In their regular business meeting Thursday night, Littlefield city councilmen passed a resolution awarding the bid for depository of city funds to Security State Bank, heard Charles Duval discuss a proposal for support of the Meals On Wheels program in Littlefield, heard Roy Wade discuss the Homestead exemption for persons 65 years old and older, made several changes in the proposed 1974-75 budget, and placed under study a request from Doyle Winfield to place a street light at the corner of Harris Street and Highway 385.

Charles Duval explained the plight of the Meals-On-Wheels program, due to the cutting of funds from the Office of Equal Opportunity (OEO) which was supporting the program. He advised that the program serves one hot meal per day for the elderly and shut-ins, and has been aiding 35 persons in Littlefield, until a month ago when the program was stopped.

He explained that operational funds are available through the state's Title IV-A contracting for 70 percent of the program, and the local community finishing up with 30 percent of the cost—or approximately $3,000 to be divided equally between the city and the county.

He also advised that the cost of food would be the burden of the local community—the $8,000—while the state is to provide the operational costs of personnel, travel of a coordinator, equipment, rent or lease of a building, and other miscellaneous items. That would include the other 70 percent of the total cost of the program.

Councilmen decided to study the matter after a deeper study of the proposed budget was made, then come to a conclusion on the matter.

A special committee composed of Roy Wade, Ewing Thaxton, Blanche Dodgen, Gladys Houk, and Mrs. Viggo Peterson were present to discuss the Homestead Exemption for persons 65 years old or older.

Councilmen advised them that a decision would be made after the proposed budget was studied.

Several items of the budget were discussed, with several cut from the upcoming year's plans.

In his recommendation to the councilmen, City Manager Jim Blagg stated: "Attached you will find an analysis of the water production and sewage treatment costs. These analysis were prepared in an attempt to determine if our current utility rates were in line with current costs. The costs used in the study were taken from the annual audit for 1972-73, the latest complete cost figures available to us."

He continued, "Based on the 1972-73 cost figures, it now costs the city approximately 47 cents per thousand gallons to produce and distribute. The revenue for that same period was 51 cents per thousand gallons.

"The cost for collecting and treating waste water for 1972-73 was 35 cents per thousand. During this same period, the revenues were only 23 cents per thousand, reflecting a net loss for treating waste water. The overall system had a total of $65.90 more revenue than cost for the fiscal year 72-73," he stated.

He continued, "Due to the small margin of revenues over costs and due to the fact that since the end of fiscal year 72-73 (Sept. 30, 1973), we have experienced numerous cost increases, it is therefore recommended that the following rate increases be placed into effect on Oct. 1, 1974.

"1. That the water rate schedule be increased by 5 cents per thousand gallons, and that the minimum remain at $1.50.

"2. That the sanitary sewer rate be increased from $1.50 per month to $2.50 per month.

He concluded, "Your consideration and approval of these recommendations is respectfully requested. With these increases, we can bring the budget into line."

Councilmen decided to take another look at the budget, then decide whether to grant the Homestead Exemption or to aid the Meals on Wheels program.

SUDAN— Miss Sue Noles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Noles of Sudan, and John M. Hruska, son of Mrs. W. J. Hruska and the late Mr. Hruska of San Angelo, exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony in Sudan First Baptist Church, at 7 p.m. Saturday, July 27th with Rev. Eddie Freeman officiating.

The front of the church was decorated with spiral candlelabrums with pink candles entwined with greenery and pink flowers. The candles formed a half circle around the wedding party.

The bride was presented in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of silk organdy with a high lace neck and rounded yolk. Lace bordered the edge of the skirt and chapel train. The elbow length veil was attached to a pearl embroidered lace cap to match the trim on the dress. She wore spur earrings, a gift from the groom, to carry out the western theme. In her shoe she wore pennies minted in the years of their birth. For something old, she wore a ring

Lamb County Sheriffs A Special Breed Of Men

Public officials sometimes perform a thankless job, and many are the worries and temptations they endure. The responsibility of keeping law and order plus the temptations placed in the lawman's way, inflicted wear and tear on some who served in that capacity. Murders, bank robberies; and all the criminals that have existed during their time has been their obligation to apprehend.

During the roaring twenties and the days of prohibitions the sheriff and his appointed deputies had to track down the bootleggers; and as the sandhills were a favorite haunt of the bootlegger and his customers, this was a difficult task. Just as the sandhills provided a hiding place for the early lawbreakers during the cattleman's period; it again was used during the days of the prohibition. Many are the rumors concerning dark crimes committed in the sandhills and secrets that are buried with the shifting sand.

It was also during the period of the roaring twenties the greatest transition in the county took place, the final stage from the cowboy era to the sod-buster; so the sheriff must be a man who was familiar with the passing era, as well as being able to cope with the new. Of course this great land boom period and the breaking out of the ranch land, was bringing in new people by the thousands with varied backgrounds from the east, west, north and south. So, it was somewhat of a "melting pot" of Americana; as well as new customs being brought by immigrants lured to the area from the European countries.

Until the forming of the county and the naming of a "County Sheriff", the cowboys more or less had a law of their own. If things became "too hot" for them they could always drift out to other parts, sometimes with the Texas Rangers close behind.

And now, in recognition and remembrance of those who served so well, the Lamb County Historical Society wishes to pay tribute.

We wish to establish a hall of fame in the Lamb County Sheriff's Office in their honor. We have secured a picture of each and every one of them, have had them all enlarged and made the same size with each one's name and dates that he served.

Now we are notifying their nearest of kin and wish to have their presence at the Lamb County Court room, on Monday, Aug. 12th, at 3 in the afternoon, when we will have a little program honoring this occasion.

The public is invited.

TRIBUTE TO A FRIEND

We greatly regret the passing of our friend, Lenton Smith.

A friend to us who came to know us and our family well.

I look back and see the many times he was truly my friend.

The passing of my sister, my father, my mother.

My wife's father and her sister, along with our many dear friends.

Lenton always had a kind word, a way to say the right thing at the right time. I remember the emergency trips he made for us to the hospital, his patience and consideration of others will long be remembered, not only by us but through the entire community.

Lenton was known far and wide. He will be missed greatly in the entire community.

Our love and respect go out to his loving wife, his son, Randy, and the entire family.

