

22 Indictments Returned By Jury

SPIRIT'S GREAT AT A&M

Curvacious Aggies Like Boy-Girl Patio

By NILAH RODGERS, Leader-News Staff Writer

Two Aggies from Littlefield get stared at a lot. Plenty of whistles are directed their way, too.

"A&M is not like anything else," Dusty Angel said. "It's certainly not like anything else," Betty Boone echoed.

Dusty is a sophomore pre-vet student at Texas A&M University, and Betty is a freshman majoring in animal science at the predominantly all-male college.

The two Littlefield High School graduates are outnumbered 16 to 1 by the hoo-ahing Aggie kickers, but they find the odds "pretty good."

A shapely blue-eyed blonde, Dusty Angel said she has wanted to be a veterinarian as long as she can remember. She decided to attend A&M at the end of her junior year at LHS, and enrolled for the July summer session at A&M last year prior to the official admission of women students in the fall of '69.

Co-eds are allowed to live on campus only during the summer when one dorm is reserved for girls. "After I applied for a room," Dusty said, "I got this letter addressed to Mr. Dusty Angel. I panicked in the first degree when I found out I'd been assigned to a boys' dorm." A&M received her "hey you, I'm a girl" letter and promptly sent another reservation along with apologies.

Prior to this mixup, Dusty had received a letter from a U. S. recruiter asking if she had considered the Army.

But despite all the Aggie jokes that might lead some to believe the contrary, the male Aggies down College Station way have no trouble identifying the pre-vet when they meet the Littlefield girl.

"The boys don't exactly whistle," brown haired Betty said, with a twinkle in her dark eyes and flashing an infectious smile. "It's sort of a whoop! whoop! They all it hoo-ahing."

"And they hoo-ah at the ball games, too," Dusty said. "The student body never sits down during the games. It's sort of a tradition. And the boys lead the 'whoop whoops!'"

"You wouldn't exactly call it cheers," Betty added. "But the spirit is really something else."

Until about a year ago, Betty planned to be a veterinarian, too, but decided on animal science instead. Betty's father, Pat Boone Jr., and her late grandfather have always had ranching interests in New Mexico, and most of Betty's summers have been spent at Elida. After graduation she plans to live on the ranch and put into practice some of the things she is learning about reproduction.

Only about 30 girls at A&M are in Betty's chosen field, and the 16-1 ratio is doubled and tripled in some of her classes.

There are 15 to 20 sophomore girls in pre-vet studies at A&M, but only six out of 40 or 50 women who have completed 64 semester hours have been accepted in pre-vet school where one of the requirements is a 3. grade average.

Dusty said she has been interested in her dad's cattle and quarter horses as long as she can remember. And while she likes large animals, she says her plans are for work with small animals, a choice she considers more practical and most needed. "And there is a need for a small animal clinic in Littlefield," she said.

Both girls said they are impressed with the small school atmosphere and friendliness at A&M. Although some of the older students, especially the corp cadettes, haven't accepted co-eds entirely and tend to discriminate against them, the girls said for the most part they are made to feel important.

"Some of the teachers pick on the girls," Betty said, "but they do it to see if you're a good sport. If you can take it, they lay off."

Free Movie Slated

A "free" movie will be shown here Saturday morning, Dec. 19, at the Palace Theater.

That is - it's "free" to a certain degree. According to Salvation Army Captain Daniel Hudson, those attending the show will be admitted if they bring canned goods or a new toy - all of which will benefit area needy families through the Christmas cheer baskets.

An anonymous member of the Salvation Army Board has paid for the rental and labor involved in the showing of the movie, in order that the Christmas cheer program may benefit to the utmost.

Various Littlefield citizens will be manning the Christmas kettle station at the corner near First National Bank until Christmas Eve.

CHRISTMAS TREES of all sizes are now being sold by Band Boosters and Optimists at their lot on Hall Avenue. Mrs. Betty Wilkinson, band parent, makes a sale as Attorney Ted Sanson consults his young daughter April in a election.

LAMB COUNTY FARMERS

ACP May Go Down Unless You Speak Up

The Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP), which annually helps hundreds of area farmers with long-range soil and water conservation by providing a cost share, means $300,000 annually to the economy of Lamb County, alone. With present administration of the office of Management and Budget, this program, too, looks like it may become a thing of the past.

The plan pays Lamb County farmers up to $500 per farm per year by sharing 30 to 50 per cent of what it costs a farmer to put down pipe, level land, and six other practices applicable to this county.

"And although $500 on what some of the practices cost isn't much," said Joe Blevins, Lamb County Soil Conservationist, "it is an incentive to encourage conservation that otherwise wouldn't get done. A farmer getting $500 must spend an additional $1,166.20 to get ACP cost share on a 30 per cent basis."

