ElectriCar Corp Ready For Orders

By NILAH RODGERS
Leader-News Staff Writer

A noiseless, cordless, light-weight lawnmower with touch-of-the-switch starting--add a built-in grass catcher to that and the sum is the EMV ElectriCar Corporation's new electric lawn mower that will go into production here in Littlefield in the very near future.

Tentatively called E-Z Mo, the rechargeable, battery-operated mower was designed and built by Glenn Cowser, vice president and head of design and development of the ElectriCar Corporation.

The body of the lawnmower is constructed of fiberglass, exactly like the ElectriCar, and is powered by a 6-volt high amp battery that can't be over-charged.

Cotton Whatley, inventor of the EMV ElectriCar and president of the EMV Corporation, was in Littlefield Thursday to demonstrate the production model of the lawn mower that has just undergone testing for nine weeks.

The mower is plugged into any electrical outlet after use and is always ready to go with just the flick of a switch. It cuts an 18-inch swath, and is so quiet, its motor purrs like a big cat.

Whatley has been mowing his 87' x 150' yard without using half the power from one charge. After mowing, the mower is plugged in so that it is always ready to use, and without the bothersome and dangerous electric cord. The battery is designed so there can be no over-charging or deterioration of batteries from an overcharge.

The charger is 1" x 4 1/4" and is built into the cap of the lawnmower and fits between the battery and the motor, handy to plug in for a charge without any danger of connecting to the wrong post and shorting.

If things go as planned, full-scale manufacture of the rechargeable lawn mower will be in operation in an existing building in Littlefield far in advance of the next lawn mowing season.

In addition to manufacturing the lawn mower, electric golf carts and interplant vehicles will also begin here soon.

Manufacture of both the lawnmower and/or the golf cart and interplant vehicle will begin before the manufacture of the ElectriCar.

The golf cart and the electrically charged, battery operated vehicles that will be used inside big plants will have a motor like the one that will be used on the lawn mower.

The marketing potential for both the lawn mowers and the interplant vehicles is fantastic, Whatley said.

"There are 80 MILLION lawn mowers in the U. S.," Whatley said, "and 25 per cent of these are replaced every year, figuring the life of a mower at four years (the average is three). That means 20 million lawn mowers are bought every year. A new lawn mower on the market could figure on getting from one to 10 per cent of these 20 million sold."

"If we could get just one per cent, that would mean 200,000 mowers produced here in Littlefield every year."

Whatley has good leads for sales lined up and customers waiting to see the production model. One firm showing interest has 6,000 retail outlets. Other inquiring companies have fewer stores, but those with numerous and scattered sales are what the EMV Corporation are looking for.

Manufacture should begin here this fall so that the lawn mower can be on the market before grass cutting season arrives next spring.

The mower will retail for under $100, a comparable price to gas and electric mowers offering similar features.

Anyone interested in distributorship or further information along this line may call the EMV Corporation in Amarillo, 806-372-1471, or write EMV Corporation, Box 287, Amarillo, or contact the ElectriCar Corporation, Box 1046 in Littlefield.

Whatley recently returned from showing the ElectriCar in a car show in New York City. The car was on display eight days and 50,000 persons per day attended the show.

The ElectriCar was the only electric car in the show and Whatley described the public reception to the car as "fantastic and beautiful," adding that the car that is soon to be produced in Littlefield attracted more attention than other displays.

At the showing, Borg Warner hired a poll taker to feel the public's pulse concerning reception to the ElectriCar. According to the poll, 40 per cent of those questioned said they would buy the car right now at the price suggested.

Whatley said simplicity of the car has been reduced 50 per cent since this time last year. There is no longer a s'ck shift in the car. "Instead, everything is in the foot feed," Whatley said.

Although manufacture of the ElectriCar here has been delayed, EMV and ElectriCar Corporation officials are enthusiastic over recent developments.

