

Community Action Group Asks Integration Of Faculty

High school board Monday night group requesting integration of the faculty that it has no objection to the presence of Negro teachers.

At the regular session for the first time in the election of two new members, the same conditions necessarily present in the hiring of any applicant.

Superintendent Paul I. Jones, for the board, told the Community Action group that there are two conditions for the employment of anyone. First, a vacancy must exist and second, we must have a qualified applicant.

Continued: "In the years I have been superintendent, I cannot recall an application from a Negro teacher. Joe James, pastor of Sacred Catholic Church, then asked if it might be possible to "actively seek" Negro teachers.

Jones said that, in the past, finding qualified teachers had sometimes been a problem, "regardless of race." He said teacher availability is improving, however, and that this changing condition might result in more numerous applications, including some, perhaps, from persons of other races.

He said colleges and universities throughout this area, and some in New Mexico, are kept posted of teacher needs in Littlefield.

"You can be assured," he told the group, "that if we have qualified applicants from the Negro race, they will be given the same consideration given others."

The Community Action group came to the meeting with two requests: 1. Employment of at least two Negro teachers, including one in the high school and one in the elementary grades, and 2. An end to what they consider "mistreatment" of some Negro and Latin American students.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Simington Jr. and Pete Trevino, members of the group, cited instances of what they believed to be discrimination.

"Equal treatment is all we ask," the group told the board.

Several board members, after hearing the complaints, said the school system seeks the same end, fair treatment of all students.

The hearing with the Community Action group followed re-organization of the board.

Wayne Streety was elected president, succeeding E.D. Buddy Bingham. Bob Roden was named vice-president, replacing F.L. Newton.

Bingham and Newton went off the board, following the election of Glenn Batson and Dick Hopping at the polls earlier this month.

Sid Hopping, school business manager, was re-elected secretary of the board.

In other action, the board accepted two resignations, those of Mrs. Gladys Houk, longtime high school English teacher who is retiring, and Larry Allison, assistant football coach.

Trustees passed a resolution thanking and commending Mrs. Houk for her long service to Littlefield schools.

A new vocational agriculture teacher, Art Sommerfeld, was approved for employment. Sommerfeld, a 1962 Texas Tech graduate, has been teaching agriculture at Silverton the past six years.

Also approved was a new contract with Education Servicer, which supplies films, tapes and other teaching aids. The cost per year is $2.00 per student based on average daily attendance with the state sharing half the cost. Cost last year to the local district was $1,808.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS instructor at Littlefield High School, Byron Ford, examines some of the tools his students use in class to make various projects. Seven of his students entered the 7th Annual South Plains Industrial Arts Fair in Lubbock last week and took six firsts on projects, ranking LHS third place in the Fair. Other photos and story about the event may be found on the SKAT page in this issue.

Tornado Watch Issued, Safety Rules Given

Lamb County was under its third tornado watch of the year Sunday night.

Many residents slept through the turbulent weather that spawned tornadoes at Muleshoe and Hereford.

Lamb County sheriff's officials, the Texas Highway Patrol and city units began a watch on the clouds that towered 55,000 feet as they moved into the area Sunday night, and were out observing until there was no longer a threat.

Local firemen were alerted, too, around midnight, and the courthouse basement was opened at the request of the sheriff's office.

The following information and precautions on twisters is from the National Weather Service, formerly called the Weather Bureau.

There are more than 600 tornadoes almost every year in this country. A tornado is a funnel-shaped cloud that comes down from a thunderstorm. The funnel is a ring of winds, with a hollow center.

At first, it is very light or white, like a cloud. After touching the ground, the winds pick up dust and dirt, and the funnel becomes dark.

The average tornado stays on the ground about 10 minutes. In that time it moves five miles. The highest winds in a tornado have never been measured exactly, but experts think that they are probably between 175 and 250 miles per hour.

These winds are strong enough to destroy solid buildings, pull down huge trees, and throw people and animals hundreds of yards through the air. One tornado picked up an 83-ton railroad car with 117 people in it, and carried it through the air for 80 feet before dropping it in a ditch.

Although tornadoes strike in every state, they occur most often in the central plains. During the past 15 years they have killed about 125 people each year in the U.S.

Through a chain warning system beginning with a severe storms forecast center in Kansas City, Mo., down to state, local, and volunteers, residents are alerted to conditions that favor tornado formation.