Lamb County usually has more applicants than money allotted. Last year 525 Lamb farmers requested this assistance from the ASC. This is 28 per cent of Lamb County's total farm operators.

The ACP allotment for this county for 1970 was $111,216, and out of this amount the county ASC transferred $5,560 to the Soil Conservation Service for technical work.

ACP funds which started at $500 million in 1936 have been whittled down in the interest of "economy" to $185 million for 1970, according to Robert M. Koch, president of the National Limestone Institute. For '71, the House has passed on $195,500,000 and the Senate passed on $190,000,000. Last year the Nixon Administration decided to impound $10.5 million, even though Congress authorized it, Koch added.

Koch said Casper Weinberger, deputy administrator for the Office of Management and Budget, has no more real concept of what the ACP is than a man recently descended from Mars and suddenly plopped into one of the most powerful positions in the U. S. "And as a spokesman for the president of the U. S., he can overrule the entire U. S. Department of Agriculture and the entire U. S. Congress," he added.

In view of this, farmers and businessmen are asked to contact each member of Congress and to write President Nixon before Jan. 1 unless they want to see ACP become a thing of the past.

To date, the volume of letters and congressional inquiries have been very unimpressive, according to White House sources.

The Staffords' britany spaniel recently added 13 purebred hunting dogs to the doggy population around Whitehall, and Mikand Brad show off a laundry basket full of the sleepy pups that have just finished off a big bowl of puppy chow.

By GAYLE MILLS
LEADER-NEWS SOCIETY EDITOR

IN KEEPING with the traditional yuletide season, whether you are a beginner or not, you can sharpen the appetites of your holiday guests quickly with the aroma of yeast breads seeping from around the corner of your kitchen.

Make this the merriest month ever and bake some gala yuletide breads—no knead doughs at that.

Why not begin with a "Visions of Sugarplum Ring", and then a "Jeweled Star Bread."

CINNAMON-SUGARED balls of dough are baked into the caramel-y "Visions of Sugarplum Ring."

THE "JEWELLED STAR BREAD" is a delightful lightweight, with the candied fruit jewels baked in, like an upside-down cake.

VISIONS OF SUGARPLUM RING

1 package active dry yeast
1/4 cup water
1/2 cup milk, scalded
1/3 cup sugar
1/3 cup shortening
1 teaspoon salt
3 3/4 to 4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 beaten eggs

4 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
3/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup whole blanched almonds
1/2 cup candied red cherries

1/3 cup dark corn syrup.
Soften yeast in warm water. Combine scalded milk, 1/3 cup sugar, shortening, and salt; cool to lukewarm. Stir in 1 cup of the flour; beat well. Add softened yeast and eggs. Add remaining flour, or enough to make a soft dough. Mix thoroughly and place in a greased bowl, turning once to grease surface. Cover and let rise till double, about 2 hours. Punch down and let rest 10 minutes.

Divide Sugarplum Ring dough into 4 parts. Cut each part into 10 pieces and shape into balls. Dip balls in the melted butter, then in the 3/4 cup sugar blended with cinnamon. Arrange 1/3 of the balls in well-greased 10-inch tube pan. Sprinkle with some of the almonds and cherries. Repeat with two more layers. Mix corn syrup with butter left from dipping balls; drizzle over top. Cover and let rise in warm place till double, about 1 hour. Bake in 350 degrees over for 35 minutes. Cool 5 minutes;

Whitharral Scout Pack New To Area

Whitharral Cub Scout Pack 608 is one of 24 new Scouting units which have been organized the past three months in the 20-county area South Plains Council.

A gain of 1,551 members has been recorded by Scout Commissioner Haynes M. Baumgardner of Lubbock.

The record growth came as a result of the recruiting effort throughout the area in September, October, and November.

A final effort will be made this month to push the number over the 2,200 mark, bringing to 8,800 the total number of Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Explorers registered in the South Plains Council on Dec. 31.

Dubbed the "Touchdown Roundup", the recruiting effort is designed to bring eligible boys into all levels of the Scouting program.

Cub Scouting is for 8, 9, and 10 year old boys; Boy Scouting serves the 11-15 year age group; and Exploring is designed for high school age boys and girls in special interest areas.

OWN TO EARTH Concern Must Be Impassionate

JIMMY R. ALLEN

DAVID WILKERSON, author of "The Switchblade," has worked with young narcotic addicts in the ghettos of the nation. He founded a movement which has spread across denominational lines under the name Teen Challenge. The story of "The Cross and The Switchblade" has now been made into a movie starring Pat Boone.

TEEN CHALLENGE'S strong demand for religious commitment and support of a church has produced one of the highest rates of success in helping hard-core narcotic addicts off of heroin—as much as 90 per cent cure.

