Good News For All

THE RICH SOIL of America's farinlands produced a harvest in 1973 the likes of which has never been seen before- a healthy sign for the economy and a blessing for the farmer, who is now realizing some of the highest prices in U.S. history.

Since economic stability ultimately hinges upon the success of our agricultural industry, the implications of this situation are far-reaching.

One farmer explains it this way, " if the farmers have it good, then the nation is going to have it good.

HE HAS A POINT, "All things considered. Americans have never experienced such prosperity as now True. there have been occasional, temporary food shortages, and inflation persistently nips at the heels of the consume

But our stores are still brimming with well-stocked shelves, and, though the percentage may rise, the average American family devoted only about 15.6 percent of its disposable income for food in 1973

AS "TIME" magazine sees it, "...the improvement in the farmer's lot will probably last for many years. Prospects are strong that world demand for food will continue to grow rapidly, auguring a good return for farmers... Simultaneously, farm output will rise because the government, in a historic and long-overdue policy shift, will no longer pay farmers to hold down production.

This is, indeed, good news for our international balance of trade, not to mention the total world economy which leans so heavily upon U.S. agriculture.

EVEN AN INDUSTRIALIZED society like the U.S. must acknowledge the significant role free market agriculture plays in maintenance of "the good life." The farm community may have shrunk over the years, but its importance has not.

Easing a sore throat . . .

Blow To Honest Citizen

ANOTHER BLOW has been dealt the law-abiding American gun owner, this time in the form of a proposal that all the states band private handgun ownership and possession by 1983.

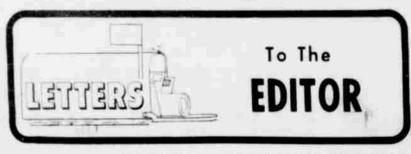

The recommendation by the National Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals rests on the shaky assumption that a strong correlation exists between the number of privatelyowned handguns and the use of guns in crimes of violence.

Such thinking is not only of gun ownership for protection and sport, expressly guaranteed by the Constitution

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL of Nevada has said. "If honest citizens are stripped of their protection, the criminal element would run rampant." His prediction has been borne out in many other countries, not the least of which is the Soviet Union

The USSR has always exercised stiff restraints on handguns and other firearms, yet several "underground gun factories" have been discovered, and theft of firearms, for illegal purposes continues unabated.

IN THE END, this nation's level of violence can only be effectively reduced by stricter enforcement of existing laws and punishment of the criminal-not his weapon

Woman's View By PEARL BRANDON

I WAS READING in First Corinthians, the 15th chapter and 1 found this Scripture: "The bodies we have now embarrass us, for they get sick and die."

I thought how true that is, "The bodies we have now embarrass us." Paul surely knew what he was talking about. Look at these old bodies of ours. Some are too fat, some are too skinny, or something else is wrong.

We don't like the way our nose is shaped, or the color of our hair. Very few of us like the color of our hair. especially the ladies. We are always changing it. Then perhaps we have big ears, or a long neck. I notice even the most beautiful women have something they would like to change, or improve upon.

IN FACT. I think all of us are a little dissatisfied with ourselves.

Probably those who are most unhappy with themselves are the ones who are growing old. All their lives they have been strong and active, then they come to the place they began to go down and they find themselves not being able to do for themselves any more, and it hurts. No one wants to be a burden to other people

I AM THINKING of old people living harder for the men. Women are used to doing house work and cooking but men usually hate it, therefore they don't eat right her early sixties. She was always beautiful. She never became aged and bent, or blind, or deaf, or have to go through the embarrassment of not being able to dress beautifully. She was beautiful all her life

I READ A BOOK this week where an old woman was trying to explain death to her grandchild. She said, "Don't you see, child, how it is in Autumn? The flowers fade and die, and the leaves turn Brown and fall, one by one, so it is with we old ones, we die one by one. It is the cycle of life.'

The spring is planting time and tiny green shoots come up from the seed, the summer is for growing-then comes Autumn and the harvest. After these come winter, the time of resting when we go to sleep and wait for the resurrection when we will be raised again.

AND WHAT KIND of bodies will we have? Paul also said in this same chapter of the Bible, "When you put a seed in the ground it doesn't grow into a plant unless it 'dies' first then it comes forth a fresh green shoot and God gives it a beautiful body.

We will not be embarrassed with that beautiful body for it will

THE ABUNDANT LIFE We Can Conserve

THE PRICE WE MUST PAY for wastefulness is too great. It may not be easy, always, to identify what is waste and what is not; but this is something we must learn to do.

Looking from the explicit viewpoint, it is probably impossible for all of us to agree about the details of what is wasteful; but, in a general sense, we can agree This difficulty doesn't matter; however, it does matter that all of us be concerned enough to do our very best to take care of our resources. We must encourage each other to do so, and, in some areas of usage, there must be some imposition of conservation. This has become necessary because of reckless misuse and wastefulness.

"WE CAN CONSERVE" many of the essential things which supply our needs, and will supply the needs of those who will live after our time. This is the wise attitude and describes the only action that makes any sense, because natural resources are limited.

