and passed driver training and am ready to get my license. But my father thinks I am not ready for a license. Not because I can't drive well (he admits that I do). But he insists I show him I know how to change a tire and "jump" start a car before he'll let me get a license. He says a young lady has no business taking a chance of being stranded with a flat tire or a car that won't start. I think he's just using this as an excuse for me not to drive his car. Can't you tell my dad he's wrong since he does read your column.

CHERYL V.
Columbia, Mo.

Dear Cheryl:
Your dad's attitude may be unique but I can't say I completely disagree with him. It's too bad that more driver training classes don't spend more time teaching about car care, and simple repairs. Changing a tire and using a booster cable properly should be easy for anyone in decent physical condition — male or female. Since you don't indicate you are anything but a normally healthy young lady, why not give it a try. Show dad you can change that tire and start a car with a cable. Good luck driving.

Tune-up:—A Car Care Service That Brings Prompt Pay-Off

QUESTION: What automotive service begins paying for itself once it is performed?
ANSWER: An engine tune-up.

In these days of skyrocketing gasoline prices, the money saved on gas after a tune-up is performed actually can recoup the cost of the tune-up itself. In addition, bonus benefits from a freshly tuned engine include lower emissions, better passing performance and surer starting.

According to figures issued by Champion Spark Plug Company which contain research findings on the effects of tune-up on car operation:

- Tests show that an 8.2 per cent improvement in gasoline economy can be achieved with a tune-up, when compared to driving a car that's traveled more than 10,000 miles since the last tune-up. Thus, nearly two gallons of gas per tankful can be saved by a newly tuned engine.

- Champion Idle emission tests revealed a tuned engine produced 57 per cent less carbon monoxide and 48 per cent less hydrocarbons than engines in need of tune-up. Corresponding reductions also were realized at driving speeds.

- Champion tests showed the following increase in passing performance following an overdue tune-up. There was an average 8.6 per cent increase in engine power which would allow the car to pass another vehicle in 8.0 per cent less distance.

- Tuned engines showed improved starting efficiency according to Champion tests. Untuned engines ex-

Pre-Vacation Car Check Major Step to Safe Trip

No one would think of mailing a valuable package without making sure it was wrapped carefully and completely protected. Yet if statistics are correct, most people aren't as careful when sending their most precious possession on a long journey.

If that invaluable cargo is a family and the carelessly prepared container is a car, then odds are almost even that there is at least one serious defect in that vehicle. The odds are based on reports from official vehicle inspection agencies showing approximately one out of every two cars cannot pass simple safety checks.

To help make certain you and your loved ones have a safe and breakdown-free trip, here's a list of items to check with your favorite service outlet before you depart.

BRAKES, TIRES AND WHEELS: Have brake linings inspected, check fluid levels and seals and adjust brakes. Check tires for excessive wear or visible signs of damage. If needed, rotate the tires. Also, check wheel alignment.

perience twice as many "won't starts" as tuned engines and required an average 15.4 per cent more time to start.

So, in the words of many automotive experts, "Tune-ups don't cost. They pay."

Spark plugs should be serviced every 5,000 miles and changed every 10,000.

VISION: Check windshield wipers, headlights, turn signals, back-up and brake lights to make sure they are in good condition. Make sure washer reservoirs are filled and that all glass and mirrors are clean.

COOLING SYSTEM: Clean out and flush the cooling system and refill with new coolant, and rust inhibitor if needed. Check the thermostat, fan belt and water pump. Inspect all belts and hoses and condition of the radiator cap.

LUBRICATION: If needed, change the oil and oil filter. As part of an overall chassis lubrication, check transmission and differential fluids, front wheel bearings, locks and hinges.

TUNE-UP: If it has been more than 10,000 miles since your last tune-up, have one performed. As part of the tune-up check compression, coil output, charging rate of generator or alternator, install new spark plugs, inspect plug wires and boots, service and replace distributor components, service carburetor, check emission system and replace air cleaner. Also check battery and cables, cranking, starting and operating voltages and electrical wiring.

Brake up your car for summer.

Now's a good time to bring your car in and let us check over its complete brake system. To make sure its brake-power is up to all the stops ahead.