Speaking to a crowded auditorium of young people at the Baptist General Convention in Austin's coliseum, he urged adults with what he termed the greatest need—compassion. Expressing optimism about this generation of young people, he said more and more young people are discovering the wrongness of the drug route and are ready to turn away from it.

HE SAID the current high drug dependence and experimentation phenomenon is now centered basically in the suburbs—a backlash not yet reflecting the discoveries of dead end streets by the "hippie" groups.

Citing his own experience of finding young people empty and hopeless, Wilkerson said this generation's greatest need lies not in the blandishments of the narcotic pusher but in the hard-headedness of adults.

ADULT AMERICANS, in their fear of hostile youth, have failed to look past the terror to see scared and empty lives. They have been critical of the way young people chose to dress, the length of their hair, the nature of their language.

Wilkerson cited incident after incident of young people driven farther away from solutions by the rejection they discovered the adults who should care and communicate their care. He noted the institutional church's failure to make provisions for non-conformity on unessential matters and said the cry of youth today is "get your hands off my throat!"

LISTING SIGNS of young people developing peer groups which oppose the drug traffic, Wilderson expresses optimism about this trend. The optimism of the young evangelist may be over-stated. Two elements remain.

IN THE FIRST PLACE, the drug culture will not be altered unless young people commit themselves to Christ and common sense in such a way as to set a different pace of social pressure about the use of drugs. Until peer group pressure makes the use of drugs out of style, all the urgings, exhortations, articles, and information of adults is to no avail.

IN THE SECOND PLACE, Christians of all people in a society should be understanding and caring about people whatever their style of dress and behavior. The need for compassion and common sense has never been more felt than it is today.

Compassion should have a toughness about it. It should not mean simply permissiveness. It should, however, mean that we care enough to listen and to communicate what we believe.

ONE THING is for sure. If Christians do not discover a way to bridge whatever gaps there are with a compassionate concern, this generation will be lost—not only to the church but to Christ and to themselves.

Don't Play Santa For Sneak Thieves

December is the jingle bell month, when the traditional joy-to-the-world spirit prevails, when we mellow into an ob- sessional mood of assuming everybody has love in his heart.

But don't get carried away and overdo it. There'll be some spoilsports around with larceny in their hearts.

Peeping Toms will sneak up to the windows of your parked car and peer covetously at any Christmas packages you might have left piled on the seats or on the floor.

If your car window is down, this character with taking ways will have easy pickings. He might even send you a Christmas card, thank you for doing his holiday shopping for him.

And if you left your car unlocked, especially with the key still in the ignition, some unprincipled thief might make a grand slam in his bid to beat you out of your property.

But why put all the odds in his favor? Why not thief-proof your car?

Here are some valuable tips, or reminders:

Don't leave your packages or other possessions up for grabs by leaving them on the seats or on the floor of your parked car. Put them in your car trunk—and lock the trunk.

Roll your windows up tight, and lock your car doors.

And don't forget to remove your ignition key when you remove yourself from your parked car.

And don't park your chariot in a remote, or dimly lit spot. Thieves get itchy fingers when they see an opportunity to work at their trade in the dark.

Take these precautions. It'll help you have what we wish you:

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Small Town Future

WE RECENTLY read an editorial in a paper published in a town comparable to Tulia which was rather upsetting. The editorial concerned the need of the town for industry or "new payrolls."

The editor was careful to identify his community as a "smalltown," not a "rural area."

"All too often we see, hear and read from Washington, D. C. officials, from our larger metro cities about "rural America," the editor wrote. "And in the next breath many of these people start in on the subject of declining farms. They see 'Rural America' filling with ghost towns because of the need for farmers. This is true in those areas where cotton and corn were the only crops and all jobs and services revolved around them."

The editor goes on to suggest that "smalltown" America is something quite different from agriculturally rural America. "There are thousands of towns 5,000 to 25,000 population that have not depended totally on agriculture for existence since World War II," he continues. "These are the towns worth saving, and they should not be written off as agriculturally passed. These are towns still viable, but too small to compete equally with the metro giant areas for new payrolls."

This was the part of the editorial that upset us! We were haunted by the phrase "towns worth saving" as applied to those "not totally dependent on agriculture."

DEAR EDITOR

Her Favorite Page

Brownfield Texas
Dec. 3rd, 1970

Dear Editor:
I use to live at Anton and have written the news a few times.

What has happened to Paul Harvey and others that use to write the News? The Editorial page was my favorite part of the paper.

I like to commend Mrs. Pearl Brandon about our P.O.W. I am like her, what a world do we have if we want all the boys home and leave the prisoners over there to gradually die of starvation.

