

Nixon's Resignation Generates Mixed Emotions In Residents

what could be termed "a feeling of relief." Lamb County citizens accepted the resignation of Richard M. Nixon with the swearing in of Gerald R. Ford as the nation's 38th president.

"I'm glad it's over," Joe Carlisle said Monday morning. Talking to various people throughout the day proved that most people are "glad it's over" pretty well. People's feelings about the turn of events were mixed.

Nixon's resignation didn't come as a great big surprise, talk of Thursday morning rain showers competed with state of affairs in coffee shops.

In fact, the subject of Nixon's resignation hasn't even come up," said District Clerk Ray Lynn Britt as she sipped coffee in the district judge's library Friday morning. "The subject was discussed quite a bit yesterday, but no one has mentioned it here this morning," she added.

After a brief pause, court reporter Bob Rogers said, "I just don't feel like discussing it. That's weird. But that's the way I really feel about it. I'm just glad this thing is over."

"I hated to see it happen," said insurance man Bill Kelly, "but there isn't anything I can do about it."

Buster Feagley is a farmer who's glad to see an end to Watergate talk. "I'm glad it's over," Feagley said. "Now I hope they get down to handling business without the government talking Watergate."

"Looks like Nixon sold out a little cheap to me," former sheriff Dick Dyer said.

"Resignation looks like about the best way out," Tax Assessor-collector Herbert Dunn said. "He was pretty sure of impeachment."

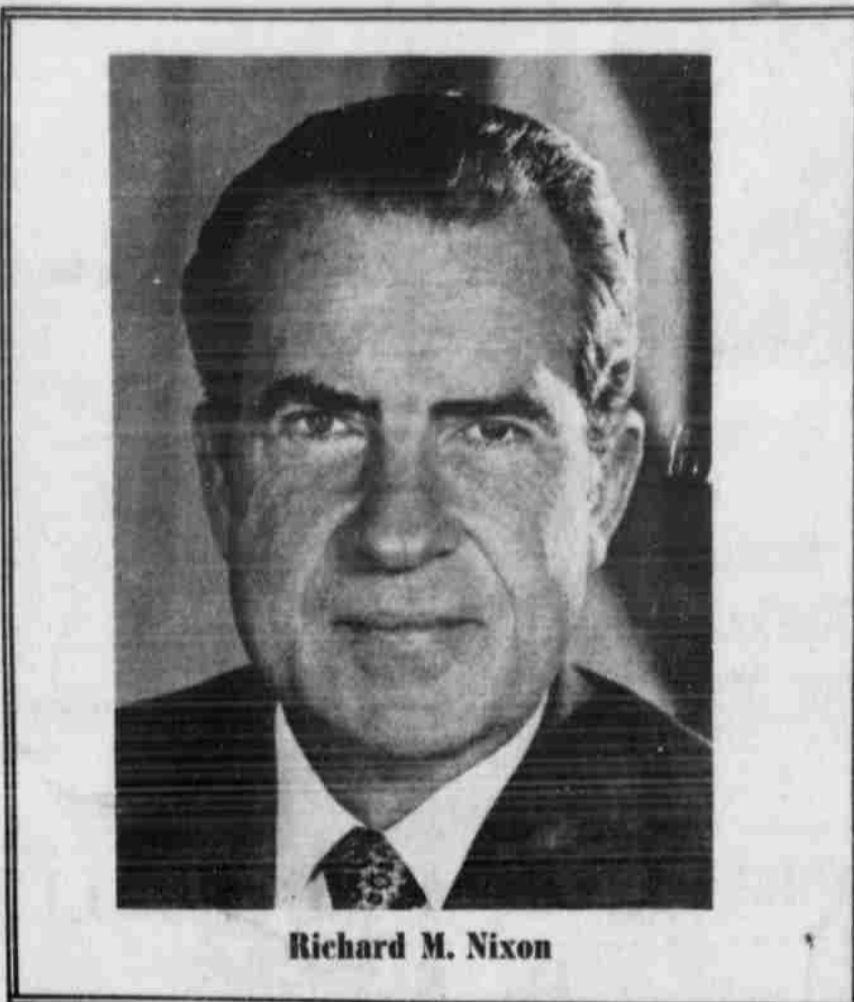

Resignation of the American public came about the same time as Mr. Nixon's resignation. Call it resignation, acceptance, or apathy, but Friday was just another day as far as most were concerned. Any expressed emotion was apt to be a sigh of relief.

There was some speculation about what type president Gerald Ford will make. And some aren't willing to let the matter of the former president's guilt alone. Others have heard all they want to hear and hope the powers that be let the charges die.

"I sure think he should be tried just like all the men under him," said Mary Beth Willey.

"It's a sad state of affairs," Paul Carmickel said. "Maybe he should be granted immunity. I just don't know."

Or maybe it is like many say. "Nixon's already been tried by the press and crucified by the networks."

Linda Jones Hospitalized After Vehicle Hit By Truck-Tractor

Linda Jones was taken to Littlefield Hospital by ambulance Thursday evening after the station wagon she was driving was hit by a Mack truck-tractor 1.8 miles south of Littlefield on U.S. 385.

According to Highway Patrolman Santiago Robles, Linda's husband, David Jones was in his pickup driving in front of the truck and both were traveling south when Jones saw his wife approaching him from the north. Jones said he was driving with his cruise control on and applied his brakes to release the controls.

When the truck driver, Donald Carrol Reed of Odessa, saw the red brake lights on Jones' pickup, Reed applied his brakes on the oil transport truck. The truck started into a jack knife.

Mrs. Jones started pulling the station wagon to her right and the truck and wagon collided with the left truck fender striking the left side of the wagon.