When advisable, a TORNADO WATCH is posted. A TORNADO WATCH means tornadoes MAY develop. Keep on with your regular activities, but be sure to be ready to protect yourself if a tornado does strike.

A TORNADO WARNING is issued by the local office of the National Weather Service when a tornado funnel has been detected. The warning broadcast on radio and television will say where the tornado is and which way it is moving.

When you hear a WARNING, there is a tornado, and if you are near its path, you must act fast to save your life. What can you do?

At home—if you do not have a tornado cellar, go to the basement and crawl under a heavy workbench or table. If there is no basement, take shelter in a small room or closet in the center of the house, on the lowest floor, under a heavy piece of furniture, if possible.

Outside—if you can get home or to another house quickly, take shelter there. But if you are a long way from any indoor shelter, lie down in a ditch or hollow in the ground, and put your hands over the back of your head for protection. On the school bus, if there is no safe building nearby, the bus driver should stop and lead everyone to cover in a ditch or ravine. DON'T STAY IN A CAR OR BUS.

At school—Following your teacher's instructions, move quickly to the shelter areas.

HONNY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEIVINS

WELL, YOU'LL HAVE TO hand it to our legislators. They're coming up, in jig-time, with the necessary dope to get the local liquor option vote started. AND, while you're tipsy, they're gonna want a raise in pay!

I was bracin' myself for a new onslaught of state taxes. Now, they've solved the whole kit and kaboodle with this liquor-by-the-drink thing.

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT, we're bound to have the happiest tax payers in the whole nation! But, then, there's always this question, Can a Texan stand to be rationed like this? From past experience—(br-excuse me—) I meant to say, "OBSERVATION" it'll take, at least a quart to get him started!

It may not be recorded, that I'm not in sympathy with the sale of liquor, whether by the nip or, by the barrel, nor, to any degree. I learned at an early age, both by experience and observation, just how deluding it can be. You've still gotta face yourself when you sober up!

I SUPPOSE that drinkin' is like some of the other sins that are so common. It may be against the law, but, it'll never be unpopular! There's always that element that can't seem to stand themselves when they're sober!

So? What's the next step? Pot, by the stick? And, how will the tax on that, be paid?

ANYHO-O-O-O, AFTER years of some more observation, I've just gotta admit that prohibition has been a pu-fizzle! A law is no good, at all, if there's no way to enforce it, the hands of the officials and courts have been tied in this matter.

The bootlegger is free to operate, until he gets too careless, he's hauled into court, pays a small fine, and is back in business the next day!

I'M SURE THAT THE powers, that be, are already busy puttin' the wheels in motion for our local-option election. I'm almost as sure that it won't pass in our community.

One reason bein' that it would be an open invitation for our local drinkers to come out in the open. We're funny, that way. Anyway, if it's legalized, that'll take most of the fun out of drinkin'.

BUT, DON'T ASK me how to vote. I don't know. My choice of the matter is NOT up for vote. Now if the question was on the MANUFACTURE of the brew, my mind would be made up.

But, the only choice we'll be offered is, "How do you want your likker? By the jigger, or, by the bottle?!"

ANYWAY, WE KNOW that the stuff is like everything else, it's cheaper in wholesale lots, so why bother with this jigger-bit?

A WOMAN'S VIEW

Problems

PEARL BRANDON

ONCE I READ of a famous man who was due to speak to a group of business men. He came in on a plane and just barely made it in time.

In fact he was a few minutes late and the house was full. These were busy people and he hated to keep them waiting. All the way on the plane he had dreaded this meeting.

He was a very punctual by nature, but being late was not his worst difficulty. He was all tied up inside with his own personal frustrations, and didn't feel he had anything to offer to this group of men.

HOW COULD HE help other people when he couldn't solve his own problems?

All of us are faced with situations of this sort occasionally. The Sunday School teacher facing a class feeling empty and inadequate, the physician administering to others while suffering from an illness of his own, the minister facing his congregation with his own frustrations locked inside, or the housewife caring for her family with her own heart filled with pain.

THE SPEAKER SOLVED his own exasperation and helped others by confessing to them that he had this problem and asking their forbearance. He found many of these men had this same problem and after the meeting they stayed to talk with him about it.

In social work they tell the worker not to discuss his own personal problem with those who come to him for help. For then, the poor client leaves the office loaded with his own unsolved problem and those of the social worker as well.

THIS IS RIGHT. We should not discuss our troubles with anybody who will listen, but sometimes it does help to share them.