I am glad our President thinks enough of humanity to try to rescue them, and I pray God helps him to rescue all of them.

An I think our president is doing all he can to get all the boys home, and as quick as he can. But he can't do it without help from Congress and the Senate.

I don't have any close relatives over there. I have two nephews still in service and each has served two periods in Vietnam.

I have had a few grandsons that have already served over there, and I had four sons and two sons-in-law in World War 2. None of them even got wounded and I know it was in answer to prayer.

I pray daily for the ones over there now, also for our President, that God will help him to get them all home.

Yours,
Mrs. E. M. Parker

THIS WOULD suggest that Tulia, a town totally dependent on agriculture, might not "be worth saving!"

Yet... serious reflection tells us that towns "worth saving" are going to have to look to something in addition to agriculture if they are not to wither and die.

Somebody is going to have to take the responsibility for the survival of any type community. Even the giant cities are decaying in many instances. Business and homes are moving to the suburbs, leaving the downtown canyons vacant and dying. City officials are concerned about the diminishing tax base at a time when even more tax money is needed for city services.

And certainly the agricultural towns are fighting to survive... or are they really fighting? Struggling, perhaps, but not much fight is observed!

Viewed in the context of our times, with population increasing, with land decreasing, there is a place in America's future for the rural towns with their wide streets, open spaces, pollution free air.

WE BELIEVE that the rural areas are far more attractive than at any time in history!

No longer is the rural town isolated from civilization. No longer is it a symbol of "the country hick." No longer is it a place where people roll up the sidewalks at 9 p.m. and watch people get hair cuts on Saturday nights for recreation!

The good life has come to the country. We have even on the most isolated farm all the comforts of the city, thanks to electricity. We have our paved rural roads which make us only minutes from the heart of the city.

We are in commuting distance from college, even in the most remote village.

We have everything available to the city dweller... except those things neither of us want... traffic congestion, smog, mugging, noise and the like.

Yet... industry is prejudiced against the small town! It is still living in the 1880's, back when people were struggling to get from the farm to the city!

Industry, government, and the small town, working together, can solve this problem.

But will they?

Will they continue to fiddle while Rome burns?

Will they wait until the farm oriented people have been forced off their land and to the welfare rolls of the cities before they take action?

THE ABUNDANT LIFE Better Balance

By BOB WEAR

THE WELL-BALANCED life must be our aim. Persons who do not know where the point of proper balance is in the virtues of human character and personality will turn virtues to vices.

"There is a mean (balance) in everything—Even virtue itself has its stated limits, which, not being strictly observed, it ceases to be virtue."—Horace EXTREMISM, with all of its ugliness, is caused by unbalanced attitudes and life postures.

We must learn how to go far enough without going too far; regardless of whether the movement is positive or negative.

"Extremes, though contrary, have like effects.—Extreme heat kills, and so extreme cold.—Extreme love breeds satiety, and so extreme hatred; and too violent rigor tempts chastity, as does too much license."—Chapman.

WE MUST BE CONCERNED, but we can become too concerned. When we become too concerned, we lose our effectiveness.

Most people, perhaps all people, who become too concerned eventually become unconcerned people. Those whose concern is well-balanced almost never become unconcerned.

If we seek better balance in our concern, we will be able to maintain this interest with all of its related good.

RELIGION is another area of life in which better balance is needed. Most people, because of an inborn need, are religious. Many others are irreligious, and a high percentage of these were once religious.

They originally went too far. They passed the place of balance, and became zealots and fanatics.

PAUL HARVEY

Two-Bit Buck

YOUR 10-DOLLAR BILL shrank another six cents just last month. At that rate, your dollar bill is shrinking at a rate of more than seven cents a year.

We're now working for a two-bit buck! What do we do?

AMERICAN WORKERS are making more dollars worth less. Collectively, despite wage increases, we've gone backward 2.5 per cent this past year.

Why doesn't President Nixon, pledged to fight inflation, do something about it? What should he do? His own advisers are divided.

AN ECONOMIST of the stature of Milton Friedman has split with his own friend and teacher, Dr. Arthur Burns, over what's best for us.

Or take Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers. Last Aug. 5 he stated that "escalating wage increases could bring on a major recession or even a depression."

BUT ON Nov. 23 he had forced General Motors to sign a new wage contract with the UAW, which added another 6.9 per cent to the price of your new car.

Woodcock said his workers "have to be protected against the increased cost of living" so they demanded and got a further increase in the cost of living.

AND I DON'T mean to single out auto workers; we're all in this squirrel cage, running faster and faster—and going backward.

Treasury Department official Murray Weidenbaum says the Nixon Administration must move very cautiously in

When they moved away from the unwieldy and undesirable fanaticism, they passed by the place of balance; and moved on to some form of irreligion.