FATHER'S DAY is a happy day for Richard Eddings, because he "finally" gets to hold his first child today. Until today, he's only been able to look through the nursery window to see who his daughter resembles. Holding Kristi LeAnn is Mrs. Barbara Simington, Littlefield Hospital nurse. Kristi LeAnn was born at 10:55 a.m. Tuesday, weighed six pounds and nine ounces, and was 20 inches long.

Tax Data Processing Let To Plainview Co.

Data Service of Texas, Inc. of Plainview was awarded the city's tax data processing service for the upcoming year, during the regular city council meeting Thursday night.

Theirs was a low bid of 18 cents per line, and the company which is presently doing the account, Business Data Processing of Lubbock, did not present a bid.

Another company was interested, but did not want to bid on the required specifications.

Councilmen discussed information received from the Texas Highway Department, concerning the pedestrian crossing on Highway 84 (business) at the intersection of Weidel Street.

The department notified councilmen that installation of two flasher lights and a timer would cost approximately $2,500. Councilmen felt this was too much to spend, and decided to re-stripe the crossing before school starts again.

A patrolman will be stationed at the crossing during, before and after school hours when children would be going and coming from school.

Newspapers Take Top TPA Honors

Leader-News Publisher Bill Turner is returning today from Houston, where he has been attending the 1970 Summit Convention of the Texas Press Association in the Astro-dome.

He'll be bringing three pieces of "hardware" to place alongside several other honors the paper has won in past years.

He called the office Friday afternoon to let us know The Leader-News took General Excellence--the "big one"--for towns in Texas with 5,000 to 8,000 population.

In other divisions, The Leader-News won first place plaques for "appearance" and "news writing", and three third place certificates--"news pictures", "column writing", and "feature writing".

Another Lamb County paper, The Earth News-Sun, won second place for "appearance", in their category, under 2,000 population.

Only four weekly papers in the state took General Excellence honors. The other three are The Naples Monitor, under 2,000 population; The Friona Star, from 2,000 to 5,000 population; and the San Marcos Record, more than 8,000 population.

The Levelland Sun-News won General Excellence in the small town dailies category--cities with less than 15,000 population, and the Galveston News won the General Excellence award for large city dailies--more than 15,000 population.

Cancer Research Methods Discussed At Annual Meet

JOELLA LOVVORN
Editor, Leader-News

Dr. H. J. Sannan told approximately 75 delegates and guests at the District 3-5 annual luncheon session of the American Cancer Society Thursday, "Your American Cancer Society is making fast advances to find the jig-saw pieces to the puzzle of the cause of cancer."

Delegates from over a 20-city region attended the one-day sessions of planning, education and election of new district directors prior to the luncheon session in Littlefield High School cafeteria.

Dr. Sannan, a Denver, Colo. physician who is area vice president for medical affairs of the American Cancer Society, reviewed several new techniques which are being studied in both early detection of cancer and body tissues and the control of the advanced cancer.

He emphasized the fact that cancer cells could be detected in the first or second stages of mitosis (division) instead of the last stages as they usually are found, control of that might be positive.

He went on to say that a cancer usually produces symptoms in the last quarter of its life cycle.

He told of 25 drugs which are being studied in chemotherapy treatment. He says these drugs are very toxic and are being studied in how they kill cancer cells in a particular stage of mitosis.

A better form of x-ray treatment is being researched at Los Alamos, with the use of a proton linear accelerator which produces, as a by-product, negative pions. These pions are being tested in physics labs on the effects they may have on cancerous tissue.

The $60-million accelerator is due to be completed by July, 1971.

He stated that $61 1/2 million was collected in the last Cancer Crusade, and that $70 million is desperately needed to finance research.

In breaking down the normal Cancer Society dollar, he explained that one-sixth of the dollar goes for finances and crusade, one-sixth to patients and communication, one-third to public and professional service, and one-third to research, "the key to control."

"About $450,000 was returned to Texas for research during the last campaign," he emphasized.

In conclusion, he reminded his audience that false hope should not be given to cancer victims, but intensive studies are gradually filling in the center of the zig-zag puzzle.