When Jones saw what was happening he made a quick U-turn and stuck his pickup in the bar ditch. The accident occurred about 6:30 p.m. and at that time about a half inch rain had fallen and light rain was falling.

The accident was a quarter of a mile north of the Jones residence and just inside the Lamb County line.

Mrs. Jones received cuts on the left side of her face and left thigh. She was not seriously injured.

Littlefield city police investigated an accident at 4:06 Monday afternoon involving a truck-trailer pulling a combination tandem trailer.

Rudford Venable of Bovina was pulling the trailer when the hitch broke at the intersection of U.S. 84 and FM 54. The trailer broke the guard rail and rolled onto the entrance to U.S. 84. There were no personal injuries.

In other activity at the Littlefield police station, Neil Gowen of 721 E. 6th reported the theft of a 35 horsepower boat motor valued at $450.

Loans are to be made through regular agencies at their own rate of interest. The only part of the government will be to guarantee the loan up to eighty per cent value. Loans will be made to producers.

Loans are to be made on a first-come, first-served basis.

Livestock producers who need the loan should make application to their private bank or other lending institution. Applications can also be made at the Farmers Home Administration office, but since the FHA does not actually make the loan, it can only offer assistance in securing a private loan.

There are no special low interest rates in the program. Interest rates are between the borrower and lender.

Producers making application must supply a financial statement, a list of security items with appraisals, and personal certification that a loan is needed in order to continue operating.

Loans guaranteed under this act are payable in not more than three years, but may be renewed for not more than two additional years.

Loans are to be secured by security adequate to protect the government's interests.

West-Synatschk Vows Exchanged In Sudan

BEAUTY

surrounds the visitor to our home. This atmosphere of serenity in our environment is a source of inspiration to the bereaved.

HAMMONS FUNERAL HOME

Miss Jana Gail West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard West of Sudan, and James Alton Synatschk, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Shockley of Ropesville, were united in marriage Saturday, August 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Sudan with Rev. Eddie Freeman, pastor, officiating.

The couple exchanged double ring vows beneath an archway decorated with clusters of green fern and flowers. The altar was centered with a memory candle and kneeling bench. Flanking the altar were two spiral candelabras entwined with greenery holding blue candles. To each side of the candelabras were classic urns filled with white and blue ladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of white organza fashioned with a high

Victorian neckline and long sheer bishop sleeves with a lace cuff. The empire bodice had a sheer see-thru yolk edged with permanent pleated organza accented with seed pearls on chantilly lace. The softly gathered A-line skirt extended to a chapel length train. A band of scalloped lace formed a deep edge on the skirt.

Her headpiece was a mantilla of matching lace-edged chapel length train of illusion. The bride carried a Victorian bouquet of white roses, baby's breath, and Phalaenopsis orchids atop a white Bible.

For something old, the bride carried a handkerchief belonging to her great-grandmother Chester. Something new was her bridal gown. She wore her sister's opal necklace for something borrowed, and for something blue, she wore the traditional blue garter. In her shoes she wore pennies minted in the years of the couple's birth.

Mrs. Gary Kelley of Dallas attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Kathy Fisher of Sudan, Miss Alexis Anderson of Shallowater, and Miss Beatrice Synatschk of Anton, cousin of the groom.

tendants' fans. The three-tiered bride's cake featured tiny blue flowers and was topped with white satin bells with pearls. The cake and white punch were served by Cheryl McCloy of Morse, Lainya Verden of Wheeler, and Kim Kelley of Earth Nuts and mints served from silver and crystal appointments completed the bride's table.

The groom's table was laid with a white polyester floor-length cloth. The red velvet cake in the shape of an open book decorated in gold with blue roses featured the names of the couple and the date. The cake and coffee were served by Cindy Moss of Sudan and Terri Chester of Sudan, cousin of the bride. Members of the house party included Mesdames Waymon Bellar, Audrey West, Wayne Doty, Raymond Harper, Dexter Baker, Eddie Wilson and Glen Cardwell.

Calling All Homemakers

BROUGHT TO YOU BY

BERT AND CAROL WALLACE

DO YOU SLEEP BADLY?

Did you ever stop to think that a regular double bed is only 54 inches wide, so each person has a space only 27 inches wide to himself—and for comparison, a baby's crib is 27 inches wide, and a telephone booth is about the same width!

Most experts agree that people would sleep better if they had more room, and the solution can be a super-size bed.

In an old regular double bed your movements are restricted. And one expert says, if you sleep like a log, you will wake up stiff as a board. The reason is that even the soundest sleepers move or turn more than 20 times every night to flex their muscles and stimulate their circulation. If you don't have the room to move easily, your muscles stiffen and cramp. You wake up less rested and refreshed than if you moved normally.

In the ordinary bed, you can't turn freely. That's why more and more people are replacing their old double beds with the new king-size or queen-size models. The bigger beds give each person more room to relax, to stretch, and to move.

Perhaps this would help you. For all your bedding—and all other furnishing needs—come see us. We look forward to serving you.

Robert Powers, SCS, Littlefield, a member of the Society, stated, "This booklet explains how soil, water, air, and energy from the sun enables plants to produce food for themselves, for man, and for animals -- and how this actually makes life on the planet Earth possible."

The new booklet is the ninth in a Better Environment Series started in 1955. Since their introduction, more than 16 million copies have been printed. Designed primarily for young people in grades 4 through 6, the booklets are widely read by young and old alike.

The Soil Conservation Society of America, a non-profit educational and scientific organization, sells the booklets to individual organizations, business firms, schools, and industries who have an interest in improved conservation practices.

Ed Dawson, Chairman of the Lamb Co. Soil & Water Conservation District, said 500 of these new booklets have been purchased by the District.