PATRIOTISM IS DESIRABLE when it is structured according to the principle of balance.

Our country needs our love and devotion in both good times and bad times, but this must be a well-balanced feeling. Chauvinism, which is blind or excessive patriotism, does not help anybody. This is an unsound feeling that may very easily change to treasonous words and deeds of rebellion and disorder.

Many other people, for one reason or another, assume an attitude of indifference. We like to think that the majority of people have found the balance so essential to meaningful patriotism.

WE HELP OTHER PEOPLE, but if we try to go beyond the line of balance in our efforts to do so, we are in trouble. We may not know what happened, but we can no longer help.

We have gone too far, and are now discouraged and disgusted. We may stop all efforts to help others; but, if we do, we are still unbalanced. Finding and maintaining balance in our benevolence enables us to continue in this good work.

CIVIC SERVICE is an obligation resting upon all of us. Some people go much too far, and become too active; but others go too far the other way, and do nothing.

There is a proper balance in civic service, a balance all of us should seek. If we observe this balance, we will be able to make useful contributions to the community in which we live as long as we live.

BETTER BALANCE is our need. This we must seek, and maintain for satisfactory living.

PAUL HARVEY

1971 to encourage economic expansion without risking further inflation.

THE COMMITTEE for Economic Development thinks the only way to do that is to return to voluntary wage and price guidelines.

Others urge a mandatory and immediate wage and price freeze. Economist Eliot Janeway prescribes, instead, a 3 per cent federal sales tax.

He theorizes that a tax increase would discourage consumer spending, retard inflation.

FURTHER, he figures the government would harvest 20 billion badly needed dollars from this source—reducing the government's need to borrow—thus reducing that source of inflation pressure. Historically, this is the formula Democrats have applied: higher taxes.

PRESIDENT NIXON had hoped to rescue the dollar by reducing spending, but such astronomical fixed expenses as the war and welfare have painted him into a corner.

I suppose it should be comforting to discover in an old issue of the Chicago Tribune that Illinois housewives were organizing protests against high prices in 1837—when butter was eight cents a pound, eggs six cents a dozen and beef three cents a pound.

That should be reassuring, but it isn't.

A WOMAN'S VIEW

A Mystery

By PEARL BRANDON

WE ALL WONDER at times what life is all about. Why was I born in this period of history... or why am I black, or white; or why am I poor or lame, or sick.

We can ask why am I like this in many hundreds of ways for life is never exactly the way we would like for it to be.

LIFE IS SUCH a mystery. We don't even know ourselves, but back of it all there must be a purpose.

Once long ago it seemed to me I felt a call from God. At that time we were living in a small community and I was a housewife. In church I was working with a group of young people. When I told them about it, they said "Do you feel called to preach". I said no I didn't know why I felt this way, or what for.

I DID FEEL an urge to study and to pray continually, and at time I would walk the floor with this deep conviction that I should be doing something.

Then came the opportunity to go to work as a social worker where I came in contact with people from all walks of life and a chance to serve. I had never worked outside the home and I had a ticular desire to but I was then twenty years.

LIFE TAKES some peculiar walk with God, or follow Him the way.

Jesus said, "I am the way, the life."

Have you given this something wonderful might you if you would let Him have your life.

IT WILL LEAD to high things which will open up for you a never expected.

Serving God is the present way. You don't have to wait tomorrow for the God that made your tomorrows. And He needed you in your own present life.

HONNY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

TOO LONG, has the general populace pleaded ignorance to the general truths of the BIBLE.—In my opinion, this for the most part, is willful ignorance.

Man has a natural aversion to being corrected.—Criticism is repulsive.

NEITHER DOES MAN like to be cognizant of his complete dependence on others—God included!

The Bible offers both correction and knowledge.

Since no one can force men to study the Bible, mankind is content to go his blissful, ignorant way, without it's help. This is sad, indeed!

THE MOST COMMON excuse we hear offered for the lack of Bible knowledge is: "I can't understand its writings."

It would seem odd that our God would judge us by something we can't understand! Yet, we do know that we're to be judged according to the Word that's left us in written form, preserved through the ages by the work of His Holy Spirit.

THE LATEST translations of the Bible are in the common, every day language that we use. Man, of average intelligence, would need a lot of help to misunderstand it!

Many Religious leaders have failed the people, in that they have proclaimed superstitions and theories and opinions from the pulpit, rather than the unvarnished truth of the Gospel!

MANY OF OUR PREACHERS are like politicians—they'd rather tell the people what they want to hear (and than to "Tell it like it is" (to hunt another job!)—The painful!