Campfire Cautions

EVERYBODY KNOWS about the danger of fire and poisoned insect bites, but not many people have ever heard about the damaging effects of beryllium dust.

Exposure to fumes and dust from a metal called beryllium can cause damage to the lungs. The fumes can come from the mantles of some—not all—gas lanterns used in camping, says Kyle Griggs of the University of California's Lawrence Livermore Laboratory.

THE MANTLE in gas lanterns is a device consisting of a sheath of threads, which gives off brilliant light when heated by the gas flame. When a new mantle is used, beryllium fumes can be released in the first few minutes. The mantle is usually lit in a confined space—like a tent—and the camper leans directly over the lamp, breathing the fumes deep into his or her lungs.

Lighting any gas lamp—the first time it's used—in an open area and letting it burn ten or fifteen minutes in the open can reduce the hazard to the lungs. Taking care not to blow on the lantern to clean it, a process that stirs up the beryllium dust, is important.

MANY PRODUCTS containing beryllium are not so labeled, and consumers are not aware that precautions are necessary to protect their health. Some brands of gas lanterns contain the metal but do not list it. Workers involved in making these products face the greatest danger. Beryllium is used mainly in the aerospace, nuclear, computer, and ceramics industries.

Inhaling very small amounts of beryllium dust or fumes can cause severe, irreversible lung disease after such a short period as six months. Take care with gas lanterns. It's a matter of life and breath.

A Woman's View

By PEARL BRANDON

SOMETIMES it is hard to continue to have faith in our world and what may be coming to pass when we hear so many negative things being reported on the news media.

There is so much happening all over the world—wars, strife, hunger disease and pain.

WE LOOK with fear on what the future may hold, but I would like to point out some good things, especially in our own beautiful country.

Often we hear the expression "the greatest country on earth," and it is. Most people in the world, that knows anything about this nation, would like to live here.

IN READING the history of the nations we find such words as the guillotine, decapitation, broken on the wheel, starvation in lice and rat infested prisons, burned at the stake, sentenced to Siberia and tortured. Many were exiled to lonely islands, while others were forced to roam the earth without a home or country.

The common people lived as serfs with nothing to call their own. Many were forced to join religious or organizations they did not believe in, and many were sold for their debts, while the nobility lived luxuriously in fine castles.

Women had very few privileges, even those of royal families were bartered off and forced to marry persons they had never met, or knew anything about.

ALL THIS was happening when America was discovered. The people fled from the nations all over the world to America where they could breathe free and worship God according to the dictates of their own hearts, and where they could establish homes in a free land.

Now almost two hundred years after the Declaration of Independence we have grown to be the strongest nation in the world, made up of all races, colors and creeds. Where even the very poor are rich compared with the people in some countries.

THIS HAS been through the help of brave men and the help of the one true God whom most of us worship. We worship Him in different ways but most of us believe in Him.

Most people who came here were common people of other lands, like the inscription on the Statue of Liberty which says:

"GIVE ME your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free;
The wretched refuse of your teeming shores.
Send these, the homeless, tempest tossed to me
I lift my lamp beside the Golden Door."

THIS WAS written by a Jewish woman, Emma Lazarus, and describes so well the people who came here seeking freedom.

Because of the struggle of these brave people I can sit tonight in the quietness of my home and read my Bible, and meditate. I can visit my friends, shop in super markets. I could go on and on. Our children can be educated in free schools and they can follow the vocation they desire and can move from one state to another in perfect freedom.

OF COURSE there are some things we would like to change, but we can complain about them if we want to and we have the liberty to work to change them.

Beautiful churches, great hospitals, free schools and big business buildings rise high everywhere. Good roads and large air parts and airplanes make travel easy by land and by air.

SURELY this is the land of "milk and honey" looked for by people of old. The psalmist said:

"You are the fairest of them all;
Your words are filled with grace;
God, Himself, is blessing you forever.
Arm yourself, O mighty one, so glorious, so majestic."
And in your majesty go on to victory,
Defending truth, humility, and justice.
Go forth to awe-inspiring deeds!"

SURELY he was speaking of our beloved United States and we are the most fortunate of all people to be living here.

God bless America.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE We Conform

CONFORMITY IS A SUBJECT of much confusion in the thoughts and actions of many people. Some would have us believe that they are non-conformists, and they put forth great effort to try to prove their claim.

There are others who seem to be conformists to the greatest possible degree; people who are overly concerned about what others are doing, what they are wearing, etc. Somewhere between these extremes everybody else can be found.

THE ALLEGED non-conformist is probably the most self-deceived of all people. Such a person may not conform to some things, or to as many things as some other people; and it is only in this sense that the term "non-conformist" may be applied.

We must remember, however, that all of us conform to something.

Some people, in trying to make sure that they do not conform to one thing, will conform to something else which is often much worse for them.

Some people, in trying to make sure that they do not conform to one thing, will conform to something else which is often much worse for them.

THE ULTRA CONFORMIST is a rather pathetic person, because this person wants to conform with everything. Such a person exercises no discrimination; and uses very poor judgment.

This kind of behavior is an enslavement, a miserable kind of enslavement, in which there is no contentment and no stability of life. In this unwisely chosen life style, there is constant turmoil; as the individual

GUESS THE FESTIVAL must be drawing near. I'm beginning to notice a flat or two in the making, plus some very rugged looking beards.—Did we celebrate the fourth of July, yet?

Time does fly. Here it is football season and the start of school is near and next thing you know, it's Thanksgiving!

IT HADN'T REALLY dawned on me as to how we were getting along until one of my dry-land farmer friends showed up at the mill a couple of days ago, wanting credit 'til the fall of '75 on a two-dollar repair bill— "That's only 14 months away," he grinned.— MERCY!

JUDGING FROM the type of loot taken in our recent burglaries, you'd think someone is getting all set to play the old game of "Cowboys and Indians" all over again.

Really, fellows, I suppose you know you're supposed to register those guns, now. Wouldn't want to disobey the law, would you?

GUESS THAT REVENGE must be sweet to our Congressmen. There used

Turn Row COMMENTS

IN THE FIRST six months of 1974, inflation romped along at an annual rate of 12 percent. The dollar that was worth 100 cents in 1969 is now worth 75 cents and headed down fast. The American people are apparently worried and want something done.

That "something" quite plainly is going to have to be a cut in the rate of federal spending.