We are inclined to feel that we are the only ones faced with this type of situation, or problem, and it helps to know others are facing the same sort of thing and how they have overcome.

THAT IS WHY organizations like the Alcoholic Anonymous can help those suffering from the same ailments. It helps us to acknowledge our own inadequacies. By doing so we gain strength.

Usually the alcoholic speaker brings his talk by saying, "I am an alcoholic, I have been dry a certain length of time." By doing this he identifies with his group.

IT TAKES COURAGE to step out in front of a crowd of people feeling empty inside. It helps if we realize the people we are facing have difficulties too.

It helps if we can steal away for a few moments and draw on the Lord for strength and then turn our selves over to Him and let Him lead the way. Why should we be afraid if we are where the Lord wants us to be. He will see us through.

"IT MUST BE for some purpose that I have come here."

A "HOOTENANY" talent show sponsored by Littlefield Girl Scouts is on tap for May 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the junior high auditorium. Entries for the show are being taken now. Discussing the event are Hubert Henry, Mrs. Johnny Talburt and Mrs. Mike Coffey.

PAUL HARVEY

A Medal

THERE IS A BILL on the Hill proposing a medal for Harry S. Truman. May I second the motion.

History judges most Presidents after they're gone; judges them by the long-range results—the long-range effects—of their decisions.

THE ONE MOST agonizing decision of the Truman Administration already has been evaluated.

Mr. Truman had been President less than three months when he learned that Americans had unharnessed the atom and suddenly in his hands was a secret weapon 2,000 times more lethal than any weapon theretofore.

WITH THIS WEAPON of decision in his folded fist, on July 26, 1945, he demanded that Japan surrender.

On July 29 the Japanese cabinet met, but chose to ignore the surrender ultimatum.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN, as Commander in Chief, left with an unprecedented decision, did not procrastinate.

Aware of the terrible toll in American lives resulting from our tedious amphibious invasions of South Pacific islands—knowing that there were years of bloody surf between us and the ultimate invasion of Japan—on Aug. 6 he lowered the boom on the enemy.

IN ONE BLOW, four square miles of Hiroshima, Japan, were destroyed; 135,000 Japanese were killed or injured.

But when it was either them or us, Mr. Truman chose to kill them.

IN SUBSEQUENT YEARS, President Truman was more damned than praised for that decision.

Monday-morning quarterbacks called it unnecessary, diplomats called it cruel, scientists said they were "ashamed" of their science. The President was labeled a "sadist," a "barbarian," a "monster."

AND FOR TWO decades thereafter, American leaders, self-conscious, fearful, fought pulled-punches wars with outdated weapons.

And on the altar of their timidity, in an unending forced march, American sons were sacrificed.

Perhaps it serves no purpose to draw parallels between the costs of "enforcing peace" the Truman way and this other way:

BUT NO MAN can be insensitive to the cruel indictment which Mr. Truman suffered for doing what he believed best:

And though historians can already see the humaneness of the swift-knockout strategy, officially nobody has told him so.

WHILE IN THE White House, Mr. Truman frequently presented the Congressional Medal of Honor with the words "I'd rather have this medal than be President."

He repeated that statement so many times it must have reflected a very agonizing personal question, until then unanswered.

WHILE HE LIVES, would it not be most appropriate for our former Commander in Chief to receive our nation's highest military decoration?

And let the inscription read that when the chips were down—and it was either them or us—he was on our side.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Face The Facts

FANTASY MAY HAVE a place in each life, but it must not be dominant. When used as creative imagination, it can serve useful purposes; if it is correctly related to reality.

A little daydreaming can be helpful, by making some of the rough edges of reality seem less harsh. Daydreaming, however, must never become a manner of life.

TOO MUCH FANTASY means that we are "ever building to the clouds, and never reflecting that the poor narrow basis cannot sustain the giddy, tottering column."—Schiller.

The basic nature of life makes it necessary that we face the facts of life. We see things every day, and have experiences which impress upon the mind this necessity. From every viewpoint, our personal welfare demands that we face facts honestly, intelligently and courageously.

"FACTS ARE TO THE MIND, what food is to the body.—On the due digestion of facts depends the strength and wisdom of the mind, just as vigor and health depend upon digestion of food. The most effective person and the most agreeable companion in the commerce of human life, is that individual who has assimilated to his understanding the greatest number of facts."—Burke.

Facing the facts is not always pleasant, but it is always the wise and sensible action. Refusing to face the facts is, at best, temporary. Postponement often makes the experience worse than it would have been. Generally, it is better to accept the realities of today, and do our honest best to deal with them successfully.