I'm suspicious of a religion that have to go to a seminary or college to learn teach!—I'm also suspicious of men's opinions and their Faith" which are drawn from councils, separate and apart Word.

I'M CONVINCED that this is for the widespread religious confusion!— How do YOU explain things to YOUR children?

The invisible barrier of always coming between friends.—Our convictions and seem to keep us separated. BE WRONG!—Christianity should be together, not separate us!

SO, WHAT SHOULD we do Christianity? Surely not!

We still have the Bible in its purity.—The barrier we have by the barrier of ignorance!

THE REASON for ignoring Bible, being, that we're either too unconcerned to study it! If the Bible is true, (and it is!) are due for a rude and sad and the Great Beyond.

Besides this, it would solve our problems while we're living side of eternity.

THE PHILOSOPHER

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm is having gadget trouble, his letter this week indicates. Who doesn't.)

Dear editor:

My television set wouldn't work, a tube was out in my radio, another light bulb had just burned out, the washing machine went haywire and put six inches of water on the floor, and my car wouldn't start, so I shut myself up in the living room and started reading a newspaper I'd been saving to wrap around an exposed hydrant.

I hadn't gotten far when I ran across an article that said there are now over 45,000 scientists and engineers unemployed in this country, due to cut-backs in the space program and other reasons nobody is certain about.

Now what really caught my attention was the answer to this problem, suggested by a Washington expert. He wants a sort of new "WPA" for these unemployed scientists, wants a government-financed program going to keep them busy so their minds won't get rusty. "There are plenty of new ideas and things needing developing," he said.

I got to thinking. No, I told myself, I've got a better idea. Don't put them to work on something new, put them to work on what we've already got.

City Policemen

Make 155 Calls

In November

Littlefield city policemen answered 155 calls in November, bringing a total of 275 calls answered during the fiscal year.

City police made 27 arrests in November, investigated 21 automobile accidents, and investigated five burglaries.

In performing those duties, 8,626 miles were patrolled.

Ten funerals were escorted and 36 traffic violations were issued during the month.

The city animal warden patrolled 1,420 miles and picked up 84 animals, five of which were released.

No dog bites were reported to the animal warden and 79 dogs were destroyed.

Put those 45,000 scientists and to work on a tail pipe that'll last more than one year, a washing machine guaranteed for 10 years, or 50,000 whichever comes first; a television that'll last through the last hour of the last year of the last century; an air conditioner that'll last as long as old-style electric fan, a lawn mower starts every time, a plumbing job can hand down from one generation to the next, a paved street that'll last for the tax bonds it took to pay for it; a fence that snaps back into place when dented, and, well I could go on and on.

Let those 45,000 scientists work around and start perfecting what's already turned loose on us.

For a while there it took a lot of work to buy all the gadgets and the needs, but now it takes that same time of moonlighting to keep them

City Sewer Expansion

Discussed By Council

Areas for possible sewer expansion the city limits were discussed by councilmen in their regular Thursday night, and the authorized City Manager Pat Brantley called for bids for the purchase of call for bids for a one-year contract for city vehicles on a one-year contract.

Councilmen discussed possibilities in extending the city system, and asked the city manager to investigate the situation further.

"Some funds are available for extension," Brantley said. "Funds can't be used for anything else."

Councilmen considered specifications for bids for the purchase of call for bids for a one-year contract and advertise the call for bids.

Councilmen gave Brantley the authority to negotiate for rental of about 125 city-owned farm land, following discussion of the terms.

A citizen's request concerning a paved portion of a street was discussed and councilmen decided to investigate the call for bids for material.

If your range is properly adjusted, the gas should burn with a clear blue flame and a sharply defined inner cone; there should be no traces of yellow in the flame. If there are traces of yellow in the gas flame, the American Gas Association suggests that you try cleaning the burner. If the yellow persists, call your service representative or local utility company.

Wheat Convention At Amarillo

The Twentieth Annual Convention of the Texas Wheat Producers Association has been set for Dec. 12, in Amarillo. Leo Witkowski of Hereford, president of the statewide farmer organization, said that all sessions will be held at the Holiday Inn West beginning at 10 a.m. and are scheduled to end by 3 p.m.

Witkowski said that the theme of the meeting is "Signposts to the Seventies" and that Texas wheat's future will get a close look by an array of state, national and international wheat leaders speaking to the group.

He pointed out that wheat is a $100 million cash grain crop in Texas and that its use for cattle grazing and backgrounding adds about that much more to its economic value to the growers—principally in a 25-county Panhandle and Rolling Plains area.

Guides His Hands

When Dr. Christiann N. Barnard transplants the heart of one person into another person, he gives a part of his own heart to both patients. For Dr. Barnard of Cape Town, South Africa, the world's most famous heart transplant surgeon, believes that life itself is God's greatest gift to His image on earth. Son of a Dutch Reformed missionary, tall, lean, personable Dr. Barnard lives the legacy left him by his parents... a sense of deep responsibility to others and to himself.