It took 185 years for the federal budget to reach $100 billion, 9 years later it hit $200 billion and four years after that topped $300 billion—its present level. The federal debt, which has grown by nearly $90 billion in just the past five years, has been the chief inflation booster.

Stopping the number one killer of the American people's personal financial security will mean chopping back on the goodies from government, painful as that may be.

It turns out these favors weren't free after all—something a lot of people suspected all along.

FOR ONCE the great Russian bear has a thorn in its paw that all the propaganda in the world will not budge.

According to an AP dispatch in The Daily Times of Rawlins, Wyo., drug abuse is becoming serious in the USSR.

"Alcoholism remains the nation's most chronic social problem," it is reported, "resulting in massive labor productivity shortfalls.

But some youth are evidently turning from the traditional vodka to narcotics."

As the United States moves ever-deeper into a policy of detente with the communists, it must be realized that, despite all of its claims, the "workers' paradise" is as susceptible to human continues to move from one life form to another in a futile effort to conform. Such behavior makes possible to be one's self; impossible to be one's own best self.

"WE CONFORM." There is wrong with this, unless it is a life of conformity. If it is, we are wise in our conduct of life, permitting someone else to think, and determine our way of living. It may be the way we talk, way we dress, or what we do, or we go, or all of these and more.

Although we are conforming it appears to be the custom, we like any of it. We must not let conformity be a situation in which we are following the blind.

REBELLION IS CONSIDERED the right answer by many persons, often make themselves ridiculous. Their efforts to be different, rebellion is not the answer. Rebellion is not the right way, discriminating choice is the answer.

In fact, we will be conforming, best we can do will be found in adhering to the best set of letting these standards be the to which we conform.

SLAVISH CONFORMITY is recognized. Without any sound some people change hair style, of dress and everything else. To the point of appearing to "Custom is the law of fools."

IN OUR CONFORMITY, we are wise and discriminating, and carried away by fads and fashions.

to be a saying that: "Hell hath no like that of a woman, scorned, same might apply to Congressmen." Now, that they have the rolling, they're going to discredit jumper Connally, along with King and any others who have displeasing these last few years anyone?

FOR A WHILE there it looked they might bring the bottom Cambodia into the charge, caused very much honorific designation, as you remember—like Pilate, they feared the people.

Anway, it looks as though we are becoming better acquainted with Ford. For the life of me, I don't how he's gone about staying trouble, seeing as how he was lioned by Nixon.

AT ANY RATE, we'll be all select between him (Ford) and frontrunner of the Democrats, on that is unless the Demos throw sponge, again, and run Teddie in. Wonder what George Wallace's mind?

 BROUGHT TO YOU BY

LIVING ROOMS THAT AREN'T IDEAL?

Don't be upset if your living room is not ideally shaped or proportioned. Many people have the same problem—but there are things you can do creatively to help the situation.

For instance, let's say you have a room that is shaped too squarely. You can do several things to improve its looks. For one thing you can get furniture that has long, horizontal lines. You might try a long, low cabinet. This will tend to lengthen the room usually.

For a room that's too long—and not intimate enough—you can shorten the room visually by concentrating on the wall farthest from the entrance to the room. On that wall you could use a bright color or a pattern to make the wall "come forward" and make the room seem more intimate.

In such a room you might also want to break it up by creating several separate areas, with furniture arranged in two or more groupings.

Remember that no matter what your decorating problem is, we can help with both ideas and a fine selection. Come in and look around.

Deadline Set For AC Forms

Students planning to attend Amarillo College this fall must have all admission forms on file by July 31 in order to receive a pre-advising appointment.

"The forms should be on file in my office on or before July 31," said J. Fred Balderston, registrar.

"A pre-advising and a registration appointment will be issued to all qualified applicants," he said.

Day and evening students enrolled in AC this spring semester should have application for re-admission and physical examination forms on file. The physical exam form is required of those students that plan to enroll in a physical education class or those participating in varsity or intramural sports.

Those students not enrolled this spring should have application for admission, official transcript, certificate of residence, certificate of immunization, physical exam, and college entrance tests scores on file.

Those attending the convention were Stephanie Benner, Michele Sawyer, Carol Hobrathschk, and Rhonda Hall, sponsored by Dixie Hall.

Premiums Offered For Fair Exhibitors

Exhibitors competing in the junior livestock show at the 57th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair here this fall may pocket up to $3,865 in premiums for their efforts.

Steve L. Lewis, general manager, said the cash awards are earmarked for the following areas of competition:

- Dairy calf show, Brown Swiss, $275.
- Holsteins, $275.
- Jerseys (Texas State Junior Jersey Show), $910.
- Milking Shorthorns, $275.
- Herefords (beef calf show), $975.
- Angus (beef calf show), $1,155.

Joe Wise will be the superintendent of the popular event and Ron Stanley will be assistant superintendent.

Homer B. Morris of Albuquerque, N.M., who has judged here before, will return to place dairy cattle entries, Lewis said.

All boys and girls entering this department must be regularly enrolled club members of counties having county agents or be students of Vocational Agriculture departments.

Quality cattle and keen competition has been the trademark of this event for years. Lewis pointed out.

The Fair Park Livestock Pavilion will be completed prior to the opening of the exposition, scheduled Sept. 21-28, at a cost of $250,000. The massive structure is being built with $200,000 supplied by the Lubbock County commissioners court and $50,000 from fair coffers.

Four big shows have been signed as Fair Park Coliseum attractions spanning the eight-day run.

Loretta Lynn opens the fair on Sept. 21-22. Charley Pride returns Sept. 23-24. Mel Tillis is back on the next two days and the Emmett Kelly Jr. one-ring circus closes out the show on Sept. 27-28.

Tickets for the Lynn and Tillis shows are $3, $4 and $5, while the range for Pride tickets is $4, $5 and $6. Circus tickets are priced at $2 and $3.

Shows will be presented at 7:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. daily. Mail order requests for tickets now are being accepted by the fair association at P. O. Box 208, Lubbock 79408, or at the fair office in the 200-block of E. Broadway.

The box office in Fair Park Coliseum will open along with four other ticket locations on Aug. 16, Lewis said.

Pioneer Gas Income Increased From 1973

Pioneer Natural Gas Company has announced that the consolidated net income for the second quarter amounted to $4,995,218 compared to $1,841,792 for the same period in 1973. For the first six months of 1974, the consolidated net income was $8,774,260 compared to $5,970,339 for 1973.