Dr. Sannan is a graduate of the University of Montana and the University of Illinois.

His most recent assignment, prior to joining the American Cancer Society, was as consultant in surgery at the Lyndon B. Johnson Tropical Medical Center of American Samoa.

He also served as assistant clinical professor of surgery at the University of Hawaii School of Medicine.

Delegates to the meeting elected three district directors to represent them on the State Board of the Society. Elected were Hubert Henry of Lamb County, from Littlefield; Mrs. Pete McLaughlin of Hale County, from Plainview; and Cadman Chaffin, M.D. of Lubbock County, from Lubbock.

Mrs. C. L. Houchin of Earth will serve as president of the Lamb County Unit next year.

New Money From Old Newspapers

The next time you take up the rug in great-grandma's living room and find some newspapers there, don't throw them away. They might be worth a considerable amount of money. Or, if you have the space to store them safely and want to put something away for your grandchildren, keeping current copies of newspapers on days that will be big in future history could be a very good investment.

So reports writer Tom Mahoney, a collector of old newspapers himself, in a recent edition of "Antiques Journal" magazine.

The reason newspapers become valuable in time, reports Tom Mahoney, is because they are rather big and bulky and are vulnerable to fire and dampness, and so most people including public libraries tend to get rid of the papers before they are very old. As a result, some old newspapers are of priceless value, and even some rather recent vintage papers can bring a tidy sum. A copy of the early edition of the Nov. 3, 1948 Chicago Tribune with the eight-column headline "Dewey Defeats Truman" recently brought $150.00 at auction, and collectors are already paying cash money for Dallas newspapers printed the day of President Kennedy's assassination.

If perchance you should find in a dusty attic trunk a copy of any American newspaper published before the American Revolution in '76, you can name your own price. There were thirty-seven newspapers (all weeklies) in course of publication as of April 19, 1775, (the day of the battles of Lexington and Concord) and only twenty of them survived the war. Highly prized is the Pennsylvania Evening Post of July 6, 1776, which published the text of the Declaration of Independence on the front page and two runover pages.

Saving newspapers on the dates of births, weddings, graduations, etc. of members of the family can be a great hobby, and although they may never be of great value to anyone else, they will certainly become priceless to future generations of the family tree. And if you want to make a good friend friendlier, just send him a tear-sheet of a paper mentioning his name or some news item in which he is interested.

All of which tends to prove something we have contended right along: your newspaper is a good investment, almost any way you want to read it.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Move Over

By BOB WEAR

MOST OF THE NOISY PEOPLE are blaming the wrong people, or the wrong things. They push and shove and yell and destroy, but their general life situation does not improve. They are still the same persons with the same problems, limitations, misunderstandings and the same short-sighted views. They may have damaged themselves by their actions.

THEY JUDGE OTHER PEOPLE: they berate other people; they threaten and cajole; but they do not help themselves or anybody else. They are actually creating a social climate that seems to deteriorate a little every time they explode.

They build barriers which hold them back, and they, at the same time, make themselves weaker by mispent time, misused energy and distorted attitudes.

THEY FRUSTRATE THEMSELVES, because they seem to expect such great accomplishments, but are fully aware that nothing of value has been gained.

They move from one target to another as if to say "this is the culprit, this is the obstacle in my way."

After the new flurry of complaining, and bemoaning, and destroying dies down; they are still just as they were, or perhaps worse. So, the frustration brings forth more frustration.

THEY CENSURE AND CONDEMN, but they help neither themselves nor others.

Much of the irreparable damage they do is seen at once, but only the passing of time will reveal how very much has been lost.

THE MOST CENSORIOUS are generally the least judicious, or deserving, who, having nothing to recommend themselves, will be finding fault with others.--No man envies the merit of another who has enough of his own.--The Rule of Life. They stand in their own way, but they are always yelling for others to get out of their way.

They work against themselves, but they imagine that somebody else or everybody else is working against them. They waste time, and opportunity, and energy; and then very indignantly charge that they have been cheated.