To many of us, it has seemed that there was an unlimited supply; but we know that resources are not unlimited. Unfortunately, we have been behaving as if the things essential to our needs were inexhaustible; and this was a mistake

WE HAVE SEEN THE NEED, in some areas for conservation; and, in recent years, we have established systems of planned management of some resources. The purpose was to prevent exploitation, destruction and waste.

Of course, there is some opposition to such imposition; because of the

Now about the help we need from you. Will you, as the leading journal of current events in your community, give us a few lines in a prominent place in your newspaper to spread the word that citizens are welcome-in fact encouraged-to express their thoughts, their wishes and their fears about contents of the proposed new document? As long as they can drive a car and go to town and eat once a day, they do fairly well, but after that, it is hard.

I FIND THAT MEN are more embarrassed to tell their ailments when they are being interviewed than women. It is hard to accept themselves as being old and disabled. They hate to call on other people for help.

It is hard for old ladies living alone, too, especially those who cannot drive a car. I know a few old ladies who walk to the grocery store several times a week and buy only what they can carry.

I SOMETIMES THINK those who died fairly young are the lucky ones. They don't have to go through the process of growing old. I had a friend who died in NOTICED SOME OF the people who travel our roads are getting a little braver than they were last Monday, since the 55 mph limit as you would notice they were glancing from time to time at their speedometers. Now that the law has been in effect a week, motorists are getting a little braver and some have begun to fudge to about 60 mph.

It seems the flow of traffic is running about 60 mph. Of course this may slow down a bit as soon as the boys in black and white start doing a little more law enforcement.

ENMU Slates Talent Day

High School seniors from New Mexico, West Texas and Arizona, may now submit applications to attend the 11th annual Talent Day at Eastern New Mexico University at Portales, according to John Whiteside, director of financial aids at the univer sity

Talent Day 1974, an event which during its 11-year history at ENMU has afforded over 800 high school students with more than $150,000 in academic scholarship aid, has been scheduled this year for Saturday, March 2, on the Eastern campus.

In 1973, approximately 300 high school students from across the Southwest participated in the scholarship competition and an even larger number is expected for the upcoming Talent Day.

As last year, some 80 scholarships will be awarded to high school seniors who score higher than fellow competitors on tests in individually selected areas of university study.

The 80 scholarships, each in the amount of $200, will be awarded to the top participating seniors in liberal arts and sciences, which in-

During cold weather, homeowners, often have difficulty maintaining a suitable relative humidity in their homes. And the fuel shortage may aggravate the situation even more this winter, says W S. Allen, agricultural engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In homes where the air is too moist, condensation on cold, indoor surfaces causes window sweating, mildew and undesirable odors. To solve such problems, cold surfaces must be warmed or the moisture in the house reduced.

"If the house has a crawl space with no basement, thin sheets of polyethylene plastic can be used to cover the ground under the house," suggests Allen.

'Excessive moisture can also be reduced by exhaust fans in the kitchen, bathroom and laundry area, the places that most contribute to raising relative humidity. Such fans need not operate continuously but only when these areas are in use.

In forced air heating systems, introducing outside air to the cold air return often solves the problem

"Many condensation and sweating conditions on walls and windows may require structural changes to completely remedy the problem,"

Clayton Introduces New Constitution

Representative Bill Clayton. D-Springlake, who has filed for re-election to the State Legislature and is considered a leading contender for the Speakership, has introduced for consideration by the Constitutional Convention a completely new constitution. One of the main features of Clayton's proposal is a transition from an old constitution to a new constitution; however, it retains the protections of the old constitution and may possibly be a compromise position over some of the more controversial issues now being considered by the Convention. Clayton's proposal, along with proposals from other delegates to the Convention. are now being considered in committees. "The committees are considering issues of major concern to the area." Clayton stated. "Issues such as diverting monies from the highway fund to mass transit projects, placing the right-towork laws in the Constitution, providing equal educational opportunities and funding of higher education, consideration of initiative and referendum, judicial reorganization and home rule for counties are just a few of the main issues," Clayton added.

Representative Clayton stated that, up to this point, not many have appeared before the committees and testified. "Greater citizens participation is desired," Clayton, said, "because it is important to know what the general public feels about the various issues." Research personnel for the Convention are available to answer any question-simply dial, toll

Three Morton players combined for an even fifty points as Silhan had 18. Thompson 16 and Williams 16 Many of Morton's points came on the end of perfectly executed fast breaks but they didn't dominate the rebounds as much as they normally do as the Cats battled the boards with them.

The score at the end of the first quarter was 22-8, at the half 40-27, third quarter 60-37 and the final 76-51.

Freethrows spelled doom for the Littlefield Girls Friday as they were defeated by Frenship 55-47

It wasn't that the girls were missing them it was the fact that they did not have one opportunity in the second half to even attempt one. In the first half however, they hit 17 of 20 and from the floor they hit 36 percent for the game. Jill Owens had 16 for the