In making the earnings announcement, K. B. "Tex" Watson, Pioneer president, said: "Greater income from the company's subsidiaries was responsible for the increase in consolidated net income for the six-month period." He went on to say, "Even though sales of gas for irrigation returned to normal, income for the first six months from the company's gas transmission and distribution operation was less than in 1973, due principally to higher interest rates, delay in recovering increased gas costs and the warm weather early in the year."

Earnings per share for the six months amounted to $1.18 on the 7,453,028 average number of shares outstanding during the period. For the same period last year, earnings per share amounted to 80 cents.

The total volume of gas sales for the second quarter of 1974 was an all-time high in the history of the company.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News
Compiled From Sources
Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

Grain Stocks Lower . . . Cotton Screwworms Multiply . . . Auction Sales Down.

TEXAS' STOCKS of corn, sorghum, oats and barley are down to 91 million bushels; and the stock of wheat is estimated at 17.6 million bushels compared to 20 million bushels at the same time in 1973. Texas has completed harvest of a wheat crop that was about a third smaller than in 1973, a loss caused by hot dry weather in the West Texas. Sorghum stocks in the State were down to 60.2 million bushels and at 79 million bushels at the same time last year. Corn stocks were up from 10.1 million bushels on hand last year and 22.7 million bushels this year. The oat carryover also is up, from 5.3 million bushels a year ago to 8.7 million bushels this year. Cotton stocks were down from 338 thousand bushels a year ago to 136 thousand bushels this year. Commissioner John White has estimated that income this year from all agricultural sources will be $2 billion less than in 1973 because of drought effects.

HOT, DRY weather in the Rio Grande Valley has delayed the cotton harvest where USDA reported 8,000 samples were classed at Harlingen before July 19. One sample had been classed on the same date last year. USDA has announced that the 1974 loan rates for cotton are 25.26 cents a pound for middling one-inch cotton the same as the preliminary loan rates. The national loan rate for extra long staple cotton is 49.72 cents a pound.

THE SOUTHWEST Screwworm Eradication Program started at Mission has announced that Texas had 15 screwworm cases in June, the third most cases for June since the program began. June, 1972 was the worst with 25 cases and June, 1962 was next with 8,300. There were only 145 cases reported in June, 1973. The Mission program had dropped 920 million sterile flies over worm areas in the United States and Mexico. About 10 million of the flies were dropped over Texas and 107 million over Sonora and the remainder over other areas of Mexico. Bel County's 55 cases were the most for any county during June, and Kenedy County was second with 14 cases in May.

TEXAS' AUCTION markets sold 349,000 head of cattle during June, which was 46 per cent fewer than a year ago and five per cent fewer than in May, 1974. According to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Agency, cattle prices continued down, which may account for fewer sales, but drought conditions in many pastures may cause more sales in August. Sheep sales were 151,000 head in June, one per cent below a year ago and five per cent above the previous month. Hog sales totaled 36,000 head during June, three per cent above a year ago and 10 per cent below the previous month. Texas shipped 225,184 head of cattle and calves out of the State and 53,378 head shipped into the State from other states during June.

THERE WAS a parallel story for cattle and calves held for slaughter. Texas Crop and Livestock Service reported 1,777,000 head being fed for slaughter markets on a decline of 24 per cent from a year earlier and eight per cent below the number on June 1. "The July 1 estimate is the lowest since October 1, 1971 when it was 2,000," says TCLS. Among the 220 large feedlots in Texas with capacity of 1,000 or more head, 180 reported that 1,739,000 cattle on feed for slaughter, and 10 reported they were empty.

Fiesta Slated For Levelland

Levelland will be officially designated as the Mexican Independence Fiesta Site for the celebration on Sept. 14, 15th and 16th. Permission was secured from the Mexican Consulate at his office in Lubbock.

The three-day celebration will be climaxed by crowning a Fiesta Queen and two princesses (first runner-up and second runner-up)— A parade will be held on Saturday, Sept. 14.

Any girl desiring to run for Fiesta Queen must be of Mexican-American descent. She may secure her own sponsor, or she may run independently.

Permits may be obtained at the Levelland Chamber of Commerce Office any day during their regular hours Monday through Friday. Girls who wish to enter should obtain their permit and then contact Mrs. Rosa Hinojosa at 894-5634; Levelland; or Mrs. Yolanda Guzman at 747-4097 in Lubbock; or Nancy Price at 894-7568 in Levelland after 6 p.m.

This is an open contest and any girl from the counties surrounding Levelland may enter. There will be a grand prize for the queen and the first and second runners-up; plus their reigning over the fiesta activities with the official guests from our local consulate office and area. Within the next 10 days, all girls entered will be called to a meeting so we need to have entries in as quickly as convenient.

Anyone interested in setting up a booth at the Fair Grounds or entering a float in the parade should contact Rudy Hinojosa, 894-5634, Levelland; or Paul Frescaz, 894-5757, Levelland; or Jesse Guzman at 747-4097 in Lubbock. Dances will be held nightly along with other entertainment.

All surrounding counties are invited to participate in this authorized Fiesta celebration, but we want to remind all that this fiesta is open for the general public's entertainment and all are welcome and wanted to join the festivities or set up booths, or dance or just be a good spectator!

Popped Milo Under Study In WTSU Feeding Laboratory

A follow-up study on the practicality of popped milo as swine feed is presently underway at West Texas State University in Canyon.

The grain sorghum processing study is a sequel to a pilot study undertaken by WT last fall which showed an increased swine digestion efficiency of 15 percent less feed required per pound of gain.

In the present study the milo is being tested in two levels of popping, says Dr. Jim McManigal, WTSU professor and project coordinator. For the first, only "about one percent is popped before it is rolled. The other is 90 percent popped."

"It looks like Post Toasties, and tastes like popcorn," says Dr. John McNeill, WT animal science professor assisting in the project.

The popping is another way devised to increase the efficiency of the digestion of the animal, and is already being used successfully in the cattle feedlot industry.

The popping "disrupts the starch granules, and makes more surface area available to the enzymes in the stomach for easier digestion," says McNeill.

"For the small producer the cost would be prohibitive," McManigal notes.

The machine being used is the Triplett-Polan Popper, which McManigal describes as "about six feet wide, 20 feet long, and ten feet high" that requires "an initial investment of up to $15,000."