FACTS MUST BE faced sometime, someplace. Many times we damage ourselves and our life situation by refusing to face the facts which concern us.

In fact, this is a sure way to compound our troubles. Of course, it is admitted that there may be a more opportune time for dealing with some realities. If so, we must act accordingly.

LIVES ARE SHORTENED by some people because they refuse to face the facts about themselves from the standpoint of their need for medical care.

Many people keep themselves miserable by their refusal to face the facts about undesirable characteristics which should be corrected.

MANY LIVES are missed because people are unwilling to face the facts of life, at best, is brief and unmeaning things to be done; but their refusal to come to grips with obvious reality is disastrous neglect.

Real facts which concern us disappear just because we refuse to face them. Sooner or later, one way or another they must be faced.

ALL PERSONAL failure is the result of mishandling of the facts of life.

Gayle's BAKERIES

By GAYLE MILLS
 LEADER-NEWS SOCIETY EDITOR

MARIE CLINE of Littlefield presented me with the idea, one day last week, that she needed some new recipe ideas for eggplant, squash and rhubarb.

Being a native of Oklahoma, I've eaten quite a bit of eggplant and rhubarb in my time--mama used to fix dried eggplant and rhubarb pies--good eating too!

I've scanned through my recipe books and have come up with some recipes that I haven't tried, but they sound delicious, at least I think.

HERE'S A STUFFED eggplant recipe that sounds pretty good.

STUFFED EGGPLANT
 1 large well-shaped eggplant.
 Black pepper
 3/4 cup cracker crumbs
 1/2 cup whipping cream
 2 tbsp. butter
 2 tbsp. grated onion
 4 tbsp. grated cheese
 Paprika

Cut eggplant in half lengthwise. Scoop out inside being careful not to break the shell. Cook pulp in small amount of salted water until done. Mash and season well with black pepper to taste. Add cracker crumbs, cream and butter, mixing well.

Pour into shells and sprinkle with grated onion, then grated cheese and paprika.

Place in a shallow pan containing about 1/4 inch water. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Serves 8.

To serve four, use only 1 shell and halve all ingredients except meat of eggplant.

HOW ABOUT the spicy flavor of a tomato-eggplant casserole?

TOMATO-EGGPLANT CASSEROLE
 1 medium eggplant (1 1/2 lbs.)
 Boiling water
 1 1/2 tsp. salt
 2 tbsp. butter
 2 eggs, beaten
 1/3 tsp. freshly ground black pepper
 1 tsp. finely chopped onion
 1/2 tsp. oregano
 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
 6 medium-sized tomato slices
 1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Peel eggplant and cut into slices one-quarter inch thick. Place in a saucepan with boiling water one-half inch deep and the salt. Cover, bring to a boiling point and cook until tender, about ten minutes. Drain and mash.

Blend in butter, eggs, pepper, onion, oregano and bread crumbs. Turn into a buttered one-quart casserole and cover surface with tomato slices. Sprinkle with grated cheese and additional salt and pepper. Bake until lightly browned, about twenty-five minutes. Yield six servings.

THIS SQUASH casserole recipe sounds quite tasty!

SQUASH CASSEROLE
 8 to 10 yellow squash, sliced lengthwise
 2 medium onions, sliced
 1/2 green bell pepper, sliced in thin strips
 2 stalks celery, diced
 Salt and pepper to taste
 Butter
 5 slices pimento cheese

Fill casserole with layers of squash, onions, pepper and celery. Sprinkle each layer with salt and pepper. Dot with butter. Cover. Bake at 325 degrees until tender. Place cheese on top. Bake until cheese is melted and cooked through squash. Remove cover the last 10 minutes. Yield: six to eight servings.

STRAWBERRY-RHUBARB Jumble

1 1-lb. pkg. frozen whole strawberries, thawed
 1 1-lb. pkg. frozen rhubarb, thawed
 Cornstarch
 1/2 c. slivered blanched almonds

1 tsp. grated lemon rind
 Drain and reserve juice from strawberries and rhubarb; measure juice. Use 1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch for each cup of juice. Gradually stir juice into cornstarch; cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until smooth and thick. Stir in almonds and lemon rind; cool slightly. Carefully fold in strawberries and rhubarb; chill until ready to serve.

RHUBARB TIPS

REMEMBER hothouse rhubarb is pink, with light green leaves. Rhubarb that is grown out of doors is darker and needs longer cooking. Always select firm young stalks with fresh-looking leaves.