"A Higher Force gives us His support when we need it most," the famous surgeon says. "God shares His knowledge with us, when we share it with others." Dr. Barnard prays every day, but not for impossible things like a perfect world. He asks God to help him realize his full capacity to help others. Above all else, Dr. Barnard believes in self discipline to help achieve the "impossible." He says that today's heart transplants are just one step in the inexorable march of surgical science toward undreamed of possibilities. He believes that all human beings are essentially good until they go out of their way to prove themselves bad.

"My philosophy can be summed in the words of this little poem," he says: "Life's battle doesn't always go to the stronger and faster man. Sooner or later the man who wins, is the fellow who thinks he can." You'll find many of Dr. Barnard's beliefs at the church where you worship this week.

Good Handling Of Deer Can Save The Venison

So the fun part is over. You've shot your buck deer.

What now? Proper handling of a deer carcass can mean the difference between an assortment of tasty chops in the freezer or a total loss of valuable meat.

So with the deer season's opening day - which is in mid-November in most Texas counties - coming up soon, prospective deerhunters should bone up on deer skinning and processing procedures.

Two Texas Parks and Wildlife Department publications are available to help deer hunters.

The 1970-71 Hunting Guide will tell what the seasons and bag limits are in all 254 counties, and the illustrated "Now That You've Killed It" leaflet written by Game Management Officer Grover Simpson tells how to go about the field dressing job.

Simpson says the first thing the successful hunter should do after shooting a deer and making sure it's dead is to tag the animal. Then, without delay, the deer should be field-dressed.

One important note: Contrary to popular belief, there's no need to cut the deer's throat to bleed it. The bleeding will be accomplished during the field dressing process.

The deer is propped on its back and an incision is made from its pelvic bone clear through the rib cage and as far up the neck as possible, with care taken not to puncture the entrails. The windpipe is cut as high up the neck as possible and is pulled downward.

The carcass is then rolled onto its side, and the layer of meat which is holding the entrails to the ribs is cut all the way down to the backbone. The deer's head is then cut off. The process is repeated on the other side. The entrails then can be put in a body cavity.

Then the deer is lifted by its back and propped up on its back on some other suitable object, so that the carcass should be held in a position where the antlers or head for about 30 minutes to allow blood drainage. If no time is available, the deer should be skinned as soon as possible.

Police Officers Planning Study

South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) will be offering the second unit of an initial four-unit 160-hour basic training course for law enforcement officers of this region at South Plains College in Levelland.

Littlefield police officers who will be attending the sessions are Truman Burrows and Cruz Hernandez.

Certified as the training agency for the 15-county region by the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education, SPAG will offer 160-hour training courses at Levelland, Lubbock and Plainview, thereby giving officers three opportunities to receive training during the year.

In addition to the basic training courses SPAG also plans to provide one or two day specialized seminars on subjects such as accident investigation, narcotic identification, communications, etc., as determined by the interest of state officers.

A new state law which went into effect Sept. 1, requires any fulltime law enforcement officer hired after that date to become certified within one year of his original appointment by receiving 140 hours of basic police training through an accredited training agency.

SPAG anticipates the courses it offers will not only serve the certification requirement, but will also serve the officer once on duty.

The course at Levelland will begin Dec. 7 and continue through Dec. 11.

Classes will begin every morning at 8 a.m. and will end at 5 p.m. The training itself will be held on the campus of South Plains College in the conference room on the second floor of the library. There will be no charge for this course.

Mail Greetings Early To Beat Railroad Strike

William L. Crawford, Dallas postal region director, is urging immediate mailing of all Christmas cards, parcels and other holiday mail as a safeguard in the event of a national railroad strike.

Crawford, who directs the management operations of 2,133 post offices in Texas and Louisiana, said he had been advised by Postmaster General Winton M. Blount to step up Christmas mailing.

"Early mailing of Christmas cards, letters, and parcels," Crawford said, "will give customers added assurance of delivery in time for the holidays."

The nationwide announcement to accelerate Christmas mailing came from the Postmaster General in view of a pending nationwide rail strike tentatively scheduled to begin shortly after midnight, Wednesday, Dec. 10.