McManigal predicts that "in five to ten years, there will be commercial swine feeding lots" in the area as in the cattle industry.

"Texas consumes 100 percent more pork than it produces. The market is wide-open, and there has been a lot of interest in the industry," says McManigal. "One problem, however, is the marketing of swine in this area."

Although the study will not be completed until late in August, McNeill mentions a little difficulty with the more heavily popped milo. Perhaps because the grain has more bulk, "it had reduces intake, and the gains have been lower," McNeill observes.

The research is a cooperative project between West Texas State University and Texas Tech. McManigal has an undergraduate and a graduate student of WT assisting him.

The Hazards Involved In Growing Pinto Beans

Beans have captured the attention of many High Plains farmers this year. These people have grown beans before and should be aware of some hazards involved, according to Jim Valliant, director at the High Plains Research Foundation, Texas.

Another critical time to check for moisture content of the soil is when the plant begins to develop small shoots, or runners," said Valliant. "In fact, beans should be irrigated about every 12 to 20 days, depending on weather conditions, etc. until the crop approaches maturity." Harvest of the beans should begin when about 80 percent of the pods are yellow and mostly ripe. At no time should the moisture content of the beans be allowed to drop below 40 percent before the beans are undercut and windrowed.

Other information on pinto beans can be obtained from the 1973 Annual Research Report of the High Plains Research Foundation, or by contacting the Foundation, 6100 Route, Plainview, Texas, 79072.

Insect Resistant Cotton Sought

Scientists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station will share in a continuing three-year grant from the Rockefeller Foundation for research to develop cotton varieties that are resistant to insect attack.

Dr. Perry L. Adkisson, researcher and head of Texas A&M University's Entomology Department, is coordinator for the cooperative project that also involves universities in two other cotton producing states and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Cooperating in the research are scientists with Mississippi State University, the University of California at Davis, and the Agricultural Research Service.

Adkisson said the three-year grant is for $500,000, of which $97,000 annually will come to the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the USDA's Entomology Research Center at Brownsville to continue cotton investigations.

Experiment Station scientists of A&M involved in the project include Dr. G. A. Niles of the Soil and Crop Sciences Department, Dr. Luther Bird of the Plant Sciences Department, and J. K. Walker, Jr., of the Entomology Department. Cooperating at Brownsville are Dr. M. J. Lukafahr and R. R. H. Dillard.

"Researchers from Texas A&M are placing emphasis on cotton fleahopper and boll weevil resistant types of cotton, along with short season cottons that may outrun insect attacks. Additionally, Dr. Bird is working to incorporate plant disease resistance into the new insect resistant types," Adkisson said.

Niles also is working with short season types and fleahopper and boll weevil resistant cottons, while Walker is conducting an entomological evaluation of these types, Adkisson emphasized.

USDA researchers are working on cottons resistant to bollworm and tobacco budworm, with particular emphasis on high gossypol types, the project director added.

"Sources of resistance in cotton to boll weevil, budworm and bollworm, fleahopper and lygus have been discovered in the research program. One commercial variety has already been released through the project in Mississippi that has a moderate level of resistance to lygus, fleahopper, bollworm and the budworm," Adkisson noted.

"While the Mississippi variety is the first commercial insect resistant cotton ever to be released, we expect to have a continuing flow of these types of cotton. Bird and the A&M team will seek to incorporate the insect resistant characteristics into improved TAMCOT lines," Adkisson said.

History Of Anton Explored By Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: This story was run in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal Sunday, Sept. 2, 1951, as one of a series of stories on South Plains towns and cities. Headlines above it read: "Anton, Steady Farm Community, Given Boost By Oil Industry." By KENNETH MAY A-J Staff Writer

ANTON, Sept. 1.—From the looks of things the early morning of Dec. 3, 1924, this town was destined to boom overnight.

Hundreds of property seekers flocked behind a fence and gate at the south edge of town on that eventful morning to make their mad rush into Anton, grab a tag from a stake on one of the new town's lots, and make a down payment for a future home or business site.

Churchwomen from Littlefield were on hand to serve lunches and refreshments to the throng of persons and a program and other festivities were the order of the day until a sandstorm tore down the booths in the late afternoon.

Ed M. Hart, one of the members of the townsite company—styled R. L. Duggan and associates—and now the owner of the La Harte theater here, said the town was opened at 10 a.m. on Dec. 3, 1924.

Every lot in the town had a tag giving its cost, down payment required and terms of payment." Hart said. "Hundreds of people had been into the townsite to look over the lots, but none were sold until the gate was opened that morning. Then, everyone made a mad dash toward his favorite lot trying to beat other home seekers to the plot. The successful one grabbed up the tag and then went to the townsite office to make down payment."

First Houses Started
It wasn't long thereafter that the first homes in the new town were under construction and, two other brick business buildings were completed. The buildings still stand in downtown Anton.

Named for the then superintendent of the Santa Fe railroad, which had a siding near here, Anton grew slowly following a crop failure in the immediate vicinity in 1926. The entire region was just being cut up into farms out of the old Spade ranch and when the crop failure hit, according to Hart, a number of persons left the region. It wasn't long, however, until the region was again booming.

Through the intervening quarter century-plus, Anton has remained a farm community although the Anton-trish oilfield—small but productive—has brought in additional wealth and helped to keep the community's economy on an even keel.

There are now four gins and three grain elevators in the town, served by about 45 retail business establishments, seven churches and a modern school system.

Resourceful Community
Sandwiched into the north-east corner of Hockley county near the point where Lubbock, Lamb, Hockley and Hale counties meet, Anton is a city with the power and drive of a resourceful farm community. Only two years ago, a new sewer system was placed into operation and the town's water system now serves the entire city, according to City Secretary A. H. Vincent.

Although parts of the town need larger water mains for desired water pressure, Anton likes to boast that its water supply is adequate for all needs. Evidence of this is the city's practice of charging a flat rate of $3.50 per month for water, with no meters and the customer allowed to use all the water he wishes.

Mayor George Broome points out that about 40 percent of the town's streets, including all the main thoroughfares, are paved. He and Commissioners Alvin Crews and Sol Gann are responsible for the operation of the city at this time.