They make foolish choices, and then howl about unfair treatment. They need to move over.

THEY ARE BLIND to the fact that everybody has obstacles and difficulties to face as we move toward our special goals, and the general fulfillment of life's purpose. These obstacles and difficulties are usually realistic, but not overwhelming.

THE COMPLAINERS and trouble-makers blame circumstances, or other people for setbacks and failures.

Some, perhaps many, assume the view that fate is against them. The unvarnished truth is that they usually stand in their own way.

ONE OF THE FIRST THINGS all of us must do, if we wish to live successfully, is give ourselves a fair chance.

This means that we must stand aside so we will not be in our own way. Once this is done, we will, at least, be able to move along the way, everything seems to be in his way.--Thoreau.

We may know the truth of this conclusion from experience. If not we know it from observation of human behavior.

THE SELF-CENTERED PERSON is always his own most difficult obstacle.

He can never see life in the best perspective or live in the most satisfactory way until he "moves over" out of his own way.

'Real Life Drama'

Two elderly Littlefield men literally risked their lives and helped save the lives of 17-year-old Mike Montgomery and Calvin Jones, 32, Wednesday afternoon.

Comer Hall and Rufus Truelock were on the scene first, after a grain truck struck the Cox Furniture pickup at the intersection of the Highway 84 overpass and the Levelland Highway. Hall, who has had four heart attacks, said the wreck almost caused another.

Hall operates the 66 service station at the corner of the loop access road and the interstate highway. "I was sitting right there in that chair," Hall said, "and I saw the truck approaching. I thought 'old boy, you're going to have to bring her to a stop in a hurry if you make it'.

Then I saw the pickup coming from the south and about that time the truck hit it. "That pickup was on fire by the time it quit rolling. By the time I got there with a fire extinguisher, fire was lapping out from under the hood near the windshield and around the side through a crack in the door into the cab right next to the younger boy's head. I couldn't bear the thought of them burning."

Truelock arrived and yelled, "My God, man, let's get those men out of there." But the doors were jammed and the flames were getting higher.

"The big man was sitting up straight against the steering wheel," Hall said, "but I couldn't get him to move a muscle."

Hall made another trip back to the service station for another fire extinguisher and Andy Stovall from R & W Supply arrived with two 20-pound fire extinguishing cylinders.

It was only later that the men learned the reason that the fire kept coming back--the gas tank was ruptured.

Montgomery was removed and put on the ground. Truelock backed his pickup up to the wrecked pickup and Jones was put on the tailgate and driven a short distance away in the event of an explosion.

Those involved said they were afraid to move the injured men and afraid not to move them.

PAUL HARVEY

Not Alluring

GUESS WHAT NUDISTS have to do to make themselves alluring? Did you hear about the two Peeping-Tom scientists who've been visiting nudist colonies around the United States?

For eight years. EXAMING 2,600 nudists. That would have to get boring. Anyway, as I started to say, these researchers--out to write a book, what else?--have been going around to nudist colonies. Dr. William Harman of California State College and his assistant, Miss Marilyn Fithian.

AMONG OTHER FINDINGS which these scholars have added to our scientific knowledge is that lady nudists are as "well adjusted as any group of American women," neither more nor less.

But they found male nudists, generally, less well adjusted. The part of their report which I thought might be significant to you these sociologists make no attempt to explain; that many nudists--to make themselves alluring to their mates--have to put clothes on.

WELL, ONE RESEARCHER was researching this subject a long time before these sociologists, the late Gypsy Rose Lee. And she could have saved them a lot of time. On stage since the age of 4, it was she who originated the so-called strip tease. But hers was always "10% strip and 90% tease."

This practical student of sex stimuli said "Bare flesh bores men."

SO MUCH FOR THAT. An organization of women called

DOWN TO EARTH Abortion

By JIMMY R. ALLEN

ONE OF THE HOTLY debated issues before Texans is that of legalizing more options for allowing the performance of abortions.