FOR BAKED RHUBARB--

Prepare 1 pound of rhubarb. Add 1/2 cup of sugar. Put in a casserole, sprinkle with salt, cover and bake at 325 degrees, until tender. If baked slowly for a long time, rhubarb has a rich red color. Taste and add more sugar if needed. Cook in a double boiler, if more convenient.

RHUBARB COMPOTE--

Add sliced strawberries or pineapple bits to cooked rhubarb. Sprinkle with grated orange or lemon rind and a slight sprinkle of ginger.

I REMEMBER my mother serving stewed rhubarb on occasions.

WHEN THINKING of stewing rhubarb, remember one pound makes about 2 cups, cooked.

STEWED RHUBARB--Cut off the leaves and stem ends. Wash. If the rhubarb is young and the skin is tender, do not peel. Cut in 1-inch pieces. Sprinkle generously with sugar and, if you like a few gratings of orange or lemon peel. Add just enough water to prevent burning. Cover and cook gently until just barely tender (7 to 20 minutes). Taste and add more sugar if necessary.

RHUBARB IN SYRUP--

Prepare one pound of very tender rhubarb. Put 3/4 cup sugar and 3/4 cup water in a saucepan. Bring to the boiling point and add the rhubarb. Stir to mix well. Again bring to the boiling point. Cover and let stand until cool.

BUICK BARGAIN DAYS ARE HERE

Buick Bargain Days are saving days.

A bargain price on a stripped-down car is no bargain. But a Buick or Opel at a bargain is something else again. Because we're not selling some special stripped-down model. We're selling Buicks and Opels, the same great cars we've sold all year.

With one difference. The deals have never been better. Which means that you can move out in a new Buick or Opel at a price that's hard to believe. When Buick talks about a bargain, we give you something to believe in.

Opel 1900 Sport Coupe. With a 1.9 liter engine that operates efficiently on low lead or no lead gasolines. Hydraulic valve lifters for quiet engine operation. Power front disc brakes and more.

Skylark Custom. With Buick's exclusive nickel-plated engine exhaust valves for smoother operation on today's cleaner fuels. Comfort Flo ventilation system and more.

Your Buick-Opel dealer will give you better reasons to buy a new car now than anybody else.

The business of auto safety.

Auto safety is everyone's concern. But it's our business.

And we think the attention that's being paid to auto safety now is a good thing. Because it will result in better driving for everyone.

And, frankly, better driving for everyone means better business for us.

We say Buick is something to believe in. That's why we're trying to make it easy to be safe by putting in safety features that work by themselves. You don't have to do anything to make them work.

Like side guard beams. And the energy absorbing steering column. And the cargo guard between the trunk and back seat. They start "working" even before you get in the car.

But two safety features, two of the most vital, are worthless unless you do something first.

Seat and shoulder belts. Unfastened they do nothing. And you've seen enough statistics to know what a difference they can make. So use them.

But that's not all you can do. Because the most effective safety feature of all can't be added to our cars or anybody else's.

That feature is you. And the way you drive. Which should be defensively. And rested. And sober. We're all in this together. And together we can solve the auto safety problem once and for all.

And the time is now.

Students Prepare For Trouble Shoot

The 1971 Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest, America's premier competition for auto mechanics students, will be held at Lubbock May 4, according to Sid Landers, LHS auto mechanics instructor.

Schools throughout the area are now selecting their top mechanical students—those who excel both in the classroom and in actual mechanical work—for their teams.

The contest will be one of about 100 scheduled throughout the United States this spring.

Winners in regional meetings receive trips to the National Trouble Shooting Finals in Indianapolis June 14, 15 and 16 at the famed "500" Speedway. There they will compete for more than $125,000 worth of college scholarships and other awards.

A team consists of two students, and those who survive the written examination will then be assigned a deliberately sabotaged car to be put in running condition. All of the cars will be identical and will have a series of identical malfunctions installed beneath the hood—more problems than would occur in the average car's lifetime. Teams will race the clock and each other to restore the cars to normal running condition.

The contest is sponsored by Plymouth dealers in the area as a means of encouraging students to complete their education and to seek careers in the automobile mechanics field.

Many dealers employ Trouble Shooters as apprentice mechanics.

RANDY TROTTER, LHS junior, displays the desk with which he won first place in furniture making.