Dairies Prove Help
Crews points out that Anton has, besides its gins and grain elevators, an alfalfa hay dehydrating plant. Several dairies in the trade territory help to balance the economy of the region and help business in such years as this, when hail and rain shortened the expected cotton yield to "some where around 25,000 bales," K. W. Wells, local cotton agent and crop observer, has estimated this year's crop at 30,000 bales. Cotton, followed by grain sorghums, are the principal crops of the area.

During the last year and a half, several new business buildings and about 35 new homes have been constructed in Anton. The Forrest Lumber company opened a new store and lumber yard here last month and other new businesses have moved into the town recently. A new school gymnasium was built last year.

The Citizens State bank of Anton, headed by Hobart Lewis, vice president and cashier, and President John H. Howard, is the financial backbone of the community and helps make the city a primary farm market.

New Addition Planned
Hart reports that the townsite company is at present contemplating opening up a new addition to the town to care for growing population. During the 1940-50 decade, the city's official population grew from 549 to 929 and estimates by city leaders place the current population at about 1,000.

Anton Boasts a 9-hole golf course which would be a credit to any small town and its annual events include a lions club auction in which everything including the kitchen sink is sold on a regular commission basis. It's all part of the town's effort to keep itself "a mighty good trading center."

J. S. Bridges now heads the Anton Public schools, which have experienced gradual enrollment increases during recent years. Like other regions of the South Plains, the Anton area expects to continue its growth as long as underground water supplies for irrigation hold out. Right now, local citizens believe that will be a long time.

RURAL EMPLOYMENT

For the first time in over 30 years, nonmetro job opportunities are increasing faster than city jobs—twice as fast according to the latest survey.

RURAL LIFE

Rural life holds more magnetism for Americans these days. Four recent national surveys show that more than twice as many people want to live in rural or small-town areas as now live there.

RURAL LIVING

Farmers, all too often left to grow old alone, are pushing job producing rural development so that some of their children may establish homes nearby instead of moving to crowded cities in search of employment.

STACY-MASON SHOWS YOU HOW TO CHOOSE YOUR NEW CARPET AND BE SURE ABOUT IT!

This section is designed to help you make the correct choice for your new carpet and then how you should care for your new carpet, to keep it useful and becoming for many years. We at Stacy-Mason have been selling carpet for many years. By this experience we feel qualified to make these following suggestions. Please hold on to this section—you may want to refer to it again in the future.

Important points to check...before you decide on carpet:

Check the usage: If you are putting carpet in an area that gets heavy wear . . . on the stairs, in front of a doorway, in a main traffic area, choose a tough, rugged carpet for long service. Tightly twisted carpets work best in these areas, as do some of the man-made fibers such as nylon and polyester. For rooms that get less wear, such as bedrooms and livingrooms you can concentrate on other qualities than rugged durability. There's a carpet for every purpose . . . make sure you get the right one.

Check the fiber: There are lots of fine carpet fibers . . . all of them have been proven by time-testing and long wear. Foremost among them is still wool . . . then there is nylon, acrylics, polyesters, olefins. Come in. We will be happy to explain the differences to you.

Check the color: Color is important in choosing your carpet . . . because you are going to have to live with it for a long, long time. Be sure that the color is right. Look at the sample under store lights, under incandescent lights (they make a difference when compared with fluorescent light) and if possible in the daylight. Make sure the color is right for you and that you—and your husband—will be happy with it.

Check the style: Today, carpet comes in a wide variety of styles to fit everyone's taste and needs. You'll find them all displayed here . . . and you can choose the style that suits you best. If you long for shags, or plushes, or sculptured or level loop . . . we have them all. Come in and see how varied carpet styles are.

Check the price: Carpet prices vary, of course. And, as with anything else, you get what you pay for. We make every effort to give you the very best value for your dollar . . . we buy carefully and when we make an unusual buy, we pass the savings on to you. Come in. You'll find real value—whatever the price. And rest assured, we'll help you find the right carpet to fit your purse and your person.

Check the dealer: Look for a dealer who has a good reputation and good selection, and who handles brand name carpets like Evans and Black. He should be interested in your particular flooring situation . . . enough to suggest which carpets will perform best. He should have Carpetunity, Your Best Opportunity in Carpet.

Check the installation: Is it a modern method performed by professionals? Is it guaranteed? Can your carpet be installed when you want it?

Check the padding: Is it guaranteed? Do you have a choice of padding types? You may like your carpet to be firmer or more luxurious. The carpet foundation can accomplish this for you.

All of these points are important ones to check on before you buy. Stacy-Mason understands each of these checks and will be happy to go through each. We will give you the facts so that you can make the best selection for your own needs.

Now if you will turn the page, Stacy-Mason will help you maintain your carpet's beauty.

How to figure Square Yards

Take the length in feet needed of the carpet broadloom and multiply by the width in feet, the product of which gives you square feet. Then divide by nine to get the number of square yards. Example: a room 12 feet by 15 feet is 20 square yards— $12 \times 15 = 180$ square feet divided by 9 = 20 square yards. There is an easier way. Keep reading.

Almost every retail carpet store advertises or promotes a square-yard price either on the carpet alone or with installation. At Stacy-Mason, all carpet is priced installed with the exception of remnants. This square-yard price really doesn't tell you anything specific about how much it will cost you in total to carpet a room—which is really what you're interested in. That's why we have included here a way you can give yourself a cost figure that means something—something you can work with in deciding whether or not to make the purchase. All you need to know is the approximate size of the room. Then, using the following charts, you can determine approximately how many square yards of carpet the job will take, what the total cost will be. This of course, would only be a rough price but it should be fairly close to the actual price and should save you some valuable time.

How to use the charts:

Enables you to quickly calculate the number of square yards involved in the job based on your estimate of room size. Find the required length in the left-hand column, the width across the top column. Moving across the chart from the length, the number directly under the width will be the approximate square yardage. For example, assume a room 19' long by 16' wide. Find 19' in the length column; move your finger across to the 16' width column; the job will require 34 square yards.

Enables you to convert square yardage into approximate price. In the left-hand column, headed "Square Yards", find the number closest to the yardage required (34 yards from previous example). Locate the price of the carpet in which you are most interested by reading across the top price column. For example: assume $9.00 a square yard for the 34 yard previous example. The approximate price of the job will be $306.00 (halfway between the price of 33 and 35 yards).

Stacy-Mason will be happy to come to your home, measure your floors and tell you exactly how many square yards. Just call us.