The issue was dramatically thrust before the conscience of the world with the tragedy of the thalidomide pregnancies. Citizens the world over discussed whether it was morally justifiable to bring into the world children deformed as a result of man's misuse of chemicals.

UNDER TEXAS LAW, the only justification of abortion is a threat to the life of the mother.

Doctors then can agree to abort the pregnancy. Those who propose a broadening of these restrictions point out that expectant mothers who are victims of rape or incest have no provision for legally terminating a pregnancy. Neither does the mother who's psychic health is at stake.

PROponents of MORE liberal abortion laws point to the fact that life is being cheapened by the massive number of illegal pregnancies encouraged by unrealistic laws. They also contend that the lives of other children in the family may be threatened by pregnancy, if it breaks down the emotional stability of the mother.

FEW PEOPLE PROPOSE the removal of all restrictions on abortion. There is some trend toward this in other areas of the world. However, the issue facing Texans does not center in totally abandoning restrictions on the process of abortion. The proposed changes in Texas' laws include the placing of responsibility for judgment on a panel of three to five doctors, the inclusion of victims of rape and incest, and the consideration of the mental

A WOMAN'S VIEW

Father

By PEARL BRANDON

TODAY IS FATHER'S DAY and my thoughts go back to my own dear father who passed away a few years ago.

My Daddy, (or Papa, as we called him), came from Tennessee to Oklahoma before statehood. It was a new country with very few roads or schools. He was a real pioneer.

He got up petitions to build and built the first two schools I went to.

THE FIRST FARM we owned was virgin soil covered with timber. He cut logs from the land and hauled them to the saw-mill and made the lumber to build our first home.

He, with the help of my mother and we children, cleared and broke out our fields.

We worked hard all winter to get them ready to plow and plant in the spring.

MY FATHER and mother were married more than 65 years and in all that time I never heard Papa speak a cross word to Mama.

There were nine of us children but there was always plenty of love to go around.

Although he was firm, he was a kind, jolly man and stood for what was right in his community.

I would like to dedicate this poem to him and other fathers like him.

I'm thinking tonight, dear Daddy of mine. Of the time when I was a child, If time could turn back and let me again

Be your little girl for a while. Let me live again in the house that you built

From logs that you hauled to the mill That were cut from the land that we cleared ourselves

So the loamy rich soil we might till.

I can see you now, as you toiled with the plow,

And trooping along down the row, To smell the fresh earth and to pick out the worms,

We children behind you would go. I remember the house that was built for its strength:

The porch and the large airy hall, The fireplace so grand, where we would all crowd around,

A circle unbroken, we all.

The years have gone by and we're scattered afar,

But we will always remember, I know, The house that you built, the home that you made

With mother, though old we may grow. We'll not forget the hands that have toiled,

The kind heart beating so true; My dearest memories, dear Daddy of mine,

Are of my Mother and YOU.

THE PHILOSOPHER

A Solution

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm takes another look at the problems of big cities this week.)

Dear editor! According to an article I read in a newspaper last night which I'd pulled off the side of my tractor earlier in the day after it was blown there by a warm summer breeze--I've always said if you leave a tractor standing in one spot long enough it'll pay off, how many newspapers have you seen a moving tractor catch? --the mayors of most of the big cities of the nation met in a convention the other day and nearly every one of them reported the same thing: they're out of money.

"The cities are simply out of cash," they said, "and if we don't get help we face bankruptcy."

The answer, they said, was for Washington to spend less on the military, big highways and farm subsidies and give the difference to the cities.

Since Washington knows all cities want military protection, that every one of them wants more highways leading into them, and that farm subsidies are being cut anyway, the answer may not lie with Washington. The mayors, in fact, are behind the times. They do not see the trend of civilization.

I'll explain. When the first glimmering upsurge of civilization in this country began, a man in trouble had to look mostly to himself. Then as more people moved in he could look to his neighbor, then to the court house, then to the state capital, and finally to Washington.

Now everybody is looking to Washington so much Washington has to look the other way.