State FHA Meeting Set

The annual state meeting of Future Homemakers of America, an organization of high school homemaking students, will be held in Memorial Auditorium in Dallas, April 23-24.

More than 5,000 members and advisors representing almost 76,000 members in 1,600 chapters throughout the state will attend.

The theme of the meeting is "FHA Steps Into Action."

Keynote speakers will be Rev. Logan Cummings of Brownwood, who will speak on youth involvement in today's society and Miss Barbara Baley, former FHA Area IV President who will tell of her experiences with involvement in standing up for America.

BILL HAMBLIN displays a bowl, which won him a first place in wood turning.

BUDDY WITCHER displays his gun case project.

God's Psychiatry

By WAYLAND HUTTO

The period of one's life known as youth is the most confusing and difficult stage we experience. So many of life's mysteries are learned and experienced for the first time in the teenage years.

During these years one acquires most of his physical size and maturity. He has to suffer through glasses for his eyes and braces for his teeth. He begins to care about his outward appearance.

On the other hand, youth is an agonizing experience in regard to the development of one's values and one's peace of mind. It is a time when a person is sure of a feeling or thought one moment and against it the next.

Also, it is easy to get the idea that adulthood begins for everyone at the age of 18 and immediately, he has the ability to exercise mature wisdom—including love, judgment, and all sorts of philosophy.

Youth then is not only a time for school, as some think, but also a time for "growing up." The fact is that everyone does not "grow up" at the same age. Our different environments see to that.

In order that we might attain a more pleasant relationship with others, we must try to understand their circumstances and situation. It is not easy to mature, if one lives as though he already is.

We must recognize our weaknesses before we can take steps to overcome them; we must accept the weaknesses of others in order to be of help to them.

What it boils down to is that God loved us with all our faults. He created us different, but Christ died for us on an equal basis.

In the same manner, we are to love everyone, no matter how different they are, on the same basis as we love ourselves.

The two great commandments are to love the Lord with all our souls and to love our neighbors as ourselves.

A youth will be surprised how effective these are in scattering his "growing up" problems if he puts them to use.

Intramurals

Student Council Volleyball and ping pong intramurals will be held April 29 and 30.

Last Six Weeks To Determine Students' Fate

The last six weeks of this school year is under way. For many of the seniors it will determine whether they will be exempt or if they will have to take those dreaded final exams.

For many students this six weeks will determine if they will pass or fail a course for the year.

These six weeks will mean nothing to still other students because they know they have passed for the year.

These students often have a tendency to quit studying and just go to class for roll call. After this, they are not really in the class room but in a world of their own.

Just because it is the last six weeks is no reason to let up and just let time pass by. Get all you can out of this last six weeks of the school year.

Federal Land Bank Reduces Interest

W. H. McCown, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Littlefield, announced today that the Federal Land Bank of Houston will reduce the interest billing rate on variable rate loans to 7 1/2 percent.

"This reduction will be effective on installments maturing on or after June 1, 1971 and affects more than $110 million in variable rate loans to over 3,200 Texas farmers and ranchers," Mr. McCown stated.

The variable rate loan, which was introduced by the Houston Bank in July 1969, lets the interest rate "float" over the variations in the money market.

Food Show Winners Named

Six Lamb County 4-H'ers were among the winners in the 4-H Food Show who were named Saturday in the Texas Tech University Center Ballroom, after judging was completed on 125 entries from junior and senior high school students from 18 counties.

The senior winners will compete in state competition at Texas A&M University at College Station in June.

Competition was divided into four areas—milk, meat, fruit and vegetable, and bread and cereal.

None of the Lamb County 4-H'ers were in the top awards, but one received a blue ribbon and the other received red ribbons.

Barbara Black, of the Sudan 4-H Club, was awarded a blue ribbon in the senior meat division.

The five who received red ribbons were Don Branscum and Michael Graham, both of the Springlake 4-H Club, and Sandra Mills of the Amherst Club. These were entered in the junior division.

In the senior division, red ribbons went to Connie Ham and Helen Black, both of the Sudan 4-H Club.

New Minister

"Decisions You Face—How Will You Make Them?" will be the main subject for discussion by Hermod Jensen, new circuit minister who is visiting the Littlefield congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses this week for the first time.

Jensen will speak next Sunday on this subject at the Kingdom hall, 933 E. 14th, at 9:30 a.m. and the public is invited to attend.

According to Jensen the ministerial work being accomplished in this area is receiving a very encouraging reception because of the interest in the Bible among many families.