STACY-MASON SUGGESTS:

How To Maintain Your Carpet

With the emergence of man-made fibers as the principal pile material for carpets and rugs, the primary factor in wear life has shifted from abrasion resistance to a multifaceted characteristic we call appearance retention. Except in very unusual circumstances, carpets made with pile of DuPont nylon, Antron* nylon, and Dacron* polyester will not wear out in the usual sense of pile fiber abrading away until the backing shows through. However, the appearance of these fabrics may deteriorate over a period of time due to dirt accumulation, crushing of the pile fiber, and accidental damage including burns, stains, and rips. With good care, original appearance of properly constructed carpet can be maintained over a long period of time.

Appearance retention is affected by many factors including:

1. Type of Soil—This factor is, of course, fixed and unalterable for a given installation. It should be one of the prime considerations when color and pattern are selected. Dark, oily soil precludes use of light colors; light clay or cement dust shows readily on deep tones.

2. Amount of Soil—Physical volume of soil will be greatest at junctions of the carpet with hard surface areas. Amount of soil can often be reduced through use of grates or mats or other shoe cleaning devices.

3. Carpet Color and Texture—Pile texture, color, and fiber optics are set when the carpet is selected and the prudent buyer will give thoughtful consideration to these factors prior to making a purchase. Soiling appearance can be reduced by matching carpet color to ambient soil. Print patterns and tweed effects tend to disguise spots and stains. Pebbled or rippled texture helps to blend uneven soiling into a more uniform, less objectionable appearance.

4. Carpet Construction—Two aspects of carpet construction, density and fiber optics, have a pronounced effect on appearance retention. Pile density is the key to crushing performance and it is probably true that a good quality carpet can be made with any fiber if enough is used.

The amount of pile yarn needed depends on the characteristics of the particular fiber involved. For example, at a given density, we find carpets of nylon to be the most crush resistant and for this reason, carpets of other fibers such as polyester and acrylic must usually be constructed at heavier weight to give equivalent crushing performance. Recent advances in fiber optics such as provided by the four-void, hollow filament structure of "Antron" nylon and the trilobal shape of "Dacron" polyester have greatly expanded the range of colors which will give good soiling performance. These specialized filament structures scatter incident light so that entrapped soil is mostly obscured and many soil concentrations, which would ordinarily appear as spots, blend unnoticeably into the overall tone of the carpet.

5. Quality of Maintenance—This is the most important aspect of carpet appearance retention since it can mean the difference between a long attractive life and a short, financially painful experience. In the following sections, we present recommended procedures designed to maintain carpets of Du Pont fibers at a high level of appearance throughout their useful life.

WHERE DIRT COMES FROM

The dirt or soil that deposits on and in a carpet comes from several sources.

a. Soil Deposited by Exposure to Foot Traffic—Tracked in soil from external sources generally consists of either an oily type from streets and parking areas or a dry dust from sidewalks or unpaved areas. Internally generated soil consists primarily of wax and dust from adjacent hard floor areas and of cooking oils aerosoled and carried by foot and by air current to carpeted areas. Soil color varies depending upon geographic location and urban versus rural type exposures. For example: red clay soil is common to the rural south whereas oily, grey-black soil is encountered in metropolitan areas such as New York City.

b. Soil Transmitted by Air Flow—This soil is distributed by ventilating and heating systems and through doors and open windows that allow passage of air borne soot and dust particles.

c. Spills—Wherever people are living or working, carpets receive a constant flow of lint, crumbs, tobacco, coffee, ashes, pencil shavings, hair, water.

MINIMIZING APPEARANCE OF SOIL

There is no way to keep carpets in regular use from getting dirty but the soiling rate can be slowed down in many cases.

Tracked soil can be greatly reduced by use of walk-off mats located at entrances and where carpet adjoins floor areas such as kitchens and bathrooms. These walk-off mats can be made from several types such as:

1. A bound rug made from the same material as the carpet.
2. A special rug sold or leased for a specific purpose.
3. A hair or manila fiber mat.
4. A rubber or plastic mat.

Special attention should be given to choosing the proper carpet to choose proper carpet color to reduce appearance of soiling. Tweeds generally show less than solid colors. Medium-depth pile shows soil less than lighter shades. Dark shades of greys, browns, and greens are particularly good for their soil hiding properties. Very dark shades show colored dust badly and should be avoided close to entryways or adjacent to hard areas.

Carpet construction is also an important criterion for critical locations where traffic and soiling could be a problem. Tightly constructed loop pile carpets are especially good for their resistance to crushing under heavy traffic and for reduced tendency for soil entrapment.

Maintenance 'Critically Important'

A routine maintenance program is critically important in maintaining carpet at a satisfactory level of appearance. Almost all carpet cleaning consists of common sense practice of these cardinal rules.

- a. Frequent (daily to weekly depending on traffic volume and location) vacuuming or sweeping of all areas.
 - b. Prompt removal of spills and attention to spots and smudges.
 - c. Light cleaning with "dry powder" for foam of heavy traffic areas as needed to prevent "over-soiling."
- Daily vacuuming is essential to reduce abrasion by sand and grit and to prolong

A hand pushed carpet sweeper equipped with a revolving brush is a valuable tool for picking up crumbs and loose debris which accumulate on the surface of the carpet. In areas of extremely heavy foot traffic, it sometimes may be necessary to vacuum several times per day.

EQUIPMENT SELECTION AND USAGE

An upright vacuum cleaner of the motor driven brush and beater type is essential for proper carpet care. A tank type cleaner can be used for occasional touch-up work but is not recommended as the principal cleaning equipment. The combination of a tank cleaner and a separate motor driven brush and beater floor tool can be used to advantage. The tank cleaner can also be used with a vacuum wand to pick up loose surface dirt and to clean difficult to reach areas. For high traffic areas, we recommend use of a mechanical pile brush. The pile brush (hand or mechanical) reduces the tendency of the carpet surface to compact by better opening and erecting of the pile. Pile brushing should always be done against the nap of the pile and is highly recommended in corridors and traffic lanes.

The appearance and texture of high pile shag carpeting can be maintained by periodic use of a smooth toothed pile rake.