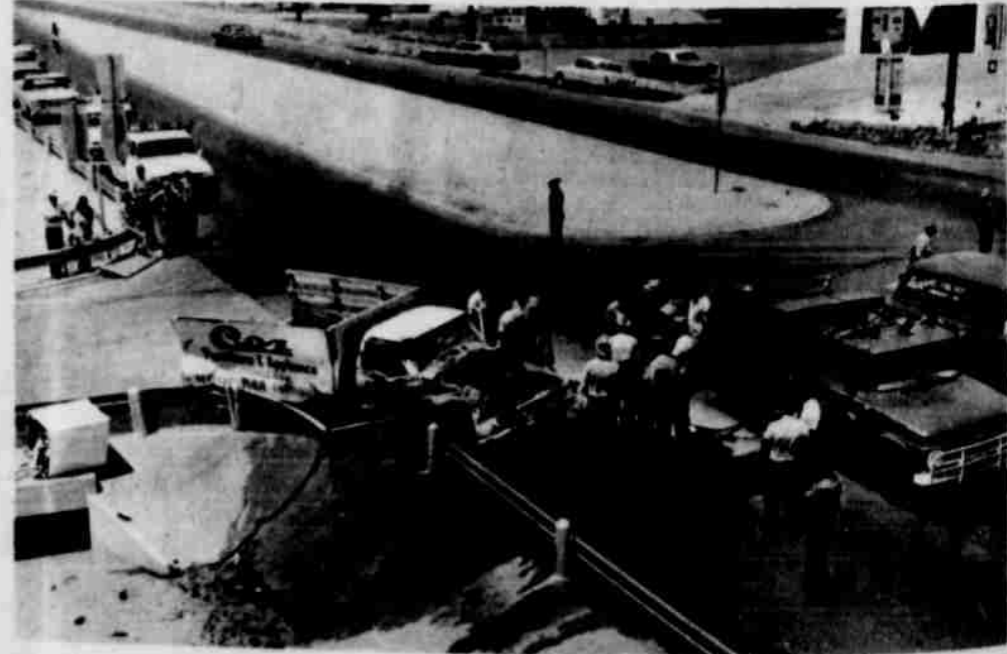

But which way? Obviously Washington needs is some place definite to look itself, and right there is where I have a solution to offer.

What everybody needs is a world capital where we all can look when we're out of money. The mayors ought to realize that when their citizens turn to them and they turn to Washington, Washington's got to have some place to turn also.

I don't know where to put this world capital, probably on some island as we sure don't want it around here. Not in Littlefield.

How would you feel if all the big city mayors threw up their hands and said the job was too big for them and Washington has got to help, and Washington in turn threw up its hands and said it was too big for it and it guessed it would have to look to Littlefield?

Yours faithfully, J. A.

TWO WERE INJURED in this Cox Furniture truck Wednesday afternoon, after a 1959 International tractor and trailer ran through a stop sign to the right, east of the picture and knocked the furniture truck into the guard rails. Calvin Jones, 32, driver, received back injuries and Mike Montgomery, 17, a passenger, received severe head and leg lacerations and injuries. Driver of the tractor was not injured. The fire department was called out to extinguish a blaze on the furniture truck.

WORSHIP IN CHURCH

and get a spiritual lift for the whole week

It is Father's Day! May we honor the guy whose heart is as tender as a woman's... the fellow whose respect is as genuine as that of a mother. This nationally celebrated day for Father didn't come too soon. For Dad is the guy who dared the wilds of the forest and the death-dealing miseries of the prairie, to insure added comforts for Mom, and Sue, and Dan. The taming of the west is actually the story of gruff old 'Pop' in his triumph over difficulty and danger to make a finer future for those he loved. He was the hardy pathmaker for our feet. Gifts for Father? Yes, but much better would be a gracious, kind word of thanks for all his sacrifices through the year. On this celebrated day, say a prayer to the great Father God, for happiness and comradeship that will soften the burdens of the remaining years, and make the last ones truly his most Golden Years.