Beans Invaluable As Protein, Oil

Margarine and coffee creamers have both been made from soybeans. The soybean is called the "miracle bean" because of its high protein and oil content. The result is a crude oil and rough meal. The rough meal can be fed to livestock as a protein supplement or processed into soy flour. From soy flour, pure vegetable protein can be extracted and used in a variety of products for human consumption. The crude oil is edible. It has a dark color and a sweet, nutty flavor. But most Americans prefer oil with a neutral flavor, so the oil is usually refined. Refined soybean oil has an attractive color, lighter than corn oil. It also has the desired mild flavor and a longer shelf life than crude soybean oil. Your will find that most cooking and salad oils labeled only "vegetable oil" are primarily soybean oil. But cooking and salad oils are relatively recent markets for soybean oil. For the past 20 years, it has been a main vegetable oil used in making oleomargarine. Most margarine, in fact, is 80 percent hydrogenated soybean oil with salt, dry skim milk and water making up the difference. Many vegetable shortenings used for baking and frying are also made from soybean oil. The meal from soybeans is just as versatile as the oil. The rough meal is ground into a fine soy flour. Not normally found at supermarket, soy flour is often available at specialty stores. This flour cannot be used alone in bakery products because it does not contain enough gluten, which gives cohesiveness to dough, but it can be mixed with wheat flour to make a more nutritious bread. The most important contribution of soy flour, from a nutritional standpoint, is its high protein content. Although different from animal and dairy protein, plant protein is just as good for both adults and children. For this reason, many people turn to the plant world -- especially soybeans -- for their protein. Soy protein is particularly popular with people allergic to animal or dairy protein, those on low cholesterol diets (soybeans contain no cholesterol), and religious and philosophical vegetarians. Institutional use of soy protein, in the form of artificial meats, is also increasing. Golden in color, wheat-soy macaroni has more protein than regular macaroni and does not stick together when cooked. The U. S. Department of Agriculture is now buying this tasty, protein-packed macaroni for distribution to needy families and schools because its purpose in these programs is to provide the most nutrition per pound of food.

When any of the soybean products such as wheat-soy macaroni or soybean salad oil are bought by USDA for its distribution programs, they receive the same thorough inspection as other foods purchased by USDA. They test meal products such as the wheat-soy macaroni for appearance, protein content (to determine that the required amount of soy flour was added) and moisture content (too much moisture will reduce storability). All products must meet government specifications or they are not purchased or distributed. This ensures that needy families and school children receive only the best. By now you may be wondering why you didn't know you were using so many soybean products. Federal labeling laws do not require that the specific type of vegetable oil or protein be named. Most labels for cooking or salad oils, therefore, only say "vegetable oil."

The small-print ingredients list may include the specific kind, such as soybean oil. By the same token, the ingredients list on a jar or box of non-dairy coffee creamer may only say "vegetable protein." Nonetheless, most vegetable protein and oil products are made from soybeans. So read the fine print if you want to know when you are buying the oil or protein of the "miracle bean."

Your life may not be worth a nickel if your tires flunk the penny test.

The penny test? It's the quickest way in the world to find out if you're riding on unsafe tires.

Simply turn the head of a penny upside down and place it in the tread grooves of your car's tires. If you can see all of Lincoln's head, your tire's tread depth is less than 1/16 inch. And you could be asking for trouble.

But why take a chance? Ask us to help. We're Shook, the largest tire dealer in Texas. And we have more to offer than anyone else.

Like a full line of quality Lee passenger, truck and farm tires.

Like four-ply polyester cord tires and polyester/

Like a "Road Hazard Warranty" that guarantees all Lee pickup tires against road hazards for the entire life of the tread.

Like tire rotation whenever your car needs it.

And like 14 stores in 13 cities from Pampa to Odessa to serve you.

So go ahead and take the penny test. It won't cost you a cent. And it may steer you to Shook in time to save your life.

Choose the diamond engagement ring that touches you closest. Rings that embrace each other, with diamonds overlapping a matching wedding band. In white or yellow 14 karat gold.

USE OUR CONVENIENT LAYAWAY

Here are the rings designed for togetherness... intertwined to enchant you, enhance each other. The subtle splendor of the pattern bursts into lifelong magnificence when the two rings blend into one. Truly, love rings... made for each other. Choice of solid 14 karat white $599⁹⁵ or yellow gold.

Hang a Mido on the line this Christmas... the wash and wear watch that stays dry, looks elegant through the year.

Wash it and wear it, the inner watch stays dry because it has been hermetically sealed in Switzerland. So while a woman golfs and gardens and showers, Mido keeps running, never needs winding. And another reason for giving her a Mido: it's the approved watch of the Professional Golfers' Association. Shown: one of a collection for ladies and men ranging from $75 to $350.

Wash it. Drip dry. And wear it. Mido stays dry inside. Because the inside has been hermetically sealed in Switzerland by the craftsmen who made it. Stays dry shooting rapids or shooting golf. Never needs winding. And... Mido is the approved watch of the Professional Golfers' Association. No wonder it's the gift to give. It gives so much.