Major Cleaning

Over a period of time, every carpet will accumulate soil which is bound in place and cannot be removed by routine sweeping and vacuuming. It then becomes necessary to employ a more rigorous cleaning method. The importance of cleaning carpet promptly when it begins to show soil cannot be overemphasized. Failure to do so will result in rapid deterioration of appearance and materially shorten effective life.

Two options are available; the carpet may be cleaned by one of several "Do-It-Yourself" methods or a professional carpet cleaner may be engaged.

Do-It-Yourself

Aerosol Foam Spray—For lightly soiled carpet only. This method involves application of foam from a spray can, hand scrubbing with a sponge or suitable brush, drying and vacuuming. Since little moisture is involved, the carpet dries quickly and is out of service for only a few hours; however, depth of cleaning is slight and this method may be required relatively frequently to maintain the desired level of appearance.

"Dry" Power—For light to medium soiled carpet. This method employs a granular powder which has been impregnated with a volatile cleaning solvent. The powder is worked into the carpet by either hand brushing or a revolving brush machine. The solvent releases entrapped soil and after it evaporates, both powder and soil are vacuumed from the carpet.

The dry powder method will minimize the slight texture and color changes which sometimes occur when wet shampooing is employed. Carpet cleaned by this method can be returned to service very quickly.

Wet Shampoo—For light to medium soiled carpet. This method involves use of a rotary brush shampoo machine and liquid detergent solution. Lightweight shampoo equipment can be rented in most localities from local hardware and flooring stores. This is the most rigorous of the Do-It-Yourself methods and can be quite effective; however, it wets out the carpet pile considerably requiring longer drying time than the foam or powder methods and can result in texture damage to carpets of low pile density (shags, some saxons, and plushes) if the machine is operated carelessly. Prior to use of this system, the shampoo solution should be checked to assure that it:

- a. Dries to a powder without a sticky residue.
- b. Will not adversely affect any of the colors in the carpet.

Steam Extraction—Stream extraction equipment can be rented in some localities for Do-It-Yourself cleaning. The equipment is fairly complex but when used with care will provide good results.

Professional Cleaning

The modern professional cleaner has developed the following general cleaning methods:

Rotary Brush Shampoo—This is the most and most widely used method of "in-place" carpet cleaning. It utilizes shampoo machine, which drives detergent solution into the pile with a revolving brush. This action breaks the film on the fibers and releases dirt particles trapped therein. Some procedures of wet vacuuming to remove dirt and water. In other procedures the carpet is allowed to dry after which powdered detergent dirt are vacuumed away. This method is quite effective when employed by a skilled operator. It has two disadvantages:

- a. Relatively long drying time.
- b. Some permanent pile or texture distortion of shags and high pile carpet constructions.

"Steam" Cleaning—"Steam" cleaning is a misnomer, for it is not steam but a detergent solution which is sprayed on the carpet under high pressure controlled jet. Hot water and detergent penetrate deep into the carpet, breaking the oil film and loosening dirt are extracted from the carpet immediately by means of a vacuum located immediately behind the jets. The advantages of "steam" cleaning are:

- a. Immediate soil removal by a vacuum system which sucks up detergent solution and loosened dirt.
- b. Minimum pile distortion or texture change because no pile brushing is involved. This is particularly advantageous for high pile plushes and shags where texture changes can easily take place with vigorous brushing action.

c. Detergent build-up in the carpet which may contribute to resoiling is minimized.

Dry Powder—In this method, a saturated absorbent powder is worked into the carpet pile by hand or by a revolving brush machine. After the wet powder is applied, it is allowed to dry for a period generally several hours, and then the carpet is vacuumed.

- Advantages:
- a. Minimizes texture and color change.
 - b. Prolongs time before wet cleaning becomes necessary.

Disadvantages:

- a. Not as effective for cleaning very soiled carpet, particularly dry clay soils deeply imbedded in the pile.

Tips on how to remove spots, stains

Sooner or later, almost everyone will spill something on their new carpet and need advice on how to remove the substance before it leaves a stain. As a handy source of information, we have listed below some basic stain removal rules and a stain removal chart.

To prevent permanent staining, follow these basic rules for spot removal:

1. Blot up spills immediately, using clean white absorbent material. The longer the spot remains, the more permanent it becomes, possibly reaching the point where it is impossible for even a professional to remove.

2. Always pre-test spotting formula on an inconspicuous area of carpeting. Place a few drops of formula on each color, hold a white tissue against the area and count to ten. Examine the tissue for dye transfer and the area tested to see what effect the formula had on the carpeting. If dye has bled or area appears changed, call your professional cleaner for advice.

3. Do not over-wet. Work with small amounts of formula and blot. Problems result from using large amounts. Blot, do not rub or brush. Excessive agitation may result in unsightly distortion.

4. Work from outer edge toward center of stain.

5. Have patience. Some stains respond slowly.

6. After thorough blotting, final step is to place a one-half inch layer of clean, white absorbent material over damp area, weighting it down. Allow six hours to dry.

7. Haphazard attempts at spot removal may result in indelible stains or permanent pile distortion. If in doubt, seek the advice of a professional rug cleaner. A few minutes on the telephone may prevent a stain or damage to your customer's carpeting.

Following are symbols and their explanations. These are materials and procedures used in the spot removal chart below.

A/ One tablespoon household ammonia added to three-quarters cup water. Add small amount and blot liquid; continue until no more stain is removed.

C/ Dry cleaning solvent. Add small amount and blot liquid; continue until no more stain is removed. Small amounts should be used to prevent damage to latex used on backing. Do not use carbon tetrachloride, gasoline or lighter fluid.

D/ One teaspoon of neutral detergent mixed with one-half pint lukewarm water. (Non-alkaline detergent not containing bleach, such as used for washing delicate fabrics.) Add small amount and blot liquid continue until no more stain is removed.

L/ Color change is probably due to dye loss on the fiber. A professional rug cleaner may be able to help the situation by re-dyeing the area.

P/ Call professional rug cleaner for advice.
R/ If discoloration remains, it is probably due to a stain which is re-dyeing the fibers.
S/ Similar staining materials are not all composed of the same ingredients. Some may act as a dye (R); others may look like a loss of dye (L), depending upon which was spilled.

T/ Place one-half inch layer of tissues or other white absorbent material over damp area, weighting it down. Allow six hours to dry.

V/ One-third cup white vinegar mixed with two-thirds cup lukewarm water. Add small amount and blot liquid; continue until no more stain is removed.
